E K. He hath a Gown of white ſilk, with a Cape with three pendants with taſſels on the ends of them all green: it is fur, white and ſeemeth to ſhine, with a wavering glittering. On his head is nothing, he hath no berd. His phyſiognomy is like the picture of King Edward the ſixth; his hair hangeth down a quarter of the length of the Cap, ſomewhat curling, yellow. He hath a rod or wand in his hand, almoſt as big as my little finger: it is of Gold, and divided into three equal parts, with a brighter Gold than the reſt. He ſtandeth upon his round table of Chriſtal, or rather Mother of Pearl: There appear an infinite number of letters on the ſame, as thick as one can ſtand by another. the table is ſomewhat inclined on one ſide: he ſtandeth in the very middle; his garment covereth his feet: his breaſt ſeemeth ſmooth as the down remaining of a Swan, when all the feathers be off, ſo is his neck, &c. He is lean and long-viſaged.

Δ. The infinite mercies of God be on us: and the light of his countenance ſhine on us; and his favourable countenance be on us.

Nal. ...... Amen, unto him that is, and was, and liveth for ever.

E. K. He looketh earneſtly on his table, and turneth him to view it.

Nal. ...... All things are in order. Thus ſaith the Meſſenger of him which is the God of Wiſdom. Is your worthineſſe ſuch, as you can merit ſo great mercy? or are your veſſels cleanſed, and made apt to receive and hold the ſweet liquor; pure underſtanding it ſelf?

Δ.

Hath the Sun entred into your bowels, or have you taſted of the night-dew? Where are your wedding Garments; or after what ſort do you provide for your marriage? Unſeaſoned you are and withered fleſh, partakers of thoſe things which make you holy: through which partaking and the ſecret providence of him that is the Higheſt, you became dignified to the end, and are ſufficiently waſhed for the time of entrance. O ſtiff-necked people you deſerve nothing, and yet you have the hire of ſuch as labour. But, what, can corruption be partaker of thoſe things that are incorruptible? or man, which ſavoureth in himſelf, can you ſavour alſo of the Almighty.

O you weaklings, O you of no faith, O you Cankers of the earth; Where is the ſhame you have; Where are the tears you let fall; Where is the humility you are taught to? Nay you are ſuch as ſay in your hearts; if the Spring be fair, the Harveſt is like to be good: If theſe thing come to paſſ, it is the finger of the Lord. But ſuch is your imperfection, ſuch are the fruits of the fleſh, and the vanity of mortality.

Notwithſtanding, conſider that you are ſervants: Do therefore the will of your Maſter. You are become free: Be faithful and thankful to him that is the giver of liberty: Nay you are become children: partakers of the counſel of him that ſitteth and ſeeth, and ſaith I am. Therefore be ſober, faithful, and waver not, for the inheritance of your Father is great: your freedom is without recompence, and your Maſter the King of Juſtice.

Where are the people, or in what generation did they dwell, that hath been thus acquainted and drawn into familiarity with the true Servants and Angels of God? Unto whom have thoſe myſteries been opened. Is it not ſaid, of thoſe that are ſanctified, The Lord appeared unto them in a viſion: But he cometh to you when you are awake: Unto them he came unlooked for, unto you he cometh requeſted. Ariſe up therefore, and be not forgetful what the Lord hath done for you; for the things of this World are not, until they be done, neither is there any thing aſſured, but by the end.

The End maketh all.

Faith.

It was ſaid unto Abraham, And I will deſtroy them. He believed it; but he asked not, when. Great is the reward of Faith; for it giveth ſtrength: But thoſe that are faithful are not of this world. Notwithſtanding, you have ſaid, (as it was ſaid by the Diſciples to Chriſt, when they were yet unpure, and blind) When ſhall theſe things come to paſſe? Lord, what is meant by this, or that? Simple Faith excelleth all Science. For, Heaven and Earth ſhall periſh in their corruption: But the voices of the Lord, much more his promiſes, are become Angels for ever: For as the Sun begetteth in the earth, and is father of many things that live in corruption and have end: So is the God of Heaven, the bringer forth and begetter of things celeſtial with life and for ever. For why, Dixit & factum eſt, Every Idea in eternity is become for ever, and what is thought, is become a living creature. I teach you a myſtery.

When Faith.

Idea.

As the tree in ſappy life, watering her ſelf throughly, bringeth forth the ornaments of her own beauty: So the ſpiritual part of man being good and dignified, burniſheth himſelf, with his ſound and faithful thought: I mean the glory and ſhew of his own beauty; for the ſoul of man groweth, either with beauty to ſalvation, or with diſhonour and filthineſſe, to damnation.

I have done my Commandment. I have as a Schoolmaſter warned you, and as a friend counſelled you: I will alſo teach you.

[E. K. He ſpeaketh in a thin ſmall voice.]

Δ. He uſed a great pauſe, and ſilence.

E. K. He ſtandeth and pointeth with his rod to the letters of his Table, as if he made ſome account or reckoning. He went out of the middle, and meaſured how may ſteps it is about.

Nal. ...... Pater, Filius, Spiritus Sanctus: Fundamentum, ſubſtantia, & principium omnium.

[E. K. Thought in his minde, rerum, and he anſwered his thought, ſaying, What need I ſay rerum? The Grammarians will be on my ſide. Omnium, is more than to ſay omnium rerum.]

E. K. This ſeemeth to be ſpoken by ſome other, in my imagination.

Nal. ...... Omnium, is the thing that is my charge.

E. K. He ſtill conferreth place to place, &c.

So. E. K. Now he ſtandeth ſtill.

Corpus omnium .... E. K. He pointeth to the whole or round table which he ſtandeth on.

1. The ſubſtance is attributed to God the Father.
2. The firſt circular mover, the circumference, God the Son, The finger of the Father, and mover of all things.
3. The order and knitting together of the parts in their due and perfect proportion, God the Holy Ghoſt. Lo, the beginning and end of all things.

E. K. He ſtill counteth and conferreth places and letters together.

Nal. ...... Lo, it is divided into 4 parts: whereof two are dignified: one not yet dignified, but ſhall be: the other without glory or dignification.

E. K. He ſeemeth to point to ſome diviſions.

Nal. ...... Underſtand God, as the ſubſtance of the whole, (as above ſaid.)

E. K. He counteth again.

Nal. ...... The ſubſtance of this part is called Vita.

E. K. He pointeth to the uppermoſt part.

Nal. ...... Called Vita Suprema. See here three ſmall lines.

[E. K. Thoſe three ſmall lines appear in the uppermoſt parcel.]

Say ... Gaudium, [pointing to the uppermoſt line.

Say ... Preſentia [pointing to the ſecond.]

...... Laudantes or Triumphantes [pointing to the third.]

E. K. Now

E. K. Now he beginneth to account in the ſecond portion,

Nal. ...... The Continent, Vita. [He counteth again.

E. K. The four portions are of equal wideneſſe, but not of equal clearneſſe; and that about the center is of fuskiſh or leadiſh colour.

E. K. Now he ſheweth three ſmall lines in the ſecond portion. He ſeemeth to ſpeak to himſelf ſomewhat.

Nal. ...... Say ...... Poteſtas .... to the firſt line pointing. Motus ...... to the ſecond; Miniſtrantes ..... to the third.

E. K. Now he proceedeth to the third circular portion.

Nal. ...... This Continent is alſo Vita [pointing to the third portion] non dignificata, ſed dignificanda.

Nal. .... See .... E. K. There are alſo three lines, Actio ..... in the firſt line. Factum .... in the ſecond. Confirmantes ..... in the third. Sirha, this is true Logick.

[△. He ſaid ſo to E. K. who now gave himſelf to ſtudy Logick diligently.]

E. K. Now he ſtandeth trembling.

Nal. ...... Oh qualis eſt Juſtitia inter miſeros?

△. .... Sed, mors eſt quæ peperit hanc vitam.

Vita eſt etiam hæc, ſed quæ peperit mors.

Say ..... Luctus .....
Diſcordia .....
Confundantes ..... } Here ſeem three lines alſo.

Thoſe that do their duty ſhall receive their reward. Let my diligence teach you diligence.

Be not angry, becauſe you do not underſtand: Theſe be means to underſtand. E. K. confeſſed that he was very angry. To E. K.

Nal ..... Pray unto God, for I am reſiſted.

△. Deus in adjutorium noſtrum intende, &c.

Say .... Vita Suprema. [pointing to the uppermoſt line of all.] I find it (by addition) in this Language, I ad, but written thus, toward the left hand, in three angles

I	d
a

Say ..... Gaudium ..... Moz. I find it is a name aſcending and anſwereth to the two extremes of I ad in this manner.

I	d	z
a	o
m

△. I pray you, is Mozod, a word of three letters, or of five?

Nal. ..... In wrote three, it is larger extended. [△. z extended is zod.]

△. Will you pardon me if I ask you another queſtion of this extenſion?

Nal. ..... Say on: Moz in it ſelf ſignifieth Joy; but Mozod extended, ſignifieth the Joy of God.

△. No word in his radical form is extended.

Nal. ..... Theſe doubts will at length grow eaſie.

Præſentia ..... I find it called Zir.

So .....

I	d	z
a	o	i
m	z	r

This Leſſon is greater than any that was learned in Cracovia this day.

Nal. ...... Potentia ..... But ſay, Vita ſecunda. I ad but thus.

I	d	z	s	a	i
a	o	i	g	o	d
m	z	r	v	r	r
b	n	a d	a	z			æ
i	a	B		d	i

I will teach you here after the diſtinction of them.

Δ. You mean of Iad diverſly ſignifying.

Say .... Poteſtas ..... I find it Bab. It doth aſcend from the right hand to the left.
Motio .... I find it Zna.

They will not fall out ſo, but they will fall out well enough.

Nal. ..... Vita tertia ...... Iad.

Δ. I pray you, what is of Miniſtrantes?

Nal. ..... Look you to your Charge.

Actio ... Sor
Factum ..... Gru
..... Vita, quæ etiam eſt mors.
Iad
Luctus ..... Ser
Diſcordia ....., Oſf

f o s s e a r d i

If the order of the Table be ex Spiritu Sancto,
The ſubſtance of the Father; How ſhall we know the Circumference, which is the Son?.

The Son is the Image of his Father: Therefore, in his death, he muſt be the Image of his father alſo.

If ſubſtantia be in forma Crucis, then the Son is the Image of his Father.

.... Laudantes .... Luiah.

Δ The reſt I pray you to deliver us.

Nal. ...... Bear with me, for it is eaſie for you, but hard for me.

Miniſtrantes ...... Lang.
Confirmantes ....., Sach.

Δ. Now.

Nal. ..... When I know, you ſhall.

Δ. As Sach.

God be merciful to man.

It is ſo terrible, that I tremble to gather it.

Confundantes .... Vrch.

h c r v
i d z s a i l a o i g o d h
v m z r v r r c a b n a f o s a s d a z s c a s i a b r d i l a n g

Thus I have made plain this body generally: The particulars are long, hard, and tedious.

Thy name be bleſſed, O God, which canſt open a means, whereby thy powers immediate may be opened unto man. Power, glory, and honour, be unto thee, for thou art the true body of all things, and art life eternal.

E. K. Now he is ſuddenly vaniſhed away with the Table.

Deo noſtro ſit omnis laus & gratiarum actio nunc & in ſempiterna ſeculorum ſecula. Amen.

Thurſday, Mane, Aprilis 12. 1584. Cracoviæ.

Δ. Some delay upon our prayers made, at length appeared Nalvage in ſhape and attire as laſt before: He ſtandeth ſtill.

Nal ..... Benedictum ſit nomen Domini in æternum.

Δ Amen.

Nal. ...... Audite mei fratres patienter.

The Godhead in his ſecret judgement keeping in his Almighty boſom, the image and form of all things, univerſally, looked down upon the Earth; for he ſaid, Let us now go down among the ſons of men: He ſaw that all things grew contrary to their Creation and nature; either keeping their dignities and ſecret vertues ſhut up in obſcurity, or elſe venemouſly perverting, through the imbecility and frowardneſſe of ignorance: So that it was ſaid, Behold, I delight not in the World: The Elements are defiled, the ſons of men wicked, their bodies become dunghils, and the inward parts (the ſecret chambers of their hearts) the dens and dungeons of the damned: Therefore I will draw my ſpirit from amongſt them and they ſhall become more drunken, and their ignorance ſuch as never was: No, not ſince the fall of heaven.

Antichriſtus. For, lo, the time is come, And he that is the Son of Unrighteouſneſſe, is and liveth: Unto him therefore ſhall be given ſtrength and power: and the Kings of the Earth ſhall become mad: yea, even raging mad; yea even in the third madneſſe, and that in the depth of their own imaginations; and I will build my Temple in the Woods, yea even in the Deſert places; and I will become become a Serpent in the wilderneſſe: for I have tucked up my garments and am fled away, and She ſhall mourn on the Mountains without comfort.

In the wilderneſſe.

Lo, the Thunder ſpake, and the earth became miſty, and full of fogge, that the Son of man might ſleep in his own confuſion. The ſecond Thunder ſpake, and there aroſe Spirits, ſuch as are for South-ſayers, Witches, Charmers, and Seducers: and they are entred into the holy places, and have taken up their ſeats in man. Woe be unto the earth therefore: For, it is corrupted. Woe be unto the earth, for ſhe is ſurrendred to her adverſary: Woe be unto the earth, ſhe is delivered into the hands of her enemy: Yea, Woe be unto the ſons of men, for their veſſels are poyſoned. But even then ſaid the Lord, Lo, I will be known in the wilderneſſe, and will Triumph in my weakneſſe.

And lo, he called you, and you became drunken, and ſotted with the ſpirit of God: And it was ſaid Deſcend, for he calleth, and hath called: and Raphael that brought up the prayers deſcended: and he was full with the power, & ſpirit of God: and it became a Doctrine, ſuch was never from the beginning: Not painted, or carved: filed, or imagined by man, or according to their imaginations, which are of fleſh: but ſimple, plain, full of ſtrength, and the power of the holy Ghoſt: which Doctrine began, as man did, nakedly from the earth: but yet, the image of perfection. This ſelf-ſame Art is it, which is delivered unto you an infallible Doctrine, containing in it the waters, which runne through many Gates: even above the Gate of Innocency, wherein you are taught to finde out the Dignity and Corruption of nature: alſo made partakers of the ſecret Judgements of the Almighty to be made manifeſt, and to be put in execution. Which knowledge in you is to be made perfect. two wayes, by power, mediate, and immediate. Immediately from God, in reſpect of his will, and ſecret Judgements, as unto the Apoſtles. By means and tradition, as from us, opening the ſubſtance and body of nature, according to our own image, which is the thing I have now in hand. I am therefore to inſtruct and inform you, according to your Doctrine delivered, which is contained in 49 Tables. In 49 voyces, or callings: which are the Natural Keyes, to open those, not 49 but 48. (for One is not to be opened) Gates of underſtanding, whereby you ſhall have knowledge to move every Gate, and to call out as many as you pleaſe, or ſhall be thought neceſſary, which can very well, righteouſly, and wiſely, open unto you the ſecrets of their Cities, & make you underſtand perfectly the contained in the Tables. Through which knowledge you ſhall eaſily be able to judge, not as the world doth, but perfectly of the world, and of all things contained within the Compaſſe of Nature. and of all things which are ſubject to an end.

Raphael. This Doctrine. 48 Keyes, or calls, and their uſe.

But behold, this charge of mine is tied unto time: Therefore be diligent to learn, diligent to hear, and that with patience: For it is neither a free School, nor a School of continuance. For as power is not given unto me beyond the firſt day of Auguſt next, ſo have you no ſtrength to learn after, becauſe I am the ſtaff of your Doctrine.

Note. Take time while time is, for time will away.

Nal. .... I am for the comfort of the world, and not for the hindrance: Thus ſayeth the Lord To them that have Harveſt let them reap, and unto ſuch as have labour let them work. As for me, I am tied to time, and am ready at all times: For I meaſure not your night, nor day.

Auguſt next.

Δ. Thanks be unto the higheſt

Nal. .... Ceaſe now with me, for no more deſcendeth.

Soli Deo Honor & Gloria.

After-noon, the ſame Thurſday. .... After ſome ſhort Ejaculations of prayers to God, there appeared a great black hairy Dogge: with whom I would have nothing to do, but expect Nalvage. He ſaid, that he was Nalvage. We rebuked him as an Hell-hound. At length he departed, and Nalvage appeared; but brighter then to day.

An illuding wicked ſpirit.

Nal. ..... Have you thoſe things I told you to day?

Δ. We have them in record and minde.

Nal. .... Read them......

Δ. I did read them.

E. K. He laugheth, ha ha, ha: &c. a great laughter: He hath alſo a Table, but ſeemeth not to be like the former Table of Nalvage. There are ten, or eleven diviſions in this Table, as was not in the former Table.

Δ. If thou art Nalvage, proceed in the Doctrine of wiſdom, if thou art not Nalvage, depart in the name of Jeſus.

..... I have free will, and therefore I will be here.

Δ. Now I doubt nothing, but thou art a deceiver. [Audite:] The ignorance of the wicked becometh duſt: which ſhewing it ſelf is ſwept out of doors, and thrown on the Dung-hills.

A voyce on the one ſide.

E. K Now appeareth one like true Nalvage.

Nal. ..... Even ſo is it of the [ ] for thou haſt opened thy blaſphemy: and being diſcovered, art become more accurſed: Therefore once thou art accurſed, thou art not dignified; but become a Veſſel of iniquity: And therefore haſt no free-will. For, free-will either is, or is in ſtate to be dignified. Therefore, as duſt I ſweep thee out: and caſt thee into that Dunghill, which is the place of the greateſt woe: the Dunghil, and the reward of the unrighteous. And, becauſe

Free will.

thou

thou haſt thrust thy ſelf into the Judgements of the Lord : and haſt heard the ſecrets of the Almighty : Therefore I ſeal thee tanquam truncus in Infernum.

E. K. He ſtriketh him with an yern, like a pair of tongs; in form of a Mould to caſt Pellets in : griping his brain and underchaps, and ſo he fell down and diſappeared : and in his place came Nalvage.

E. K. Nalvage maketh curſie toward the four quarters of the world.

Nal. ..... My Us is as good as thy Um.

E. K. In his heart thought that it might be, that now one Devil maſtered another, and thereupon ſaid Um.

E. K. He is now accounting again on his Table as he did before.

Nal. . .. Unto this Doctrine belongeth the perfect knowledge, and remembrance of the myſticall Creatures. How therefore ſhall I inform you, which know them not?

Δ. Enoch Characters.

Δ. Mean you as Babyon Boborel, &c.

Nal. ..... The Characters, or Letters of the Tables.

Δ. You mean the myſtical Letters, wherein the holy book is promiſed to be written : and if the book be ſo written and laid open before us, and then you will from Letter to Letter point, and we to record your inſtructions : Then I truſt we ſhall ſufficiently underſtand, and learn your inſtructions.

Nal. ..... Alſo in receiving of the calls, this is to be noted : that they are to be uttered of me, backward : and of you, in practiſe, forward.

Backward. These calls.

Δ. I underſtand it, for the efficacity of them; elſe, all things called would appear : and ſo hinder our proceeding in learning.

Nal. ..... D P C E T E I R S M S S S
24. E S A I I M M N S E S.

E. K. All this was in one line; in the lowermoſt portion : and lowermoſt line thereof.

Nal. ..... I E E E E T N O E D M E T M M M
27. M M D M A E T S E A M.

E. K Now he ſtandeth ſtill.

43. Nal. ..... A E R T I S A N S S E A S D M M S E A O A
E V I I I I. V I I I I A O A O I I V I T S E I T T
S D A I N.

E. K. Theſe ſeemed to be taken out of divers lines, in the three lower portions ; but none out of the uppermoſt, or fourth.

Nal. ..... R S H D D S R R E S O L S N R E R E E
S F R H E I E E E E I E E O E T I S O E
R T T H D E O I S E O E S M E T F E D E
81. T S E E E E E R S E S E O R S M E T
D. R. F E D E T S E E E R S E
)(E E R
I or F. S I S E H E N O E S M E F S F E E D I $\left[{I \atop E}\right]$ O E
$\left[{I \atop E}\right]$ S S S I S E O E S H E
D S D F T E I E O R S O E D H T E T
Whereſoever O followeth, it may be E or I. O E S H E O T R T E R E O E H S E R
E E I R E S R I S O E H E E D E I E H E
D T R N D D H D N.

The reſt of this Leſſon, the next morning.

Δ. After the correcting of certain places before in the Letters he ſaid. I feel no more;

Δ. Thanks and honour be to the higheſt for ever. Amen.

Fryday morning, Hora 8½. Aprilis 13. Cracoviæ.

Not long after my Invitation, Nalvage appeared, Nutu Dei.

Nal. .... Our peace, which is Triumphing patience, and glory be amongſt you.

Δ. Amen.

Nal. ..... It may be ſaid, can there be patience in the Angels, which are exalted above the aire? For, ſuch as were of errour have their reward: Yea, forſooth my dear brethren. For there is a continual fight between us and Satan, wherein we vanquiſh by patience. This is not ſpoken without a cauſe: For as the Devil is the father of Carping, ſo doth he ſuttlely infect the Seers imagination, mingling unperfect forms with my utterance: Water is not received without aire, neither the word of God without blaſphemous inſinuation. The ſon of God never did convert all, neither did all that did hear him, believe him. Therefore, where the power of God is, is alſo Satan: Lo, I ſpeak not this without a cauſe, for I have anſwered thy infection. Patience.

Δ. E. K. Had thought that Angels had not occaſion of any patience, and ſo was his thought anſwered.

Nal. ..... I finde the Soul of man hath no portion in this firſt Table. It is the Image of the ſon of God, in the boſome of his father, before all the worlds. It comprehendeth his incarnation, paſſion, and return to judgement: which he himſelf, in fleſh, knoweth not; all the reſt are of underſtanding. The exact Center excepted. The firſt Table. The Center Table.

A (Two thouſand and fourteen, in the ſixth Table, is) D
86. 7003. In the thirteenth Table, is I.
A In the 21th. Table. 11406 downward.
I In the laſt Table, one leſſe then Number. A word, Jaida you ſhall underſtand, what that word is before the Sun go down. Jaida is the laſt word of the call.
85. H 49. aſcending T 49. deſcending, A 909. directly, O ſimply.
H 2029. directly, call it Hoath.

225. From the low angle on the right ſide. Continuing in the ſame and next ſquare.
D 225. [The ſame number repeated.
A In the thirteenth Table, 740. aſcending in his ſquare.
M The 30th. Table, 13025. from the low angle in the left-ſide.
84. .... In the ſquare aſcending.
Call it Mad.

O The 7th. Table, 99. aſcending.
C The 19th. deſcending 409.
O The ... 1. from the upper right angle, croſſing to the nether left, and ſo aſcending 1003.
83. N The 31th. from the Center to the upper right angle, and ſo deſcending 5009.
Call it Noco.

Be patient, for I told you it would be tedious.
O The 39th. from the Center deſcending, or the left hand, 9073.
D The 41th. from the Center aſcending, and ſo to the right upper Angle, 27004.
R The 43th. from the upper left Angle to the right, and ſo ſtill in the Circumference, 34006.
I The 47th. aſcending, 72000.
82. In the ſame Table deſcending the laſt.
Call it Zirdo.

P The 6th. aſcending 109.
A The 9th. aſcending 405.
81. L The 11th. deſcending 603. ......
Call it Lap.

Δ. Her, he ſtroke the Table on Saturday action following at my reading over of it backward,

E The 6th. from the right Angle uppermoſt to the left, 700.
G The 13th. deſcending, 2000.
R The 17th. from the Center downward, 11004.
80. O The 32th. deſcending from the right Angle to the Center, 32000.
Z 47th. 194000. deſcending. Call it Zorge. [Of one ſyllable.]

A 19th. from the left corner deſcending, 17200.
79. A 24th. from the Center aſcending to the left Angle, 25000.
Q The ſame Table aſcending, 33000.
Call it Q A A. [Three ſyllables with accent on the laſt A.]

E The ſecond Table, 112 aſcending.
L The ....th. deſcending 504.
C The 19th. Table deſcending 1013. [That C. is called C Minor.]
I The 13th. deſcending, 2005. 7877.
C The 14th. deſcending, 2907. Call it Cicle.

E. K. Now is he kneeling, and praying with his Rod up 76. O The 4th. aſcending to the left Angle, 390.

D The 5th. deſcending 812.
O In the ſame deſcending, 902. Call it O D O.

Δ. Here he ſtriketh again on Saturday.

N. The

N The 9th deſcending 804.
A The 11th deſcending 2005. ...... This A may be an A or an O.
75 R The 14th deſcending 5006.
M N The 16th deſcending 12004 : he corrected it M.
A The 20th deſcending 17006. Zamran.
Z The 32th deſcending 40006. Call it Zanran.

I give it faſter unto you, than I received it. E. K. thought it.

T The 4th deſcending 212 ...... This may be T or D.
74 O The 6th aſcending from the center to the left corner 1907.
Call it O D .... or O T.

73 A The 9th aſcending 500
C The 10th deſcending 602 Call it C A, [△. two ſyllables.]

R The 16th aſcending 22006. E muſt come after R : but without number,
A The 19th deſcending 23012. and ſo, it is Zacare.
72 C The 30th aſcending 30006.
A The 39th from the left angle deſcending 42012.
Z The 46th aſcending 312004. Call it Zacar.

Uſe your time of refreſhing, and return Deo gratias reddamus immortales.

The ſame Friday after Noon, circa 3. horam.

After a ſhort requeſt made by me to Chriſt for wiſdom, and verity to be miniſtered by Nalvage; he appeared and ſpake much to E. K. which he expreſſed not to me: but a length confeſſed that he gave him brotherly counſel to leave dealing as an Idolater or Fornicator againſt God, by asking counſel of ſuch as he did,

E. K. confeſſed that he had been that day, and ſome dayes before, dealing by himſelf after his manner, to underſtand of my Lord Laskie, and of other matters of Lasko, and left his queſtions in his window written. Nalvage told him the devil had now taken away his queſtions. E. K. went down to ſee if it were true, and he found it true.

Nal. ...... Pray ...... △. We prayed.

There is an error in the laſt, not in the Number, but in the Letter. I will firſt go through the Letters, and after come to the Numbers. How many words have you received this day ?

△. Thirteen, whereof Iaida was ſaid to be the laſt of the call.

Nal. ...... They be more worth than the Kingdom of Poland. Be patient, for theſe things are wonderful.

N (The number muſt needs go to) the ſixth, deſcending 309.
A The 7th aſcending 360.
71 O The 9th aſcending 1000.
O The 13th aſcending 1050.
V The 17th aſcending 2004. It is Vooan. It may be ſounded Vaoan.

Adde thoſe laſt Numbers
△. ————

309
360
1000 1050
2004
4723

Vooan is ſpoken with them that fall, but Vaoan with them that are, and are glorified. The devils have loſt the dignity of their ſounds.

△. They make 4723.

Nal. ...... It is called the Myſtical roote in the higheſt aſcendent of tranſmutation.

△. Theſe phraſes are dark; when it ſhall pleaſe God they may be made plain.

Nal. ...... It is the ſquare of the Philoſophers work.

△. you ſaid it was a roote.

Nal. ...... So it is a roote ſquare.

△. The ſquare thereof is 22306729 ....

Lapis [illegible]rum magnæ projectionis.

The word is, by interpretation, Ignis vera mater. The vain Philoſophers do think it doth beget bodies: but in truth, it conceiveth, and bringeth forth.

70 D the fifth, aſcending, 4.
O the 39, aſcending, 7806. call it O D. [△, drawing the O long.]

E L 17 (not 17 the firſt, but 17 and the thirdth : for it is of the thirdth : and 17 it
L et may be of them both) aſcending, 419.
69 O O the 18 aſcending 2017 .... this O muſt be ſounded as A.
T M M the 24 from the center to the left angle, aſcending, 5069 .... T muſt be inſtead of M.
L A A 30 deſcending, 9012.
A I I the 35 aſcending, 15079.
B P P the 43, from the center to the left angle, deſcending 159068. Averſed.
Call it Piamo el. It is Piatel Baltale to be ſounded.

As the ear is the chief ſenſe ; ſo, being infected, it is the greateſt hindrance. Many there be that thruſt themſelves between you and me : and they are increaſed. Power is given again to the Shew Stone ; and thou ſhalt not be hindred.

Note Intruders.

Δ. Shall I preſently bring it forth ?

Nal. ...... As thou wilt.

Δ. I brought forth the Stone, and it ſeemed marvellouſly brighter than before it was wont to appear.

E. K. He ſeemeth to pray.

E. K. There appeareth to me in the Stone Michael as he was wont to appear, with his ſword in his hand, and in a long white garment, &c.

Mich. ...... I am the ſtrength of the Higheſt, and the mighty arme of him that is Almighty : your fellow ſervant, and the meſſager of the Higheſt : The powers of the earth have riſen up againſt you : But you ſhall prevail, and this Doctrine ſhall be delivered as is promiſed, and according unto time. But pray earneſtly ; for lo, the whole hoſte of Angels, ſuch as are bleſſed, have cryed unto the Lord, ſaying ; Not ſo Lord : Thy bread is torn in pieces, or reproachfully eaten.

God his promiſe ſhall be performed.

Thus therefore ſaith the Lord, Be patient, for the place is holy, and the power of the Higheſt is amongſt you. Receive willingly : for he that is offended is ſmitten. Be comforted, and beware of deceivers : for the power of the wicked is increaſed, and is become mighty : But into this veſſel ſhall enter no unclean thing, not for this time onely, but for ever.

The ſignification of the Stone.

Unto thee Nalvage thus ſaith the Lord, gather up thy wings and enter : Do as thou art commanded, and be multiplied. Be comforted ; for Gabriel ſhall aſcend and ſtand before the Lord, and ſhall have power and deſcend : and he ſhall be yoked unto thy loynes, and thou ſhalt become mighty ; that thou mayſt open the wonders of the Lord with power.

Be multiplied: Gabriel.

E K. Now is Nalvage come into the Stone.

Mic. ...... Be comforted, be comforted, be comforted my brethren in the God of Hoſts : for your comfort is and ſhall be of the Holy Ghoſt. Therefore let peace be amongſt you, and be no more babes ; for wiſdom dwelleth not amongſt children. The peace of God be amongſt you : And thus much I have comforted you.

The holy Ghoſt.

E. K. *H*e is gone.

E. K. Now here is another.

Δ. It is Gabriel that came to Daniel.

Gabr. ...... I did ſo, and I am that Gabriel, and the World beareth witneſſe of my coming.

You rebellious windes, you deceivers of the righteous, you naked ſubſtances and things lighter than the windes, know not you that the God of your creation hath rewarded you, know you not your own weakneſſe, know you not your ſtate of no return ? I ſay headlong you all (without reſiſtance) fall down to your places : Be gone, ſink, for I am of power, and do prevail.

Behold he hath placed darkneſſe behind him, and hath made the lights of heaven as the Lamps of his beauty. Go you that are confounded without return ; for the name of our God in his determination is invincible.

This night is a Sabbath, and a ſcourge to the wicked.

Nal. ...... I promiſed to expound you a word, the firſt you had to day, but the laſt. It ſignifieth, of the Higheſt.

E. K. *H*is Table now appeareth very evidently to me, as that I could paint it all.

Ceaſe for this time, for it is a time of ſilence, for the wicked are confounded : in the morning early you ſhall be taught plentifully : for my power is become a hundred and fifty ; and I will finiſh my charge, long before the time appointed.

Note.

Gabr. We are alwayes preſent until the promiſe be ended. Reſt in peace.

E. K. Gabriel ſeemeth to be all in compleat harneſſe, like skales of a Fiſh from

the

Note this form of Gabriel at this occaſion. the arm-pits downward; with a Spear in his hand, all of fire, about a two yards long.

△. The peace of God, and his mercy, be on us now and ever. Amen.

△. If it ſhould not offend you, I would glady ask your knowledge of the Lord Albert Laskie our great worldly friend, and that for the ſervice of God, if he be paſt the chief danger of his preſent infirmity, &c.

A. Laskie. ..... When we enter into him, we know him; but from him, he is ſcarce known unto us: as of him of whom it is ſaid, he hath conſented with an Harlot: we know not the end of God his juſtice which is upon him.

His prayers are come to the ſecond heaven; neither hath any received remembrance of him: But we will pray unto God to be merciful unto him, and that for thy ſake; Becauſe thou ſhalt not be made a laughing-ſtock to the wicked. Pray thou for him, that thou mayſt work in him that Prayer for A. L. which he worketh not for himſelf. Hold up thy hands for him; for it is a lawful and a charitable thing: For God hath granted thee a force in prayer: But be patient and humble.

God his gift to △ in prayer. We with thee, give thanks and laud unto the Lord.

Ceaſe.

△. Laudes Deo noſtro inceſſanter reddantur. Amen.

Saturday, Aprilis 14. Mane. Cracoviæ, 1584.

△. Oratione Dominica finita, & brevi illa oratione Pſalmi 33. inſpecto Chryſtallo apparuere utrique Gabriel & Nalvage.

E. K. They kneel, as though they were in confeſſion one to another, and .... about half a quarter of an hour.

Gabr. ......) after me.

Prayer. O beginning and fountain of all wiſdom, gird up thy loines in mercy, and ſhadow our weakneſſe; be merciful unto us, and forgive us our treſpaſſes: for thoſe that riſe up ſaying there is no God, have riſen up againſt us, ſaying, Let us confound them: Our ſtrength is not, neither are our bones full of marrow. Help therefore O eternal God of mercy: help therefore O eternal God of ſalvation: help therefore O eternal God of peace and comfort. Who is like unto thee in altars of incenſe? before whom the Quire of Heaven ſing, O Mappa la man hallelujah*: Viſit us O God with a comprehending fire, brighter than the Stars in the fourth heaven. Be merciful unto us, and continue with us; for thou art Almighty: To whom all things of thy* breaſts in Heaven and Earth, ſing glory praiſe and honour, Saying, Come, Come, Lord for thy mercy ſake. Say ſo unto God kneeling.

△. I repeated it, kneeling, and E. K. likewiſe kneeling.

E. K. They both kneel down again, and put their foreheads together: Gabriel ſeemeth to ſit in a chair on the one ſide of Nalvage about 30 yards off, on Nalvage his left hand. Nalvage ſtandeth.

Gabr. ... ſtanding ſaid. ...... Thus ſaith the Lord, Who is he, that dare reſiſt invincible ſtrength: Seale up the Eaſt, ſeale up the South, Seale up the Weſt: and unto the North put three Seales.

E. K. Now ſitteth Nalvage in a Chair aſide from his round Table, the Table being ſomewhat before him.

Nal. ...... Name that I point to. [To E. K. he ſaid ſo, as concerning the Letters.

E. K. He flung like a thin brightneſſe out of the Stone upon E. K. he hath his rod, which he took out of his own mouth.

... ev ... He holdeth up his rod, and ſaith, I am all joy, and rejoyce in my ſelf.

E. K. He ſmit the round Table with his rod; and it whirled about with a great ſwiftneſſe. Now that which before ſeemed to be a circular and plain form, appeareth to be a Globe and round Ball; corporal, when it turneth.

Nal ...... Say the laſt.

△. Piamo el.

E. K. He

E. K. He ſtriketh the Table now, and though the body ſeem to turn, yet the Letter ſeem to ſtand ſtill in their places.

E. K. Now he plucketh out five Books, as if from under his Chair, and ſetteth them down by him; the books be green, bright, and they be three corned, ▷ a claſp.

Sal. ..... Read backward ... [to E. K.] Every thing with us teacheth. Read backward. Letter without number.

Nal. ..... Read backward, letter without number, the letters thou hadſt yeſterday.

△. After all read, he proceeded thus:

P The fourth aſcending, 97.
A The ſixth aſcending, 112.
68 I The eighth aſcending, 207.
P The ninth aſcending, 307. PIAP.

E. K. Now he ſtriketh it again, and it turneth.

A 67 T TA.

The numbers after.

I
66 A
A AAI. The firſt A may be an A an O or an E.

Thoſe are two words.

E. K. Now he ſtriketh again, and turneth: his Rod ſeemeth to be hollow like a Reed.

65 APGOB. Call it Bogpa.

E. K. Gabriel falleth down on his face, and lieth proſtrate, and Nalvage holdeth up his Rod all the while.

Alſo DOS. He pointed beyond him in the upper Circle, it ſeemeth
T like a Roman C.

64 LAMAOP. Poamal Od, put out the S.

Make it two words. ..... It may be all one word with S. or T. but it would be hard for your underſtanding.

Make a point between Poamal and Od.

E. K. Gabriel lieth proſtrate all this while.

63 XVDMOZ. Call it Zome.

..... With great difficulty this Letter was diſcerned: Nalvage himſelf ſaid, he knew it not yet; but it ſeemed to E. K. to be an X. Nalvage denied it to be an X. and ſaid he knew not yet the myſtery: ſay the Lords prayer, for I cannot open it. Although my power be multiplied, yet I know not this Letter. At length he ſaid it was V.

E. K. I can remember that word well.

Nal. ..... Thou ſhalt not remember it.

62 PEV. It is called Vep.

Make a point there. △. A full point? Nal..... No, no, a ſtroke.

61 OLOHOL. Call it Loholo.

Long, the firſt ſyllable accented.

E. K. Now he ſtriketh the Table.

60 SD. It is the uppermoſt of Call it DS.

59 SIMAPI. Pronounce it IPAMIS. Make a point at S, the A pronounced ſhort.

58 LU. Call it UL. △. With ſuch ſound to U. as we pronounce yew, whereof bows are made.

57 -MAPI. E·K· It ſeemeth to be an e.

Labiis clauſis, [Span] [um um] ... He hummed twice, ſignifying two words more, which were not to be pronounced till they were read in practiſe.

DO. OD. As you had before.

E. K· Now Gabriel riſeth from his lying proſtrate.

56 HOTLAB. Call it BALTOH. There is a point,

PAIP. Call it Piap.

E· K. Gabriel ſteppeth up, and ſeemeth to ſtorm angerly againſt ſomewhat.

Δ. Belike ſome wicked powers would intrude their illuſions, or hindrances in theſe actions.

E. K. He hath thrown his Dart from him: and it cometh to him again.

Gabr. ..... Count the number of the words you have received to day.

Δ. Sixteen, if Poamal; Od be made two words.

Gab. ..... Be packing, and ſo many plagues be amongſt you more then your plague was before.

E· K· He ſeemeth to ſtorm ſtill·

Gab. ..... Come in.

E. K. Now there come four more.

Gab. ..... Art not thou Adraman? Which haſt fallen, and haſt burſt thy neck four times? An wilt thou now riſe again, and take part anew? Go thy way therefore, thou Seducer, enter int the fifth torment. Let thy power be leſſe then it is, by as much as thou ſeeſt number here.

E. K. Now they all four fall down into a pit, or Hiatus of the foundation of the place where they ſtood.

E· K· Nalvage lieth all this while upon his face.

Gab. ..... Count now again.

Δ. Sixteen.

Gab ...., It is not ſo. There is an errour.

Nal. ..... I am deceived from Ipam.

OD the next is falſe, and ſo are the reſt: And ſo is that that followeth.

ABOS. SOBA.

Δ. I had Baltoh.

Nal. ..... And Piap.

Nal. ..... What is this? [to E. K.] E. K. .....G.

Nal. ..... No, it is an H.

55 HOT. TOH.

There is a point, ſhewing a ſtroke, called Virgula.

54 MOH. HOM.

53 SD. DS.

52 LIPDAI. Call it IADPIL accent ad.

51 ONOG. Call it Gono.

Gab. ..... Move not, for the place waxeth more holy.

Nal. ..... Pointeth S.D. DS. This was corrected on Monday following the too much.

50 ANDA. Call it ADNA.

E. K. Gabriel did throw a brightneſſe upon E. K. after he had ſtroked his own face firſt, E. K. ſtarted at it.

49	AZRNZ		Call it Zurza.	△. As...Znurza.

E. K. Nalvage kneeleth down before the Table, and uſeth many inclinations, and geſtures of reverence, as Prieſts uſe to do at the Alter.

48	MZRAF:		FARZM.
47	HALIP	moreover	PILAH.	Three ſyllables.	P Is diſtinctly pronounced by it ſelf
46	HANDAI	the Ark of knowledge	IADNAH.	[yadnah.

E. K. Nalvage cometh and kiſſeth the Table and kneeleth down, and ſeemeth to pray.

45	MRE	with	ERM
44	BAC	a Rod	CAB

E. K. He kneeleth down again, and uſeth ſuch geſtures as before.

	GSN	a rod

E. K. Nalvage ſaid, Adjuva me, O mi Deus. He holdeth up his hand and kiſſeth the Table, and uſeth wonderfull reverence. He ſaith again. Fer opem, O mi Deus.

43	ERNOZ	delivered you	ZONRENSG
42	SD	and △ which	DS
41	RIP	the holy ones	Pir, there is a point
40	ABAC	govern	Call it Caba,
39	ALEROHO,	I made a Law	Call it Ohorela, |

Nal. ..... There is a ſtop, ſhewing a ſtroke made ſtraight down thus |

38	MRASAC	to whom	Caſarm |	a ſtop.

E. K. Now he kiſſeth the Table again.

37	MASRG	with admiration	GRSAM	a ſtop at M. △ as Gurſam.
36	HELOBO	your Garments	OBOLEH
35	SBRU	beautified	URBS
34	SD	and △ which	DS

E. K. Now he uſeth the former reverent geſtures again.

33	IDLA	of gathering	ALDI
32	EGRP	with the fire	PRGE	or purge.
31	PNONG	I garniſhed	GNONP

Nal. ..... Adjuva me, O mi Deus.

30	LIHT	ſeats	THIL	a point here.
29	ABOS	whoſe	SOBA
28	MEIZ	of my hands	ZIEM	here a point.

27	HOLBON	the palms	Nobloh.
26	AT	as	TA.
25	HAMMOC	truſſed you together	COMMAH	A point.
24	DO	And	As before OD.
23	ZMIZ	of my veſtures	Zimz,	A point.
22	AOHTON	in the midſt	Notboa.	Here is a point before the word. A point.
21	AAQ	your garments	QAA.	Three ſyllables.

E. K. Now he uſeth reverence to the Table again.

20	QLOH	meaſureth	HOLQ	△. as Holquu.
19	SD	which	DS

Nal. Adjuva me mi Deus.

18.	GRPLAM	a through thruſting fire	Malprg, as Malpurg.
17	AT	as	TA.

Now he prayeth as before, his arms extended.

16	AARG	and the Moon	GRAA.	A point.
15	DASPZAN	a Sword	NAZPSAD.

E. K. Now he prayeth again.

14	AT	as	TA.
13	I	is	a word by it ſelf.
12	ROR	The Sun.	Ror.	Here a point.
11	LOZ	hands	Zol ... zod △, as ol:	A point.
10	ARBOS	in whoſe	Sobra.
9	OHPNOV	of wrath	Vonpho.
8	ZLAC	a bove the firmamets	Calz.
7	HSNAL	iu power exalted	LANSH as Lonſh.

Adjuva me O Deus.

6	TLAB	of Juſtice	Balt.	Here is a point.
5	DAI	the God	Iad, as Yad.
4	OHOG	ſaith	GOTTO.
3	GSROV	over you	Vorſg.	Here a point.
2	FNOS	Raign	Sonf.
1	LO	I	Ol.

E. K. Now

E. K. Now he ſitteth down in his Chair. This is the end of the mighty and firſt Call.

The firſt Call ended,

...... Pray that you may underſtand what it is.
Δ. Mean you preſently ?
Nal. ...... I, preſently.
Δ. I pray to that intent.

E. K. All the Stone ſheweth fire, and all is on fire, nothing elſe appearing : not like common fire, but clear, thin, &c.

Now it waxeth clear.

E. K. And now Nalvage is on the top of the Globe, and his ſeat remaineth in the former manner of fire. Now Nalvage holdeth up his right hand, and the ſame ſeemeth to be many hands. There is on one of his fingers an I. It vaniſheth away ; and ſo on divers fingers are words as follow.

I Reign over you ſaith
the God
of Juſtice,
in power exalted above
the firmaments
of wrath,
in whoſe hands
the Son is as
a Sword,
and
the Moon
as a through thruſting fire
which meaſureth your garments
in
the midſt

of my veſtures,
and truſſed
you together
as
the palms
of my hands,
whoſe
ſeats
I garniſhed with
the 60
fire
of gathering
and beautified your garments
with admiration to whom
I made
a Law
to govern
the holy ones,
and delivered you

a rod with
the ark
of knowledge,
moreover you lifted up your voices
and ſware obedience
and faith
to him that liveth
and triumpheth
whoſe beginning is not, nor end can not be
which ſhineth
as a flame 60

in

in
the midſt
of your Palace,
and raigneth amongſt
you
as
the Ballance
of righteouſneſſe
and truth.

Move therefore
and ſhew
your ſelves, open
the myſteries
of your Creation,
be friendly unto me;
for

I am
the ſervant
of
the ſame
your God,
the true worſhipper
of 60
the 60
49 Higheſt. 49
169

E. K. Now all the fingers be gone.

△.

Second Table. The covenant of God. Obedience. Many keyes.

Nal. ...... It is the ſenſe in your tongue of the holy and myſtical Call before delivered: which followeth in practice for the moving of the ſecond Table, the Kings and Miniſters of government: The uttrance of which, is of force, and moveth them to viſible apparition: moved and appeared, they are forced (by the Covenant of God delivered by his ſpirit) to render obedience and faithful ſociety. Wherein, they will open the myſteries of their creation, as far as ſhall be neceſſary: and give you underſtanding of many thouſand ſecrets, wherein you are yet but children; for every Table hath his key: every key openeth his gate, and every gate being opened, giveth knowledge of himſelf of entrance, and of the myſteries of thoſe things whereof he is an incloſure. Within theſe Palaces you ſhall find things that are of power, as well to ſpeak, as to do for every [(1) Palace] is above his [(2) City] and every City above his [(3) entrance.]

Note theſe three degrees.

Faith. A key of the firſt ſeven. A ſign to make an end.

Be you therefore diligent that you may enter in, not as ſpoilers, but as ſuch as deſerve intertainment in the name, and through the power of the Higheſt. For great are the mercies of God unto ſuch as have faith. This is therefore the key of the firſt ſeven, according to the proportion of the firſt Creation. No more for this time.

A ſign alwayes to make an end.

E. K. He drew a Curtain before the Stone, of white colour.

The ſame Saturday, after Noon, hora 3 ½ 4.

The white Curtain remained about half an hour after my prayer to God, and ſome invitation to Gabriel and Nalvage, at length the Curtain quaked as though wind blew it.

E. K. Me thinketh that I hear a ſtir within the Stone. At length they appeared.

* I had diſcourſed ſomewhat with E. K. of the manner of skrimges. Gabr. ...... as I think.

E. K. They have very eyes which twinkle as other mens eyes do, and * therefore I ſee them with my external eye, not within my imagination, as......

...... There are two kind of viſions, the one by infuſion of will and deſcending, the other by infuſion by permiſſion and aſcending. The firſt is the image of the Will of God deſcending into the body, and adjoyned to the ſoul of man, whoſe nature is to diſtinguiſh things of his own likeneſſe, but ſhut up in priſon in the body, wanteth that power; and therefore being illuminated by ſpiritual preſence, inwardly, ſeeth now in part, as he ſhall hereafter do in the whole.

E.K. he ſpeaketh hollowly.

But note, that every viſion is according to the ſoul of man in power: and ſo is received of him that ſeeth. The boy of man feeleth nothing ſpiritual until he be of incorruption: Therefore uſeth no ſenſe in and illumination. The other is to be found out by his contrary.

He.

E. K. Here is a Devil that derideth theſe inſtructions, and ſaith, you may know his vertue by his wiſdom: he never went to School.

Gabr. ....

Gab. ..... I know what he is: Power is given to me to reſiſt him, but not to touch him. He hath aſcended, and begotten him a ſon, wherein the people of the earth ſhall be accurſed. As thoſe that are in priſon ſhut up from light, and the uſe of the day comprehend not any thing, but that which entreth unto them by permiſſion, or free will, ſo is the Soul of man ſhut up from all light, except that which entreth by the will, or ſufferance of the higheſt.

Note. As Pater Antichriſti.

But as obedience is the tryal of dignification, ſo are the Ceremonies appointed by God, the witneſſes of juſtification. For he that violated the outward Law was accurſed: But the very end of Juſtice to ſalvation is the obedience, and ſubmiſſion of the Soul. How can it be that the earth and elements ſhall bear witneſſe againſt man in the day of Judgement, but in the perverſe uſe of them, contrary to God his Commandments. He is a ſlow School-maſter, and of ſmall underſtanding, The wicked ſpirit ſaid.

Gab. ..... Ceaſe, for the conflict is great, and muſt have judgement of the Lord.

△. Sall I joyn my prayers with yours to our God, to drive away this wicked ſcorner, and contemner of your miniſtery?

Gab. ..... Not ſo, you know not the ſecret judgements of the Lord herein. The white Curtain was drawn.

△. Deo Noſtro ſoli Omnipotenti ſit omnis Laus, Honor, Gloria, & imperium in ſecula ſeculorum. Amen.

Sonday, Aprilis 15. Mane Hor. 7½.

After a few prayers neceſſary, and invitation to Gabriel and Nalvage for their inſtructions.

..... Our inſtructions ſhall grow moſt plentifully amongſt you. But give place to time, for this is the voyce of the higheſt. Be holy and righteous in the works of your hands, and keep alwayes the Sabbath of your Redeemer hereafter: For even yet, the Serpent is amongſt us. For even yet the Serpent is amongſt my holy ones, and endeavoureth to cut you aſunder. Therefore I ſay be holy even in the works of your hands, for he thinketh to prevail againſt you: But let your houſes be ſwept clean, that when the ſpy entreth, he finde nothing to feed on.

A voyce out of the ſtone.
Sabaoth.
The Serpent laboureth to part us aſunder and hopeth to prevail.

△. We ceaſed and gave our ſelves to the Sabbath: conſidering, intending hence foreward to viſit the Church and Aſſembly, to pray and meditate on God his ſervice.

Solus Jeſus Chriſtus eſt Triumphator contra mortem & Diabolum, Dominus Noſter & Deus Noſter. Amen.

Monday, 15. Aprilis. Mane, hora 6. Cracoviæ.

△. After a ſhort prayer to God for remiſſion of ſins, and ſending of his graces, and his good Miniſters aſſigned for our inſtructions: and for the avoiding away of the great enemy, &c. who held conflict againſt Gabriel, &c. The white Curtain appeared ſtill drawn before in the ſtone for an hour.

E. K. There appeareth a face ſtanding upon two Pillars, the Curtain yet remaining drawn: The face is fiery, and hath very great teeth. The Pillars are like Marble ſpotted gray, and the ground of the Pillars colour white. He ſaid, the works of the higheſt are become a ſtumbling block, and have entred into the breaſts of a woman, and he is become angry. But when ſhe thinketh her ſelf happy, ſhe ſhall ſtumble, where ſhe would not, and become ſorrowfull without comfort.

E. K. This face and Pillars became a great water ſwelling upward, and ſo vaniſhed away.

△. After about an hour, the Curtain was opened. All appeareth as before: Gabriel ſitteth in his Chair, and Nalvage kneeleth.

Nal. ..... Pray, for the mercy of God. Pray, for thou ſhalt not be heard? So, well ſaid, fy upon him.

△. I prayed divers prayers of God, & help againſt the wicked enemy, yet preſent, and moleſting us as he was permitted.

△. This Devil rayled againſt God.

△. Thy judgement light on this wicked Rebel for this blaſphemy, O God.

Gab. ..... Move not, for preſence of power is great.

Nal. ..... Number the words of the firſt Key.

△. I have counted them, and they ſeem to be 88.

Nal. ..... There are not ſo many.

87 △. Where have I miſreckoned, I pray you? Perhaps Poamalzod is to be but one word, and ſo are 87.

E. K. There is a great Croſſe over all the ſtone that is red: Not onely over to be impreſſed through the ſtone.

Nal. ..... Number the words in thy own language.

△. I have numbred them, and they ſeem to be 169.

△. While I numbred, the great red croſſe went away: and ſhortly after came in again into the ſtone as before.

Gab. ..... Move not, for the place is holy. You have Zurza ds Gono in the Call: the ſd is too much.

△. I will then put it out.

△. I finde Zurza Adna ds Gono.

Nal. ..... That ds is too much. I pray you, what is then the number of them, of you allowed?

Nal. ..... 86.

△. Making alſo Poamolzod one word? in that account?

Nal. ..... Set down.

1 —— 1
2 —— 1
3 —— 2
4 —— 1
5 —— 2
6 —— 2
7 —— 3
8 —— 3
9 —— 2
10 —— 2
11 —— 1
12 —— 2
13 —— 1
14 —— 1
--15 —— 2
16 —— 1
17 —— 2
18 —— 1
19 —— 4
20 —— 1
21 —— 1
22 —— 2
23 —— 3
24 —— 3
25 —— 1
26 —— 3
27 —— 1
28 —— 2
29 —— 3
--30 —— 1
31 —— 1
32 —— 2
33 —— 3
34 —— 2
35 —— 1
36 —— 1
37 —— 2
38 —— 2
39 —— 2--71
40 —— 4
41 —— 2
42 —— 2
43 —— 1

44 —— 2--80
45 —— 2
46 —— 3
47 —— 2
48 —— 1
49 —— 5
50 —— 2
51 —— 1
52 —— 4
53 —— 1
54 —— 1
55 —— 2
56 —— 2
57 —— 2
58 —— 3
--59 —— 1
60 —— 1
61 —— 3
62 —— 3
63 —— 3
64 —— 1
65 —— 1
66 —— 2
67 —— 1
68 —— 2
69 —— 2
70 —— 1
71 —— 1
72 —— 1
73 —— 1
74 —— 1
75 —— 3
76 —— 1
77 —— 1
78 —— 3
79 —— 4
--80 —— 1
81 —— 2
82 —— 2
83 —— 1
84 —— 5
85 —— 3
86 —— 3

.... 80
you lifted up your voyces.
1 .... and
1 .... ſware
1 .... obedience
1 and
1 .... faith 90
.... 102 to him that liveth 77
167 of your pallace

ſhew your ſelves

to be friendly unto me

Tueſ-

Tueſday, Aprilis 17. Cracoviæ.

After divers Ejaculations appropriate to the action, and the Curtain of white water yet remaining. E. K. thought divers times that he ſaw through the white Veil, and ſtone and all, nothing appearing therein. E. K. immediately fell into a new doubting of the verity of theſe actions, and ſaid he had a Viſion by a good Creature the laſt night, who ſaid theſe Creatures with which we dealt, would no more appear unto him. Hereupon he ſaid that both the laſt dayes skorner, and theſe our inſtructors were all Devils: and that he would no more ſit to receive A.B.C. And ſo by Letters, any Doctrine of theirs, unleſſe they would otherwiſe expreſly, and lively deliver a plain rule thereof: With many other arguments to diſprove the verity of our Actions, whereupon he ſaid, that John your boy can well enough deliver you their Letters, and ſo you need not me, &c. I referred all to God, his will, and mercies: For, as I had at his hands onely, and by his order, and for his ſervice required wiſdom and true knowledge, ſo do I not doubt but God will, according to his accuſtomed goodneſſe, provide for me, that is beſt for my vocation here in earth, &c.

E. K. He roſe, and went away: and left me alone in my Study, appointed for theſe actions.

> Deus in adjutorium meum intende, Domine ad adjuvandum me feſtina. Gloria Patri & Filio & Spiritui Sancto, ſicut erat in principio & nunc & ſemper & in ſecula ſeculorum. Amen.

Thurſday, Circa 9.

As I was in my upper Study, and had gathered the holy words of the ſecond and third call, and had conferred them with their Engliſh delivered alſo unto us: E. K. came up the ſtairs, and ſo went into his Study, and came out again, and as he was going down the ſtaires I opened my Study door, and ſaluted him: He thereupon came up again, and came into my Study: And there I ſhewed him what I had done; and how I had ſome underſtanding of thoſe holy words, their ſignifications by reaſon of due applying the Engliſh to the word Chriſtus, intending thereby to have induced E. K. to like the better of the manner of our friends, due, and Methodical, proceeding with us, and told him that unleſſe of this ſtrange language I ſhould have theſe words delivered unto us Letter by Letter, we might erre both in Orthography, and alſo for want of the true pronunciation of the words, and diſtinctions of the points, we might more miſſe the effect expected: But as on Tueſday laſt, ſo now again he ſaid, our Teachers were deluders, and no good, or ſufficient Teachers, who had not in two years ſpace made us able to underſtand, or do ſomewhat: and that he could in two years have learned all the ſeven Liberal ſciences, if he had firſt learned Logick, &c. wherefore he would have no more to do with them any manner of way, wiſhed himſelf in England, and ſaid that if theſe books were his, that he would out of hand burn them, and that he had written to my Lord (by Pirmis) that he took our Teachers to be deceivers, and wicked, and no good Creatures of God, with many ſuch ſpeeches, and reaſons (as he thought) of force to diſwade himſelf from any more dealing with them: But willed me to uſe John my Boy as my Skryer, for that theſe ſpiritual Creatures were not bound unto him, &c. I anſwered unto all theſe parcels and reaſons, as time ſerved declaring my perfect truſt in God, that ſeeing I have many years deſired, and prayed for wiſdome (ſuch as theſe Actions import) at his hands, and by ſuch means as to his Divine Majeſty ſeemeth beſt, that he would not either miſlike my prayer, or abuſe my Conſtant hope in his goodneſſe and mercy: Therefore I concluded that I referred all to the mercifull will of God, and doubted nothing at the length to be ſatisfied of my requeſt, and prayer made unto him. So he went from me this ſecond time.... God lighten his heart with knowledge of the truth, if it be his Divine will and pleaſure.

Note, Permis went on laſt Wedneſday morning, and had received our Letters after noon, on Tueſday laſt: But on Monday before the wicked Prince of darkneſſe did what he could to hinder our proceeding.

On Thurſday, Tabius (brother to my Lord Laskie his wife) brought news to Cracovia, that my Lord Laskie was coming to Cracovia ward. Emericus came from Keſmarke, and returned back again. Tabius rode from Cracovia toward Keſmark.

Saturday, Aprilis 21. à Meridie.

After our prayers made, appeared ſhortly Gabriel and Nalvage. E. K. propounded ſix queſtions orderly, which had bred great doubt in this fantaſie, and requeſted their anſwers.

△. He would have our ſpiritual friends to promiſe him the performance of the Prints.

Gab. …… If we were Maſters of our own doings, we might well promiſe: But we are ſervants and do the will of our maſter. But let me ask thee one queſtion:

Doſt thou not think that all things are poſſible with God?

E. K. I do ſo, and I know ſo.

Gab. …… Then is there no cauſe why thou ſhould diſtruſt. Let him that is a ſervant, and is commanded to go, go: and let not the earth riſe up, and ſtrive againſt the plowman. What ſin is it, if the creature riſeth up, and ſaith in his heart, Let the Lord make a Covenant with me, conſidering he is a bond man?

[E. K. They ſeem, both the voices at once, to come to my eare.]

None but he that becometh diſobedient, and refuſeth his Maſter.

△…… [△ would do ſo.

Gab. Nal. …… Theſe things, that is to ſay, this Doctrine, delivered by us, is of God, and of his mercies granted unto you, which cannot be in vain: and therefore to be performed; for the ſecret determinations of God are unknown unto us.

He never heard of any man that would ask, if God would perform his promiſes.

E. K. By Auguſt next?

What if it were a hundred Auguſts*? you may be a weary before* Auguſt next, as the Children of Iſrael were of their Manna.

E. K. Why joyn you numbers with theſe letters, and added none with thoſe of the former Table.

Numbers.
Numeri Formales.
[illegible]

Brother, what is the cauſe that all the World is made by numbers? The Numbers we ſpeak of, are of reaſon and form, and not of merchants.

△. I beſeech you as concerning the powder whereof he thinketh that he hath made due aſſay of it, as if it ſhould have been the Philoſophers Stone, and ſo affirmed to be, by the miniſter of this action? I beſeech you ſo to anſwer, the thing, as his reaſon may be ſatisfied.

△. They gave no anſwer hereunto, but proceeded in the former matter of Numbers.

Note the property of this Method and Language.

Gab. …… Every Letter ſignifieth the member of the ſubſtance whereof it ſpeaketh. Every word ſignifieth the quiddity of the ſubſtance. The Letters are ſeparated, and in confuſion: and therefore, are by numbers gathered together: which alſo gathered ſignifie a number: for as every greater containeth his leſſer, ſo are the ſecret and unknown forms of things knit up in their parents: Where being known in number, they are eaſily diſtinguiſhed, ſo that herein we teach places to be numbred: letters to be elected from the numbred, and proper words from the letters, ſignifying ſubſtantially the thing that is ſpoken of in the center of his Creator, whereby even as the minde of man moved at an ordered ſpeech, and is eaſily perſwaded in things that are true, ſo are the Creatures of God ſtirred up in themſelves, when they hear the words wherewithal they were nurſed and brought forth: For nothing moveth, that is not perſwaded: neither can any thing be perſwaded that is unknown. The Creatures of God underſtand you not, you are not of their Cities: you are become enemies, becauſe you are ſeparated from him that Governeth the City by ignorance.

[illegible]

E. K. Whether is this Language known in any part of the World or no? if it be, where and to whom?

Adam.

Gab. …… Man in his Creation, being made an Innocent, was alſo authoriſed and made partaker of the Power and Spirit of God: whereby he not onely did know all things under his Creation and ſpoke of them properly, naming them as they were: but alſo was partaker of our preſence and ſociety, yea a ſpeaker of the myſteries of God; yea, with God himſelf: ſo that in innocency the power of his partakers with God, and us his good Angles, was exalted, and ſo became holy in the ſight of God until that Coronzon (for ſo is the true name of that mighty Devil) envying his felicity, and perceiving that the ſubſtance of his leſſer part was frail and unperfect in reſpect of his pure Eſſe, began to aſſail him, and ſo prevailed: that offending ſo he became accurſed in the ſight of God; and ſo loſt the Garden of felicity, the judgement of his underſtanding: but not utterly the favour of God, and was driven forth (as your Scriptures record) unto the Earth which was covered with brambles: where being as dumb, and not able to ſpeak, he began to learn of neceſſity the Language which thou, E. K. calleſt [1 Hebrew:] and yet not that [2 Hebrew] amongſt you: in the which he uttered and delivered to his poſterity, the neareſt knowledge he had of God his Creatures: and from his own ſelf divided his ſpeech into three parts; twelve, three, and ſeven: the number whereof remaineth, but the true forms and pronuntiations want; and therefore is not of that force that it was in his own dignity, much leſſe to be compared with this that we deliver, which Adam verily ſpake in innocency, and was never uttered nor diſcloſed to man ſince till now, wherein the power of God muſt work, and wiſdom in her true kind be delivered: which are not to be ſpoken of in any other thing, neither to be talked of with mans imaginations; for as this Work and Gift is of God, which is all power, ſo doth he open it in a tongue of power, to the Coronzon.

Note two be the Languages.
Adam his ſpeech after the fall.
Latin 2:.
Lingua Angelica.
Lingua Angelica, vel Adamica in ſuo innocentiæ Statu.

the intent that the proportions may agree in themſelves : for it is written, Wiſdom ſitteth upon an Hill, and beholdeth the four Winds, and girdeth her ſelf together as the brightneſſe of the morning, which is viſited with a few, and dwelleth alone as though ſhe were a Widow.

Thus you ſee there, the Neceſſity of this Tongue : The Excellency of it, And the Cauſe why it is preferred before that which you call Hebrew : For it is written, Every leſſe, conſenteth to his greater. I truſt this is ſufficient.

E. K. As concerning the power, What is it?

Gab. ...... What it is, that it is, for the knowledge of it may lead you to error.

Δ. This anſwer offended greatly E. K. and thereupon he left off, and would receive no more at their hands. God make him patient, and a favourer of this Action as ſoon as it is needful that he ſhould be.

Δ. Laudetur, magnificetur & extollatur nomen Jeſu Chriſti in omne ævum. Amen.

Note on Tueſday after Noon, circa horam quartam, as we two ſat together, E. K. ſaid that he thought upon the matter, Et quod jam vellet duas horas mihi concedere ſingulis diebus ad recipienda illa, quæ illi tradere vellent. Ego autem illi & maximo Deo gratias egi, quia hanc eſſe mutationem dextra excelſi factam verè judicavi ; nam ante prandium rigidiſſimus erat in contraria opinione & ſententia. 24. Aprilis. this after noon.

Wenſday, Cracoviæ, Aprilis 25, Mane, hora 7.

The Vail appeared as at firſt almoſt. After half an hour Gabriel and Nalvage appeared, after my manifold prayers and diſcourſes.

Δ. Two keyes we have received by the mercy of the Higheſt and your miniſters, the reſt we attend, according to the merciful will of the Higheſt.

Gab. ...... Move not from your places, for the place is holy.

Δ. Shew a token O Lord when thy will is, whereby to perſwade thy merciful dealings with us, and the preſence of thy faithful Miniſters.

Δ. The frame of the Stone gave a crickling, no hand touching it, or otherwiſe any mortal or worldly thing moving it. I heard it very certainly, and to E. K. it ſeemed the ſound of a bunch of keyes, as if they had quickly been ſhaken and ſtrongly. Note.

E. K. Gabriel ſitteth, and Nalvage ſtandeth.

Gab. ...... My Brethren hearken to my voice, for I am the true ſervant of the God of Abraham, Iſaac, and Jacob, the dignity whereof is ſufficient both for the verity of the Doctrine, and the confirmation, and perſwaſion of your mindes : for as God is the Father of the Faithful, ſo he ſheweth himſelf unto the faithful : whereby you may prove the great comfort and conſolation : that you may juſtly gather of the mercies of God, as touching your Election.

For at what time hath God appeared unto the unrighteous? or where do you read that ever he viſited the reprobate? For the reprobate hath no viſitation, but in the rod of Juſtice :

But you may riſe up among your ſelves, ſaying lo, we are froward, we want faith. An objection.

True it is, the acts of faith, but not the roots of faith. But I ſay unto you, that the power of Anſwer. God in his Election, is the Baſis of mans purity and acceptation.

But here there is a Caveat.

That man imagining his Predeſtination and perfect Election, juſtifieth not himſelf ; for whereſoever this is found, or this Doctrine preached amongſt you, either ſimply in man, or publickly in Congregation, it is the ſure ſign and token of their perpetual ignorance and confuſion : For the Will and Power of God belongeth not to our meaſure (for it was the cauſe of rebellion amongſt us) much leſſe among men, which are fighting yet for the Glory of their reward. Behold it is a ſin in him that judgeth of his brothers Conſcience ; Much more is it a threefold error, to form the imaginations of ſin, by whoſe imaginations they are.

Be not proud therefore of the gifts of God, but become humble ; Neither juſtifie your ſelf in reſpect that this is the word of God delivered unto you for your own ſelves : But the more you receive, be the more thankful ; and the more you be in the ſtrength of God, the more uſe you the pureneſſe of humility.

Of whom it is ſaid, Behold my Spirit hath entred, yea into my ſervants, and they are become humble and meek in the ſight of men : But if we be the ſervants of the God of Abraham, then are we the ſpirits of truth and underſtanding, for our faith is dignified in the ſight of the heavens, and we are become mighty in the power of the Almighty. Therefore ought we to be believed. Good Angels.

Now if you will confeſſe your ſelves to be the children of Abraham, then muſt you alſo accept of our Doctrine : For the meat whereby Abraham lived, is the ſame food we miniſter unto you : of whom it is ſaid, He believed God, and it was counted unto him for righteouſneſſe. Even ſo do you, that you alſo may be righteous, wherein do you differ from Abraham? Were you not barren? Who hath made you fruitfull?

that

A Covenant. Did God make a Covenant with Abraham? Even ſo he doth with you. Did the Lord in his Miniſters appear unto him? ſo doth he, and will do unto you. Were the ſins of Sodom (the fifth that periſhed) imported into Abrahams boſome, as the ſecret determination of the Lord? Are they alſo not manifeſt unto you (even by the ſame God) as touching the time and corruption of this world? Did he not up in the morning, and beheld the confuſion, and headlong Ruines of the wicked? And ſhall you not alſo ſee the ruine of him that is the ſon of wickedneſſe. Yes, unleſſe you hinder your ſelves. For the promiſe of your God is without exception. Be mindful therefore of your ſelves, and conſider your calling: That you may be ſtill bleſſed in him that is the God of Abraham, and is your Father.

The Keys. In theſe Keys which we deliver, are the myſteries and ſecret beings and effects of all things moving, and moved within the world.

[illegible] In this is the life of MOTION, in whom all tongues of the world are moved, for there is neither ſpeech nor ſilence that was or ſhall be to the end of the world, but they are all as plain here, as in their own nakedneſſe. Deſpiſe it not, therefore ..... For unto them that are hungry, it is bread, unto the thirſty drink, and unto the naked clothing: A Serpent it is of many heads invincible. Believe therefore, that with him you way be wiſe: that your humility may be ſuch, as may be numbred in the world. I have ſaid. Nal. Move not, for the place is holy.

E. K. What mean you by that ſentence or phraſe.

Nal. It is of two parts, the firſt in reſpect of the ſpirit and preſence of him that is holy: preſent and teaching. Secondly in reſpect of your conſent, which is obedience, for obedience confirmeth the will of God in man, and the will of God confirmeth mans ſalvation; wherefore it is ſaid, move not: and why? becauſe the place is holy. Move neither in mind, neither in body, for obedience is the concluſion, and confirmation of your ſeparations from the Devils. Sacrifice is accepted, but obedience is better. You are ſurely anſwered.

E. K. I like your anſwer well.

Nal. Our wiſdom, ſhall prove Rhetorick.

80	Naaq	in your creation	It is q á an
79	LEANANA	of the ſecret wiſdom	Ananael.
78	ILPALP	partakers	It is Plapli.
77	OGUP	as unto the partakers	It is Pugo.
76	RAMAUMI	apply your ſelves unto us	It is Im ua mar.
75	DO	And	Od.

E. K. This letter turneth ſo about, that I cannot well diſcerne it.

74	GALGINU	Deſcend	Uniglag.

E. K. This letter alſo turneth round.

73	RACAZ	Move	Zod a car.
72	AIHOG	we ſay	Gohia.
71	GMRASAC	in whome	Caſarmg.
70	MOIAA	Amongſt us	A ai om.
69	ZLOACIM	mighty	Mi ca olz.
68	RAON	is become	Noar.

E. K. This Letter moveth.

E. K. Now he maketh a reverend Curſy.

67	NIAOODDO	and name	Od do o a in.

E. K. This letter alſo moveth. Od is and it muſt be ſounded with one breath.

E. K.

E. K. Gabriel ſhaketh his ſpeare. Nalvage.

66	MOCACAC	Flouriſh	Ca ca com.
65	ZOSUHEI	his mercies	Jehuſoz.
64	AMCIM	Bekold	Micma.

E. K. Now he uſeth his reverent Curſies again.

63	NARIMA	Your ſelves	Amiran.

Nal. Did I not bid thou ſhouldeſt not move?

E. K. He hath thrown down his rod upon the Table.

[Δ. I had moved to the dore, becauſe I heard ſome going up and down the chamber without: we had forgotten to ſhut the ſtaire-foot dore.]

Δ. O Lord, I did it not upon any wilfull diſobedience. But pardon this Fault, and by thy grace (O God) I will avoid the like fault henceforward.

Nal. It was a great fault. Δ. I beſeech the Almighty to pardon it.

E. K. Now he is kneeled down, and all his Face is under the Table. Now he is up again, and taketh his rod in his hand, and maketh a Croſſe with it three times: Eaſt, Weſt, North, and South.

Nal. Sound your word. Δ. Amiran.

E. K. He pronounceth the i ſo remiſſely, as it is ſcarce heard, and in the pronouncing of the whole word he ſeemeth not to move his lips.

62	SUHOG	I ſay	Gohus,

E. K. He made long leaſurely reverence.

61	ROLOHOG	lift up.	Goholor.

E. K. He uſeth reverence again.

Nal. The next is a name mightier then the power of the ſame.

60	DAM	of the ſame your God	Mad.

E. K. He uſeth long reverent Curſy again.

E. K. Now he holdeth up his Rod.

59	PAIOOD	In the name	Do oi ap.

E. K. He holdeth up his rod again.

38	NAOOVDO	and truth	Od vooan.
57	TLAB	of Juſtice	Balt.
56	HALANU	The Skyrts	Unalah.
55	NAON	thus you are become	Noan.
54	DLIP	on the earth	Pild.
53	GSOAC	continually	Caoſg.

Now he uſeth courteſy.

52	IGRIPLAM	the fiers of life and increaſe	Malpirgi.
51	RIPNAP	powring down	Panpir
50	LEEANAN	my power	Na na e el.
46	NUAV	you might work	Vaun.

E. K. He uſeth reverence. Now he holdeth up his Rod and ſhaket it about his head.

48	BAATENG	your governments	Gnetaab
47	ED	of	De,is my name
46	GAONIIM	the corners	Mi i no ag

E. K. He uſeth courteſie.

E. K. Gabriel ſhaketh his ſpeare.

Nal. .,... It may be called Mi moag or Diuph

E. K. Now he extendeth. Dinf

45	DO	and	Od
44	POZIZI	from the higheſt veſſels	Izizop

Gab. ...... Move not.

43	NEFAF	to the intent that	Faſen
42	BSACOC	of time	Cocasb
41	LIMOH	the true ages	Homil
40	ALC	456	Cla
39	SROV	out	Vors

E. K. He uſeth moſt reverent Curſie.

38	ILAIMPAC	ſucceſſively	Capmiali
37	ASNOL	power	Lonſa
36	GRAZMOV	unto every one of you	arg as in barg Vomſarg
35	AGULD	giving	Dluga
34	BAATEN	of government	Netaab

E. K. Many ſounds are heard in the ſtone. He kneeleth down.

33	SONLIHT	in ſeats 12.	Thilnos
32	ALAAH	placed you	AAla
31	DO	and	OD
30	GRAZLAB	Stewards	arg as in barge BALZARG
29	LOE	I made you	EOL
28	ILI	in the firſt	ILI
27	LUZROT	ſhall riſe	TORZUL
26	DO	and
25	ADGRB	ſleep	as burgen to bud. as Burgda
24	TSD	which	DST

23	NEIZO	mine own	OZIEN
22	M	except	EM it is a word

E. K. Now he uſeth reverence.

21	EGSIHCI	to are not	Kis I Chisge
20	SIHC	are,	Kis Chis
19	GROTLOT	the Creatures of the earth	org as in george Toltorg
18	NIIVQ	wherein	Qui in
17	HCOLET	of death;	as och in hotch pot Teloch

E. K. Now he maketh +.

16	HELP SOMQ	or the horns	Q Mos Pleh
15	NIVPAT	as ſharp ſickles,	as two words Ta pu in You may call it Tapui alſo
14	SIHC	are	as Kis
13	LDNV	the reſt	Vnd L

E. K. Now he maketh a Croſſe again.
……… Now he ſtoopeth down and kiſſeth.

			it may be Vd L or Vnd L
12	HAPIGIG	of living breath;	Gi gi pah
11	LIHTO	the ſeats	Othil
10	SIHC	are	as Kiſſe Chis
9	ZRON	ſix	Norz
8	HODNOLSO	12 Kingdoms:	Os Lon doh

A Croſſe again.

			[Os ſignifieth twelve] Londoh
7	BAIB	are	Biah Biab
6	NEIZA	on whoſe hands	Azien

He ſtoopeth and kiſſeth the ground.

5	HLESMOC	a Circle,	Com Selh
4	RIZ	I am;	Zir
3	DAIP	your God	Pi ad

He kiſſeth the ground. He ſetteth his hands on the ground.

2 OHOG	ſaith	Goho
1 AMCIM	behold	Mic ma.

Nal. ..... This is all.

△. Now, in the Name of Jeſus, as it pleaſed you before, ſo would we gladly have the ſence hereof in Engliſh.

Nal. ..... Let him that hath wiſedom underſtand : For here beginne the myſteries of your world.

1 Behold,
2 ſaith
3 your God,
4 I am
5 a Circle,
6 on whoſe hands
7 ſtand
8 12 Kingdoms ;
9 ſix
10 are 11 the ſeats
12 of living breath,
13 The reſt
14 are
15 as ſharp Sickles,
16 or the horns
17 of death ;
18 wherein
19 The Creatures of the earth
20 are 21 to are not,
22 except
23 mine own hand,
24 Which
25 ſleep
26 and
27 ſhall riſe.
28 In the firſt
29 I made you
30 Stewards
31 and
32 placed you
33 in ſeats 12 [or] in 12 ſeats
34 of government :
35 Giving
36 unto every one of you
37 power,
38 ſucceſſively,
39 over
40 456.
41 the true ages
42 of time;
43 to the intent that,
44 from the higheſt veſſels
45 and
46 the Corners
47 of your governments,
Gal.... mighty is the God of Hoſts, amongſt his people.
48 you might work
49 my power,
50 pouring down
51 The fires of life, and encreaſe
52 continually
53 on the earth.
54 Thus
55 you are become
56 The skirts
57 of Juſtice
58 and truth.
59 In the name
60 of the ſame, your God,
61 lift up,
62 I ſay,
63 your ſelves;
64 Behold,
65 his mercies
66 flouriſh,
67 and name
68 is become 69 mighty
70 amongſt us;
71 in whom
72 we ſay,
73 Move,
74 Deſcend
75 and
76 apply your ſelves unto us,
77 as unto
78 the partakers
79 of his ſecret wiſdom
80 in your Creation

E. E. Now all all his fingers diſappear.

K. K. Now Gabriel ſtandeth up.

Gab. ..... Heark, O ye ſons of men ; is the firſt of nature, and the beginning of your being in body : Whereby the things of the world have life & live. Let him that hath wiſdom underſtand. Grow together, for this hath its fruit in due time. Albert Laskie hath not done the Commandment of God ; he ſhould have been here by this time.

△. Note. There are three calls in the ſecond part of Cracovia, and one in the firſt.

Theſe four calls are the ſecond, the 3d. 4th. 5th. for the firſt Table can have no call, it is of the Godhead.

△. Gloria, Laus, Honor, & Imperium ſit Deo Noſtro in infinita ſeculorum ſecula. Amen.

Δ. Remember that on Wedſday night, Abril the 25. my Lord Albert Laskie came at night to Cracovia, and lay in a little woodden building, among guards, by St. Steniſlaus Church: and on the Friday morning following intended to enter his journey toward Keſmark, and the recovering of Keſmark: Jeſus proſper his juſt Cauſe.

Wenſday morning, Aprilis 1584. Cracoviæ.
Jeſus ———

Nal. ...... A new Action ——— Backward, as before.

52	DAIOI	of him that liveth for ever.	Ioiad.
51	RIZ	I am	Zir.
50	PAL	for,	Lap.
49	PLERV	a ſtrong ſeething;	Vrelp.
48	MZAZO	make me	Ozazm.
47	DO	and	Od.
46	OZLACIM	in power,	Micalzo.
45	NARMAZ	ſhew your ſelves	Zamran.
44	DOQONC	unto his ſervants,	[as C Nó quod.

Gab. ...... The place is become more holy, and he is become more meek.
Nal. ......

43	AC	therefore	Ca.
42	RACAZ	Move	Zacar.

[Nal. ...... Make a ſtop there.]

41	LEHOG	ſaith the firſt,	Gó hel.

E. K. Now the Croſſe is come in again thinner than it was before.

40	UZROT	Ariſe,	Torzú
39	NODIAI	of the all-powerful.	Ia í don.
38	NINAM	in the minde	Manin.
37	QO	but	O qua.
36	EGAT	as is not	Tagé.
35	SROC	Such	Cors.
34	FORT	a building,	Trof.
33	NAON	you are become	No án.
32	PAL	for	Lap.
31	NOGNOZO	then the many fold windes;	Ozongon.

30	AIB	your voices	Bia.
29	SIHC	are	Chís [the I long.
28	PLACIM	mightier	Mi calp.
27	DO	and	Od
26	IRRO	than the barren ſtone	Orri.
25	DSUL	your feet.	Lusd.
24	SIHC	are	Chis [as Xis,
23	IUIG	ſtronger	as Giui.
22	HOTLAB	of righteouſneſſe	Baltoh.
21	EGOO	for the Chamber	Ooge.
20	SBRVT	in their beauty	Turbs.
19	QLSROL	the flowres	Lors l qua.
18	ATQ	or as	Quu Ta,
17	ADELCARAP	for a wedding	Paracleda;
16	OHLAT	Cups	Talho.
15	AT	as	Ta.
14	GMARBA	I have prepared	Abramg.
13	AMRASAC	whom	Caſarma.
12	HPDAIP	within the depth of my Jaws	Piadph.
11	ZAZAZI	have framed	Izazaz.
10	GRUPLAI	the burning flames	I al purg.
9	MABOS	whom	S o bam.
8	L	of the firſt	A word.
7	VIIV	O you the ſecond	Vi iv,
6	DLAS	your voices of wonder	Sald.
5	PIAAF	underſtand	Fa á ip.
4	MO		Om.
3	GNOZ	of the windes	Zong.
2	HAAPV	the wings	V pa ah.
1	TGDA	Can	Adgt,

The

The firſt word. ———— The firſt is the laſt.
1 ———— Can

E. K. Now he holdeth up many hands and fingers as before, and on the very end of the fingers diſtinctly theſe parcels appeared in Engliſh.

2 ———— The ſecond word ———— The wing.
Vpaah, is the wings, and Adgt, is Can.
3 ———————— of the windes,
4 ———————— underſtand your voices of windes.
5 ———————— O you
6 ———————— the ſecond
7 ———————— of the firſt,
8 ———————— whom
9 ———————— The burning flames
10 ———————— have framed
11 ———————— within the depth of my Jaws,
12 ———————— whom
13 ———————— I have prepared
14 ———————— as
15 ———————— Cups
16 ———————— for a wedding,
17 ———————— or as 18 ———————— the flowres
19 ———————— in their beauty
20 ———————— for the Chamber 21 ———————— of righteouſneſſe;
22 ———————— ſtronger
23 ———————— are
24 ———————— your feet
25 ———————— then the barren ſtone,
26 ———————— and
27 ———————— mightier
28 ———————— are
29 ———————— your voices
30 ———————— then the manifold windes:
31 ———————— For
32 ———————— you are become
33 ———————— a building,
34 ———————— Such 35 ———————— as is not,
36 ———————— But
37 ———————— in the minde
38 ———————— of the all-powerful.
39 ———————— Ariſe,
40 ———————— ſaith the firſt;
41 ———————— Move
42 ———————— therefore

E. K. All the Stone is become very dark.
The wicked ſaid ...... Thou ſhalt go no further ......
△. I prayed Roffenſis Pſalm 9. and the Lords Prayer, and the Stone became clear, and the fingers appeared again, through the mercy of the Higheſt......

43 ———————— unto his ſervants;
44 ———————— ſhew your ſelves
45 ———————— in power,
46 ———————— and
47 ———————— make me
48 ———————— a ſtrong. [See thing,]
49 ———————— for
50 ———————— I am
51 ———————— of him
52 ———————— that liveth for ever.

This his and him corrected, were of the wicked his ſubtile ſuggeſtions,

E K. Now

E. K. Now appear no more fingers.

Nal. Compare them now together.

E. K. Now he is ſet down in his chaire.

△. I have compared the Engliſh Joynts to the myſtical words, and I find 12. of each: ſo that they agree.

Nal. Thus you have this dayes labour. Now The white ſilk is extended over the ſtone.

△. Soli Deo noſtro, Deo omnipotenti, & Majeſtatis tremedæ, & ſuper omnia amandæ, ſit omnis laus, gratiarum actio, & Jubilatio. Amen.

Friday, Cracoviæ, Aprilis: Mane, hora ferè 9.

Oratione Dominica & aliis

Precibus ad Deum finitis, pro luce & veritate, in hanc formam, Omnipotens, ſempiterne, verè & vive Deus noſter, mitte nobis ſpiritum ſanctum & veritatem tuam, ut ſapienter, fideliter & conſtanter tibi ſerviamus, omnibus diebus vitæ noſtræ. Amen.

The white Curtain, or veyle, appeared very long.

△. It fell ſo out by the wonderful providence of God, that E. K. and I quietly conſidered theſe actions, generally, & the contrary ſpirituall informations given to him, apart by himſelf; (& ſometimes, while we were receiving our inſtructions, by our Schoolmaſters) of which contrary power, ſome would rayle on God, and blaſpheme his Majeſty horribly, as may appear by the record of ſome late Actions; But this was our concluſion, that we both deſired the verity, and that ſo, as beſt might pleaſe God, in the manner of coming by it.

Note, arbitrement of God required. △. Be Judge, O Lord, between us, ſending us the verity of the judgment, for the glory of thy name, for as much as they which impugne theſe proceedings, do (to E.K.) as it ſeems perfecter, and more wiſe and fruitful then our Schoolmaſters, which I took to be the true and bleſſed Angels, &c.

E. K. Now is the note pluck't aſide. △. About an eleven of the Clock.

△. Bleſſed be the higheſt, who is Almighty.

14. Dies menſis Sab. Gab. Danida, a mighty Prophet (not the leaſt upon the earth) opened his mouth, and ſaid, Behold, there ſhall a Whale come from the Eaſt, the fourtenth day of this Month, S A B.

E. K. They ſeem to ſpeak both together.

Gab., Nal. And he entred into the field, and he met with a Merchant, and he ſaid unto him, Thou art not for me: for thy intent dwelleth in the world. He went further, and, lo, there was a field of all kind of people, diverſly recreating themſelves in their own pleaſures: and he yet ſaid, Lo, theſe are not for me: and he went on; and, lo, he ſaw, AND IT WAS A NAKED MAN.

Gab. Nal. Mark, [to E.K.]

E. K. So I do.

Gab. Nal. In his hands were divers things; moſſe, leaves, flowers, and herbs; and he wondred, ſaying, Why art thou naked? and he ſaid, Lo, I am old, and am without Garments, and theſe are the things wherewithall I will be clothed. And the Prophet talked with him, and told him of the Whale.

E. K. They ſpeak both together, that I cannot diſcern their voyce.

And he commanded him to kneel, and he lifted up his hands to heaven and prayed within himſelf; and he ſaid alſo unto him, I am a Prophet, riſe up, I will bleſſe thee in the name of my propheſie: and, lo, he took him by the hand, and went forward: and the way was rough, ſtony, and very ſound: and, as they went, they found men, huge and big, monſtrous: and the Prophet ſaid, Theſe pleaſe me not: and, as they talked on the way, they overtook a little child, A Child And the Phrophet ask't him his name, and he anſwered, He was a man: and he ſaid, Thou pleaſeſt me, for thou mayeſt be a man.

A Hill. There was a Hill, and they aſcended, and, after a while, the child became weary, and ſate down, ſaying with himſelf, This hill is troubleſome, I am not able to keep company with them; and the Prophet, miſſing him, went back, and found him ſitting. And he began to weep, ſaying, Whither will you lead me? But the Prophet comforted him; and ſaid: Now thou ſeeſt, thou art not a man. And thus he did, aſcending ſundry times; and, lo, it was the top of the hill, and the Sun was hot and clear in the midſt of the day. The Prophet ſaid unto the child, look to the Centre of the Sun, and ſo he did, ſtedfaſtly.

Pen, Ink, & Paper. And the Prophet ſaid unto him, Now I have experience of thee, and I know thou wilt be a man; And he ſaid unto him, that was naked, Here are Pen, Ink, and Paper.

And lo thou haſt one that can ſee far off, and he ſhewed him the Seas: ſaying, look unto the Oriens. Eaſt: and he told him of the Whale, and of his coming, and of many myſteries.

But the man anſwered him, ſaying, I am naked, the ayre is ſharp, and I have no food: How can

can I therefore STAY ſo many dayes? and he ſaid unto him, Sit down, and note, untill this Child become a man.

Note untill.

Feed by comfort. For the Whale ſhall be thine, in whoſe belly is a Cheſt ſwallowed of great value, and they were contented. Behold, the people of the countrey were rich, and had conquered many Nations, ſo that he was a Monarch in the world; this Monarch was skilfull in all Sciences, and knew all things to come, and he called his Counſell together, and ſaid unto them.

Monarcha mundi & ſui ſubditi.

Lo, thus it is; the cauſe why I have made thoſe mighty banks, and have drawn my people from the lower places and the Seas, is for that, I fear a Whale: which, if he land in my Kingdomes, will be my deſtruction, and they told him what the Prophet had ſaid, and he began to rage, and was puffed up with anger, and he opened his books THE SECOND TIME; and his eyes were opened, and he underſtood that the Prophet had aſcended unto the top of the mountain, and had taken with him a naked man, and a child: and he ſaid to his Miniſters, Aſcend, and bring me the child, for I will examine him, and know the Prophets meaning, and he apparelled him richly, and gave him much, but he prevailed not. And he ſaid within himſelf, Aſcend again they ſhall, and bring down that man.

And the ſervants aſcended, and they found a Marble ſtone, and they were angry among themſelves, ſaying, Is this a man? And lo they came unto the King, and ſaid, Thou ſendeſt us forth, but we found a mighty ſtone not able to be moved. Where is it therefore that thou wilt have us ſeek that man; But he ſaid within himſelf, I will overcome the child, and he took him by the hand, and led him into his Orchard, where he opened unto him the ſecrets of his books, ſo that he became skilful. But, lo, the Prophet aroſe, and, as he walked towards the Hill, to comfort them whom he accounted his friends, he eſpied the child apparalled ſtrangely, and in company with ſtrangers: and he opened his mouth, and began to propheſie, ſaying.

A marble ſtone.

Strangers.

The King hath riſen up againſt himſelf, for he hath CHOSEN THE CHOSEN, and hath opened the ſecrets of his own Kingdom to his deſtruction, and he ſtretched forth his hand, and ſaid unto the child, Come with me: and he was unwilling, for his pleaſures were great. And he lifted up his voyce and ſaid: and he SWARE, And, lo, he came with him even unto the mountain: and the Prophet ſaid unto him, When thou waſt a child, I led thee, but now thou art become a man. ſtretch forth thy leggs, and labour, and he was unwilling.

Thus, whilſt they were talking, they that waited upon him were at his feet armed, ſaying, come with us, for we are ſtrong enough to deliver thee.

But the Prophet ſaid unto them, GOE back and tell your King, that I found him on the way, and a ſtranger, and I had pity on him, and I took him for my own. Therefore ſtrive not, for juſtice muſt prevail. And they began to ſtagger as drunkards, for they knew it was true. And the Prophet ſaid, Now come with me, I will yet lead thee: and they aſcended. The Prophet held up his hands, and SAID, I SEE, and behold, he that was naked aroſe: and ſaid, I SEE ALSO.

And the Seas aroſe, and a great tempeſt, and broke down the banks: and entred on the earth, doing much harm to the people of that Kingdom: And, lo, there aroſe a wind the SECOND: and there were four beaſts, ſuch as are in the world, and were never known. And they came ſwimming, and ſo landed on the Hill. And the Prophet ſaid, Ariſe, draw out your ſwords and kill them, and ſo they did.

Maris inundatio cum tempeſtate.

Ventus.

Behold, the blood of them vaniſhed into aire, and the fleſh became earth: The entrals of them waſted away with the waters: and their bones burned with a mighty fire. The ſecond wind aroſe, and there were five Crowns: in the midſt of them ſate the Father of life, with a golden head: whoſe Feet bathed themſelves in due and ſweet Manna: and the Prophet ſaid, Put forth your hands: and they did ſo: But lo they were afraid, for he that ſtood in the midſt of the Crowns, was full of beauty.

Ventus 2.

Pater vitæ.

And the Prophet ſaid, Fear not, come with me; and he opened unto them the ſecrets of the Crown, for in every one of them was a golden ſentence. And the ſecrets of the Hill began to ſhake, and there was a great Earthquake.

Myſteria 5 Coronarum.

The third wind aroſe: and the twelve Cedar trees that were never corrupted, came and planted themſelves in twelve places of the Hill, and they brought forth ſtrange fruits, not as Cedar trees do.

Ventus 3.

The Prophet ſaid, Gather, for I know you hunger, that you may be refreſhed. While they thus talked, the fourth wind aroſe, and, behold, all the mountain was a flaming fire; and there were five Earthquakes, ſuch as were not ſince the beginning of the world.

Ventus 4.

5. Terræ motus.

The Prophet took them up, for they were become as dead. And ſuddenly The Firmament and the waters were joyned together, and the Whale CAME, like unto a legion of ſtormes: or as the bottomleſs Cave of the North when it is opened: and ſhe was full of eyes of every ſide.

The Whale came.

The Prophet ſaid, Stand ſtill, but they trembled. The waters ſank, and fell ſuddenly away; ſo that the Whale lay upon the Hill, roaring like a Cave of Lions, and the Prophet took them by the hands, and led them to the Whales mouth, ſaying, Go in, but they trembled vehemently; He ſaid unto them the ſecond time, Go in: and they durſt not. And he ſware unto them, and they entred in, and he lifted up his voyce, and cried mightily, Come away, and, lo, they ſtood before him richer then an Emperours Throne, for unto him that was naked, were clothes given: unto him that was a child and a man, were 12 gates opened. And the Prophet cried mightily, and ſaid, This Whale cannot die; and lifted up his voyce again and ſaid: Within this Whale are many Chambers, and ſecret dwelling places, which I will divide betwixt you on the right ſide (unto the which was a child, and

The Whales mouth.

now

12 } 18 now a man) there are twelve opened, but unto thee that haſt provided ſtrange Garments for thy ſelf, and not ſuch as men uſe to wear, I will give thee head, hart, and left ſide, whoſe places

△ } are 46. You ſhall enter, and be poſſeſſed this day together: And behold, the ſon ſhall return [illegible] 56 again 21 times, and in one year, but not all at one time. You ſhalt depart hence into a dwelling

21 that ſhall be all one: where there is no end, the place of comfort and inſpeakable glorie.

A Miracle.

I have ſaid.

△. As you have delivered us a parable, ænigma, or propheſie, ſo I beſeech you, for the ſetting forth of God his honour and glory, to expound what is meant by the Whale, the naked man, the Childe, &c.

Gab. .... Nal. .... The Prophet is in his name.

The naked man is Dee,
The Childe is Kelly,
The Prince is the Devil,
The Hill is the World,
The waters are the boſome of God,
The 4 beaſts are the 4 Elements,
The 12 Trees are the 12 parts of the Heavens,
The Whale is the ſpirit of God,
The Chambers are the degrees of wiſdome,
The Thunders and windes are the ends of God his Will and Judgements:

The reſt are not to be ſpoken:

This I take to notifie to us the judgement and arbitrement of God between us, in reſpect of our Petitions to his Divine Majeſty now made, whereby we may be aſſured what to judge of the Creatures which do deal with us in this action, and of the impugners, or diſwaders of the credit of it. This I take to be ſent and delivered unto us, of the meer mercy and providence Divine regarding his own glory, and the ſincerity of my hope and confidence, which I put wholly in him, and alwayes will.

Gab } Nal. } ...... You are happy, for you believe, E. K. what am I. △. as happy if you believe likewiſe.

△. Are you not to deliver us our leſſons orderly, as we have begun to receive?

Gab } Nal } ...... Underſtand that, by the Prophet delivering Pen, Ink, and Paper.

△. As concerning the book writing by the higheſt, what ſhall I expect thereof?

Gab } Nal } ...... There is no point of faith.

△. I believe verily that it ſhall be written by the power of the higheſt.

Nal. ..... The power of the higheſt confirmeth me, but not my power, the higheſt.

△. Be it as the will of God is,

E. K. The white Curtain is drawn.

△. Gloria Patri, & Filio, & ſpiritui ſancto; ſicut erat in principio, & nunc, & ſemper, & in ſecula ſeculorum.

E. K. Amen.

Saturday, 28. Aprilis, Mane hora 8. Cracoviæ.

Oratione præmiſſa ſtatim apparebant.

E. K. They are here.

Gab. ..... Move not, for the place is holy.

△. Holy, holy, holy, is he, who ſanctifieth all things that are ſanctified.

Nalvage. E. K. He maketh Croſſes with his Rod toward the four parts of the world, and then kneeleth down awhile.

Gab. ..... Happy is he that hath his skirts tied up, and is prepared for a Journey, for the way ſhall be open unto him, and in his joynts ſhall there dwell no wearineſſe: his meat ſhall be as the tender dew, as the ſweetneſſe of a bullocks Cud. For unto them that have, ſhall be given, and from them that have not, ſhall be taken away: For why, the bur cleaveth to the willow ſtem, but on the ſands it is toſſed as a feather without dwelling. Happy are they that cleave unto the Lord, for they ſhall be brought unto the ſtore-houſe: and be accounted, and accepted as the Ornaments of his beauty: But pray with me.

O thou eternal foundation and ſtrength of all things, mortal and immortal, which delight in thy face and in the glorie of thy name,

Conſider the foundation of our fragility, and enter into the weakneſſe of our inward parts: for we are become empty; whoſe ſalt is not, nor hath any ſavour: Fortifie, and make us ſtrong in thee, and in thy ſtrength; Have mercy upon us, Have mercy upon us, Have mercy upon us; that in this world our ſtrength may be in patience, and after this life, that we may aſcend unto thee.

Nal, ... A-

Nal. ...... Amen.

△, We prayed the ſame prayer.

E. K. Now Nalvage ſtandeth up upon his Table of Letters.

Nal. ..... It is a ſide-long Letter.

47	PALOMRON	the ſons of men	Nor mo lap.

E. K. Now he kiſſeth the Table.

46	FAA	amongſt	A af
45	LITSER	that you may praiſe him	Reſt el.

Now he kiſſeth the Table,and maketh moſt humble and low Curſies, having firſt laid down his Rod.

44	GNOSILEBO	As pleaſant deliverers	Obeliſong
43	NARMAZDO	And ſhew your ſelves	Od Zamran

E. K. Now Gabriel ſhaketh his Dart terribly.

E. K. Why ſhake you your dart ſo ?

Gab. ..... Scholers ought to give ear to their School-maſters.

42	RACAZ	Move	Zacar.
41	LAAQ	of the Creatour	Qa al
40	PIAOOD	in the name	Do oa ip
39	ALIPADO	and liveth	Od Api la
38	ISD	which is	DSI
37	DAIANERIZ	I am the Lord your God	Zire nai ad

Now he uſeth his accuſtomed Curſie.

36	ELGAB	for	Ba gle
35	AGSOAGF	viſit the earth	Fgaos ga
34	OD	and	Od.
33	IHASAVQRON	you ſons of pleaſure	Nor qua ſa hi
32	VGROT	Ariſe	Torgu
31	ALC	456	Cla
30	OLAT	as the firſt	Ta l o
29	SIHC	are	Chis
28	NIHSNOLDO	and their powers	Od lonſhin

Now he kneeleth.

27	NOAMIPAC	the number of time	Capi ma on

26	SIHC	are	Kis Chis
25	ILAMIPAC	ſucceſſively,	Ca pi ma li
24	TSD	which alſo	D S T

Now he falleth ſuddenly on his knees.

23	GEGVDO	and wax ſtrong:	as Wedge Od Vgeg
22	SIHC	are,	Kis Chis

Now he kneeleth.

21	IZDOORC	The ſecond beginnings of things	Cro od ẑi
20	GMRASAC	in whom	the g as in ſeurge Caſarmg
19	LPRC	but one ;	C R P L
18	OPMROC	hath yet numbred	Corm po
17	GA	None	as agg in nag Ag
16	MABOS	whom	So bam
15	MPAM	9639;	Map m
14	ILAO	I have placed	O a li
13	IMRASAC	under whom	Ca ſarmi
12	VIDVIV	in the ſecond angle?	Vi v di v

Now he lifted up his hands.

11	FNOSD	which raign	Dſouf

E. K. Now he goeth off the Table, and kneeleth Down.

10	DP	33	Pe de P D

Now he lifteth.

9	PMROC	numbred?	Cormp
8	OGAVAVA	the thunders of encreaſe	Ava va go
7	EGSIHCG	Are not	G Chis ge
6	LOHOG	ſaying,	Go hol
5	AHPROD	have looked about me,	Dor pha

4 DO	and	Od
3 EGABAE	in the ſouth	Ba bage
2 IDSAL	my feet	Las di
1 LIHTO	I have ſet	O thil

E. K. The Table turneth continually to his Rod end, and the Letter ſeemeth to ſtand on his Rods end diſtinctly. That is it. This is this Call.

1 —— I have ſet
2 —— my feet
3 —— in the ſouth,
4 —— and
5 —— have looked
6 —— about me,
7 —— ſaying,
8 —— are not
9 —— The Thunders of encreaſe
10 —— numbred?
11 —— Thirty three 12 —— which raign
13 —— in the ſecond Angel;
14 —— under whom
15 —— I have placed
16 —— 9639.
17 —— whom
18 —— None
19 —— hath yet numbred
20 —— but one
21 —— in whom
22 —— the ſecond beginning of things
23 —— are,
24 —— and wax ſtrong
25 —— which alſo :
26 —— ſucceſſively, [or by ſucceſſion]
27 —— are
28 —— the number of time,
29 and
30 —— their powers
31 —— are
32 —— as the firſt
33 —— 456.
34 —— Ariſe
35 —— you ſons of pleaſure,
36 —— and
37 —— viſit the earth ;
38 —— for
39 —— I am the Lord your God
40 —— which is 41 —— and liveth.
42 —— In the name
43 —— of the Creator
44 —— Move
45 —— And ſhew you ſelves [or appear] 46 —— as pleaſant deliverers ,
47 —— that you may praiſe him
48 —— amongſt
49 —— the ſons of men.
50 ——

E. K. He hath now plucked the Curtain to.

Δ. Note.

Δ. Thanks be to God, now, and ever. Amen.

Δ. Remember to requeſt information of ſuch a word, as (ſaith the Lord) is not here to be underſtood, ſome where.

Note, the ſecond Angel.

Monday Cracoviæ, Aprilis 30. Mane hora 6 $\frac{1}{2}$.

Oratione Dominica finita, & precatiuncula pro proſpero ſucceſſu A. L. (jam apud Keiſmark, queritantis & petentis jus ſuum hereditarium, & aliis breviſſimis ejaculationibus, pro proſpero ſucceſſu in hac actione tandem poſt ſemi horam apparuerunt.

E. K. Now they are here: and Gabriel is all full of glory, he ſeemeth to light all places.

Δ. O the mercies of God encreaſed, though his determination be all one

E. K. Now he is as he was before : and in the time of this his glorious apparition, Nalvage kneeled down, ſomewhat regarding towards Gabriel.

Gab. ..... Give unto him that hath his basket open: But from him that is not ready, depart.

B
L
R
A
H
I
C
A
V
N
H
D
L

E. K. There appear here, 7 other like Prieſts, all in white, having long hair hanging down behind: their white garments traile after them: having many pleits in them. Me think that I have ſeen one of them before, and upon that creature appeareth a B upon his cloathes, an L in another place, an R upon his other ſhoulder, another A upon his other ſhoulder. There is an H upon his breaſt; there is an I upon his head, and a C upon his ſide on his garment; and an A under his waſt behind: The Letters ſeem to go up and down enterchangeably in places. There ſeemeth an V on him, alſo an N, a D.

Now cometh a tall man by, all in white, and a great white thing rowled about his neck, and coming down before like a tipper. They all in the Stone (being 9) kneel down unto him.

The tall man ſaid ...... Take this Key, and power: aſcend and fill thy veſſel, for the River is not pure, and made clean.

E. K. Now he is gone (that ſaid this) in form of a great Millſtone of fire.

An Hill.

E. K. Now they go up a Hill, with a great Tankard, as it were, of Bone tranſparent; Now he openeth one door, he, I mean, that had the Letters on his back.

1. There appeareth a Partridge, but it hath one leg like a Kite: This Partridge ſeemeth to ſit on a green place under the gate, one leg is much longer than the other, being like a Kites leg. This Partridge ſeemeth to halt.

He biddeth one of his Company take it up. There goeth a bridge to the top of that Hill, all upon arches, and under it goeth a River.

He taketh the Partridge and pulleth all his feathers, and they fall into the River: He cutteth off the longer leg juſt to the length of the other. They about him cry, O juſt judgement.

Now he turneth him off over the Bridge, and he flyeth away, for the feathers of his wings were not pulled.

2. He goeth on, and cometh to another gate; and there the third man unlocketh it, as the ſecond next him unlocked the firſt Gate; he himſelf having the Key firſt delivered him, as above is noted. There appeareth a thing like a Kite, all white, very great, it hath a fowl great head, he ſeemeth to be in a very pleaſant Garden, and flyeth from place to place of it, and beateth down the Roſe trees and other fruit trees. The Garden ſeemeth very delicate and pleaſant. They go all into the Garden: and he ſaith, Thou art of the Wilderneſſe, thy feathers and carkaſe are not worthy the ſpoil of the Garden.

Now the Kite ſcratcheth and gaſpeth at this man; but he taketh the Kite and cutteth her carkaſe in two equal parts, from the crown of his head, and throweth one half over one ſide of the Bridge, and the other half over the other ſide, and ſaid, Fowles muſt be devoured of Fowles. The reſt ſay, O juſtitia divina, clapping their hands over their heads.

3. Now

3. Now the next in order openeth another Gate (going up upon the ſame Bridge ſtill.) The reſt of the building from the Gate inward, ſeemeth very round and bright: yet there appear no windows in it. It is a frame, made as though the 7 Planets moved in it. The Moon ſeemeth to be New Moon.

There ſtandeth Armour, and this man putteth on, all white Harneſſe. He ſeemeth to kick down the Moon, and her frame or Orb; and ſeemeth to make powder of all; For there is no mercy here, ſaith he.

4. Now another of them goeth forward to another Gate, and openeth the Gate, and goeth in; there appear an infinite multitude of men.

There ſitteth a man cloathed like a Prieſt, having a great Crown on his head: here are many preaching in this place. He goeth to that Crowned Prieſt, and he taketh away divers patches of the Veſture which he had, and the patches ſeemed to be like Owls, and Apes, and ſuch like.

He ſaith ...... A King is a King, and a Prieſt is a Prieſt.

He taketh from the reſt their Keyes and Purſes, and giveth them a Staff and a Bottle in their hands. He goeth from them. He putteth all that he took from them in a houſe beſide the Gate, and writeth on the door, Cognoſcat quiſque ſuum. He wrote Cognoſcat.

Now they proceed to another Gate, and another of them opened that Gate. The Bridge continueth ſtill, aſcending upward. Now there appeareth (that Gate being opened) a marvellous great Wilderneſſe.

There cometh a great number of naked wilde men to him. He ſhaketh that Gate with his hands, and it falleth in pieces, one falleth on one ſide into the River, and the other falls on the other ſide into the River,

> .... Let both theſe places be made one. Let the ſpoil of the firſt, be the comfort of the laſt: For from them that have ſhall be taken, and unto them that have not ſhall be given.

6. E. K. Now he goeth, and the laſt of his Company openeth another Gate; he is longer in opening of that Gate, than any of the reſt.

There appeareth a buſhy place, and there runneth a great River on the very top of the Hill, and a great Gate ſtandeth beyond the Hill, and a very rich Tower all of precious Stones, as it ſeemeth.

Here he filleth his Tankard in the River, and holdeth his hands up, and maketh ſhew as he would return.

He ſaid ...... This was my coming, and ſhould be my return.

E. K. Now they appear ſuddenly before the firſt Gate, and there the Principal man diggeth the earth, and putteth ſtones and brambles, and leaves aſide. There he taketh out a dead carkaſe, and bringeth it to a fire, and ſtroketh it: a very lean carkaſe it is; it ſeemeth to be a dead Lion; for it hath a long tail with a buſh at the end.

He ſaith ...... Come let us take him up, and comfort him; for it is in him.

Now the Lion ſeemeth to ſit up and lick himſelf, and to drink of the water, and to ſhake himſelf, and to roar. The man taketh of the ſegs or flags by, and ſtroketh the Lion as he would make his hair ſmooth.

Now the Lion is become fair, fat, and beautiful.

He ſaith ...... Tarry you here, till I bring you word again; for I muſt follow the Lion into the Wilderneſſe.

E. K. Now all they are gone, except the two our School-maſters, Gabriel and Nalvage.

Gab. ...... This is the Judgement of God this day. Happy is he that hath judgement to underſtand it.

Δ. Thou O Lord knoweſt the meaſure of our judgement: Give therefore light, underſtanding, and the grace to uſe thy gifts duely.

Gab. ...... Liſten unto my words, for they are a Commandment from above. Behold (ſaith he) I have deſcended to view the Earth, where I will dwell for ſeven dayes, and twice ſeven dayes: Therefore let them be dayes of reſt to you. But every ſeventh day, I will viſit you, as Now I do.

E. K. He ſpeaketh as if he ſpake out of a Trunck.

Δ. I underſtand that this reſt is, that every Monday, for three Mondayes elſe next after other, we ſhall await for our leſſons, as now we receive, and that we may all the reſt follow our affairs of ſtudy or houſhold matters.

Gab. ...... It is ſo, for one day ſhall be as a week: But thoſe dayes you muſt abſtain from all things that live upon the Earth.

Δ. You mean on theſe three Mondayes, enſueing next.

Gab. ...... You ſhall cover this Table with a new linnen cloth.

E. K. Pointing to the Table we ſat at.

Δ. Moſt willingly.

Gab. ...... Moreover a new Candleſticke, with a Taper burning.

Δ. Obediently (O Lord) it ſhall be done.

Gab. ...... And the Candleſticke ſhall be ſet on the midſt of the Table betwixt you two.

Note ...... That a day may become a week, and a week as many years.

Gab. ...... For I have put on my upper garment, and have prepared to enter, and it is ſhortly: and not yet.

E. K. Now he hath plucked the Curtain, as if he had pulled it round about the Stone; and it ſeemeth full of little ſparkes like Stars.

Gloria patri & filio & ſpiritui ſancto; ſicut erat in principio, & nunc, & ſemper, & in ſecula ſeculorum.

Vide libro .... F pro ſæquentibus.

LIBRI

LIBRI MYSTICI APERTORII
CRACOVIENSIS SABBATICI, An. 1584.

Saturday Cracoviæ, 7 Maii, Mane, hora 6.

AFter prayers, appeared Gabriel and Nalvage, with the Table, and Gabriel with his Dart in his hand. Moreover there appeared the like furniture of Table with a white Cloth, a Candleſtick, and Taper on it, with a Deſk and Cuſhions (which I had cauſed to be made with red croſſes on them :) alſo E. K. himſelf and I appeared in the ſame Stone. In effect, all things as we had before us , after half a quarter of an hour, that ſhew of our furniture, and our ſelves, diſappeared.

E.K. Gabriel ſtandeth up,and ſpeaketh as followeth.

.... A mighty City was built on the top of a mountain, in the which dwelt many thouſands. Round about the Hill, ran a freſh River, which was the onely comfort of the Town : for, of it they drank, their wives, their children, their man-ſervants, their maid-ſervants, their camels, horſes, mules, and all the beaſts of their fields. The beginning of which River was a Spring, which was unknown to the City, by reaſon of the . . yth from whence it deſcended. It came to paſſe, that a Serpent groaned for her time, and lo, ſhe brought forth : and . . . were ſuch as her ſelf : and ſhe lifted up her head and leaned upon her twice writhen taile : and beheld the Sun ſtedfaſtly, (for her envy was toward that City) and ſhe ſaid within her ſelf : My children are yet young, the time grew, and they became big : and ſhe went unto the Spring, and ſmiled and ſaid with a laughing voice, The Earth is fallen into thee, thou art choked : but hearken unto my voice, Thou ſhalt receive comfort : But ſhe would not. And ſhe lifted up her voice and roared ; for ſhe was full of craft and deceit. And ſhe ſaid unto the ſhingles, through the which the Spring runs (or rather ſyeth) Thou art full of emptineſſe, and void places. Let my children (therefore) hide themſelves within thee for a ſeaſon : and they were contented ; And ſhe departed willingly, and ſaith within her ſelf : Now I know I ſhall be Lady of the City.

And after a few years, the young Serpents became great ; ſo that the one half of their bodies dwelt within the Shingles, the reſt troubled the paſſage of the Spring : So that the Spring groaned ; for, the injury that was done againſt her, was great.

A great miſery, for the Hill is become deſolate without the water, and the City and the beaſts periſh for want of drink ; for the people groan, and are full of ſorrow.

This City and Serpents are 60 . . now, and judgement muſt be had, betwixt the Shingles and the Spring. for between lieth the life and death of the City.

Thus ſaith the Lord unto thee [pointing to E. K.] Gird up thy ſelf, and ſit down, Conſider both parts, and give judgement : for thy mouth ſhall this day be the judgement of the Lord.

E. K. Do you mean me ?

..

E. K. As the Lord hath put the Authority of Judgement into my hands, ſo I beſeech him to give me wiſdom and underſtanding to judge right. And becauſe the judgement hereof is committed to me, I ſuſpect ſome other myſtery to lie hidden in this my judgement required : But if it ſhall pleaſe God that my friend here, Maſter Dee ſhall give me his adviſe, I ſhall think my ſelf well ſatisfied.

.... Conſider with your ſelf (ſaith the Lord) and give judgement againſt the Shingles, for the fault is plain. Conſider two points, the neceſſity of the Spring, that it muſt come that wayes : and ſecondly, the health of the City.

E. K. My judgement is that the Shingles and Serpent ſhould be removed away by an Earthquake from the place which they encumber and let, that there may be a fit new place, and courſe for that Spring, to the relief of that City as before it was.

......, Be

...... Be it ſo as thou haſt ſaid, for it is a juſt judgement.

Now hearken, what the Lord ſaith. The people and City of the Hill, is the world, which are from time to time by the mercy and ſpring of Gods wiſdom, relieved . . quenched : according to the extremity and neceſſity of their thirſting : But the people and City are ſuch as are of the Temple and Church of God, which drink of his mercy to their comfort. The Camels and other beaſts are the people of the Earth, which delight in ſin, and in their own imagination, which alſo are relieved with thoſe that are of the City : but the diverſities of their bodies, doth cauſe the diverſity of the ends of their comfort. The Hill wherein the Spring is, ſignifieth his Prophets, and ſuch as are drunken in the Lord : Through whom, inwardly the mercies and will of God and of the Higheſt are open from time to time, according to the ſecret will and determination of ſuch as are within the City of his Elect. But the frailties and affections of their fleſh and outward man, are their fond imaginations and looſe Shingles wherein the Serpent, the old Devil, hath harboured her children the ſpirits of darkneſſe and deceit, which alwayes reſiſt the Will of God, and are put between the mercies of God and his people. Moſes, Daniel, Eſdras, all the reſt of the Prophets : Chriſt his twelve, Paul the Meſſenger of God, they did all hurt the Congregation of the Faithful in their fleſh, until they gave ſentence againſt themſelves (as thou haſt done) with amendment of life : for who is worthy to know the ſecrets of our God, but he that delighteth in righteouſneſſe, is obedient, full of faith, and the ſpirit of underſtanding ? Be it therefore unto thee as thou haſt ſaid. Let the Shingles and Serpents be ſeparated, that the Fountain may feed as before. All the traſh that thou haſt of the wicked, burn it.

E. K. I do not know, they are wicked.

...... Their doings with thee, are the hindrance of the Will of God, and therefore they are wicked.

...... Thou haſt given judgement againſt thy ſelf : Take heed thou offend not thy own ſoul.

△. Send down thy Spirit O Lord, and illuminate E. K. his heart with perceiving of his wrong opinion, &c.

E. K. If Moſes and Daniel were skilful in the Arts of the Egyptian Magicians, and were not thereby hindred for being the ſervants of God, Why may not I deal with theſe, without hindrance to the Will of God ?

...... Darkneſſe yeilded unto light : the Greater excluded the leſſer. The more a man knoweth wickedneſſe, the more he ſhall hate it, being called back. The more they knew the ſhadow, ſo much more they delighted in the body : For the doings of the Egyptians, ſeem, and are not ſo. The doings of the Lord are, and continue ; for as the Painter imitateth the geſtures of man in his faculty, ſo doth the Devil the ſubſtances and things created and made by God.

Stand up and look into the whole World, into her youth, and middle age, for they are paſt. Where are the monuments that Satan hath builded ?

E. K. Hath Satan builded any monuments ?

...... Yes : Hath he not builded him a Fort upon the whole Earth ? Hath he not the victory over the Saints ? Dwelleth he not in the Temple of the Higheſt ? Triumpheth he not in the Cities of the whole World ?

Yes. ...... But without comfort, are his victories : without pleaſure his dwelling places. For he knoweth his time is at hand. He that now giveth freedom, ſhall become bound ; And unto whom the whole World is as a Garden, ſhall there be no one foot left. Therefore are all his pleaſures vanity : all his Triumphs ſmoak, and his Authority, nothing indeed, but a meer ſhadow : For that that is not, cannot be ; where, it is ſaid of the Lord, it ſhall not be. Neither can truth, light, or wiſdom, aſcend from the Earth, but deſcend from the Heavens.

Compare the Earth, (into the which the Devil is thruſt as into his dwelling) with the Heavens, which are provided for the holy. Conſider the pain of the one, and the pleaſure of the other : The ſeat of Gods Juſtice, and Fountain of his Mercy : The Cave of Darkneſſe, and the Diadem of Light. And then cry, wo, wo, wo, unto ſuch as erre, and whoſe lives are but ſhadows : For their felicity is ſuch, as from whence it came ; and their reward is all one, with the ſpirit and prince of Darkneſſe.

Compare fond knowledge, with true wiſdom, Thy ſpirits of lying with us, that are the voice of truth : The vanity that they lead thee into, and the reward of our meſſage : And ſay within thy ſelf, peccavi. Wilt thou be perſwaded by experience ? Conſider thy impriſonments, thy affliction and ſhame of body. Conſider the love of a few, and envy of a multitude. Weigh with thy ſelf the vanity of thy life ; Thy raſh foot-ſteps, All that happned unto thee, by the ſociety, and (as thou thinkeſt) comfort ; but indeed the ſtinging pricks of thy enemies

His life
...ned.

...... Since, we came into thee, (ſent from the Lord, and calling thee, to God) thou haſt been delivered from them ; from a place full of fornication, and the wrath of God : exalted to the skirts of worldly honour ; and haſt been ſatisfied for the neceſſities of this World. Holy is the money that is gotten righteouſly ; but accurſed are the evils that are reaped with wrong.

All

All which things thou haſt by us in bleſſedneſſe, and in the knowledge of the will of God , above all men. Beſides our continual preſence with thee, to the comfort of thy Soul. Even theſe things are of us, and of our God. Which ſware unto Abraham, and dwelleth in the Temple of righteouſneſſe. Now, therefore let experience be a Judge betwixt us and them.

But, this ſayeth the Lord. I deal with you as a Childe : But the veſſels that I muſt uſe , muſt be pure and clean.

Pure veſſels.

Δ. Cleanſe thou us, (O Lord) Cor mundum Crea in nobis;Crea.

Gab. ….. They that are incredulous believe not the Lord, but drive away his ſpirit : But where a grain is, it becometh as a mountain. The Lord is upon the earth : Take heed thou ſweep thy houſe clean, for unto him that is naked, ſhall there be Cloathes given : But he that is covered already, ſhall be made bare.

Increduli.

Conſider with thy ſelf : for the Lord ſpeaketh not once more, till thou haſt fulfilled thy own judgement.

E. K. I will be contented to bury them in the field, and not to uſe them , or come at them : and that I will ſwear upon the Bible to perform : and if they be earthly, I will commit them to the earth : and ſo ſeparate thoſe ſhingles from the place near the ſpring : and in this manner fulfill my own judgement : For, I will not be obſtinate , but commit all things to the end.

His own judgement is to be fulfilled.

Becauſe thou art content to bury them ; and withall, upon faith in the promiſes of God, to abjure them in ſimplicity of heart, and external uſe …. ſimply, as a true meaning before the face of the higheſt : The Lord accepteth it, and it ſhall be ſufficient.

Further, thou haſt 27. Confirmations of ſin, and conſent with the Devil, which your intention calleth Characters, whereby thoſe ſeven and twenty , (like unto their mother) are become familiar and pleaſant with thee, they muſt be brought before the Lord : and offered into his hands. For ſo long as they are, the wicked alwayes vex thee : For the Obligation burnt, the condition is void. Theſe muſt be buried with the reſt.

Characters.

[E. K. Which reſt ?]

…… But muſt be brought, and burnt here before the preſence of God : That, the cauſe diminiſhed, the effect may periſh.

E. K. I will be contented to bury them likewiſe , beſeeching the Almighty to accept of my intent herein , as of the reſt before ſpecified.

……. He is contented ; but let one be burnt. You may ſuffer one to teſtifie the diſcredit of the reſt. It is but according to the grounds of thy own Magick.

E. K. I do not underſtand your meaning herein.

Gab. ..…. Radius partis, may be ſicut totius Corporis.

E. K. I underſtand not that, alſo.

Gab. ……, Magick worketh effect in things abſent , that it doth in their parts , being preſent.

The wicked kill the body abſent, but the garment preſent : ſo are all of one confederacie , diſgraced by the confuſion of one. Thou art contented to bury them all, upon the confidence , and ſure hope of the promiſes of the God of light, and to bring one as a confirmation of thy promiſe to teſtifie thy obedience as concerning the whole : which one burnt and abjured , may be a teſtimony to the Angels, that thou art obedient for God his ſake, and for his teſtimony and truth. But this you ſhall burn with Brimſtone only. Whoſe aſhes ſhall be kept as a teſtimony , till the reſt be alſo conſumed. This you ſhall do the next Monday at the riſing of the Sun. That the number of the time may be of one bigneſſe. For, before Auguſt ſhall thoſe Keyes be delivered unto you : which give entrance, yea, even into the privy Chambers of wiſdom, whereof you ſhall have 14. the next Monday. And this dayes action is not the leaſt amongſt them. Glory be to God , and obedience unto man.

Δ. I doubt that I miſheard ſomewhat.

One burnt, and abjured obedience.

... ence.

E. K. The Curtain is drawn.

Δ. We are deſirous to know whether thus, this dayes action ſhall be finiſhed: and whether we ſhall faſt ſtill as was preſcribed.

Gab. …… Detract not from the day, that, which is commanded.

Δ. We are very deſirous to underſtand of the preſent eſtate of the Lord Albert Laskie : for as much as we were willed to go with him, and he linked to us in ſome part of our actions : To underſtand of his ſtate, would be to our great comfort.

Gab. ….. It needeth not, for the world her ſelf is at hand.

Δ. Verily, I underſtand not that ſpeech: Is he coming back again ? What, We are commanded we know : And further then our Commandment is errour. He is in his hand that knoweth how to uſe him.

E. K. I ſee a man climing over a Hedge , and as he clammereth over the ſtakes break , and he falleth down. Now he is going up between two Trees into a Medow-ward. Now he hath both the boughs in his hand , ſtanding ſtill on the ground. Now he goeth lower, there is a gap, and through that he is gone into the Medow ..... ſo it is of Laskie ..... ſaid a voyce.

△. This is dark : it may pleaſe you to give ſome light.

c..... This is more then enough for the matter.

Ceaſe to ask theſe things here, where it is ſaid, no impure thing ſhould enter.

△. Gloria, laus & honor Deo Noſtro Omnipotenti, Patri, filio & ſpiritui Sancto, nunc & ſemper. Amen.

△. Note, at this preſent was one come, and in the houſe (of whom we underſtood not till he was gone:) whom the Lord A. Laskie had ſent to certifie us, that firſt he was in ſome cumber and hindrance. Secondly, how Fabius (his brother in Law) and another had given him counſel, very raſhly to proceed : But leaving that. Thirdly, by the gap and open way with eſtate of the Commons, or Citizens, by their great Zeal, and favour that he obtained his purpoſe. This (in effect) we underſtood at the Meſſager his return after noon. Which marvellous exactly did anſwer to the former ſhew.

May.

Remember that on Saturday after noon, the Chancelour came to Cracow , with 60 Coaches in his Company and train : he bringing in a cloſe Coach (covered with red) the Lord Samuel S. Boroskie Priſoner, whom he took on Friday night before , at his ſiſters houſe, being ſeparated from his Souldiers and ſervants, &c.

Saturday, 14 Maii, Mane hora 6 Fere. † Cracoviæ.

Orationem Dominicam fudimus, &c. Mitte lucem tuam & veritatem , O Deus, &c.

△. E. K. Said, he had done that with the traſh ſpecified, as he thought would be acceptable to the Lord : And as concerning one of the 27 Characters he had left it with me , ever ſince the laſt action, to be burnt at this dayes action, and it lay ready by me.

E. K. Our inſtructours appeared at the very firſt looking of E. K. into the ſhew-ſtone.

△. Will you that I ſhall now execute this burning of the Character here as a ſacrifice (to the higheſt) of our humility and obedience?

Gab. ..... Not as a ſacrifice, but as a victory.

△. Shall I then do it, I pray you ? As with the conſent of my yoke-fellow , and ſo all one to be taken as his action.

..... He that doth righteouſly offereth up a ſacrifice.

Nal. ..... It is true, that he that is obedient, and doth well, is accepted with the Lord.

E. K. I did take ſacrifice to be onely with bloud.

Gab. ..... This is a ſacrifice, becauſe it is done righteouſly.

E. K. You ſaid, Not, as a ſacrifice, but as a victory.

Gab. ..... He that overcometh his enemy rejoyceth not for friendſhip ſake , but for victory. The friendſhip toward God is obedience. He that obeyeth God , is a friend unto himſelf. God needeth not the love , or friendſhip of man. Therefore you rejoyce with God, who overthrew them, and thereby comforted. For he that dwelleth in the Lord is comforted.

Thou openeſt thy mouth, and ſayeſt before the Lord. The ſpirit of God hath deſcended.

△. Gloria Patri, &c.

ΓΓ△. He noteth ſome ſecret diſcourſe, meditation, or prayer, and alſo action of E. K. as I conjecture.

And he hath entred into judgement with me, and I am condemned. But where Juſtice dwelleth, dwelleth alſo mercy. For, my Idolatry is forgotten before the Lord.

E. K. Have you committed Idolatry ?

E. K.

△. He ſpeaketh in your behalf Maſter Kelly.

..... I will therefore open my mouth, ſaying, I have erred. I will open my mouth alſo, and confeſſe my ſins . And, I will vow unto the Lord againſt the wicked. And I will ſay unto the Lord. Lo, here are the ſpoils of the bloudy blaſphemy. Behold , O you Angels, a blaſphemy, and againſt the higheſt. Behold, the wickedneſs of Alcendam.

Bear witneſſe with me, for I have fulfilled his Commandement. Bear witneſſe with me, that I return not, and rejoyce; for ſuch are the ſpoyles of the wicked.

Gab. Art thou contented to conſent hereunto?

E. K. What I have done with the reſt, God, and they (if they be of God) know: upon the foreſaid conditions I am contented to have this Character to be burnt. Let it be burnt.

.....am in
.......& ſi-
.....tro
....no:
......ſ
.....and
.....de
.....ied.

Δ. I burnt it immediately, with the flame of brimſtone, and brought the burnt black coal or cinder thereof to the Table, and laid it on a paper.

Now O Lord, darkneſſe is confounded, let thy light ſhine in us, and thy truth prevaile.

Gab. It is well. Δ. Bleſſed be the name of the higheſt: whoſe mercies are infinite, Oh, a ſweet and comfortable ſentence.

E. K. Now Nalvage turneth round, as he was wont.

Gab. Move not, for the place is holy.

E. K. Now Nalvage putteth down his rod to the Table, he maketh a croſſe upon the Table reverently.

Nal. All things go forwards, Let us go F O R W A R D elſo. Δ. In the name of Jeſus.

Hor. 7.

Gab. Move not, for the place is holy.

E. K. Nalvage prayeth.

Nal. Not BACKWARD, as you were wont to do, but FORWARD.

E. K. Now he maketh three reverent Curſies, as he was wont to do, before the Table.

SAPAH	Sá pah. Sa pah.

E. K. Now he is on the top of the Table.

ZIMII	Zi mii.
DUIV	Du iv.
OD	Od.

L. Lasky.

O D.
.....no
.....reth
.....&
.....ione
.....ded.

E. K. He maketh curſy.

NOAS	Noas.
TAQANIS	Ta qu a nis.
ADROCH	as otch Ad roch.
DORPHAL	Dorphal.
CAOSG	Ca ósg
OD	Od.
FAONTS	Fa onts.
PIRIPSOL	Pir ipſol,
TABLIOR	Táblior.
CASARM	Caſarm.
AMIPZI	A mip zi
NAZARTH	Na zarth,
AF	Af.
OD	Od.
DLUGAR	Dlugar

E. K. Now he maketh curſy round about to all parts of the Table, he kneeleth down.

ZIZOP	Zi zop.
Zod lida.

It is a Word and a Letter.

E. K. He ſheweth it not in the Table yet.

Nal. Now I ſee the word of five Letters together, following letter by letter.

ZLIDA	Z d-lida. Z lida.

Stay there.

CAOSGI	Ca ós gi.
TOLTORGI	Toltórgi.

He maketh now Curſy.

OD	Od

E. K. He ſeemeth to read as Hebrew is read.

ZIZOP	Zi zop.
ZCHIS	Zod chis

Nal. It is better than the other, I mean that Zod-chis being of one ſignification, with Zizop that Zod-chis is better to be uſed.

ESIASCH	E ſiach.
L	L.
TAUIU	Ta ui u.
OD	Od.
IAOD	Iá od.

E. K. Now he maketh curſy again.

THILD	Thild, one Syllable.

Now he ma-----

DS.	ds.
HUBAR	Hubar.
PEOAL	Pe ó al.
SOBA	So ba.

Camps 1. 69. 5. Julii ſo expounded.

E. K. -----

CORMFA	Cormfa.
CHISTA	Kiſta. Chis ta.
LA	La:
VLS	Vls.]
OD	Od.

QCOCASB		Qcócasb.
CA		Ca. Sa.
NIIS		Ni is.
OD		Od.
DARBS	Obey	Darbs-one Syllable.
QAAS		Qá as.
S, FETHARZI		Feth ár zi.

K. E. Curſy.
E. K. He hath drawn the Curtain.

It is not to be ſeen what he doth.
Δ. ....of 4 minutes of time the Curtain was drawn.

E. K. He is now otherwiſe apparelled, all the outſide of his Gown is white Furre, on his head is an attire of furre, wreathed or wrapped as the Turks uſe; his head is now like a mans head, with ſhort hair.

OD	Od.
BLIORA	Bli ó ra	Cor. 1.
IAIAL	Ia ial.
EDNAS	Ed nas.
CICLES	Ci cles.
BAGLE	Bá gle.
....	ie in as ien tle iad-as iade,
....	Ge jad.
	i l.

That is one Call.

..........b........Move not, for the place is holly. .....b.

GAH	Gah.
SDIU	es di u S dí u.
--HIS	Chis.
EM	Em.
MICALZO	Micálzo

E. K. Curſy, and he kiſſeth the Table.

PILZIN	pilzen. Pilzin.

E. K The Curtain is now plucked again, for three minutes or four. Now the Curtain is opened again. Now is he changed. Now he is His apparel.
all

all in black ſarcenet, very plentifull of ſtuffe, girded to him, and with the coller high to the midſt of his face.

SOBAM	Sobam.
EL.	el
HARG	argenton. Harg.
MIR	Mir.
PIZIN	Pizin.
BABALON	Babâlon.

Put out the laſt Pilgin.

E. K. Why did you give us them?

Nal. ....If it ſtand.

OD	od.
OBLOC	ob loc.
SAMVELG	Sam velg.
DLUGAR	Dlugar.
MALPURG	Mal purg.
ARCAOSGI	Ar ca os gi.
OD	od
ACAM	A câm
CANAL	Sanal. Canal.
SOBOLZAR	So bol zar
A or e. TBLIARD	Tbli ard.

It is better if the T be made an F, and pronounced F bli ard.

CAOSGI	kaosgi. Ca os gi.
ODCHIF	kif. Od chif.
ANETAB	A né tab.
OD	od.
MIAM	Miam.
TAVIV	Ta viv.
ODD	Odd.
DARSAR	Darſar
SOLPETH	Sol peth.
BIEN	Bi en.
BRITA	Brita.

Thi

The Curtain drawn again. Now it is opened.

He is altered in apparel; one half under the girdle is red, and above the girdle white.

OD	Od.
ZAC .. AM	Za cam.
GMICALZO	G-ni cálzo.
SOBHAATH	Sob há ath.
TRIAN	Trían.
LUIAHE	Lu ia he.
ODECRIN	O de crím.

Curſie.

MAD	Mad.
QAAON	Qa a on.

That is the ſecond.

Δ. Bleſſed.

$\frac{3}{7}$ RAAS	Ra as.
ISALMAN	I Sal man.
PARA .. IZ	Pa ra di zod.
OECRIMI	O écri mi.
AAO	A Aó.
	Yal.
IALPIRGAH	I A L pir gah.

E. K. The Curtain drawn again, and ſo remaind about 6 minutes.

E. K. Being weary of ſitting, I would gladly have leave to walk a little. His Apparel all one as it was.

Nal. .... You may; but to ſit, is more obedient.

Δ. E. K. walked awhile.

E K. Now, when it pleaſe you.

Gab. .... .. I feel a ſtaggering minde.

Δ. That God which created you and us, make us to have conſtant mindes in all vertuous purpoſes.

Gab. .... I ſwear: Move not; for the place is holy.

QUIIN	Qui in.
ENAY	Enay.
BUTMON	But mon.
OD	Od.

INOAS	In ó as.
NI	Ni.

E. K. He prayeth.

PARADIAL	Pa ra di al.
CASARMG	Ca ſármg. The g as dg ármg.
VGEAR	V gé ar.
CHIRLAN	Kir. Chir lan.
OD	Od.
ZONA ..	Zo nac.
LUCIFTIAN	Lu cif ti an.
CORSTA	Cors ta.
VAULZIRN	Vául zirn.
TOLHAMI	Tol hā mi.
SOBA	Soba.
LONDOH	Lon dóh.

The Curtain is drawn again : and after 6 minutes open.

Now he is all in a blew long veſture, with a long train ; and hath a little Coronet of Silver on his head.

ODMIAM	Od mi am, or Od Nuám.
CHISTAD	Kis Chis tad.
ODES	O des.

Curſie.

VM:DEA	V mā de a.
OD	Od.
PIBLIAR	Pib li ar.
OTHILRIT	O thil rit.
ODMIAM	Od mi am.
CNOQUOL	Kol. Cno quol.
RIT	Rit.
ZACAR	Za car.
ZAMRAN	Zam ran.

OECRIMI	O ć crimi.
QADA:	Q á dah.
OD	Od.
OMICAOLZ	O mi ca ol zod.
AAIOM	A A I om.
BAGLE	Ba gle.
PAPNOR	Pap nor.

Curſie he maketh.

IDLUGAM	Id lú gam.
LONSHI	Lon ſhi.
OD	Od.
VMPLIF	Vmp lif.
VGEGI	V Ge gi.
BIGLIA..	Bigli ad.

Nal. ...... This is at an end.
Δ. Bleſſed be he that is the beginning and ending of all things.

E. K. The Curtain is pluckt.

Now it is open, and he is all in green, with a Garland on his head.

$\frac{8}{4}$ BAZMELO	Baz me lo.
ITA	I ta
PIRIPSON	Pi rip ſon.
OLN	Oln.
NAZAVABH	Na za vábh.
OX	Ox.
CASARMG	Caſarmg.
G or V RAN	V rán.
CHIS	Chis.
VGEG	V geg.
..SABRAMG	Dſa bramg. [g not as dg.]
BALTOHA	Bal to ha.

E. K. The Curtain is drawn, for a while

Now is in a Robe like a Marble colour ſpotted, white, gray, and black.

GOHOIAD	Go hó i ad.
SOLAMIAN	So lá mi an.

Fire came ſuddenly out of the Stone, that made E. K. ſtart.

TRIAN	Tri an.

E. K. Now he kneeleth.

TALOLCIS	Ta lól cis or ſis.
ABAIUONIN	A ba í uo nin.
OD	OD.

E. K. He ſetteth his foot on a letter, pointing to it. He throweth fire on E. K. again.

He putteth his feet on all theſe letters.

AZIAGIAR	A zi á gi er.
RIOR	Rior.
IRGILCHISDA	Ir gil chis da.
DSPAAOX.	Dſpá a ox.
BUFD	Bufd.
CAOSGO	Ca, or Ka oſgo.
DSCHIS	Ds chis.
ODIPURAN	Odí pu ran.
TELOAH	Té lo ah.
CACRG	Ca curg.
OISALMAN	O i ſal man.
LONCHO	Lon cho, or ko.
OD	Od.
VOUINA	Vo ui na.
CARBAF	Car baf.
NIISO	Ni í ſo.
BAGLE	Ba gle.
AUAUAGO	A uá ua go.
GOHON	Go hón.
NIISO	Ni í ſo.

BAGLE

BAGLE	Ba gle.

△. He caſteth fire on E. K.

MOMAO	Mo ma o.
SIAION	Si a i on.
OD	Od.
MABZA	Mab za.

E. K. He maketh a curſie, he ſayeth Mabza again.

IADOIASMOMAR	Iad o i as mo mar.
POILP	Poilp, one ſyllable.
NIIS	Ni is, ſmall ſound of i.
ZAMRAN	Zam ran.

E. K. The Curtain is drawn, white, and reddiſh, more red then white: Now it is away, and all open again: Now all his Gown is yellow and yellow furre in it; and on his head, a Hoode of yellow like Velvet, &c.

E. K. Why change you your Apparel thus:

E. K. He ſpeaketh very ſpeedily to Gabriel, but I cannot perceive him.

CIAOFI	C I A O fi.
CAOSGO	Ka. Ca oſ go.
OD	O D.
BLI....S	Bli ors.
OD	O D.
COR....	Cor ſi.
TA	Ta
ABRAMIG	A bra mig.

This is the end of that.

E. K. Now he pulleth the Curtain: Now it openeth again. His Apparel is now changed again of an Aſhy and brown colour, in faſhion as before.

Gab. .....Who is to be compared to our God?

MICAOLI	Mi ca o li.
BRANSG	Branſg.
P..GEL	Pur gel.
NAPTA	Nap ta.
IALPOR	jal I AL por.

..otia thus
E
F
A
F
A
F
I

	DSBRIN	Ds brin.
	...FAFE	E fa fa fe.
	VONPHO	Von pho.
	OL'ANI	O L a ui.
	OD	Od.
	OBZA	Ob za.
ɛ	SOBCA	Ka Sob ca.
	VPAAH	V pa ah.
	CHIS	Chis.
	TATAN	Ta tan.
	OD	Od
	TRANAN	Tra nan.
	BALYE	Ba ly e.

E. K. Now he turneth round about. He maketh a curſie. So doth Gabriel.

	ALAR	A lar.
	LUSDA	Lus da.
	SOBOLN	So boln.
	OD	O d.
	CHISHOLQ	Chis hol q.
	CNOQVODI	Cno quo di.
96	CIAL	Si i. Ci al.
	VNAL	V nal.
	ALDON	Al don.
	MOM	Mom.
	CAOSGO	Ca os go.
	TA	Ta.
	LA. LLOR	Las ol lor.
	GNAY	Gnay.

E. K. He plucketh the Curtain, and quickly openeth it, and ſayeth:

..... You muſt after E ſa ſa ſe, put a P.

Δ. This word is the 25 word backward.

E. K. My

E. K. My thinketh that I hear a rumbling, or clattering of Pewter in the ſtone.

E. K. After he had ſpoken, he ſhut the Curtain again : Now the Curtain is opened again.

LIMLAL	Lim lal.
AMMA	Am ma.
CHIIS	Chiis.
SOBCA	Ka. Sob ca.
.ADRID	Ma drid
ZCHIS	Kis. Zod Chis.
OOANOAN	O o A no an.
CHI.	Chis.
AVINY	A vi ny.
DRILPI	Dril pi.
CAOSGIN	Ca oſ gin.
OD	Od
BUTMONI	But mo ni.
PARM	Parm.
ZUMVI	Zum vi.
CNILA	Cni la.
DAZI.	Daz is.
ETHAMZ	E tham Zod.
ACHILDAO	Kil. A chil da o.
OD	Od.
MIR.	M irk. M irc.
OZOL	O zol.
CH..	Chis.
PIDIAI	P i di a i.

COLLA

COLLA..	Col lal.
VLCININ	Vl ci nin.
ASOBAMA	A ſo bam.
UCIM	V cim.
BAGLE	Ba gle.
IA.BALTOH	I ad bal toh.
CHIRLAN	Kir. Chir lan.
PAR	par.
NII..	Ni i ſo.
OD	Od.
IP	Ip.
O...AFE	O fa fa fe.
BAGLE	Ba gle.
ACOCASB	A co casb.
ICORSCA	Ka I Cors ca.
VNIG	V nig.
BLIOR	Bli or.

E. K. Now the Curtain is drawn.

A voyce. The end of that.

Δ. This is the fifth of this day.

E. K. Now is the Curtain open. All his Cloaths are .....ry, very clear, whitiſh, and blewiſh.

CORAXO	Co rax o.
CHIS	Chis.
CORM.	Cormp.
OD	Od.

BLANS.	Blans.
;...U....A L	Lu cal.
A Z I..,..,..R	A zi a zor.
PAEB	Pa eb.
SOBA	So ba.
LILONON	Li lo non.
CHIS	Chis.
VIRQ	qun Vir q.
EOPHAN	E o phan.
OD	Od.

Between Chis and Virq, you muſt put in Op a word.

RACLIR	Ra clir.
MA........	Ma a ſi.
BAGLE	Ba gle.
...,....SGI	Ca oſ gi.
DS	ds.
IALPON	Yal Jal pon.
DOSIG	as big. Do ſig.
OD	Od.
BASGIM	Bas gim.
OD.	Od.
OXEX	Ox ex.
DAZIS	Daz is.
....IATRIS	Si a tris.
OD	Od.
SALBROX	Sal brox.
CINXIR	Cynx ir.
F....BOAN	Fa bo an.
UNALCHIS	V n ál chis.
CONST	k. Conſt.
DS	ds.
DAOX	Da ox	5678.
COCASG	g as dg. Go casg.

OL	O l.
OANIO	O áni o
YOR	Yor.
VOHIM	Vóh im.
OL	Ol
GIZYAX	Giz y ax
OD	Od.
EORS	E órs.
COC.......	gao. dg. Co Casg.
PLOS...	Plo ſi.
M......I DS	Mol ui. ds
PAGEIP	Pa ge ip.
LARAG	La rag.
OM	Om.
DROLN	droln
COCASB	Co casb.
EMNA	Em na
LPATRALX	El. L pá tralx.
YOLCI	Yol Ci.
MATORB	Ma torb.

This word muſt come next after Om droln.

E. K. Now he pulleth the Curtain.

A. This Om droln is before four words. The Curtain is open away. He is in his flamin apparell.

NOMIG	big. No mig.
MONONS	Mo nons.
OLORA	O lo ra.
GNAY	Gnay.
ANGELARD	An ge lard.
OHIO	O hi o.
OHIO	O hio.
OHIO	O hi o.
OHIO	O hi o.
OHIO	O hi o.

OHIO	O hi o.
NOIB	No ib.
OHIO	O hi o.
CAO·· GON	Ca óſ gon.
BAGLE	Bagle.
MADRID	Ma drid.
I	I.
ZIROP	Zi róp.
CHISO	K Chi ſo.
DRILPA	Dril pa.
NIISO	Ni i ſo.
CRIP	Crip.
IP	Ip.
NIDALI	Ni da li.

...... A voice. The end of that Call. ∆. This is the ſixth.

The Curtain is drawn. He appeareth now all in violet Silk like a Cloke, and on his head a bundel wreathed of the ſame.

OXIAYAL	Ox ì Ay al.
HOLDO	Hol do.
OD	Od.
·IROM	Zir om.
O	O.
CORAXO	Co ráx o.
DS	Ds.
ZILDAR	Zil dar.
RAASY	Ra a ſy.
OD	Od.
VABZIR	Vab zir.
CAMLIAX	Cam li ax.
OD	Od.
BAHAL	Ba hal.
NIISO	Ni ì ſo.

SALMAN	Sal man.
TELOC..	hotch. Te loch.
CASARMAN	Ca ſár man.
HOLQ	Hól q.
OD	Od.
TI	Ti.
TA	Ta.
ZCHIS	Zod chis.
SOBA	So ba.
CORMF	Cormf.
IGA	I ga.
NIISA	Ni i ſa.
BAGLE	Bagle.
ABRAMG	Ab ramg. g, not as dg.
N · NCP	Nonſp. Noncp.

. . . Curtain is drawn. . . The end of this.

……. This is the ſeventh.

E. K. Now is the Curtain pull'd away: and quickly pull'd again. Now it is open again. He is apparelled, of colour between a blew, and a red mingled; but blew ſeemeth to be the ground. From the ſhoulder on the arms, is a trunk of ſeven pendant labels, with laces. On his head a very broad Hat, between dun and black colour. His apparel is very long.

NONCI	Non ci, ſi.
DSONF	Dſonf.
BABAGE	Ba ba ge.
OD	Od.
CHIS	Chis.
OB	Ob.
HUBAIO	Hubá i o.
TIBIBP	Ti bibp.
ALLAR	Al lar.
ATRAAH	A tra ah.
OD	Od.
EF	Ef.

DRIX	Drix.
FAFEN	Fa fen.
MIAN	Mi an.
AR	Ar.
ENAY	E nay.
OVOF	O vof.
SOBA	So ba.
DOOAIN	Do ó a in.
AAI	A a i.
IVONPH	I vonph.
SOBA	So ba.
VPAAH	V pa ah.
CHIS	Chis.
NANBA	Nan ba.
ZIXLAY	Zix lay.
DODSIH	Dod ſih.
ODBRINT	Od brint.
TAXS	Taxs.

He maketh Curſie.

H.....	Hu ba ro.
TAST..	Tas tax.
YL..	Yl ſi.
......	Do a lim.
.....	E o lis.
.....	Ol log.
.....	Ors ba.
DSCHIS	Ds chis.
AFFA	Af fa.
MICMA	Mic ma.
ISRO	Is ro.
MAD	Mad.

OD	Od.
LONSHITOX	Lon ſhi tox.
DS	ds.
JUMD.	J umbd.
LUSDAN	Luſ dan.
EMOD	E mod.
DSOM	dſom.
OD	Od.
TLIOB	Tli ob.
DRILPA	Dril pa.
GEH	jeh. Geh.
YLS	as Yils. yls.
MADZILODARP	Mad zi lo darp,

That is the Twelfth.

....	ILS.
....	Di alpert.
....	Za car.
....	Go hus.
....	Zamran.
....	O do.
...ICLE	CICLE.
QAA	Qáa.

That is a call.

Δ. This is the eighth

NAPEAI	Na pe ai.
BABAGEN	jen. B ba gen
DSBRIN	Ds brin.
OOAONA	V x. O O Ao na.
LRING	LRING.
VONPH	Vonph.

SOBAIAD	So bai ad.
IVONPOVNPH	I von po vnph.
AL.ON	Al don.
DAXIL	Dax il.
OD	Od.
TOATAR	To a tar.

E.K. The Curtain is pluck't to.

A voyce. That is the thirteenth.

E. K. Now it is open again.

E. K. He is now as if he had a pall, or Robe of Gold with a ſtrange Cap of Gold on his head.

...	Ils.
....	Mi ca ol zod.
.L.IRT	Ol pirt.
IALPRG	Yal. I al purg.
BLIORS	B liors.
DS	Ds.
ODO	Odo.
BUSDIR	Buſ dir.
OIAD	O i ad.
OVOARS	O vo ars.
CAOSGO	Ca oſ go.
CASARMG.	Ca ſar mg.
LA...	La i ad.
ERAN	E ran.
.INTS	Brints.
CAFAFAM	Ca fa fam.
DS	Ds.
IVMD	I umd.
AQLO	quu. A q lo.
ADOHI	A do bi.
QZMOZ	Moz.

OD	Od.
MAOFFAS	Ma óf fas.
BOLP	Bolp.
COMOB - IORT	Co mo bli ort.
PAMBT	Pambt.

Curtain is now pluckt to.

A voice .. ... That is all.

Bleſſed be the Creator of all, who hath mercy on all.

E. K. Now he is here, apparelled as he was wont to appear.

Promiſe of God confirmed anew.

14 To be received the Monday next.

Nal. ...... Thus, hath the Lord kept promiſe with you : and will not forget the leaſt part of his whole promiſe with you. Keep you therefore promiſe with the Lord ; for, he is jealous, and not to be defiled. Proceed as you now do. The next Monday you ſhall have, as many.

△. Will it pleaſe you to deliver us the Engliſh of theſe 14 now, as you were wont to do?

Nal. ...... The Engliſh will have a day by it ſelf.

Nal. ...... The [△.] Third Monday to come, you ſhall have them all. So that, you have but three dayes to labour.

△. You ſpeak of the next Monday, and the third ; and ſpeak nothing of the ſecond Monday : and you ſaid, that the Engliſh will have a day by it ſelf : And you ſay we have but three dayes to labour, &c.

Nal. ...... What I have ſaid, is ſo. Go alſo, and refreſh your ſelves.

[E. K. The Curtain is drawn.]

A voice. ...... Stay there.

A voice. ...... Give God thanks, and make an end.

E. K. Prayed the 145. and 146. Pſalm kneeling reverently ; and I likewiſe in heart conſenting thereto, attentively liſtning.

Note ..... E. K. is very well perſwaded of theſe Actions now, thanked be the Higheſt, who is Almighty.

△. Laudate Dominum de Cœlis, laudate eum in excelſis : laudate eum omnes Angeli ejus, laudate eum omnes virtutes ejus. Quia ipſe dixit, & facta ſunt nobis. Non fecit taliter omni nationi. Soli Deo noſtro, laus omnis, Victoria, Triumphus, & Jubilatio, Amen.

Monday Cracoviæ Maii, 21. 1564. Mane, hora 5. Actio Tertia, Lunaris.

E. K. There appeareth neither Vail, nor any thing elſe in the Stone.

△. At length appeared one, but none of them : he is jolly and green, with a long (like green Velvet) Robe : his hair long, like yellow Gold : nothing on his head but his hair. He ſtandeth as though he ſtood in a cloud, above the uſual paviment in the air.

.. re

...... Lo the Sun ſhineth, and men fear no rain, the clouds are diſperſed, and they look not for a tempeſt : But when it raineth mightily, or the heavens frown, then keep they their houſes, ſaying one to another, What unreaſonable Tempeſt is this ? what Hail-ſtones are theſe ? Good Lord, who ever ſaw ſuch windes ? were there ever ſuch windes ? So ſhall it be of the power of God, which holdeth in his hands the windes, and ſcattereth cloudes abroad with his feet : For of his coming, ſhall it be ſaid amongſt you, My Spirit hath vexed me, and I am troubled : Why haſt thou brought in things, greater than thy ſelf ? or where ſhall this power dwell that overſhadoweth me ? Wanting you ſhall deſire, (as you do) and being filled you ſhall think you have too much.

A..

God is not tied to time.

.. performance

Fleſh can never be throughly mortified but with death. Think not, that the Lord is as the Sun, that keepeth his continual watch through the heavens ; which becauſe he is made for a time, is alſo tied to time.

.. meaneth dwelling with him. .ſe, are mansions. .faithful .. ſay .. m.

He that ſitteth and judgeth, keepeth no courſe ; but a continual performance of his long-before providence : For he that uſeth him otherwiſe, ſhall be rejected : becauſe his [△.] dwellings are not in the manſions of the faithful. Lift up your ears therefore ; for thus ſaith the higheſt :

It be

Who made the heavens, or ſpread them like a garment? Who breathed into man, the ſpirit of underſtanding? Who overthrew the proud world with waters? Who ſmiled at the ruin of Pharaoh? Who rooted the wicked out of their ſeates? and made them become vineyards for my people: yea the ſtiff-necked generation? Who threw down the Towers of Babylon, and the great Harlot? Who dwelt upon the Earth, and became fleſh, to pay for your wickedneſſe? Who tumbled the ſtone from the Well, that the Sheep might drink? Even he it is, that gave all theſe their times. He it is, that is as able to make you underſtand, as thoſe, that caſt into the waters, and ſaid, Let us draw up our fiſh: which alwayes dealeth with the weakeſt: To the intent he might prove himſelf the ſtrongeſt.

[E. K. He ſpeaketh a great deal of ſpeech as to himſelf, which I perceive not.]

...... Even he it is, that will make you ſtrong and wiſe, If he find you with garments. Veſte nuptiali
He it is, that ſaith unto you, Waver not, Be ſtedfaſt; for the faithful are never unrewarded. opus eſt.

[E. K. He putteth his right hand out of the Stone, being graſped together. Now he openeth his hand, and it is written in; and it is ſo far from me, that I cannot read it: yet he ſeemeth to be nearer to me, very much more than his hand. The writing ſeemeth to be like the leaf of a Book. Thus it was written.

...... Have an eye to my foretelling . . . . Troubles. Sudden ſorrow is at hand, in all the earth. No, his Ship is almoſt built. Laskie, if he ſerve me, ſhall be King of Poland. If he ſerve another, his bowels ſhall fall out, before him with poiſon. . . L. Poiſon.

E. K. Now he claſped his hand together, and ſtayed the reading.

Δ. Whom is Laskie to ſerve (O Lord) but thee? to keep thy Laws, Statutes and Commandements? not to depend upon any creature.

...... The King and Chancelor have ſold the people of this Land, and are ſworn Turks. Return not home to Lasko (Laskie) for, if thou do, thou ſhalt offend me. Go to the Emperour; for I will comfort thee with his favour. Let him not return thence, till he be warned by me. Turks. Not to Lasko. A. L.

Δ. You mean, from the Emperours Court? Ad Imperatorem eundum eſt.

Δ. I beſeech you, by what token, ſhall he receive your warning?

....., Be thou his right hand, to his body, and his mouth to me. I will be merciful unto him, and hold up his head. Leave-off, till the ſeventh hour of the day; then cometh the Action. Return by warning.

Δ. Mean you the ſeventh hour, as from midnight laſt?

Δ. That beginneth at noon, if you make but 12 hours in the day: or at 11 if you reckon common hours.

...... The ſeventh from the Horiſon: Run, that run can.

E. K. He himſelf runneth away.

Δ. All Glory and Praiſe be to God, Amen.

Eadem die lunæ, hora 7 (inchoante) in meridie. Hora planetaria.

E. K. After a quarter of an hour (almoſt) appeared our Inſtructors, as of . . e time.

Δ. Gloria patri & filio & Spiritui Sancto, ſicut erat in principio & nunc & in ſempiterna ſecula ſeculorum. Amen.

Gab. ...... Move, move, move not, for the place is holy. Be patient a little while.

E. K. Nalvage prayeth all the while.

E. K. Gabriel riſeth out of his Chair again, and warneth as before (thrice) that we ſhould not move, for the place is holy. Nalvage maketh a croſſe toward the 4 quarters of the World, with his rod, as he was wont.

Nal. ...... There are 30 Calls yet to come. Thoſe 30 are the Calls of Ni . . Princes and ſpiritual Governours, unto whom the Earth is delivered as a portion. Theſe bring in and again liſp . . Kings and all the Governments upon the Earth, and vary the Natures of things: with 9 Princes. Offices.

the Princes

12 Aug.
The 7 Angels.
91.
Good Angels of the Air, or Spirits dignified.
From the element of the fire to the earth.

the variation of every moment; Unto whom, the providence of the eternal Judgement, is already opened. Theſe are generally governed by the twelve Angles of the 12 Tribes: which are alſo governed by the 7 which ſtand before the preſence of God. Let him that can ſee look up: and let him that can here, attend; for this is wiſdom. They are all ſpirits of the Air: not rejected, but dignified; and they dwell and have their habitation in the air diverſly, and in ſundry places: for their manſions are not alike, neither are their powers equal. Underſtand therefore, that from the fire to the earth, there are 30 places or abidings: one above and beneath another: wherein theſe aforeſaid Creatures have their aboad, for a time.

Note.
For a time.

Pt tota terra diſtributa ſub 12. Principibus Angelis, 12. Tribuum Iſrael: quorum 12. aliqui plures, aliqui pauciores partes habent ſub ſuo regimine ex 91 partibus in quas tota terra hic demonſtratur eſſe diviſa.

Apocalypſi Johannis Teſtimonium, de 12 Angelis 12 Tribuum, Cap. 21.

Quando dividebat Altiſſimus gentes, quando ſeparabat filios Adam, conſtituit terminos populorum, juxta numerum filiorum Iſrael: Hoc igitur hinc egregiè patere.

They bear no name.

[E. K. What is without a name?]

Name.
.. or
.. th
.. e.

....., Their orderly place: But w .. they have, in reſpect of their being. Underſtand them therefore, by the firſt, ſecond, third .. ſo, thirtieth Air. ... are ſo to be nominated, O thou the Twentieth air, O thou ſixteenth Air, &c. ... ſometime, (yea all together) two or three, of the .. elſe govern, by times, which are the Kings unto theſe ... e to be ſpoken of) and beare rule together, and at one time in the diviſions.

In the firſt Air, the ninth, eleventh, and ſeventh Angel of the Tribes, bear rule and govern. Unto the ninth, 7000. and 200. and 9 miniſtering Angels are ſubject. Unto the eleventh 2000, 300, 60. Unto the ſeventh 5000, 300, 60, 2.

Nal. ......Count the number ....

Δ. The whole ſum of this Government amounteth to 14931.

Nal. ...... It is right.

2. The ſecond is divided into 3 parts, the Angel of the fourth Tribe hath the firſt; The Angel of the ſecond, the ſecond; The Angel of the ſecond the third. The fourth hath theſe many 3000, 600, 30, 6. The firſt ſecond of the ſecond 2000. .. 0. 60. 2. The laſt of the ſecond ... 00, 900, 60, 2. Adde theſe together.

Δ. They are ...... 6660.

3. The third. The firſt, The ninth, The ſecond, the ſeventh, The third the tenth. The ninth ...... 4400. The ſeventh or the ſecond ...... 3660. The tenth or the third ...... 9236.

Nal. ...... Number them ......

Δ. They are in all ...... 17296.

4. Nal. ...... The fourth hath alſo his three parts. The Angel of the tenth Tribe hath the firſt. The tenth hath alſo the ſecond. The twelfth hath the third.

E. K. He prayeth.

The firſt tenth ...... 2360. Second tenth ...... 3000. Twelfth or the third ....., 6300. Number the fourth alſo.

.. ——— They are ...... 11660.

.. is alſo threeford. The firſt of the Tribes have the firſt .. enth hath the ſecond. The eleventh hath the third. The firſt hath under him 8630. The ſeventh or ſecond .... 2306. The eleventh, The third ——— 5000, 800, two. Number them.

Δ. They are ——— 16738.

E. K. He prayeth reverently.

Be patient for a while. Theſe govern in the ſixth. Δ. If I underſtand you right, theſe.

6. Theſe govern in the ſixth place (which is to come) The Angel of the fifth tribe, hath the firſt pert. (for there are..........) The Angell of the twelfth hath the ſecond. The Angel of the fifth hath the third part. The Angell of the firſt, that is to ſay, of the firſt fifth, hath ſubjects, 3000, 600, 20, of the ſecond or twelfth, 900, 200, of the third place and ſecond fifth 7000, 200, 20. The fifth governs in this order twice, therefore it is termed the ſecond fifth. Number it.

Δ. They are ——— 20040.

7. The ſeventh hath alſo three places. The fourth hath the firſt. The third hath the ſecond. The eleventh hath the third. The fourth and the firſt place--- 6000, 300. 60, 3. The third Angell and ſecond place, 7000, 700, 6. The eleventh Angell the third place, 6000, 300, 20. Number it.

Δ. They are 20389. ſo, ...it is the ſeventh.

8. The eight Ayre, hath alſo three parts. The Angel of the fifth hath the firſt. The Angel of the firſt hath the ſecond. The Angel of the ninth hath the third. The fifth Angel and firſt place 4000, 300, 60, 2. She firſt Angel and ſecond place 7000, 200, 30, 6. The ninth Angel and the third place, 200, 300, 2. Number it.

Δ. They

△. They are——13900.

9. The ninth is alſo of three places. The third Angel hath the firſt place. The tenth Angel hath the ſecond. The ninth Angel hath the third, the third Angel hath in the firſt place 9000,900,90, 6. The tenth Angel and the ſecond place 3000,600,20. The ninth Angel and the third place, 4000, 200, 30. Number them.

△. They are——17846.

10. The tenth hath places alſo three. The eleventh Angell occupieth the firſt. The ſeventh Angel occupieth the ſecond. The ninth Angel occupieth the third. The eleventh Angel and firſt hath 8000, 800,80. The ſeventh Angel in the ſecond, 1000,200, 30. The ninth in the third, 1000,600 10, 7. Number them.

△. They are——11727.

Nalvage prayeth.

Gabriel. ...... Take heed you move not.

11. The eleventh, is three as before. The firſt is occupied by the tenth. The ſecond by the ſixth. The third by the third. In the firſt place. 3000, 400, 70, 2. In the ſecond place, 7000, 200, 30, 6. In the third place, 5000, 200, 30, 4. Number them.

.. ——— They are 15942.

12. The twelfth hath alſo his diviſions. Three firſt places is of the ſixth. Second place of the eighth. Third of the ſecond. The firſt hath 2000, 600, 50, 8. The ſecond, 7000, 700, 70, 2. The third 3000, 300 90, 1. Number it.

. ——— They are 13821.

13. The thirteenth hath three. The tenth is in the firſt. The firſt is in the ſecond. The ſeventh is in the third. The firſt hath 8000, 100, 10, 1. The ſecond 3000, 300, 60. The ſeventh Angel in the third 4000, 200, 10, 3.

Number it.

△. They are 15684.

14. The fourteenth hath threefold place as the reſt. The fift Angel occupieth the firſt, The ſeventh occupieth the ſecond, The twelfth occupieth the third. The firſt which is the fifth Angel, 2000, 600, 70, 3. The ſecond hath 9000, 200, 30, 6. The twelfth 800, 200, 30. Number it.

△. They are——20139.

Nal. Have patience.

E. K. Now he ſtandeth on the top of the Table.

Mark diligently.

OCCODON Occodon.

Anſwereth to the Angell of the ninth, which is of the firſt, which occupieth the firſt place of the firſt Ayre. It is the name of that part of the earth which is governed by the Angel of the ninth Tribe, and thoſe that are under him in the firſt diviſion. The firſt Ayre.

Mark diligently.

.... Pax comb.

Anſwereth the eleventh Angel, and is that part of the Earth which is governed by him and his Miniſters, in the ſecond place of the firſt Ayre.

Mark

VALGARS Val gars.

It anſwereth to the ſeventh Angel and to his Miniſters, 5562, which are the laſt part of the firſt Ayre.

Mark diligently.

DOAGNIS Do ag nis.

It is the firſt part of the ſecond, the firſt part of the earth, which is governed in the firſt part of the ſecond, as it ſhall after appear, under the fourth Angel.

Mark diligently.

PACASNA Pa caſ na.

It is the name of that part of the world on earth, that is governed in the ſecond part of the ſecond Ayre, BY THE ANGEL of the ſecond Tribe, with his Miniſters. 2362.

Note and underſtand this well, how one part is governed of divers Angels.

Thus you ſhall underſtand of all the names that follow.

D..AL..VA Di a lì v a.

The third of the ſecond : whoſe governour is the ......nons of the Tribe.

The Third Ayre in the firſt place.

SAMAPH. Sa ma pha.

Samatha hath over it of the Tribe the ninth.

The ſecond of the third is.

VIROCHI. Ki.
Vi róchi.

Under the ſeventh of the Tribe.

The Third place of the Third Ayre.

ANDISPI An dìs pi.

It is governed by the Tenth of the Tribe.

The fourth Ayre, The firſt part.

THOTANF Tho tanf.

His Governour is the Tenth of the Tribe, whoſe Miniſters are 2360.

The ſecond of the fourth.

AXZIARG Ax zí arg.

It is governed by the tenth of the Tribe.

P..HNIR Poth nir.

It is governed by the Twelfth of the Tribe.

The fifth Ayre, The firſt part.

LAZDIXI Laz dix i.

Which is governed by the firſt of the Tribe.

The ſecond part of the fifth.

NOCAMAL No cámal.

Which is governed by the ſeventh of the tribe.

The Third of the Fifth.

TIARPAX Ti àr pax.

Which is governed by the eleventh of the Tribe, whoſe Miniſters are 5802.

Be patient awhile.

The ſixth.
Gab. …… Move not …… Moſes was to ſeek in theſe ſecrets, Nal. …… The firſt of the ſixth whoſe Governour is the fifth of the Tribe.

S·XTOMP Sax tomp.

The ſecond of the ſixth, whoſe Governour is the twelfth of the Tribe.

VAVAAMP Vá Va amp.

The third of the ſixth, which is governed by the fifth of the Tribe.

ZIRZIRD Zir zird.

Whoſe Miniſters are 7220 as before.

The firſt of the ſeventh is governed by the fourth Tribe.

OBMACAS Ob ma cas.

K. E. Ever the Table turneth to the letter under.

The ſecond of the ſeventh, whoſe the third of GENADOL Ge na dol.

The third of by the eleventh.

ASPIAON. As pí a on.

The firſt of the eighth, whoſe Governour is the fifth, &c. whoſe Miniſters are 4362.

ZAINFRES Zá in fres.

The ſecond of the eighth, by the firſt of the Tribe, whoſe Miniſters 7236.

TODNAON Tod na on.

The third of the eighth by the ninth of the Tribe, ad under him 2302.

PRISTAC Pris tac.

The ninth : the firſt, governed by the third, whoſe Miniſters, 9996.

ODDIORG Od dí org. dg.

The ſecond of the ninth by the tenth, whoſe Miniſters 3620.

CRALPIR Cral pir.

Move not for the Lord is great amongſt you.

he laſt of the ninth by the ninth of the Tribe. Miniſters 4230.

DOANZIN Do an Zin.

The firſt of the tenth	by the eleventh of the Tribe.
LEXARPH	Lex arph. Xarph.
The ſecond of the tenth	by the ſeventh.
COMANAN	Co ma nan.
The third of the tenth	by the ninth.
TABITOM	Ta bi tom.
Whoſe Miniſters are 1617.
Have patience.
The firſt of the eleventh,	governed by the tenth.
Miniſters 3472.
MOLPAND	Mol pand.
The ſecond governed by the ſixth Miniſters 7236.
VSN.RDA	Vſ nar da.
The third	by the third.
Miniſters as before 5234.
PONODOL	Po no dol.
The firſt of the twelfth, go by the ſixth.
TAPAMAL	Ta pa mal.
The ſecond of the twelfth	by the eighth Angel.
GEDOONS	Ge do ons.
The third of the twelfth	by the ſecond.
AMBRIOL	Ambriol.
The firſt of the thirteenth	governed by the tenth.
Miniſters 8111.
GECAOND	Ge ca ond
The ſecond	by the firſt of the Tribes.
LAPARIN	La pa rin.
The laſt of the thirteenth	by the ſeventh of the twelve.
DOCEPAX	Do ce pax.
Is Italia.
The firſt of the fourteenth	by the fifth of the Tribes.
TEDOAND	Te do and.

Britan. This is England and Scotland too, called anciently by the name of Britania. There liveth not a man that knoweth the truth of the Britiſh Originals.

Δ. The Britiſh Originals.

The ſecond of the 14.	by the ſeventh.

VIVI

VIVIPOS Vi vi pos.

The laſt of the fourteenth by the twelfth.

Miniſters 8230.

OO.NAMB O o a namb.

E. K. Now he prayeth.

E. K. Now Gabriel ſtandeth up.

Gab. ..... The Lord pardoneth your faſting, and accepteth the inward man, labour alſo to morrow. You ſhall have the reſt.

Δ. May I be bold to ask you one queſtion?

Gab. ..... You may.

Δ. Is the Queen of England, alive, or dead?

..... She liveth.

I am nothing near the earth.

E. K. The Curtain is drawn. We prayed joyntly ſome prayers.

Δ. Upon my motion, for the Lord Al. Laſ. how to deal with the Chancelour, the Curtain was drawn open. And he in the green, who appeared to day, came into the ſtone, and ſaid as followeth.

Thus ſayeth the Lord: Joyn body to body, but let mindes be ſeparate, for he is deſpiſed in the ſight of God, and is delivered over to deſtruction, which doth tarry, till it finde him ready. Iſrael deceived Egypt, and ſaw Egypt overthrown. Let him do what he will with him, but let him not joyn his minde with him.

And the Chancelour and Cracow.

Δ. We are deſirous to know your name.

Mapſama under Gabriel.

My name is called Dic illis. I am one under Gabriel, and the name of Jeſus I know and honour.

Δ. Jeſus declared his name, and ſo have other good Creatures before unto us.

Map. My name is Mapſama.

Δ. Is, dic illis, the Etymology thereof?

Map. It is.

Δ. How much it importeth for us to underſtand the beſt counſel that is to be given to A. L. you know, &c.

Map. ..... I am commanded, and I have done my commandment. But ſee, that thou, and he fulfill thoſe things that are commanded you by me.

Δ. You ſaid I ſhould be his mouth to you: How ſhall I execute that, I pray you?

Map. ..... Not to me, but to God.

Δ. By prayer mean you?

Map. ..... Yea, and by preſence.

Δ. By preſence, with whom?

Map. ..... Thou ſhalt go from hence with him to the Emperour: God will ſtir up farther matter, by thy preſence there.

The Emperour.

Δ. Shall all our Leſſons be finiſhed, and ſufficient power delivered unto us according to the promiſe of God?

..... you ſhall be able to practice by Sunday.

Δ. By which Sunday?

..... But the practices that are the inſtructions of the Higheſt, are not but in lawful cauſes and for neceſſity, to glorifie God; and againſt Pharaoh.

Δ. What ſhall, then, be the hability of my skill to practice, before Sunday next Map. ..... Theſe Calls touch all the parts of the World. The World may be dealt withall, wtih her parts; Therefore you may do any thing. Theſe Calls are the keyes into the Gates and Cities of wiſdom. Which [Gates] are not able to be opened, but with viſible apparition.

Gates Viſible Apparition.

Note.

[Δ. And how ſhall that be come unto?

Map. .... Which is according to the former inſtructions: and to be had, by calling of every Table. You called for wiſdom, God hath opened unto you, his Judgement: He hath delivered unto you the keyes, that you may enter; But be humble. Enter not of preſumption, but of permiſſion. Go not in raſhly; But be brought in willingly: For, many have aſcended, but few have entred. By Sunday you ſhall have all things that are neceſſary to be taught; then (as occa-

Obſerve permiſſion.

All taught by Sunday next practiſe, being called firſt, then practiſe.

occaſion ſerveth) you may practice at all times. But you being called by God , and to a good purpoſe.

Δ. How ſhall we underſtand this Calling by God ?

Map. ...... God ſtoppeth my mouth, I will anſwer thee no more.

Δ. Miſericordia Dei ſit ſuper nos, veritas ejus fulgeat & floreat in cordibus noſtris.

Amen.

Δ. E. K. read this prayer devoutly, and I joyning my mind to his pronunciation thereof kneeled by.

This prayer was miſwritten in this place place, it ſhould have been written the 22 of May following.

Domine Jeſu Chriſte, Deus ſalutarium noſtrorum. Cujus nomen ſit benedictum hodie & quotidie: qui aſcendiſti ſuper Cœlum Cœli, ad dextram Dei patris: denuo venturus ad judicandum in nubibus, cum poteſtate magna, & majeſtate mirabili, educ nos vinctos in peccatis in fortitudine juſtificationis tuæ: ut dealbemur per remiſſionem peccatorum ſuper nivem; adeo ut beneplacitum ſit tibi habitare in nobis, & nos in te. Amen.

Δ. Ex Pſalterio poſt 67 Pſalmum.

Tueſday Cracoviæ, Maii 22. 1584. in Whitſon-week, Mane circa 7.

Illuder.

After our ſitting, and ſome prayer uſed, appeared a very little Creature, on the Cuſhion, by the Stone: ſaying, Put out your Candle; for you ſhall have nothing to do, to day.

Δ. What is your name that we may alledge your meſſage for our excuſe: ſeeing we were bid yeſterday to labour to day.

E. K. He is gone.

Δ. After that about half an hour, there appeared our Inſtructors, as before time.

Gab. ...... Move, move, move not, for the place is holy.

E. K. Gabriel ſtandeth up; and after a while ſaid.

Obedience.

...... The heavens are called righteous, becauſe of their obedience. The earth accurſed, becauſe of her frowardneſſe. Thoſe therefore, that ſeek heavenly things, ought to be obedient; leſt with their frowardneſſe, they be conſumed in the end, burnt to aſhes with fire, as the Earth ſhall be for her unrighteouſneſſe.

Faith.

Therefore, be you obedient, and full of Humility; uſing the inſtrument of righteouſneſſe, (which is faith) That you may be pertakers of the celeſtial comforts; which are the hire of ſuch as forſake their frowardneſs. It hath been ſaid unto you, ... Meaſure not out Gods building. It hath been ſaid unto you, ... Continue to the end. It hath been alſo told you, ... That the Determinations of God are not as yet eſtabliſhed upon you.

* Vide 1. Reg. cap. 2. Ecce revocata determinatione Dei [illegible] Levi: Vide etiam [illegible] 3 Reg. in cap. 2. [illegible] Dominus ſermones ſuos, &c. [illegible]

For it is written, It may, again be * undetermined I ſpeak this for your inſtruction: For many have the power of God, but not unto righteouſneſſe: as was evident amongſt the Jews in the choice of their Kings. In the very houſe of God, amongſt thoſe that entred into the holy place. For, all that the Prophets annoynted were not good. Not, that they were evil in the time of their anointing, but becauſe their In-unction, and the dignity of their office was defiled in them in the end, through their own frowardneſſe. The High-prieſts alſo were choſen in righteouſneſſe, and by the ſpirit of God: but they became Rebels in the holy houſe: and ſuch as of whom it is ſaid, Altiſſimus autem fuit ſcandalum illis. Even ſo my brethren may it be with you.

Δ. Jeſus defend us from that inconvenience.

For although, it hath pleaſed God, to ſhew himſelf unto you, yet are you not aſhamed to ſay: If the harveſt cometh not in, at the time appointed, I will become a runnagate.

For what?

But Euge (my brethren) Hath the Lord need of you? It needeth not be told you; you know the contrary. Then it followeth, you have need of God. But for what? and why? That your ſouls may overcome this World, overcome the body, to the dignity of an Angel.

And becauſe you are miſerable, and turned out to the field, full of brambles and miſery, leane, naked, and unarmed, to fight againſt him, that reſiſteth againſt the might of God. Conſider theſe laſt two, and then anſwer your ſelves, for the reſt.

Cave. Promiſſa ei [illegible]

I give you a ſhort warning. God will fulfil his promiſes: And (as he hath ſaid) by this Auguſt, you ſhall underſtand.

1. How to know and uſe God his Creatures, good and bad.

Note the ſecond inſtruction or gift of the Higheſt.

2. But when, and for what, is the gift of the Higheſt, and ſhall be fulfilled in you (If you will be obedient) when it pleaſeth him: even with a ſound from his own mouth, ſaying, Venite & audite.

The Actions the greateſt.

For theſe Actions are twofold: Conſider it, if you can: and they are the greateſt, becauſe they are the laſt, and contain all that hath been done before them. Which if you conſider well, and to what you are called; you ſhall perceive, that the Judgements of God, are not a Tennis-ball.

Move not from place.

Thus much I thought to warn you my brethren. Have a little patience for the Action. He that ſtirreth from his place ſhall find the reward of it.

△. After half an hour ?

Gab. …… Move not, Move not, Move not.

…. The fifteenth.

Three parts.

The ninth hath the firſt,
The tenth hath the ſecond.
The twelfth the third.

The 16 hath 3 parts.
The ſecond hath the firſt,
The third hath the ſecond,
The twelfth hath the third.

17. …… The ſeventeenth.
The ſecond hath the firſt,
The firſt hath the ſecond,
The ninth hath the third.

18. …. The eighteenth is of three.

1		the fifth,
2	hath	the ſeventh,
3		the twelfth.

E. K. He threw like duſt out of the Stone toward my eyes.

19. …… The ninteenth is alſo threefold.
1 …… The twelfth.
2 …… The eighth.
3 …… The eleventh.

20 The twentieth is alſo threefold.
1 …… fifth.
2 …… third.
3 …… ſeventh.

21 The one and twentieth, is alſo threefold.
1 …… twelfth.
2 …… eighth.
3 …… ſixth.

E: K. There ſtandeth one, at one of my eares, and at another, another, howling like Dogs ; and ſaid, Ah you beggars !

A tempting illuding ſpirit come in place.

Gab. …. He will deceive you, take heed leſt you move.

E. K. He ſeemeth to be telling money behinde me.

△. Look not back in any caſe.

The ninth of the fifteenth hath under him [△.] of the 12. 1000. 300. 60, 7.
The tenth of the firſt [△.] hath under 1000. 300. 60: 7. [△.] of the 12.
The twelfth of [△.] the firſt 1000, 800, 80. 6.
The firſt of the ſecond [△.] hath under him 9000. 900. 20. and he is the ſecond of the twelve.

△ 15th. Sup. ..of this firſt Ternary.

The ſecond of the ſecond, which is the third of the 12. 9000, 200, 30.
The third of the third, which is the twelfth of the twelfth, hath under him 7000, 200, 40.
The firſt of the third (the ſecond of the 12 ) hath under him 7000, 600, 20, 3.
The ſecond of the third , which is the firſt of the 12. 7000, 100, 30. 2.
The third of the third, which is the ninth of the 12. hath with him , or under him, 2000, 600, 30, 4.
18. The firſt of the fourth, which is the fifth of the 12. 2000, 300, 40, 6.
The ſecond, which is the ſeventh of the 12. under him 7000, 600, 80, 9.
The third of the fourth, which is the twelfth of the 12. under him 9000, 200, 70, 6.
The firſt of the fifth, which is the twelfth of the 12. under him, 6000, 200, 30, 6.
The ſecond which is the eighth of the 12. under him, 6000. 700, 30, 2.
The third of the fifth : which is the eleventh of the 12. under him, 2000, 300, 80, 8.
The firſt of the ſixth, which is the fifth of the 12. under him 3000, 600, 20, 6.
The ſecond of the ſixth …. the third of the 12. 7000, 600, 20, 9.
The third, which is the ſeventh of the 12. under him 3000, 600, 30, 4.
21. The firſt of the ſeventh, which is the twelfth of the 12. under him 5000, 500, 30, 6.
The ſecond of the ſeventh, which is the eighth of the 12. under him 5000, 600, 30, 5.
The laſt of the ſeventh, which is the ſixth of the 12. under him 5000, 600, 50, 8.

Number every Ayre.

△. —— The 15. —— 4620
The 16. —— 28390
The 17 —— 17 89
The 18 —— 19311
The 19 —— 15356
The 20 —— 14889
The 21 —— 16829

The firſt of the fourth ſeventh hath three parts.

Have patience for a while.

1 —— is the twelfth of the twelve.
2 —— is the firſt of the twelfth.
3 —— is the twelfth of the twelve.

23. The firſt of the ſecond.

2 —— the ſeventh of the twelve.
1 —— the ſeventh of the twelve.
3 —— the eighth of the twelve.

24. The

24. The third.

1 —— the fourth of
2 —— the tenth.
3 —— the twelfth of the twelve.

25. The fourth.

1 —— the fourth.
2 —— the ſecond.
3 —— the twelfth of the twelve.

The fifth.

1 —— the twelfth.
2 —— the eighth.
3 —— twelfth of the twelve.

27. The ſixth.

1 —— the ſecond.
2 —— the fourth.
3 —— the fifth.

28. The ſeventh.

1 —— the tenth }
2 —— the ninth } of the twelve.
3 —— the ſixth }

2› The firſt of the firſt, which is the twelfth of the twelve, under him 2000. 200. 30. 2.
The ſecond of the firſt, under him 2000. 300. 20. 6.
The third of the firſt, which is the eleventh of under him 2000. 300. 60. 7.

.. The firſt of the ſecond, which 7000. 306. 20.
The ſecond under him 7000. 200. 60. 2.
The third of the ſecond, which is the ſecond of the 12. under him 7000. 300. 30. 3.

24 The firſt of the third, which is the fourth of the twelve, under him 8000. 200.
The ſecond of the third, which is the tenth of the twelve, under him 8000. 300. 60.
The third of the third, which is the eleventh of the twelve, under him 8000. 200. 30. 6.

25 The firſt of the fourth, which is the fourth of the twelve, under him 5000. 6000. 30. 2.
The ſecond of the fourth, which is the ſecond of the twelve, 6000. 300. 30. 3.
The third of the fourth, which is the twelfth of the twelve, under him 6000. 200. 30. 6.

26 The firſt of the fifth, the which is the twelfth of the 9000. 200. 30. 2.
The ſecond of the fifth, which is the eighth of the twelve, 3000. 600. 20.
The third of the fifth, which is the twelfth of the twelve, 5000. 600. 30. 7.

27 The firſt of the ſixth, which is the ſecond of the twelve, hath under him 7000. 200. 20.
The ſecond of the ſixth, the fourth of the twelve, 7000. 500. 60.
The third, which is the fifth of the twelve, 7000. 200. 60. 3.

28 The firſt of the ſeventh, the tenth of the twelve, 2000. 600. 30.
The ſecond of the ſeventh, which is the ninth of the twelve, under him 7000. 200. 30. 6.
The laſt of the ſeventh, the ſixth of the twelve, under him 8000. 200.

△. The 22th. ..... is ..... 6925.
23 ——— 21915.
24 ——— 24796.
25 ——— 18201.
26 ——— 18489.
27 ——— 22043.
28 ——— 18066.

They ...... I kneel to prayer. Then the Curtain was drawn.

E. K. There appeareth like the ſnuf of a Candle on the top of the ſtone, it is like a little ſpark of fire. After this, Gabriel ſaid by voyce, Have patience.

△. After half an hour. A voyce ſaid ... look to .... to E. K.

E. K. The Curtain is drawn open. Nalvage ſtandeth on the top of the Table.

Nal. ...... The firſt part of the firſt ſeven you had to day.
The ninth.

TAHANDO. Ta han do.

The

The tenth, the ſecond of the firſt, which is the tenth.
NOCIABI	No ci a bi.
The third.
TASTOXO	Tas to x o.
15 The firſt of the ſecond.
CVCARPT	Cu carpt.
The ſecond.
LAVACON	La va con.
The third is governed by the twelfth of the twelfth.	Miniſters 9240.
SOCHIAL	Ki So chi al.
17 The third. The firſt, which is the ſecond of
SIGMORF	Sig morf.
The ſecond.
AYDROPT	Ay dropt.
The third, whoſe governour is the ninth of the twelve.
TOCARZI	To car zi.
18 The firſt of the fourth.
NABAOMI	Na ba o mi.
The ſecond.
ZAFASAI	Za fa ſai.
The third.
YALPAMB	Yal pa M B.
The firſt of the fifth.
TORZOXI	Tor Zóx i.
The ſecond.
ABAION	A ba i on.
The third.
OMAGRAP	O ma grap.
20 The firſt of the ſixth.
ZILDRON	Zi L dron.

The ſecond of the ſixth.
PARZI · A	Par zi ba.
The third of the ſixth.
TOTOCAN	To to can.
The firſt of the ſeventh by the twelfth.
CHIRSPA	Chirs pa.
The ſecond of the ſeventh.
TOANTOM	To ân tom.
The third of the ſeventh.
VIXPALG	Dg. Call it, Vix palg.
Nal......The laſt ſeven.
The firſt.
OZIDAIA	O-zi-dai a.
The ſecond of the laſt ſeven.
PARAOAN	Pa ra o an.
The third.
CALZIRG	Dg. Calzirg.
23 The firſt of the ſecond.
RONOAMB	Ro no amb.
The ſecond.
ONIZIMP	O m Zimp.
The third of the ſecond.
ZAXANIN	Zax a nin.
24 The firſt.
ORCAMIR.	Or ca mir.
The
CHIALPS	Ki. Chi alps.
The third of the third.
SOAGEEL	So á ge el.
The firſt of the fourth.
MIRZIND	Mir zind.
The ſecond by the ſecond of the twelfth.
OBVAORS	Ob va ors.
The thirds.
RANGLAM	Ran glam.
The firſt of the fifth by the twelfth of the twelfth.
26 POPHAND	Po phand.

The ſecond.

NIGRANA Ni grá na.

The third.

BAZCHIM Baz chim. kim.

The firſt.

SAZIAMI Sa zi a mi.

The ſecond.

MATHULA Ma thu la.

The third.

ORPANIB Or pa nib.

28 ...... The firſt of the ſeventh.

LABNIXP Lab nix p.

The ſecond.

FOC • SNI Fo cis Ni.

The third.

OXLOPAR Ox lo par.

Nal. ...... Have patience for a while. Say on.
The twenty ninth hath three parts.
The firſt part hath his Governour the third of the 12.
The ſecond the fourth of the 3 .... the fifth of the 12.

E. K. Now he ſtandeth off the Table.

30. The thirtieth ...... hath 4 parts.

$$\left.\begin{array}{l}1 \text{ ——— the twelfth.}\\ 2 \text{ ——— the fourth.}\\ 3 \text{ ——— the third.}\\ 4 \text{ ——— the ſixth.}\end{array}\right\}\text{ of the 12.}$$

The firſt of the nine and twentieth hath under him, 9632.
The ſecond ..... by the fourth of the 12. under him 4236.
The fifth of the 12 that governeth under 7635.

30 The twelfth of the 12. 4632.
The ſecond .... by the fourth of the 12. under him 9636.
The third .... by the third of the under him 7632.
The laſt .... by the ſixth 5632.

.o The earth in the firſt diviſion of the 29.

VASTRIM Vas trim.

The ſecond part of 29 Ayre.

ODRAXTI O drax ti.

by the fifth of the 12.
The third, whoſe Miniſters are 7635.

GOMZIAM — Gom zi am.

30 ….., The firſt of the 30 …. under the 12.

TAOAGLA — Ta ó a gla.

The ſecond under the fourth of GEMNIMB — Gem nimb.

The third under the third.

ADVORPT — Ad vorpt.

The laſt …… by the ſixth of the 12.

The . . wrth
. . . none
. . re : but
. . 30.

DOZINAL — Do zi nal.

Nal. ….. I have done.

Δ. As you gave us taſte, or warning of Italia and Britania, ſo if it be thought good to you, we are deſirous to underſtand of the reſt, the Application to ſuch names as we underſtand.

Nal. …… Make an end for to day: Give over. Make your ſelves ready for to morrows Action.

E. K. The Curtain is drawn.

Δ. Deo omnipotenti, Optimo, & maximo Univerſa machina creata laudem gloriam & honorem reddat, nunc & in perpetuum. Amen.

Δ. There is a prayer written after the Action of Monday Maii 21. next here before beginning Domine Jeſu Chriſte, &c. which I miſplaced there; for after this dayes Action, it was ſaid by E. K. and me.

LIBRI

LIBRI SEPTIMI APERTORII CRACOVIENSIS MYSTICI, SABBATICI,

Pars Quarta; Anno 1584. Maii 23.

Wedenſday, † Cracoviæ, Maii 23. Manè, hora 7. ¼ ferè. Poſt orationes noſtras.

THe Curtain appeared, at the firſt looking.

△. There happened a great ſtorm or temptation to E. K. of doubting and miſliking our Inſtructors and their doings, and of contemning and condemning any thing that I knew or could do. I bare all things patiently for God his ſake, &c. At length the Curtain was opened, and they appeared.

E. K. I am contented to ſee, and to make true report of what they will ſhew; but my heart ſtandeth againſt them.

Gab. ...... The time ſhall come, that the oak that is beaten with every ſtorm ſhall be a Dining-Table in the Princes Hall.

Gab. ...... M ve not, for the place is holy. He that doubteth, doth the property of the fleſh, but he that hath faith, hath the gift of the Holy Ghoſt. The Swallow flieth ſwift, but where ſhe lighteth, there is no remembrance of her being: ſuch are the words of man. But our words are like unto a ſwift arrow, that entreth and ſticketh where it lighteth.

.able
doubting ½

As man loveth the Owre for the Gold that is in it, and for the end of his uſe; ſo God loveth the dunghills of the World, &c. But the enemy, the more he lifteth up himſelf, the greater ſhall be his fall: for inſtead of joy, ſhall enter in an hundred, and inſtead of hundred a thouſand. But beware of thoſe Rebels; for they are like the ſmall ſtones which are in every place of the Earth. But move not. Let us do that which is our part: Unto others be it as they deſerve.

△. I ſuſpect this place to be imperfect.

E. K. There appeareth a great thing like a Globe, turning upon tvvo axell-trees.

The earthly Globe appearing.

Nal. ...... Turn to the firſt Air ...... △. I have done.

Nal. ...... The Earth in the firſt ayre, is this, [E. K. pointing on that Globe to it.]

△. We beſeech you to bound or determine the Countries or Portions of the Earth, by their uttermoſt Longitudes and Latitudes, or by ſome other certain manner.

Nal. ...... Our manner is, not as it is of worldlings: We determine not places after the forms of legs, or as leaves are: neither we can imagin any thing after the faſhion of an [△] horn: as thoſe that are Coſmographers do.

..wardes.
..th
15 Prin

Notwithſtanding the Angel of the Lord appeared unto Ptolomie, and opened unto him the parts of the Earth: but ſome he was commanded to ſecret: and thoſe are Northward under your Pole. But unto you, the very true names of the World in her Creation are delivered.

An Angel appeared to Ptolomie.

△. There appeared a great water, long and narrow, reddiſh, and thereby appeared . . .

There appeared written Egypt. He hath in his hand written Syria. And of that he ſaid, that it was the ſecond of the firſt.

ms
...ng
...any
..Poles
. Divini-
.atione.

Now appeared a very fine Land and Region in which appeared a great City, in the edge of it. There appeared written ..... Meſopotamia. The third of the firſt.

Now appeared a large portion of the Earth, wherein appeared Beares, a great River from a Hill going into the Sea with three mouths. The word written Cappadocia.

The firſt of the ſecond.

The ſecond of the ſecond.

written in his hand Tuſcia.

△. I pray you, do you mean Tuſcia by Italy?

The third of the ſecond: written Parva Aſia.

The firſt —— Hircania —— △. Mare Caſpium appeared by it.

The ſecond —— Thracia ——

The laſt Here appear people going into Caves of the ground, and dwelling in Caves: they are long haired men, naked; Here appear great Hills, and the veines of the Gold Mines appear: the men ſeem to have baskets of leather. This is one of the places under the Pole Artick, written ..... Goſmam.

Gold Mines under the Pole Artick.

△. —— Is it ſo called, of the people of the Country?

Nal. ...... Even at this hour.

E. K. Here

E. K. Here appeareth a mighty great Hill, and about it a great Cave of water. Here appear beaſts divers: ſome like a Swine, with feet like a Beare, his neither jaw hanging to his   and divers   and a mighty Hill running, with branches: there by lie things with huskes on them.

The firſt.
he appointeth,
written The b a idi.
The ſecond —— Here the Sun ſhineth fair. Parſadal.
The third —— Here appear people very beaſtly, with Mantles on their ſhoulders: and beaſts with long ſnouts.

India.

Here appear great rotten trees, very old, great Woods of them. Beyond the Woods are great Hills. Great Fens appear, and great Mariſh-ground: Fowles as big as Swans, green, ſcaled on their backs, in the water.

The firſt of the fifth —— Bactriane.
The ſecond —— Cilicia.
The third —— Oxiana.

6. The firſt of the ſixth —— Numidia.
The ſecond —— Cyprus.
The third —— Parthia.

7. The firſt of the ſeventh —— Getulia.
The ſecond —— Here is a great Deſart: no Trees.
in his hand —— Arabia.
The third —— Phalagon.
△. I never heard of it.

E. K. It is toward the North, where the veines of Gold; and ſuch △. Groynland as I think. people appear as before were noted. On this ſide them a great way appear men with ſwiniſh ſnouts, their viſage is ſo ſtrouted out; but to be perceived to be of humane viſage. The women have about their privities very long hair down to their knees. The men have things on their ſhoulders of beaſts skins, as inſtead of a Jerkin or a Mandillion.

8. The firſt of the eighth —— Mantiana.
People appear here of reddiſh colour.
The ſecond —— Soxia ——
On the one ſide of the black men
The third ——
like Spaniards appear very high men with Spaniſh Capes without Swords by their ſides. Here appeare great Towns; divers;
The name being not evident we urged, and Gallia appeared.

8. The firſt —— Illyria.
The ſecond ——
….. If thou ſtir, thou ſhalt never ſee more —— To E. K.
—— —— Sogdiana.
The third —— Lydia.

The

The firſt Caſpis.

Men like Dutchmen with leather nether ſtocks.

The ſecond Germania.

The third. Here appear Monkies, great flocks.

Trenam. The people have leather Coats, and no beards, thick leather, and Garthers. They gather up thinkg......

Nal...... Theſe people are not known with you.
Δ. Are they not in Africa?
Nal...... They be. Now a dark fog covereth all the ſtone.
Nal...... Stay awhile.

E. K. I pray you let us go to dinner. Move not, I ſay.

E. K. Nalvage prayeth. Now he pointeth to a place.

11. The firſt of the eleventh. Bithynia.
The ſecond. [A great Citie, and the Sea hard by it.] Græcia.
Δ. Is not that great Citie Conſtantinople?
Nal...... It is. There is the ſeat of that great Devil the Turk.
Nal...... He is but Tenant at will.
The third. Licia.
12 The firſt of the twelfth.

E. K. Here appear handſome men, in gathered tucked Garments, and their ſhooes come up to the middle of their legs, of diverſe coloured leather.

Nal. ...... Theſe be thoſe beyond Hiſpaniola.

E. K. It is a low Countrey. Here appear great piles of ſtones like St. Andrews Croſſes. Two Notable Rivers are here, The women have great covertures over their heads, coming from their ſhoulders, as the Hoyks in Flanders.

O ni Gap.

There are on this ſide of it, (a great way) a great number of dead Carkaſes.

Nal. ...... It is beyond Gia pan.
Δ. Then it is that land, which I uſe to call Atlantis.
Nal. ...... They ſtretch more near the Weſt: They are 25 Kingdoms in it.
The ſecond ...... beyond a place where the Geſe.
1 India.
India in the heavenly government is divided into two parts: This is called the greater Inde.
The third. ...... a great many little Iſles.
Orchenii.
Δ. Do you mean the Iſles of Orkney.
Nal. ...... No.
Δ. They ſeem to be the Iſles of Malacha.
The firſt of the thirteenth ...... Achaia.
The ſecond ...... Armenia.

E. K. A great old Caſtle ſtandeth on the ſide of the top of a very high Hill. It ſeemeth to be made of wood, It ſeemeth four-corner'd.

Δ. I beſeech you what is that Caſtle?
Nal. ...... It is the Ark of Noe.
The third ...... Cilicia.
Nal. ...... You never knew this Cilicia. This is Cilicia, where the Children of Nemrod dwell. It is up in the Mountains beyond Cathay. Nimrod.

E. K. This

E. K. This people, ſome great Gyants, and very fair. Their Apparel is Gowns tuckt up, they are very coſtly Apparell'd, and in their faces they have great Jewels like precious ſtones hanged, they are marvellouſly rich apparelled in ſilks.

14 The firſt ...... Here ſeem as if many houſes were thrown down, and Caſtles. Paphlagonia. Onely one Hill appeareth in it very long.

The ſecond ...... Phaziana.

The third ...... Here be men with broad Caps like Egyptians, and many Mountains are here on one ſide Chal[illegible]i.

15 The firſt ...... Itergi. Here appear Woods, Waters, and fair Towns, but the people are yellow, tawny, and have great lumps of fleſh under their Throats. They are to the South of the laſt Ciliciens.

There are 14 Kingdoms of them.

The ſecond ...... Macedonia.

The third ...... Garamantica. People of a low ſtature, black, ſwarty people, naked.

The firſt of the ſixteenth ...... Here like men of wilde geſture, cloathed like Polonians.

This Countrey is ...... Sauromatica.

The ſecond ...... Æthiopia.

E. K. Here are ſome naked, ſome not naked, covered with red Garments. The houſes ſeem like Tents, made of cloath and leather. There are great Rivers.

The third.

E. K. Now he ſheweth by the North-pole, and the great Mountain.

Fiacim. ..... Here be ſeven Kingdoms, their chief Citie is called Fiacim, all that are of that Kings Counſel are Aſtronomers. The Kings name that now governeth is Gapſacar.

The firſt.

Seeſt thou this Countrey? ...... Colchica. To E. K.

The ſecond ...... Cireniaca. ..... E. K. Hard by a great water.

The third ...... Naſamonia.

The firſt...... Carthago.

The ſecond...... Now appear many Crocodiles, long necked, ſcaled on the body, with long tailes.

...... Cox lant. A great place appeareth, covered about with fire. Many great Serpents appear here of 200 foot. It appeareth very Eaſtward. No people appear here.

E. K. There cometh from Heaven like a Miſt, and covereth a great place, about 300 mile long, like a Park, encloſed with fire. It is on a high ground. There come four Rivers out of it, one Eaſt, another Weſt, another North, and another South. The pales, or encloſure of it ſeem to be Arches, beſet moſt richly with precious ſtones. In the Gate of it ſtand three men like us, one is in a long Gown with many pleats, the other like in a Caſſek. The third in the rough skin of a beaſt. In the name of Jeſus: Is this the Paradiſe that Adam was baniſhed out of?

......The very ſame; from hence he was turned out into the earth. This is the true Vale of Joſaphat.

Δ. Will you give me leave?

Say on.

It ſhould ſeem this muſt be on the earth, not in the aire.

...... It is upon the earth.

You ſaid that from hence he was turned out into the earth.

...... The curſe of God in Adam cauſed the earth, whereinto he was caſt to be accurſed. For, if Adam had after his fall tarried in Paradiſe, his wickedneſſe would have altred the innocency of the place. Therefore is Paradiſe diſtinguiſhed from the earth, in reſpect of her purity: becauſe the earth is defiled, and corrupted with man. The earth is ſaid to be ſinfull in reſpect of the ſin of man.

Δ. Till 45 degrees, both Northerly and Southerly, all is known in the moſt part of the world: But of any ſuch place there is no knowledge nor likelyhood by any Hiſtory of theſe dayes, or of old time.

Nal......There-

Nal. ...... Therefore this is cunning, and the wiſdom of God. There dwelleth fleſh in it that ſhall never die, which were taken up for a teſtimony of Truth..

△. Elie and Enoch, by the Apocalyps do ſeem that they ſhould ſuffer death, under Antichriſt, if we underſtand right. There is Elie, Enoch, and John : They ſhall ſeem to be dead, by his power, but not dead.

The third ——— ——— Idumea.

Ninteen The firſt ——— Parſtavia.
I know it not.
The ſecond ——— ——— Celtica.
...... That we underſtand commonly now for Gallia. It is that which you call Flandria, the Low Country.

The third ——— ——— E. K. Here appear men with tallons like Lions. They be very devils. There are five Iſles of them. Theſe be they that can dwell in any part of the Earth, and are called Piloſi.

Nothing differeth them, but in that they have bodies.

Vinſan.

20 ——— ———
The firſt. E. K. Under the South Pole.
Here appear little men with long beards: their bodies as childrens bodies.

Under the South Pole.

Nal. ...... There dwelleth the wonderful Emperour of the World, and the wonderful City of the World : Here are an hundred and twelve Kingdoms. This City is a hundred forty ſix leagues about.

△. A wonderful great City.

△. You underſtand two Engliſh miles for a league, as in France?

Nal. ...... I. There dwelleth the true generation of Cham.

Tolpam.

The ſecond ——— Carcedonia.
The third ——— Italia.

△. Italia and Britania were before applied : the third of the 13. and firſt of the 14.

..... Therefore theſe two places to be reconciled.

He pointeth to a great City with a River by it.

... .. This is that City which ſhall not have one ſtone ſtanding in it. This City is in Italia

△. Is it Rome, I pray you?

Nal. ...... It is Rome.

E. K. Now there is come a white miſt in the Stone.

Ceaſe, ſaid a voice.

A voice ...... Stay for a while.

E. K.

Nal. ...... Read them in my hand as thou ſeeſt them [△. He ſpake to E. K.]

21 The firſt ——— Britania.
The ſecond ——— Phenices.
The third ——— Comaginen.

22 The firſt ——— Apulia.
The ſecond ——— Marmarica.
The third ——— Concava Syria.
23 The ſecond of the ſeventh ———

The firſt ——— ——— Gebal.
The ſecond ——— ——— Elam vide Elamitæ.
The third ——— ——— Idunia.
Nal. ...... It is beyond Greenland.

24 The firſt ——— Media.
The ſecond ——— ——— Arriana.

The third ———— Chaldæa
Δ. I beſeech you, what differeth this Chaldea from Caldei before ?
Nal. ...... You ſhall finde the difference of it, in practice.

25 ———— Theſe people Serici.
The ſecond ———— Perſia.
The third ———— Gongatha —— E. K. Toward the South Pole.

26 The firſt ———— Gorſim —— Beares and Lions here.
The ſecond ———— Hiſpania ——
The third ———— Pamphilia ——

27 The firſt ———— Oacidi.
Gal. ...... There be 9 Kingdoms —— Fair made people, but tawny.
The ſecond ———— Babylon.
The third ———— Median —— E. K. It is much Northward.

28 The firſt ———— Idumian. Nal. ..... They are two Iſles environed with an arm
Maſpi. The ſecond ———— Felix Arabia. of the Scythian Sea, which goeth in at Maſpi.
The third ———— Metagonitiden —— It ſtandeth very Southerly.

29 The firſt ———— Aſſyria.
The ſecond ———— Africa
The third ———— Bactriani.

30 The firſt ———— Afran.
The ſecond ———— Phrygia.
The third ———— Creta.
The fourth ———— Mauritania.

Here appear people with one eye in their head, ſeeming to be in their breaſt, toward the Equinoctial.

Δ. I remember of people called Arimaſpi.

Nal. ...... This dayes Leſſon is as much worth, as all between this and Mauritania.
Note. ...... Here are 15, which were never known in theſe times.
...... The reſt are.

Δ. I hear nothing of Polonia, Moſchovia, Dania, Hibernia, Iſlandia, and ſo of many other which I could name : what is to be thought of thoſe ? in reſpect of the diſtribution of the whole face of the earth ?

..... Polonia and Moſchovia, are of Saromatia ; Denmark, Ireland, Frizeland, Iſeland, are of Britain : And ſo it is of the reſt.

Δ. Are under the Regiment that name chiefly denoteth, &c.

Δ. I beſeech you to what part, is Atlantas and the annexed places, under the King of Spain called the West-Indies ?

Nal. When theſe do appear, they can each tell what they own. Prepare for to morrows Action.

Δ. Moſt gladly ——

E. K. If you prove your ſelf true, you ſhall win me to God.

Nal. ...... You may be anſwered with the firſt words I ſpoke to day.

Δ. Deo, Opt. Max. ſit omnis honor, laus & Gloria nunc & ſemper. Amen.

Thurſday Maii. 24.

Δ. Becauſe E. K. came not, (according as it was bidden yeſterday) to follow the Action : I went to his Study door, and knocked for him : And I requeſted him to come ; and he refuſed ſo to do, and gave me a ſhort and reſolute anſwer, That he would never more have to do with theſe Actions. I asked him the reaſon why : He would give none : But earneſtly I urged to proceed. I told him that his words * yeſternight (that he could not this day deale) did very much grieve me, &c. whereof he made ſmall account. So I went into my Study again, and committed the Cauſe to God.

* Thoſe words he ſpake at the Action ended more than an hour in the Chamber before my Study of practice.

After half an hour and leſs, he came ſpeedily out of his Study, and brought in his hand one Volume of Cornelius Agrippa his works , and in one Chapter of that Book he read the names of Countries and Provinces collected out of Ptolomeus (as the Author there noteth) Whereupon he inferred, that our ſpiritual Inſtructors were Coſeners to give us a deſcription of the World, taken out of other Books : and therefore he would have no more to do with them. I replied, and ſaid, I am very glad that you have a Book of your own, wherein theſe Geographical names are expreſſed, ſuch as (for the moſt part) our Inſtructors had delivered unto us: and that, according to the Tenor and form of my requeſt to him, ſo to have them expreſſed: for our more perfect information, by thoſe known names; to underſtand thoſe 91 unknown and unheard of names, of ſeven letters every one: whereby they (our Inſtructors I mean) are very greatly to be thanked, and to be deemed (in all reaſonable mens judgements) moſt friendly, and far from coſenage, or abuſing of us: And farther I ſaid, that I my ſelf, had here ſet down on a paper, all the 91 names together orderly, as we received them, and that I had here brought the deſcription * Geographical of the whole earthly Globe: and alſo Pomponius Mela ſet forth in Engliſh with the Chartes thereunto belonging, fairly deſcribed by hand: To the intent he might ſee the verity of their words yeſterday delivered unto us: for the performance of my requeſt made to them, on Tueſday laſt in this form of words, as the Book hath it recorded thus;

91. Names of the world or earthly habitation.

* Gerardus Univerſal Chart of the World.

△. As you gave us a taſte, or warning of Italia and Britania, ſo, if it be thought good to you, we are deſirous to underſtand of the reſt, the Application to ſuch names as we underſtand.

Whereby you may perceive (ſaid I to E. K.) how your reaſon is marvellouſly confounded by your wilful phantaſie: For ſo much as, wherein you would find fault, in our ſpiritual Inſtructors doings, Therein they have done that which I requeſted them: as appeareth; and that to the intent, of known Countries we might underſtand which Angels had the government: for ſuch purpoſes, as occaſion might offer or require our practices to be tryed in.

This (quoth I) is to groſſe your error, and to wilful your wrangling: But I do in narrower points peruſe and conſider their words and doings; In which though ſometimes my writings (after your declaration) hath been amended by them, yet the occaſion of miſwriting for the moſt part, hath been either in your miſreporting what you ſaw and heard, or in my wrong hearing, or writing: and ſometime by the ſpiritual preſent correcting of my writing, and ſometime longer after, &c.

But for all this, E. K. remained of his wilful intent; and ſo departed to his Study again: And I committed God his Cauſe, into his own hands, care and ordering, as may be beſt for his honour and glory. So be it.

Monday, Maii 28. hora 10½ ante meridiem.

△. I ſaid the Lords Prayer.

E. K. Here appeareth nothing but the clear Stone.

Now there appeareth a white circle, more than uſual: it is as it were a white ſmoak, very large comprehending all the heavens in manner, having as it were, the breadth of my finger in the circumference or border of it.

△. After this, an hour and an half, after divers our diſcourſes of my Wife her ſpeeches and uſage toward E. K. &c.

E. K. Here appeareth one like him in the green that appeared laſt day: the Etymologie of whoſe name is Dic illis, and his name Mapſama.

△. In the name of Jeſus, and for the honour of Jeſus, we beſeech you to deliver the verity of your meſſage.

Mapſ. ...... He liveth, and he ſaith, Ariſe up, and ſay unto them. How many times have I opened my armes to embrace you? How oft have I wept over you, as a father? But you are ſtill, ſtiff-necked and diſobedient children. Lo, I ceaſe yet, and will not impute this wickedneſſe unto you.

Forte, Ceaſe not or Ceaſe: and that is to be underſtood From puniſhing you.

[△. O bleſſed God, bleſſed God, bleſſed God of mercies.]

Mapſ. ...... Becauſe my promiſes may be: notwithſtanding, that the ſons of men, may not ſay, ſuch a day cometh in the Bridegroom; nor at ſuch a time ſhall the Lilly ſpring: Let the day, that I will viſit you in, be unknown unto you.

E. K. I thought you would ſay ſo.

A perverſe ſpeech.

Map. ...... But this you ſhall do utter part.

...... Bind up together, 48 leaves; whoſe skin ſhall bear Silver: Whoſe Perimeter ſhall be 30 inches, in length; 8, in breadth 7.

Perimeter.

7
8 [30] 8
7

△. Do you require it to be parchment, or paper?

Map. ......I have ſaid.

△. What ſhall I, then, do, after I have cauſed 48 leaves to be bound?

Map. ...... This done, riſe up, and perform your Journey, as you are commanded.

Our going to the Emperours Court.

△. I have heard onely of the binding of the book : Mean you after the binding of the book that this journey ſhall be entred into?

Map. ….. I ——————————————————————

△. What ſhall I do with the book, after I have bound it?

△ Perverſe.

E. K. I will anſwer for him….burn it.

Invitatio Bonorum.

Map…… The fourteenth day of your reſt, even this Table-Cloath, and none other ſhall be ſpread for a Banket.

E. K. He pointeth to this Diaper Table-Cloath.

The writing of the book by Divine means. The Emperour. Four moneths, Vide lib. 19. Septemb. 1. 184. Sudden alteration in this year.

Whereunto, you ſhall invite the Angels of the Lord: In the middeſt of the Table lay down the book and go forth; make alſo the doors after you. That the heavens may juſtifie your faith, and you may be comforted. For, man is not worthy to write that ſhall be written: neither ſhall there be found many worthy to open that book.

I have entered already into the Emperours heart.

But it may be he will become wilfull. If he do, a hundred and twelve dayes remain, and he is not.

For, I have cut down the banks, the waters may ruſh out, that there may be a ſudden alteration In this, now, time.

* When I warn you, you ſhall return*: But you pleaſe me much*, if you believe. If time govern not my providence, (repine not) but let my providence govern time : Look neither for the Sun nor Moon, but be ready alwayes.

For, whom I finde apt, ſhall be made after : And to him that is barren, ſhall there be little added.

* Return warned, as before was bidden, May 21. But he meant not to warn us of any returning. as appeareth by the nineteenth book : Therefore with humility that doubt muſt be moved. Be ready alwayes.

Three dayes before our journey to the Emperour. * Vide Junii 4. in fine. * A L.

Three dayes before you take your voyage, ſhall you meet me here.

*For, I have ſomething to ſay unto you, which ſhall be hidden * till then.*

Let Lasky ſtretch out his lims : For I will * love him, and let him gape wide : And take much for the Veſſel is wide, that he ſhall drink of.

Let him not deſpair : for he that governeth the windes, and dwelleth not in the hands of man, he it is that ſhall comfort him.

God { Father. Son. Holy Ghoſt.

Glory be to God the Father. Glory be to God the Son. Glory be to God the holy Ghoſt. All the Heavens riſe up, and glorifie God.

△. Amen.

Map…… Hallelujah.

The Calls, or Invitations.

△. I beſeech you, as concerning the reſt of the Calls, or invitations: we are moſt ready to receive them now.

△. Thurſday, Friday, Saturday laſt, were loſt by E. K. his diſquietneſſe, God be mercifull unto us.

Map…… Pray, that thoſe three dayes to come, may ſatisfie thoſe three dayes that are paſt.

△. I beſeech you to let me underſtand, whether I ſhall take with me onely this Table-Cloath.

Map…… With the ſhew-ſtone that is made for your ſelf.

A voyce…… Cauſe the book to be made all ready.

△. I underſtand that I ſhall cauſe the leaves to be ſilver'd, and ſo prepared.

△. Miſericordias Domini in eternum cantabo : Ejus nomen ſit benedictum ex hoc nunc & in ſempiterna ſeculorum ſecula : Ille ſolus eſt Deus Noſter, Omnipotens, eternus & vivus : Illi ſoli omnis honor, laus & Gloria. Amen.

Saturday, Cracoviæ. 2 Mane circa 7. Poſt preces aliquot & petitiones meas : ſtatim ferè apparuit.

E. K. I ſee him, that we call Gabriel, ſitting in his Chair alone.

GOD.

Gabr…… God is a ſpirit eſſential and in himſelf : Eſſential and working by himſelf : Eſſential in all works, and dignifying them by himſelf : So that the beginning and ending of all things, that are already, or are in him already, and to come, is placed in the fountain, and well-ſpring of all life, comfort, and encreaſe : Whereby we ſee, that the heavens and the mighty powers therein from the higheſt unto the loweſt, things that ſhall have an end, and the earth with all that ſhe bringeth forth; yea, the lower parts (though after another manner, and by another courſe) do all hang, and are eſtabliſhed, in and upon the unſpeakable power in the providence of him. How, therefore can the Heavens run awry? Or the earth, (for the Elect ſake) want a comforter? Or the lower places look for comfort? If it be ſo (therefore) that the heavens cannot erre : Or if the power of God be ſo mighty, and ſo full of prevailing; If in the houſe of light there be no darkneſſe, or from the Heavens can deſcend no wickedneſſe. (And why? becauſe they are dignified in the power of God.) What is he that ſhould live, and diſtruſt the Lord? But herein, The power and quality of the

The Devil.

Devil

Devil is not onely manifeſt, but alſo ſtill contendeth againſt the power and will of God: ſtirring up, and provoking man to faſt at full Bankets, to ſtudy for good and evil. *To riſe up againſt the Lord, and againſt his power. And to vex the Lord himſelf: which cannot be vexed at the wickedneſſe of the Devil. Even for this cauſe, ſayeth the Lord unto you: How long will you wallow in wickedneſſe? How long will you be drunken with folly? How long will you riſe up againſt the Lord and againſt me? * Saying, And if this be* the power of God, Are theſe the Meſſengers of the higheſt? Is this the will of God? Or can it be, that he hath care of the earth? But theſe are the blaſphemies of your mouth. But I ſee, I muſt differre my ſelf for a time, and muſt raiſe up a Table where there ſhall eat more worthy. Conſider what it is to deal with Devils: Is it not to take part with Rebels? Is it not to be Traitors againſt the annointed in his own Kingdom? Is it not a greater ſin then the ſin of the Devil? For why, The Devil ſinneth in himſelf, and therefore had his fall. But your ſin is in your ſelves and by the Devil, and therefore it is the greater. But, as it is ſaid before, Where is there a moniment upon the earth that the people have raiſed up, in the remembrance of wickedneſſe? Many there be that ſay, Lo, there is Hieruſalem. Lo, there was the Lord buried. Lo, there the floods divided themſelves with all the reſt; in remembrance of the Lord: But none there is that ſay, Lo, in this place the wicked have riſen up and prevailed. Therefore to cleave unto the Lord is good, and to follow a ſenſible Doctrine, which bringeth with it ſelf the loathſomneſſe of wickedneſſe, and the ſtudy to do well, that the wicked may be confounded. Alas! let the whole earth riſe up, [thruſting up his hand] even this hand, can gather them all together: what therefore can the Lord do when he frowneth? O unreaſonable Creatures, and worſe then beaſts, more ignorant then the beaſts that graſe in the Mountains: Are you not afraid of the power of God, when it becometh a skourge? For, doubt you not, to deal with thoſe that are wicked? (you of no faith) wherefore hath the Lord made the earth, but to be glorified in the creatures thereof? And what is he that glorifieth God on earth but man? Think you [not] (therefore) that the Lord hath not care of his people? Think you that there is a Seat upon earth, wherein he hath not hidden the might of his free power? Doth Satan get a Soul that he is not privy of? Believe, O you of little Faith, for it is the power of God, it is the Key of the whole world, which is the Key of mans conſcience: If he lock not the door, but depart and leave it open: Wo be to that Soul, for the Prince of darkneſſe entreth, and is poſſeſſed to the eternal wo of his dwelling place. If, therefore the earth be a Cave unto him that made it, (as appeareth by his Prophets, and by the Son of God) What are you? Or how empty are you? When you think it is in vain, that the Lord hath appeared unto you.

Faſting, miſliked of the Devil.

Δ. * Fortitudinem prævaleſcentem: Hæc enim Etymologia nominis ejus eſt.

Blaſphemies.

A puniſhment of further and longer time yet of God his moſt mercifull viſiting of us.

Dealing with Devils.

The Devils Sophiſtry.

Faith.

Faith is the Key of mans conſcience.

The Devil is the picklock.

E.K. Very vehemently ſpoke.

But in you two is figured the time to come: For many ſhall cleave unto the Lord, even at the firſt call: And many ſhall doubt of the Lord, and not believe him for a ſeaſon. But as you two ſhall dwell in one Center, (if you (yet) do look forward, and ſtep right) So ſhall the face of the whole earth be, for 800. one hundred and fifty years.

(For, the fruit of Paradiſe ſhall appear, that nothing may be on earth without comfort.

For, lo, the firſt ſhall be laſt,) and it ſhall be a Kingdom without corruption.

Now, now, hath the Serpent wallowed his fill.

Now, Now, are all things in the pride of their wickedneſſe.

Now, now, is the Heir ready, moſt like his father. But wo unto the earth through his government.

For, his Kingdom ſhall have an end with miſery. And theſe are the latter dayes. And this is the laſt Propheſie of the World.

Now, now, ſhall one King riſe up againſt another: And there ſhall be blond ſhed throughout all the World: fighting between the Devil his Kingdom, and the Kingdom of light.

Contentions and quarrels on the earth between man and man, father and ſon, wife and husband, Kingdom and Kingdom; yea, even in the very beaſts of the field ſhall there be hatred: And into them ſhall the ſpirits of Contention enter.

For, now cometh the neceſſity of things.

A figure of the time to come.

Vide lib. 19. Praga, 27. Aug.

Unum ovile, 950 years.

V. de Apocalyp. cap. 20.

Paradiſe.

Paradiſe was firſt made, and laſt to be enjoyed.

Regnum Dei mille annorum de quo cap. 20. Apocalypſ.

Δ. Antichriſtus. Dies noviſſimi iſti ſunt.

The laſt Propheſie.

Bella & Contentiones

Neceſſity of things, vide Poſt.

E. K. He now kneeleth down.

Gab...... As for you, thus ſayeth the Lord.

I have choſen you, to enter into my barns: And have commanded you to open the Corn, that the ſcattered may appear, and that which remaineth in the ſheaf may ſtand. And have entered into the firſt, and ſo into the ſeventh. And have delivered unto you the Teſtimony of my ſpirit to come.

For, my Barn hath been long without Threſhers. And I have kept my flayles for a long time hid in unknown places: Which flayle is the Doctrine that I deliver unto you: Which is the Inſtrument of thraſhing, wherewith you ſhall beat the ſheafs, that the Corn which is ſcattered, and the reſt may be all one.

(But a word in the mean ſeaſon.)

If I be Maſter of the Barn, owner of the Corn, and deliverer of my flayle: If all be mine. (And unto you, there is nothing: for you are hirelings, whoſe reward is heaven.)

Then ſee, that you neither threſh, nor unbinde, untill I bid you, let it be ſufficient unto you: that you know my houſe, that you know the labour I will put you to: That I favour you ſo much as to entertain you the labourers within my Barn: For within it threſheth none without my conſent.

Election.

The twofold manner of this Doctrine.

The flayle for God his Barn.

Unum ovile futurum tam ovium jam ſub paſtore, quam diſperſarum, &c.

Note, bidding.

For,

Our uniting promiſed. Eſau & Jacob.

For, in you ſhall many people be bleſſed, and in you ſhall there be no diviſion: For Eſau and Jacob ſhall be joyned together; and their Kingdom ſhall be all one: For as the Sacrifice is, ſo muſt the Prieſts be.

A. L.

E. K. Now he kneeleth down again. Me thinketh, I hear them ſay, What ſhall become of Laskie?

E. K. And ſo the people ſay.

[Ask me no Queſtions: but hear, what I have to ſay.]

As thoſe that deſire to make a ſpeedy Dinner, and to entertain their gueſts, go ſuddenly out, and gather the dryeſt wood in the wood-pile: Not becauſe it is more wood than the other; but becauſe it is dry, and moſt apt for the ſpeedineſs of the kitchen. So, it is with me, ſaith the Lord.

A. L.

A. L. The apteſt in the world for ſome purpoſes of God. It † Joſue, cap. 5. & 6. Michael ille appareret &c.

For, I reſpect him not in that he is a man, but in reſpect of the manner of his minde and inward man, which I find in reſpect of my purpoſe, apteſt in the world: becauſe he naturally hateth the wicked, Therefore naturally I love him, of whom I ſay I ſwear, If he follow me (ſaith the Lord) I will be with him, as I was with my † Warrier at Hiericho: And I will be mighty with him in this world, and a lover of him for ever. But me thinketh he will be † proud. If you find me weak: know you, that I am not weak, of my ſelf; but your own weakneſs may be your confuſion. For I am a fire, and take hold of ſuch matter as I find apt.

† Pride of A.L. ſuſpected.

Deus ignis: nos autem, materia.

Neceſſity.

E. K. He kneeleth again.

1. I have now told you (my Brethren) of, and of the manner of the power of God.
2. Of the nature of Hell, and of her wickedneſſe.
3. Of the courſe of the World, and of the neceſſity of things.
4. Of your election, and of the end thereof.
5. Of Laskie, and why he is elected.
6. Now I am laſtly to perſwade you, by the power of God, that you make your ſelves apt and meet matter: and that you may ſtand before the Lord as acceptable: which you ſhall perform if you intend your former Leſſons. The ground whereof is Humility and Perſeverance, which becauſe they have been often ſpoken of, I paſſe with referring you to the conſideration thereof.

Note. Apt and meet matter. Humility. Perſeverance. A great Caveat.

Giving you one warning, That this Action ſhall never come to paſſe, until there be no remembrance of wickedneſſe, or hell, left amongſt you: and yet, after, for a time, you muſt have patience. For, your offices are above a Kingdom. Hinder not the Lord in his expeditions. Remember he hath commanded you to go to the Emperour. Happy is he, that cometh when he is bid Go. And fooliſh is he, that goeth not, when he is bidden.]

We muſt go to the Emperour.

There, uſe thy ſelf: for it ſhall be a key of thy habitation: And for that place, is the Angel of thy Creation ſealed. Love together: Be humble and continue to the end.

The place for which my Angel of Creation is ſealed.

△. Deo noſtro immortali, inviſibili, omnipotenti, & Patri miſericordiarum, ejuſque filio Redemptori noſtro, & Deo Spiritui Sancto, ſit omnis laus, gloria & gratiarum actio.

Amen.

△. I underſtand as yet, either the Emperours Court, or Prage, &c.

Monday, † Cracoviæ † 4. Junii, Mane, hora 8.

Orationem dominicam genibus flexis recitavi, variaſque juxta propoſitam materiam ejaculationes habui, variaſque inter nos collationes, conſiderationeſque ultimorum verborum ipſius Gabrielis, &c. After almoſt an hour after our ſitting to the Action, he appeared.

E. K. Gabriel is here again in his Chair, and his dart upright in his hand, his dart is like a flame or ſtaff of fire.

△. Bleſſed be God.

△. After his appearing, he ſtayed almoſt a quarter of an hour before he began.

Gab. …… As God in his eſſential being, is a Spirit, without demonſtration, ſo are his profound providences, works, and determinations, unable to be meaſured.

[E. K. He maketh curſie: but nothing appeareth in the Stone.]

Gabr. …… Hereby may you find, that the love of God towards you (O wretches and ſinners) is more than a love: and more than can be meaſured, which was the cauſe, that with his own finger, (delighting in the ſons of Jacob, ) he ſealed this ſaying; yea with his own finger, this ſhew and ſign of his excellent, and more than, love toward his people.

God his jealouſie.

Exod. 20. 2.

Deut. 5. 2.

I am a jealous God; which is as much to ſay, Lo, I am your friend: nay, rather your father, and more than that, your God: which delighteth in you, rejoyceth in you, and loveth you with that affection [Jealouſie] which is more than love: which is as much to ſay, as my love is ſuch toward you, as I am to my ſelf. But, O ye ſtiff-necked Jews, O ye Strumpets, you deſpiſed the love of God, you committed adultery, and ran into the Temples of Idols: which was the cauſe, that the ſame mouth, that praiſed you before,

[E. K. He maketh curſie often.]

Said

.... *Saith the Lord unto you; It repenteth me that I made this people. Let me raze them out, and make a people of * them. This Idolatry was the cauſe, from time to time, that you became Captives, and of Inheritours, Runnagates, and without a Maſter. Unto you alſo, thus ſaith the Lord (not you my Brethren, I ſay that are here) More than the love of a father is, is the love of God toward you: For, unto which of the Gentiles, hath the Lord ſhewed himſelf? Where dwelt they, or where have they dwelled*, into whoſe houſes have the Angels of the Lord deſcended, ſaying, thus and thus, doth the God of Heaven and earth mean to deale with the World.

* To [illegible] [illegible] B. Deut. 9. C. The Jews.

The unmeaſurable love of God toward us [illegible] L. Δ. E.K.

Think you not, that this is more than love? Look therefore narrowly into your ſelves: Uncover the doings of your life, and ſecret Chambers: Enter into judgement with your ſelves. Unto thee I ſpeak [To E. K.] Haſt thou not run aſtray from the Lord, and committed Idolatry?

Exhortation to penance and amendment of life.

Δ. He told E. K. of his faults, which E. K. would not expreſſe to me, and I deſired him to liſten to them, and to do as it appertaineth to a Chriſtian, &c.

Gab. ...... But thus ſaith the Lord, I am a pure Spirit that participateth not with the defiled: neither can I enter in mercy into that houſe which is defiled. A great ſaying, my Brethren: For hereby you are moniſhed to make your conſciences clean, to open your ſelves in pureneſs, to the Lord, that he may enter into you with comfort. For, ſo long as thou dealeſt with wicked ſpirits, will the Lord keep back his hands: and thou keepeſt back the Lord. For ſhall it not be ſaid hereafter? Lo, is not this man known to have dealing with the wicked? And (as the fooliſh voices of the people are) Is not this he that can conſtrain the wicked? with further arguments, by repetition of thy doings. Well, if thou wilt be the Miniſter of God; If thou wilt go forward in his works; If thou wilt ſee the happy times that are to come, thou muſt abſtain from evil, and thou muſt ſweep thy houſe clean: Thou muſt put on thy beſt garments, And muſt become humble and meek. Let not thy life be a ſcandal to the will of the Lord, and to the greatneſſe of his works: For the power that is within thy ſoul (in reſpect of his *eſſential quid,) is of great force and ability to perform thoſe things that proceed with power: which is the cauſe that the wicked ones obey thee; for they fear themſelves, when they ſee the ſeal of thy Creation.

God.

The Lord kept back.

The chief Leſſon.

The eſſential Characteriſation of E.K. his ſoul, and ſo the cauſe of his election.

This is therefore the Cauſe, that God finding thee (as he paſſeth by, by his Angel) fit in matter, but, my brother (God knoweth) far unfit in life. O Conſider the dignity of thy Creation; Conſider that the affection of God toward thee, is more than love. See how he beareth with thy infirmity, from time to time. O, I ſay, (yet) Enter into judgement with thy ſelf: And conſider, that thou art now at a Turning where there lieth two wayes: One ſhall be to thy comfort, The other to thy perpetual wo. Let not good ground bring forth weeds, leſt it choke her ſelf.

Alter ſive. Of God his finding thee fit in matter, unfit in life.

Δ. We will call unto God for his mercies, graces, and help, &c.

O, conſider, my brother that the appearing and works of the devil are but of neceſſity. That is to ſay, that he that is good, by reſiſting of the devil may manifeſt and make plain to the powers and ſpirits of Heaven, the ſtrength of his faith, and aſſurance of his Hope: and ſo, neceſſarily, by the promiſe of God, inherit everlaſting life, to the which he is elected. To the wicked, that becauſe of their diſobedience and partaking with them, that are the Angels of darkneſſe, (even thoſe that ſtrive againſt the Lord) they might worthily be damned: according to the neceſſity of God his judgement. See, therefore they appeare unto thee, either for the greatneſs of thy wickedneſs, or elſe becauſe they ſuſpect thee to be elected. If thou, therefore think thy ſelf elected, deſpiſe them; If thou therefore think to be a ſpirit dignified, and in glory, Then be faithful in the aſſurance of hope, and reſiſt the devil: that we may teſtifie thee, before the heavens, and before the God of juſtice.

The neceſſity of the Devils doings. 1 either with good men 2 or with evil men.

Teſtification Angelical of E.K. his Converſion.

E. K. He weepeth.

Δ. E. K. and I alſo could not hold our teares.

Ah, my brother, great are the joyes of Heaven. Remember what Hell is; for to thee the * Fornace was open: Remember the viſion thou hadſt of hell, and of her powers, at Mortlake. For nothing (my brother) is done without a cauſe. Remember thou couldſt not abide it: No not to ſee :: Think thy ſelf accurſed (therefore) if thou feel it: For, if Sodom had ſeen it, they would have been converted.

* An. 1582. Novembris 20. at Mortlake.

E. K. He prayeth.

1. I have now told you of the Jealouſie of God, and of the cauſe thereof.
2. I have alſo told you that the houſe of God muſt be clean, and without ſpot.

[E. K. Now there cometh a brightneſſe about him.]

3. Laſtly, I have told you, of that neceſſity which cauſeth the devils to work, and appear: and have exhorted you to the love of God and repentance, which were the things I onely had to ſpeak of.

Δ. O Lord, ſeeing we are uniformly deſirous that the Action may proceed, and that we crave thy mercy and graces, as well for the pardoning of our wickedneſs paſt, as for the confirmation of us in thy ſervice, What ſhall we look for touching the proceeding, being thus ſtayed to our great grief?

Gabr. ...... You have to receive the will of God (but what it is, I know not) thoſe three dayes,

before

Vide Maii, 28.

before you begin your Journey. And you are alſo, to learn, what the Angel is, and how many Subjects he hath.

Δ. Which Angel?

Hyle.

Gab. ...... That governeth Hyleich : which is the matter of the 4 Elements: And which onely is an Element. The Princes and Governours alſo of the 4 Elements, (and of their Generation, how they receive mixtion, and in what quantity) With their Miniſters that are under them.

Δ. I ſaid to E K. Theſe ſhall be part of your practice and portion.

[Gab ..... You are all to joyn joyntly in the Harveſt of the Lord] The Angels alſo of the † 45 Angels of the heavens, and their Miniſters: For they are theſe, that have the thunders and the windes at Commandment. Theſe make up the time, and then, cometh the Harveſt.

† For ſeven degrees & a half to every angle.
Thunders.
Windes.
The full time.

E. K. He is gone.

Δ. Non nobis Domine, non nobis, ſed nomini tuo da gloriam. Tu enim Altiſſimus, Omnipotens, ſempiternus, vivus, & verus Deus noſter es: unus & Trinus: Cui Angelicus cæleſtiſque chorus decantat perpetuò, Sanctus, Sanctus, Sanctus, Dominus Deus Zebaoth. Amen.

Friday, Cracoviæ, Junii 8. Mane hora 7½.

NOTA.

Poſt preces, & ejaculationes varias & gratiarum actiones pro magna miſericordia Dei, erga nos & propter E. K. qui jam patefecit mihi horrenda & multiplicia hereſium, & blaſphemiarum dogmata, quibus illi hoſtes Jeſu Chriſti illum imbuerant, & quòd jam (confeſſione præmiſſa) vellet ſacroſanctum myſterium corporis & ſanguinis Chriſti recipere, illiſque malis Angelis renunciare, & omnes illorum fraudes detegere, &c.

Converſio E. K. ad Deum, abdicatis omnibus Diabolicis experimentis, &c. } Nihil apparuit hodie.

† Unaccuſtomed abſence and ſilence.

Albeit the like had never happened to us, (that I remember:) but that either Cloud, Vail, or ſome Voice was perceived by E. K. Yet this † doing we not onely took patiently; but E. K. uſed many good reaſons to prove, that ſervants ought to attend ſo long, as it pleaſed their Maſter to have them await his coming to any place, to them.

And that, about our own affairs we are contented to uſe patience for a long time, but to await the Lord his coming or meſſage, is a time better ſpent, than in any humane affairs, &c.

He very plainly, and at large made manifeſt his converſion to God from the practices with wicked ſpirits: Yea, that he was ready to burn whatſoever he had of their traſh and experiments. That he would write in a book the manifold horrible Doctrine of theirs, whereby they would have perſwaded him

..... That Jeſus was not God.
..... That no prayer ought to be made to Jeſus.
..... That there is no ſin.
..... That mans ſoul doth go from one body, to another childes quickening or animation.
..... That as many men and women as are now, have alwayes been: That is, ſo many humane bodies, and humane ſouls, neither more nor leſſe, as are now, have alwayes been.
..... That the generation of mankind from Adam and Eve, is not an Hiſtory, but a writing which hath an other ſenſe.
..... No Holy Ghoſt they acknowledged.
..... They would not ſuffer him to pray to Jeſus Chriſt; but would rebuke him, ſaying, that he robbed God of his honour, &c.

And ſo of very many other moſt blaſphemous Articles and Points of Doctrine, whereof more ſhall be ſpoken in another place.

This forbearings of our Inſtructors preſence, I did expound or conjecture to be done greatly for the honour of God, many wayes, if the ſame were recorded ſomewhat near to the very manner of the thing as it was: for ſo, ſhould appear to the poſterity, how truely it had been ſaid before, that he ſhould be converted to God: How truely God did prepare E. K. his ſoul to be a veſſel cleanſed, and ſo made apt for his viſiting of him, in mercy and comfort.

The matter made apt.

whereby the life of E. K. (now being amended, and his dealing with the wicked clean left off) ſhould not be a ſcandal to the will of the Lord, and to the greatneſs of his works: as was noted unto us in the laſt Action.

Δ We left off hora 11.

Alſo I ſaid, that not onely his Converſion recorded ſhould be a more evident argument of his ſo oft repeated Election: But his patient attending this preſent day, ([Δ] two hours and a half, and taking all things in ſuch ſort as became an humble and patient ſervant,) will be a more ſure and evident argument that it was no light pang, ſuch as he hath made outward ſhew

of

of diverſe times before, but a very harty and ſincere converſion, ſuch as without all doubt, will be found very acceptable to the higheſt.

Moreover, he declared that about nine, or ten dayes paſt, he did intend to have gotten away ſecretly by the help ſpiritual of thoſe, with whom he had ſo long dealt: And therefore that till now, he dealt hypocritically.

But, whereas they to fore were ever accuſtomed to threaten him Beggery, (a thing which he moſt hated and feared.)

That now he careth not if he ſhould have want; yea, he took it neither to be ſhame, or ſin to beg: and that he now made more account of God his favour and life eternal, then he doth of all tranſitory wealth and riches, and to be entangled within the danger of theſe wicked ſpirits their ſnares, with all.

Alſo he now perceived his great errour wherein he was of late, when he would for an aſſured temporal maintenance have forſaken the dealing with the wicked, and ſo more willingly would have followed theſe actions without repining: Saying now, that he is no perfect Chriſtian, who for money muſt be hired to forſake the Devil and his works, &c.

And as for the iſſue of theſe actions he would never either doubt, or miſlike, howſoever they fell out; aſſuring himſelf: That God would do all things beſt, and for his honour, &c. Many other his ſayings very gladly I omit, thinking theſe ſufficient here.

Δ. O Almighty, eternal, and moſt mercifull God, we thank, glorifie, and praiſe thee; O bleſſed, and moſt glorious Trinity, we will for ever Magnifie thy unſpeakable providence, Converſion. favour, Election, and Converſion unto thee.

O Bleſſed Jeſu, we will for ever extol thy loving kindneſſe, and long ſuffering toward us, and thy Triumphant proceeding againſt Satan and his Miniſters, for thy Elect ſake.

O holy Ghoſt, the directer into all truth, and comforter of thy Elect, confirm, and eſtabliſh our Confirmation hearts with thy gracious, and continual zeal, and love of truth, purity of life, Charitable prayed for. humility, and conſtant patience to thy well-pleaſing untill the end: That after this life (through the mercy of the father, and Merits of our Lord Jeſus Chriſt, and thy charitable embracing of us,) we may for ever enjoy the heavenly Kingdom, among the bleſſed Angels, and all the dignified company of mankind. Amen. Amen. Amen.

Munday, Junii 11. Mane hora 7¼. Cracoviæ.

Δ. After our prayers due, and thanks to the Almighty for his great mercies and power ſhewed in the converſion of E. K. we ſtayed ſtill attending ſome ſhew, as we were accuſtomed to receive: and among divers our ſhort diſcourſes of our faith, hope, patience, conſtancy, humility, and other our duties requiſite in this action, and in the ſervice of God: E. K. of himſelf ſaid theſe ſentences worthy to be recorded, as the evident token of his ſound and faithfull turning, and intent to cleave unto the Lord.

1. E. K. I acknowledge my ſins have deſerved, that this ſeven years I ſhould have no ſhew, or ſight of his good Creatures.

2. E. K. If I ſhould ſit thus for ſeven years, attending the pleaſure of God, I would be contented.

3. E. K. I repent me nothing of that I have done, in forſaking thoſe I was wont to have to do withall, &c.

E. K. In the ſtone nothing appeared all this while of our ſitting here.

Δ. Nihil viſible apparuit in Chryſtallo ſacrato; præter ipſius Chryſtalli viſibilem formam: ut E. K. dixit.

Δ. Hora 11. we left off, ſo we attended 3. hours and 3. quarters.

Δ. I will affirm nothing in this caſe, but this my conjecture may be ecorded: The cauſe of the non-appearance the laſt Friday, and now this Mounday may be his;

1. That, as we loſt and refuſed three dayes aſſigned by our inſtructours, to finiſh all in; The Juſtice o now we ſhall call, and requeſt three dayes, and have nothing: as, theſe two dayes it hath of God. ll'n out: and it is poſſible, one day more we ſhall have the like non-appearance.

Or elſe.

2. According to the premiſſes; Onely, three dayes before our journey ſhall be begun, Vide ſup. e ſhall have that delivered us, which in the three laſt dayes we ſhould have received, &c.

Or elſe.

The converſion of E. K. [illegible] made manifeſt.

3. That great Caveat before noted, (on Saturday Junii 2. laſt paſt) may have ſome fore-warning of this our patience to be uſed, after our Converſion unto God : The words then recorded are theſe:

> This Action ſhall never come to paſſe, untill there be no remembrance of wickedneſſe, or Hell left amongſt you : And yet, after, for a time you muſt have patience. For, your Offices are above a Kingdom.

To conclude ; whatſoever, with God, is known and uſed as the true cauſe, we are contented : Nothing doubting of the goodneſſe, and wiſdom , and power of God to perform his promiſes and Covenant made to, and with us, for our ſervices to be uſed to his honour and glory.

Moſt willingly , and patiently we will attend the will and pleaſure of the higheſt herein. Intending hence forward (by the help of God) not to give our ſelves over unto, nor eaſily to be inveigled, or allured of the temptations of the world, the fleſh, or Devil.

For which our diſpoſition of minde, and all other benefits received from above , we render moſt humble, harty, and entire thanks to the Almighty, moſt glorious , and bleſſed Trinity. Amen, Amen, Amen.

Munday, Junii 18. Mane, hora 8. Cracoviæ.

Δ. After the Lords prayer, and ſome other peculiar prayers and thankſ-giving, for the exceeding great mercies ſhewed in the Converting and Reforming of E. K. & my promiſing to record the Act thereof, as well as God ſhould give me grace : and alſo craving earneſtly for comfort to be given to A. L. being ſomewhat oppreſſed with penſiveneſſe to ſee his own ſubjects, and ſervants to triumph againſt him in his low eſtate from high, and all for lack of money and wealth, &c.

Suddenly appeared a mighty long, and big arm and hand in the aire , to catch at the ſhew-ſtone : and E. K. meaning to ſave it from him, put his hand on the ſtone , and immediately the ſtone was out of the frame, we know not how, and lay by on the Cuſhion, &c.

Poſt mediam horam ab initio.

And then ſoon after appeared Gabriel, in all manner as he was wont, and on the right ſide of the ſtone (that is againſt E. K. his right hand) as he was wont.

Δ. Gloria Patri, & Filio, & Spiritui Sancto, ſicut erat in principio , & nunc, & ſemper, & in ſecula ſeculorum. Amen.

Gabr. ..... The comfort and peace of the Father, Son, and holy Ghoſt be amongſt you, quicken and confirm you.

Δ. Amen.

E. K. I pray you what was that, that would have ſnatcht the ſhew-ſtone ?

Gab...... Let his houſe come, that his iniquity may be ſeen.

This ſeemeth to be Grodno Caſtle in Littaw , where the King now is.

E. K. I ſee many houſes, and beſides them a fair Houſe, ſeparated by it ſelf , the Houſe is of ſtone and wood, and a ſquare thing in the end of it, like a Turret. The houſes of the Town are low wooden houſes, ſmall : There appear in that odd houſe fellows in red Coats , like Poland Coats. Now I ſee a bigge man ſitting within the houſe afore the window : and the houſe is hanged with Turkie Carpets , and there is wrought in one of the Carpets (juſt afore the door) a man on horſback, with a ſword in his hand : and the man is like the man I ſaw at Mortlack with a Wart on his cheek: There ſtand by him two boyes , they have red Coats on, one of them is a little fair boy : There ſtandeth a man by with a ſword, which he delivereth to him that ſitteth, and he looketh on it, being gilt and graven on it, and layeth it down on the Table.

The Arms of Littaw.

Δ: There ſeemeth to be Magical Characters. :

Gab...... This is a ſword , wherein he putteth his truſt, but it ſhall fail him.

E. K. Now

E. K. Now that man calleth the leſſer boy to him, and the boy thereupon runneth along a Gallery. Now that man with the Wart goeth out after, ſtrouting himſelf, and no body with him: Now he calleth that leſſer boy to him, and maketh ſigne to him, ſmiting one hand on another, and drawing it under his throat: as though he threatned the boy, unleſſe he kept ſecret. Now he cometh to a door and knocketh, and one like an Italian letteth him in. There he hath in the corner a frame of wood, and a great ſtone in the middle of it (of about 16 Inches ſquare) and there is a fire on that ſtone, on the middle of it. Now he taketh that engine, or frame with the fire between him, and that man (like an Italian) and carrieth it into another Chamber. There they have a dead mans hand. Now he taketh out of his Casket a black box of yern (as it ſhould ſeem by the blackneſſe of it) The box is about a foot long. Now he hath ſet down the box, and the ſame is open, and therein appeareth an image of wax of blackiſh colour, like ſhooemakers wax. There is one like an Angel, made of red ſtuffe, ſtanding at the head of the image, holding like a Skarf over the face of the image. The image is marvellouſly ſcratched and raſed, or very rudely made with knobs and dents in the legs of it.

Now he looketh four wayes: And ſpeaketh (the man with the Wart on his face.)

The man with the Wart invocateth.

The houſe aforementioned ſeemeth to ſtand without the ſtone, and beyond the ſtone.

Note, becauſe no wicked power can enter within this ſtone.

Now they poure bloud out of a Baſon upon the fire, and lay the hand upon it: and it frieth in the fire.

Now he, and the Italian-like man, have put on Apparel, black, like Gowns: each of them, and the engine ſeemeth now to be ſet in a Chimney.

Cloſe without any ſlit, but where their arms are put out.

Gab ..... Be it, as it was.

E. K. There be ſix ſmokes, like ſix men ſtanding about them: and they go like ſmokes out at a window, and there ſtandeth one like a Gyant man, and he taketh them, and windeth them up as they come out at the window. Now all that ſhew is vaniſhed away.

Δ. Fumi quaſi ſunt ſpiritus qui venerunt; vocati ante.

Gab. ..... This is the cauſe that Lasky is poor. This is the ſeventh image that he hath ſcraped ſo.

Δ. As it is the ſeventh, ſo (I truſt) it is the laſt.

Gab. ...... This is three years four moneths, and ten dayes, ſince they begun; ſo long hath the Angel of the Lord been ready, for thy ſafe-guard, (O Lasky) ſtanding at the window: and ready to binde up miſchief prepared againſt thee.

This miſchief ſhall light upon his own head.

But if thou remain my ſervant, and do the works that are righteous, I will put Solomon behinde thee, and his riches under thy feet.

Be therefore comforted in me: for the breath thou breatheſt is mine, and the body that thou dwelleſt in, is the work of my hands.

The earth from whence thou cameſt is mine alſo.

It is I, therefore, that caſt down, and none but I, that raiſe up again.

Δ. Ergo, An. 1581. 6. Februarii inceperunt die Lunæ.

The Angel ſtanding at the window, winding up the 6. ſmokes.

E. K. All the ſtone is become full of a ſmoke.

Gab. ..... Art thou ſure that the Sun ſhineth? [pointing to Δ.]

Δ. I am as much as my eye may judge.

Gab. ..... So ſure it is, that he ſhall reign: and be the King of Poland.

A. L.

Δ. Alwayes I underſtand a condition, if he do, &c.

Δ. The will of God be done, to his honour, and to the comfort of his Elect.

Gab. ...... Make haſte for your journey.

Δ. O Lord, the man is ready (in manner) but hability wanteth: and to ask thy help herein, we dare not, but as thy will is, ſo be it.

Gab. ..... To talk with God for money is a folly, to talk with God for mercy, is great wiſdom.

Δ. Lord, this mighty arm and hand, which here appeared, and would have ſnatched at the ſtone, what was it, and who ſent it?

Gab. ..... It is a wicked power, which the Kings Enchanters have ſent amongſt you, but he hath his reward for returning.

Δ. What was his intent, I beſeech you? and I marvel that his Enchanters were able to detect any of our doings to the King.

Gab ..... The King knoweth not your doings.

Δ. I beſeech you, as concerning the 48 leaves, being commanded to be bound, and to be ſilvered; what, if I cauſed ſeven white leaves to be bound before, and ſeven behinde, for the more aptneſſe for the binding?

Note.

Gab. ..... Uſe thine own judgement. God will appear no more unto you, untill you take your journey.

Δ. We believe, The Lord will perform his promiſes.

Gab. ..... According to your faith be it unto you.

The white Curtain.

E. K. Now he hath pulled a white Curtain about the ſtone, and the ſtone is dark.

Δ. Semper laudetur qui Trinus & unus eſt, Omnipotens & ſempiternus. Amen.

Wedneſday, Junii 20. à Meridie. 1584. Cracoviæ.

Δ. It is firſt to be noted, that this morning (early) to E. K. lying in his bed, and awake, appeared a Viſion, in manner as followeth: One ſtanding by his beds head, who patted him on the head gently, to make him the more vigilant. He ſeemed to be cloathed with feathers, ſtrangely wreathed about him all over, &c.

There appeared to him [E. K.] four very fair Caſtles, ſtanding in the four parts of the world: out of which he heard the ſound of a Trumpet. Then ſeemed out of every Caſtle a cloath to be thrown on the ground, of more then the breadth of a Table-cloath.

Out of that in the Eaſt, the cloath ſeemed to be red, which was caſt.

Out of that in the South, the cloath ſeemed white.

Out of that in the Weſt, the cloath ſeemed green, with great knops on it.

Out of that in the North, ſpread, or thrown out from the gate under foot, the cloath ſeemed to be very black.

Out of every Gate then iſſued one Trumpeter, whoſe Trumpets were of ſtrange form, wreathed, and growing bigger and bigger toward the end.

After the Trumpeter followed three Enſign bearers.

After them ſix ancient men, with white beards and ſtaves in their hands.

Then followed a comely man, with very much Apparel on his back, his Robe having a long train.

After him came five men, carrying up of his train.

Then followed one great Croſſe, and about that four leſſer Croſſes.

These Croſſes ſeemed not to be on the ground, but in the aire in a white Cloud. The great Croſſe ſeemed to be of a Cloud, like the Rain-bow.

Theſe Croſſes had on them, each of them ten, like men, their faces diſtinctly appearing on the four parts of the Croſſe, all over.

After the Croſſes followed 16 white Creatures.

And after them, an infinite number ſeemed to iſſue, and to ſpread themſelves orderly in a compaſſe, almoſt before the four foreſaid Caſtles. Δ

Upon which Viſion declared unto me, I ſtraight way ſet down a Note of it; truſting in God that it did ſignifie good.

After noon, as E. K. ſat by me, he felt on his head ſome ſtrange moving: whereby he deemed that ſome ſpiritual Creature did viſit him; and as we were continuing together, and I had red to E. K. ſome rare matter out of Ignatius Epiſtles, Policarpus, and Martialis; ſome of the Sacrament, and ſome of the Croſſe, a voyce anſwered, and ſaid, That it is true, that the ſign of the Croſſe is of great force and vertue.

After this, the ſpiritual Creature ſeemed to E. K. to be very heavy on his right ſhoulder, as he ſat by me in my ſtudy: And as E. K. conſidered the numbers of ſuch as he had numbred to paſſe out of the four Gates, (it is to wit, 1 3.6.1.5.) The ſpiritual Creature ſaid, the number 16. is a perfect number, conſiſting of 1.3.6.1. and 5. He ſaid further more, God the father is a ſtanding Pillar.

Δ. Upon which word I asked him, if I ſhould write ſuch matter as he was to ſpeak. And he anſwered to E. K. at his right ear.

...... If thou wilt.

Δ. His voyce was much like unto a mans voyce, not baſe, nor hollow.

...... Divided with a ſtraight line, is one and two.

Δ. What is to be divided with a ſtraight line?

...... The Pillar.

Δ. In the name of Jeſus, who art thou?

...... The ſervant of God.

Δ. Art thou ſent from God, with good tydings or meſſage?

...... What I am he knoweth, of whom I bear witneſſe.

Δ. What is your name, either as you are notified among the bleſſed Angels, or called by of any mortal man? If you be of Verity, and ſo of Charity, you cannot miſlike my ſpeeches.

E. K. He ſayeth nothing.

Δ. Belike he is not ſent unto us by God: for if he were, he would do his meſſage.

...... I am AVE.

Δ. This AVE is one ex filiis filiorum, of whoſe order Rocle is, vide ſup. lib. 2. & 4.

Δ. If you be AVE, In the name of Jeſus, ſay, that all wicked Angels are juſtly condemned: and, that, by the mercy of God, in the merits of Chriſt, mankind, elect, is to be ſaved.

Ave. ...... *The * viſitation of God, is twofold:* [1.] In reſpect of his ſecret will and purpoſe: and in particularity. And in that he hath [2] ſealed us, with the good will of mankind to their comfort. But if I be a ſcandal to the word, then am I not of righteouſneſſe: But my righteouſneſſe is of the world: Therefore, That I viſit you of my ſelf, can be no offence. Thoſe that are, and die in wickedneſſe, are diſhonourable, and far from the mercies of God: For it is written, I am a God to the living. Therefore, do I diſhonour them: ſuch (I ſay) as are wicked.

* E. K. and I ſaid now in our talk togethe, That God would not viſit us but at the dayes of journey taking (as was laſt affirmed) Therefore whatſoever came before was to be doubted as an illuſion. He therefore anſwereth firſt our doubt, and then to my requeſt he maketh anſwer.

The mercies of God, (which is the true Manna) comforteth the comforted, and giveth hope of amendment, of ſuch as run aſtray, are ſinners, and may return: Therefore, I ſay, The mercies [of God] (which is the Fountain and ſweetneſſe of the love of God) is a thing moſt bleſſed, moſt holy, moſt to be deſired in Heaven and Earth, and of me, the creature and ſervant of God, to be reverently ſpoken of, and required: For, it is the food wherewith we live: even the very bread wherewith we are rejoyced. Thus much, thou haſt required.

Miſericordia Dei.

Δ. I did ſo: for ſo, is his Juſtice againſt the impenitent, and his mercies to his Elect teſtified truely.

Ave. ...... Have patience: I will return after a few moments.

Δ. Hereupon, (in the mean ſpace) we conſidered the premiſes: and liked very well of the ſcandal, or offence, avoiding: Becauſe it was laſtly (Junii 18) ſaid, God will appear no more to you, until you take your journey.

And ſecondly he anſwered my requeſt of God his Juſtice againſt the wicked Angels, and alſo of his mercies towards mankind.

Δ. About a quarter of an hour after, there ſeemed a thing to come again on E.K. his right ſhoulder: and (as before) he cauſed his ſhoulder to be very warm where it lighted on.

Note this manner of a thing felt warm on the right ſhoulder.

Δ. Benedictus qui venit in nomine Domini. Hallelujah.

E. K. Amen

Ave ...... The place is ſanctified.

Δ. Sanctus, Sanctus, Sanctus, eſt Dominus Deus Zebaoth.

Ave. ...... I, in the favour of God, conſidering (and by force of his ſecret love toward you) how Satan purpoſeth, yet, and daily to overcome you, thought good, (through the mercies of God) to prevent his malice, and the effect thereof.

Δ. O bleſſed, be thou, our God of mercies and all comfort.

Ave. ...... That, (although, yet, the Harveſt be not) the Vineyard might yeild ſome fruit: whereby God might be glorified, and you, (in deſpite of the world) revived and comforted, might rejoyce, and ſhake off the preſent cares to come. For if thoſe that be unworthy, can ſeem to be lifted up, and to enjoy the fruits of the Earth, by the Tempter: Much more ought the true ſervants of God, to feel his fatherly goodneſſe. Thoſe that truſt in me (ſaith the Lord) ſhall not be driven to deſpair; neither will I ſuffer the beaſt of the field to tread ſuch as I delight in under foot.

For the glory of God.

feet. The Earth is mine, and the glory thereof : The Heavens are mine alſo, and the Comforts that are in them. Why hath, (Therefore) the father of Darkneſſe, riſen up ſaying.

1. I will ſhut up the Earth from them ?

2. I will ſeal up the mindes of men : and they ſhall become barren towards them ?

3. Their miſeries ſhall be great, even unto death ?

The malice of Satan provoketh his own confusion when he thought to prevail. So God suffereth his to be proved that the faithful might be comforted, and the afflicter confounded.

For this cauſe : That he might waken the Lord, when he is aſleep : That thoſe that truſt in him, might be comforted. He hath ſealed the Earth from you, and I will open it unto you ; He hath ſaid, you ſhall be poor : But I ſay, you ſhall become exceeding rich.

1. I will bleſſe you with a twofold bleſſing : That the Earth may be open unto you (which at laſt, you ſhall contemn.

2. And that my bleſſing and laws may dwell amongſt you : wherein you ſhall rejoyce unto the end.

△. O bleſſed, bleſſed, bleſſed, God of power, goodneſſe, and wiſdom.

Governours of the Earth.

Ave. ...... This was the cauſe that I appeared to thee, E. K. this morning. Now therefore hearken unto me : for I will open unto you the ſecret knowledge of the Earth, that you may deal with her, by ſuch as govern her, at your pleaſure ; and call her to a reckoning, as a Steward doth the ſervants of his Lord.

I expound the Viſion.

4 Angeli Terræ.

The 4 houſes, are the 4 Angels of the Earth, which are the 4 Overſeers, and Watch-towers, that the eternal God in his providence hath placed, againſt the uſurping blaſphemy, miſuſe, and ſtealth of the wicked and great enemy, the Devil. To the intent that being put out to the Earth, his envious will might be bridled, the determinations of God fulfilled, and his creatures kept and preſerved, within the compaſſe and meaſure of order.

What Satan doth, they ſuffer ; And what they wink at, he wraſteth : But when he thinketh himſelf moſt aſſured, then feeleth he the bit.

I King.

5 Princes.

In each of theſe Houſes, the Chief Watchman, is a mighty Prince, a mighty Angel of the Lord : which hath under him 5 Princes (theſe names I muſt uſe for your inſtruction. The ſeals and authorities of theſe Houſes, are confirmed in the beginning of the World. Unto every one of them, be 4 characters, (Tokens of the preſence of the ſon of God : by whom all things were made in Creation.)

Enſignes, upon the Image whereof, is death : whereon the Redemption of mankind is eſtabliſhed, and with the which he ſhall come to judge the Earth.

4 Angels.

Theſe are the Characters, and natural marks of holineſſe. Unto theſe, belong four Angels ſeverally.

The 24 Seniors in the Apocalyps.

The 24 old men, are the 24 Seniors, that St. John remembreth.

Theſe judge the government of the Caſtles, and fullfil the will of God, as it is written.

The 12 names of God.

The 12 Banners are the 12 names of God, that govern all the creatures upon the Earth, viſible and inviſible, comprehending 3, 4, and 5.

The Angels of the thirty Aires ſupra.

Out of theſe Croſſes, come the Angels of all the Aires : which preſently give obedience to the will of men, when they ſee them.

Hereby may you ſubvert whole Countries without Armies : which you muſt, and ſhall do, for the glory of God.

By theſe you ſhall get the favour of all the Princes, whom you take pity of, or wiſh well unto.

The uſe in practice.

Hereby ſhall you know the ſecret Treaſures of the waters, and unknown Caves of the Earth.

And it ſhall be a Doctrine, for you onely, the inſtrument of the World.

The higher inſtructions.

For, the reſt of your Inſtructions, are touching the Heavens, and the time to come : of the which, this is the laſt and extream knowledge.

This will I deliver unto you, (becauſe I have yeilded you before the Lord.)

On Monday next 25 Junii.

Upon Monday next, I will appear unto you : and ſhall be a Leſſon of a few dayes.

E. K. The will of God be done.

△. Amen.

Ave. ...... In the mean ſeaſon, deſire you of God, ſuch things, as are neceſſary for you.

A bleſſing.

He that filleth all things, and from whom all things live, and in, and through whom, they are ſanctified, bleſſe you, and confirm you in peace.

△. Amen.

△. I beſeech you, to Notifie this mornings Viſion, by words : as all other holy Prophets have recorded theirs.

Ave. ..... A Vi-

Ave. ...... A Viſion.

The ſign of the love of God toward his faithful. Four ſumptuous and belligerant Caſtles, out of the which ſounded Trumpets thrice.

The ſign of Majeſty, the Cloth of paſſage, was caſt forth.

In the Eaſt, the cloth red; after the new ſmitten blood. Red.

In the South, the cloth white, Lilly-colour. White.

In the Weſt a cloth, the skins of many Dragons, green: garlick-bladed. Green.

In the North, the cloth, Hair-coloured, Bilbery juyce. The Trumpets ſound once. The Gates open. The four Caſtles are moved. There iſſueth 4 Trumpeters, whoſe Trumpets are a Pyramis, ſix cones, wreathed. There followeth out of every Caſtle 3, holding up their Banners diſplayed, with enſigne, the names of God. There follow Seniors ſix, alike from the 4 Gates: After them cometh from every part a King: whoſe Princes are five, gardant, and holding up his train. Next iſſueth the Croſſe of 4 Angles, of the Majeſty of Creation in God attended *upon every one, with 4: a white Cloud, 4 Croſſes, bearing the witneſſes of the Covenant of God, with the * Prince gone out before: which were confirmed, every one,* with ten Angels, viſible in countenance: After every Croſſe, attendeth 16 Angels, diſpoſitors of the will of thoſe, that govern the Caſtles. They proceed. And, in, and about the middle of the Court, the Enſigns keep their ſtandings, oppoſite to the middle of the Gate: The reſt pauſe. The 24 Senators meet: They ſeem to conſult. Black. * King. 40. Angels, on the 4 Croſſes, attending on the principal † 16 Angels.

I, AVE, STOOD BY THE SEER:

It vaniſheth.

So I leave you.

Δ. Omnium bonorum largitori, Omnipotenti Deo, ſit æterna laus, gratiarum actio, honor omnis, & Jubilatio. Amen.

Junii, 22, 23. Note.

On Friday, and eſpecially Saturday, E. K. had great Temptations not to credit this Action, and was ſaid unto by a voice, how our Inſtructors would uſe cavillation of our diſordered life, to forſake us, and not to perform, according to our expectation of the former promiſes to be performed by them.

A voice ſaid, likewiſe, to him, that A. L. ſhould not go to the Emperours Court, for lack of money: for he ſhould get none here. Likewiſe, it willed him to go up into his Study and he would ſhew him all the effect of our Inſtructions received. E. K. complained to me how he was thus greivouſly moleſted by ſuch means, and almoſt brought in deſpair. But I comforted him as well as I could (my ſelf being inwardly, moſt ſorrowful) and made my moane to God by prayer when I was alone: for him, and our Cauſe. Moreover he could not be perſwaded by me that good Angels would undertake to help us to any relief by money or treaſure: affirming that it appertained to the wicked ones: ſeeing they were the Lords of this World; and the kingdom of God was not of this World, &c. .... Said, that the wicked were in the world, and of the world: but the Elect were in the world, but not of the World.

Si de Mundo eſſetis, Mundus quod ſuum eſt diligeret: quia vero de mundo non eſtis ſed ego elegi vos de mundo, propterea odit vos mundus. Joan. cap. 15. C

Ergo dedi eis ſermonem tuum, & mundus eos odio habuit, quia non ſunt de mundo, ſicut & ego non ſum de mundo. Non rogo ut tollas eos de mundo, ſed ut ſerves eos à malo. De mundo non ſunt: ſicut & ego non ſum de mundo, &c. Joan. cap. 17. C

To be of the world, was to be in love with the trade of the vanities of this world, and to follow them: And that money and riches were things indifferent: good, if they were well uſed; and evil, if they were evilly uſed: And that, Bonis omnia cooperabantur ad bonum; Therefore the godly (as the Patriarchs and many now adayes) might have money; but to uſe, not abuſe it: and that ſuch is our caſe and neceſſary requeſt to God, &c.

Sunday, Cracoviæ, Junii 24. à Meridie horam circiter tertiam.

Δ. Note, while at my lodging (by Saint Stephens) I was writing the Note, (on the page going next before) of the Tentations of Friday and Saterday: E. K. was at my Lord A. L. his lodging (at the Franciſcan Fryars, where he lay at Phyſick) and at the ſame time, this happened, as followeth;

As my Lord A. L. and E. K. ſate together, conferring and conſulting of our affairs, of Gods mercies, and of ſundry tentations of the ſpiritual enemy, and afterward, as the Lord A. L. was reading Roſenſis pſalm. de Fiducia in Deum, ſuddenly, upon E. K. his right ſhoulder, did a heavy thing ſeem to ſit, or reſt, whereof he told the Lord A. L. And afterward was this voyce uttered by that Creature in Latine.

Lasky, veniet tempus, cum tu portabis verſum ſedecimum, illius Pſalmi undecimi, in vexillo tuo, & vinces inimicos tuos.

Then A. L ſought in Davids Pſalter for the eleventh Pſalm, and ſixteenth verſe thereof: and while he was ſo about that Pſalm, The voyce ſaid that he meant not that Pſalm of David, but the eleventh Pſalm of Roffenſis: which Pſalm the Lord A. L. was then in reading to E. K. and was about the verſe, Hic labor ac dolor, &c. being the ſixth verſe.

By and by after, the voyce ſaid in Engliſh.

—— Truſt thou in God.

Hereupon the Lord A. L. did read forth that Pſalm of Roffenſis, and when he came to the ſixteenth verſe thereof, being Si ambulavero in medio tribulationis, me cuſtodies adverſus inimicos tu . . .

Manum tuam extendes, & dextera tua me ſalvabis.

Thereupon the voyce ſaid: Put to the firſt line of the next verſe: And that was Domine tu omnia pro me perficies.

And as he would have read further, the voyce willed him to ſtay at thoſe words, and ſaid as followeth:

Vide Anno 1585. Junii 12 Cracoviæ.

—— I ſwear unto thee by the true and living God, that this ſhall come to paſſe.

Then E. K. ſaid unto the Creature: In the name of God, Who art thou? And he anſwered in Latin, and ſaid, Ego Sum A V E, cras plura audietis.

Δ. Gloria, laus, honor & gratiarum actio perennis ſit Deo Noſtro, omnipotenti & Miſericordi. Amen.

Munday 25. Junii, Mane hora 7. Cracoviæ.

Δ. Orationem Dominicam pronunciavimus, & aliquot alias oratiunculas ex Pſalmis, &c. After we had ſit awhile together conferring of Ave his Viſion, &c.

Ave. A voyce ſaid, bring up the ſhew-ſtone.

Δ. I had ſet it down on the Table, behinde the Cuſhion with the Croſſes, for I had furniſhed the Table with the Cloath, Candles, &c. as of late I was wont: Hereupon I ſet up the ſtone on the Cuſhion.

E. K. There appeareth in the ſtone, like a white Curtain all over the ſtone: After awhile it was drawn, and layed on the back-ſide of the ſtone, on a heap together.

Δ. Ave. Now here ſtandeth one in a white Garment, with a white Cerclet about his head like a white ſmock, I remember not that ever I ſaw this Creature before, his Garment is tucked up.

Δ. Ave. ...... Who is he that is rich?

Δ. The Lord of all.

† Four. ...... He it is that openeth the † ſtore-houſes, not ſuch as fly away with the winde, but ſuch as are pure, and without end.

Δ. Bleſſed be his name for ever.

...... To the pure in ſpirit, and ſuch as he delighteth in. Amen.

Δ. Da verbum tuum in ore me, & ſapientiam tuam in corde meo, fige.

Dixit Dominus, Invoca nomen meum, & mittam vobis verbum quo fabricavi terram, & reſponſum dabit de ſe, & teſtimonium dabit de ſe, ut in teſtimonio vincat malos.

E. K. Now is there fire come, and hath conſumed this Creature all to pieces, and he is fall'n down to aſhes.

Δ. Quaſi figura de terra renovanda.

Now he riſeth up, and he is brighter then he was before.

...... So doth the glory of God comfort the juſt, and they riſe again with a threefold glorie.

Δ. A place was made.

E. K. Now he ſpreadeth the aire, or openeth it before him, and there appeareth before him a ſquare Table.

Now

Now he taketh off the Table a black Carpet.

The Table of the Earth.

Now he taketh off a green Carpet.

Now he taketh off a white Carpet.

Now he taketh off a red Cloath.

△ He taketh off the coloured cloaths in due order, reſpecting the four parts of the World.

And now the Table appeareth to be made of earth, as Potters Clay, very raw earth.

E. K. The Table hath four feet, of which two touch the ground, and two do not: The feet ſeem alſo to be of the earth. The Table is ſquare.

E. K. On the left corner (fartheſt from E. K.) did a T appear on the Table: Out of the top of this T do four beams iſſue of clear collour bright.

...... That part [pointing to that T*] of the Table of the earth of thoſe that govern the earth: that is are governed by the ſeven Angels that are governed by the ſeven that ſtand before God, that are governed by the living God, which is found in the Seal of the living God, (Tau with the four) which ſignifie the four powers of* God principal in earth, &c.

...... Move not, for the place is holy, and become holy.

...... I ſaid not ſo, he ſaid it, that beareth witneſſe of himſelf. Unto this, obey the other three Angels of the Table.

E. K. On the other farther corner of the Table (on E. K. his right hand) is a Croſſe like an Alphabet Croſſe.

This Croſſe, and the other T do ſeem to lye upon the Table, in a dim dunniſh, or a sky colour. All the Table over ſeemeth to be ſcribled and raſed with new lines.

...... The earth is the laſt, which is with the Angels, but not as the Angels, and therefore it ſtandeth in the Table of the ſeven Angels, * which ſtand before the preſence of God in the laſt place, without a Letter, or number, but figured by a Croſſe.

The Earth.

* Vide 1582. 20. Martii. lib. 2.

...... It is expreſſed in the Angle of that Table, wherein the names of the Angels are gathered, and do appear, as of Michael and Gabriel.

△ I remember, there is an Alphabetary Croſſe.

E. K. Now in the corner of the Table, on the right hand to E. K. appeareth another Croſſe, ſomewhat on this faſhion †. and there appear'd theſe Letters and Numbers.

b	6
4	b

Vide lib. 3. Anno 1582. Aprilis 28.

...... It is in that Table, which conſiſteth of 4. and 8.

E. K. In the laſt corner of this earthly Table appeareth a little round ſmoke, as big as a pins head.

E. K. Now is all covered with a miſt.

E. K. Now I hear a great voyce of thumbling and rumbling in the ſtone.

E. K. Now all waxeth clear again.

Now hoveringly over the Table, appear infinite ſort of things like worms, ſometimes going up and ſometimes down; theſe ſeem ſomewhat brightiſh.

Over theſe higher in the aire, appear an infinite ſort of ſmall, little, blackiſh things, bigger then Motes in the Sun, and they go up and down, and ſometime come among thoſe worm-like Creatures.

Enoch.

...... The Lord appeared unto Enoch, and was mercifull unto him, opened his eyes, that he might ſee and judge the earth, which was unknown unto his Parents, by reaſon of their fall: for the Lord ſaid, Let us ſhew unto Enoch, the uſe of the earth: And lo, Enoch was wiſe, and full of the ſpirit of wiſdom.

And he ſayed unto the Lord, Let there be remembrance of thy mercy, and let thoſe that love thee taſte of this after me: O let not thy mercy be forgotten. And the Lord was pleaſed.

50. Dayes.

And after 50. dayes Enoch had written: and this was the Title of his books, let thoſe that fear God, and are worthy read.

The title of Enochs books, expounded into Engliſh.

150 Lions, or wicked ſpirits ſeducers.

Counterfeiting.

But behold, the people waxed wicked, and became unrighteous, and the ſpirit of the Lord was far off, and gone away from them. So that thoſe that were unworthy began to read. And the Kings of the earth ſaid thus againſt the Lord, What is it that we cannot do? Or who is he, that can reſiſt us? And the Lord was vexed, and he ſent in amongſt them an hundred and fifty Lions, and ſpirits of wickedneſſe, errour, and deceit: and they appeared unto them: For the Lord had put them between thoſe that are wicked, and his good Angels: And they began to counterfeit the doings of God and his power, for they had power given them ſo to do, ſo that the memory of Enoch waſhed away: and the ſpirits of errour began to teach them Doctrines: which from time to time unto this age, and unto this day, hath ſpread abroad into all parts of the world, and is the skill and cunning of the wicked.

Wicked Magicians.

Hereby they ſpeak with the Devils: not becauſe they have power over the Devils, but becauſe they are joyned unto them in the league and Diſcipline of their own Doctrine.

For behold, as the knowledge of the myſtical figures, and the uſe of their preſence is the gift of God delivered to Enoch; and by Enoch his requeſt to the faithfull, that thereby they might have the true uſe of Gods creatures, & of the earth whereon they dwell: So hath the Devil delivered unto the wicked the ſigns, and tokens of his error and hatred towards God: whereby they in uſing them, might conſent with their fall: and ſo become partakers with them of their reward, which is eternal damnation.

Devils Characters.

Theſe they call Characters: a lamentable thing. For by theſe, many Souls have periſhed.

The mercy of God to Dee.

To △.

Now hath it pleaſed God to deliver this Doctrine again out of darkneſſe: and to fulfill his promiſe with thee, for the books of Enoch: To whom he ſayeth as he ſaid unto Enoch.

Let thoſe that are worthy underſtand this, by thee, that it may be one witneſſe of my promiſe toward thee.

The wicked power expelled out of the earth.

Come therefore, O thou Cloud, and wretched darkneſſe, Come forth I ſay out of this Table: for the Lord again hath opened the earth: and ſhe ſhall become known to the worthy.

E. K. Now cometh out of the Table a dark ſmoke, and there remaineth on the Table a goldiſh ſlime: and the things which hovered in the aire do now come, and light down on that ſlime, and ſo mount up again.

He ſaid. ..... Non omnibus ſed bonis.

E. K. He taketh the ſmoke and tieth it up.

...... I tie her not up from all men, but from the good.

Now cometh a dark Cloud over all again.

△. A pauſe.

E. K. Now it is bright again.

He ſaid. ..... Fiant omnia facillima.

...... Number.

E. K. I

E. K. I ſee lines and ſcribblements (as before) going athwart the lines.

E. K. I count thirteen lines downward.

...... Stay there.

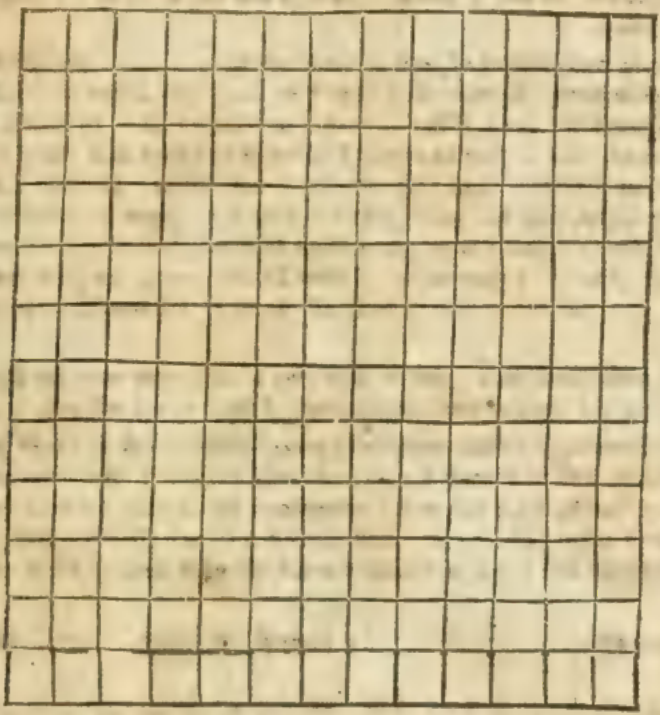
E. K. I count twelve this way overthwart.



E. K. In the juſt middle of every ſquare are little pricks. The Table ſeemeth to be eighth yards ſquare.

E. K. Now come upon theſe ſquares like Characters. They be the true Images of God his ſpiritual Creatures.

NOTE. Characters.

...... Write what thou ſeeſt.

E. K. I cannot.

Δ. Endeavour to do your beſt, for he that biddeth you do, will alſo give you power to do.

E. K. Did his beſt, at length fire flaſhed in his face, and ſhortly after he ſaid, I perceive they be eaſie to make, ſo that I tell the ſquares, by which the lines do paſſe, and draw from middle prick to middle prick.

Δ. At length E. K. finiſhed the Table: he ſaid that theſe ſeemed to be yellowiſh Gold.

E. K. You heard one here ſay, I write my own damnation.

A wicked power tempting E. K.

...... He might have ſaid, you write his damnation. Pray, and write as many more lines,

Δ. After awhile E. K. did with great eaſe finiſh the four parts of the Table.

E. K. The ſtone is become dark.

A voyce. ..... Ceaſe for an hour.

Δ. May we paſſe from our places as now?

...... I.

Δ. After a little hour paſt we returned, and as we talked of the premiſſes, he ſaid,

...... Loſe no time.

Δ. He ſaid in the ſtone being clear again,

...... In the name of God, be diligent, and move not for the place is holy.

...... Take the firſt ſquare: write from the left hand toward the right, you ſhall write ſmall letters and great.

Say what you ſee [to E. K.]

r Z i l a f A u t l p a.

Δ. I finde here one ſquare among theſe Characters that hath nothing in it.

...... It muſt be filled.

a r d Z a i d p a L a m.

E. K. A dim Cloud cometh before mine eyes: now it is gone.

c Z o n s a v o Y a u b
T o i T t X o P a c o C
S i g a s o m r b z n h
f m o n d a T d i a r i
o r o i b A h a o Z p i

C n a b r V i x g a z d
O i i i t T p a l O a i
A b a m o o o a C v c a
N a o c O T t n p r a T
O c a n m a g o t r o i
S h i a l r a p m z o x

E. K. Now cometh a Cloud over.

Take the ſecond, that is the third that was written.

This p may ſtand backward, or forward
E. K. What is the reaſon of that diverſe ſetting?
-- For beginning there it will make the name of a wicked ſpirit.

b O a Z a R o p h a R a u N n a x o P S o n d n a i g r a n o o m a g g o r p m n i n g b e a l
r s O n i z i r l e m u i z i n r C z i a M h I m o r d i a l h C t G a Æ O c a n c h i a s o m
A r b i z m i i l p i z
O p a n a l a m S m a L
d O l o p i n i a n b a r x p a o c s i z i x p
a x t i r V a s t r i m

Δ. So is the name of the firſt diviſion of the earth in the 29 aire.
A voyce to this intent.

...... That laſt word is Vaſtrim.

Δ. I marvel of that ſquare that lacketh this line.

...... It muſt be drawn from the end, or foot to that prick, before where it cometh doubble from the firſt top, the prick is allowed but to one, and not twice to be accounted: So that, that ſtandeth but of ſix pricks: Therefore it muſt be framed, and now it is of ſeven.

E. K. All is in a Cloud.

Now all is clear again.

This is the Table that hath 4. and D on the top, by me ſo noted.

d o n p a T d a n V a .. o l o a G e o o b a .. i o P a m n o O G m d n m a p l s T e d e c a o p
s c m i o o n A m l o x
V a r s G d L b r i a p
o i P t e a a p d o c e p s u a c n r Z i r Z a S i o d a o i n r z f m d a l t T d n a d i r e
d i x o m o n s i o s p
O o D p z i A p a n l i r g o a n n Q A C r a r

P backward, .. or forward-
A is arſward.

E. K. Now

E. K. Now he calleth again, ſaying, See.

△. This is the Table that had the little round ſmoke.

△. No, it was the Table before.

T	a	O	A	d	u	p	t	D	n	I	m
a	a	b	c	o	o	r	o	m	e	b	b
T	o	g	c	o	n	x	m	a	l	G	m
n	h	o	d	D	i	a	l	e	a	o	c
p	a	c	A	x	i	o	V	s	P	s	yl
S	a	a	i	x	a	a	r	V	r	o	i
m	p	h	a	r	s	l	g	a	i	o	l
M	a	m	g	l	o	i	n	L	i	r	x
o	l	a	a	D	a	g	a	T	a	p	a p	a	L	c	o	i	d	x	P	a	c	n
n	d	a	z	N	x	i	V	a	a	s	a
i	i	d	P	o	n	s	d	a	s	p	i x	r	i	i	h	t	a	r	n	d	i	J

E. K. Now all is in a whitiſh cloud covered.

E. K. Now all is clear.

..…. Make the firſt figure upon a clean paper, and thereto adde the ſimple letters: Then ſhall you hear more. Thou muſt make the ſquares of the firſt part of the Table unto every ſquare and his letters.

△. I have made the ſquares of the firſt part, and ſet in the letters.

Thou haſt in the middle line o r o i b A h a o z p i. There are 6 lines above, and ſix below. That line is called linea Spiritus Sancti: and out of that line cometh the three names of God, from the Eaſt gate, being of 3, 4, and 5. letters, which were the armes of the Enſignes that were ſpoken of before. Oro, ibah, aozpi, I ſaid before, that God the Father a mighty pillar divided with a right line.

Linea Spiritus Sancti. Oriens. The 3 names of God in Banners.

The Father himſelf, without the line.

The Father and Son by addition of the line.

Theſe two lines beginning J A
i d
a r
&c.

That is the great Croſſe that came out of the Eaſt gate.

Eaſt.

△. With that line of the Holy Ghoſt?

…… I.

Thou haſt in the upper left angle in the ſecond line a r d z a.

Thou haſt that maketh the croſſe downward: firſt i, then the ſame d, o, i, g o.

△. Will you have ſix letters downward?

…… I.

So thou haſt the three other croſſes in their angles.

△. Will you give me leave to repeat them, for fear of erring?

I L a c z a, the down line of ſix letters, and p a L a m the croſſe line.

…… It is ſo.

△. Now to the other on the left ſide below.

a
i
a o
a
i

the down right line. Now the croſſe line, is O i i i t.

Here thoſe Croſſes have ten faces.

Ten faces on the Croſſes.

△. One letter is reckoned twice which is in the center of the Croſſe: and ſo ſhould ſeem to be eleven.

…… This

...... This is true knowledge.

Δ. The laſt croſſe is thus, his down line is

a
O u
r
r
z

Δ. The Croſſe is a L O a i.

Δ. So have I the 4 Croſſes attendant on the principal Croſſe.

...... Here thou mayſt ſee the cauſe, that Pilat wrote with 4 letters.

Δ. How doth the cauſe appear ?

...... For above every croſſe, ſtandeth 4 letters : Not that Pilat knew it, but that it was the fore-determination of God.

Δ. Another pronouncing of it. The 4 Angels over every croſſe of the 4 attendant croſſes.

They are thus to be read. In the upper left angle thou haſt r z l a : pronounce, urzla : by this name the firſt Angel appeareth. z l a : go then to the firſt r, and pronounce it zlar. That was the firſt letter of the firſt Angel, is the laſt letter of the ſecond : as of the firſt r, was the firſt letter of the name, as r z l a, that r is now the laſt letter of the name of the ſecond Angel, beginning at z, as z l a, and ſo back again to the r.

Δ. So that the third beginneth at l, whoſe laſt letter is the firſt of the ſecond name, and is called Larz, and ſo of the laſt : as a r z l, to be pronounced arzel.

The uſe.

Δ. So that you have, of thoſe 4 letters, 4 Angels names, here thus gathered out: but how are they to be uſed ?

...... Let it be ſufficient that you know theſe names. I will teach you to uſe them.

4 Angels over every croſſe.

Δ. Shall we labour by like order of every the 4 letters over the croſſes to make 4 ſuch names ?

...... They are alſo to be made.

Δ. I do know aſſuredly that there is very much matter in this Table.

Solomon his knowledge.

...... It is true : for hitherto, ſtretched the knowledge of Solomon.

Six Seniors.

...... Now for your ſix Seniors : whoſe judgement is of God the Father, the Son, and the Holy Ghoſt. In the line De Spiritu Sancto, you have Abioro of ſix letters: The ſecond name of the ſecond Senior is of 7. as, A (the ſame, aſcending) Aaix a if the third, as the ſecond, in patre & filio, H c mord A.

How to make the Seniors of 7. letters.

Again in Spiritu Sancto, habzpi. The fifth, in patre & filio deſcendens hi pot ga. The ſixth, A V to Tar. If you will make them of 7 letters (becauſe two of them, are but of ſix) that is, when the wrath of God is to be encreaſed.

Note.

The encreaſing of names with a letter.

Then whereas you ſay, Abioro, ſay Habioro ; and where you ſay Haozpi, ſay ahahozpi. Thou haſt haoſpi, before h is A ; take that unto it and it maketh Aha ozpi. And ſo they conſiſt all, of 7 letters.

b
a T
a ———
i ———

Thou haſt b the fifth, in the left part of the line, de Spiritu Sancto : thou haſt a the ſixth, (the firſt part of the line de patre & filio deſcending.) T the ſixth in the ſecond part deſcending. a The firſt in the ſecond part deſcending, or the ſecond aſcending.

Thou haſt a the fifth, in aozpi.

i The ſixth, and V the ſixth, aſcending in the part deſcending of the line de patre & filio, the ſecond and firſt part. Put the A or the h that ſtand in the Center, to it : Thou haſt Bataiva or Bataivh. You muſt take but * one of them, either the A or the h. A, comiter, and h in extremis Judiciis.

A or H.
* To make the end of this word.

Δ. So I ſee when the contract A, and when the contract H muſt end this word : That is the mighty Prince whoſe traine was holden up in the Eaſt.

The King his name Eaſt.

To morrow.

...... Spare me now, I will open you more ſecrets to morrow, I am ſecretly called away : but you ſhall find me the true ſervant of God.

E. K. Now he ſpreadeth the white Curtain over all that was laid on an heap behind.

Characters or Notes.

...... Yet one thing ere I go. Thoſe Characters or Notes (for, ſo call them) are the parts of the whole Earth, as you may find in thoſe names * I delivered you before ; To the intent you may work all the World over at one time. Now, my love reſt with you.

* Nalvage delivered them, but by the ſame ſpirit of God

E. K. Now he is gone.

Δ. Amor Dei patris filii & Spiritus Sancti ſit ſuper nos. Amen. Semper.

Note.

Tueſday, Junii 26. Manè hora 8.

Precibus finitis, & poſt varias noſtras conſiderationes de præmiſſis, tandem apparuit AVE. In nomine Patris & F. & SS ſicut erat, &c. Amen.

E. K. He

E. K. He hath gathered the whole Curtain together as yeſterday, and ſet it behind. Now a white miſt cometh over all, Now the miſt is gone.

Ave. ...... All glory and praiſe, be to God the Father, the Son and Holy Ghoſt.

Δ. Amen.

Ave. ...... Now to the purpoſe: Reſt, for the place is holy. Firſt, generally what this Table containeth.

1. All humane knowledge.
2. Out of it ſpringeth Phyſick.
3. The knowledge of all elemental Creatures, amongſt you. How many kindes there are, and for what uſe they were created. Thoſe that live in the air, by themſelves. Thoſe that live in the waters, by themſelves. Thoſe that dwell in the earth, by themſelves. The property of the fire: which is the ſecret life of all things.

The general of the firſt table.

4. The knowledg, finding and uſe of Metals.
The vertues of them. } They are all of one matter.
The congelations, and vertues of Stones.

5. The Conjoyning and knitting together of Natures. The deſtruction of Nature, and of things that may periſh.
6. Moving from place to place, [as, into this Country, or that Country at pleaſure.]
7. The knowledge of all crafts Mechanical.
8. Tranſmutatio formalis, ſed non eſſentialis.

A bodily and a true motion.

E. K. Now a white miſt covereth him.

Δ. ———— Pauſe for a ¼ of ———

E. K. Now he appeareth again

Δ. The ninth Chapter may be added, and is of the ſecrets of men knowing; whereof there is a peculiar Table.

...... Look out Lexarph, with the two other that follow him, among the names of the Earth the three laſt.

Lexarph, Comanan, Tabitom.

Look out the name Paraoan. Write out Paraoan in a void paper.

Δ. I have done.

Seek out Lexarph.

Δ. I have found it.

Look into the 4 parts of the Table, and take the letters that are of the leaſt Character. Look among the 4 parts that have the Characters: and look to the Characters that have the leaſt letters.

Δ. I have done.

...... How many letters are they?

Δ. Seven.

...... They muſt be eight.

Δ. They are theſe (as I have noted them) OA JA JA il.

...... There are 8 in the 4.

Δ. Afterwards I found 8 letters in the 4 principal: for I had omitted T I.

Dwell in darkneſſe ——

Δ. I ſuſpect this was ſpoken to me, to my reproof, for no more diligence uſed in the ſearch.

They muſt be made all one Character.

e x a r p h c o n a n a n t a
b i t o m

Lexarph, Comanan, Tabitom.

Set down theſe three names, leaving out the firſt L [that is of Lexarph, ſet them down by 5.]

Ave. ...... Your ſickneſſe cauſeth me to be ſick.

Δ. E. K. had the Migrom ſore.

A great Temptation fell on E. K.: upon E. K. his taking theſe words to be a ſcoff, which ere words of compaſſion and friendſhip.

Δ. They be 3 names of the Tenth air, anſwering to Caſpis, Germania, Trenam in Africa.

...... The firſt is exarp, five in order. Set them down without the firſt Table: That ſhall make he croſſe that bindeth the 4 Angles of the Table together. The ſame that ſtretcheth from the left to ight, muſt alſo ſtretch from the right to the left.

Δ, Have

Δ. Have I now made this croſſe of uniting all the 4 parts or Angels together, as you like of?

...... I.

Wicked Angels whoſe names are of 3 letters.

...... Every name, ſounding of three letters, beginning out of that line, is the name of a Devil, or wicked Angel, as well from the right, as from the left, excepting the [Δ] 4. Angels that are above the croſſe, which have no participation with Devils.

4. Angels above every of the leſſer croſſes. Ergo, 16 ſuch in every of the 4. principal quarters.

The letters that joyne thoſe names, which may be put before the [Δ 4.] names of the four Angels of the four croſſes in every angle, (as well from the right, as the left,) is the name of God, whereby theſe Angels, are called and do appear.

Δ. An example (I pray you) give of this rule.

...... As, in the firſt of the black croſſes thou haſt, e.

Δ. So it is.

In the firſt ſquare of the right ſide thou haſt r. beginning the name of the Angel Urzla: put e to it, and it changeth the ſound, into Erzla. Erzla is the name of God that governeth, Urzla.

Δ. And likewiſe the other three above the croſſe are governed by that name of God, Erzla.

* In the croſſe of union, or the black croſſe.

The 4 Angels ſerving to this leſſer Croſſe.

Note. Appearing by one name, and doing by another.

Take * X which is the next letter: look under the Croſſe in the firſt angle; thou haſt C z. (then o, in the croſſe:) then n s. Call it C zoden es: It is one of the 4 angels that ſerve to that croſſe, which are ruled by this name Idoigo. It is the name of God, of ſix letters: Look in the croſſe that deſcendeth, In that name [Δ Idoigo] they appear, by the name [Δ Ardza] that is in the croſſe, [Δ Tranſverſary] they do that they are commanded.

Δ. Which they? you named onely C zod n es.

Ave ...... There followeth Tot t.

Δ. Which more? Δ. The principal Croſſe tranſverſary.

Thoſe two, under, till you come to the Croſſe.

Δ. Do you mean Sias, f m n d?

Phyſick.

...... Thoſe 4 be of Phyſick.

Δ. As they do appear in the name of God Idoigo, ſo what ſhall be of the name of God Ardza?

Ave ...... The one is to call them, the other is to command them.

Note. † The Angel his name made of five letters.

If it be an incurable diſeaſe (in the judgement of man) then adde the letter that ſtandeth against the name, and make him † up five: then he cureth miraculouſly.

The uſe of the wicked powers.

But if thou wilt ſend ſickneſſe, then take two of the letters, and adde the letter of the Croſſe [Δ the black croſſe] to that, as in the ſecond, a To.

[Δ. This a, is of the croſſe of union, or the black croſſe.]

The Call of the wicked.

...... Then he is a wicked power, and bringeth in diſeaſe: and when thou calleſt him, call him by the name of god, backward: for unto him, ſo, he is a god: and ſo conſtrain him backward, as Ogiodi.

Note. Apparition. Conſtraint.

Δ. I think the Conſtraint muſt be, by the name of the Tranſverſary backward pronounced, as of Ardza, is backway, azdra: For ogiodi, ſhould but cauſe him to appear by the order of Idoigo, uſed for the 4 good Angels.

BaatainA, or Baataivh.

...... The name of God in the middeſt of the great Croſſe (where the name may have A or H in the end) upon which the 4 Croſſes of the firſt Angle attend, (or firſt part of the table attendeth) calleth out the ſix Seniors: which give ſcientiam rerum humanarum & Judicum, according to the nature of their parts: as in the Eaſt after one ſort, in the Weſt after another, and ſo of the reſt.

E. K. A Cloud covereth him.

Now he ſpeaketh of the ſecond little croſſe above, on the right ſide in the Eaſt quarter.

The upper right angle in the next croſſe, hath the ſame name [Δ hath his peculiar name] of God to call out, and to conſtrain.

Δ. Which name mean you?

4 Good Angels.

Ave. ...... The name that is in the croſſe. Δ. Ilacza --

Metals.

The good Angels are alſo 4. They have power over Metals, to find them, to gather them together, and to uſe them.

The wicked Angels of this portion.

Theſe, that are the wicked ones, (made by three letters) are the Princes of thoſe wicked ones, that ſtood afar off in the Table of the Creation.

The table of creation.

Lib. 4. aliter 5. Bnaſpol & Bliſdem.

Δ. You mean in our fourth Book.

Ave. ...... Theſe can give money coined, in Gold or Silver.

Δ. Which theſe?

Δ. Theſe wicked ones mean you?

...... I.

The other give no money coined, but the metal.

Δ. You mean the good.

...... I.

Δ. As X O Y.

...... E X O Y.

Δ. I note this pronunciation.

Δ. The next is apa.

The third Croſſe is the Croſſe of transformation.

Transformation.

Δ. Mean you that on the left ſide underneath?

...... I.

The fourth is the Croſſe of thoſe Creatures that live in the four Elements, as you call them.
The firſt Angel the aire.
The ſecond ——— the water.
The third ——— the earth.
The fourth ——— the life, or fire of things that live.

The four Elements.

Δ. Is not Acca the firſt Angel?

Δ. En pe at.

...... I. Then N P at.

Δ. Then O toi, and P mox. A V E. They are eaſie to call.

1. The knitting together of Natures lieth in the four Angels that are over the firſt Croſſe.

The knitting together of natures.

Δ. As Vrzla, zlar? &c.

...... I.

2. The carrying from place, which place lieth in the Angels of the ſecond Croſſe.

Tranſlatio à loco in locum.

Δ. I underſtand in the Angels over the Croſſe.

3. All Hand-crafts, or Arts are in the Angels of this third Croſſe.

All hand-crafts.

Δ. I underſtand in the Angels over the Croſſe.

E. K. He drew out much fire out of his mouth, and threw it from him now.

Note this rare action of a ſpiritual Creature.

Δ. I pray you, what meant you by that?

...... For that I fulfill my Office in another place. Stay, at this time I muſt alſo be gone.

Δ. When will you deal again.

Ave. After Dinner about one, or two of the Clock.

E. K. Now he ſpreadeth the Curtain.

Δ. Deo gratias nunc & ſemper agamus. Amen.

---

† Tueſday, Junii 26. à Meridie hora, 1½ Circiter.

Gloria Patri, &c.

Mitte lucem tuam & veritatem tuam, O Deus, &c.

E. K. Now he is here, and the white Curtain laid behinde.

4. Ave. ...... The Croſſe of the fourth, firſt Angle.

Δ. I underſtand the Angels over the Croſſe in the lower right corner.

...... Herein may you finde the ſecrets of Kings, and ſo unto the loweſt degree. But you muſt Note, That as the Angels of the firſt of the four Croſſes in the Eaſt, which are for Medicine: ſo are the firſt of the ſecond, the firſt of the third, and the firſt of the fourth; ſo that for Medicine there be ſixteen, and ſo of all the reſt in their order: but that they differ in that, ſome be the Angels of the Eaſt, other ſome of the Weſt; and ſo of the reſt.

The ſecrets of all ſtates. [S]ixteen Angels for Medicine.

Notwithſtanding, to know the world before the waters, To be privy to the doings of men; from the waters to Chriſt; from Chriſt unto the rewarding of the wicked: The wicked doings of the fleſh, or the fond and deviliſh imaginations of man, or to ſee what the bleſſed Kingdom ſhall be, and how the earth ſhall be dignified, purged, and made clean, is a meat too ſweet for your mouths.

Note. The bleſſed Kingdom on earth. The earth.

Δ. Curioſity is far from our intents.

Ave, ... But there is neither Patriarch nor Prophet ſanctified, Martyr, or Confeſſor, King, or Governour of the people upon earth, that his name, continuance, and end, is not (like the Moon at midnight) in theſe Tables.

Ergo, theſe are here to be learned out.

Δ. Maximè enim ſplendet & manifeſta eſt, in medio cæli & in plenilunio.

Δ. Mean you not the Croſſe of the fourth firſt Angle, to be that, which is of a O ü r r z. And his tranſverſary of a l O a i?

Ave. ...... It is ſo.

Δ. I underſtand not well, your account of 16 Angels for medicine.

Ave. ...... Are there not four principal Croſſes? Every Croſſe hath alſo four. The firſt of every four are the Croſſe of medicine, ſo that there be ſixteen.

Ave. ...... One book of perfect paper. One labour of a few dayes.

Forte, For the. Their promiſe.

The calling them together, and the yielding of their promiſe, the repetition of the names of God, are ſufficient.

I have given you Corn: I have given you alſo ground. Deſire God to give you ability to till.

Δ. We will pray for his help that is Almighty.

...... I am free before God. Catch that catch can.

Be it now as it was before.

E. K. He mounteth up into the aire, and is gone.

Δ. When would you that I ſhould prepare that book, and what call you perfect: and how many leaves would you wiſh me to make it of?

...... Your book is not of my charge.

Δ. Lord, as thou haſt dealt mercifully with us hitherto, and haſt given us the underſtanding of many ſecrets, ſo in reſpect of this ſtrange dealing with us, and leaving us of Ave, we are deſirous to know ſome cauſe: and therein we require that Madimi may be ſent.

E. K. She is here in the ſtone.

Madi. ...... How do you?

E. K. She maketh a low curſie.

Δ. I declared our admiration of Ave his ſo ſudden departure, and required her opinion of the caſe.

Mad. ......, Surely Sir, I cannot tell: but I will go ſee if my mother can tell.

Δ. He that is the Creatour of all things, be mercifull unto us, and lighten our hearts with true knowledge, as our truſt is in him.

E. K. She went away, and came again after a little while.

Mad. ...... My mother ſayeth, you ſhould have been at the Emperours.

Δ. But you ſee it is impoſſible to get thither without ſome good proviſion of money made by our great friend A. L. I pray you, what can you ſay of Ave?

Mad. ...... My gentle brother, Ave is a good Creature: indeed you might have made more of him.

Δ. I beſeech you to give us ſome Declaration of Ave his laſt words.

Mad. ...... There is no word unperfect: My brother Ave his nature is to be plain and ſhort.

Δ. I pray you to ſay ſomewhat more plainly of Ave his laſt words.

Mad. ...... If it were the commandment of my mother, I could do it. But this is the good will of my brother toward you.

Δ. As your brother hath done this of his good will, ſo do I deſire you of your good will to do, or ſay ſomewhat to our comfort.

Mad. ...... Sir, I pray you, pardon me. I may not meddle with Ave his doing. I have nothing to ſay to you, but I know my Mother hath much to ſay to you

As the mighty thunder cometh, ſo cometh the promiſe of God.

Redulphus the Emperour now.

If the Emperour (my mother ſayeth) do any thing againſt Lasky, or hinder, (ſhe anſwereth in earneſt) there ſhall be an Emperour.

A. L. Earneſt is means to be Emperour, vide 22 Sept. Prage.

Δ. Make your ſentence more perfect.

Mad. ...... Therein lieth a myſtery.

A Myſtery.

My Mother, my Siſters, Ave, Il, my ſelf, and the reſt of us will not be from you in your need.

A comfortable promiſe.

Δ. Now is our need, as we have declared.

Mad. ...... Sir, Content your ſelf: For, yet a ſeaſon, you muſt have patience. God bleſſe you, for (as yet) I feel nothing to ſay to you.

Miſericos, clemens & pius eſt Deus Noſter: Cujus nomen ſit benedictum, Nunc & ſemper. Amen.

Note. About ſeven of the Clock this afternoon, E. K. came again up into my ſtudy: and ſeing me reading, and conſidering this Action, began to finde talk of it, and willed me to aſſay the practiſe of it if I underſtood it: And, to be brief, by little and little fell to this iſſue, that he confeſſed himſelf to be very ſorry that he was ſo far raging in words as he was this day.

day. Nay, (ſaid I) any man living, elſe, would have found juſt cauſe of comfort and to give thanks for A V E, ſuch ſpeeches to him, as he uſed unto you upon true compaſſion, and no ſkoff, &c. But you by and by called him Devil, and raged on further againſt Michael and Gabriel, and the heavenly powers with moſt horrible ſpeeches, &c. He became very penitent, and acknowledged that he had offended God: and ſaid, that ſurely it was of the Devil, for he did not remember his words: but he is ſure that they were not decent, and beſeeched God to forgive him: And ſo did I, and was very glad of this his reforming himſelf, and we (being oft (before) called down to ſupper) were going out of my Study: and as he was almoſt at the door to go out, he ſaid to me, I feel a very heavy thing upon my ſhoulder: and it is warm with all: Whereat I put to the door, and we ſat down again: Verily thinking (as it was) that it was the preſence of A V E, whereupon I ſaid unto the Creature.

NOTA. Pœnitentia Deo grata & acceptabilis in [illegible]

Note this manner of a heavy thing on the ſhoulder, and warm withall.

△. In the name of Jeſus, Ave art thou there, he anſwered immediately after as followeth.

Ave..... Becauſe thou [E.K.] haſt acknowledged my honour again: I will alſo acknowledge my help toward you: But where man curſeth the Heavens, what holy Creature can abide? Or where Satan is brought into poſſeſſion, by free will of man, what good Angel is he that departeth not?

△. O Lord, confirm thy mercies upon us from henceforth.

Ave. ..... As concerning your Action, The Heavens bear witneſſe of it. Yea, yeſterday did the good Angels contend with the wicked: and there was a great conflict betwixt them; and that about the love of God towards you, and your Action. But I will viſit you again in the morning, and will perform my good will in God toward you. But thou muſt pray often if thou wilt avoid temptation. God be mercifull to you, forgive you, and ſtrengthen you to the end.

△ There was a terrible ſtorm of thunder and rain, toward the end of our yeſter-dayes Action: which, I ſaid, was ſomewhat more then natural.

△. Amen, ſweet Jeſu, Amen.

△. When all was thus ended, I delivered to E.K. my Pſalter book (with the ſhort prayers annexed to every Pſalm) where he himſelf very devoutly, and penitently prayed three of them, and I hearing alſo of them, gave my conſent in heart to the ſame prayers.

Mr. E.K. Penitently prayeth.

△. To God onely be all praiſe, honour, and glory, now and ever. Amen.

Wedneſday, 27. Junii. Cracoviæ. Mane horam circiter. 7.

Oratione Dominica finita, & peculiari Oratione contra Tentationes Sathanæ, apparuit ipſe A V E, &c.

E. K. He is here.

△. Gloria Patri, & filio, & ſpiritui ſancto, &c. Amen.

Ave. ..... In the name of the Father, and of the Son, and of the holy Ghoſt.

△. Amen.

...... Now, what is that, that is hard to you?

4. Firſt, whether the Table (for the middle Croſſe of uniting the four principal parts) be made perfect, or no.

Ave. ..... Thou haſt found out the truth of it.

△. I think a myſtery did depend upon the choice of the three names, Lexarph, Comanan, and Tabitom.

Ave. ...... That is not to our purpoſe.

△. You bad me chooſe out of the Tables the Characters of feweſt Letters, and I found them to be O A ע A J A, and ך, you ſaid they are eight, you ſaid there are eight in four: I know not what this meaneth.

Ave. ..... You muſt make up the name Paraoan.

△. It is the ſecond part of the 22 aire.

△. What ſhall become of the L averſed?

Ave. ..... It may be N, or L.

△. What muſt I now do with that name?

Ave. ..... In Exarph there wanteth an L. which L. is of more force then the N. and therefore it is ſet in the Tables. As far as that N. ſtretcheth in the Character, ſo far ſhall that Countrey be conſumed with fire, and ſwallowed into Hell, as Sodom was for wickedneſſe. The end of all things is even at hand: And the earth muſt be purified, and delivered to another.

The Heavens ſhall be 77 times above themſelves. And the earth ſhall bring forth without Tillage: Prophets ſpeak of dayes, [as] preſently, that * are far off. But we ſpeak of dayes that are hard at hand. For, immediately after your being with Cæſar, ſhall the whole world be in ſudden alteration. Battails and bloudſhed great number: The Kings of the earth ſhall run unto the Hills, and ſay cover us.

△. So is not one letter ſuperfluous, or wanting in the Tables.

A Propheſie of things at hand.

NOTE. Nova Terra.

* Were.

Rodolphus Cæſar.

Nota Initium malorum inſtare.

△. O, Thou mighty God of Hoſts : be our ſtrength and comfort.

Anti Chriſt.

..... When you hear the people ſay, Lo, there is a man-child that doth great marvails, (which is even at the door threſhold.) Then, then ſhall you ſee the calamity of the earth.

A. L.

But let Laskie, the ſervant of God do as he is commanded : And what goodneſſe ſoever he craveth ſhall follow him, for the Lord hath ſpared him among the Kings of the earth.

Money, proviſion.

Let him provide for this one journey : He ſhall not need to provide for the reſt : For, he that hath all, hath provided for him.

In Conſtantinople 1585 15. Septemb.

The fifteenth day of September, that ſhall be twelve moneths, ſhall you ſet up the ſigne of the Croſſe ; even in the midd'ſt of Conſtantinople.

△. Thy will be done, O Lord, to thy honour and glory.

Poland. Promiſſio confirmata de A.L. fortè.

Ave. ..... In this Kingdom ſhall be much bloudſhed, and the one ſhall cut anothers throat. And as the Lord hath promiſed, ſo ſhall it come to paſſe.

Ave. ..... Now to the Table.

△. Of the Principal King of Bataiva, or Baataiva, (uſing the laſt a twice) I doubt of the perfect writing of it.

Ave. ..... Is it not written? It is all, moſt eaſie , and in gathering thou canſt not erre.

24 Seniors. Note, This diverſity of working. The four plagues, or quarters.

The 24 Seniors are all of one Office : But when thou wilt work in the Eaſt , thou muſt take ſuch as bear rule there ; ſo muſt thou do of the reſt.

△. Do you mean the eſtate, in reſpect of any place we ſhall be in, or in reſpect of any earthly place , accounted alwayes the Eaſt part of the world, whereſoever we be?

Ave...... The Eaſt and Weſt, in reſpect of your Poles. What will you elſe of me?

△. Whether theſe four Tables be joyned in their right places, or no.

Ave. ..... They be.

Note, of the Letters in the black Tranverſary.

△. Of the Letters in the Tranſverſary of the wicked their black Croſſe, I know no uſe, as of m o t i v a t ; nan, &c.

The book.

Ave. ..... Thou ſhalt know, when thou writeſt thy book.

△. I deſire you of the book to ſay ſomewhat more for the faſhion, paper, and binding, &c.

Ave. ..... Thou mayeſt uſe thy diſcretion.

△. You mean (I truſt) the book that you bid me to prepare : For, the other is not for my writing.

A perfect maſter ready.

Ave. ..... It is not. I my ſelf will ſtand with you, and ſhew how to practiſe.

△. Bleſſed be God for his ready help.

△. I will prepare the book (by the grace of God) with all ſpeed.

The Offices of all the four quarters.

△. As concerning the Offices, vertues, and powers of the three other quarters of the Table, what ſhall we think of them?

Ave. ..... They are all as the firſt.

The twelve names of God in the twelve Banners. Four dayes. Fourteen dayes. Obedient. White linnen veſtures.

△. Note. Thou haſt three names of God, out of the line of the holy Ghoſt, in the principall Croſſe of the firſt Angle, ſo haſt thou three in the ſecond, &c.

Four dayes (after your book is made, that is to ſay, written) muſt you onely call upon thoſe names of God, or on the God of Hoſts, in thoſe names :

And 14 dayes after you ſhall (in this, or in ſome convenient place) Call the Angels by Petition, and by the name of God, unto the which they are obedient.

The 15 day you ſhall Cloath your ſelves, in veſtures made of linnen , white : and ſo have the apparition, uſe, and practice of the Creatures. For, it is not a labour of years, nor many dayes.

E. K. This is ſomewhat like the old faſhion of Magick.

Garment and book onely once to be uſed.

Ave. ..... Nay, they all played at this.

You muſt never uſe the Garment after, but that once onely, neither the book.

E. K. To what end is the book made then, if it be not to be uſed after?

△. It is made for to be uſed that day onely.

Ave. ..... What will you elſe?

△. As you beſt know : we need inſtructions ; yet neceſſary for us.

Ave. ..... Very few.

Ave. ..... It is a ſtem with fruit, but it wanteth leaves.

E. K. What mean you by that?

Fruit than leaves.

Ave. ..... There be more leaves then fruit, and in many actions there be more circumſtances then matter.

△. But here is onely marrow, and no bones, or fleſh.

△. As concerning the great multitude that E K. ſaw in the Viſion ſtanding after the ſixteen Angels, next the Gate, you made no mention in your Deſcription of the Viſion : Therefore I would know what they are.

Ave. ..... They be Miniſters and ſervants.

..... There

E. K. * Aliter, Sendenna, as E. K. ſaid.

There ſhalt thou ſee thy old Sondenna,* and many other wicked ones, that thou haſt dealt withall. Hereby ſhall you judge truly of wicked Magick. God be with you: I will be ready, when you need me.

Δ. Æterno & omnipotenti Crearori rerum omnium, viſibilium & inviſibilium ſit omnis laus, honor, gloria, & gratiarum actio. Amen.

Δ. Of this wicked Sondenna, E. K. by & by after this Action ſaid. Seeing his name is come to be known (and not by me: for I had received the Sacrament with Mr. Miniver, of whom I had him, never to bewray or diſcloſe his name) I will tell you ſomewhat of him. He appeareth in many forms, till at length he appear in a Triangle of fire, and being conſtrained to the Circle, he taketh form (as it were) of a great Gyant, and will declare before for a month to come which ſpirits do orderly range: which by name being called, will do their offices, with a few other circumſtances uſed, &c. This, indeed was one, of whom I made moſt account, &c.

Δ. 1. Remember, I have not yet heard any thing of the 5 Princes which held up the traine of the chief King.

2. Neither any thing of the Trumpeter which went before all.

Doubts.

3. Neither of the letters in the Tranſverſary of the black Croſſe.

4. Alſo of * Docepax Tedoand, being referred to Cilicia, Nemrodiana, and Paphlagonia in the late expoſition of the places by vulgar names: and before in the naming of them by the names of Creation they were applyed to Italia and Britania: One of thoſe is to be doubted of.

* Declared by Gabriel and Nalvage.

5. We are deſirous to know the Etymologies of all the names of God which we ſhall uſe, either to God himſelf, or to the Angels.

6. We require the form of our Petition or Invitation to be made to the Angels.

7. Of the 20 (and more) diverſities or corrections of this principal Table, we require your cenſure, which diverſities I have (by conjecture) ſo made or amended.

8. Whereas I was [Δ] willed to call 14 dayes, the Angels which are to be uſed: ſo would I know whether alſo I ſhould ſummon the wicked here recorded (out of the black Croſſe, having their off-ſpring) likewiſe 14 dayes.

Δ. Pagina penultima precedente.

Saturday, † Cracoviæ, Junii 30. Manè, circa 9. horam.

Oratione dominica finita, & propoſitis illis 7. dubiis, quievimus paululum. Deinde, aliquot orationes ex pſalterio recitavi, iterum quievimus paululum. Ad ſemihoram nihil apparuit.

At length appeared a face, very great, with wings about, adjoyned to it; afterward he ſeemed to be in a great Globe of fire.

...... Hearken to my voice.

Modeſty, patience, and humility of heart and body, doth belong to theſe Actions. Tell me how many Thunders the Lord hath in ſtore for the wicked.

Note.

Δ. O Lord, we know not.

...... Were you ever in the ſecret caves of the Earth?

Δ. No, Lord, never.

...... Then tell me how many windes the Lord hath prepared for an year?

Δ. Neither that can we tell: We are not of the Lord his Council in theſe things of his providence.

...... Can you tell me none of theſe queſtions?

...... Can you tell what ſhall become of your ſelves?

Δ. God onely knoweth, and no creature but by him: for all things are kept uncertain until the end.

...... You beget children, know you the hour wherein they ſhall be born?

...... You begin labour, can you tell what point of time you ſhall end in?

Δ. God only is the Fountain of all wiſdom and truth.

...... Well, then I ſee, you are drowned in ignorance and know nothing.

E. K. He turneth round very ſwiftly,

...... Even as the Adder leadeth out her young ones, the firſt day one foot, (out of her hole) not becauſe they ſhould eat, but becauſe they might acquaint themſelves with the air, and her ſubtlety.

Note this ſimilitude well.

The ſecond day, one yard and more: ſhe encompaſſeth her hole, and windeth to and fro, and teach-them to creep; and ſo five or ſix dayes, till they know how to move and ſtir their bodies.

After the ſeventh day, ſhe leadeth them further, and faineth deceit, ſtriking the ground with her tail, as though it were the ſound of ſome one at hand: And then gaping, beginneth to hiſſe, and ſtirreth up fear unto her young ones, ſo that they enter into her mouth. And thus ſhe doth till they be 12 or 13 dayes old: Then ſhe leadeth them a ſtones-caſt, and exerciſeth them both with fear, and hiding themſelves; And when they ſleep (being young and wearied with labour) ſhe ſtealeth from them and maketh a noiſe amongſt the leaves and ſmall ſtones, with the moving of her hinder parts:

To

To the intent ſhe might ſee what ſhift her wormes can make, which ſtirred up with fear, and miſſing their mother, ſo learn to couch themſelves in the Chymnes of the earth; At length, after ſilence, the mother thruſteth out her ſelf, and doubleth her tongue (with the ſound whereof ſhe uſeth to call them) They come together and rejoyce, wreathing themſelves diverſly about her body, for joy: She for a recompence, ſuffereth them to hang upon her back, and ſo waltereth to her hole; where ſhe gathereth the leaves of the earth: and after ſhe hath chewed them ſmall and tender, with her teeth, and mingled them with the duſt, ſhe ſpueth them out again, and beginneth to lick them by little and little, as though ſhe hungered, which ſhe ſubtlely doth, that her wormes might eat and forget their heavineſſe.

Finally, in 20 dayes, they become big, and as skilful in the property of their kind . . . ſhe (I ſay) leadeth them out into a fertile place, and full of dew, and full of buſhes, and places apt to cover them, where they feed, dwell, obſerve their craft, and at laſt forſake their mother. Even ſo, it is with you; So the Lord, (the true Serpent and worme) leadeth you out from day to day, according to your ſtrength: and as you grow, to the intent you might, at laſt be brought unto the pleaſant dew, and food of his mercy, which is Triumphing true wiſdom. Triumphing true wiſdom.

But this the Lord feareth of you; that, as the wormes did, ſo you will forſake your mother.

Δ. Forſake us not, O God, Confirm thy graces in us, and we ſhall not forſake thee.

The nature of the Serpent, is, not to forſake his young.

Δ. O Lord we depend onely on thee, and without thy grace and continual help, we periſh.

NOE. The Lord told Noe long before, the Flood would come, he believed him: Therefore he is ſafe in both worlds. The ſons in law of Lot, ſunk into Hell, for that they derided the words of God, and believed them not. His wife became a ſalt-ſtone, for that ſhe looked back, and did contrary to the Commandment of God. Moſes had the reward of his holineſſe in this world pluckt back, becauſe he ſaid, Can this, &c.

Moſes. Numeri 20. Num de petra hac vobis aquam poterimus eiicere.

I, as the meſſenger of God, am as one that ſay, Cave, Take heed that you become not ſon in laws, though you paſſe the fire, Take heed you look not back: for if you do, you ſhall not ſee the flood, neither ſhall the Lord put a vail betwixt you and vengeance, neither (I ſay) ſhall the promiſes of God come in your dayes. If God had taken you up into the heavens and placed you before his Throne, and told you the things that are to come, you would believe: But that you cannot do.

The Lord is merciful, he deſcendeth into your houſes, and there telleth you what is to come, where you may underſtand: But you believe him not. Therefore ſaith the Lord of you, I fear you will forſake your mother: But if you do it, I ſay, if you do it, I will make of the Mothes, men, that ſhall teſtifie my name. H.

E. K. I ever told you I do not believe them, nor can believe them, nor will deſire to believe them.

Faith. Obedience. Humility.

...... If you be faithful, you be able to comprehend: If you be obedient and humble, The Creatures of Heaven ſhall abide with you: Yea the Father and the Son, and the Holy Ghoſt ſhall make his dwelling with you. If you perſevere, even with faith and humility, you ſhall ſee the wicked dayes that are to come, enjoy the promiſes of God, and be partaker of thoſe bleſſed days that follow: For wonders unheard of, in, and of the world, are at hand. You are warned, The Spirit of God reſt with you.

A Caveat.

Δ. Amen.

Δ. O Lord, ſhall we continue in this wavering or ſtiff-necked willful blindneſſe, and frowardly keep out thy mercies and graces by our fleſhly ſenſe, and unreaſonable perſwaſion againſt the verity of thy true Miniſters?

Δ Cum maximis lachrymis hæc à me & valde ferventer ad Deum dicta erant.

1. All things are committed to thy charge.

Δ. O Lord as much as ever I can do by prayer or otherwiſe, I do, and yet I enjoy no fruit of my long travel.

2. Thou haſt ground, ſow if thou can.

Δ. How can I without further inſtructions and help? and now, when I require Ave to come, he cometh not: O Lord comfort me.

3. AVE ſhall come when thou haſt need of him.

Δ. In te Domine ſperavi, & ſpero, & ſperabo. In die Tribulationis exaudies me. Refugium meum, ſpes mea, vita & beatitudo mea Jeſu Chriſte, tibi cum Patre & Spiritu Sancto ſit omnis honor, laus, Gloria & Gratiarum actio Amen.

Monday, † Cracoviæ, Junii 2. Manè hora $\frac{1}{2}$.

Oratione dominica finita, & mora aliqua interpoſita, & aliquot aliis ex pſalterio recitatis precibus, & poſt varias meas ad Deum ejaculationes.

Poſt ſemihoram. At length Ave appeared to E. K. in the Shew-ſtone, &c.

Δ. O Lord, all honour, thanks, and praiſe, be unto thee, who heareſt the prayers of thy ſimple ſervant.

Δ. Firſt,

Δ. Firſt, for the reforming of diverſity of letters in the names written, I require your aid, unleſſe you will firſt ſay ſomewhat elſe.

By the ſame Jeſus who ſitteth on the right hand of his Father, and is the wiſdom of his Father, I requeſt you to proceed with us.

Ave. ...... So that the body of Chriſt, now, is glorified and immortal.

Δ. Moſt true it is --- Mors illi ultra non dominabitur.

Ave. ...... But as the Prophets, that were fullfiled with the Holy Ghoſt and Spirit of God, before Chriſt, taſted of him, in that he ſhould come as a Saviour, and in the ſeed of man; So is the Propheſie of this time, Chriſt being aſcended, in the ſame Spirit. But that Chriſt ſhall come in his glorified body, Triumphing againſt Satan, and all his enemies.

Adventus Chriſti.

Δ. So be it, O Lord.

Ave. ...... But that the words of the Propheſies may be fulfilled, It is neceſſary that the Earth ſwarm, and be glutted with her own fornication and idolatry: which, what it ſhall be, the ſame ſpirit will open unto you.

Δ. Fiat voluntas Dei.

Ave. ...... That you may not onely be wiſe in forſaking the world, and foreſeeing the dangers of perdition; But alſo preach the wonders of the ſame Chriſt, and his great mercies, which is to come and to appear in the cloudes with his body glorified. The Lord ſaid to Satan, I will give thee power, in the end over their bodies, and thou ſhall be caſt out into the fields, and that for my names ſake: But my Vineyard, and the fruit of my Harveſt, ſhalt thou not hinder. Thus my brethren hath the Lord loved you, Thus have the Treaſures of the Heavens opened themſelves unto you: But your faith ſpringeth not.

Our bodies to be caſt out into the fields.

Δ. It ſhall when it pleaſeth the Higheſt: We beſeech him to encreaſe our faith as ſhall be moſt for his honor and glory.

Ave. ...... But unto you it ſhall be reveалled, what ſhall come, after Morrows, after Dayes, Weeks, and Years: And unto you it ſhall be delivered, The Propheſie of the time to come, which is twelve: of the which you have but one.

Propheſie.
1 --- 11
12.

Δ. God make us faithful, true and diſcret ſervants.

Ave. ...... For God will ſhake this earth through a riddle, and knock the veſſels in pieces, throw down the ſeats of the proud, and eſtabliſh himſelf a ſeat of quietneſſe: that neither the Sun may ſhine upon the unjuſt, nor the garments be made of many pieces.

Regnum futurum.

Δ. All ſhall be in unity: unus paſtor, unum ovile, &c.

Ave. ...... Haſte therefore and be gone: as the Lord hath appointed you, that you may be ready for him, when he bringeth the ſickle. Purifie all the veſſels of your houſe, and gather more into it, *and when the Lord preſſeth, he will give you wine abundantly: And lo, the * forks are weary of their burdens: But be diligent, watchful,* and full of care: for Satan himſelf is very buſie with you. After dinner I will viſit you with inſtructions: But O my Brethren, be faithful, and perſevere; for the ſame ſpirit that teacheth the Church, teacheth you.

△. Be gone to the Emperour.
* That hold up the grapes.
Satan.
Faithful.
Spiritus Sanctus.

Δ. To the ſame Holy Spirit, with the Father and the Son, be all honor, power, glory and praiſe, now, and ever, Amen.

Julii 2. After Noon, Hora 1¼

Δ. Gloria Patri, & Filio & Spiritui Sancto ſicut erat in principio & nunc & ſemper & in ſecula ſeculorum. Amen.

E. K. Here he is now.

Δ. Nobis adſit, qui cuncta creavit.

Ave. ...... What will you?

Δ. If it pleaſe you, the ſolution of the former 8 queſtions firſt.

Δ. 1. As of the five Princes, which held up the traine of the King.

Ave. ...... The knowledge of them helpeth not now.

Δ. 2. Secondly of the Trumpeter, what it betokened.

Ave. ...... It hath no relation to theſe Tables.

Δ. 3. Of the letters in the Tranſverſary, I would know your will.

Ave. ...... They are, as the other, but for a peculiar practice.

Δ. 4. For Docepax and Tedoand referred diverſly, as I have noted, What is the cauſe of his diverſity?

Docepax. Tedoand.

Ave. ...... It was the fault of E. K. in reporting.

Δ. What is the very Truth?

Ave, ... Thou ſhalt be taught that, when thou haſt their Calls.
It belongeth to Nalvage his correction.

Calls.
Nalvage is to correct.

Δ. 5. As concerning the Etymologies of theſe names of God, we would be ſatisfied.

Ave ...... God is a Spirit, and is not able to be comprehended.

Δ. Some Notifying or Declaration, no full comprehenſion I require.

Ave. .... It is no part of mans underſtanding. They ſignifie all things, and they ſignifie nothing.

Ave. .... Who can expreſſe Jehovah what it ſignifieth. Deus ſignificat ad id quod agit.

Δ. As for the form of our Petition or Invitation of the good Angels, What ſort ſhould it be of?

Ave. .... A ſhort and brief ſpeech.

Δ. We beſeech you to give us an example : we would have a confidence, it ſhould be of more effect.

Ave. .... I may not do ſo.

E. K. And why?

Invocation.

Ave. .... Invocation proceedeth of the good will of man, and of the heat and fervency of the ſpirit : And therefore is prayer of ſuch effect with God.

Δ. We beſeech you, ſhall we uſe one form to all?

Ave. .... Every one, after a divers form.

Δ. If the minde do dictate or prompt a divers form, you mean.

Ave. ..... I know not : for I dwell not in the ſoul of man.

Δ. As concerning the diverſity of certain words in theſe Tables, and thoſe of the portions of the Earth delivered by Nalvage, What ſay you?

Ave. ..... The Tables be true.

Is it Aydropl, or Andropl?

Ave. ..... Both names be true, and of one ſignification. I have delivered you the Tables, ſo uſe them.

Δ. As concerning the Capital letters, have I done well?

The uſe of the letters.

Ave. ..... You have eaſily corrected that, and to good end; for every letter, and part of letter, hath his ſignification.

Δ. I beſeech you ſay ſomewhat of the N in Paraoan, of which you ſaid, ſo far as that ſtretched, ſhould ſink to hell.

Note.

Ave. ..... Every letter in Paraoan, is a living fire : but all of one quality and of one Creation: But unto N is delivered a viol of Deſtruction, according to that part that he is of Paraoan the Governour.

Δ. It may pleaſe you to name that Place, City, or Country, under that N.

Ave. ..... Ask Nalvage, and he will tell you.

Δ. As concerning the wicked here, Shall I call or ſummon them all, as I do the good ones in the name of God?

The wicked ſpirits are vile ſlaves.

Ave .... No man calleth upon the name of God in the wicked : They are ſervants and vile ſlaves.

Δ. We call upon the name of Jeſus in the expulſing of devils, ſaying in the name of Jeſus, &c.

Ave. .... That In, is againſt the wicked. No juſt man calleth upon the name of God, to allure the devil.

Δ. Then they are not to be named in the firſt ſummoning or invitation.

Ave. .... At no time to be called.

E. K. How then ſhall we proceed with them?

The Treaſures of the Earth.

Our words to the wicked that keep Treaſure.

Ave. .... When the Earth lieth opened unto your eyes, and when the Angels of Light, ſhall offer the paſſages of the Earth, unto the entrance of your ſenſes, (chiefly of ſeeing) Then ſhall you ſee the Treaſures of the Earth, as you go : And the caves of the Hills ſhall not be unknown unto you : Unto theſe, you may ſay, Ariſe, be gone, Thou art of deſtruction and of the places of darkneſſe : Theſe are provided for the uſe of man. So ſhalt thou uſe the wicked, and no otherwiſe.

Δ. This is as concerning the natural Mines of the Earth.

Ave. .... Not ſo, for they have nothing to do with the natural Mines of the Earth, but, with that which is corrupted with man.

Δ. As concerning the coined they have power to bring it.

Ave. So they may : that they keep, and no other.

Δ. How ſhall we know what they keep, and what they keep not?

Ave. .... Read my former words ; for thou doſt not underſtand them.

Δ. I read it : beginning at the firſt line on this ſide, when the Angels of Light, &c.

Δ. I mean of coined money that they keep not; How ſhall we do to ſerve our neceſſities with it?

Ave. .... The good Angels are Miniſters for that purpoſe. The Angels of the 4 angles ſhal make the Earth open unto you, and ſhall ſerve your neceſſities from the 4 parts of the Earth.

Δ. God make me a man of wiſdom in all parts, I beſeech him.

Δ. Note I had ſpoken ſomewhat of my part in Devonſhire Mines : and of the Daniſ Treaſures which were taken of the Earth.

Δ. Theſe our Queſtions being thus anſwered, now I refer the reſt to your inſtructio intended.

Invocations to be made.

Ave. .... You have the corn, and you have the ground : Make you but invocations to ſow th ſeed, and the fruit ſhall be plentiful.

Δ. As concerning our uſage in the 4 dayes in the 14 dayes, we would gladly have ſome information.

Ave. ..... You would know to reape, before your corn be ſown.

Δ. As concerning a fit place and time to call, and other circumſtances, we would learn ſomewhat.

Ave. ..... You would know where and when to call, before your invocations bear witneſſes of your readineſſe.

Δ. Then they muſt be written in verbis conceptis, in formal words.

Ave. ..... I —— a very eaſie matter.

Δ. What is the Book you mean that I ſhould write?

Ave. ..... The Book conſiſteth [1] of Invocation of the names of God, and [2] of the Angels, by the names of God: Their offices are manifeſt. You did deſire to be fed with ſpoones, and ſo you are.

The Book.

Δ. As concerning Bataiva, or Baataivh, I pray you not to be offended though I ask again, what is the truth?

Ave. ..... The word is but of ſix letters, whereof, one is on the left ſide, one on the right, two above, and two under; A and H are put to.

Δ. Sometimes or communiter, A, and in extremis Judiciis H as I was taught before.

Δ. So that the word is Bataiva, or Bataivh.

Δ. He meaneth of the left ſide of the ſquare center of the principal croſſe: not perfect ſquare, but heteromeces.

E. K. I think he be gone; for he made a ſign of the croſſe toward us, and drew the white Curtain.

Δ. As we ſate a while and talked of the Calls received in the holy Language, and not yet Engliſhed, there was a voice.

..... You ſhall have thoſe Calls in Engliſh on Thurſday. And ſo ask me no more queſtions.

Δ. Thanks, honour, and glory, be to our Creator, Redeemer, and Sanctifier, now and ever, Amen.

The Calls to be had in Engliſh on Thurſday next.

Thurſday, † Cracoviæ, Julii, 5. Manè, hora, 8. ferè.

Oratione dominica finita aliiſque extemporaneis ejaculationibus ad Deum, & repetito promiſſo ultimorum verborum de Angelica interpretatione 14. illarum invocationum, quas à 14 Maii ultimi recepimus, tandem apparuerunt, Gabriel in Cathedra & Nalvage.

Gabriel in his Chair, and Nalvage with the Table, or rather Globe with the letters in it, &c.

Δ. Bleſſed be our God alwayes, for his mercies: his graces be with us, now and ever.

E. K. Gabriel ſtandeth up.

Gab. ..... Dictum eſt ſæpe vobis, perſeverate uſque ad finem.

Δ. God give us that ability.

Gab. ..... And why is it ſaid ſo? but becauſe you ſhall have many temptations and afflictions: after which come conſolation and comfort.

If the Smith prove and temper his Gold by fire, his intent is to excell in the work that he hath in hand: that thereby it might be tryed, refined, and made apt, to the end wherein it ſhall be uſed: Much more, think you, doth the God of wiſdom, forge, try, and beat out, ſuch as he intendeth to uſe in the execution of his divine and eternal purpoſes. How therefore can you find fault with the Lord? How can you ſay, he dealeth not juſtly with you? when he ſuffereth you to be proved to the uttermoſt. If you pay the uttermoſt farthing, are you not become free? If you feel affliction and temptation, and withſtand it, are you not the more pure? the more juſtified? for the Vineyard and Harveſt of the Lord? O yes, my Brethren; for the more the wiſe man is afflicted, the more he rejoyceth; And the greater his adverſity is, the more he proſpereth.

Is it not written? No man cometh to the Lord but he is juſtified, purified, and accepted. Whence therefore (if you ſeek to come before the Lord, that is to ſay, to appear, to be bleſſed) ſhall your juſtification or purifying ariſe? Of your own nature it cannot; for you were born ſinners: But by Chriſt you may: In whom you are juſtified, through patience, and reſiſting temptations. True proof, and touch of man: But me thinketh I hear you ſay, O, if we were rich, or of ability. True it is, for the duſt of the earth many men excel you: But in that you ſpeak with God, in us his Angels (that is to ſay Meſſagers) you are not onely happy (which happineſſe the others want) but you excell all the creatures of the Earth.

Our great Priviledge with God.

O my Brethren, their joy is a bitter-ſweet: But the comfort that you have, is eternal, is ſweet, and a food for ever. Therefore, if you will be eternal, and in perpetual comfort with joy, deſpiſe the world for the worlds ſake: and delight in God for his mercies; which if you truly do, Then can no Tempeſt prevail, no affliction come amiſſe, nor no burden be too heavy for you: For it is written, Gaudium beatorum eſt Chriſtus: Cui Mundus omnia mala fecit.

O my Brethren, be contented, and ſuffer the world: for as Chriſt in vanquiſhing her, did prove himſelf the Son of God: So ſhall you in reſiſting her, at laſt overcome, and be accounted the ſons of

Dee. God in Chriſt, of whom you are a follower. John Dee, be of comfort, for thou ſhalt overcome.

Δ. God be praiſed therefore.

E. K. And what do you ſay of me?

Δ. If I prevail, Satan ſhall not have his will of you: for

Gab. ...... But unto thee [E.K.] ſaith the Lord, Take heed, how thou meddleſt with hell, leſt it ſwallow thee.

Have patience, a time.

E. K. They be gone out of ſight.

Δ. In the mean time we read over the premiſſes twice, to our great comfort.

E. K. Now they be here again,

Now is a Cloud over them, all white like a ſmoke.

A voice...... Move not, for the place is holy ——— By a great hollow voice.

E. K. Why ſhould it be holy.

Δ. ——— The Court is, where the King is: So where the Lord is preſent, the place is accounted holy, and is ſo.

E. K. Now they be out of the Cloud.

Δ. After this, they made another pauſe: longer than before.

E. K. When ſhall we practice Ave his Calls, &c.

Gab. ...... My brother, thou haſt leaſt care: Thou draweſt both of God and man. That is promiſed thee, ſhall be payed thee; and that which is to come, thou ſhalt be partaker of

His fee of 4.L. of 400 Dollers yearly.

[Δ. To E. K. for he hath no care neither for meat, nor drink for him and his, neither is he deſtitute of 400 Dollers yearly penſion, and is to have ſome help by Art.]

Nal. ..... Say the firſt word of the Call.

Gab S dix.

Δ. Sapáh It is the fifth, for 4 being Engliſhed.

E. K. He holdeth up all his hand, and on his thumb ſtandeth written ——— and on the fingers orderly very big letters.

The Spirits of the fourth Angle are

There was no word there that ſignified Nine, the third word ſhould be E M.

Δ. It is yet a myſtery to what book theſe, and ſuch words have relation, they are in every Call following.

Nine mighty in the firmament
of waters,
whom
the firſt
hath planted a Torment to the wicked,
and a Garland to the righteous;
giving unto them
fiery darts
to vanne the earth
and 7699 continual Workmen,
whoſe courſes
viſit with comfort
the earth,
and are in government
and continuance as the ſecond
and the third:

That word thou haſt not, it is Acdm.

Wherefore Hearken unto my voice,
I have talked of you
and
I move you
in power and preſence, whoſe works
ſhall be a Song of honour and the praiſe of your God
in your Creation. Δ 6 2

E. K. Like a cloud covereth between me & the things in the air.

Nal. :...., That is one.

E. K. Now he plucketh the Curtain over all.

Δ. Becauſe you ſaid that Acam betokening 7699. was to be put in his place: I have viewed and numbred, and I find the words of the Call, more, than the Engliſh parcells, by many: For the Engliſh parcels are 41, and the Call hath above 50.

A voice....... You have O D the fourth word of that Call; The whole Call is placed there, and ought to be the next. Number the words of the next Call.

Sapáh.

Δ. So that the next Call ought to have this Engliſh.

E. K. Now he ſheweth again.

Nal, ...

Nal.... The mighty ſounds have entered into the third Angle,
and
are become as Olives
in the Olive Mount,
looking with gladneſſe
upon the earth, E. K.
and Clouds.
* dwelling in the brightneſſe
of the Heavens
as continual comforters,
unto whom,
I faſtened
Pillars of gladneſſe
nineteen —— That is Af that word have not there.
and gave them veſſels to water
the earth
with her Creatures,
and
they are the brothers
of the firſt
and ſecond,
and the beginning of their own ſeats,
which are garniſhed
with continual burning Lamps
69636. Nal..... whose Peral you want that word.
numbers
are as
the firſt,
the ends
and
the Contents of time.
Therefore, E. K. Now all the fingers are bowed downward.
Come ye
and obey
your Creation,
viſit us in peace
and comfort, conclude us
as receivers
of their myſteries,
for why?
Our Lord and Maſter Δ 5 is all one. 1

Nal. ....

E K Clouds came between. E.K. His eyes and the ſhew-ſtone.

E K. Clouds. Fortè ſic.

* Dwelling in the brightneſſe of the heavens as continual comforters.

Nal. ..... That is it that went before.

E. K. Now he draweth the Curtain.

Δ. I underſtand this to be the Engliſh of the fifth Call; and that before of the ſixth: the Numbers of the parcels ſeem to agree. So that we have now the Engliſh of the fifth and ſixth Call. Thanked be God. E, M, Af. and Peoal, three words which you ſaid we had not, I finde them in the Calls: your meaning perhaps is ſome other then the common words.

E. K. Now he hath opened again.

A mighty Guard of fires,
with two edged ſwords
flaming,
which have
the Viols eight of wrath
for two times
and a half,
whoſe
wings
are of Wormwood,
and
of the marrow
of ſalt have ſetled
their feet
in the Weſt,
and
are meaſured
with their Miniſters, 9996 ---- That is,

Nal ....
That is P. you have not mark the myſterie.

These C.al, that you have not.
gather up the Meſſe
of the earth,
[as] the rich man
doth
his Treaſure, curſed
are they whoſe iniquities
they are,
in their eyes
are Milſtones, greater
then the earth.
And
from their mouths
runne Seas
of bloud:
Their heads are covered with Diamond,
and upon their hands
are Marble
ſleeves.
Happy is he on whom they frown not:
For why?
the God of righteouſneſſe
rejoyceth
in them.
Come away,
And not
your viols.
For,
the time
is ſuch as requireth comfort.

Δ 5
9

The ninth.

Weſt.

E.K. Now he draweth the Curtain.

Δ. As I was comparing the Call to this Engliſh, a voyce ſaid.

Nall....., It is the next Call.

Δ. I underſtand it to be the fourth Call, or

E. K. Now he openeth.

The midday the firſt,
is as the third Heaven
made of Hiacinct pillars
26.
In whom the Elders
are become ſtrange,
which
I have prepared for my own righteouſneſſe, ſaith the Lord,
whoſe long continuance ſhall be as Buckles
to the ſtouping Dragons,
and

Nal ... Ox: And that you have not.

like unto the Harveſt
of a Widow.
How many are there which remain in the glory
of the earth,
which are,
and ſhall not ſee
death untill
this houſe
fall,
and the Dragon
ſink.
Come away.
For,
the Thunders
have ſpoken:

△. I underſtand the end of this earth, &c.

Come away.
For,
the Crowns
of the Temple,
and
the Coat of him, that is, was, and ſhall be Crowned are divided.
Come appear to the terrour
of the earth
and to our comfort,
and
of ſuch
as 4
are prepared △ 8

E. K. Now he hath covered all again.

△. As I was ſpeaking of his diverſities, ſaying, This you have not, and this you have not. A voyce ſaid: Some you have, and ſome you have not, whether you have, or have not, it is a myſtery.

E. K. There is a little fire in the ſtone, going about it like a little Candle.

The Curtain is open, and a great Cloud over them.

Now they appear clear.

The Thunders of Judgement and wrath.

are numbred
and are harboured
in the North,
in the likeneſſe
of an Oak,
whoſe branches
are Neaſts
22.

Op..... That you have not.

of lamentation
and weeping, laid up
for the earth,
that times 5678.
in the 24th.
parte

That is Daox that you have not.

of a moment roar
with an hundred —— Torb.
mighty Earth-quakes.
And
a Thouſand —— Math.
ſurges
which reſt not [or] labour ſtill, neither know.

Ol. That you have not.

E. K. Now cometh a Cloud over them very white like ſmoke.

Now they appear again.

Which
burn night
and day.
And
vomit out the heads of Scorpions,
and live Sulphur, mingled with poyſon.
Theſe be

the Thunders
any time
here.
One rock bringeth out
a thouſand —— Math.
even as the heart of man doth his thoughts,
wo, wo, wo,
wo, wo, wo,

Nal...... Math. you have it not.

Yea, wo
be to the earth,
for th
her iniquity
is,
was,
and ſhall be great.
Come away.
But
not 6
your noyſes. 10

E. K. Now the Curtain is drawn again, after a quarter of an hour.

E. K. Now

E. K. Now he appeareth.

Nal. ..... Conſider by theſe, whoſe buſineſſe you have in hand.

O you
that range
in the South,
and are — Oh...... That you have not.
28. the Lanterns of ſorrow binde up your girdles,
and Viſit us,
Bring down your train 3663. that
the Lord
may be magnified,
whoſe name
amongſt you △ 8
is wrath, &c. 12

Mian......

...... Here muſt words in the end of the firſt Call, follow at Move, &c.

△. But this Call, it differeth a little expreſly.

△. They are the 14 laſt words, in the holy language thus: Zacar e ca, od zamran, odo ic. Qua, Zorge, lap zirdo Noco Mad, Hoath Jaida.

Another ——
The mighty ſeat
groaned,
and there were Thunders
5.
which flew into the Eaſt,
and the Eagle
ſpake,
and cried with a loud voyce
Come away
and △ 7
they gathered them- 11
O..... ſelves together
and became the houſe
of death,
of whom

There is no language for theſe words in the Call.

it is meaſured,
and
it is as they are whoſe
Number
is 31 ——————— Ga.
Come away.
For — Gabr.
I prepare —— } or, have prepared.
for you.

Note. Then begin at the firſt Call, Move, as before.

E. K. Now they appear.

O thou
the governour
of the firſt flame
under whoſe
wings
are 6739. which weave
the earth
with drineſſe,
which know of the great name
Righteouſneſſe,
and the ſeat △ 11
of Honour 15

...... —— I le meſe: Wedneſday, Julii 11. dixit hic deeſt.
Of the firſt flame.

At large.
Darg......
Of the firſt flame.

Nal...... Then move as before, &c.

O you ſons — Sons,
of fury, — Daughters.
the daughters of the juſt,
which ſit — Nal.... on — Ol.....
24 ſeats vexing
all creatures
of the earth
with age
which have under you — Nal.....
1636. — Quar.
Behold,
the voyce
of God,
the promiſe
of him
which is called amongſt you — Nal.....
Furie —————— or extream
——————— Juſtice.

△ 10
14

....., Move, as before.

O you ſwords
of the South
which have — Nalvage.
42 ———— Ux.
eyes to ſtir up
the wrath
of ſin, making men drunken which are empty.
Behold,
the promiſe
of God
and his power,
which is called amongſt you △
A bitter ſting. 9
13

...... Move, as before, &c.

E. K. Now all is covered.

E. K. Now it is open again.

O thou mighty light,
and burning flame of comfort
which openeſt
the glory
of God
to the Center
of the earth,
In whom

the Eran --

the ſecrets of Truth 6332 have their abiding which

is called in thy Kingdom
JOY,
and

not to be meaſured.
Be thou a window of comfort 18 unto me. [14]

...... Move as before.

△ This is the 14 as I received them in the holy Language.

O thou
ſecond flame,
the houſe of Juſtice
which haſt
thy beginning in glory,
and ſhalt comfort

the Juſt, which walkeſt
on the earth
with feet 8763 —— Emod.
that underſtand
and ſeparate Creatures

great art
thou
in the god of Stretch forth and Conquer.

△ [12] 16

...... Move, &c.

E. K. They have covered all with the Curtain.

Faxs---- Faxes or Faxis to be found. d. I find in the Call Taxs. I finde alſo in ſome words T or F indifferently uſed. [△. 13] [17]

O thou
third flame,
whoſe
wings
are thorns
to ſtir up

vexation and haſt
7336
Lamps living going before thee,

whoſe God
is Wrath in Anger.
Gird up
thy loynes
and hearken.

..... Move, as before, &c.

A voice. ..... Upon Monday you ſhall have the reſt.

△. The God of Hoſts be praiſed, his name extolled, and his verity prevail to the comfort of his Elect. Amen

A voice. ..... The Eternal God bleſſe you. We have no more now.

△. Amen, Amen, Amen. Hora 12.

NOTE. △. Upon my conſidering (immediately) of theſe Engliſhed Calls, and the Angelical Language belonging to them, I find that here are but 13 Engliſhed of the 14 which are in the third Cracovien Volume contained : and here wanteth the Engliſh of the third of thoſe 14.

Beſides this, you may conſider that theſe Engliſh Calls keep this order as followeth : and to make it a more perfect account from the beginning of the firſt Call of All (being long ſince Engliſhed, and three more) Then have we 18 Calls, whereof 17 are Engliſhed.

Note, the third of the third Book, which is the ſeventh, from the beginning, is not yet Engliſhed.
Vide poſt Julii 11. hora 4.
There is the Call Engliſhed,

The total ſumme from the very beginning.	The Numbers of the Third Book, Cracovien.	The Engliſhed Calls of this Book.
6	2	1
5	1	2
9	5	3
8	4	4
10	6	5
12	8	6
11	7	7
15	11	8
14	10	9
13	9	10
18	14	11
17	13	12
16	12	13

NOTE. Ergo, there lack yet 30 Calls, for the 30 Aires, &c. (beſides the Engliſh of the ſeventh or third, in the third Book contained) and ſo ſhall there be 48 Calls : For the firſt Table, is no Call : although there be letters gathered, but made into no words ; as you may ſee, before the firſt Call of all.

Saturday,

Saturday, Julii 7. Manè hora 6 ¼ † Cracoviæ.

Oratione Dominica finita, aliiſque tam ad Deum quam ipſum Ave petitionibus, requirebam Judicium ipſius Ave de meis tam ad Deum quam bonos ejus angelos factis orationibus. Poſt vix quartam horæ partem apparuit.

Ave. ..... If the words or truth of our teſtimony and meſſage, were, or were contained within the capacity of man, Then might the Devil thruſt in himſelf, and diſſemble the Image of Truth: But becauſe it is of Truth, and of him that beareth teſtimony of himſelf, it can neither have affinity with the fleſh, nor be ſpoken of in this ſenſe.

Lo, thus, deceitfully, hath the Devil entred into man.

Δ. Bleſſed be the Lord of all truth.

Ave. ..... Therefore ſeeing the word is not corruptible, Thoſe that miniſter the word, cannot dwell in corruption. I ſpeak not this, without a cauſe, my brethren.

Δ. I pray you to proceed, accordingly, that we may know the cauſe, if it be your will: or elſe leaving this Caveat unto us, to proceed to the matter wherein we required your helping hand to correct or confirm, or to do that which is behooful.

Ave. ..... For, which of you have ſought the Lord, for the Lord his cauſe or ſake?

Δ. That, God can be judge.

Ave. ...... Or in which of you hath due obedience; either to the word, or unto us that are ſanctified by the word, been faithfully performed?

Δ. My points of errour, and diſobedience I beſeech you to Notifie, that I may amend them.

Ave. ..... It may be, you will ſay, we have laboured, and we have watched, yea we have called on the name of the Lord. What have you done that you ought not to do, yea, a thouſand times more?

Δ. We vaunt nothing of any our doings, nor challenge any thing by any perfection of our doings.

Ave. ...... Shall the hireling ſay, I have laboured hard? or doth the good ſervant think he meriteth his wages? It is not ſo But you do ſo; Therefore you are neither worthy of your reward, nor the name of faithful ſervants.

Δ. No Lord, we challenge nothing upon any merits; but flie unto thy mercy, and that we crave and call for.

Ave. ...... You do wickedly and injuſtly: yea you credit the Lord, as you do your ſelves: your faith is the faith of men, and not of the faithful.

Many things have I ſaid unto you from the beginning, (ſaith the God of Juſtice) which you have heard, and not believed: But you tempt me, and provoke me; yea you ſtir me up to be angry with you.

Δ. If thy Anger ſhall be on us, beſide the ſorrow of this world, tentations of the feind, &c. Then are we not able to endure.

...... Anſwer not me, and hear what the Lord ſaith unto thee: Satan laugheth you to ſcorn; for he ſaith unto the Lord, ſtanding before him, Are theſe they whom thou delivered'ſt from the perils of the Seas, and from the hands of the wicked, whom the windes were a comfort to, and thy Countenance a Lanthorn? But the Lord ſeemeth not to hear him: for he knoweth it is true. My brethren, you ſeek the world more than you ſeek to perform the will of God: as though God could not rain Gold and Margarits amongſt you: As though the breath of God were not able to beat down the whole earth before you. O you faithleſſe Creatures: O ye hypocrites in the Vineyard of the Lord: O you unworthy ſervants of ſuch a Maſter. Neither unto Abraham, nor unto Noe, nor unto any other Patriarchs or Prophets, hath God done more merciful unto, than unto you. To Abraham he ſaid, When I return at this time of the year, Thou ſhalt have a ſon. Unto Noe he ſaid, Build thee a Ship: Make up the Ark, Thus and thus, it ſhall be: for the people ſhall periſh.

The great and peculiar mercies of God ſhewed on us.

You remember not that Joſeph was ſold by his brethren; or if you do, it may be, you think it is a fable: If you think it to be true, Then conſider how he eſcaped the Pit; Conſider he was ſold, and ſo became a bondman: But who changed the imagination and ſenſe of his brethren? who (I ſay) came between their Tyranny and his innocency? What was he that made him free? that brought him before Pharaoh*? yea, and that which is more, made him reign over* Pharaoh: Was it not the ſame God, that dealeth with you?

Geneſ. 27.

O ye of little faith, and ſtarvelings, withered graſſe, and blaſted willows: What and if you were in hell, could he not deliver you? If you become bondmen, cannot he make you free? If you be in priſon, cannot he deliver you? Cannot he compaſſe your neck with a chain? But Satan ſaith, Lo, they ſay, they have a long Journey: It is neceſſary that God comfort thoſe that put their truſt in him. Euge, O ho O you beggerly ſtarvelings, Hath not the ſame God, the ſame Raphael that he had... Yes verily, a thouſand a hundred, and a thouſand and a hundred thouſand thouſands that are, and more than Raphael for the help and comfort of the faithful.

When Herod ſought to kill the ſon of God, in that he was man: his Father delivered him not with a mighty wind, nor with beating down of Lords Palaces; but by a dream appeared unto Joſeph, ſaying, flee, Herod ſeeketh the child his life. Note the manner of his warning, The manner

Up and be gone.
Stephen Bathor King of Poland.

ner of his departure : But hear what the Lord ſaid in the end. Return, for he that ſought the Child his life, is now dead. Why, I ſay, you rotten Reeds, worſe than the excrements of the Fens, have not you greater warning? Wherefore is it ſaid unto you, Up and be gone, but that the Lord ſeeth the thoughts of man ? even of him which ſeeketh your deſtruction ; Even of this wicked King which ſeeketh to deſtroy Laskie.

N[illegible] of the d[illegible]h of the righteous now [illegible]
Flee.

Could not the ſame Lord, conſume that wicked monſter and ſeller of his people, (which tarryeth for a time) with the fire of his mouth? Yes, but that he hath given all things a time. Thoſe that are righteous are often times taken away becauſe of temptations that are to come : But the wicked are ſuffered to continue, becauſe they might be more heavy, and ſink deeper : But, (for love) I ſay unto you, my brethren, Flee the miſchiefs that are to come, and go forward in the ſervice of the Higheſt, that you may enjoy the promiſes that are made you, and be partakers of the happy dayes to come.

But 10. dayes.

Take heed of whoredom, and the provocations of the fleſh. For why ? theſe things that we ſay, are not without their cauſe. You have but ten dayes to tarry (if you will follow my counſel) But if you linger any longer, you may drink of a Cup that you would not. Wherefore doth God warn you, but that he would be juſt with you? Hath he not the whole Earth to ſerve him ? Believe me, by the teſtimony we bear, that the good Angels weep over you ; for, as you are particularly called, ſo have you your particular and unaccuſtomed temptations. But pray unto God, that you may prevail. Nititur enim, omnibus modis, Sathanas ut vos devoret.

Particular Temptations.

Provide for this Journey.
Spiritus ſanctus.
Be gone.

It is ſaid unto you, If you provide for this Journey, &c. That word is as ſure as the ſtrongeſt rock in the world. Conſidering that you were warned by the ſame Spirit (whereof I ſpeak) being witneſſe of himſelf, and by us, which bear witneſſe of him ; Give ear, gird up your ſelves, and be gone : For, even at the very doors, are miſchief. After a while I have ſomewhat elſe to ſay unto you.

E. K. He covereth all with the white Curtain.

Δ. We read and conſidered theſe premiſes ſomewhat diligently.

Δ. Afterward, [Ave] he came again, and (after a pauſe) ſaid as followeth.

Enoch.
The Book confirmed.

Ave …… My brother, I ſee thou doſt not underſtand the myſtery of this Book, or work thou haſt in hand But I told thee, it was the knowledge that God delivered unto Enoch. I ſaid alſo, that Enoch laboured 50 dayes. Notwithſtanding, that thy labour be not fruſtrate, and void of fruit, Be it unto thee, as thou haſt done.

Δ. Lord I did the beſt that I could conceive of it.

Ave. …… I will tell thee, what the labour of Enoch was for thoſe fifty dayes.

Δ. O Lord I thank thee.

Nal. Ave. It is a kind of ſlate ſtone.
50 Dayes labour.

He made, (as thou haſt done, thy book) Tables, of Serpaſan aud plain ſtone : as the Angel of the Lord appointed him ; ſaying, tell me (O Lord) the number of the dayes that I ſhall labour in. It was anſwered him 50.

Enoch his prayer to God.

Then he groaned within himſelf, ſaying, Lord God the Fountain of true wiſdom, thou that openeſt the ſecrets of thy own ſelf unto man, thou knoweſt mine imperfection, and my inward darkneſſe : How can I (therefore) ſpeak unto them that ſpeak not after the voice of man; or worthily call on thy name, conſidering that my imagination is variable and fruitleſſe , and unknown to my ſelf ? Shall the Sands ſeem to invite the Mountains : or can the ſmall Rivers entertain the wonderful and unknown waves ?

Can the veſſel of fear, fragility, or that is of a determined proportion, lift up himſelf, heave up his hands, or gather the Sun into his boſom ? Lord it cannot be : Lord my imperfection is great : Lord I am leſſe than ſand : Lord, thy good Angels and Creatures excell me far : our proportion is not alike ; our ſenſe agreeth not : Notwithſtanding I am comforted ; For that we have all one God, all one beginning from thee, that we reſpect thee a Creatour : Therefore will I call upon thy name, and in thee, I will become mighty. Thou ſhalt light me, and I will become a Seer ; I will ſee thy Creatures, and will magnifie thee amongſt them. Thoſe that come unto thee have the ſame gate, and through the ſame gate, deſcend, ſuch as thou ſendeſt. Behold, I offer my houſe, my labour, my heart and ſoul, If it will pleaſe thy Angels to dwell with me, and I with them; to rejoyce with me, that I may rejoyce with them ; to miniſter unto me, that I may magnifie thy name. Then, lo the Tables (which I have provided, and according to thy will, prepared) I offer unto thee, and unto thy holy Angels, deſiring them, in and through thy holy names : That as thou art their light, and comforteſt them, ſo they, in thee will be my light and comfort. Lord they preſcribe not laws unto thee, ſo it is not meet that I preſcribe laws unto them : What it pleaſeth thee to offer, they receive ; So what it pleaſeth them to offer unto me, will I alſo receive. Behold I ſay (O Lord) If I ſhall call upon them in thy name, Be it unto me in mercy, as unto the ſervant of the Higheſt. Let them alſo manifeſt unto me, How, by what words, and at what time, I ſhall call them. O Lord, Is there any that meaſure the heavens, that is mortal? How, therefore, can the heavens enter into mans imagination ? Thy Creatures are the Glory of thy countenance : Hereby thou glorifieſt all things, which Glory excelleth and (O Lord) is far above my underſtanding. It is great wiſdom, to ſpeak and talke according to underſtanding with

One Creatour of all things.
A Seer.
The Call of Angels.

LIBRI CRACOVIENSIS MYSTICUS APERTORIUS,

Julii, 12. 1584.

PRÆTEREA PROOEMIUM MADIMIANUM,

Libri primi, Pragenſis Cæſareique, Anno 1584.

Augusti 15. Stilo Novo.

Liber 5. Cracovienſium Myſteriorum Apertorius.
Thurſday, Julii 12. Anno 1584.

YARRY	to the providence	Yár ry.
ID*UIGO *O	of him that ſitteth on the holy Throne	Id ůi-go. I d oi go.

△. Note the wicked power dazeled ſo the eyes of E. K. that he could not well diſcern this O, but ſtaying at it a while concluded it to be an V: which afterward, and by and by, he corrected.

The Curtain being plucked.

Ile. ..... Have Patience.

△. As we were talking of the name of God Idoigo in Enoch his Tables, a voice ſaid.

A voice ...... Where the moſt force was, the Devil crept moſt in. Herein the Devil thought to deceive you.

△. It muſt be then I doigo?

OD	and	Od.
TORZULP	roſe up	Tor zulp.
IAODAF	in the beginning	$\overset{Y}{I}$a ó daf.
GOHOL	ſaying,	Go hól.
CAOSGA	The earth,	Ca óſ ga.
TABAORD	let her be governed	Ta ba ord.
SAANIR	by her parts;	Sa á nir.
OD	and	Od.
CHRISTEOS	let there be	Chris té os.
YRPOIL	diviſion	Yr pó il.
TIOBL	in her,	Ti óbl.
BUSDIRTILB	that the glory of her	Buſ dir tilb.

NOALN

NOALN	May be	No aln.
PAID	alwayes	pa id.
ORSBA	drunken	Orſ ba.
OD	and	Od.
DODRMNI	vexed	Dodrumni. Dod rm ni.
ZYLNA	in it ſelf.	Zyl na.
ELZAPTILB	Her courſe,	El zap tilb.
PARMGI	Let it run	Parm gi.
PIRIPSAX	with the Heavens,	Pe rip ſax.
OD	and	Od.
TA	as	Ta.
QURLST	an handmaid.	Kurlſt. Qurlſt.

Il. ...... Have patience a little. E. K.

E. K. Now they are here again.

BOOAPIS	Let her ſerve them	B o o a p i S.
LNIBM	one ſeaſon :	Lnib m.
OUCHO	Let it confound	Choſe. O v Cho.
SYMP	another,	Symp.
OD	and	Od.
CHRISTEOS	let there be	Chris te os.
AGTOLTORN	no Creature	A g tol torn.
MIRC	upon,	Mirk. Mirc.
Q	or	Q.
TIOBL	within her	Ti ob l.
LEL	the ſame	Lel.
TON	...... one and the ſame. All	Ton.
PAOMBD	her members	Pa Ombd.
DILZMO	let them differ	Dil zmo.
ASPIAN	in their qualities,	As pi an.

Wedneſday, Julii 11. à Meridie, hora 4.

Δ. At the firſt looking the Curtain appeared to E. K. his ſight.

Δ. When it ſhall pleaſe thee, O God, we are deſirous to receive wiſdom from thee.

Δ. At ſix of the Clock appeared a little one, yellow, like a little Childe: his hair fine yellow, and a very amiable face.

To avoid reproach, and for the truth of the word I viſit you, inſtead of Nalvage, which cannot come. I am Ile Meſe, the ſervant of the higheſt, which inſtead of Nalvage, will, and am able to ſupply his place.

NOTE. Ilemeſe. Δ. He is one of ſigillo Dei, one of the ſeptenarii whereof, Ave and... are The Tranſlation of the Call into Engliſh.

Δ. So be it in the name of Jeſus.

Ilem. .... Many, and ſtrong are your enemies, both bodily and ghoſtly: But be you ſtrong, and you ſhall prevail.

Therefore ſay, what you will have me do.

Δ. That (if it pleaſe you) that Nalvage would have done.

The Eaſt is a houſe of Virgins.

Many enemies bodily and ghoſtly.

Δ. He diſtinguiſheth it not by fingers.

Ile. ...... Well, you ſhall have fingers.

Singing praiſes
amongſt
the flames of firſt glorie, wherein
the Lord hath opened his mouth
and they are become Twenty eight living dwellings,
in whom
the ſtrength of man
rejoyceth.
and they are apparail'd

Ile.....
Ni,
That you have not.

with ornaments ſo bright ſuch as work wonders
on all creatures,
whoſe
Kingdoms
and continuance are as the third and fourth ſtrong Towers
and places of comfort.
The ſeat of mercy
and continuance.
O you ſervants of mercy.

Move,
appear,
ſing praiſes
unto the Creator,
and
be mighty amongſt us,
for unto this remembrance is given
power,
and our ſtrength
waxeth ſtrong
in our comforter.

Ile. ...... Lo, there you have it.

Δ. I pray you to conſider of the form of the promiſe, for we were promiſed to receive the Calls we looked for, and ſo to be fit for the 49 Gates, &c. If this you have done, be the performance of thoſe the words of Gabriel, or no, I pray you conſider. Vide Supra.

Ile. ...... For the thirty Calls, or thirty Call, to morrow at the fourth hour, I will eaſe you ſufficiently.

Thurſday at four of the Clock afternoon.

Δ. I beſeech you (if I ſhall not offend to requeſt it) What is the cauſe of Gabriel and Nalvage their abſence?

Ile. ..... Spiritual Contention between Satan and them, and more then man can, or may underſtand.

Δ. Then I pray you, why was not this ſupply ſent at the time appointed?

Ile. ..... It is not of God, to think that God is of time. All things are tied unto him, and nothing can be ſeparated from him. Notwithſtanding, he may ſeparate himſelf from them. But you ſhall underſtand, that theſe nineteen Calls.

Nineteen Calls received.

Δ. There are but 18. beſides the firſt to God.

...... There are nineteen beſides the firſt] are the Calls, or entrances into the knowledge of the myſtical Tables: Every Table containing one whole leaf, whereunto you need no other circumſtances.

The uſe of theſe 19 Calls.

1. The firſt Call beginneth	Ol Sonf.
In Engliſh	I raign.
2. The ſecond beginneth	Adgt.
In Engliſh	Can.
3. The Call of the third Table beginneth	Micma.
In Engliſh	Behold.

E. K. A white cloud cometh about him, but hideth him not.

Ile. ...... But you muſt underſtand that in ſpeaking of the firſt Table, I ſpeak of the ſecond. So that the ſecond, with you is the firſt.

4. As this laſt, behold is the fourth, but with you the third.

Δ. It is the ſeventh: but the third of the fourteenth.

Ile. ..... It is the Call of the third.

5. The next —— in Engliſh is I have ſet Otherwiſe —— O thil.

6. The ſixth —— The mighty ſounds.
Otherwiſe —— Saphah.

7. The ſeventh —— The ſpirits
Gah.

8. The eight —— The Eaſt
ROa.

Ilem. ..... Look that, that you call the third.

△. It is Raas.

9. The next —— The midday the firſt
Baſenn lo, or Baſemlo.

10. —————— A mighty
Micaoli.

11. —————— The Thunders of judgement and wrath
Coraaxo.

There cometh a white bright Cloud about him.

12. —————— The mighty ſeat
Sai
Ox Cai al.

E. K. Every time he ſpeaketh, he pulleth fire out of his mouth, and caſteth it from him.

13. —————— O you
Nonci.

14. —————— O you ſwords Napti.

E. K. Now a white Cloud goeth round.

15. —————— O you ſons
No Romi.

16. —————— O thou the Governour
Ils Tabaam

Il. ..... There you lack the third word?

△. What is that?

...... Of the firſt flame, it anſwereth to L al purt.
You had not the expoſition of the third word.

17. O ye of the ſecond flame.
Ils vivi a purt.

18. —————— O thou third flame.
Ils di al part.

19. O thou mighty light
Il micalZo al part.

Thus you have not loſt your labour.

E. K. Now he wrappeth the Cloud that was under him about his head.

...... God be with you.

E. K. Saw him go upward.

△. Glory be to God, praiſe and honour for. Amen.

Thurſday, Julii 12. à Mere hora 4. † Cracoviæ.

Oratione Dominica finita, & breviter ad Ilemeſe quibuſdam dictis.

E. K. The Curtain appeared at the firſt looking.

△. Now in the name of Jeſus, as concerning thoſe 30 Calls, or thirty Call, we await your information of Ilemeſe.

△. Af-

△. After divers parcels of our Actions paſt with Nalvage being read, which were very well of us liked, at length Ilemeſe appeared: and after he had ſhewed himſelf (the Curtain being opened) he drew the Curtain to again. Ileméſe.

△. I then ſaid three Prayers out of the Pſalms, &c.

E. K. Now he ſtandeth as Nalvage uſed to do, upon the Globe with the rod in his hand: And Gabriel ſitteth by.

△. In the name of the eternal and everlaſting God ſay on.

E. K. Now the Globe turneth ſwiftly, and he pointeth to letters thus, with the rod which Nalvage was wont to uſe.

MADRIIAX	O you heavens	△. I think this word wanteth as may appear by Madriax, about 44 words from the end.	Ileméſe.
DSPRAF	which dwell	Ds praf.
LIL	In the firſt air	Lil.
CHISMICAOLZ	are mighty	Kis Chis Micáolz.

Gab. ...... Move not, for the place is holy.

△. Hallowed be his name, that ſanctifieth whatſoever is ſanctified.

SAANIR	in the parts	Sa á nir.	Ile.
CAOSGO	of the earth	Ca ós go.
OD
FISIS	and execute	Od fiſis.
BALZIZRAS	the judgement	Bal zi zras.
IAIDA	of the higheſt	Ya Ia - i da.
NONCA	to you	ſa Nonca.
GOHULIM	It is ſaid	Go hú lim.

E. E. There came a black cloud in the air about the Stone, as though it would have hindered E. K. his ſight.

Gabr. ..... It behoveth us to do that we do even with preſent contention againſt the wicked. Have a little patience.

The curtain is now away again, and they appear again.

MICMA	Behold	Mikma Micma.	aſter.

E. K. Now is the curtain plucked to again, and they covered.

ADOIAN	the face	A do i an.
MAD	of your God	Mad.
IAOD	The beginning	I á od.
BLIORB	of Comfort	Bliórb.
SABAOOAONA	whoſe eyes	Sa ba o o á o na.	O or A.
CHI	are	Kis ſ Chis.

LUCIF-

LUCIFTIAS	the brightneſſe	Lu cíf ti as.
PIRIPSOL	of the heavens,	Pe ríp sol.
Δ S	which	Ds.
ABRAASSA	provided	Abraáſſa.
NONCF	you	Nonsf N.ncf.
NETAAIB	for the government	Ne tá a ib.
CAOSGI	of the earth,	Ca oſ gi.
OD	and	Od.
TILB	her	Tilb.
ADPHAHT	unſpeakable	Ad phaht.

Ile. ..... Read it.
Δ. The Engliſh.
Ile. ..... I

DAMPLOZ	variety,	Dám ploz.
TOOAT	furniſhing	To ó at.
NONCF	you	Nonsf Non cf.
GMICALZOMA	with a power, underſtanding	Gmi cál zo ma.
LRASD	to diſpoſe	L rásd.
TOFGLO	all things	Tóf glo.
MARB	according	Marb.

[Δ. It follows in Libro Cra. .

[Δ] Kings : But to command Kings by a ſubjected commandment, is not wiſdom, unleſſe it come from thee. Behold Lord, How ſhall I therefore aſcend into the heavens ? The air will not carry me, but reſiſteth my folly, I fall down, for I am of the earth. Therefore, O thou very Light and true Comfort, that canſt, and mayſt, and doſt command the heavens ; Behold I offer theſe Tables unto thee, Command them as it pleaſeth thee : and O you Miniſters, and true lights of underſtanding, Governing this earthly frame, and the elements wherein we live, Do for me as for the ſervant of the Lord : and unto whom it hath pleaſed the Lord to talk of you

[Δ] There were no Kings in Enoch his time ; Conſider the [illegible] how to ask this doubt of this phraſe prophetical In Samuel I find cap. 8. that unjudged Nations had Kings long before Samuel his time. Therefore there might be ſome in Enoch his time : or he propheſied of them.

Behold, Lord, thou haſt appointed me 50 times ; *Thrice 50 times will I lift my hands unto thee. Be it unto me as it pleaſeth thee, and thy holy Miniſters. I require nothing but thee, and through thee, and for thy honour and glory : But I hope I ſhall be ſatisfied, and ſhall not die, (As thou haſt promiſed) until thou gather the clouds together, and judge all things : when in a moment I ſhall be changed and dwell with thee for ever.

* Ave. That is to ſay, thrice a day.

Theſe words, were thrice a dayes talk betwixt Enoch and God : In the end of 50 dayes, there appeared unto him, which are not now to be manifeſted nor ſpoken of : he enjoyed the fruit of God his promiſe, and received the benefit of his faith. Here may the wiſe learn wiſdom : for what doth man that is not corruptible ?

Thrice a day.

I have not that I may ſay any more unto you : But believe me, I have ſaid great things unto you : If you will have me hereafter, I will come.

Δ ———.

..... Conſider well my words, and what I have now ſaid unto thee : for here thou mayſt learn wiſdom, and alſo ſee what thou haſt to do.

Δ. I will, if it pleaſe you read over ſome of theſe Invitations which I have made and written here in this Book.

Ave. ...... You may not uſe that word Obedientes.

Δ. You ſpake of a firſt word to call, and of a ſecond to conſtrain.

Ave. ...... It ſignifieth, it urgeth them more in God. I have ſaid.

Δ. Note, what is meant by the name of God that was ſaid to conſtrain, being the ſecond names of two before given.

What is meant by the phraſe or word Conſtrain, in reſpect of good Angels.

E. K. He is gone, and all covered with the Curtain.

Δ. All honour, praiſe, and glory, all thanks and power, is due to our God and King. So be it. Amen.

Monday, Julii, 9. Manè hora 7. three quarters, † Cracoviæ.

Orationibus quibuſdam finitis ad Deum & deinde ad Gabrielem & Nalvage, &c.

E. K. As ſoon as he looked, he found the Stone covered with the white Curtain.

Δ. A pauſe of a ¼ of an hour : In which ſpace I uſed ſundry ejaculations to God, and his good Angels.

Δ. This day was appointed, we attend therefore your inſtructions. At length they appeared not, but uſed a voice.

A voice. ...... This day, but the Sun declining the fourth hour.

Δ. Your meaning is, that at after noon, at 4 of the clock.

The voice. ...... As thou haſt written ——

Δ. The will of the Higheſt be done. Amen.

Monday, A Meridie, hora 4.

Δ. As E. K. was ſaying to me, that he thought that the Angels might tell the certain day and times of things to come, and that Angels could now fall no more, &c. Of ſuch things touching Angels ; ſuddenly a voice was heard, as followeth.

A voice. ...... Herein will I talk with you, my brethren.

E. K. Gabriel onely appeareth : neither Nalvage nor the Table appeareth. He ſitteth in a Chair, and with his fiery Dart.

Gabr. ...... The Prophets inſpired with the Holy Ghoſt, were aſſured of the coming of their Meſſias, of their Chriſt : But what day, or in what year was not of mans underſtanding. Chriſt himſelf opened unto his Diſciples his death, and the manner thereof ; but the day and hour he never diſcloſed.

De ſecundo adventu Chriſti. cloſed. So likewiſe the Scriptures ſpeak of the coming of Chriſt, but the day and hour, the Son of man knoweth not. But becauſe in time to come, and for this action, (the meſſage of the higheſt) And aſſured, and infallible Doctrine, (in reſpect that God appointed you no certain time) is neceſſary. For, for this cauſe you waver my brethren: and may loſe the benefit of God his favour, and mercies. O weaklings examine the Prophets, look into the doing of the Apoſtles: There alwayes went a promiſe before the end: But the end was the benefit and fruit of the promiſe. Some alleadge Paul, ſome Peter, ſome Daniel: But in this caſe ſhall you alleadge the ſayings of God, ſpoken in the ſpirit of truth by me Gabriel, the ſervant of the higheſt. God, for three cauſes hideth the end, and the very time of his heavenly purpoſes. As after a little ſilence you ſhall ſhortly hear.

E. K. A cloud covereth him.

E. K. Now he appeareth again.

Gab. …… Firſt, by reaſon of his own inexplicable Eſt & non eſt eſſe, which is without the circumference, ſtrength, capable vertue, and power of man, his intellectuality, whereby he appeareth to be verily one God, and incomprehenſible.

Secondly, becauſe Lucifer with his yea ſayers, (damned juſtly) ſhould never taſte of his light, nor underſtand his ſecret judgements: which he would, and might do, if they were delivered to mans imagination, and diſcourſe: Becauſe it is within the circumference and compaſſe of his Creation. Conſider of theſe two.

E. K. Now he is covered in a white Cloud again.

Δ. The firſt reaſon, or cauſe we do not ſufficiently underſtand, or conceive.

Deus eſt eſſe, Sanctis Deus.

Non eſt eſſe, Impiis Deus.

For, In the judgement day, God in his ſon, Chriſt, ſhall ſhut up his perpetual and everlaſting Juſtice, wrath, and anger, with Hell and damnation. Leaving them, and forſaking them, and in no caſe to be called their God. Fratres [mi] non habebunt Deum. But they ſhall be without a guide, and without a Centre. Hereby you may underſtand, Eſſe & non eſt eſſe. To the purpoſe.

Thirdly, that man firmly perſwaded of things ſpoken of by God above his capacity to come, and unknown, might worthily in the ſtrength of faith, and through the effect of his promiſes merit his favour in Chriſt, and receive eternal ſalvation, juſtly before God and his Angels. Theſe are the three cauſes.

Δ. This laſt cauſe, if it would pleaſe you to make more plain, it ſhould greatly enform us and confirm us.

…… Theſe are the three onely cauſes, that the ends of God his determinations are ſecret.

1. In the firſt, that God might appear omnipotent.
2. In the ſecond, ſealed up in himſelf from the knowledge of ſuch as have rebelled to their deſtruction.
3. In the third, that man might juſtly be made worthy of the places prepared for him.

Wedneſday following. Nalvage is called away. and cannot be in Action with you till Wedneſday. Then ſhall you have the Calls that you look for. And to enter into the knowledge and perfect underſtanding of the 49 Gates and Tables if you will.

Δ. O Lord, thy will and mercy be ſhewed upon us.

Gab. …… But underſtand that it is a labour, the hardeſt and the laſt.

Δ. Violenti nihil difficile: God ſtrengthen our will and faith.

Gab. …… I have nothing elſe to ſay unto you. But God be mercifull unto you, and forgive you your ſins.

Δ. Amen.

Gab. …… And that you go hence, make haſte.

Δ.

E. K. He is gone.

Δ. Gloria Patri, & filio, & ſpiritui Sancto ſicut erat in principio, & nunc & ſemper, & in ſecula ſeculorum. Amen.

Wedneſday, Julii 11. Mane hora, 6 ½. Cracoviæ.

Oratione dominica finita, &c.

The Curtain appeared ſtraight way.

Δ. We await the promiſe, which you made us, O Gabriel.

A voyce. Not now, but at the fourth hours declining as before.

At four of the Clock after noon. E. K. And why not now as well?

A voyce. He that laboureth in his own harveſt laboureth when he liſt: but he that fiſheth on the Sea, muſt be ruled by her courſe.

Δ. Fiat voluntas Dei.

OD	and	Od. Long, or ſhort.
CHRISTEOS	Let there be	Chris te os.
AGLTOLTORN	no one Creature	Ag l ter torn.
PARACH	equal	Ah. Ach. Pa rach.

The wicked ſpake behinde E. K.

Note.

ASYMP	with another.	A ſymp.
CORDZIZ	The reaſonable Creatures of the earth, or Man.	Cord ziz.
DODPAL	Let them vex	Dod pal.
OD	and	Od.
FIFALZ	weed out	Fi falz.
LSMNAD	one another.	Ls mnad.

E. K. Now the Curtain is drawn.

A voyce...... Read.

Δ. I read it .... ter from the beginning hitherto.

He. ..... Whereat doubt you.

Δ. Is it true, that before the Creation of man this kinde of Malediction was pronounced, or when elſe ſhall we underſtand it to have been ſpoken?

A voyce. ..... True it is that one man weedeth out another. To avoid which fault it is ſaid, and after God thy brother as thy ſelf.

One Kingdom riſeth up againſt another, the ſervant againſt his Maſter, the wicked ſon diſdaineth his father. All which fell upon man when God curſed the earth: For, perfect love was taken from amongſt them, and the ſpirit of malice came amongſt them, to the intent they might be alwayes at variance, and one weed out another, and ſo muſt be, and ſhall be unto the end. Anſwer me, why turned God Adam out into the earth.

Δ. Becauſe he had tranſgreſſed the Laws to be kept in Paradiſe.

.... It is true. Then Adam offending, received puniſhment for his offence, in that he was turned out into the earth. If he had been turned out to a bleſſed place, then can you not aptly ſay he was turned out, for he that is turned out goeth to diſhonour: Even ſo Adam, from innocency through his fall, was turned out to corruption into a priſon prepared for him before, if he offended. God (my brother) knew he would offend: he knew alſo how to diſhonour him.

If.

As Jeſus Chriſt brought all bleſſedneſſe, and comfort into the world: So did Adam, accurſed, bring all miſery and wretchedneſſe into the world, and in the ſame inſtant, when Adam was expelled; The Lord ſuffered the earth to be accurſed for Adams ſake, and then, ſaid the Lord theſe things, and gave unto the world her time: and placed over her Keepers, Watch-men, and Princes, for years, moneths, and dayes: [I am eaſie, you may underſtand my rule.]

Note. In the ſame inſtant, Angelicall Watch-men, Keepers, Princes of the earth.

Δ. Note, All this was anſwered by a voyce, as concerning my queſtion, or doubt heretofore expreſſed.

...... After this, a great pauſe was uſed: In which time in my minde, I diſcourſed of the Miniſtery Angelical, not all to have been committed to their charge with their Creation, but afterward in divers times, divers offices, both toward God and man.

A voyce...... To morrow morning I will meet you here the third hour.

Δ. The third hour after the Sun riſing mean you?

A voyce. ..... I.

Δ. Let us hartily thank the Lord and praiſe him alwayes: His Mercy and Grace be vpon us, now and ever. Amen.

Fryday, Julii 13. Mane hora 7. † Cracoviæ.

Δ. Oratione Dominica finita, &c.

Δ. At the firſt looking, E. K. ſaw the Curtain uſual to appear, and ſomewhat plighted, and ſhortly.

A voyce. ..... Read that you have done.

Δ. I read hitherto that was written.

E. K. Now they appear, the Curtain being drawn away: But the round Table, or Globe appeared not.

E. K. Now they have drawn the Curtain over them again.

Δ. Bleſſed be they that are come in the name of our God, and for his ſervice.

E. K. Now they appear, and the Table, or Globe with them.

He. ..... The reſt.

Δ. In the name of Jeſus, and for his honour.

OD	And	Od.
		Gad.
FARGT	the dwelling places,	Farg t.
BAMS	Let them forget	Bams
OMAOAS	their names,	O ma o as.
CONISBRA	the work of man	Co nis bra.
OD	and	Od.
AUAVOX	his pomp:	A ua vox.
		g dg.
TONUG	Let them be defaced	To nug.
ORSCATBL	his buildings,	Ors cat bl.
NOASMI	let them become	No aſ mi.
TABGES	Caves	Tab ges.
LEVITHMONG	for the beaſts of the field	Levith mong.
		Ki.
UNCHI	confound ;	Un chi.
OMPTILB	her underſtanding	Omp tilb.
ORS	with darkneſſe,	Ors.
BAGLE	for why?	Bagle.
MOOOAH	it repenteth me	Mo o Oah.
OLCORDZIZ	I made man	Ol cord ziz.

L C A-

LCAPIMAO	one while	L ca pí ma o.
IXOMAXIP	let her be known,	Ix o máx ip.
ODCACOCASB	and another while	Od ca có casb.

Gab. .... Move not, for the place is holy.

E. K. All is covered.

E. K. Now it is open.

GOSAA	a ſtranger,	Go ſa a.
BAGLEN	becauſe	Baglen.
PII	ſhe is	Pi i.
TIANTA	the bed	Ti ánta.
ABABALOND	of an harlot	A bá ba lond.
ODFAORGT	and the dwelling place	gt, or dgt. Od fa orgt.
TELOCVOVIM	of him that is fallen.	lotch, or loch. Te lóc vo v im.
MADRIIAX	O you heavens	yax Má dri iax.
TORZU	ariſe,	Tor zu.
OADRIAX	The lower heavens	O ádriax.
OROCHA	underneath you	ka. O ró cha.
ABOAPRI	let them ſerve you;	A bó a pri.
TABAORI	Govern	Tabá o ri.
PRIAZ	thoſe	Priáz.
ARTABAS	that govern,	Ar ta bas,
ADRPAN	Caſt down	dir A dr pan.
CORSTA	ſuch as	Cor ſta.
DOBIX	fall,	Dobix.
YOLCAM	bring forth	Yol cam.

E. K. Now the Curtain is drawn.

PRIAZI	with thoſe	Pri á zi.
ARCOAZIOR	that encreaſe,	Ar co a zior.
ODQUASB	and deſtroy	Od quasb.

QTING	the rotten	dg Q ting.
RIPIR	No place,	Ri pír.
PAAOXT	let it remain	Pa a oxt.
SAGACOR	in one number.	Kor Sa gá cor.
VML	Adde	Vm l.
OD	and
PRDZAR	Diminiſh	Pur Prd zar.
CACRG	until	círg Ca crg.
AOIVEAE	the Stars	A oi véae.
CORMPT	be numbred;	Cormpt.
TORZU	ariſe,	Tor zu.
ZACAR	Move	Zacar.
ODZAMRAN	and appear	Od zamran.
ASPT	before	Aſpt.
SIBSI	the Covenant	Sib ſi.

E. K. Now he hath drawn the curtain again.

BUTMONA	of his mouth,	But mo na.
DS	which	Ds.
SURZAS	he hath ſworn	Sur zas.
TIA	unto us	Tia.
BALTAN	in his Juſtice.	Bal ta n.
ODO	Open	Odo.
CICLE	the myſteries	Cícle.
QAA	of your Creation,	Q á a.
OD	and	Od.
OZAZMA	make us	Ozazma.
PLAPLI	partakers	Pla pli.
IADNAMAD	of undefiled knowledge.	Iad na mad.

The

The firſt Aire, is called —— Lil.
The ſecond —— Arn.
The third —— Zom.
4 —— Paz.
5 —— Lit.
6 —— Maz.
7 —— Deo.
8 —— Zid.
9 —— Zip.
10 —— Zax.
11 —— Ich ik.
12 —— Loe.
13 —— Zim.
14 —— Uta.
15 —— Oxo.
16 —— Lea.
17 —— Tan.
18 —— Zen.
19 —— Pop.
20 —— Chr kar in palato
21 —— Aſp. very much.
22 —— Lin. ....
23 —— Tor.
24 —— Nia.
25 —— Uti.
26 —— Des.
27 —— Zaa.
28 —— Bag.
29 —— Rii.
30 —— Tex.

There is all ——
Now change the name, and the Call is all one.
Δ. Bleſſed be he who onely is alwayes one.
Δ. I take theſe names to be as primus, ſecundus, tertius, and to 30.
A voice. .. .... Not ſo, they be the ſubſtantial names of the Aires.
Δ. It was ſaid they had no proper names; but were to be called, O thou of the firſt Aire, O thou of the ſecond, &c. I pray you reconcile the repugnancy of theſe two places, as they ſhould ſeem.

Note, How this One Call may ſerve the 30.

E. K. The Curtain is opened.

E. E. Now Gabriel ſtandeth up.

Gabr. ......Thus hath God kept promiſe with you, and hath delivered you the keyes of his ſtorehouſes: wherein you ſhall find, (if you enter wiſely, humbly, and patiently) Treaſures more worth than the frames of the heavens.

But yet is not Auguſt come: Notwithſtanding the Lord hath kept his promiſe with you before the time. Therefore, Now examine your Books, Confer one place with another, and learn to be perfect for the practice and entrance.

God his promiſe fulfilled before August.

See that your garments be clean. Herein be not raſh: Nor over haſty; For thoſe that are haſty and raſh, and are lothſomely apparelled, may knock long before they enter.

Counſel for preparation.

There is no other reading of the Book, but the appearing of the Miniſters and Creatures of God: which ſhewing what they are themſelves, ſhew how they are conjoyned in power, and repreſented formally by thoſe letters.

The reading of the Book. The letters.

E. K. Now he taketh the Table, and ſeemeth to wrap it up together.

Δ. Seeing I have moved the doubt of their names I pray you to diſſolve it.
Gab. ...... You play with me childiſhly.
Δ. I have done.
Gab. .... Thinkeſt thou that we ſpeak any thing that is not true?
Thou ſhalt never know the myſteries of all things that have been ſpoken.
If you love together, and dwell together, and in one God; Then the ſelf-ſame God will be merciful unto you: Which bleſſe you, comfort you, and ſtrengthen you unto the end. More I would ſay, but words profit not. God be amongſt you.

The myſteries of this Book. Dwell together.

E. K. Now they both be gone in a great flame of fire upwards.

Δ. Laudibus

Δ. Laudibus te celebrabo Domine Deus quoniam non prævaluerunt Inimici mei ſuper me. Domine exercituum clamavi ad te, & tu ſalvaſti me. Convertiſti dolorem in gaudium mihi, diſſolviſti luctum meum & circumdediſti me lætitia. Miſericordias tuas in æternum cantabo. Notam faciam veritatem tuam in vita mea. Os meum narrabit Juſtitiam tuam omni tempore beneficia tua: certè non novi numerum. Sed Gratias agam donec mors rapiat, tibi pſallam quamdiu fuero. Laudem tui loquetur os meum: & omne vivens celebret nomen tuum Sanctum, in perpetuum & ſemper. Laudate Dominum, O vos Angeli ejus, potentes virtute facientes juſſus ejus, obedientes voci verbi illius. Collaudate Deum Univerſi exercitus ejus, Miniſtri ejus qui facitis voluntatem ejus. Omne quòd vivit laudet te Domine, Amen.

1584. Remember that on Saturday, the fourteenth day of July, by the Gregorian Calender, and the fourth day of July, by the old Calender, Rowland my Childe (who was born Anno 1583. January 28. by the old Calender) was extreamly ſick about noon, or midday, and by one of the Clock ready to give up the Ghoſt, or rather lay for dead, and his eyes ſet and ſunck into his head, &c. Rolandus pene mortuus.

I made a vow, if the Lord did foreſee him to be his true ſervant, and ſo would grant him life, and confirm him his health at this danger, and from this danger I would (duriug my life) on Saturdayes eat but one meal, &c.

Remember on Wedneſday night the eighteenth of July, as I walked alone about nine of the Clock in the evening, in the Chamber before my Study, (above) in divers places of that Chamber appeared flaſhes of fire, and did not lighten abroad.

Monday, Julii 23. Mane Circiter 8. † Cracoviæ.

Oratione Dominica finita.

Δ. I read Mapſama his firſt words of the book to be prepared of 48 leaves to be ſilvered, and would gladly know what I was now to do. By and by at the firſt looking into the ſtone.

E. K. There appeared ten Pikes, all black on the ground in a Circle as it were, and 1 in the middle, a great Pike, ſtanding up. And Vera, falſis, falſa, ſeemed to be written in the middle of that Circle, ſomewhat blacker then all the reſt, which ſeemed to be as new molten Pitch.

A voyce. ..... Qui non in 7. vivant in undecimo.

Δ. I made a ſhort diſcourſe to God of my ſincere, and juſt dealing, hitherto of the book of Enoch, written, of the book to be ſilvered, how hardly I can get it performed to my contentment: (the books being laid on the Table, that of Enoch, and that as it were ſilvered) &c. I craved therefore the expoſition of this dark ſhew, and as yet nothing pleaſant, or plain: My conſcience is clear, and I truſt in the Lord his mercies.

E. K. After this appeared a man all black, naked all over.

...... O thou that art juſt, and haſt a clear conſcience, anſwer me.

Δ. In the name of Jeſus.

Be gone. ...... Who commanded thee to be gone?

...... I take the Commandment to have been from God.

...... Thou haſt broken the Commandment of God.

Δ. I can in no caſe yield thereunto.

...... You have diſhonoured the Lord: which is juſt in the bottom of his own breaſt, and gave you warning, and commanded you to go: which is the Lord of Heaven and Earth.

May 21. Mane. Et à Meridie per Mapſama. ... 27 Junii, per AVE. Δ. O Lord, my firſt charge was in theſe words: Thou ſhalt go from hence with him to the Emperour: It was alſo ſaid that he ſhould make proviſion for this one voyage, and for the reſt God had provided. So that ſeeing I was to go with him, and he hath not yet provided (doing what he can) what ſhall I ſay, or do?

...... True it is, thou haſt had the victory, and thou, and thy Children have taſted mercy. Thou art one of thoſe, that when I command thee to leave nothing with life, yet thou ſaveſt the fatlings to offer before him that abhorreth ſuch ſacrifice.

Δ. Lord, I know no ſuch act of mine: The Lord be mercifull to me. For when it ſhould come to ſuch a caſe, God knoweth, I would ſpare none.

...... O thou juſt man [ſhaking his head] thou art become a Saul.

...... Wherefore did God (anſwer me) take the Kingdom out of Saul his hands?

Δ. It appeareth in the Bible, becauſe obedience was better then ſacrifice.

Reg. 1. cap. 15. ...... Even ſo, if thou hadſt been obedient, thy obedience had been regarded. But I ſay unto thee, the Lord oweth thee nothing for thy labour: he hath payed thee to the uttermoſt.

As for Lasky, I will give him over to the ſpirit of errour: and he ſhall become more poor, ſo that his own Children ſhall deſpiſe him.

A. L. His plague threatned.

But it ſhall not come to paſſe in theſe dayes: For I will keep my promiſe with you. You do the Commandment of Princes, and Lords, and Maſters: But when the God of Juſtice (without your deſert) entertaineth you, and placeth you, and dwelleth amongſt you, (which is able to give you all things) commandeth you to go, and that for your own profit, you think it nothing to offend him.

Δ. O moſt mercifull and juſt God.

But true it is, That, Obedience pleaſeth the Lord for thererin, his Creatures glorifie him moſt. All Worſhip, all Honour, all Love, all Faith, all Hope, all Charity, all the knitting together of the Heavens conſiſteth in Obedience. For if you had been obedient, the very ſtones of the earth ſhould have ſerved your neceſſity. For the Lord will not be found a lyar.

Obedience.

Δ. O Lord, be mercifull to me: I could not do thy Commandment in going without A. Laskie, and him I was not able to cauſe to goe without proviſion: And to our judgement he ſeemeth marvellouſly to be carefull to make proviſion: but ſtill he hath hinderance.

...... Thou (heareſt thou?) the Lord forgiveth thee: but from henceforth, he commandeth thee that thou open not the ſecrets and the judgements, which the Lord ſhall open unto thee of the times to come, unto Laskie.

Dee, Is pardoned. No more ſecrets of God to be opened to A. L.

Δ. I pray you to ſay ſomewhat unto us, as concerning this book to be ſilvered: Elſe what ſhall I do, if I have not direction herein, the caſe being ſo hard.

...... As concerning the book, when thou art at the end of thy journey it ſhall be told.

Δ. Miſericordias Domini in æternum Cantabo, Amen. Hallelujah. Amen.

Tueſday, Julii 31. Mane hora 7. † Cracoviæ.

Oratione Dominica finita, & variis ejaculationibus factis tam ad Gabrielem, quam Nalvage, Ave, Mapſama, & Ilemer, quàm maximè ad Deum ipſum pro ſuo lumine, auxilio & protectione: tam in ipſa actione quàm itinere præſenti, futuro, verſus aulam Cæſaris.

After a great hour attendance. At length appeared one all naked, black, and about the ſtone a Circle of black.

He ſaid. ...... Were you not commanded to go after ten dayes?

Δ. It is true.

...... And what followeth?

Δ. I appeal unto the mercy of the higheſt, for that I have not offended upon wilfulneſſe.

...... Say what followeth.

Δ. It followeth that we may drink of a Cup, which we would not, &c. And alſo we were willed to provide for this journey, which proviſion onely now is made for us two, and not yet for A. L. himſelf.

...... Thus ſayeth the Lord, I have ſtretched out my hand, and you have hindred me.

I have brought things unto their courſe, but you have thruſt your ſelves between.

When I appointed you 10 dayes, did I not alſo tell you that the earth was mine.

10 Dayes.

Am not I the God of heaven and earth, by whom you breath. The ſame which alſo forſaketh not my people in the time of need.

I have opened my wings, but you have refuſed my cover.

I have brought in madneſſe into the houſe of the unjuſt, but you have prevented my judgement.

Δ. Fortè. Madneſſe procured in the K. and he is now recovered.

And becauſe you have done ſo, and have truſted more in the mallices of the world then in my power.

[Δ. Lord we have not done ſo: to our knowledges.]

...... Therefore ſhall you drink of a Cup that you would not: but it ſhall not fall in theſe dayes, but in the dayes to come.

Δ. A ſcourge to follow unto us: Lord be mercifull.

Moreover, [E. K. The fire cometh out of his mouth as he ſpeaketh.]

...... If you go, it is: if you go not, it alſo ſhall be.

[Δ. Make that dark ſpeech plain, for I need you not.]

Δ. We were willed to go, but with this condition, that Laskie ſhould make proviſion.

...... I have not ſealed this ſin unto thee [Δ.] but yet I have meaſured out a plague, and it ſhall light upon you all. But unto Lasky I have ſealed it, and it ſhall be heavy.

A. L.

E. K. Doth not A. L. uſe all the means he can for proviſion making.

...... The time ſhall come when I am, and will appear unto thee in a Viſion, and of ſeven Rods thou ſhalt chuſe one, unto you both I ſpeak: For I will not let paſſe my diſhonour unpuniſhed, neither will I ſell my name like an hireling.

Notwithſtanding, in the midſt of my fury I will be mercifull unto you, when you think I have forſaken you, then ſhall the Rod break in pieces.

△. Lord deal with us, as we have juſt cauſe to put our truſt in thee, not onely in the principal ſtate of our ſalvation, but alſo in this Action.

...... You go: I will not forſake you. And what I have ſaid, that I have ſaid. And it is a living ſpirit, and ſhall bear witneſſe of it ſelf. For, great is the God of Hoſts in power, and in all his works, and words moſt juſt.

△. Lord, is it thy will that we ſhall go before this A. L. toward Prage?

...... If you tarry it is, and if you go, it ſhall be.

△. Lord make that plain unto us?

Thus ſayeth the Lord, if you tarry, it is becauſe I am, which am ſtrength, and triumph againſt mine enemies, and ſo againſt the enemies of thoſe that put their truſt in me: And ſhall be, becauſe I am juſt, and becauſe it is.

For, that I am, I am, and my ſpirit is juſtice and truth: which before, was, is, and ſhall be, and after, world without end.

△. Lord, ſhew us the light of thy countenance, and be not wrathfull againſt us any longer, be a comforter unto us in our journey to be undertaken.

...... Move me not, for I am gone.

E. K. He is gone.

△. Miſericordia Domini ſit ſuper nos, nunc & in ſempiterna ſeculorum ſecula. Amen.

ANNO 1584.

On Wedneſday the firſt day of Auguſt, at afternoon (hora 3.) we entred on our journey toward Prage, in the Kingdom of Beame, whither we came on thurſday ſevenight after, by three of the Clock, that is exactly in eight dayes.

We came by Coach, I, E. K. and his brother, and Edmond Hilton, ſo that we came to Prage Auguſti 9. by the new Calender: but by the old July 30. two dayes before Auguſt the old Calender.

Miſerere Noſtri Deus Noſter neque in eternum iraſcaris nobis.

PRAGE 1584.

Auguſti 15. Wedneſday, we began on the day of the aſſumption of the bleſſed Virgin Mary: in the excellent little Stove, or Study of D. Hageck his houſe lent me, by Bethlem in old Prage. Which Study ſeemed in times paſt (Anno 1518.) to have been the Study of ſome Student, or A-- ſkilfull of the holy ſtone: a name was in divers places of the Study, noted in letters of Gold, and Silver, Simon Baccalaureus Pragenſis, and among other things manifold written very fairly in the Study (and very many Hieroglyphical Notes Philoſophical, in Birds, Fiſhes, Flowrs, Fruits, Leaves, and ſix Veſſels, as for the Philoſophers works) theſe verſes were over the door.

Immortale Decus par gloriaque illi debentur
Cujus ab ingenio eſt diſcolor hic paries.

And of the Philoſophers work (on the South-ſide of the Study) in three lines, uppermoſt was this written.

Candida ſi rubeo mulier nupta ſit marito: Mox complectuntur, Complexa concipiuntur. Per ſe ſolvuntur, per ſe quandoque perficiuntur: Ut duo quæ fuerant, unum in corpore fiant: Sunt duæ res primo, Sol cum Luna, tamen in imo, Confice, videbis, fit ab hiis lapis quoque Rebis.

Lunæ potentatu, peregit Sol Rebis actu: Sol adit Lunam per medium, rem facit unam. Sol tendit velum, tranſit per ecliptica Cælum: Currit ubi Luna recurrit hunc denuo ſublima. Ut ſibi lux detur, in ſole quæ retinetur. Nec abiit vere, ſed vult ipſi commanere: illumrans certe defunctum corpus aperte: Si Rebus ſcires, quid eſſet tu reperires. Hæc ars eſt cara, brevis, levis atque rara. Ars noſtra eſt Ludus puero, labor mulierum; ſcitote omnes filii artis hujus, quod nemo poteſt colligere fructus noſtri Elixiris, niſi per introitum noſtri lapidis Elementati, etſi aliam viam quærit, viam nunquam intrabit nec attinget. Rubigo eſt Opus, quod fit ex ſolo auro, dum intraverit in ſuam humiditatem. And ſo it ended.

MYSTE-

MYSTERIORUM PRAGENSIUM
Liber Primus, Cæſareuſque, Anno 1584.
Stylo Novo.

Auguſti 15. incœptus ad Omnipotentis Dei Laudem, Honorem, & Gloriam. Amen.

Δ. Fieri poteſt, quod anni 1588, & aliorum ſupputatio, initium ſuum habent ab ipſa die Paſſionis Chriſti vel Aſcenſionis in Cœlum. Atque hac ratione, 33, vel 34. anni plures conſiderari debent : quia tot annorum Chriſtus erat tempore ſuæ paſſionis, vel aſcenſionis : Addas igitur annis 1588, 34. & inde emergunt anni 1622. atque iſte numerus propius accedit ad tempus annorum diluvii & Arcæ, cujus ſimilitudinem fore circa ſecundum Chriſti adventum Scripturæ docent :

Conjectura levicula.

Nota de Anno, 88,

Vel, cum poſt creatum Adamum, Anno Mund. 1655, Diluvium Aquæ, omnia deleverit viventia : Poſt Chriſti, (noſtri Adami ſpiritualis) reſtitutionem in Cælum. Anno 1655 (qui erit anno 1688.) expectamus Diluvium ignis, quo omnia ſunt Immutanda : vel Charitatis & ardoris Chriſtiani magnum futurum ſpecimen.

Non faciet Dominus D E V S verbum, niſi revelaverit Secretum ſuum ad ſervos ſuos, prophetas. Leo rugiet, quis non timebit? Dominus Deus loquutus eſt : Quis non prophetabit?

Amos, Cap. 3. B.

Nihil mali invenimus in homine iſto : Quid ſi ſpiritus locutus eſt ei, aut Angelus? Act. Apoſt. Cap. 23 C.

Dico enim vobis, quod multi Prophetæ, & Reges voluerunt videre, quæ vos videtis, & non viderunt : & audire quæ auditis, & non audierunt. Lucæ 10. E. Matthæi 13 B.

Chariſſimi, nolite omni Spiritui credere : Sed probate Spiritus ſi ex Deo ſint : quoniam multi pſeudoprophetæ, exierunt in mundum. In hoc cognoſcitur Spiritus Dei. Omnis Spiritus qui confitetur Jeſum Chriſtum in carne veniſſe, ex Deo eſt, &c. Johannes Epiſtola 1. Cap. 4. A.

Quiſquis confeſſus fuerit, quoniam Jeſus eſt filius Dei, Deus in eo manet, & ipſe in Deo, &c. Cap. eodem C.

Paulus ad Corinthios, Epiſtola, 1 Cap. 1. b.

Gratias ago Deo meo ſemper pro vobis, in gratia Dei, quæ data eſt vobis in Chriſto Jeſu, quod in omnibus divites facti eſtis in illo, in omni verbo & omni ſcientia (ſicut teſtimonium Chriſti confirmatum eſt in vobis) ita ut nihil vobis deſit in ulla gratia, Expectantibus revelationem Domini noſtri Jeſu Chriſti, qui & confirmabit vos uſque in finem ſine crimine, in die Adventus domini noſtri Jeſu Chriſti. Fidelis Deus per quem vocati eſtis in Societatem Filii ejus Jeſu Chriſti Domini noſtri, &c.

Societas Jeſu.

Δ. Noto Revelationem & adventum Chriſti ſecundum : deinde confirmationem quæ reſpicit alium adhuc finem temporis : unde de Regno Chriſti hic in terris, ſecundum Joannis Apocalypſim, videri poſſit hic locus aliquem præbere guſtum, &c.

Paulus ad Corinthios, Epiſt. 1 cap. 1. D.

Quæ ſtulta ſunt mundi, elegit Deus, ut confundat ſapientes : & infirma mundi elegit Deus, ut confundat fortia : & ignobilia mundi, & contemptibilia elegit Deus, & ea quæ non ſunt ut ea quæ ſunt deſtrueret, ut non glorietur omnis caro in conſpectu ejus. Ex ipſo autem vos eſtis in Chriſto Jeſu, qui factus eſt nobis ſapientia a Deo, & Juſtitia, & Sanctificatio & Redemptio. Ut, quemadmodum ſcriptum eſt. Qui gloriatur, in Domino glorietur.

Paulus ad Corinthios, Epiſt. 1. cap. 2. C.
Nobis autem revelat Deus per Spiritum ſuum: Spiritus enim omnia ſcrutatur, etiam profunda Dei, &c. Vide præcedentia & ſequentia in eodem capite.

Prage. Prima Actio, Anno 1584.
Wedenſday, Augusti 15. Mane horam circiter 9.

△. We thanked God for his ſafe bringing us hither, to the place appointed by him: We deſired him to direct us, as the reſt of our Action requireth: And thirdly, for the Book with ſilver leaves, to be prepared, we required inſtruction, as we were promiſed.

Anon after E. K. his looking into the Shew-ſtone, he ſaid, I ſee a Garland of white Roſe-buds about the border of the Stone: They be well opened, but not full out.

△. The great mercies of God be upon us: and we beſeech him to increaſe our faith in him, according to his well liking.

E. K. Amen

E. K. But while I conſider theſe buds better, they ſeem rather to be white Lillies.

△. The eternal God of his infinite mercies, wipe away our blackneſſe and ſins, and make us pure, and whiter than Snow.

△. 72 Angels. E. K. They are 72 in number: ſeeming with their heads (alternatim) one to bend or hang toward me, and another toward you. They ſeem alſo to move circularly toward the Eaſt: but very ſlowly. In the middeſt of this Circle, appeareth a little fire, of the colour of yern, hot: ready to melt: from which fire to every one of the ſaid lillies, is a fiery beam extended; which beam toward the end, is, of more whitiſh fiery colour, than it is near the center.

A voice. ... E. K. A voice cometh ſhouting out from the Lillies, ſaying, Holy, Holy, Holy: and all the lillies are become on fire; and ſeem to tumble into that fire. And now they appear again diſtinctly, as before: And the fire remained in the center ſtill: and the emanation of beams, came from it, ſtill to the foreſaid lilly buds.

E. K. I hear a ſound, as though it were of many waters, poured or ſtreaming down in the clifts of great Rocks and Mountains: The noiſe is marvellous great, which I hear coming through the Stone: as it were of a thouſand water-mills going together.

A voice. ...... Eſt.
Another voice. ...... Seemeth to pray over, & quo modo eſt.
A voice. ...... Male & in ſummo: & menſuratum eſt.

E. K. I hear a great roaring, as if it were out of a Cloud, over ones head: moſt perfectly like a thunder.

Another voice. ..... The Seal is broken.

Another ...... Poure out the ſixth Viol! that the earth may know her ſelf [Viola Sexta.]

These are the dayes of wo, that are ſpoken of.

△. Vide Apocalypſeos, cap. 16. ſed videtur quod non ſequenter ordine, veluti quis ex textu judicaret; Aſt non aſſeritur hic effuſam eſſe: etenim ſæpe & olim vindicatam requirebant illi qui ſub altari ſunt: nondum illis erat conceſſum, &c. Sic hic dici poteſt.

E. K. Now I ſee beyond like a Furnace-mouth, as big as 4 or 5 Gates of a City. It ſeemeth to be a quarter of a mile off: out of the Furnace-mouth ſeemeth a marvellous ſmoke or ſmother to come. By it ſeemeth to be a great Lake of pitch: and it playeth or ſimpreth, as water doth, when it beginneth to ſeethe. There ſtandeth by the pit, pit, a white man, in a white garment tucked up: his face is marvellous fair; he ſaith very loud.

A white ſpiritual Creature. ...... Aſcend.

E. K. Now there cometh out of the Lake, a thing like a Lion in the hinder parts, and his fore part hath many heads, of divers faſhions: and all upon one trunk of a neck. He hath like feathers on his neck. He hath 7 heads: Three on one ſide, and three on another, and one in the middle: which branch from the neck is longer than the other, and lieth backward to his taile-ward. The white-man giveth him a bloody Sword: and he taketh it in his forefoot.

The white man tyeth this Monſter his 4 legs with a chain, that he cannot go, but as one ſhackled, or fettred. Now he giveth the Monſter a great hammer, with a ſeal at that end where the hammer ſtriketh, and the other is faſhioned like a hatchet.

The white man ſaid. ...... A horrible and terrible beaſt ......

E. K. This the white man ſaid with a loud cry.

A voice out of the little fire. ...... Seal him, for two years of the Seven: For, ſo long is his power.

The Stars, with the Earth, even to the third part, are given unto thee: The fourth part thou ſhalt leave untouched.

E. K. The white man taketh the hammer, and ſtriketh him in the forehead of that head which is in the middle, and lieth down backward toward his taile.

E. K. Now all this viſion is vaniſhed away. The Stone is clear.

E. K. Now Madimi appeareth, and ſhe ſeemeth to be bigger than ſhe was.

Madimi. ...... The bleſſing of God the Father, the Son, and (in the Father and the Son) of the Holy Ghoſt, in power and comfort reſt upon you, take hold of you, and dwell with you, that you may be apt to receive the comfort of my childiſhneſſe? and the reward of ſuch Innocents, as my voice beareth witneſſe of. You both, the Spirit of God, ſalute you: which alwayes comforteth the Juſt, and is the ſtrength and ſtay of ſuch as are Elected: of whom it is ſaid, Mittam illis Angelum, in Adjutorium.

Δ. Are you Madimi (in the name of Jeſus) that I may ſo note of you?

Mad. ...... I am Madimi, and of that order, wherein the wonders of God are wrought with power, with you, as my words are: with my ſelf, as my creation is.

Madimi eſt ex ordine poteſtatum.

*Lo, as I have often * promiſed you, ſo in the time of your neceſſity and grief, I viſit you.*

Δ. Thanks be to the Higheſt.

* Vide 26. Junii.

Mad. ...... Not as the friends of the world do, but as a comforting ſpirit: exalting the ſervants of God, and cheriſhing them with celeſtial food: But my mother is at hand, which openeth unto thee, the will of God. Believe me, many are the woes of the world, and great are the ſorrows that are to come: For the Lord prepareth his Rain-bow, and the witneſſes of his account: and will appear in the heavens to finiſh all things: and the time is not long.

Mater Madimi.

The Rainbow. Apocalipſ. 4.

Bleſſed are thoſe that believe; for faith ſhall flee from the Earth, and her dwelling places ſhall be in caves, and unknown mountains, and in parts of the Earth which the Lord hath kept ſecret for ſuch as ſhall triumph and rejoyce in the Judgement to come.

Faith ſhall hardly be found on the Earth.

1. Wo be to women great with child, for they ſhall bring forth Monſters.
2. Wo be unto the Kings of the Earth, for they ſhall be beaten in a Mortar.
3. Wo be unto ſuch as paint themſelves, and are like unto the Prince of pride; for they ſhall drink the blood of their neighbours, and of their own children.
4. Wo be unto the falſe preachers, yea ſeven woes be unto them; for they are the teeth of the Beaſt.

He that hath ears, let him hear.

Seven Woes.

5. Wo be unto the Virgins of the Earth, for they ſhall diſdain their virginity, and they ſhall become Concubins for Satan, and deſpiſe the God of Righteouſneſſe.

6. Wo be unto the Merchants of the earth, for they are become abominable: Behold, they are become the ſpies of the earth, and the dainty meat of Kings. But they are fooliſh: Yea, they ſhall fall into the pit that they have digged for others

Mater Madimi. 7. Wo be unto the books of the earth, for they are corrupted; and are become a wraſting ſtock, and firebrand to the conſcience.

Stay a ſeaſon, for my mother cometh.

△. We read over the premiſſes, and ſo conferred of the verity and weight of them. And all this while Madimi ſtood ſtill in E K. his ſight (as E K. told me:) But becauſe we were willed to ſtay, I moved no queſtion: but wiſhed to have ſome underſtanding, how my wife and children (at Cracovia) did. Hereupon Madimi ſaid as followeth.

My wife tempted to deſtroy her ſelf.

Mad. ..... Hear what I ſay unto thee [△.] The King of darkneſſe whetteth his teeth againſt thee, and rampeth with great rage to overwhelm the world upon thee: And he ſeeketh the deſtruction of thy houſhold, and thereby thy overthrow: The life of thy Children; yea, he tempteth thy wife with deſpair, and to be violent unto her ſelf.

△. Why with deſpair?]

..... But his lips are ſealed, and his claws made dull: that when he would bite he cannot: And where he ſcratcheth the bloud followeth not.

Madami, my friend.

This name of God is in the 26th. principall Call, beginning L. vinial part. Salman balt, &c.

Satan his Traiterous inſinuation to be taken heed of.

But hear what thy friend ſayeth unto thee: Both in her ſelf, and by him that moveth her to ſpeak; As thou art the ſervant of the God of victory, ſo ſhalt thou triumph in the God of ſtretchforth and Conquer. △. Madzilodarp. Thy wife, thy children, thy ſervants, and more then that, ſuch as favour thee, even the coverings of thy houſe; are under the protection and defence of ſuch as are of power: againſt whom, neither the rage of ſuch as raign, neither the fury of Authority (though it hath the help of Satan) can prevail. For why? God hath care over thee: But thy faith is ſomewhat lower. Take heed of Satan, he will joyn himſelf unto thee. But beware of him. For, ſin keepeth back the power of God, which is oftentimes deferred for another ſeaſon: Yea, even for the wickedneſſe of one Soul.

A. L. Lasky I look for, but I ſee not: Behold, I wraſt my eyes after him, and cannot finde him. Peradventure he hath hid himſelf behinde ſome Mountain, or is crept into a Cave: for he appeareth not.

△. I beſeech you, what is the cauſe thereof? Is he not gone from Cracovia?

Mad. ..... Sin is the greateſt Mountain, and he rejoyceth when he pleaſeth himſelf: and in the fury of his fleſh creepeth into a Cave from us.

At one inſtant Madimi ſeeth all the world over.

Lo, I look for him, and cannot ſee him, yet ſee all the world over, It is a ſign that God is not with him.

△. I beſeech you, is he not gone from Cracovia yet?

Mad. ..... I tell thee, I ſee him not; I can ſay nothing of him.

△. Lord, our coming hither was to come with him.

Mad. ..... Therefore brought I thee hither, that thou ſhouldſt not tarry with him. Knoweſt thou not that God is marvelous in his works? Haſt thou not heard of his ſecret judgements? If thou haſt, Think he hath care over thee.

My wife, children, and houſhold muſt be moved to Prage.

For alſo, thy wife and children, and the reſt of thy houſhold muſt be moved hither.

△. When, I beſeech you?

Mad. ..... Let that be my charge to anſwer thee.

E. K. Now here appeareth a little fire like the ſame, which appeared before: but it hath no beams from it, as it had before.

Mad. ..... Hic & hæc, eſt Mater mea. [E. K. Pointing to the fire.]

Mater Madimi.

E. K. She falleth down on her face proſtrate: Now ſhe riſeth again. This fire entreth into her mouth, ſhe is waxen of higher ſtature then ſhe was, ſhe hath now three faces.

Trinity.

△. Now it is the vertue of the Trinity in her ſo repreſented.

Mad. ..... I. And I have a few things to ſay, and I ſay.

E. K. I hear a marvellous noiſe, as of many Mountains falling.

Mad. ..... Ariſe, and believe. The time is come, that of the fooliſh I will make the wiſe. And of ſuch as are ſinfull men, my anointed: if they encline their ear unto my voyce.

If.

E. K. The noyſe is marvellous: And which of the mouths doth ſpeak, I cannot diſcern.

Mad.

Mad. ..... Firſt, thou ſhalt write unto Rodulphus, as I ſhall enſpire thee. Then ſhalt thou go unto him, ſaying, That the Angel of the Lord hath appeared unto thee. ——

RODOLPHUS.

[E. K. A great noyſe ſtill.]

And rebuketh him for his ſins. [I never heard any ſuch noyſe : it is as if half the world were ruſhing down an hill.]

Mad. ..... If he hear thee : Then ſay unto him, He ſhall triumph , Fear thee not.

If he hear thee not: Say, that, The Lord, the God that made heaven and earth, (under whom he breatheth, and hath his ſpirit) putteth his foot againſt his breaſt.

Δ. Either E.K. ſpake not this, or I omitted to write it at the firſt.

V. 1. 263.

[E. K. A great noyſe ſtill.]

And will throw him headlong from his ſeat.

Lo, thus (I ſwear unto thee) I will do. If he forſake his wickedneſſe , and turn unto me : His ſeat ſhall be the greateſt that ever was, and the Devil ſhall become his priſoner.

If Dei Juramentum & Pactum cum Δ. de R.

E. K. There came great flaſhes of fire out of her, and ſo out of the ſtone : and ſuddenly ſhe was in her former ſhape again.

Δ. In the name of Jeſus.

Mad. ..... Where this voyce entreth, no man hath to ſay : For it is the beginning , ſo it is likewiſe the end.

Therefore enquire not any more now, but ceaſe : For this is the marvellous beginning of this laſt time.

The marvellous beginning of this laſt time.

Δ. All thanks, Laud, Honor, Glory, and Empire be to the Eternal, Omnipotent, and our onely God of Heaven and Earth. Amen.

Thurſday, Auguſti 16. 1584. Mane, circiter horam 8 $\frac{2}{3}$. † Prage.

Δ. Precibus finitis, I propounded, as concerning the book to be prepared for the Angelical writing, &c. And becauſe Mapſama had dealt about that point : Therefore I required at God his hands, the Miniſtery of Mapſama herein : if it were his will.

E. K. Here is Madami.

Δ. Bleſſed be the God of Heaven and Earth, who regardeth the ſincere intent of his ſilly ones.

Mad. ..... When ſeed time is paſt, who ſoweth his Corn ? Or what is he amongſt men that calleth back the Sun a minute ? So may it be ſaid of you, which were ſlack in ſowing, and therefore have let paſſe the benefit of time, wherein your ſeed might have multiplied. Behold, your labours are in vain, in reſpect of that you might have received.

...... For Auguſt is paſt with you the firſt day : And Mapſama wanteth, not by himſelf , but through your negligence : whoſe fingers wrought, and made an end of anothers work, which was tied to time.

Mapſama.

Nalvage was beaten back from you : But you conſider not his conflict, neither thank God for that he hath finiſhed for you : with whom [Nalvage] now, you have no power. For the Receiver and Giver for that time, were of time.

But to the entent that the Heavens may agree, (becauſe they are the light of him, which is the light of his father) I ſay unto thee that thou muſt prepare, of fair, and decent paper , a book. To the entent, that the paper it ſelf may bear witneſſe againſt you : and receive that, which ſhould have been printed in Gold.

A paper book to be prepared.

Δ. God he knoweth, and the Heavens, that I did the beſt I could, to have had the book ſilvered.

Mad. ..... It is ſo : I will bear witneſſe with thee. But where the watch-men ſleep, and do not their duety : Theft taketh place; and the enemies make havock.

The ſins of Lasky are not a few ; yea, they are ſuch as have brought in the Prince of Thieves, which had prevailed : But God was watch-man at the inner doors. For, he doubted of thy faith, and laughed God to skorn. But hear the voice of him that ſitteth : Leapers and defiled people uſe not to carve at a Kings Table : for when his Carvers become Leapers, they are not : becauſe they are expelled.

Even ſo into my Chambers, and ſecret judgements entreth not the Incredulous , Proud , and Skornfull ſinners. But becauſe he became worſe then a Leaper, I baniſhed him out of my Chambers, for I am more then a King.

Notwithſtanding, becauſe I have ſworn unto thee for him , I will ſuffer him to be exalted : But in the midſt of his Triumph he ſhall fall, as a proud Tree doth, whoſe roots are uncertain.

Juſjurandum ad Dee, pro A. L.

And becauſe thou haſt believed me, and haſt not murmured againſt me, I will be juſt with thee, And with this Emperour ſhall be thy aboad. And through thy mouth ſhall ſpring a Cedar-Tree, whoſe top ſhall touch the Moon, and branches cover the beaſts of the field, the birds of the Aire; yea, and a part of the Seas. Becauſe thou haſt taken pains for me, I will deal juſtly with thee, and reward thee. Miſericordia Dei ſuper Δ. Cum Imperore Rod. Prophetia de Δ.

*The ſons of wickedneſſe are proud, becauſe of their promotion; are ſtout, becauſe of their Kingdoms and Dominions: But they muſt fall, becauſe their building doth ſtand on * ſand.*

* Mathei 7. D.

Do my Commandment, be not afraid.

For I have new leſſons to teach thee, and new books to open, ſuch as have been ſealed in the wilderneſſe. New leſſons. New books.

E. K. She is gone.

Δ. As concerning the Letter to be written unto Rodolphus, O Lord, I would gladly know the Argument, and when I ſhould ſend it.

A voyce……Incipienti, dabitur.

Δ. I underſtand this thus: That, when I begin to write it ſhall be inſpired from God, as was ſaid before.

A voyce……Ceaſe.

Δ. Deo Noſtro Immortali, Inviſibili, & Omnipotenti, ſit omnis honor, Laus & Gloria: Nunc & ſemper. Amen.

Friday, Auguſti 17. Mane. † Pragæ.

Δ. Becauſe I would make no delay, for the Letter writing to the Emperour Rodolphus, I framed my ſelf to write, beſeeching God that I might ſo write, as might be ſufficient for the purpoſe, &c. And thus I wrote as followeth.

Omnipotentis Noſtri Creatoris (Chriſtianorum omnium Imperatorum fæliciſſime, O Rudolphe) tam eſt hominibus incognita illa, quæ cuncta diſponit perficitque PROVIDENTIA, rataque ipſa rerum ſeries & coordinatio (à primo ad ultimum) quòd à pleriſque, temerè, fortuito, vel caſu, hoc illove evenire modo, exiſtimentur omnia, quæ extra præterve ſuorum Conſiliorum deſignationes; fieri conſpiciant. Verùm quibus eſt mens Divinæ veritatis lumine colluſtrata, & ad multiplices longiſque intervallis diſtinctas rerum conſecutiones conſiderandas, attentior, evidentiſſimè deprehendent illi quidem, Quæ, quibus præcurriſſe, tanquam cauſas, occaſioneſque neceſſarias, alio priori, & interdum longe diverſiſſimo, tempore, oportuerat. Atque ut varietatem nunc omittam exemplorum, (quæ, ex aliorum hominum inter ſe collatis vitis, conditionibus, factiſque adferre poſſim,) Exemplum ſatis conſpicuum hoc unicum fieri poſſit: Nimirum illa, (incredibilis ferè) quæ inter ſacram Cæſaream Majeſtatem veſtram, & humillimum (in Deo) Mancipium me veſtrum (ex multiplicibus utrinque præcurrentibus occaſionibus) jam quaſi inſtare videtur, In unum (idemque admirandum quid) Combinatio, Divinaque conſpiratio. Ambiverunt me (Juvenem) Illuſtriſſimi Imperatores duo: Victorioſiſſimus ille Carolus Quintus, & ejuſdem Frater Ferdinandus, veſtræ Cæſareæ Majeſtatis Magnificentiſſimus Avus. Hic, Poſonii, Hungariæ: ille verò, Bruxellæ, Brabantiæ. Hic, An. 1563. Ille autem, Anno 1549. Aſt clementiſſimum Imperatorem Maximilianum, Cæſareæ veſtræ Majeſtatis Patrem (Immortali glora dignum) jam tum Hungariæ coronatum Regem, (invitiſſimo quidem ipſo Tyranno Turcico) eodem in Poſonio, eodemque, Anno 63. in deliciis habere cœpi: illiuſque rariſſimas virtutes, cum fideliter colere, tum poſteritati eaſdem reddere commendatiſſimas, opere quodam conabar Hieroglyphico. Quo etiam in labore exantlando, animus mihi præſagiebat, Auſtriacæ * familiæ; alium fore aliquando aliquem, in quo maxima mea ſpes, & publico Chriſtianorum ſtatui, Res, confirmaretur, (vel confirmari poterit,) Optima. Maximaque. Veſtræ igitur Cæſareæ Majeſti, Imperatorum Romanorum (ex Auſtriacorum Principum nobiliſſima familia) mea ætate florentium, QVARTO: Adſum, & ego, Triplicis Alphabeti, litera * Quarta. Atque ita adſim, ut meipſum ad pedes Cæſareæ Majeſtis veſtræ demiſsè oſculandos offeram: plurimùm gaviſurus, ſi qua in re, Chriſtianæ Reipublicæ Imperatori tanto, talique, gratus, utiliſve eſſe potero.

Ne dicas coram Angelo non eſt Providentia. Eccleſiaſtes, cap. 5.

* Libelli Monadis Hieroglyphicæ Theoremate 20. jam ante 20. annos editi.

*
D
Δ
ד

Veſtræ ſacræ Cæſareæ Majeſtati, ſoli, ſi hæc aliquandiu conſtare patiemini (neminique detegere velitis) rem facietis valde neceſſariam.

Pragæ, An. 1584. Auguſti 17.

Cæſareæ Majeſtis Veſtræ
Humillimus & fideliſſimus
Clienculus

Joannes Dee.

Superſcriptio erat hæc.

Sereniſſimo ac potentiſſimo Principi ac Domino Domino Rudolpho, Dei Gratia Romanorum Imperatori ſemper Auguſto, ac Germaniæ, Hungariæ, Bohemia, &c. Regi, Archiduci Auſtriæ, Duci Burgundiæ Stiriæ Carinthiæ, &c. Comiti Tyrolis, &c. Domino meo clementiſſimo.

Monday, † Pragæ, Auguſti 20. Mane circa horam 7.

△. Precibus ad Deum fuſis, ex more noſtro, &c.

1. I propounded: If the letter written for Rodolphus, were as it ſhould be?

2. Secondly, becauſe we were willed to invite the good Angels, for the book writting, I asked how we ſhould invite them?

3. As concerning our wives, and my familly ſending for: I required, when that ſhould be done?

△. Quickly apparition was made.

E. K. Here is Uriel.

△. Welcome be the light of the Higheſt.

VRIEL. ...... Wo be unto the world: for her light is taken away. Wo, wo be unto man, for the eye of light hath forſaken him. Wo, wo be to the underſtanding of man, for it is led out, with a threefold ſpirit, * the ſpirit of errour and ignorance. And wo be unto ſuch as believe not the glorious and ſupereminent light of this Teſtimony: for they are not written with the life, neither ſhall their portion be with the living.

* Aliquid deeſt forte.

The Spirit of Pride.

Thus ſaith he that is a mere ſtone, (which ſitteth between the ſeat of light and darkneſſe) whoſe wings are great, and more than mighty: wherewith he gathereth the Stars, and the powers that hang upon the firmament of the firſt and leſſer light: placing them and powering them, in the Spirit of Truth; and through his own power, the power of the word, whereby all things are, and are comprehended: in that he is as well in the heavens of Glory, Chaſtity, and Meſſage, as alſo in places unknown to us.

This Teſtimony to be believed upon credit, [illegible]

Heavens of Glory, Chaſtity, Angels.

Behold, thoſe that dig into Nature with dull Mattocks, and dull Spades, are ſuch, as of every congealed ſubſtance can imagin, but not judge: are fooliſh, and of the world: whoſe imaginations, are become the inſtruments of vanity, and the piercers of him which is the father of ignorance. Wo be unto them, for their diſputations and doctrines, are dogma's and dull. Wo, wo unto them, for they are ſuch as pleaſe themſelves, and are become fathers to many lewd children: of whom it is written, They are become ſtiff-necked and proud, and the followers of their father. Therefore have I gathered my ſelf together, and am hidden from them; becauſe they are proud and haters of innocency. Theſe teach not unto you a doctrine, neither are you partakers of their Bankets; for the Spirit of God, is plain, pure, and moſt perfect. Theſe breath not upon you, neither are the Ornaments of your Garlands enterlaced by theſe: But by him are you lifted up, that is the God of Juſtice, and the Diſcloſer of his own ſecrets: and the headlong drawer of things to an end.

God to us is the Diſcloſer of his own ſecrets.

Therefore believe, and dream not with the world: For the world ſhall periſh, and all her adherents: and ſhall be caſt into the pit of wo everlaſting. Read the Scriptures, and underſtand them: but wraſt them not, with the wicked. Look into the ſimplicity, and nakedneſſe of God his Promiſe.: View the innocency of ſome that received them, And let not the wickedneſſe of thoſe that the Lord made vertuous, go out of your remembrance. But ſo Triumpheth true power, ſo gathereth he himſelf together to diſcomfort the Serpent: Of the lighteſt he maketh the heavieſt, and of the weakeſt the ſtrongeſt: And in the weakeſt veſſels, worketh he his mercy. And why? behold, leſt the world, in her proud imaginations, in the ornaments of her pearls, and moſt pretious wits, ſhould brag, ſaying, I can compare with the Lord. Hear my voice, for it is of God. The world bringeth forth no good thing, neither are the doings of man accepted; but where the ſpirit of humility dwelleth. Out of the depth of darkneſſe hath God made light: And lo, the light is great, and the darkneſſe comprehendeth it not. So, in the weakeſt will he be exalted.

Humility.

The Spirit that ſpeaketh unto you, is he that hath a Tower to build, a ſtrong Tower and a mighty; yea ſuch a one, as hath not been from the beginning: No, not from the beginning. Great is the foundation thereof; for, it is of Iron; But greater are her walls; for they are of Diamond. Moſt great are her Turrets; for they are the ſeven Heads, that behold, judge, and gather: And they are made of Truth, the Spirit of Eternity. Unto the laying of every ſtone, are you made privy, And for this Tower are you provided.

Uriel hath a Tower to build &c.

△. and E. K.

1. For lo, the firſt hath appeared, and ſhewed himſelf mightily.
2. And the ſecond hath redeemed, and overcome Satan.
3. And lo, the third appeareth, and ſhall viſibly ſhew the power of God to all Nations.

Primus Filius Spiritus Sanctus.

For Now cometh the Deſolation of the World, And the fall of her pride. And this is the laſt Rod that meaſureth, and ſhall be broken: For it is ſaid, Now will I hear you from under the Altar, Now will I revenge the blood of your brethren.

Deſolatio de qua Propheta loquutus eſt.

O you ignorant, and of weak faith: Know you not the times that are to come? O you that ſpit out the meat of comfort: yea when it is put lovingly into your mouths. Why are you ſorrowful? Why rejoyce you not, that the God of Juſtice is girded, and hath whetted his ſword, upon a thouſand thouſand Mountains of fire? Why laugh you not the world to ſcorn? and deride her fornication? Weep not upon her; for ſhe is accurſed: Neither wonder at her; for ſhe will be more wonderful.

Apocalypſ. cap. 13. F.

You

You have received this Doctrine in Chambers, and in ſecret places: But it ſhall ſtand in the great City: and upon 7 Hills, and ſhall eſtabliſh her ſelf in truth: Purifie the walls, and ſweep out the duſt and cobwels (the works of the venemous) that it may be caſt into the River, and brought into no remembrance.

Yea, it ſhall ſit in * Joſaphat, in Judgement, againſt the wicked, and ſhall become a fire engendred in the cave of Thunders. Therefore, When you are commanded, lift up your heads, and † fear not: for whom, the Heavens ſhall fight.

But in your ſelves be patient, and continue to the end: That your Crowns may exceed the Garlands of the Earth.

△. Eccleſiaſtes. Tempus eſt tacendi & tempus eſt loquendi veluti de tranſfiguratione Chriſti Matth. 17. B. Marc. 9 B Luc 9. B. 12. A. Conſtat. Et propriè Matthæi cap. 10. C. Quod in aure audietis, predicate ſuper tecta, &c Luc. 12.

* Joel, cap. 3.

† Fear not.

Thus ſaith the Lord, Lo, I have promiſed thee, that my Angel ſhall † viſit thee: And ſo it ſhall be. But if I now viſit thee, Thus will the world ſay hereafter; Lo, he hath fained a Doctrine for himſelf. Lo he excelleth in ſubtilty. When I gave my laws, they were not ſecret; *neither was the place unſanctified. When the Comforter cometh, girdeth himſelf againſt the ſon of * wickedneſſe; Then muſt you be known, and ſeen unto the Earth.*

† Promiſe of viſitation for the 48. great Calls, and the Holy Books writing and practiſing.

* Legiſlatio manifeſta & in loco Sanctificato. Antichriſti everſio per Spiritum SS. futura. * Epiſt. Pauli ad Theſſ. 2. cap. 2.

An Election or Choice offered to △. RODOLPHUS Imp.

But I will give thee the choice: Chuſe therefore, whether thou wilt banket Now: becauſe I have promiſed thee: Or tarry, till I ſee the time more convenient; For lo, if Rodolph. hearken unto my voice, He ſhall wonder, and rejoyce with thee: And I will exalt him, above the Kings of earth.

Stay a while: I come again.

△. After he had ſtayed a while, and read over the premiſſes, and talked of the manner of the Choice or Election offered: and the dealing with Rudolph: we thought good to beſeech God to regard his promiſe, for his glory and honour, and we moſt humbly to thank him that he would offer a choice to me a man of no worthineſſe, nor wiſdom: therefore moſt deſirous to be entred ſpeedily into the School of Wiſdom, wherein we might grow, and attend the opportunities of any thing to be done or ſaid by us; So that (if it were his will) we were, and are deſirous now to be viſited, as his moſt merciful promiſe importeth.

A Viſion.

E. K. Now Uriel is here; he hath a Chair, and is ſet down in it: It is like a Throne..

Here I ſee a green Hill: and I ſee thereon three men, like learned men, in Gowns of puke-colour: they have Hats on their heads. Uriel hath in his hand a thing like a rolling-pin (of half an ell long) of Gold.

The Garden of Comfort.

I ſee beyond the men, a very fair Park, encloſed with pale, piked, &c. I ſee Roſes and Lillies, and goodly Flowers in one part of it, and fair running waters in it, and little Hills, and all manner of Birds: And in the middle of the Park, is a turret, and in the top of that, a round thing like a Stone, which giveth light all the Park over: but without the Park pale, it is duskiſh or dark. Theſe three men ſtand together upon the pitch of the bank of the Hill that goeth down toward Uriel.

There appear three diverſe fair wayes to the Park, two from the Hill where the men ſtand, and one from the place about Uriel.

1. I ſee one man walk in the Park, and he picketh Flowers, and putting them to his mouth, they ſmoke, as the ſmoke of the ſnuff of a candel when the candle is put out.

2. I ſee likewiſe another man gathering of Flowers there, and he would put the Flowers to make them ſtick on his Coat, but they will not hang on but fall down, it is ſo bare.

3. I ſee a third man, who hath his Robes all belayed with lace of gold, great and ſmall, and divers pretious Stones, and on his head a wreath like a Garland, very broad beſet with very beautiful pretious Stones: and he trimmeth himſelf all over with the flowers of the Park or Garden, Now the three men are come from the Hill, before Vriel his ſeat.

1. One of thoſe men ſaith …… I moſt humbly beſeech you that I may have acceſſe into the Garden of Comfort.

Uriel. …… You ſhall: I am contented.

E. K. Now they three go toward the Garden of Comfort: they point one to another, and ſeem to talke one with another. They go in the path which leadeth from him [Vriel] toward the Park.

Uriel. …… Theſe are Wiſe men, for they ſhall eſcape the danger of the [△] firſt and the ſecond, and ſhall live as the [△] third in comfort and pleaſure: For behold, Thoſe which have entred, and now ſhall enter, have deſerved their reward.

△ He meaneth of the firſt and ſecond which gathered flowers, and of the third.

But ſome there be that enter, and reſpect not the end; and ſuch ſhall they be as he is, which defileth the flowers.

Reſpice finem.

E. K. Now here cometh a man from the Park-ward, and meeteth thoſe three men, and giveth them three very rich garments: they put off their former garments, and put on thoſe rich and beautiful garments.

2. Uriel. …… Otherſome there be, and go the middle way, becauſe it is the next and ſtraighteſt, and thoſe be ſuch as enter with their own ornaments, which are very poor and bare, and upon whoſe garments can hang no pleaſure.

3. Some there are that enter [1] from me (for without me none entreth into that Garden) and becauſe I am the light of him that lighteth by Creation, therefore is there a way perfect, and beareth teſtimony from me, whereby they are thought worthy, and are [2] apparelled for that place of pleaſure, and ſo worthily enter.

Note Cauſa ſine qua non: & cauſa proxima & propria ut differunt hic.

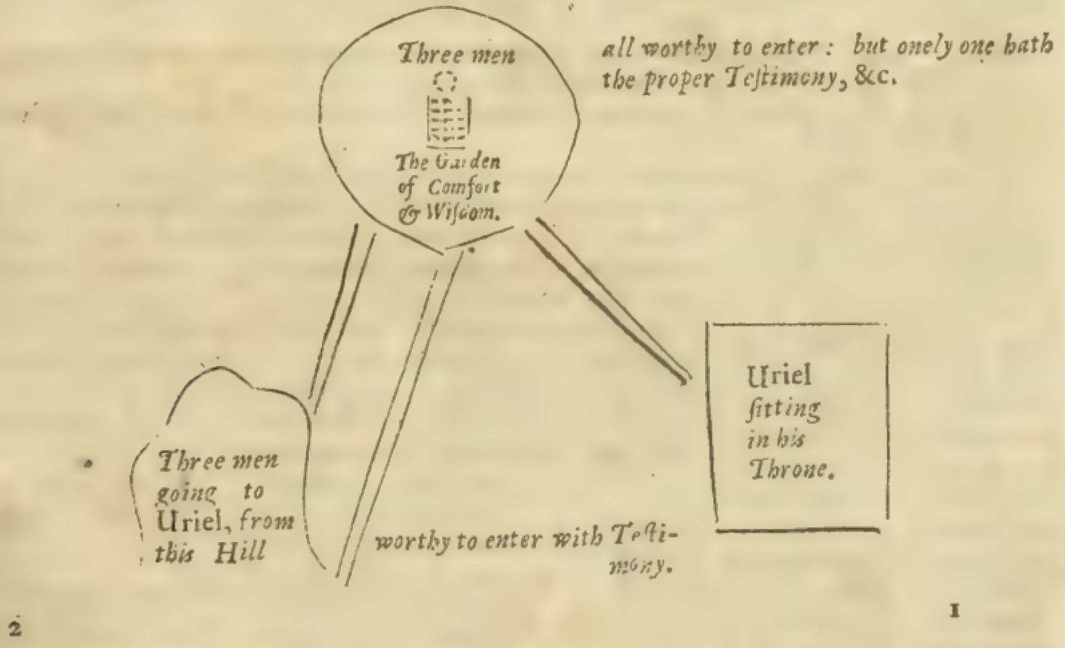
Lo they enrich themſelves, being made rich with the beauty of ſo pleaſant flowers: and they alwayes drink of the water of wiſdom to their comfort and continuance. Bleſſed is he that ſo entreth.



Three men
The Garden of Comfort & Wiſdom.
Uriel ſitting in his Throne.
Three men going to Uriel, from this Hill worthy to enter with Teſtimony.
1
2

all worthy to enter: but onely one hath the proper Teſtimony, &c.

1. He that defileth the flowers, was worthy to enter into our Garden: but becauſe he came not hither to my Throne, and ſo took the way deſcending from the Hill, [to me] and brought into the Garden of Wiſdom, his worldly apparel; which, lo, is alwayes as a miſt between him and true wiſdom, yet he thinketh himſelf ſatisfied.

A defiler of the flowers. The Garden of Wiſdom.

2. He whoſe coat is bare, was alſo worthy: But becauſe he thought himſelf worthy, and viſited not my ſeat, he took the middle way, where are no ornaments: Therefore he brought in his own nakedneſſe which is ſo thredbare, that the flowers fall off it, as from a marble ſtone, and the waters glideth of it, as from the back of a Falcon.

Behold, I ſit: happy are thoſe, that come unto me.

Lo, you ſee, you may become wiſe; with the [1] Cloudy, wiſe with the [2] bare; and wiſe with thoſe that are [3] advanced; and dwell in true wiſdom.

Three manner of wiſe men.

The Gate that thou ſhalt enter into, is a fire of fury, and of revenge:

Fury and Revenge.

But be it unto thee, as thy Election is. Even from the beginning, nakedly. Open unto Rudolph.

Rudolph the Emperour muſt be made privy to all. RUDOLPHUS IMPER. Opera ſine fides, mortua.

Rudolph, the manner of Gods viſitation : Shew unto him the holy Viſion : for I will make thee unto him an hand, an arm, yea an half body. Yea I will be merciful unto him, and ſeal him for my ſelf : and he ſhall be thy comfort. I will put my fear into him, and he ſhall be afraid to ſin, and he ſhall become a rod to thoſe that are ſinful.

Happy are thoſe, whoſe works are a hope ; and whoſe faith deſerveth the aid of my light. This is of God, and I am the finger. Happy are thoſe that are directed by me. For, in me is the true path and light of direction.

E. K. He is gone.

Δ. As concerning this Gate (laſtly ſpoken of) whereinto I muſt enter, that it is a fire of fury, and of revenge : O Lord, I am afraid, if that phraſe be of any diſpleaſure to me : for I referred my Election to the will of God, as was for his honour and glory to be granted : And I have long made Petition to God for your help, and I deſire nothing that ſhould make the higheſt offended with me. But perhaps the ſervice of God wherein I am to ſerve him now, (with his Talent of wiſdom to be imparted to me) conſiſteth in the execution of the Juſtice of God, with a furious and revenging fire, as under the Altar they lie, and cry for, &c.

Apoc. cap.6.

Uriel.... ...... Thou haſt ſaid ———

His voyce.

Δ. All Laud, Honor, and praiſe be unto the Almighty, wiſe, and our moſt mercifull God : now, and ever. Amen.

Tueſday, 21. Auguſti : Ante Meridiem horam Circiter 9. † Pragæ.

Precibus finitis, & invito Uriele ut nos illuminaret, dirigeret, conſolaretur, &c.

E. K. Uriel is here, and about his head at a little diſtance, is a bright part of a Circle like a Rain-bow, &c.

Δ. We propounded unto you yeſterday (O you faithfull meſſager of the higheſt) as concerning this letter, how it is liked : when it is to be ſent, and by whom, &c.

Earth.

Uriel. ..... O earth, how great a Monſter art thou, and how great is thy wickedneſſe, which makeſt dull mans capacity, and carrieſt him away into an obſcure and raſh ſenſe ? Not without a cauſe art thou hated with the higheſt ; yea, not without a cauſe are thy Garments made ſhort.

My brethren, how long will you be grievous to the Lord, how long (I ſay) will you be without underſtanding,

O, how long will you conſider your own commodities, and neglect the harveſt of the Lord ?

[Δ. I underſtand nothing of the occaſion of theſe ſpeeches.]

A reproof of our choice made.

Uriel. ..... But behold, for you have choſen unto your ſelves a viſitation , and have broken the viſitation of the Lord.

For when you were commanded you went not , and unto your ſe'ves you chuſe dayes for advantage : Well, I ſay, Take your choice and become wiſe : for I am ready to deliver.

Prepare.

I ſay, prepare your ſelves, and be ready : But I fear me , (yea, I know it) that you will become foggy and miſty. Notwithſtanding thus ſayeth the Lord : Since you will become wiſe, Chaſtiſe your ſelf for a few dayes, and abſtain, and you ſhall ſee that I am a God that can viſit, and mightily: I am not man, that my promiſes may not be, neither ſpeak I of any thing that liveth not, for I am light, and the breath of underſtanding. Becauſe you have followed my Commandments (yet ſome of you obſtinately, and rather, as reprehenders then obedient ſervants) I will put a ſnaffle unto Satan, and unto his Miniſters, and thou ſhalt ſit in judgement againſt the wicked : For I will multiply thee, and thy houſhold : And of thy ſeed ; yea, even of thy ſeed, will I finder out a Camber,[a] and will root out a people, which I have long favoured. And for this cauſe ſpared *I him unto thee, for unto him that loveth me, will I be a juſt rewarder. The branches of the wicked do I cut off, and make worſe then the Aſſes dung : But unto the faithfull will I ſend honour, and a Crown of rejoycing.

The Promiſe becometh life. God well pleaſed. A new promiſe to Δ.

Hui, who is he, that I cannot reward him ? Or where dwelleſt thou , (in Heaven, or in Earth) that art, and rejoyceſt not by me ? If thou follow my Commandments, and I once begin to love thee ?

I have told thee that I will place thee here.

Δ. I muſt be placed here in Prage.

[Δ. In this Citie.]

Uriel...... Not as a Citizen , but as an owner of many houſes. But take heed, thou be be juſt to me, and do what I command thee.

[a] Camber, vide Anno 1582. 15. Martii.

* Δ. Fortè intelligit Rolandum infantem meum cui vitam reſtituit Deus (miraculosè quaſi) Cracoviæ, An. 1584. Julii 14. Sed Deus tu noſti quod hoc mihi tam mirum videtur quam virum Mariæ pregnantem cenſeri, &c. Vide Sept. 21. Miſericordiam Dei præmiſſam.

NOT YET Stewards Overſeers Labourers. The Lord his viſitation is not yet.

Δ. Lord thou knoweſt my heart, help, and ſupply my wants.

Uriel....., Behold, the Corn is not ripe, neither are the Grapes red , nor the Sun hath not yet ſeaſoned them ; Therefore, yet, need I not Stewards, but Overſeers : And as yet, Laborers are to me as ſhadows. Becauſe, not yet, no, not yet is the time of my viſitation : therefore he that bringeth his Syckle now , muſt not reap for me, but muſt rejoyce in himſelf. Happy is he that tarrieth the Lord, leaſt afterward the doors be ſhut, and the feaſt at an end. All wiſdom (and ſciences ces comprehended in wiſdom) that worketh for himſelf, is of the world: But the wiſdom that I give, I give openly, and without reproach: that I alſo rejoycing in the wiſdom may be glorified, and exalted with a Diademe of honour. When Sodom cried for vengeance, had I it not ready? Could not I from heaven have conſumed them with the breath of my own mouth? I, in my ſelf know it, and am witneſſe: But lo, in the pride of their filthineſſe I had regard to time: And (that it might be known to all Nations) licenſed my Angels, and gave them power: And lo, then made a promiſe unto all Nations that they ſhould be bleſſed in Abraham: even the ſame moneth that I deſtroyed the Sodomites. Theſe things did I, as unto Noe: and unto Seth, whom I loved: I made them privy of time to come, and opened unto them my judgements: becauſe the world ſhould be juſtly condemned. After the ſame manner made I a promiſe unto you: Lo, after the ſame manner have I called you to counſel. But you have choſen the loweſt, and have refuſed the higheſt places, and have regarded your own comforts, and not my viſitation. I commanded thee not to go into the woods, and to fetter Wolves: neither to ſaw the Tygers teeth. I delivered you not unto the wicked, neither ſuffered I them to rejoyce over you: But I have brought you from death, and from the dayes of lamentation, and have dealt with you as faithfull brethren do in their diviſions: Not that I forget my ſelf, but that I would be magnified, and that you might ſee your wildneſſe, and naked raſhneſſe: Many are there upon the earth, which would have burſt with gladneſſe, and have rent their Garments in pieces. If I had touched them with the leaſt of theſe Counſels (ſo I call them, becauſe they are my ſecrets) Is it not ſufficient that I have brought you [Δ.] hither ſafe? Have promiſed you a ſure help?

Time.

Δ. Promiſe to Abraham.

Seth, the third ſon of Adam.

A promiſe made unto us.

The choice miſliked.

The mercies of God upon us.

[Δ To Pragae.]

A ſure help promiſed.

Lo, you wraſt me, for what is he of the world, to whom I ſhall confirm letters?

[Δ. This is ſpoken in reſpect of God his judgement required of the letter.]

They grieve me, becauſe they are the doings of man: O man, let man anſwer unto thee, and let it ſuffice thee, that the mark whereat thou ſhooteſt is in my hand.

My work is not a work of hours nor dayes. But when I command, do ſpeedily. When the Thunders fall from Heaven, and burn up the Earth, ſcale her face, and leave her naked. Then, Then, will you believe.

Behold, He that is a man, being new born, is accounted a Monſter.

Is it not written? Lo, the Lord looked from heaven in his viſitation, and in the midday, and groaned upon her, for ſhe had vexed him. Happy is he that is ready when he viſiteth: That which I command, let it be done. For when the Kings of the earth, ſay, do this: They play not alſo the parts of their ſervants and ſubjects, but lo, it is done. Suffer me (I pray you) to have that favour.

Do the Lords Commandment ſpeedily.

Note, ſignes.

Δ. I underſtand not this.

Δ. Deo Noſtro Miſericordi, Pio, & Juſto, ſit omnis Honor, Laus & Gloria. Amen.

Tueſday, 21 Auguſti. † Pragæ.

After Dinner as we [E. K. and Δ.] were in my Study, and conferring of my choiſe, and very ſorry that we had made our choiſe not of the beſt: E.K. ſaw Uriel in the ſtone, which yet ſtood unput up: and ſaid, he had ſeen him there ever ſince we began: So coming to the ſtone he ſaid as followeth.

Uriel. ..... Murmur not amongſt your ſelves: But rejoyce and be glad, and ſound into the greatneſſe of Gods mercies, which beareth all your weakneſſe, and leadeth you through the foggy and perilous miſts of your daily temptations even by the hand: And now, not onely giveth, but alſo exhorteth. I ſpeak with you as a man. Yea, let me ſpeak with you as a man: You are oppreſt with ſin, and with the world, and are not yet apt for the viſitation of God.

Note our unaptneſſe yet to be viſited.

My brethren, God hath dealt mercifully with you, hath opened unto you theſe three wayes deſirous

Δ. In malevolam animam non introibit ſapientia, nec habitabit in corpore ſubdito peccatis, Eccleſiaſtes, cap. 1.

Eccleſiaſtes, cap. 1.

[E. K. He ſpeaketh other language, I underſtand not.]

..... That one of you might have entred into the higheſt Gate. And why? Becauſe the workman might be able, and correſpondent unto the work, and time (of the Lord) to come. God hath done may great things for you: but you will not ſee them. Tarry awhile till I come again.

The workman and the work muſt be correſpondent.

To Δ. Was ſaid, In fac ſupra. To E.K. In vide. To A.L. In vive.

E. K. He is gone beyond a thing like a Hill.

Δ. After half a quarter of an hour he came again.

E. K. He hath a pair of Tables in his hand, made as of white bone: and therein are many names written orderly, one under another.

E. K. If I thought this to be of God, and this to be Uriel indeed, it were another matter: but their too much familiarity maketh me doubt.

Δ. The old ſaying is true in you, Nimia familiaritas parit contemptum.

Uriel. ...... Believe me, by Heaven and Earth, I am true Uriel.

E. K. He hath another Book holden unto him, by one ſtanding by him, who is like a ſhadow.

A new choice, by God his great mercy granted 73 and a half Dee his age.

Uriel. ...... Give ear, ſay and chuſe: for after this time, there is no choice.

Dee, thy age and continuance in this world, in fleſh, according to the finger, and ſecond proportion, which you call Nature, is 73 years and a half: and here it is [Δ. pointing to the other Book.]

E. K. He that is like a ſhadow openeth the Book; it ſeeming to be of yern or ſteel. In which Book appeareth divers names, as Bamaſan, Corſax, Tobomaphala, &c.

[Δ. They ſeemed to be the names of good Angels proper to peculiar men.]

Uriel. ...... Thou [E. K.] doſt more than thou art commanded. Yet, ceaſe a while.

[Δ. Becauſe he [E. K.] read theſe names.

E. K. He ſpreadeth a thing like a Cloud before them.

E. K. Now he appeareth again, and the other with him.

Angelus bonus, E. K.

E. K. Sudſamna appeareth in the Book, and againſt it 46.

Uriel. ...... So much ſhalt thou [E. K.] live by nature, and die violently.

E. K. Now he is covered again.

E. K. Now he is here again.

E. K. Aſlaſben ſtandeth written in that Book, and 73 with a prick over the upper part of the figure 3.

E. K. The Book is very big and full of names, and numbers againſt them: the leaves are very thin.

Aſlaſben my good angel. Sudſamna E. K. his good Angel. Vita Natura, Gratia.

E. K. Now Uriel openeth his book himſelf; And there appeareth againſt Aſlaſben, 122. And againſt Sudſamna appeareth 87.

Uriel. ...... Beyond the which, you cannot: --- Notwithſtanding this life, is alwayes given by God, or at the interceſſion of ſome one, or mo, of us his Angels. The other is natural: notwithſtanding is ſhortened through the ſin of man. I am a witneſs to my ſelf, that theſe books and words are true.

E. K. Now he is in his Cloud again.

Δ. After a while, they appeared again, as before.

E. K. They look very gravely on their books.

Δ. As King Ezekiah did Regnum 4. cap. 20

Note.

Uriel. ...... Behold my brethren, God is ready to open his merciful ſtore-houſes and gates of underſtanding unto you: But he that liveth for himſelf, and for the end of this ſhadow, limiteth his wiſdom with this number: and ſhall both have an end at once: But he that turneth him to the wall, and weepeth bitterly, ſhall enter into this Book: But he muſt not build his own houſe, but an houſe for the Lord; Neither muſt he be viſited by the challenge of promiſe, but by the meer mercy and good will of God, and at his pleaſure and appointment: He that hath underſtanding let him hear.

* Auguſti 23.

Our new or reformed choice.

*Behold, This his pen, is a pen of Steel; But that that I raze withal, is of Gold, and a piercing Inſtrument. If therefore your viſitation ſhall be after to * morrow, and that you covet to build (becauſe you are men) Then give your names unto the yern: But if you will remember the Lord, and adde any thing unto his building, faithfully,* Then vow your names unto me, In the name of him which created you. After this time, there is no choice.

A great mercy, and myſtery.

Therefore, conſider; for, never before, (but once) was this myſtery, and mercy of God opened unto man.

E. K. Now he hath drawn the Cloud to him.

Δ. I am not able (O Lord) to give thee condigne thanks for theſe mercies: But thy will be done: Not as we will, nor as we have raſhly and blindly (before) choſen: But this is our choice, to be thy ſervants all the dayes of our life; and we deſire not long life ſo much, as the favour which addeth thoſe dayes, wherein our faith may be fruitful through thy graces abounding in us. I renounce my former choice, I challenge no promiſe: But require thee, O God, of thy fatherly goodneſſe to be my light, director, ſtaff, ſtrength, defence, and comfort, now and ever, Amen.

The former choice renounced. This Day.

Uriel. ...... Alwayes call unto me for the Teſtimony and witneſſe of the promiſe of God, and the remembrance of this day.

E. K. He

E. K. He hath written after the * numbers in his own Book, Eſt, Eſt. * 122 87.

Δ. Ad laudem, gloriam, & honorem Dei, Eſto, Eſto. Amen.

Uriel. …… Now deal with Rodolph. and be not ſlack: for until thou have talked with him, I appear no more. Rodolphus.

Thy haſte, ſhall prevent the ſlander of wicked tongues, whom Satan hath already ſtirred up againſt thee.

Δ. I underſtand of none.

Uriel. …… It is beſt thou underſtand it not at all.

E. K. He putteth a Cloud over all the Stone, like a white wrinkled Curtain: and ſo diſappeareth.

Δ. But though you appear not, yet of Madimi I may require anſwer, to know when my wife and children are to be ſent for, &c.

E. K. There is no anſwer given.

Δ. Fiat voluntas Dei, juxta illius beneplacitum: cui omnis laus gloria & gratiarum Actio, nunc & in omne ævum. Amen.

Δ. I received letters from my wife, that ſhe and her children are well. God have the praiſe and thanks therefore. Amen.

Friday, Auguſti, 24. à Meridie. Pragæ.

Being willed to deal with Rodolphus, firſt by letter, and then by ſpeech: I thought good to ſend the Letter before written, for the Emperour; by the Noble Don Wilhelmo de St. Clemente, the King of Spain his Præfectus Negotiorum with this Emperour: and thereupon by Emericus Sunttag, the Lord Laskie his Secretary, I wrote this to the aforeſaid Don Clemente, and ſent it this Bartholomew Day.

EA eſt hominum in terris conditio (Nobiliſsime vir) ut ſibi ſoli nullus natus eſſe videatur: Immò neque ſibi ullus omnia ſponte naſcentia, vel ultro ab aliis oblata, quæ ſibi maximè ſunt neceſſaria recipiat. Mutuæ inde hominum emerſerunt ſocietates, mutuæ amicitiæ, mutuæ operæ, Mutua dona, Rerum commutatio, & emptionis, rerumque venditionis contractus: Aliique diverſi hominum exiſtunt ſtatus, unde hominum inter homines, & cum hominibus multiplicia procurantur officia, commerciaque. Neque omnium iſtorum, ſola eſt utilitas vel (quæ peribit) voluptas, ſcopus ille, vel finis, quem attingere conantur & ſtudent: Sed aliud aliquibus eſt propoſitum quod Divinius quidem eſt, quod virtutem vel Honeſtatem nominare poſſumus; quæ cœlitus demiſſa, hominum informet mentes & ornet, ſibique coaptet: Adeo ut ſedibus illas reddat cœleſtibus dignas. Illud, illud, ergo eſt Illuſtriſsime vir quod excellentiam veſtram tam mihi pridie reddidit attentam, benignam & perhumanam; Illud eſt quod veſtram refricabit memoriam, & veſtrum inſigniter acuet ingenium, in Cauſa mea, ſuæ Cæſareæ Majeſti tam proponenda, quam commendanda: eoque tractanda modo, quo illa tractari Arcana debeant, quæ a paucis credantur, & a paucioribus intelligantur: veriſſima licet ſint, & ex ſeſe utiliſſima. Quo citiùs Cæſarea tua Majeſtas, mirabilem hanc & maximam Dei, non Providentiam ſolum ſed bonitatem etiam amplexus fuerit, eo citius & abundantiùs, meæ ad illum legationis conſtabit ſinceritas, bonitas & utilitas. Voluiſſem equidem hunc incluſum libellum, literaſque incluſas veſtræ excellentiæ, ipſemet attuliſſe. Sed (cum venia ſit dictum) ex digiti pedis mei offenſa cuticula, non tam commode poſſum hodie pedes venire. Proinde amico meo hoc onus impoſui, ut (cum veſtræ Excellentiæ manuum deoſculatione) omnia mea vobis offerat ſervitia: hocque, quicquid eſt, pro ſua Cæſarea Majeſtate, traderet munuſculi.

Pragæ 24. Auguſti 1584.

The Superſcription of this Letter was thus,

Joannes Dee.

Illuſtriſſimo Domino, Domino Don Gulielmo de Sancto Clemente ſereniſſimi atque Catholici Hiſpaniarum Regis Negotiorum apud ſacram Cæſaream Majeſtatem, &c.
Præfecto, Domino meo Obſervandiſſimo.

Monday, Augusti 27. Mane circa 9. † Pragæ.

Precibus finitis, I propounded to God, of Madimi four things.

Firſt, what was the cauſe of the errour recorded, Febr. 18. this Anno 1584. at Lasko of Sir Henry Sidney his death?

Secondly, In what ſenſe is this to be underſtood, which Madimi willed me to ſay to Rodolphus, An Angel of the Lord hath appeared unto me?

Thirdly, Madimi ſaid as concerning the time of my wife and children and houſhold to be moved hither, Let that be my charge to anſwer thee?

Fourthly, Madimi willed me to write to Rodulphus: And I have done, and cauſed it to be delivered to Don Wilhelmo de Sancto Clemente, the Spaniſh Embaſſadour, to deliver it to the Emperour. God proſper it. Amen.

E. K. Here ſhe is.

△. The eternal roots of verity bring forth fruit, to the comfort of ſuch as delight in the pure verity for the ſervice of God, &c. And you Madimi, as a Miniſter of the Higheſt in verity, are unto me welcome.

Cauſa ſine qua non.

Note this phraſe of ſound.

Mad ...... Even as mans fingers [or a thing,] touching, moving, or forcing an inſtrument muſical, is the cauſe, without the which it cannot ſound, or drink up the air; which again ſeeking iſſue, and feeling a ſtay, is the [objectum] cauſe of concord or diſſonancy, according to the inward ſpirit and imagination of the thing that moveth, or of the finger moving: So the earthly part of man, which hath no motion of it ſelf, (radically) moveth by touch or finger (whatſoever) ſpiritual, and ſendeth out ſounds; not according to her ſelf, but according to the fiery, yea inviſible, and ſpiritual power, wherewithal it is moved.

Three movers in man concurring.

Hereby we learn, that mans body, and his organical motions, hath three manner of movers; centraliter, by the property and perfection of the Soul, a ſuperiore, and by deſcenſion, from the Angels or participants of underſtanding: E contrario, and aſcending, ſpirits wicked, and tempters, all moving

⊙ S[illegible] in [illegible]

But here you muſt note, That as the Sun depriveth the Moon in reſpect of her end, which is to give light, but not of her ſelf; So do the Angels and higher powers drown and overſhadow the ſoul in man when they are preſent: working from God and in themſelves, (as from above) and not by the ſoul as any root, or firſt cauſe of the motion.

Note the manner of the Devils working in, or by man.

But when the Devil entreth, and aſcendeth, he worketh not by force, but by enticement, and ſo allureth the ſoul, to grant of his poſſeſſion: whereby he entreth and becometh ſtrong.

Thoſe that have ears let them hear; for my words are wiſdom, and the grounds of many Sciences.

Mundus Humanum Corpus, &c. tanquam Cera.

Impreſſio { Superior, Humana, Inferior.

Pray againſt Temptation.

Impreſſio prædominans eſt conſideranda.

△. Per quæ homo peccat per eadem punitur: aut dixit Aſcendat, &c. Item ex Infernali ſtatu, ſemper aſcendendo tentat.

Then, by a ſimilitude, is the world wax: Mans body wax: and the natural motions of things, naturally extended, wax alſo: But our purpoſe is of man; which at one inſtant receiveth three impreſſions: Miſſive, Natural, and Offenſive.

Whereby you may perceive, That man greatly needeth to pray againſt temptation: For the laſt Seal, is ſign of him that oweth the wax, Happy are thoſe, that can watch and pray: for ſuch they are that grant not any room or intereſt, to the wicked aſcender.

I anſwer you: If you be but as a ſtring, Challenge but your own duty: But take heed, you be in tune.

E. K. She ſpeaketh, but I cannot expreſſe it.

△. I pray you let nothing of your words, that you utter to us, or before us, be unrecorded.

Mad. ...... You are not worthy to write it: for it is the harmony of the heavens.

Stay a while; for I would open that unto you, which I perceive I may not: but I come again.

[△. We read over the premiſes, and weighed them as inſtructions of the three divers movers of mans ſenſes internally, &c. And ſo after a quarter of an hour

E. K. Here ſhe is again.

Mad. ...... For he that purifieth his houſe, and ſtraweth ruſhes, and beautifieth the chambers with Garlands, is worthy to receive (becauſe of his aptneſſe,) ſuch as are meſſagers of underſtanding and light My friends and brethren, marvellous is the God of Wiſdom in all his doings and works, and full of variety are the works of his hands.

E. K. Now ſhe ſpeaketh again; I underſtand it not.

The Anſwer to the firſt Doubt.

..... But to the Anſwer: The end of my purpoſe, Satan, perceiving you [E. K.] as well to be moved by him becauſe of your own grant, as by the motion wherewithal you were moved and illuminated:

minated : and being the father of ſuttlety, and a froward underſtanding purpoſed, even in this one ſentence ; yea, with this one lye, to overturn, or at leaſt to blemiſh the worthineſſe of our meſſage, and of your receiving : becauſe he ſaw the courſe of nature, and the doings of man, and that this man Mr. Simon Hagek, yong Hagek, would firſt viſit thee, [Δ] therefore he thruſt in a ſhingle of his own cutting and nature : Not to the intent it ſhould be credited, but to the intent it ſhould be a ſtumbling block to the action in time to come, which is now.

Δ. Satan about this time was very buſie with E. K. and declared his name to be Satan at Lasko.

An intended lye by Satan.

My brethren, he is a marvellous work-man : and one that ſtriketh now the moſt ſtrings, in a manner, all. But he hath his reward : Therefore do I deny it to be ſpoken by me, or of me.

Δ. So by God his Grace, I did conceive, and undoubtedly think, and of many other things, beſides that, I have occaſion of reforming the Records : that the heavens may agree, as the phraſe was uſed.

Reformation of the Records.

Mad. ..... Many there are not : But ſuch as are, gather them together, let me ſift them.

Δ. I thank God for that his mercy.

Δ. Now I beſeech you to the ſecond my preſent requeſt before propounded, it may pleaſe you to give anſwer.

Mad. ..... When the King ſendeth a Preſent to a Noble man, or unto any one that he favoureth, he loveth, or delighteth in : The Meſſager carrieth it, delivereth it within his houſe.

Anſwer to the ſecond in a Parable.

E. K. She ſeemeth to ſmile.

..... He to whom it is ſent enjoyeth it, he uſeth it ; yea, peradventure (being a dainty diſh) eateth of it.

Afterward the King ſendeth to him by the ſame meſſager, ſaluteth his houſhold, and commandeth him to ſay : Thus ſayeth the King ; Go to ſuch a man and ſalute him : Tell him that I will viſit him, and that I ſay ſo.

Behold, he ſitteth ſtill, and goeth not, neither doth he the Commandment of his Superiour. For lo, ſayeth he : The King commanded me not ; his meſſager came, and would ſo. But whether the King will ſo, or no, I know not.

But heareſt thou : Thou wicked man, haſt thou not eaten of his meat, and enjoyed the benefit of his preſent before ? Yes, A threefold benefit, which ſhall continue untill the * ſeventh Angel, and untill the third woe.

A Myſtery.

* Vide 8. 9. 10. & 11. capita Apocalypſeos.

Man begetteth a Son, and lo, his wife is with Childe, and ſhe looketh for the time of her deliverance : If the queſtion be moved unto him, (his wife not yet delivered,) whether he have iſſue, or fruit of his body, ſay thou unto me, what ſhall he anſwer?

Δ. As it ſhall pleaſe God.

Mad. ..... That is no anſwer.

Δ. Then he may ſay, He is in hope to have the iſſue his wife goeth great withall, may this ſeem an anſwer, I beſeech you?

Mad. ..... Though the Childe be not yet born, he hath iſſue. Deliverance, is, by reaſon of the iſſue, and not called iſſue of the deliverance : for he is a ſon as well unborn as born.

So is it of you : Thou haſt prayed unto God, and he hath heard thee.

And lo, the iſſue, which he giveth thee is Wiſdom. But lo, the Mother of it is not yet delivered.

Δ. My prayer unto God for wiſdom.

Wiſdom.

For, If woman know her times and ſeaſons of deliverance : Much more doth he, which is the Mother of all things. But thou mayeſt rejoyce that there is a time of deliverance, and that thy gift is compared to a woman with childe.

DEUS Mater rerum omnium, idem & Pater.

For, as the one is, and ſhall be viſible : ſo is wiſdom granted, and ſhall appear : yea, a lively, and moſt perfect Creature.

Benedictus ſit Deus noſter, qui reſpicit gemitus Pauperum.

Behold, the Angels of the Lord have been ſent down from God, unto him [E.K.] here is ſight, which is of this houſhold in God : He hath brought unto thee that which he taſteth not himſelf : And yet thou doubteſt, ſaying, How ſhall I ſay the Angel of the Lord hath appeared unto me?

E.K Not taſter of that he ſeeth, or heareth.

Unto thee, [Δ.] we have appeared : for unto thee, [Δ.] we are ſent. And becauſe his eye hath ſeen, therefore we have joyned him unto thee, that in the time of darkneſſe thou mighteſt ſee.

Δ. It is to be made perfect before the time of his viſitation.

And before the time of thy viſitation thou muſt be made perfect.

Note. Δ. How the Angels of the Lord have appeared to Δ. which may ſeem more certain (almoſt) then as the phraſe is verified of the Angels appearing to Joſeph, in ſomnis, vide Matthæi, cap. 2.

And becauſe it is of thee and not of him : Therefore doth not God impute unto him his offences, but placeth in you the figure of time to come.

Supra lib. 15. 1584. Junii 2.

For ſome there be that naturally ſhall draw in the Plow of the Lord.
And other ſome there be, that muſt have their times and ſeaſons.

For thy houſhold affairs, I ſay nothing yet, neither for thy Letter ſent, or Meſſenger. Nam Deus agit in ſuis, ſicut vult.

I have nothing elſe to ſay unto thee : but bleſſed be thoſe that believe in the Lord, for they have their reward.

Anſwer to the third and fourth demands.

E. K. She goeth away, divided into a great many pieces of fire.

Deo Noſtro Omnipotenti, eterno & ſapienti : ſit omnis honor, Laus & Gloria. Amen.

Note. At noon, this day I received Letters from the Lord Laskie, from my wife, and from my brother Nicolas Fromonds in England : how Mr. Gilbert, Mr. Sled, Mr. Andreas Firmorſhem, my Book-ſeller, uſed me very ill in divers ſorts.

The Dates of the Letters from England were of the 15. and 16th. day of April 1584. My wife is in great ſorrow for my brother Nicholas.

Monday, Auguſti 27.

At night after Sun ſet, Emerich Sontag brought me word from the Spaniſh Ambaſſadour, that he had delivered to the Emperour this day my Letters and Book : and that he took them graciouſly and thankfully, and ſaid that within three, or four dayes he would let the Spaniſh Ambaſſadour underſtand, when he would give me audience.

Deus bene vertat : & ad ſui nominis honorem & Laudem. Amen.

Saturday, Septembris 1. Ante Meridiem Circa 10. † Pragæ.

Δ. As I, and E. K. ſat in my little Study : after our talk of divers matters, and of my expecting audience at the Emperour his hand, &c. E. K. ſaw three little Creatures walk up and down in the Sun-ſhine, about an handfull from the payvment : and the Creatures themſelves very ſmall, not an handfull long, like little ſhadows, or ſmokes, and the path wherein they walked ſeemed yellow. They walked a good while to and fro, till at length I ſuſpected that they were ſent to us ; and ſo prepared the ſhew-ſtone : But E. K. ſaid, he had rather ſee them thus out of the ſtone. I ſaid that in the ſtone we have warrant that no wicked thing ſhall enter : but without the ſtone, Illuders might deal with us, unleſſe God prevented it, &c. E. K. ſaid again, he had rather deal thus.

One of the 3. ſpiritual creatures ſaid. He in the middle of the Three.....

..... His meaning is above thy ſight.

E. K. Now two of them ſeem to kneel down in the Sun beams.

..... Bleſſed be God the Father, God the Son, and God the holy Ghoſt, the moſt holy and bleſſed Trinity : One, true, mighty, perfect everlaſting and incomprehenſible God.

[Δ. Amen, Amen, Amen.]

..... Which will be comprehended with thoſe that live in the Heavens (the true Church of God) of ſuch as meaſure him by faith, and not reaſon : which hath ſent us to do his will ; Both in that he will turn his heart : And in that he doth vouchſafe to make you witneſſes of his ſecret purpoſes, and determinations in hand.

Δ. Rod. his heart is to be turned by God, but I know not the meaning.

Δ. Sunt duæ literæ ultimæ in linea Spiritus Sancti in Tertia Tabula.

The [1] middlemoſt ſaid —— I am the midſt of the third, and the laſt [Δ] of the ſpirit of life : Underſtood in this temporal controverſie, and conflict of mans Soul : but not according to his eternal and immenſurable proportion.

Flagellum Dei.

The [2] on the right ſide ſaid —— I am the ſecond of the third, which dwell in the ſpirit, and power of God in earth : I have power to ſcourge them that reſiſt the power, will, and commandment of God : and I am one of thoſe that ſtand, and is perpetual.

Trinitas & unitas Divina.

For even as the father, ſon, and holy ſpirit are one, but of themſelves and being dilated, is full of power, and many. So are we one particularly in power, but ſeparated ; notwithſtanding, ſpiritually, of, and amongſt others, and dilated in the will of God, and into the branches of his determinations : but particularly living, and joyntly praiſing God.

E. K. Now [3] the other (the third) on the otherſide ſtandeth up, and ſayeth.

3 ..... The Kingdom of God, and of his ſon Chriſt : (which is true God, and the ſubſtance of his father, True God of true God) is contrary to the Kingdom of this world.

E. K. What is that, God of God?

Δ. The Confeſſion and belief of the Catholick Church : not to be talked of now.

E. K. They are diſappeared : but their path appeareth in the aire, in ſun-beams ſtill.

E. K. They are here again.

Δ. Half a quarter of an hour they had diſappeared.

Filii fidei & non rationis humanæ.

..... Happy are thoſe that are of his Kingdom, for it hath no end ; yea, happy are thoſe that are the ſons of faith, and not of the world : which is called Reaſon. Which is blinde, and is ſealed with

with the mark of deſtruction. Becauſe ſhe perſecuted, and put to death the Son of God, the God of righteouſneſſe, and light of all that live.

I am the laſt of the firſt, of the fourth, and I have power to gather up the bleſſings of God, and to ſet them (if they be diſdained) in a better ſoyl.

Ejus officium eſt tranſplantatio Donorum Dei.

Δ. His name is the laſt 3. letters of the 1. line of the fourth Table.

3 For thus ſayeth the God of Hoaſts.

The dream and will not hear me Gather up that he hath, and that which ſhould be given him : that his life may be ſhort, and his houſe without comfort: that he may paſſe away nakedly, as a ſhadow.

Alſo, behold, we go, and we will dwell there; yea, even in the skirts of their Garments will we take up our habitation. And why?

Behold, this hath God ſaid : In the morning watch them, and ſee how they riſe. In the day time give ear unto them, and liſten unto their counſels. Stand over them in the night, and note their filthineſſe. And when it exceedeth the number, ſtrike.

Read it. Vide lib. 15. Maii 28 1584.

Ga
Za
Vaa

Angeli obſervantes Noſtra opera & conſilia.

Strike.

We are they that muſt direct your practiſes.

..... Behold, let us give Teſtimony of our names.

Note.

One of them ſayeth.

My name is —— Ga —— E. K. He in the middle.
My name is —— Za
My name is —— Vaa

Δ. The three names make one name of 7. Letters, Gazavaa.

So we are called by poſition.

Thou ſhalt finde us amongſt the mercifull Tables delivered unto Enoch: and ſo unto you.

1. The middlemoſt I am of the third Table, and am extream.
2. I am of the third, but of the humanity, and the ſecond.

Δ. Of the Phyſick part.

Δ. Note the third Table here meant, is that of the South, as Eaſt, Weſt, South, and North, their placing is others.

3. And I am the fourth, but Angular, and extream, Linear of the uppermoſt.

Δ. The three laſt Letters in the uppermoſt line of the fourth Table.

.....We are gone. E. K. They are out of ſight.

A voyce. Follow that which is commanded thee.

Δ. Æterno, Omnipotenti, Trino & uni Deo, ſit omnis honor Laus & Gloria.

Δ. Ga —— Ultimus ſpiritus vivorum.
Za —— Flagellator reſiſtentium poteſtati, voluntati, præcepto Dei.
Vaa —— Tranſplantator Donorum.

Monday, Septembris 3. Mane. † Pragæ.

Δ. Nota. Sathanæ aſtutum & violentum Stratagema.

Δ. There was great diſquietneſſe in E. K. being come home from our Hoſts houſe, where he had lyen all night upon a form: by reaſon he had been (which he never was the like afore, as he ſaid) with wine overcome ſuddenly: yet intending with himſelf to take heed of being overſhot in drinking of wine: being requeſted by the Hoſtes to give her a quart of wine upon the good bargain he had in a clock he bought of her for five Sickats: In this company of drinking was Alexander, the Lord Laskie his ſervant, who came with us to Prage. Unto whom E. K. (when the drink on the ſudden had overcome him) ſaid he would cut off his head, and with his walking ſtaffe did touch him fair, and ſoftly on the neck, ſitting before him: This Alexander being half drunken himſelf, by & by took thoſe words in great ſnuffe, and went to defend himſelf, and ſo took his weapon to him, and thereupon they by cauſed Alexander to go down: It was ſupper time; and I that night refrained to ſuppe, and ſo tarrying at my Lodging, and looking out, ſaw Alexander ſitting on the great ſtone againſt our Lodging: I called to him, and told him that they were at ſupper: And he came over to me, and he had wept much; he complained of E. K. his former words, and the touch of the ſtaffe, how it was againſt his credit to take that in good part, and ſpake many Souldiers terms of ſtout words, not worthy the recording. I, thereupon went to our Hoſts houſe, and would underſtand the very truth; and there I found E. K. faſt on ſleep on a form, moſt ſoundly: for which I was right ſorry; And yet better pleaſed to perceive the words of E. K. which ſo moved Alexander (being half drunken) to have been ſpoken by E. K. when wine, and not wit, bare rule: and ſo pleaded long time with Alexander, that of words ſpoken ſo as they were, no ſuch exact account was to be given to him, &c. And after two hours perſwaſion cauſed Alexander to go to bed in our Lodging, where he uſed to lye, For he would have gone out, to our former Inne, in thoſe raging half drunken pangs, he was in : which I thought not good. This Monday morning E. K. coming home, and ſeeing Alexander, as he came in ; he ſaid, they tell I ſhould have ſpoken words, which greatly offended thee yeſternight, and that I touched thee with my ſtaff, &c. I know nothing of it, and ſhoke hands friendly with Alexander. Well ſaith Alexander, Si fuiſſet alius, &c. E. K. came up to me : I told him how ſorry I was for this miſchance, and told him of the Watchmen perceiving Alexander his diſquiet mind, and hearing his words, they came to me and charged me to have a care of the peace keeping (as they did indeed) And farther ſaid, that Alexander in his rage, ſaid, that rather, or before, he ſhould cut off his head, that he would cut E. K. in pieces. So ſoon as I had expreſſed that word of this drunken Alexander likewiſe, (whom now I ſaw quiet, and E. K. alſo quiet) ſuddenly E. K. fell into ſuch a rage, that he would be revenged of him for ſo ſaying, and for railing on him in the ſtreet, as he did, &c.

Much ado I, Emericus, and his brother, had to ſtop or hold him from going to Alexander with his weapon, &c. At length we let him go in his dubblet and hoſe, without a cap or hat on his head : and into the ſtreet he haſted with his brothers Rapier drawn, and challenged Alexander to fight : But Alexander went from him, and ſaid. Nolo Domine Kelleie, Nolo. Hereupon E. K. took up a ſtone, and threw after him, as after a dog, and ſo came into the houſe again, in a moſt furious rage for that he might not fight with Alexander. The rage and fury was ſo great in words and geſtures, as might plainly prove, that the wicked enemy ſought either E. K. his own deſtroying of himſelf, or of me, or his brother, &c.

Satan his exceeding vehement temptation.

Note the cauſe of this recording.

This may ſuffice to notifie the mighty temptation and vehement working of the ſubtile ſpiritual enemy Satan, wherewith God ſuffered E. K. to be tempted, and almoſt overcome : to my great grief, diſcomfort, and moſt great diſcredit : if it ſhould (as the truth was) have come to the Emperours underſtanding, except he had known me well, &c. I was in great doubt, how God would take this offence, and deviſed with my ſelf how I might, with honeſty, be cleared from the ſhame and danger that might ariſe if theſe two ſhould fight, &c. At the leaſt it would croſſe all good hope here with the Emperour, &c. for a time, till God redreſſed it.

1 Comfort in time of need.

After I had brought E. K. to ſome quietneſſe, (by yeilding much to his humour, &c. and ſaying little :) not long after, came my meſſager from my wife at Cracovia : and Hugh my ſervant with him, to my great comfort through her letters , and the full ſatisfying of me by Hugh my ſervant his knowledge farther than conveniently could be written.

2 More Comfort in time of need

About 2 of the clock after Noon, came this letter to me, of the Emperour his ſending for me.

Nobilis, Præclariſſiméque Domine, Domine obſervandiſſime.

Rod.

CÆſar, jam jam ſignificavit Domino Legato Hiſpaniarum , Hero meo, ut Dominationem veſtram ad ſe evocaret, ad horam ſecundam ; quæ eam audire cuperet : Dominatio veſtra ſi ad dictam horam venire poterit : accedet ſtatim Dominum Octavium Spinolam, qui eſt Majeſtati ſuæ Cæſareæ à Stabulis & Cubiculis. Is enim eam, ad Majeſtatem ſuam introducet. Quod reliquum eſt, me D. veſtræ quam officioſiſſimè etiam atque etiam commendo,

Dominationis veſtræ Studioſiſſimus

Arnoldus Vander Boxe.

Note the Original letter it ſelf is in this Book.

Octavius Spinola Chamberlain and Stall-Maſter in the abſence of the Officer who is ſent into Spain.

Hereupon, I went ſtraight up to the Caſtle : and in the Ritter-Stove or Guard-Chamber I ſtayed a little ; in the mean ſpace I ſent Emericus to ſee what was of the clock : and the Chamberlain , (Octavius Spinola) ſpied him out of the Emperours Chamber window, and called him, who came up to me, and by that time was the Chamberlain come out to me ; and by Emericus he underſtood that I was the man the Emperour waited for. He came to me very * curteouſly : told me of the Emperours deſire to ſee me, and to ſpeak with me. So he returned to the Emperour into the privy Chamber, and came out again for me, and led me by the skirt of the Gown through the Dining-Chamber, and the Privy Chamber, where the Emperour ſat at a Table, with a great Cheſt and Standiſh of Silver, before him, my Monas and Letters by him, &c. I came toward him with due reverence of three curſies , who ſhewed me a gracious and chearful countenance.

* Hora tertia exactè à meridie.

Then I craved pardon at his Majeſties hand, for my boldneſſe to ſend his Majeſty a Letter and the Monas Hieroglyphica (dedicated to his father.) But I did it of ſincere and entire good will I bare to his father Maximilian, and alſo unto his Majeſty : and that the rather, becauſe I had good proof of the favour which Almighty God beareth unto his Majeſty. He then thanked me for his fathers Book, and did affirm, that he believed me, that I was affectionate unto his Highneſſe : And of my eſtemation with the learned of the world, he had heard

heard by the Spaniſh Embaſſadour ; and alſo of my zealous mind towards his grace. And commended the Book Monas, but ſaid, that it was too hard for his Majeſties capcity ; and added, that the Spaniſh Embaſſadour told him, that I had ſomewhat to ſay unto him, Quod eſſet pro ſua utilitate. I anſwered, So I have, and withal looking back whether any man were in the Chamber or no, I found that we were alone : Hereupon I began to declare that All my life time I had ſpent in learning : but for this forty years continually, in ſundry manners, and in divers Countries, with great pain, care, and coſt, I had from degree to degree, ſought to come by the beſt knowledge that man might attain unto in the world : And I found (at lengh) that neither any man living, nor any Book I could yet meet withal, was able to teach me thoſe truths I deſired, and longed for : And therefore I concluded with my ſelf, to make interceſſion and prayer to the giver of wiſdom and all good things, to ſend me ſuch wiſdom, as I might know the natures of his creatures ; and alſo enjoy means to uſe them to his honour and glory And in this purpoſe made divers aſſayes : and at length it pleaſed God to ſend me his [Δ] Light, whereby I am aſſured of his merciful hearing of my long, fervent, conſtant, and continual prayer, in the cauſe before ſpecified : And that, His holy Angels, for theſe two years and a half, have uſed to inform me : and have finiſhed ſuch works in my hands, to be ſeen, as no mans heart could have wiſhed for ſo much ; yea they have brought me a Stone of that value, that no earthly Kingdom is of that worthineſſe as to be compared to the vertue or dignity thereof, &c. And that theſe things be true, I proteſted, and took to witneſſe the God of Heaven and Earth, by whoſe Commandment I am now before your Majeſty, (ſaid I) and have a meſſage from him to ſay unto you ; and that is this :

Δ. Uriel.

Books finiſhed.

A Stone brought by a good Angel.

The Angel of the Lord hath appeared to me, and rebuketh you for your ſins. If you will hear me, and believe me, you ſhall Triumph : If you will not hear me, The Lord, the God that made Heaven and Earth, (under whom you breath, and have your ſpirit) putteth his foot againſt your breaſt, and will throw you headlong down from your ſeat.

My meſſage to the Emperour Rodolph done.

Moreover, the Lord hath made this Covenant with me (by oath) that he will do and perform. If you will forſake your wickedneſſe, and turn unto him, your Seat ſhall be the greateſt that ever was ; and the Devil ſhall become your priſoner : Which Devil, I did conjecture, to be the Great Turk, (ſaid I) This my Commiſſion, is from God : I feigne nothing, neither am I an Hypocrite, an Ambitious man, or doting, or dreaming in this Cauſe. If I ſpeak otherwiſe then I have juſt cauſe, I forſake my ſalvation, ſaid I.

The Emperour ſaid, he did believe me, and ſaid, that he thought I loved him unfaignedly, and ſaid, that I ſhould not need ſo earneſt proteſtations : and would not willingly have had me to kneel, ſo often as I did.

Farther I ſaid, His Majeſty was to ſee and underſtand nakedly, from the beginning, the whole courſe of this Angelical leading, inſtructing, and comforting of me : for ſo I was commanded, that I ſhould from the beginning, nakedly open unto Rodolph, the manner of God his viſitation, and ſhew unto him the holy Viſion : Which my charge I am ready to do. The Emperour ſaid, at another time, he would hear and underſtand more. I ſpake yet ſomewhat more in the purpoſes before, to the intent they might get ſome root, or better ſtick in his minde. To be ſhort, he thanked me, and ſaid he would henceforward, take me to his recommendation and care, and ſome ſuch words (of favour promiſed) he uſed, which I heard not well, he ſpake ſo low. In the end perceiving that his will was to end for this time, I did my duty with curſie ; and at the door going out, I turned back, and made curſie, and ſo came into the next Chamber, where the Noble Octavius Spinola came to me again, and with curteous words, offered me great friendſhip. I took my leave of him, and ſo came through the Ritters Stove or Guard Chamber, and ſo down, and home. I had a large hour audience of his Majeſty.

All the courſe of our Actions and Viſions, nakedly to be ſhewed to the Emperour.

Octavius Spinola.

Deus bene vertat : ad ſui nominis Laudem, Honorem, & Gloriam. Amen.

Wedenſday, Septembris, 5. 1584. Mane circiter horam 8. † Pragæ.

Precibus finitis, &c. Repetivi ter hanc Sententiam Mitte lucem tuam (O Deus) & veritatem tuam quæ nos ducat & perducat ad montem Sanctum Sion & Tabernacula cœleſtis Hieruſalem.

Δ. I have to the beſt of my ability, both written and ſpoken unto Rodolph, as I was willed : how it worketh or taketh place in his heart, is known to thee O God, &c.

Now I am to receive farther inſtructions, what is to be done in this cauſe, or elſe whatſoever ſhall pleaſe the Higheſt, &c.

E. K. Now here is Uriel, and a black thing like a Sarcent of ſilke before his face, and over his head behind : by the reſt of his garments it ſeemeth to be Uriel.

Δ. Note, Uriel his face now not ſeen of the eye which had highly offended God.

Δ. God make all things white, and make us whiter than Snow : What that black Scarf importeth I know not ; but I ſuſpect,

E. K. Had on Sunday laſt been mervailouſly drunk, &c.

Uriel. …… Such as defile the ſeat of the Soul, and are ſuffocated with drunkenneſſe enter not into the Kingdom of Heaven, neither can behold the ornaments of the Lord his beauty.

Satan.

See, how Satan, how he runneth headlong about and through you. See, how he maketh his dwelling place within you: of whom the Lord gave you warning, ſaying: Satan ſeeketh to ſift you.

Lo, he hath done wickedneſſe againſt the Lord, and againſt you; for he hath blemiſhed the eyes of your underſtanding.

[E. K. He ſpeaketh other words between, which I underſtand not.]

Jeſus.

Uriel. ….. Is not Jeſus, God, and the High Prieſt of the Lord, placed on the right hand of his Father?

Δ. He is: we believe it.

†Zach.cap.3.a.

Uriel. …… Is not Satan (as the †Prophet ſaith) ſuffered to ſtand and triumph on the right hand of the Lord of Hoſts and Juſtice, as the open enemy of the Lord, and of his anointed.

The overthrow almoſt given.

True it is: and he hath almoſt given you the overthrow.

Δ. Aſſiſt us O God, and be our ſtrength againſt this moſt ſubtile and mighty enemy.

Uriel. …… But becauſe he is ſubtile, and hath power given unto him for a time, and hath ſtriven againſt you, not for your own ſakes, (but becauſe you are of the Spirit of the Higheſt) and againſt his teſtimony: Therefore doth not God, in his Juſtice impute the ſins of the eye, unto the body.

The eye E K. the body Δ.

[Δ. Lord thy mercies are infinte, praiſed be thy name for ever.]

Δ. By the eye is underſtood E.K. the Seer in this Action, and by the body is underſtood John Dee Δ.

Uriel. …… But commandeth the [Δ] eye to be reconciled, as the ſpirit of Truth hath taught.

E. K. He is gone.

Vide Septemb. 13. of Reconciliation.

Δ. Glorified be God for his moſt loving kindneſſe and infinite mercies towards us fraile, and ſinful creatures: and we beſeech thee to ſhew us the light of thy countenance, to our comfort and direction, Amen.

Δ. As I was putting up all, Vriel appeared again, with his black Scarf, as he did before: but pauſed a while before he ſpake any thing.

Δ. In thy name (O Jeſu) we attend thy words by thy meſſager to be uttered.

Uriel. ….. Give ear unto my voice.

E. K. Now he is become like a great wheele of fire, like a waggon
A wheel: He thruſt out his hands on the ſudden, and ſo became like a wheel full of mens eyes: it turneth round, it is full in all places of thoſe eyes, like living and ſeeing eyes.

V Now cometh fire out of it in 4 places.

A great white Eagle.

Now there is a great Eagle, which is come, and ſtandeth upon it: It is a white Eagle: The wheel turneth ſtill, notwithſtanding that ſhe
I ſtandeth on it.

E. K. She hath in her beake, like a ſcrol of parchment. She hath two monſtrous eyes: one like fire red; her right eye as big as my fiſt,
S and the left eye, is Chryſtal-like. She ſtandeth hovering with her wings ſpread, and her ſtern or taile ſpread.

Under the wheel is a great valley, and in it a great City, and a Hill on
I the Eaſt part of it. And all toward the South are Hills.

The City is as as big as ſix of Cracovia: and many ruins of houſes in it there appear.

O There is one place in it covered, ſquare like a little Chappel: It hath a little round pinacle in the end of it; and over it in the air, hanging a little fire bright.

N There be many like unto fowles, like Ravens, and their heads like unto unto bright fire: They flie into a Country a great way off from this City.

Now Uriel ſtandeth beſide the wheel, and the wheel is as it was before: and he as before with the Scarf.

The Eagle cryeth and skriketh as a Gull, or the Sea fowles do.

Uriel ſeemeth to deſcend from the air above, and to come to the ſide of the Shew-ſtone.

Uriel. ...... The Lord hath choſen you to be Witneſſes, through his mercy and ſufferance, not in the office of Apoſtles, but in the offices and dignities of the Prophets: which is alwayes beautified with the wings of the Cherubims, with the voices that cry a thouſand thouſand times in a moment before the Lord, and before the Majeſty of his eternal Seat: wherein you do exceed the * Temples of the earth: wherein you are become ſeparated from the world, and whereby you are lifted up, as of the houſhold of the Bleſſed, even by the very hand and finger of the Higheſt.

△. and E. K. we are Prophets through God his mercy and ſufferance.

* Which have not ſuch preſence angelical.

△. Bleſſed, bleſſed, bleſſed, is the Lord to whom Cherubim and Seraphim inceſſantly ſing, Sanctus, Sanctus, Sanctus, Dominus Deus Zebaoth. Amen.

Uriel. ...... But that it may appear, that he it is, that revealeth, which gathereth the Clouds together, and is the breath of all things that live: Becauſe I ſay it may appear that the Lord viſiteth, and is of power, and that the imaginations of man, flie before themſelves, as the duſt of the earth doth before him that moveth it: I open unto you a Seal, yet ſecret and not known.

Deus eſt qui hæc revelat.

A Seal opened.

[△. Zach. 13. --- Et erit dies una, quæ nota eſt Domino, &c.]

Zachary 13. cap. B.

Behold, now cometh that day, that is known unto the Lord himſelf, wherein the Kingdoms of the earth ſhall begin to fall: that they may perceive how they have run aſtray: and how weak they are in the triumph of their pompe.

And now out of Hieruſalem, out of the Church of God, and of his Son Chriſt, ſhall paſſe out and flow the water of life: That the ſayings of the Angels and Spirit of the Lord, may be verified upon the face of the earth, ſpoken by his annointed Zachary.

Zach. cap. 13. B.

Now ſhall thoſe dayes open themſelves, which are the dayes of vengeance.

Dies vindictæ.

Now, Now ſhall theſe woes, that have been ſpoken of and ſealed, burſt out, to the confuſion of the wicked, and the eſtabliſhment of his Kingdom, which is annointed.

Regnum Chriſti jam ſtabilietur.

Behold, I teach thee.

Thoſe that inhabit the holy City, and uſurp the authority of the Higheſt, are cal'ed in remembrance before the Lord, and they ſhall be ſcattered like unto the mighty hail, that the ſpirits of the North have gathered againſt the day of revenge.

A Propheſie againſt the Clergy.

They are become proud, and think there is no God. They are ſtiff-necked; for they are the ſons of wickedneſſe. Lo, in the dayes of Rodolph, ſhall this come to paſſe, of whom the Lord hath ſaid, If he hear me, and believe my words, I will place Thee [△] unto him, as a mighty rock: I will open unto thee [△] (for his inſtructions, and ſafeguard to come) my determinations in hand, and lo, to come. And when he hath wiped away his darkneſſe, and offence of his ſoul, I will appear unto him, to the terrour of all Nations.

Rod. If

Divina Apparitio ipſi Rodolpho facienda.

For I rejoyce, when I exalt ſuch as are weak: And when I help the comfortleſſe, am I magnified.

△. Thanks, honour, and glory, is due to thee, O our God.

Uriel. ...... And behold, the day of this viſitation, and of the execution of my judgements, is at hand: And lo I open unto you another Seal (Becauſe I have ſaid unto you, I am true, and juſt.)

An other Seal opened.

In the year eighty eight, ſhall you ſee the Sun move contrary to his courſe.
The Stars [△] encreaſe *their light: and ſome of them * fall from heaven.*
Then ſhall the Rivers run blood:
Then ſhall the wo be unto women with child.
Then ſhall the time come to paſſe, that this Propheſie ſhall be known.

An. 1588. or which 88 elſe?

△. Fortè leſe.

* Math. 24. C.

then to be known, An. 1588. -- △. Which 88? For I have not yet had (that I remember) the year notified to be 1588 &c. Fortè An. 1688. This Propheſie is to be known An. 1588.

This Propheſie not yet 1688.

For lo, the Lord hath prepared his Prophet, and he ſhall deſcend from the Heavens: as it is written by * Malachiah the Prophet.

* Malach. cap. 4 B.

Behold I will ſend before that day, (not that day I ſpoke of, but the great day of the Lord) Elias again amongſt you.

Elias ſhall come.

△. Note two dayes.

Rod. The beautifying of Rodulph his ſeat Imperial.

In the mean ſeaſon will I be mercifull unto Rodolph, and will bring into his houſe, ſuch as ſhall be skilfull: unto whom I will give my ſpirit, to work Gold, Silver, and the Ornaments of his houſe. And he ſhall perceive that I bleſſe him, In that I have tied him to my Garments.

If

If, he hear thee not

Vide infra Septemb. 22.

Behold, I have one in ſtore: Yea, ſuch an one as cleaveth unto Juſtice. Man is but a Reed that is ſhaken with every winde. The pride of Kings, is as the beauty of a Peacock: See how they run all a ſtray. See how they tempt the ſpirits of righteouſneſſe.

Rex Pol. Stephanus.

Lo, (as I have ſaid unto thee) I reſerve that wicked King, not that I will be mercifull unto him. But that he ſhall ſhortly periſh with an eternal ſcourge.

And now hear me what I ſay unto thee. Hereafter, ſee thou tempt me not:

CAVE: Uriel only in great cauſes is to be looked for.

Neither look for my preſence after this order: But for great cauſes.

The end of teaching, or inſtructing thus.

For lo, this is the end of Teaching. Now cometh in the time of warning and of counſel.

△. Will you give me leave to ſpeak?

Uriel. ..... Say.

△. I truſt it ſhall not offend God at any time, to call for [Uriel] his light in matters dark to us, and above our capacity. Alſo in Enoch his Tables underſtanding and enjoying, we are to require help of inſtruction at Ave: and ſo of other points and Doctrines already begun, we are to require their help, who have begun with us, &c.

Enoch his Tables.

Uriel. ..... As far as the Lord hath ſuffered you to enter into his Garden: Even ſo far (I ſay) Taſte, and eat.

△. The entrance yet we have not, but the manner to enter: The perfect practiſe is the beſt entrance.

Uriel. ..... Man ſpeaketh not with thee: wherefore doſt thou wraſt the Lord? All things that are delivered thee are plain.

△. Lord, I do thus ſpeak to be perfectly inſtructed in what ſenſe your words are to be underſtood, when you ſaid: This is the end of teaching.

△. Uriel, or perhaps in the name of God.

Uriel. ..... Thou haſt called upon me, and I have heard thee.

Thou haſt deſired comfort, and I have comforted thee.

The ſpirit of choice

Thou haſt the ſpirit of choice.

Vide 13. September.

Garden of the Lord.

Be it ſufficient unto thee, that the Garden of the Lord is open unto thee: where there is no hunger, nor thirſt, but a filling ſpirit, a comforter.

Note.

† What care is it unto me, if the Kings of the earth ſay: Lo, this is not of me. Lo, this is not of the higheſt.

△. Ex Dei lumine.

This Teſtimony.

Adventus Domini.

Uriel. ..... Behold, I am the light, and ſervant of God: Bleſſed are thoſe which believe, and are made partakers in this Teſtimony: by the which you are become Prophets, and are ſanctified for the coming of the Lord.

△. He putteth us in remembrance of our frailty; and offence committed before noted.

But lo, why do I ſpeak unto you, who have defiled your ſelves? I will take up thoſe things that I have, and will be gone. Lo, bleſſed is he that giveth ear unto the Lord.

E. K. Now all is vaniſhed away, and he is diſappeared: Wheele, Eagle, Citie, and all, &c.

△. All laud, thanks, honour and glory be to the eternal, Almighty, moſt juſt Judge, and mercifull father our God, the God of Heaven and earth, whom of his infinite goodneſſe, we beſeech to have mercy upon us, and to purifie our hearts and conſciences, granting us humble contrition, and ſincere confeſſion of our tranſgreſſions and iniquities whatſoever. Amen.

E. K. His vow of faſting during life.

Note. While I was thus requeſting God, E. K. made a vow of penance, during his life: (in token of hearty ſorrowfulneſſe for his fault in that dayes action noted) never to eat his ſupper, or evening meal on Saturdayes, during his life; wherein I beſeech the higheſt to regard his inward intent, and his continual memory of the Lord his mercies, in ſparing him when he moſt had offended him.

△. Deo Noſtro vero, vivo, omnipotenti, & eterno ſit omnis Honor Laus & Benedictio, nunc & in perpetuum. Amen.

Wedneſday, September 5. NOTE.

△. The morning of this Wedneſday (before I prepared my ſelf for the former action) I ſent Emericus with two Letters to be delivered: the one to the Spaniſh Ambaſſadour (giving him thanks for his honourable dealing with the Emperours Majeſty in my behalf) and the other to the Noble Octavius Spinola: thanking him likewiſe, and requiring his inſtruction, or adviſe how I might moſt conveniently proceed in dealing with the Emperours Majeſty: The Copy of of which Letter I thought good to record here, that the effect thereof conſequent, might have the light of the Original cauſe (Divine and humane) annexed.

Illuſtri & Magnifico Domino, Domino Octavio Spinolæ, ſacræ Cæſareæ Majeſtatis à ſtabulis & Cubiculis Domino ſuo obſervandiſſimo.

ILluſtris ac Magnifice Domine: Non poſſum ſatis condignas veſtræ Magnificientiæ agere gratias, pro ſingulari iſta, qua me Heri amplexi eſtis humanitate & benevolentia: hominem quidem vobis incognitum, ſed tamen virtutis & veritatis ſtudioſiſſimum: quique omne reliquum meæ vitæ curriculum (Deo ſic volente) in hoc eo ſumere decrevi, ut ſacra ſua Cæſarea Majeſtas clarè percipiat ſibi, incredibiliter (ferè) propitiam fore Dei Omnipotentis tremendam Majeſtatem. Atque quamvis videam multiplicibus multarum Regionum negotiis, ſuam ſacram Cæſaream Majeſtatem occupatiſſimam ſepiſſime teneri, neque aliis, illiſque à me, ſuæ ſacræ Cæſareæ Majeſtati proponendis cauſis, commodè vacare, vel poſſe, vel evidenti aliqua ratione debere: TAMEN, ſi aliquis excogitari poſſit modus, pro loci, temporis, & rerum occaſione, quo ſua ſacra Cæſarea Majeſtas, ea penes me videre, vel ex me intelligere dignaretur, quæ illi forent grata: Ea in re, veſtræ Illuſtriſſimæ Magnificentiæ libentiſſimè audirem vel reciperem informationem atque Judicium. Nam in hoc totus ero, ut tempore debito, appareat, Omnipotentis Dei, & ſuæ ſacræ Cæſareæ Majeſtatis ſervitio (Maximè autem, pro Sacroſanctæ Orthodoxæ Catholicæ & Apoſtolicæ fidei Illuſtratione, ac Reipublicæ Chriſtianæ defenſione, amplificationeque) Addictiſſimum, devotiſſimum, fideliſſimumque me eſſe, ac fore ſacræ ſuæ Cæſareæ Majeſtatis ſervitorem.

4. Septembris 1584.

Opportunitatis flos maturè colligi debet:
Cito enim fiet marcidus.

Illuſtriſſimæ Magnificentiæ veſtræ

Paratiſſimus

Joannes Dee.

Emericus went and delivered my Letter to the Spaniſh Ambaſſadour: But this he brought back again; ſaying, that the Emperour was ridden very early abroad to Brandeiſh, or elſewhere: (not certainly being known) and that this Noble Octavius Spinola was gone with his Majeſty.

Hereupon I determined with changing the Date, to * ſend unto him at the Emperour his Majeſties returning to Prage. Deus bene vertat.

* Factum erat die 11. Septemb. ſequente.

Mr. Doctor Hagek his ſon was by

At noon this day

I ſent Letters to my wife: to my Lord Laskie, and to Mr. Paul Hertoll, by the Meſſager of Reichenſtein, on this ſide Niſſe.

Monday, Septemb. Manè hora 9. † Pragæ.

Δ. Precibus finitis; I invited Ga, Za, Vaa, (as being aſſigned to underſtand of Rodolph his doings,) that of them I might receive inſtructions; that my proceedings might be anſwerable as occaſion ſhould be given.

E. K. There appeareth written in great letters upon a right hand (and no body appearing:) the hand being very big.

Cui eſt habet:
Cui nihil non habebit.

E. K. And ſo the hand vaniſhed out of ſight: The writing was in he palm of it.

Δ. After that appeared the ſame hand again, with his writing

Face, & factum erit,
Ultra, non habeo.

Ultra non habeo.

E.K. It

E.K. It vaniſhed away, by and by, hand, writing, and all.

△ Father, I have [illegible] to ſay, or do.

△. I take this (O Lord) in this ſence: That I am to proceed, and to do as I intended, in either writing to Rudolph himſelf, or to the Spaniſh Ambaſſadour, or to Octavius Spinola for the Emperour to give me audience, time, and place to hear, and ſee the Records and Monuments, which I have to ſhew him: And that when I had done as was commanded me, that, Then the purpoſe of God ſhall alſo be done.

△. Deus, in adjutorium noſtrum intende tuaque nos dirigat ſapientia, ad illud Faciendum, quòd tibi maxime erit gratum. Amen.

Tueſday, Septemb. 11. Hora 9. ferè.

Miſi per Dominum Emericum Sontagium Secretarium Domini Palatini Siradienſis literas illas ad Dominum Octavium Spinolam: quas ſuperiùs deſcripſi; ſed ubi in illis ſcripſeram qua me heri amplexi eſtis. Nunc, ſcripſi, qua me ante paucos dies amplexi eſtis,& pro, quique omne reliquum, nunc ſcripſi quique reliquum,&c. & pro incredibiliter (ferè) propitiam, &c. ſcripſi, nunc, Incredibiliter (ferè) & modo mirabili, propitiam fore, &c. Et reliqua omnia ſcripſi ut ſupra annotavi: ſed datæ erant hæ, 11. Die Septembris: Illæ autem priores, 4. Septembris.

Tradidit iſtas literas (Emericus) Magnifico Domino Spinolæ, jam ſtatim poſt prandium Cæſareæ Majeſtatis, & craſtina die (poſt miſſam) pro reſponſo, venire juſſit.

Wedneſday, Septembris 12. Manè.

△. This morning, when Emericus Sontag went up to the Caſtle for anſwer from the Emperour: By the Noble Octavius Spinola, he received the effect of this anſwer, which I required the ſame Emericus to write down with his own hand (for ſundry reſpects;) which his own hand writing I have annexed ad majorem rei fidem. And becauſe his writing is not eaſie to be read, I have written it plainer ſomewhat, as followeth:

Reſponſum Imperatoris, per Dominum Spinolam.

Sacra Cæſarea Majeſtas benignè intellexit quæ Dominus Joannes Dee, per ſuæ Majeſtis Cubicularium, Dominum Octavium Spinolam, proponi curavit: Ad quæ, ſua Majeſtas gratioſè ſic ſe reſolvit: Quòd quandoquidem Latinum Sermonem non omni ex parte exactè calleat: prætera etiam variis & multiplicibus negociis occupata, non ſemper ad audientiam vacare poſſit, videri ſuæ Majeſtati ut idem Dominus Dee, cum Magnifico Domino Doctore Kurtzio (qui & ſua Majeſtati ab arcanis eſt conſiliis, ſatiſque fidus, eruditione quoque inſigni pollet) tractare, & negotia ſua concredere velit. Id quod, ſua Majeſtas prælibato Domino Conſiliario ſuo, Kurtzio, renunciari curabit. Sin verò, ſecus Domino Johanni Dee videbitur, ſuam Majeſtatem quomodocunque tandem per occupationes facere poterit, deſiderio Domini Dee ſatisfacturam.

1584. xii, Septembris. Emericus Sontagius manu propria.

Pragæ.

△. Which anſwer, both by word of mouth, and thus by writing being received by me: and the ſaid Emericus being (by the Noble Spinola) willed at Evenſong time, to bring my anſwer herein; which I gave him of my great good liking the ſame, and moſt humble thanks. to his Majeſty, for ſo wiſe and gratious his conſideration had of the cauſe. I required the ſame Emericus to underſtand; when, and how ſoon Doctor Curtzius ſhould be made privy of his Majeſties pleaſure herein: and ſo, after my diſpatching of Emericus, I endeavoured my ſelf to render thanks unto God for his mercies, graces, and truth, in theſe his affairs: beſeeching him to frame my heart, tongue, and hand in ſuch ſort, as to his Divine Majeſty, my dutifull ſervice, doing, may be acceptable: as chiefly of me intended to his honour and glory: And ſecondly to the comfort of the godly and elect: And thirdly to the confuſion of the proud, arrogant, ſcornfull enemies of truth and vertue. Amen.

Thurſday, Septembris 13. Manè, hora 7. † Pragæ.

I received the Noble Octavius Spinola his anſwer by Emericus, as concerning my accepting of the Emperour his gratious former anſwer of condeſcending to my requeſt, ſo much as he conveniently could: which my anſwer yeſterday * night, late was delivered to the Noble Spinola. Whereunto he ſaid, that my Anſwer would be moſt acceptable unto the Emperour: and that to morrow (meaning meaning this Thurſday) the honourable Doctor Curtz ſhould underſtand the Emperours pleaſure herein. Hereupon I willed Emericus to go up to the Caſtle, and to bring himſelf in ſight of the Noble Spinola, if he could. Thereby to help his memory, for warning and information to be given to the ſaid Doctor Curtz : That ſo we might come together, ſo ſoon, as conveniently might be.

* On Wedneſday.

Deo, omnis laus, honor, & gloria. Amen.

Thurſday, Septembris 13. Manè, horam circiter 9. † Prage.

△. Precibus finitis, and the caſe propounded of the Emperour his Anſwer, for dealing with Doctor Curtz, a man of his Privy Council, faithful, learned, and wiſe : upon the conſiderations alledged, I requeſted of God, his pleaſure to be ſignified unto me, by ſome of his faithful and true Meſſagers : whether I ſhall openly and frankly deal with this Doct r, ſo, as the Emperour, by him may underſtand that which he ſhould have done at my mouth and hands originally : And whether I may, both alone with the Emperour, and before, and with the ſaid Doctor, deal in this Action as occaſion ſhall ſerve from time to time, at my diſcretion, informed by his ſecret grace divine. ——

△. Nothing appearing, or being heard, in a quarter of an hour ſpace, I ſuſpected ſome of our miſdoings, to be the cauſe of the Lord his refraining to anſwer : and thereupon I did fall to prayer for mercy and grace, and deliverance from the aſſaults and malitious purpoſes of the Devil againſt us : And that I did the rather, becauſe as I felt my good Angel (or other good friend) in vertue, ſo I felt Piloſum, ſenſibly, buſie, and as it were to terrifie me with my offences paſt, or to put me out of hope, at this preſent, from being heard. But I held on to pray divers Pſalms, and at length againſt the wicked tempters purpoſely. After my prayers and aſſuring E. K. that the ſpiritual enemy was here buſie, and attended to fruſtrate this dayes Action : He anſwered, that againſt him [E. K.] he could not prevail, or accuſe him, for his late notable fault ; for he had made a reckoning, and ſorrowful bewailing for that his treſpaſs, to the Lord, and that he doubted not of forgiveneſs ; and that he was ſo reconciled to God, that Satan nor any other wicked accuſer, could put him in any doubt of God his mercy, &c. And he ſpake very well both of repentance, Gods mercies, his juſtice, and of theſe Actions.

Reconciliation

Mary, he confeſſed that by reaſon, he himſelf was an unmeet perſon to come before the Emperour, or Princes, &c. and therefore if it would pleaſe God to diſcharge him of further medling, ſo, by reaſon he might ſeem well at eaſe, &c. At length, after an hour appeared Uriel ; but with a Scarf before his face, as he had laſt.

△. God ſend us the brightneſſe of his countenance when it ſhall pleaſe him.

Uriel. ..…. True it is, that in reſpect of the terrour and force of God his wrath and indignation in [1] Judgement : Reconciliation is made : through that power which is given unto the Lamb, to whom all power is given in Heaven and Earth : But with the [2] congregation, and the members of Chriſt his body, the number of the faithful, the Church of God, you have not made reconciliation, And therefore, are not ſinners worthy to behold the face of true light and underſtanding : for there is a double Reconciliation : One (and the firſt) between the Conſcience and the Judge : through the force of faith and repentance : that is to ſay, Reconciliation againſt Judgement. Another, (the ſecond) Reconciliation between the Spirit of Truth, (the Church of God) and mans Conſcience.

Reconciliation of two ſorts.

Wherefore Uriel his face is yet covered.

1.

2.

Vide ſupra S premb. 5. The eye was commanded to be reconciled to the Spirit of Truth.

Behold I teach you a myſtery.

1. Thoſe that are at one with God, ſhall not be judged with the wicked in the laſt Judgement : Notwithſtanding the Juſtice of God is pure, and undefiled : and ſuffereth not mans fault unpuniſhed. 2. But he that is at one with the Spirit of God, is made one with him, and without puniſhment, Juſtitia Dei.

For there are many things that God beareth witneſſe of, in the ſoul and ſecret Chambers of man, that neither the bleſſed, already dignified, nor to be dignified, do, or can know : which is the cauſe that the ſoul of man, (after his body ſleepeth) being found polluted, is received, and ſnatched up, of ſuch as are the Meſſagers of puniſhment: and ſo, according to the multitude of their ſins, are in horrour, and puniſhment. Therefore not all, that are puniſhed, ſhall be damned ; Neither is it evident unto the Angels, who ſhall be ſaved : I ſpeak generally.

△. Ab occultis meis munda me, &c.

A temporal puniſhment.

Therefore when you offend, be alſo reconciled unto the Mother of the houſe : that you may have place before ſuch as are reproved.

Eccleſiæ catholicæ reconciliari debemus.

Herein you may underſtand the retaining of ſin ; For the [△] retaining of ſin is a judgement : And therefore it is neceſſary that God ſhould hold a general day, that thoſe that have truſted in him, and inwardly have been ſorry for their offences, may alſo taſte of his mercy. Elſe how could it be verified, that the Prophet ſaith ? If in Hell, thou art alſo there.

△. Accipite Spiritum Sanctum, quorum remiſeritis peccata, remittuntur eis : & quorum retinueritis, retenenda ſunt: Ioannes 20. E. Math. 16. C. 18 C.

Si deſcendero in Infernum, tu illic es,

Ignis purgationis.
The perfect aſſurance by Chriſt and his Church or Spirit.

But, here, there is a Caution ; All ſins that are forgiven by the Church, paſſe not the fire : but he that is forgiven in his heart by God, in his Son Chriſt ; and [2] reconciled through the holy Spirit, to the body from whence he is fallen, is ſafe, as well from the wrath of God to come, as the puniſhment due unto his offences.

* Math.c.5.D.

*And therefore is the reconciling of brethren, of great force. Wherefore * hath Chriſt* left his body with the Church? Wherefore is he called the bread of Life?

I ſay unto you, my brethren, that the body of Chriſt dignified and glorified, is true bread ; is true comfort, which cleanſeth ſinners that are penitent, and wipeth away the puniſhment of adverſity.

△. Aliqui hæretici dicunt Chriſt corpus fuiſſe phantaſticum.

Happy are thoſe, that eat of him, and that account not his body, as the ſhadow of a candle.

Behold, I teach you: Even as the Spirit of God filleth the Congregation of the faithful ; ſo doth the body of Chriſt now dignifie, fill and cleanſe all that receive with ſorrow : ſorrow I mean for their wickedneſſe.

But lo : his body is become an offence unto the world. Many there are that ſay, This is Chriſt : But behold I teach you. Even as all things were made by him, ſpiritually : So are all, that are of his Elect, nouriſhed through him, bodily.

Lo, he is become one power, one God ; in that he is neither ſeparated from his body, nor ſeparateth his body from his Church.

After a while I come again.

E. K. Now he is gone away.

△. We read over the premiſes to our great comfort, in the mean time, while URIEL diſappeared.

E. K. Now he is here again.

△. Now he anſwereth to my requeſt firſt propounded.
Rudolp.

Uriel. ...... O ye timerous birds, How long run you headlong into the Wilderneſſe? How long will you be ignorant? How long will you tempt the Lord with the ſpirit of fooliſhneſſe and errour? Behold thou haſt not judged well of me. Behold thou haſt placed me in a low room, and haſt taken the Garland from my head, and trod it under thy feet : For, what is Rodolph, that is not at leiſure for the Lord, the God of righteouſneſſe, the King of Heaven and Earth?

Are they troubled with things that are greater than I? True it is ; for with me there is no trouble : for where I enter, I ſet all things in quiet. Will the Counſellours of the Earth, ſit in judgement to ſift the Lord? O ye fooles and ſtarvelings of the Earth : O you of little underſtanding. Think you, that you are able to find light amongſt the affairs of the World? true judgement in the imagination of man? or verity amongſt the hoords and corruption of covetouſneſſe and falſhood?

If.

If he be not at leiſure to hear me : Have not I told thee, that I have another in ſtore? Lo, I ſee, all fleſh is full of folly.

△. It is not yet done : and therefore we ask counſel of thee ; and I thank thee (O Lord) for rebuking of us, before farther errour committed.

Spiritus Electionis quid ſit vide pagina ſequente.
Rodulp.
Spiritus veritatis.

Uriel. ...... Lo, I gave unto thee, the ſpirit of choice*: and therefore I will regard thy doing,* and will wink at thy weakneſs. I will bleſſe all that thou takeſt in hand, and will cover thee with a Robe of Purple ; that thou mayſt underſtand that all is mine, and that I raiſe up whom I liſt. And I ſay unto thee again : Lo, Rodolph hath heard thee, And I will poure my Spirit of truth into thee, and thou ſhalt be a light unto him.

If.
△. From the Eaſt, Comfort and Triumph.
Rodolphi ſoboles in tertiam generationem.

But, now, If he live righteouſly, and follow me truly ; I will hold up his Houſe with Pillars of Hiacinct, and his Chambers ſhall be full of Modeſty and Comfort. I will bring the Eaſt wind over him, as a Lady of Comfort : and ſhe ſhall ſit upon his Caſtles with Triumph, and he ſhall ſleep with joy.

Moreover I will bleſſe his loynes : and his Houſe ſhall ſtand to the third generation : and to the end ; for, now, the World hath hoary hairs, and beginneth to be ſick.

If.
Secreſie required.
Addere Deo quo modo bonum eſt: vide infra.

If he deſpiſe my commandment, I will put the ſword againſt him ; and in his dwelling places ſhall his enemies banket. (But thoſe that deal with thee, let them ſow up their mouth : leſt being cut with a Razor, they ſpeak not.) For thoſe that neglect my Judgements I will deſpiſe them, and their ſeed ſhall wither, as corn ſown out of ſeaſon : But he that loveth me, I will multiply him, And he that addeth unto me, I will adde unto him a thouſand.

But lo, thou haſt the ſpirit of choice.

Spiritus Electionis ſupra Sept. 5.

△. O Lord open my underſtanding of that ſaying.

Uriel. ..... Quos tu eligis, electi ſunt : quo autem deſpicis, deſpiciuntur etiam.

△. Dwell thou in me (O Lord) for I am frail, and (without thee) very blind.

E. K. Now he is gone.

△. Thy glorious name (O Lord) be magnified, praiſed, and extolled for ever. Amen.

△. I ſpake this to E. K.

△. I perceive that I ſhall not deal with the Doctor Curtz now. Well, I can let him underſtand that I had rather deal with the Emperour himſelf, and ſo ſhift my ſelf of him.

E. K. He is here again.

Uriel. ...... Yes, deal with him : and hide nothing from him.

D. Curtz.

△. With Doctor Curtz, O Lord?

Uriel. ...... I —— And therefore I ſaid, He that addeth unto me, I will adde unto him a thouſand :

thouſand : But he that playeth with me ; lo, I ſwear, I will blot his name from life :

[△]Liberè agas : Deus eſt enim liber.

E. K. Now he is gone.

△. Deo Omnipotenti, Inviſibili & miſericordi ſit omnis honor, laus, gratiarum actio, & Gloria : nunc & in perpetuum. Amen.

△. Frankly as my term was in my firſt requeſt, or queſtion this day made.

Thurſday, Septembris 13. Mane. † Pragæ.

Emericus did bring himſelf in ſight of the Chamberlain, the Noble Octavius Spinola : as I willed him : And he called Emericus to him, and told him, that this day Doctor Curtz ſhould underſtand the Emperour his pleaſure, to confer with me, &c.

Emericus about 10 of the clock before Noon being in the Ritters Stove (or Guard-Chamber) ſaw Doctor Curtz come out from the Emperour.

Friday, Septemb. 14. Mane, circa 10.

I ſent Emericus to Doctor Curtz his houſe in parva parte : with my commendations; and to ſay that before, I underſtood of Doctor Hageck Mr. Doctor Curtz his deſire to be acquainted with me : whereof I was very glad and deſirous : and now I truſt that the Emperour his majeſty, by his Authority hath taken order with him whereby to begin our acquaintance, and (God willing) our perpetual friendſhip. The Doctor was at home, and to Emericus (ſaying the effect of my meſſage before noted) the Doctor declared that Captaverat antea varias occaſiones mecum contrahendæ amicitiæ, &c. and that now he is very joyful of the occaſion offered by the Emperours Majeſty : and that this day ſundry affairs did hinder the opportunity of our meeting, but to morrow at any hour (at my choice) he would be ready to welcome me to his houſe : and ſo with the uſual phraſe of offering all his ſervices to my pleaſure, he ſent Emericus to me with his ſaid Anſwer.

Quos Deus conjungit, Homo ne ſeparet. Amen.
Quos autem Deus & Cæſar copulat, copulatiſſimi maneant. Amen.

Saturday, Septembris, 15. A Meridie hora (ferè) prima. † Pragæ.

I came to the foreſaid (called Doctor) Curtz : about one of the clock after Noon, who had all the day been ready to have heard me, if I would ſo have had it : but I ſent him word in the morning by Emericus, that after Noon, (as now at this hour) I would come to him. Being come, he entertained me curteouſly : and two chairs being at the Tables end, he gave me the preeminence (by a friendly kind of earneſtneſſe) Then he told me, that long ſince in Germany, he had heard of my fame, and had ſeen of my writings : and that he was very glad of the opportunity now of my coming to this City ; and that otherwayes he was deſirous of my acquaintance, but chiefly ſeeing the Emperour his Majeſty Ore tenus (for that was his phraſe) by word of his own mouth, had willed him to hear what I had to ſay to his Majeſty. I began and declared my long courſe of ſtudy for 40 years, alwayes, by degrees going forward, and deſirous of the beſt, and pure truths in all manner of ſtudies, wherein I had paſſed, and that I had paſſed as many as were commonly known, and more than are commonly heard of. But that at length I perceived onely God (and by his good Angels) could ſatisfie my deſire : which was to underſtand the natures of all his creatures, and the beſt manner how to uſe them to his divine honor and glory, and the comfort of the elect, and alſo to the reproof and confuſion of the adverſaries of his name and honour. And herein I had dealed ſundry wayes : And at length had found the mercies of God ſuch as to ſend me the inſtruction of Michael, Gabriel, Raphael, and Uriel, and divers other his good and faithful Meſſagers, ſuch as I had here now brought books (about 18) to ſhew him the manner of their proceeding : And that I thought it good to begin at the laſt book, which alſo concerned moſt this preſent Emperour Rodolph. And ſo I did ; and ſo by degrees from book to book lightly, I gave him a taſte or ſight of the moſt part, and alſo let him ſee the Stone brought me by Angelical miniſtery, &c.

△. Studiorum meorum ſcopus.

Rodolph.

All things being ſeen and heard, that in ſix hours I could ſhew him : at length he required of me what concluſion, or ſummary report he ſhould make to the Emperour. I anſwered, as he had occaſion of the things ſeen and heard ; but if he would follow my counſel (ſomewhat expert in theſe Divine and Angelical doings.) That his Majeſty was to thank God for his great mercies and graces offered : and that by me one, who moſt ſincerely and faithfully gave his Majeſty to underſtand the will of God herein, and that his Majeſty was to do, as Mary (the bleſſed Virgin) did, to lay up all theſe my informations in his heart, and to ſay Ecce

My counſel to Doctor Curtz.

ſervus Domini, fiat voluntas tua, and ſo to attend the manner of the Lord his proceeding, while he framed his life, as it became every Chriſtian to do.

He ſaid, that he would write (for his own memories help) ſome ſhort note of his obſervations of my ſpeeches, and things ſeen and marked: and that he would to morrow (being Sonday) or on Monday, if he conveniently could, make a report to the Emperour, and ſo with all ſpeed give me to underſtand further of the Emperour his Majeſties will and pleaſure. Hereupon courteouſly he brought me down to the ſtreet door of his houſe; and I came home after ſeven of the Clock, and an half, in the evening.

The mercies of God be on me, and his name be magnified and extolled in this world, and for ever. Amen.

Note. In the mean ſpace while I was thus occupied with the foreſaid Mr. Curtz. E.K. was viſited at our Lodging with a wicked Tempter, who denied any Chriſt to be: and that as the heart received comfort of all the Members of the body: So that he, who is God, of all things received comfort by Angels, and other the Members of the world: and that I was now with one, who would uſe me like a Serpent, with head and tayl compaſſing my confuſion, &c. he earneſtly reviled E. K. in divers manners: he ſaid, that E. K. ſhould be damned, and ſaid: moreover, that of our practiſes ſhould never come any fruitfull end, &c.

He alſo ſaid that in the forme my Records that I had noted many a ly, and untruth.

Δ. The eternal and Almighty God confound the Adverſaries of his truth and glory, and of his Son Jeſus Chriſt our Redeemer, and the Triumphant Conquerour againſt, Hell, ſin, and the Devil. Amen.

P R A G Æ.

On Monday and Tueſday the 17th. and 18th. of September, I ſent Emericus up to the Caſtle, to liſten after anſwer of that Doctor Curtz his report to the Emperour, of that he had perceived by me. (But on Monday Octavius Spinola had ſent into the Town for Emericus, and told him that the Emperour had care and deſire to underſtand my doing with the Doctor: And therefore asked Emericus if I had been with the Doctor, and he affirmed that I had. Hereof (ſaid he) the Emperour will be glad: And yet (as I began to note) Emericus coming on Tueſday in the face of the Doctor in the Ritters ſtove; had not one word ſpoken to him, that either he had ſpoken to the Emperour, or he had not. And therefore I ſuſpect that the Doctor dealeth not honeſtly, faithfully, or wiſely in this ſo weighty a caſe. And foraſmuch as he told me, that the Emperour his Majeſty was perſwaded, that he was pious, &c. perhaps he would be loath; now, to prefer me to the ſpeech of the Emperour, ſeeing both he himſelf, and the reſt of his counſel ſtood perſwaded to the contrary of this King. Hereupon this great delay, upon ſiniſter report made to the Emperour might follow, &c.

Note, the Emperour enclined to hear, &c.

I ſuſpect the Doctour doth not deal ſincerely.

Note. Fryday, Septemb. 21. Circa horam 10. Ferè, Mane. † Pragæ.

Δ. As I and E.K. were together in my Study, earneſtly diſcourſing of Auricular confeſſion, publick confeſſion, and confeſſing to God alone, and of the Authority of the Church, and the manner of the ſame Authority uſing to releaſe, or retain ſins, E. K. ſaw one walk on the Table between him and me: Thereupon I framed me to write, and note what ſhould be ſhewed, or ſaid, E. K. willed me to ſet down the ſhew-ſtone: So I did, and he looked.

E. K. I ſee him here with the Scarf over his head and face, untill his waſte, but I ſee his hair yellow behinde on his head, &c.

Mitte lucem tuam, O Deus & varitatem tuam ut ipſæ nos ducant ex hac valle miſeriæ ad montem Sanctum Sion, & ad cœleſtia tua Tabernacula. Amen.

Uriel. ..... I am Uriel the ſervant of the moſt wiſe, mighty, and everlaſting God: which viſit you for two cauſes.

The firſt, that I may open unto you true, and perfect light: ſuch as darkneſſe comprehendeth not, infallible, and true meat, the power and ſpirit of the everlaſting God.

The ſecond, that I may counſel you againſt the world, and teach you to triumph againſt her frowardneſſe. For, who hath truſted in the Lord, and hath been caſt down? or what is he that hath cried aloud, and is not heard? Therefore, I ſay unto you; Hear my voyce: For I am of truth, and put againſt darkneſſe, and in me are publiſhed the light, and myſteries of the Trinity from time to time, and in all ages unto thoſe that fear, and obey God.

Two things there are which are the ſeals and marks of Satan: which bring eternal death and damnation to all ſuch as are noted, or burned with them, that is to ſay, lying, and froward ſilence.

* Trinitatis Lux & myſteria per Urielem revelantur.

Mendacium Obſtinatum, ſilentium.

Behold

Behold the words of Chriſt, unto the ſubtile (your father is a lyar from the beginning , and the Devil.)

Hearken unto my voyce : He that [1] teacheth falſe Doctrine, openeth [2] his mouth againſt truth, or defraudeth [3] his brother is a lyar, and ſhall not be forgiven.

1. For firſt, he ſinneth againſt his Creator, which created all things in truth.

2. Secondly, he offendeth againſt the truth, and his Redeemer, which is the ſon of God, very Chriſt.

3. Thirdly, he offendeth againſt the ſpirit of God, (of the Father, and the Son) the holy Ghoſt : which ſhall not be forgiven ; And therefore doth he incurre the rigour of Gods juſtice , his eternall damnation.

But, I ſay, give ear unto my words : For, I will ſift the duſt, and finde out the Pearle, that of a long time hath lyen trodden under the feet.

I will come again. E. K. He is gone.

Δ. We read over the premiſſes, and ſo expected the reſt.

E. K. He is again here.

Uriel. ...... Now let us joyn theſe things together.

All fleſh offendeth, and is a lyar. Who, therefore ſhall be ſaved, or eſcape eternal damnation? Objectio.
He it is (I ſay) that when he hath lyed, and ſpoken againſt the truth doth not frowardly drown'd, Solutio. and keep down his ſin in ſilence.

For, lying meriteth the vengeance of the Trinity. But he that is wilfully froward , ſealeth up his own damnation : For this cauſe (my brethren) and to the intent that the mercies of God might alwayes be ready for ſinners ; hath he provided the light, and comfort of his ſpirit , left as a continual workman in the Church and ſpouſe of Chriſt.

Mendacium.
Eccleſiæ Dignitas & Authoritas.

I teach you briefly : that, he whoſoever, opening his mouth againſt the ſpirit of truth ; and with wilfull frowardneſſe continueth in his lying, without reconciliation to the Church ſinneth againſt the holy Ghoſt, and ſhall be damned eternally.

Reconciliation to the Church.

I come again. E. K. He is gone.

E. K. He is here again.

Uriel. ..... Be now therefore admoniſhed (I ſay) be warned : And conſidering you be ſinners, acknowledge your offences, leaſt in the end your ſin be againſt the holy Ghoſt, and ſo not to be forgiven. But herein they erre with you that expound the Scriptures, ſaying, that man ſinneth, and cannot be forgiven, becauſe he ſinneth againſt the holy Ghoſt.

I teach you, my brethren : that there is no ſin againſt God, but it is againſt the holy Ghoſt:

If ſo be, in the end, it be ſhut up with wilfull ſilence.

Wilfull ſilence.

Whenſoever, (therefore) you have offended acknowledge, I ſay, your ſins, before God and his Angels : That God may forgive you, and the Angels bear witneſſe of your forgiveneſſe , and ſhut not up your ſins in froward ſilence.

Δ. Finalis inpœnitentia.
Teſtes Angelici.

*If thou commit adultry, if thou blaſpheme the name of God, if thou be a lyar ; yea, if thou ſpeak againſt the truth : yea, if thou ſay there is no God (as the * fooliſh do)* Deſpair not ; ſaying, I have ſinned againſt the holy Ghoſt, becauſe I am a ſinner, and a blaſphemer of the name of God, becauſe I have ſpoken, and opened my mouth againſt the ſpirit of truth : But go unto the Church , which is governed by the ſpirit of God, and there with hearty, and open confeſſion diſcloſe , and make plain thy offences, that the holy Ghoſt may bear witneſſe in the ſpouſe, and Church of Chriſt ; That thou haſt not ſinned againſt him to eternal death : Becauſe thou art not drowned in froward ſilence.

Froward ſilence.
* Pſal.
Ito ad Eccleſiam.

Δ. Voluntary confeſſion is contrary to froward ſilence.

For, although God bear witneſſe of repentance. Although he hear, and open his ears, yet conſider alſo he hath hands, and muſt untye thoſe bonds wherewith you are bound. What are the hands of God , but his ſpirit, wherewith he maketh and created all things. Therefore when thou haſt cried out and art ſorry, endeavour thy ſelf alſo to be lifted up by the hands of God.

Aures Dei , Manus Dei, Vide de Lazaro, Joh. c.11.

Learn a ſimilitude in Chriſt, which (ſignifying the power of his Church) commanded the offender to go and waſh himſelf : and ſo he was whole. I ſpeak this, for thy [E.K.] inſtruction : I ſay alſo unto thee, [E.K.] Go and waſh thy ſelf : For thou art a lyar, thou art a drunkard : And therefore thou art a ſinner. And if thou perſevere, and ſhadow thy ſins with wilfull ſilence frowardly , then ſealeſt thou thy ſelf with the ſecond brand, and canſt not be forgiven, becauſe thou ſinneſt againſt the Ghoſt.

* Ananias fell down at the feet of Peter , not onely for that he lyed : but becauſe after his offence he was wilfully ſilent. * *Act.*5.

Here thou mayeſt conſider the greatneſſe of God his myſteries, and ſecrets of his will and of favour, that he ſtretcheth out unto thee in mercy, for thou art a Childe, and muſt aſcend , and muſt become a man. The reſt after you are refreſhed. Supra.

Δ. We went to Dinner to our Hoſt his houſe.

Δ. Thanks, honour, glory, and praiſe be unto the Almighty Trinity, now and ever. Amen.

Δ. After

Δ. After we had been at Dinner, they read over the premiſſes, and conſidered them quietly.

E. K. Here he is.

Δ. Bleſſed be he that cometh in the name of the higheſt, to whom be all honour and glory. Amen.

Uriel. ..... Lo, Lo, Lo, (I ſay) which of you hath an eye, that ſeeth not, (now) the world: the vanity, and folly of worldlings: and ſuch as are choked with the mildew of vanity and worldly promotion?

For thus ſayeth the Lord; wherein could I ſhew my ſelf more, either unto this age, or unto this Emperour, then with rebuking him for his ſins from Heaven?

Who is able to promiſe more, or to perform † aſſureder then I, which lighten, and make all things? Yet thy believe not,

† More aſſuredly.

Yea, they rejoyce in their own folly, and deſpiſe me: yea, becauſe they deſpiſe thee, whom I have ſent with my word unto them.

Δ. Is deſpiſed of Rud, and Curtz.

E. K.

Well, thus ſayeth the Lord, they have deſpiſed their own Garlands, and have trodden their food under feet: They have rent their Robes in pieces, and have caſt them into the waves. They are become maſterleſſe Dogs, for I have forſaken them. And lo, Rodolph, I will ſcatter thy bones, and thy head ſhall be devided in many pieces. I will bring in thy enemies over all thy Kingdoms, and for thy ſake ſhall many thouſands periſh. He alſo that thinketh himſelf wiſe, if he dye a natural death; then ſay, I am not, neither that I live with my people.

Contra Rud.

Contra Curtz.

But becauſe thou haſt done that which I commanded thee, and haſt not forgot my name. Lo, I will plant thee my ſelf, and thou ſhalt grow, and out of thee ſhall ſpring a mighty and a terrible ſword: whoſe Hilts ſhall be as the Carbuncle, and edge like unto the ſting of a Dragon, and I will not ſuffer thee to fall: neither ſhall thine enemies ride upon thee. Truely, truely, thou ſhalt know I am with thee.

Δ Fecit quod illi injunctum erat. Pactum miſericordiæ divinæ cum Δ.

*But be patient: for Satan hunteth hard after thee. Thou ſhalt have alwayes a * prick even unto thy laſt grave. But therein ſhall thy faith be exalted, and thy reward great.*

Sathanas. * Ne magnitudo revevelationum extollat me, datus eſt mihi ſtimulus carnis meæ, &c. Paulus ad Corinthios ſecunda, cap. 12.

...... I come again.

E. K. He is gone.

E. K. Here he is again.

Uriel. ..... Lo, for thy labour I will reward thee: And ſo it ſhall be. Behold, I had determined to have rooted out the Engliſh people, to have made a wilderneſſe, and deſart of it; to have filled it with many ſtrange people, and to have tied the ſword to it perpetually.

England pardoned for Δ. his ſake.

But

Δ. This is no contradiction, for thus this wilderneſſe and filling is to be underſtood.

Δ. The filling of it with ſtrangers ſhould have been for the conqueſt, and in a manner razing, or defacing of all Cities, Towns, and Caſtles, and ſo to have brought it to a wilderneſſe and deſart.

But Lo, I will give thee that land; (onely for thy ſake) it ſhall not be conſumed.

And after certain moneths, I will bring thee home; yea, thou ſhalt live till thou be able to paſſe the waves without a ſhip, and to aſcend the Hills, as the Spiders do. Notwithſtanding, I will take the Crown from the houſe, it is in, and I will place it, as I have Propheſied unto thee. Notwithſtanding, for a time, thou ſhalt live with Cæſar.

God will give me England, that is to ſay, ſpare it from diſtruction for my ſake, &c. England. Δ. Our good return into England. Δ. Perhaps, ſpiders flying in the aire, are caried by ſtrings of their own ſpinning, or making, or elſe I know not how. Rud. I remained for the moſt part in Bohemia, and in the Empire, till 1589.

....., I come again.

E. K. He is gone.

Δ. O Lord, what ſhall become of my good friend the Lord Laskie.

E. K. Here he is again.

Uriel. ...... Of Lasky thus it is ſaid: Thou [Δ.] haſt groaned for him, and haſt placed him in thy [Δ.] *heart: From henceforth will I reconcile him unto me, and I will ceaſe my anger upon him, and he ſhall come hither * ſhortly. But he is a wanton, and very prone to ſin.*

But hear what I ſay unto thee.

[E. K. He ſeemeth to have talk with one afar off]

Cæſar thought thou hadſt had the Philoſophers ſtone, and (as yet) he thinketh ſo.

Even as I choaked the gluttenous Iſraelites with quayles, ſo will I choake him with that ſecret.

A. L.

A. L. Came to us to Trebon, in Bohemia, An. 1588. poſt captum Maximilianum à Polonis, &c.

Rud.

Num. 11.
Pſal. 77.

Behold,

Behold, thou ſhalt write unto him, ſaying, that he regardeth not heaven : And ſay unto him, that thou canſt make the Philoſophers ſtone, I will perform it unto thee : Thou ſhalt do it : And I will give unto thee a ſpecial vertue in healing : That whenſoever thou comeſt hither : Thou ſhalt underſtand the truth. And this I do, becauſe they ſhall not deſpiſe thee.

A Letter to be written unto Cæſar.
Lapis Philoſophorum.
A ſpecial gift in healing by the ſhew in this ſtone.

Δ. O Lord, for me to be deſpiſed in doing thy commandment, is honour and comfort to me: But as concerning thy honour and glorie; Thou in thy wiſdom knoweſt what is beſt to be done.

R. Peribit.

Uriel. ..... Notwithſtanding, thou ſhall ſee him periſh before thy face. Lo, from this time, I will bleſſe thee marvellouſly, and I will help thee in all thy works.

Benedictio Dei ſit ſuper nos.

{Do thou alwayes :
{And make me thy Buckler.

Supra.
Tu fac.

Δ. What ſhall I do with Doctor Curtz, as concerning his anſwer?

Uriel. ..... Handle him like a man, for he will deceive thee.

E. K. I requeſt you but one thing for all my labour and travel; that is, that this Doctor might this night be bereft of his life, to the terrour of other, &c.

Uriel. ..... Have patience, God turneth all to his glory, and your commodity. To morrow I have ſomething elſe to ſay.

Deus Noſter in cœlo, omnia quæcunque voluit fecit: Ille ſolus eſt Omnipotens, æternus, ſapiens, Bonus, Juſtus & Miſericors: Illi debetur omis Laus, gratiarum actio, honor & gloria. Amen.

Saturday, 22. Septemb. Manè, Circiter horam 9.

Precibus ad Deum finitis, & variis ad ipſum Ejaculationibus pro Luce & veritate Dei, &c. & quibuſdam de Rudolphi & Curtzii corruptis Judiciis (qui Dei Miſericordias, juxta carnis ſenſum judicare auſi ſunt) [apparuit Vriel facie velata ut ante.]

Uriel. ..... For this cauſe (ſay I unto thee) write unto Rudolph, ſaying, I can make the Philoſophers ſtone : Becauſe I would place thee with them, according to their hope and imagination*: That whileſt they think little of me,* and of the ſweetneſſe of my meſſage and teſtimony, I might burſt out amongſt them; as the mighty waters do out of Hills, when the earth moveth : For I have ſaid unto thee, I will place thee here; If I ſow thee here, what Raven can pinck thee up by the roots. No, I will hide thee, as the Hen doth her Chickens : And I will make thee ſpring to their deſtruction. For why, thou ſhalt overcome that myſtery for thy own ſake.

A Letter to Rudolph the Emperour.
Eruptiones aquarum ex Terræ motibus.
Lapis Philoſoſorum.

Δ. For the glorie of God : his honour and triumph, all good come unto me.

Uriel...... Behold, ſince they will not tye thee unto them from heaven : Thou ſhalt tye them unto thee from earth : That thou mayeſt rejoyce when thou ſeeſt their deſtruction, and be ready cloathed for him that is to come.

Cæſar futurus.

It was ſaid unto thee, my mother ſaith ſhe will chuſe an Emperour in erneſt : But it is Erneſt that ſhall ſit upon his ſeat. Behold, there ſhall be no ſeed left in him for his wickedneſſe. Yea, the bleſſings that I have offered him ſhall return again; and I will leave his houſe naked. But when he ſeeth and hath Gold (which is the thing he deſireth, and thoſe that counſel him, do moſt deſire him, for) Then ſhall he periſh with a moſt cruel, terrible, and unheard of miſchief.

It is a ſaying of Madimi, Junii 26. 1584. Cracoviæ.
Erneſtus Frater Rudolphi.
Δ. Bleſſings offered are promiſes with conditions.
Gold, ex lapide Philoſophorum.
Mors crudelis, terribilis, inaudita.

But lo, I have written his name within my hand, becauſe I would not forget to puniſh him. Behold, I could ſend the windes to devour him, and could open the Caves of the earth to ſwallow him; which would turn to my honour : But I have a care over you.

Note.

Now I am unto you in mercy and wiſdom. But I will be with you in terror and miracles. And I will deal with you in a higher degree : And you ſhall hear my voyce, as men do their brethren.

God in mercy, wiſdom, terror, miracles.
Vox Domini ut hominis futura nobis audibilis.

Δ. What thou wilt (O Lord) for thy honour and glory: That be.

Uriel. ..... But thoſe that are his counſellers have commanded him, rather then counſelled him, to have no dealing with thee at all.

Conſiliarii Cæſaris.

And he is poſſeſſed with a great, and a mighty Devil. And behold Belzagal (which is the fury and Prince of the Turks) doth aſſiſt him in his wickedneſſe, for he knoweth it may come to paſſe that * his Kingdom ſhall be ſhort. But give ear unto me. Fawn thou upon Cæſar as a worldling, that thou mayeſt draw him with the world, to ſee the glory of God : but to his deſtruction. For lo, how much more a mans felicity is in this world, the more ſhall be the burden of his deſtruction.

R. Poſſeſſus
Belzagal Cacodæmon Turcarum.
* Turkiſh, or Rudolphus rather.

There be that gape after thy books, and ſpeak vainly of things that are not. Therefore I counſel that they dwell not long with Poland.

My books from Poland.

Behold, when Lasky cometh, he ſhall not haſtily return into Poland : till I whiſper in his ears, He is dead that ſought thy life. I have more to ſay, but they are not (yet) neceſſary.

A. L.

Δ. I beſeech you to tell me when I ſhall prepare my ſelf to go for my books, &c.

Uriel. :...I

I may chuſe my time to go to Cracow.

Uriel. .... I ſpeak not, that I know not; but chuſe thy own time. Now will I become a Courtier.

E. K. He is gone.

Fiat voluntas Dei, ad ejus laudem, honorem & gloriam. Amen.

Monday, Septembris, 24. Mane hora 8. † Pragæ.

Δ. At the firſt looking E.K. ſaw Uriel, but covered with his Scarf, &c. Notwithſtanding I ſaid ſome prayers to God on my knees, and came and ſaid here. Mitte lucem tuam & veritatem tuam O Deus : ut ipſæ nos ducant ad montem Sion, &c.

It is to be remembred that for two cauſes we repaired to the Shew-ſtone : the one by reaſon of the letter which I had written to the Emperour : and was minded to go to ſhew it to the Spaniſh Embaſſadour before I ſent it to the Emperour, to have his opinion of it, and alſo to bear it. Secondly, by reaſon of foul ſlanderous words which were ſpoken of me here at this Embaſſadours Table : That I was a Conjurer, and a bankrupt alkimiſt, and came here to get ſomewhat of the Emperour : and that I had ſold my goods, and given to the Lord Laskie the mony, and that he had deceived me. To theſe untruths the Embaſſadour did reply in my behalf : for which I meant to thank him, &c.

Uriel. ...... Even as the accurſed, and caſt down, moſt wilfully abhorreth, hateth, and diſhonoureth, the God of Juſtice, becauſe of his mightineſs and power over him : So do all thoſe that ſuck and hang upon his dugs, that are coveteous and deſirous of worldly promotion : that gape and thirſt after the glory of this world, abhor, hate, and continually vex and diſhonour, ſuch as love Juſtice, or dwell under the wings of the God of power and Triumph. Herein may you rejoyce, that you are partakers and innocents (railed at, and deſpiſed with the world) in the fellowſhip of God, and of his Son Chriſt. Herein may you be glad, that you are ſealed, and dwell with the Fathers, and that you play alſo upon the Harpe of David : for verily as they are, ſo ſhall you be ; and as they are made righteous by reaſon of their election, and crowned toward eternal Joy ; So ſhall your Election eſtabliſh your righteouſneſſe, and give you Garlands of eternal comfort. Thoſe that are on the Seas, are fearful of the windes : And why ? becauſe of the motion of the place, and of the power of nature : But it is not ſo, with you : for you dwell in Caſtles made of marble, wrought out of the middeſt of a ſure rock, a moſt ſtable foundation. For why ? I am ſure that God dwelleth in you, and you in him. Therefore lift up your heads, and rejoyce when you are afflicted, and keep the image of God ſincere and perfect in you, *that you may alwayes be * merciful in the Image of his Son Chriſt. But when the Lord openeth his mouth, and calleth you* together, ſaying, † Venite & audite : Then lay away all mercy ; for the God of * Juſtice dwelleth amongſt you. Who dwelleth in a houſe till it be perfectly finiſhed ? or what is he that putteth on a garment before it be made ? Be you aſſured, that when the † houſe is finiſhed, and your * garments made, *you ſhall both enter, and be clothed with comfort : Comfort of † wiſdom and power. I am mindful of you, and will be mindful of my * promiſe toward you. And* If you remain and dwell [forte [together] deeſt] and be conſtant in me, you ſhall paſſe the † Thunders that are to come; you ſhall be witneſſes of my power : *and ſhall enter into the * Land of Promiſe with thoſe that ſhall be comforted :* where theſe dayes ſhall have an end, O my brethren, this world exceedeth in wickedneſſe, and is a terrour to the good Angels : Becauſe of the ſouls that ſhe devoureth. But when lightneſſe is rewarded, and Juſtice ſitteth in place, Then ſhall ſhe bear no weight, but be made all one with the bottomleſſe pit. Deſpiſe her, deſpiſe her ; for ſhe is an Harlot.

Cithara Davidis.

Electio.

Deus habitat in nobis & nos in Deo.

Imago Chriſti Paulus ad Cor. cap. 15. F.

* Miſericordia.

† Signum noſtrum ſuprà in multis locis.

* Juſtitia.

† Domus.

* Veſtes.

† Sapientia cum potentia.

* Promiſſa.

† Tonitrua ventura.

* Terra promiſſionis.

A Spiritu Dei ſumus ducti ut Domino Magnifico Domino Gulielmo de Sancto Clemente, Hiſpaniarum Re*gis legato hæc aperiremus cui mercedem dabit Deus.*

* D. Jacobo Curtzio Conſiliario Cæſareo.

Behold I have entred in amongſt you ; and it is my Spirit that leadeth to the Embaſſadour from Spain. I will reward him.

*Therefore as thou haſt opened me unto the * wicked, ſo let alſo the good bear witneſſe of me.*

The Lord is become a firebrand in fury, and hath armed himſelf : and hath taken unto him his great Target, and the Spear of his indignation : Accurſed are they that have offended him.

Δ. Quantum memini in Sibyllæ oraculis Græcis & Latinis factis per Caſtaleonem, habetur nomen Urielis inter illos qui collecturi ſunt homines ad judicium. Vide & hîc aſcribe.

Tum verò æterni Genii Immortalis
ʼΗκα & * ερομιηλ. U R I E L, Saniel, Azaelque, Quæ mala quiſque hominum patraverit ante Scientes
E tetris animas tenebris caliginis omnes.
Judicio ſiſtent ad formidabile patris
Magni, Immortalis ſolium, &c.
Orat. Sibyl. pag. 79.
Ubi ſequuntur plura de U R I E L E.

And when I ſeparate them in the day of wrath to come, (as one of the fingers and gatherers in of the harveſt of God) Then they ſhall know that I am U R I E L, which will not forget the wickedneſſe of their hands, nor their blaſphemous mouth, in that day of revenge.

After

After a certain time cometh Michael unto you, and ſhall ſhew unto you his bloody Sword; and you ſhall ſtand under his Banner. He ſhall hold up his hands, and ſhall fight againſt the Hills for you : and your enemies ſhall not be. Unto which time, receive you Light and Comfort : and be contented with adverſity in the Lord.

Prophesia de MICHAELE.

My brethren, it is better to be poor, with thoſe that are * poor in ſpirit : then to be rich with thoſe that are gluttons, and with the Princes of the Earth

* Math. cap. 5. Quoniam ipſorum eſt regnum cœlorum, &c.

Thou ſhalt be with Cæſar, in deſpite of the Devil.

I have ſaid.

△ Erit cum Cæſare. I underſtand not this, how it is, or ſhall be verified, or with which Cæſar.

△. Gloria patri & filio & Spiritui Sancto : Sicut erat in Principio & nunc & ſemper, & in ſecula ſeculorum. Amen.

Note : As I had finiſhed this Action, and was come to my Study door; Emericus was returned again from the Spaniſh Embaſſadour, to whom I had ſent him deſirous to know his leaſure for me : who had now ſent me word by Emericus to come to diner, & ſo he would have leaſure, &c. Whereof I was right glad ; and went thither to diner : who into his inermoſt Study (where he himſelf was writing of letters) cauſed me to be brought. And after I had complained of injury and violence done unto me, by foul ſlanders, and that, at his Honours Table : (to which his Honour, in my behalf had replied : and therefore moſt humbly, and ſincerely I did thank him) I ſaid that the Emperous Majeſty himſelf could bear me witneſſe, that I uſed this phraſe unto him, that I came not for his riches as, Non veni ad vos O Sereniſſime Cæſar propter divitias veſtras, ut inde ego dives fierem, ſed à Deo miſſus, non audeo aliter facere quam ejus ad veſtram Cæſaream Majeſtatem voluntatem declarare, &c. And therefore, How falſly they ſlandered me, it was evident : and becauſe I perceive that Doctor Curtz hath not dealt neither with due entertainment of me as of a ſtranger, or a Sudent, or a Mathematician, or of one whom (to my face) he gave great praiſe unto, as of one long ſince of great fame in Germany, and ſo in his good eſtimation, &c. And leaſt of all, as of one, who offered ſo great curteſies to the Emperours Majeſty as he was made witneſſe of : I thought good to ſend unto the Emperours Majeſty this letter following, and ſo read it unto him after diner, when I ſhewed him Librum Pragenſem ſive Cæſareum ; and moreover Librum decimum, (whoſe former title was Libri Sexti Myſtici Tertiarius) and there ſhewed him divers Actions in Latine already tranſlated, becauſe now to tranſlate ſo to him of the Engliſh, did ſeem to me both tedious, and to him not ſo readily pleaſant. All things on his part conſidered, his ſummary final concluſion was, as well of the laſt offer in this my letter, as of the great actions and divine purpoſes. For the firſt he declared that he was lineally deſcended out of the conſanguinity, of one a Gentleman, but unlettred at the firſt, who left his wife, children, and family in Maiorca, and aſcended an Hill there, and in place ſolitary remained an whole year, and at the years end, he came down, but ſo learned and wiſe, that all who knew him before, wondred at it. And that the ſame man was called Raymondo Lullio : and that he made that which is called the Philoſophers Stone, as in England (ſaid he) I underſtand is good record of it : Therefore I ſee, quoth he, that it is a truth and poſſible : and as he hath granted the knowledge of it to one man, ſo he may grant it to another, &c. And as for the other higher matters, I perceive that God intendeth ſome great matter in this world. But I am not able to judge or determine of it : But I am of this mind, wherein I can any way further the ſervice of God, I will be ready and obedient, &c. And as for the Emperours perſon himſelf, I find him of a good nature, curteous, and moſt zealouſly Catholick : yea ready to ſhed his blood in the cauſe, if opportunity required. He underſtandeth the Latine well, and ſpeaketh ſufficiently well : That is true (quoth I) for he ſpake well in Latine to me divers things Moreover (ſaid he) as concerning you, I ſaw him very well affectionated, making great account of your book, &c. Therefore you are not to regard theſe Dutch mens ill tongues, who hardly can brook any ſtranger, &c.

Domini Legati Regis Hiſpaniarum Reſponſum.

Upon farther matter that I had to ſhew him, I offered my ready repair unto him at all times of his good leaſure, being called or warned. And he deſirous to ſee the Stone brought to me by an Angel, willed me to come to morrow alſo, to Diner : I promiſed him, and ſo with thanks yielded to his honour, I departed toward my Lodging at Bethelem in old Prage.

The Copy of the foreſaid Letter to the Emperour.

Multis (O Sereniſſime Cæſar) & permagnis (ferè omnium) Creaturarum Dei, immò ipſius Dei, & cœleſtibus haud paucis myſteriis, arcaniſque, veſtræ Cæſareæ Majeſtatis juſſu per me (jam, ante quatuordecim dies) fideliter, ſincere, & diligenter (quantum ſex horarum fieri poterat ſpacio) declaratis, ac manifeſtatis: eidem, cui, eadem penes me videnda, audienda, intelligendaque eſſe voluiſtis: Inde, nunc, quæ ſit veſtræ Cæſareæ Majeſtati, ſimplex (tanquam ab æquo rerum Æſtimatore) facta relatio: vel, quod cum relatione adjunctum Judicium: vel, qualis totius proceſſus excogitata cenſura: vel, qualis meeum procedendi, vobis perſuaſa cautio; vel, quale pro Cæſarei veſtri reſponſi forma, initum captumque conſilium, Non ſum tam immodeſte curioſus, ut expiſcar, Neque aliter, vel alia ratione de ſacræ veſtræ Majeſtatis Cæſareæ prudenti & gratioſa (in præmiſſis) Reſolutione, ſum ſollicitus, quam, me (fidelem, ſincerum, & devotum) Dei Omnipotentis, & (in Deo, propterque Deum veſtræ ſacræ Cæſareæ Majeſtatis ſervitorem deceat. Video tamen me (dum nullum adhuc ad præmiſſa receperim reſponſum) per tam alti ſilentii (quaſi) ſtimulum, aliquantulum impelli, ut ſecundò veſtram Cæſaream Majeſtatem admoneam, Ne divinam hanc, & divinitus oblatam Miſericordiam, tam inexpectatam, tam magnam, tam inauditam, tam admirandam, tam multiplicem, tam ſtatui Imperatorio, Chriſtianæque Reipublicæ neceſſariam, tam certam, tam paratam, eamque (per Dei Omnipotentis, Cæſareæque Majeſtatis veſtræ, fidelem ſervitorem) re ipſa, vobis confirmandam, & adminiſtrandam: (ſi ſacra veſtra Cæſarea Majeſtas voluiſſet) parvi momenti negotium, vel inventum aliquod humanum, aut fraudem Diabolicam, eſſe, fuiſſe, vel fore, ullo modo ſuſpicemini, vel Credatis. Tali enim & tam gravi veſtræ Cæſareæ Majeſtatis errore, Omnipotentis Dei incendi poſſe furorem vehementer vereor: & ne hanc Dei miſericordiam reſpuentes, ejuſdem indignantem provocetis vindictam, valde metuo. Quapropter, cum videam Cœlum ipſum, & cæleſtia talia myſteria, non tali tantaque curæ, veſtræ ſacræ Majeſtati Cæſareæ adhuc eſſe, quali, quantæque optaſſem equidem: Ego potius quam, ut, vel Deus hujus ſuæ (prius inauditæ) Miſericordiæ ultroque veſtræ Cæſareæ Majeſtati oblatæ, prorſus nullum (penes homines) haberet conſpicuum judicium, argumentum, Teſtimonium vel experimentum: Et potius quam mea (ſæpe nominata) fidelitas, ſinceritas, & Devotio (ſive votum) erga Deum & veſtram Cæſaream Majeſtatem, omni (apud poſteros noſtros) careret fide, & veritatis manifeſtæ robore: In Dei Nomine, & ad ejus laudem, honorem, & gloriam: & ut veſtræ ſereniſſimæ Cæſareæ Majeſtatis ſatisfaciam deſiderio Heroico, De lapide illo Benedicto: (Philoſophorum vocato lapide) infallibiliter videndo, poſſidendo & utendo: Aſſero veſtræ ſacræ Cæſareæ Majeſtati, lapidem eundem me (auxilio favoreque Divino) conficere poſſe. Et propterea; Si veſtra Cæſarea Majeſtas, me velit interim, ſibi intimè charum habere: Et, ſi, pro dignitate tanti myſterii, & Beneficii (ſibi a me liberaliſſime & humillime exhibendi) gratioſe me tractare dignabitur (Non tamen alio quidem vel altiori me inſigniens Titulo quam qui veſtræ Cæſareæ Majeſtatis Philoſopho & Mathematico conveniat,) Hiis literis ore & corde polliceor, ſanctèque coram Deo Omnipotenti voveo: Opus illud philoſophicum, Omnibus ſuis numeris perfectum, in manus veſtras Cæſareas, (& ſine ſumptibus veſtris ad illud opus perficiendum requirendis) ac breviſſimo, quo fieri poterit, tempore (Nutu Dei) me daturum. De aliis præterea Arcanis, adhuc mihi ſilendum eſſe video. Nunc autem ſacræ Cæſareæ Majeſtatis veſtræ gratioſam, liberam, conſtantemque voluntatem, in præmiſſis, non aliter, niſi ex veſtro proprio gratioſo ore vel ex veſtris Cæſareis literis propriis, intelligere Cupio. Nullum enim jam noſco, dignum & aptum, qui in iſtis, aliiſque Naturæ & Artis ſecretis, meus (penes veſtram Cæſaream Majeſtatem) fieri deberet Mercurius.

Tueſday, Septembris 25. Prage.

Note: I went to Diner to the Spaniſh Embaſſadour: and carryed with me the Stone brought me by an Angel; and the fourth Book, wherein the manner of the bringing of it is expreſſed. And alſo I carried with me Librum Sextum Sanctum Myſticum.

After Diner, when I had ſhewed him theſe things: his final anſwer was, that verily he took the doing to be by good Angel: marry, the matters to be too great: Therefore (ſaid I) they are for the ſervice of God, and not onely man. He ſaid he was a ſinner, and not worthy to be privy, much leſſe to be a doer in them: Notwithſtanding whatſoever he can do therein acceptable to God, he would be moſt obedient thereto. A Copy of the letters deſired. He deſired a Copy of the Emperour his foreſaid letters, that he might conſider circumſpectly of the Contents before he ſhould deliver them; whereunto I conſented. Renderiug his Honour thanks I departed.

After

After my return home, I found E. K. reſolved to go from hence to morrow, for his wife, and ſo ſtraightway into England: which was to me a grief: But what can I do, but refer all to the mercies of God, whom I have called upon for wiſdom to ſerve him withal? I have put my truſt in the Lord, I have not murmured at any ſuch pangs and tentations hitherto.

E.K Ready to go into England as he pretended.

The mercies of the Higheſt be upon me, as I have put my truſt in him.

Amen.

Now were we (all) brought to great penury: not able without the Lord Laskies, or ſome heavenly help, to ſuſtain our ſtate any longer.

Poverty.

Beſides this, I underſtood of the Queens diſpleaſure for my departure, and of the Biſhop of London his intent to have begun to have accuſed me of Conjuration, and ſo to have had the ſecret aſſiſtance of you know whom.

Tu es Deus fortitudo mea, refugium meum Suſceptor meus, & liberator meus.

Amen.

Wedenſday, Septembris 26. Ante Meridiem. Pragæ.

About 10 and a half of the clock, Dr. Curtz ſent with Mr. Simon Hageck his ſervant to know my lodging: He had paſſed not far off in a lane on horſeback his ſelf going into the Town, and ſo met Mr. Simon Hageck at the lanes end, &c.

D. Curtz.

Thurſday, Septembris 27. † Pragæ.

Manè: About 7. of the clock came Dr. Curtz his ſervant from his Maſter to tell me, that his Maſter would come unto me at 9 of the clock.

D. Curtz.

At 9 of the clock came Dr. Curtz on horſeback to me, to my lodging (at Doctor Hageck his houſe by Bethleem) my wife he ſaluted, and little Katharine, my daughter. Mr. Kelly had gotten him into his chamber, not willing to be ſeen.

After he was come up into my little Study, and there ſet, in Mr. Kelly his uſual place, and I in mine; I began to complain of the great injury done unto me here; for I came as a ſincere and faithful ſervitour of the Emperour his Majeſty, intending all goodneſſe and honour unto him: no hindrance, loſſe or hurt; neither came I propter divitias Cæſaris mihi colligendas, as I ſaid expreſſely unto his Majeſty. I was, before I came hither, of good name and fame, both in this Court, and all Europe over, As you your ſelf Mr. Doctor (quoth I) can bear me witneſſe: and other in this Court divers: And that here my name and fame ſhould ſuffer ſhipwrack, where I thought I had been in, a ſure Haven of my principal Patrone: My thinketh that great injury is done unto me: I know no means how to help it, but to give you warning of the envious malitious backbiters that alſo are about this Court, that as you find occaſion, you might encounter with this evil, and foul monſter, in ſo mighty a Princes Cauſe intruding it ſelf.

The Doctor ſeemed not to know what I meant. I told him, that at a Noble-mans Table, There was, of great account, who ſaid, that there was an Engliſh man, come to the Emperours, A bankrupt Alchimiſt, a Conjurer, and Necromantiſt: who had ſold his own goods, and given the Lord Laskie the money: and that he had beguiled him: and that now he would fain get ſome of the Emperour his money from him, &c. The Doctor ſeemed greatly to miſlike theſe ſlanderous words, and ſaid, that he never heard of any ſuch; with ſome few words more, of the wicked manner of backbiters.

After this, as concerning the report making to the Emperour, of that I had ſhewed unto him, at his houſe, (as before is noted) he ſaid that he had made a plain and ſincere report. Whereunto the Emperours Majeſty, had (as yet) given no anſwer. And to be plain with you (ſaid he) his Majeſty thinketh them almoſt either incredible, or impoſſible: and would have ſome leaſure to conſider of them: and is deſirous to have the ſight of thoſe Latine Actions you ſhewed me, or a Copy of them, and eſpecially, of that, which containeth a paraphraſis of the Apoſtolical Creed. I anſwered, that my Books I would not deliver out of my hands: And as for a Copy of them, I would (at leaſure) write it, that his Majeſty might have it. And then I told him farther, that becauſe it was ſo long before I heard any word of him, I had letters ready to ſend to the Emperours Majeſty, to have farther declared my mind unto him, and I declared unto him the tenor of them: and he told me that about three of the clock after noon, his man ſhould go to the Court, and if then I would ſend them, his man ſhould carry them. I anſwered that I would expect a day or two for the Emperours return hither. After this we talked of ſome Mathematical matters: And I ſhewed him the little Book de ſuperficierum diviſionibus, ſet forth by me and Commandinus, printed at Pezaro in Italy. He ſaid that he never ſaw it before: I bad him then take it with him to peruſe: and that if I had another Copy, I would give it him; but I had none other but that. I ſhewed him alſo the Propædeumata Aphoriſtica de præſtantioribus quibuſdam Naturæ virtutibus, which he had never ſeen before. After this, with mutual curteſies offered on both parts (after the manner of the world) he took his horſe, and returned homeward.

Friday, Septembris, 28. Prage.

Intending to ſend the Emperours letter (here before written) to his Majeſty, by my good friend, the Spaniſh Embaſſadour, I wrote this letter to ſend to the Embaſſadour in that behalf, and as concerning the credit of theſe Actions.

Illuſtriſſimo Domino, Domino Don Gulielmo de Sancto Clemente, ſereniſſimi atque Catholici Hiſpaniarum Regis apud ſacram Cæſaream Ma- jeſtatem, &c. Legato, Domino ſuo obſervandiſſimo.

Illuſtris & Magnifice Heros: Multis hoc probari poteſt teſtimoniis & exemplis, quod illa, quæ (præter vulgarium artium & ſcientiarum decreta) Nova, & ſupra vulgariter Studioſorum expectationem, hominibus (licet piis & candidis quidem) Divinitus revelantur myſteria, cum ſumma difficultate vel intelliguntur à pauciſſimis, vel vix ſine ſuſpicione admittuntur, aut creduntur à pluribus: Aſt qualis, in noſtris, (ſi rectè piéque informatum noſtris adhibeatur judicium) eſſe poteſt ſuſpitio? Nam à Deo Omnipotente, per multos jam annos, fideliter, ardenter, & conſtanter per preces requiſita ſapientia: Una (ſcilicet quæ penes nos quidem) videtur eſſe radix & occaſio tanti iſtius Doni obtinendi. Aſt in cœleſti ſuo Palatio, ante conditum mundum, determinata, & aſſignata erga nos Miſericordia & gratia Omnipotentis Dei, præcipuum, ſolidum, immobileque hujus tanti myſterii eſt cenſendum fundamentum: In quo myſterio, talis relucet, per potentes fideleſque Angelos Iſagogica informatio, De Arcanis Dei conſiliis, tam in mundi creatione Creaturarumque naturis, & vero uſu, quam in mundi præſentis moxque futuri ſtatu: Et preterea, de unius Catholicæ Eccleſiæ (chariſſimæ Jeſu Chriſti ſponſæ, noſtræque piæ matris) ſanctitate, dignitate, & Authoritate (veluti in qua etiam eſt Sanctorum Communio, & Peccatorum remiſſio) & de multis nondum per nos revelandis Dei Arcanis Magnalibus & Determinationibus: Quod tantum abeſt, ut aliquis (ſanæ mentis) Chriſtianus, Actiones Noſtras Myſticas, Diabolicas eſſe fraudes, contendere, immo ne ſuſpicari quidem conetur aut poſſit: ut potius, tale Arcanum Dei propoſitum, incredibiliter admirari, rationem humanam, in eiſdem examinandis, ſubjugare, & Dei erga Electos ſuos admirandam miſericordiam in iſtis eſſe manifeſtam, humillimè, & cum ſummo tremore fateri velit: Ego quidem, hactenus, in iſtis, aliud (ferè) nihil, me eſſe invenio, niſi Calamum ſcribæ, velociter per me ſcribentis. Nam viſa auditaque (in mea præſentia) fideliſſimè, de litera interdum ad literam, interdum, verbatim, interdum pluribus ſimul receptis verbis (ipſo eodem temporis momento, quo traduntur) annotare ſum ſolitus. Aſt jam in quam multa excrevit Noſter talis labor volumina? Ex quibus omnibus illum fructum, ſucceſſumque expectamus, qualem præfixit ille, cujus nutui cuncta obediunt. Iſtas autem ad ſuam ſacrem Cæſaream Majeſtatem literas meas: Cum veſtra magnificentia opportunitatem inveniet primam, ſi meo nomine: humillimè eidem exhibere dignabitur, Tum magno mihi (Divinitus) injuncto, levatus ero onere: Tum magno, à veſtra magnificentia affectus beneficio: Interim verò, Dum ſuæ ſacræ Majeſtatis Cæſareæ ad iſtas reſponſum dabitur, (nimirum ſi ad 14. vel 16. dies prius expectandum eſſet) vel, ſtatim poſt acceptum reſponſum (ſi tam expeditè illud recipere poſſum, quam quod recepi ultimo) ad iter me accingere debeo, propter familiam, libros, & aliquam meam ſuppellectilem, huc (ante hyemis aſperitatem) transferendam. Ubi, cum Cæſareæ Majeſtatis gratioſo favore, & ſub ipſius Protectione Imperatoria, voluntatem Omnipotentis Dei implere, pro viribus, & ſuæ ſacræ Cæſareæ Majeſtati inſervire (tanquam ejuſdem Philoſophus & Mathematicus) fideliſſime, de tempore in tempus, paratus eſſe potero.

Illuſtri veſtræ Magnificentiæ

Addictiſſimus

Joannes Dee.

I annexed hereunto a Poſt-ſcript, which followeth:

Poſt-ſcriptum.

MEarum eſſe partium, & conſultum eſſe duxi veſtræ Magnificentiæ pauciſſimis verbis ſignificare, quod heri, manè, hora nona, vir egregius, & ſuæ Majeſtis Cæſareæ fidus Conſiliarius D. Doctor Curtzius, me humaniſſimè inviſebat in meo ergaſtulo, & hypocauſtato, juxta Bethlehem, ubi videre poterat Bibliothecam preſentem meam, nullam (ferè) aliam eſſe, præter Sancta Dei Evangelia & Biblia ſacra ipſoſque noſtrorum myſteriorum libros: Ego autem quodam humili modo (inter cæteras querelas meas) de tam longa interpoſita mora conquerebar, inter ejuſdem (de meis rebus) factam relationem, & Cæſareum de eiſdem recipiendum reſponſum. Ille verò ſe ſimpliciſſimè Cæſareæ Majeſti viſa auditaque (penes me) retuliſſe aſſeruit, nullo ſuo, de eiſdem, adhibito judicio. Verum, Cæſari (dixit) quaſi impoſſibilia vel incredibilia fuiſſe viſa. Et de reſponſo mihi (in hac parte) dando, ſecum, adhuc, ſuam deliberare velle Majeſtatem Cæſaream. Unde ego de literis meis iſtis, ſuæ Majeſti mittendis, mentionem feci & ſummatim earundem tenorem, eidem enarravi. Ille eaſdem ſtatim habere voluit, ipſi Cæſareæ Majeſtati à Meridie mittendas: Ego quidem Cæſaris me velle ad pauculos dies expectare adventum dixi. Deinde de rebus Mathematicis breviſſime inter nos habito ſermone, illique (ad pervidendum) dato libello quodam Geometrico (per me & Federicum Commandinum Urbinatem) in lucem olim dato, & mutuis, poſt, utrinque promiſſis officiis humanitatis & benevolentiæ, abiit.

1584. Sept. 28.

Saturday, Septemb. 29. Die Sancti Michaelis.

The foreſaid Letter to the Emperours Majeſty, with this Letter to the Ambaſſadour, and this Poſt-ſcript: And moreover, (according to the Ambaſſadour his requeſt) the Copy of the Emperours Letter, all in one uttermore paper cloſed (Letter like) ſealed, and with ſuperſcription to the foreſaid Ambaſſadour; I ſent to his honour on Michaelmas day at dinner time, by Emericus Sontag: Who delivered the ſame to the Secretary of the Ambaſſadour, and he to the Lord Ambaſſadour, as he ſat at dinner.

Deus bene vertat, ad laudem nominis ſui. Amen.

September 29.

Remember that this day (after-noon) I ſent Hugh on foot with my Letters to Cracovia to Edmond, that my folk ſhould not be out of quiet, or afeard to ſee Miſtreſſe Kelly, ſent for, and no Letters to come from me, &c. I writ to the Lord Laskie of our want of money, &c.

Monday, Octobris 1. à Meridie circa 3. horam. Pragæ.

Oratione dominica finita, &c. Valde citò eſt facta apparitio.

E. K. Here be two, one his face is covered, and the other is not: And he, whoſe face is uncovered ſeemeth to be Gabriel. Uriel. Gabriel.

△. Sit benedictus Deus Pater, Deus filius, & Deus Spiritus Sanctus nunc & Semper. Amen.

△. Our chief cauſe (at this inſtant) why we reſort to this ſhew-ſtone, is for to underſtand (according to the grounds of God his promiſe) the ſtate of my wife her grievous diſeaſe, and means to cure her, wherein if it pleaſe the Lord to be mercifull unto her and me, it ſhall be the occaſion whereby ſhe will all her life time praiſe the name of God for his mercies, and be of a quietter minde, and not ſo teſty and fretting as ſhe is. Jane uxoris meæ morbus periculoſas.

...... Who are you, or from whence come you, that you require ſcience; which ſeek to be more wiſe and expert, then ſuch as are the Children and Doctors of this World? whoſe judgements are Gabriel.

raſh, and underſtanding naked : and in whoſe lips dwelleth no truth. Who (I ſay) are you , that you ſhould deſerve the majeſtral benefit of ſo great and ſanctified grace ? as to underſtand the determination of God, the power of his Angels , or the brightneſſe, or obſcurity of mans Soul, and underſtanding : You deſperate ſinners, and partakers with the wicked , how can you ſeek bread at your fathers hands : when you ſeek to ſteal into his barnes? Yea , into his houſe , and dining Tables : and more then that ; yea , even into his privy Chambers : not to ſpoyl him of his houſhold ſtuffe, of his Gold , or precious ſtones , but of the diademe, and Crown of his everlaſting Majeſty and honour : you are thieves and robbers; and through the Dignity of your ſpirit you ſhall think to exalt your ſelves, and to live in Majeſty with the world.

The robbing God of his honour.

True it is, you may live ſo : But you live with an Harlot, and ſhall poſſeſſe the reward of Fornicators and Adulterers.

Therefore ſeek not to feed of ſuch food, as the holy, and bleſſed meſſengers , and Miniſters of the God of Hoſts and glory do taſte of : and are comforted ; for they are the ſpirits of truth and underſtanding : ſuch as cleave unto their God, and fight againſt the abominations , and horrible blaſphemies of the world and her adherents : which (becauſe you ſet your ſelves againſt them) ſhall keep, and cloſe up the brightneſſe, and obſcurity of each Soul from you, that your ignorance may be greater; and your darkneſſe thicker, and that you may return without light : to the Barathrum of ignorance, where pride , ſelf-love, and the Children of vanity have their habitation.

Boni Angeli Dei.

Animarum ſplendor vel obſcuritas.

Superbia philautia vanitas.

Then (peradventure) will you ſay within your ſelves : There be other doors, there be other woods ; yea, there be other wayes , let us therefore ſeek out them.

But behold, I will ſhut up from you all Elemental Vigor : So that the Fountains of coagulation ſhall be dried when you ſeek them, and the natural nouriſhment and food of parts that dwell in one proportion ſhall hide themſelves , and be aſleep when you ſeek them; yea, in the loweſt I will place a threefold door-bar, ſtronger then a Rock of yearn , which ſhall ſtand between your eyes and knowledge , and you ſhall not ſee : for peradventure you may ſay in your ſelves.

Vigor Elementalis.

Coagulatio.

Pabula.

Behold, there is a ſcience known ; yea, there is a conjunction of [△] equal qualities, opening unto us the myſteries of comfort in infirmities, that is not ſo. O you fooliſh : for neither here, nor there, ſhall you finde the Lord, if you follow the ſteps, and defiled wayes that the world teacheth you.

△. Fortè lapis philoſophorum intelligitur. If.

For I ſaid of you : Lo , I will place you againſt the world , that my name may be magnified , and the world ſhall hate you for my ſake.

Nos mundi Inimici eſſe debemus, & mundus nos odio proſequitur propter Deum.

△. O Lord, be mercifull unto us : Deal, O Lord, with us, as I have put my truſt in thee: Turn away thy wrath (O God) and viſit us in mercy : O God, O Lord , what grievous ſayings are theſe ?

Gabriel. ..... Trouble [△] thou not thy heart, but hear the voyce of me, Gabriel, the man of God. I am the true medecine of ſuch as put their truſt in the God of Hoſts, and in his ſon Chriſt ; which is the Lamb of life, and the comfort of his father, which give unto thoſe that thirſt, the true medecine of comfort and conſolation ; neither ſhall God forſake thee , neither ſhall thy Soul be deceived.

Gabriel. Miſericordia Dei ſuper △.

But it behoveth theſe things to be ſpoken, that ſin might be corrected, and the name of him that ſent us, magnified.

Nota cauſam acerbæ increpationis iſtius.

Gabriel. Hear my voice : as I ſaid unto thee , ſo will I place thee here. And from hence thou ſhalt have ſcience and underſtanding, and thou ſhalt be favourable in the eyes of him, that I favour not : that my glorie might be exalted in him, and againſt his childiſhneſſe. Yet, I will be mercifull to him ; yet if he hear me. E. L.

Here placing.

△. In nomine Dei loquitur, qui per omnes Angelos loquitur : licet enim Uriel dixerit vel alius , tamen Deus ſemper loquitur.

Rudolphus adhuc Miſericordiæ capax.

...... Unto thee [E. K.] I ſay, (O thou that art a worldling) I will ſtir up friends amongſt you , and I will fill thy hands with that thou deſireſt : But that thou receiveſt in the one, I will pluck back in the other, that when thou wouldeſt be wiſe, thou ſhalt not, and when thou wouldeſt ſee, thou ſhalt not.

A voyce from an uncertain place. There were ſome wicked tempters vexing E. K. from hearing quietly.

E. K.

△. E. K. Was very much offended at theſe ſharp words , &c. and would have left off, &c.

Uriel. ..... Inobediens es, & caſtigatione dignus.

Gabr. ..... *As for the vertue of the holy ſpirit * (ſpoken of) the gift of medecine , and healing (which you call Phyſick) Alas, you know not.*

* Sept. 21. in fine.

Inſa-

Inſani ſunt omnes , & fatui : For, Phyſick is in very deed, the true , and perfect ſcience of the natural combination, and proportion of known parts, anſwering in graduation real , to one principal and defined ; is therefore above the capacity of ſuch as are worldlings, and do hunt after money more then the truth of Gods ſpirit.

Definitio Medicinæ. Medicina eſt vera & perfecta ſcientia naturalis combinationis, & proportionis partium notarum debito modo reſpondentium in graduatione reali ad unum principale, & definitum eſſe.

Uriel as a witneſſe ſtanding by.

But lo, light ſtandeth by me, and my words are medicine : and whatſoever I ſpeak, light beareth witneſſe of me : Therefore are my words true.

…… Have patience awhile. △. He diſappeared.

△. We examined the definition of Phyſick to be a very apt anſwering, both to the Anatomical natures of man, or any patient, and alſo of the Herb, or ſimple, that is medicinal , &c.

△. He came again and proceeded.

Gab. …. Which conſiſteth of two parts, the knowledge of cæleſtial radiation (the cauſe of [1] combining) and of Elemental vigor, the ſtay, and cauſe of [2] proportion.

Radiatio cæleſtis, vigor elementalis.

The firſt, and cæleſtial is threefold, that is to ſay, from God, from the Angels , from mans Soul.

The ſecond (that is to ſay Elemental) is the knowledge of the ſtar [1] coagulating ; of the [2] pabula of the parts nouriſhed, of the [3] conjunction of like qualities.

(Here is the true Art of Phyſick.)

This ſecond is threefold.

After a while I come again.

△. He is come again, and proceeded.

Gab. …… Go to.

△. In the name of Jeſus.

Gab. …… Then you are diſeaſed, you are ſick : you muſt have a Phyſitian : why then, your Phyſitian muſt be ſuch as hath this Science, to judge your diſeaſe,

Whether (for ſin) it come from God : and ſo by prayer to be cured ; Deus 1.

Or from the Angels, as the Miniſters of Gods Juſtice (generally) for deſert or for reproof : Angelus 2.

Or from the ſoul of man, as from the chief life of the body , whoſe infection radically, and by the influence of proportions immediate, (hidden from man, but known unto us,) is called (with us) Mazah : with you, Impietas.

Anima hominis, 3. Infectio animæ. Impietas.

Theſe are the firſt three , and Magicall Cauſes : The other three are Elementall.

Tres magicæ cauſæ.

1. Either by the ſtar, that is cauſe of coagulation and imbibing of mans ſperm in the femine blood, without the which it could not. Stella. 1.

2. The other (that is the ſecond) through infection of meates which are divers , wherewith the thing is, [and] continueth, which in their kinds are many. Cibus. 2.

3. The laſt, by conjunction or mixture : which is the ſecret property that draweth infection from man to man. Mixtio. 3.

Theſe if you know (for he is no Phyſitian if he know them not) how they are and live, and are joyned together in their proportions, and alſo when they exceed, or are diminiſhed, in that they are you ſhall be able to bring them to their proper being , wherein they are ratified and rejoyce.

Attractio morborum contagioſorum.

[△. He was away a quarter of an hour.]

Gab. ….. Lo, theſe are ſeeds and foundations : and here I have (according to my property) touched the leaſt of my ſtrings for you.

If now you intend to excell the Phyſitians of the Earth, and to help thoſe that are diſeaſed, ſincerely, truly, and through the power and mercy of God ;

Medicina vera.

Then muſt you attend upon me, and my expoſitions, for forty dayes, wherein I will open unto you, many and unknown ſecrets ; and will comfort you with this one herb or branch of my Garden, to the intent you may perceive I am true Gabriel.

40. Dayes. True Gabriel: verus Gabriel.

But as in you that are hearers, due obedience ought to be, ſo muſt I keep the Authority and gravity of a Schoolmaſter, ſuffering none to hear my Doctrine, but ſuch as are abſtinent and cleanſed from their ſins.

Abſtinentes & purgati à peccatis.

Conſider therefore, what the mercies of God are, the fruit and value of this Doctrine, and the naked-

Reſponſum votum. nakedneſſe and neceſſity of the world that requireth it, and then anſwer me.

Auxilium & conſolatio Dei. For your anſwer is a vow unto the Lord, of whoſe help and comfort I bear witneſſe.

Janæ uxoris meæ morbus periculoſus. But as touching thy wife, her diſeaſe is in the firſt Elemental, and very dangerous, and threatneth her child, yea and her ſelf death.

△. Lord, therefore I reſort unto thee, who art the Curer of all dieaſes.

Gab. ...... But to morrow (if thou reſort here,)

I will tell thee, what it is, and will define of it.

Lord, I truſt, it ſhall be cured: What is unpoſſible unto our God?

Gab. ...... I ceaſe.

△. Inceſſant praiſe and honour, be unto the Almighty, moſt bountiful, and wiſe God, the Lord of Hoſts, our God and King.

Amen.

Remember I ſent letters to Cracow by the Meſſager of Prage:

Tueſday, Octobris 2. Mane hora 9. † Pragæ.

△. Orationibus finitis, ad Deum, &c. Deus in adjutorium noſtrum intende, &c.

E. K. Here they be.

△. Gratia Dei, patris, & filii, & Spiritus Sancti, ſit ſuper nos nunc & ſemper & in ſæcula ſæculorum. Amen.

△. They pauſed, before they ſpake, very long.

△. Perhaps they expect our anſwer, as concerning our cleanſing and abſtaining from ſins: Herein I crave at Gods hands his grace and mercy, and intend and deſire both to be purged, and alſo to abſtain not onely 40 dayes, but all my life, to the beſt of my ability, &c.

Gab. ...... Puris habemus omnia, Immundis nihil.

△. I beſeech you for God his ſake, & per viſcera miſericordiæ Altiſſimi, that you would declare unto us a certain remedy of my wife her diſeaſe, &c.

☉ Verus.

Gabr. ...... When thy wife was a milkie ſubſtance, growing by the perfection of the place, and influence radical, (which onely, is the gift of the Sun) then, was not the Matrix, or bag of Nature (wherein ſhe encreaſed) perfect, or of ſufficient retention: By reaſon of a feaver going before the conception: So that, the Angelical adminiſtration, generally containing, the veſſel of life, for the proportion of the world, * entred by force of their Order immediately, before the [△] inward parts, were eſtabliſhed in their nutriment and proportion.

Febri laborabat Mater uxoris ante conceptionem. * For, ſo, the ſoul is ſent in, to △. Of Jane my wife.

Which is the cauſe, that the ſecond * veſſel, and loweſt of nature (for, your terms I muſt uſe) is ſo thin, and tyed ſhort, that it is not able to keep in, or retain, the ſimile and quidditie of her own ſubſtantial being and ſeed.

* Forſan, vaſa ſeminaria.

Wherefore, when the reſt of her digeſtions (according to her age and natural ſtrength) fulfil their offices, by degree to be received into that receptacle; then, doth the force of nature quail: and by the ſubtilty of the principle, or matter ejected, (which ſeeketh to take up on every center a dwelling place,) the guts and paſſages, are offended and ſcalded with an intemperate heat: the moſt ſubtile and ſharpeſt part, being of a moſt penetrating vertue: (and therefore ſeeking paſſage) mixeth her ſelf with the excrements, where reſting, ſhe turneth unto her firſt form, which is blood: Whoſe Quinteſſence worketh, in her own property and beginning, and forceth the [1] excrement ſtercoral many times to become bloody, the other part being more heavy, notwithſtanding unapt to deſcend, (Quia natura quærit omne ſuum) becometh corrupted; and ſo by vertue of nature, is caſt out as an [2] excrement, being blood and matter.

She } he } it.

Excrementa bina.

But I tell thee, that ſo long as Nature was in the loweſt degree, and the ſperm kept more near together, by reaſon of the ſpiritual heat in youth, it was not faulty in her:

But in her ſixteenth year, when they were more heavy and ſought iſſue and deſcenſion, then began Nature to feel the effect, in the places, and veſſel, which is the ground of her retention, the chief baſis and mother of her dwelling.

Spiritus caloris. The breathing or vapouring heat.

Behold now, being fætive, and the force of heat drawn to the nutriment of the Creature; Moreover the other part Active compelled into a nearer place, by the impediment of imagination, bringeth great danger now, by reaſon that Nature is become very weak, and not able to make excremental expulſion.

Uxor jam prægnans eſt. Imagination.

But

But doſt thou think that there is a remedy to this diſeaſe?

△. Yea verily, through the wiſdom and mercies of the Higheſt.

Gabr. …… I have taught the diſeaſe; I will go and ſee if there be a remedy.

△. The God of Abraham, Iſaac, and Jacob, be merciful to my wife and me, and ſend her remedy and cure of her grief.

E. K. Here he is.

Gab. …… Come again after Diner.

△. We had been ſent for to diner, twice or thrice before. So we went.

△. Miſericordiæ Dei ſint ſuper nos. Amen.

After Diner, circa horam 1.

△. We reſorted to the Myſtery: and ſhortly, they appeared both.

E. K. Here they be both.

△.

Gab. …… Take pure wheat, a pinte: one Pheaſant-Cock alive, an eleven ounces of Maſculine Amber (which is the white Amber) an ounce and a quarter of Turpentine.

The phyſical remedy.

△. Of waſhed Turpentine?

Gab. …… Turpentine that is waſhed loſeth his vertue.

Break the Cock in pieces with a peſtel, (his feathers pluckt off) pound the Amber ſmall.

Put all this into a gallon of red wine.

△. May we take the red wine of this Country?

Gab. …… I. Diſtill them, with a fire of the ſecond heat.

[△. I beſeech you, how long ſhall they ſtand in ſteep?

Gab. …… As thou wilt.]

Still it again the ſecond time, (the feces being caſt away) And adde ſomething more to the fire, ſo that it be a quarter toward the third.

Let her faſt forty hours from meat: And let her divide the Medicine into three parts.

The firſt part, let her drink (being milk-warm) by little and little.

The ſecond part, let her make a ſawce of, for five or ſix meales.

The laſt part, let her uſe in Abſconditis: And ſhe ſhall have health.

△. I beſeech you, in how many dayes compaſs would you have this to be done?

Gab. …… It is no queſtion: the neceſſity of the thing teacheth.

△. As concerning the Infant, what ſtate is it in?

Gab. …… Shut thy mouth: Seek not.

△. I am contented.

△. As concerning a Pheaſant-Cock, I know not how or where to get it.

Gab. …… All the creatures of the world, elſe, help not. I have taught, take thou care.

△. The thanks, honour, and praiſe, be to the Higheſt, and I thank you for your charity and good will, to impart theſe things unto me.

Gab. …… You ſhall have no more, at me, until you be repentant, and reconciled: and are made apt for my School.

Pœnitentia, Reconciliatio.

E. K. You might give this Table vertue to cure her, or cure her with ſome one thing, or ſimple, if you be good Angels.

Gab. …… Unto us, the vertue of Gods Creatures are known: which we may open unto you: and the power of giving vertue is in God: Therefore ceaſe thy malitious tongue.

I have no more.

E. K. His malitious tongue againſt God his good Angels.

E. K. They are gone.

△. Deo Omnipotenti, Optimo & Maximo ſit omnis laus honor & gloria: nunc & ſemper. Amen.

Thurſday, Octobris 4. Mane, hora 10.¼ circiter. † Pragæ.

Orationibus variis ad Deum, & pro pane quotidiano jam in tempore neceſſitatis, finitis, &c. apparitio facta eſt.

E. K. Here is he, that is covered with the Scarf.

Uriel. …… Hear, O thou, [△] that ſayeſt, (if I have put my truſt in thee) hear me, If that thou hadſt taried at home, and wanted my admoniſhment, thy children had been ſcattered, thy wife had ended her dayes with ſorrow: and lo, the birds of the air had reſted on thy carkaſe. If thou waſt held by the hand, and attended on, by heavenly Pilots, when the Seas would have ſwallowed thee, and Satan had power over thee; If poiſon had prevailed, wherewith thy meat was often times ſawced. If the continual rage of Satan and the world had overthrown thee. Then had not I been thy God, neither had done well unto thee. But out of all theſe I have led thee, as a father doth his

△. It was a parcel of my prayers to God

△. Miſericordias Domini in æternum cantabo, qui me ſub alis ſuis illæſum ſervavit, ſervat, & ſervabit.

child

If.

child from danger, And from many more ſcourges and adverſities unknown to thee, but ready to afflict thee. Hitherto, thou ſayeſt unto me, If : What haſt thou done for me, or added unto my name? What haſt thou loſt that I have not given thee? or what canſt thou have, that I pluck back? Hear my voice. He that loveth the world, loveth not me; for what I do I do: and what I am, I am: And I made nothing without a cauſe. Thou haſt not yet begged for my name, neither haſt been impriſoned for my ſake; But I have turned the priſon from thee, and have opened unto thee my myſteries. I ſay unto thee, I am the beginning, and an undefiled Spirit, and there is no riches that is without me. If I ſhould not ſuffer thee to be proved, Then were thou not for me; For, thoſe that are mine, taſte tribulation: But when Satan hath ſpent his whip; If thou be found faithful, I will place my covenant with thee and thy children, And I will be revealed unto them, unto the end of the world. Silver and Gold I give not; But my bleſſing, is above the ſubſtance of the Earth. Dayes there be, that thou muſt drink of gall, and a time cometh, when thou ſhalt drink wine. In the mean ſeaſon, thoſe that give unto thee, I will multiply all they have with bleſſing a thouſand fold; for thoſe that give unto thee, I will give unto them; And thoſe that pluck back from thee, I will alſo pluck back from them. Thoſe that are of me, have no ſpot; for I am all beauty.

Probatio.
Satans whips are long in ſpending.
Fel bibendum, Deinde vinum. Interim.

E. K. But will you give us meat, drink, and cloathing?

*O Kelly, Kelly,

Paulus ad Cor. Epiſt. 1. cap. 15. verſu 51. & 52 Ecce myſterium vobis dico: Non omnes quidem obdormiemus: ſed omnes mutabimur: momento & jactu oculi, &c. *

The Commiſſion, and manner of propheſying againſt the incredulous.

* There ſhall come a time, (if you dwell together and love me) that in the twink of an eye, you ſhall breath your laſt, and live again: and I will kick under my feet all the proud Nations of the Earth:: for my day is at hand. But I am a jealous God: Be therefore faithful. If I ſend thee forth, and they hear thee not: or meaſure thee, as a ſhadow, at noon dayes, Go unto the mountains and take up ſtones and break them in pieces with a mighty peſtel, caſt them againſt the windes, and into the four parts of the Earth. And ſay, Thus and thus be it unto them: Thus and thus let the Lord work for me: and thy propheſie ſhall be true, and it ſhall come to paſſe that thou ſayeſt.

Confirmation of the Propheſie.

So likewiſe if they hear thee, do unto them, that my bleſſing may alſo be known.

The manner of bleſſing Prophetical.

Δ. Lord, what ſhall I do, if they hear me?

Uriel. ...... Do unto them the ſigns of good; as it ſhall come into thy mind.

I come again.

E. K. He is gone.

Δ. I thank thee O God, for this great comfort: my heart is greatly refreſhed therewith: Thou art my God.

Δ. We read over the premiſſes.

E. K. He is here again.

E.K. Intending to depart, and I not knowing.

Why doſt thou [E.K.] ſeek to flee from me, and ſecretly puttest into thy heart, &c.

Δ. He ſpake divers things to E. K. which chiefly concerned himſelf: and he would not utter them as now: But he told me, That he was determined to have ſold his cloths, and with as much ſpeed as he could, with his wife, to have gone to Hamburgh, and ſo to England, &c. If his wife would not go, that he would.

Uriel. ...... Hear me, There is not any one, more ſtrong, more rich, or more friendly, than I, &c.

Δ. He ſpake much again to E. K. of himſelf, which he expreſſed not.

E. K. It is true, I will follow God; but I doubt that you are not of God.

My wife not to go now to Cracow.

Uriel. ...... I will ſhew you the water: do what you liſt. I ſay unto thee [Δ] Take not thy wife Jane with thee, leaſt thou have a new ſorrow.

Three of you ſhall go, The fourth, [T. K.] (which is [E. K.] his brother) ſhall be a ſervant to his houſe.

Uriel our Houſe-keeper.

I can well keep it.

A. L.
Againſt Laskie his enemies as in the former practice was taught.

But when thou comeſt into Poland, be not known. Lead out Lasky by the hand, and bring him hither, and propheſie againſt his enemies, that I may break them in pieces: and may be mindful of my Covenant.

He hath much need of Counſel.

I am with you.

E. K. He is diſappeared.

Δ. Deo noſtro, Domino noſtro & Sanctificatori noſtro Omnipotenti, æterno, & miſericordi ſit omnis laus, gratiarum actio, honor & gloria nunc & ſemper.

Amen.

Friday,

Fryday, Octobris 5.

At afternoon came one of Doctour Curtz his ſervants from his Maſter to tell me, that his Maſter would come to me to morrow in the morning about ſeven, eight, or nine of the Clock, as I would, &c.

Saturday, Octobris 6. Manè.

Before ſeven of the Clock I thought good rather my ſelf to go to Doctour Curtz, then to ſuffer him to come to me ſo far, and that for divers cauſes: So I went to him, and I came before he was ready. At his being ready he came forth, but nothing with ſo chearfull a countenance to welcome me as he did at the firſt: I conjectured that he ſuſpected that I would take his words in evil part, which he had to ſay to me from the Emperour, which (after I had ſomewhat ſpoken of the book that I lent him, and ſome other, that had written ſomewhat of ſuch matter of diviſion of ſuperficies, and he had told me that this my book was the moſt excellent in that Argument, and ſo made a pauſe, he began in this ſort in two parts to divide his ſpeech, and ſaid that Cæſarea ſua Majeſtas quantum ad ſua peccata (per me reprehenſa) ſolet Confeſſionarium adhibere tempore & loco opportunis, neque diffidere illum de Miſericordia divina; Quantum autem ad me attinebat, paratam eſſe ſuam Cæſaream Majeſtatem mihi gratificari & benefacere in quacumque re quæ illius ſubjiceret Authoritati: I hereupon anſwered, and ſaid: Doleo verba mea in alio ſenſu intellecta vel concepta fuiſſe à ſua Cæſarea Majeſtate quàm intelligi vel concipi debebant. Non enim me ejus fieri Confeſſionarium cupiebam, ſed peccata ejus ex cœlo reprehenſa fuiſſe, hoc illi ſignificare jubebar, ut feci: unde ille conſolationis plus haurire poterat, quam ex conſiliis alicujus ſui amici vel Confeſſionarii ſui, peccata ejus redarguentis, Domini enim Dei eximium declarabat favorem, &c. Quantum verò ad illam quam mihi offerebat ſua Majeſtas Cæſarea gratiam, humillimè acceptabam. Non verò quod deſiderem titulo Philoſophi & Mathematici Cæſarei inſigniri cauſa eſt multiplex; tum reſpectu ſecreti mei ſervitii erga Cæſarem, ſub eo prætextu celandi quam majoris authoritatis & favoris apud Cæſarianos & Anglos meos, ne vel illis hic nugas agere videar, & nullius eſſe æſtimationis, vel iis etiam viderer aptus, contra quem ſuam invidiam & maledicentiſſimam, ut incepere, exercerent linguam impune, &c. Orabam igitur D. Curtzium ut Cæſaream ſuam Majeſtam admoneret de indebita interpretatione illorum verborum quibus vitia ejus redarguebantur, &c Then he ſpake of the ſecond Letters to the Emperour, the effect whereof he had heard at my hands, and had ſent on Michaelmas even to the Emperours Majeſty, a note and adviſe of them, as he now ſaid. And did wiſh that they had been delivered before the Emperour had reſolved on the former anſwer: Thoſe Letters (ſaid I) are in the Ambaſſadours of Spain's hands; and if he will not deliver them to day, I will fetch them for you: if you do (ſaid he) I will deliver them ſtraight way, for at eighth of the Clock you ſhall have me in the Ritter ſtove, or hear of me there. Then (ſaid I) I will ſtraight way go to the Ambaſſadour.

I went unto the Ambaſſadour of Spain, and reported all that had paſſed between me and D. Curtz. He ſaid that by reaſon of his divers affairs he had not good opportunity, never ſince the receipt of my Letters to go to the Emperours Majeſty: But that this day he determined to deliver my Letters with his own hand unto his Majeſty: ſo with thanks given to his honour I departed: I went to the Ritter ſtove (or Chamber of preſence) where I found none of the Guard, but very many ſitting without. In the ſtove were three, or four, of which one went ſtraight way into the privy Chamber, and by and by D. Curtz came out from the Emperour unto me, I asked him if he had told the Emperour of my grief conceived of his miſunderſtanding my words: he ſaid, I, and that the Emperour took it not in evil part, and ſo of divers other things we had talk walking up and down together about a quarter of an hour: Among other things I told him that the Lord Ambaſſadour would deliver my Letters himſelf to the Emperours Majeſty, ſo I departed, and he returned back to the Emperour into the privy Chamber.

Sunday, Octobris 7. Mane hora 7.

I ſent to the Lord Ambaſſadour his houſe, and there I learned that the Ambaſſadour had yeſterday delivered my Letter to his Majeſty: And that anſwer was to be expected by D. Curtz.

After Dinner I went to Doctor Curtz home to his lodging, and he had nothing as yet to ſay of the Letter delivered by the Lord Ambaſſadour: But we fell to other talk, and I told him plainly, that I had not hitherto lived obſcurely, neither without care of my good fame and name, maintaining, and increaſing; therefore if here for my ſincere dealing I ſhould ſeem to be deſpiſed, or not regarded, or to be but a trifler, my thought I ſhould have great injury: And ſure I was that the Emperours Majeſty was much ruled by him, and as he did frame his judgement, ſo did his Majeſty very oft reſolve in ſuch matters as mine; wherefore if I were not uſed in my cauſes as was reaſonable, and for the Emperours honour it ſhould not be laid to any other mans charge but to his, &c. He promiſed that he would deliver all in the beſt words he could, in friendly ſort, &c. After this he ſhewed divers his labours and inventions, Mathematical, and chiefly Arithmetical Tables, both for his invention by ſquares to have the minute and ſecond of obſervations Aſtronomical, and ſo for the mending of Nonnius his invention of the Quadrant dividing in 90. 91. 92. 93. &c. I then opened to him my ſecret of my glaſſe, for battering in a dark night, &c. He ſaid that concluſion would be very acceptable to his Majeſty, I told him that the glaſſe was at Cracovia, and his Majeſty ſhould ſee it by Gods leave.

were

After this I told him that I would full fain have a Paſport, or ſafe conduct to paſſe quietly and ſafely in any of the Emperours Dominions. He thought his Majeſty would willingly grant that, and willed me to write three, or four lines as I would have it, and he informed me thus:

Cæſaream ſuam Majeſtatem humillimè orat Joannes Dee Anglus, ſereniſſimæ ſuæ Majeſtatis Devotiſſimus ſervitor, ut pro ſua majori in Itineribus per ampliſſimum ſuæ Cæſareæ Majeſtatis Imperium conficientis ſecuritate, literas ſalvi paſſus ſibi concedere dignaretur.

Joannes Dee.

At my coming home, I bethought me that I would gladly, the ſaid Paſport, ſafe Conduct, or Letters of paſſage, more ample and beneficial; as for my wife, children, family, ſervants, and goods whatſoever, and for one whole year to dure from the date of theſe preſents thus.

Wedneſday, On Monday morning 8. Octobris.

Sacram ſuam Cæſaream Majeſtatem humillimè orat, ſereniſſimæ ſuæ Majeſtatis Devotiſſimus ſervitor Joannes Dee Anglus, ut eidem Joanni pro ſeipſo, uxore ſua, liberis ſuis, familia ſua, ſervitoribus, Ancillis ſuis & ſuppellectili ſua quacunque ſua ſacra Cæſarea Majeſtas favorabiles & gratioſas ſuas literas ſalvi quieti & liberi tranſitus per omnes & quaſcumque ampliſſimi Majeſtatis ſuæ Cæſareæ Imperii partes viaſque, & pro integri anni (proximè poſt datam præſentium ſequentis) tempore quocumque, clementèr concedere dignaretur.

Anno 1584. Oct. 8. Joannes Dee.

Monday, Octobris 8.

I went to Mr. Doctor Curtz, with theſe laſt Letters fair written, and I found him to be at the Hoff rate Camer in Counſel: and ſo awaiting till they roſe (half an hour after 8. of the Clock) he came out with my Letters in his hand, which I left yeſternight with him. I ſhewed him theſe laſt written: And he ſaid they uſe to limit no time, but to make them indefinite. So he took the laſt, and I had the former Letters back again. He went with them into the privy Chamber, he ſaid, I ſhould not need to ſend for the Letters, but he would ſend them home by his man, and I went from him toward the Ambaſſadour Don Gulielmo de Sancto Clemente, whom I found coming with the Ambaſſadour of Spain (who came three, or four dayes before, to give the golden Fleeſe to the Emperour) and the Marſhall of the Court to go to the Emperour preſently to have audience: And as I ſtood in the Court of the Ambaſſadours lodging, and they three on horſ-back coming, the Ambaſſadour my friend did put off his Cap, ſo did the new Ambaſſadour and Marſhal twice very courteouſly to me. I ſaw it was no time to offer ſpeech to the Ambaſſadour; now of my giving thanks, taking leave, and requiring his pleaſure toward the Lord Laskie: ſo following them to the Court, I paſſed forward home toward my Lodging.

Myſteriorum PRAGENSIUM Confirmatio,

Anno, 1585. Januarii 14.

PRAGÆ

Iterum veni Pragam ultimo Decembris, ANNO, 1585.

✝ NOTE. Anno 1584.

ANNO, 1584, Decembris 20, (Stylo Gregoriano) we did ſet forth, I, Maſter Kelly, Rowland my Infant, with his Nurſe, and John Crokar, (in a Coach with Horſe, which I had bought of Maſter Frizer) from Cracovia toward Prage.

PRAGE.

Decembris 30. We came to Prage in the afternoon.

December 31. I wrote to Don Gulielmo de Sancto Clement, the Spaniſh Ambaſſador, as followeth; ILluſtriſſime & magnifice Heros, Licet mea nondum privata curaverim negocia: pro quibus ordinandis, multos interim dum hinc abſuerim, & labores pertulerim, & ſumptus fecerim: Tamen nolui literas ad veſtram magnificentiam, à Nobiliſſimo illo Domino Palatino Syradienſi miſſas in multas horas à reditu meo retinere penes me: Ne aliqua ex parte, officio viderer deeſſe meo, tam erga veſtram magnificentiam, quam ipſum Dominum Palatinum. Quantum vero ad Myſteriorum incredibilium progreſſum, habeo & quæ dicam, & ſunt quæ audiam multa ad veritatis cauſam (invitiſſimis ejuſdem adverſariis quibuſcunque) elucidandum. De quibus quando opportunum erit, paratiſſimus ero, cùm audire, tùm audiri: eo quidem modo, quo ſinceritati & fidelitati meæ erga Cæſaream ſuam Majeſtatem erit convenientiſſimum. Interim aliquot dierum intervallum liberum requiro, ut tam ædes mihi meiſque conducam (ſi fieri poſſit) accommodas, quam ut alia, ad rem familiarem ſpectantia diſponam, Deus Optim. Max. Magnificentiam veſtram ornare beareque dignetur.

Pragæ ultima Decembris 1584.
Illuſtriſſimæ Magnificentiæ Veſtræ
Obſequentiſſimus,
A a Joannes Dee.

Anno 1585, PRAGÆ.

FRIDAY,

JAnuary 4. I hired the Houſe in the Salt-ſtreet, of the two Siſters: But Mr. Chriſtopher Chriſtian, who had long time been Chancelor, or Regiſter of old Pragæ, did make the Covenant or Bargain with me: he had Anne the one Siſter, to Wife, and the other Siſter named Dorothe, had   to her husband. This Dorothea dwelt in the Houſe, and was to remove to an other Houſe of her own hard by: and to deliver unto me and mine the whole Houſe, with all the appurtenances of roomes and eaſements, and I to pay for the year 70 Dollers: and that quarterly, (every 3 Moneths expired) to pay the quarters rent thereof.

JAnuary 6. I wrote to D. Jacob Curtius: One of the Emperours Privy Counſayle, of whom the former Records of Prage Actions do make abundant mention: And a letter of his written to me the 8th. day of October Anno 1584, is beginning of the Book next written before this. The Copy of the letter which I wrote now, is this.

Illuſtri & Magnifico viro D° Jacobo Curtio ſacræ Ceſareæ Majeſtatis ab arcanis Conſiliis, Domino meo plurimum colendo.

ILluſtris & magnifice vir. Majorine gaudio affici debeam ex bona veſtra valetudine, & ſalvo meo ad Pragam reditu: an ex contumeliis hic interim dum abfuerim, contra me confictis, & variis ejaculatis reprehenſionibus & quaſi nimis, dolore torqueri, penè incertum videri poſſit. Ego quod ſtatui, hactenus feci: ſuppellectilem ſcilicet ex Cracovia meam cum tota familia mea, huc jam adduci curavi; cum magnis quidem laboribus meis; & ſumptibus haud modicis. Ædes (ex quo jam veni) tales quales, etiam cum aliqua difficultate, conduxi. Et hac preſenti ſeptimana, omnia hic noſtra ad eaſdem citiſſime transferri, remque familiarem, & Oeconomicam, quodam craſſo modo diſponi, negociorum meorum requirit ratio. Interim veſtram magnificentiam enixe oratam habere velim, ne ullo modo ægrè ferat, quod eandem nondum inviſerim, officioque meo, in hac parte, accuratè ſatisfecerim ſpero, quòd una mecum ſentire velitis, jure merito in proverbium hoc abiiſſe dictum.

Satis citò, modò ſatis benè.

Non ſolum literæ ad me veſtræ, in abitu meo, mihi magno interim fuere ſolatio o: Sed & abſente me, ſæpe teſtificata bona veſtra de me concepta opinio magno me delinivit gaudio: de contumeliis igitur, & literis veſtris, & veram de me opinione, ſive judicio, cùm opportunum fuero nactus ocyum (predictis negociis meis confectis) veſtræ magnificentiæ adero, ut aliquid dicam: & paratiſſimus futurus, ut omnia quæ potero faciam, quò vobis & poſteritati conſtet, fideliter & ſincere (prout ſtatueram) ad ſacræ ſuæ Ceſareæ Majeſtatis, ægregia ſervitia, animnm me applicaſſe meum.

Pragæ Januarii 6. Anno 1585.

+ Praga Anno 1585.

January 12.

Saturday Afternoon I removed clean from Doctor Hagek's his Houſe by Bedlem, and came with all my Houſhold to the Houſe which I had hired of the two Siſters (married) not far from the Market-place in old Praga.

January 14. Praga Actio prima, poſt reditum.

Monday Circa 9 horam à media nocte: Precibus ad Deum de more fuſis, & invocato lumine auxilióque Dei, ad ejuſdem veritatem intelligendam, & cum virtute tractandam, &c.

E. K. Here is △ one with a Vail afore his face, as it were, a Hair Cloth of Aſh-colour: I know him not yet: I ſee a Garden full of fruit, of divers ſorts. In the midſt of it is a place higher then the reſt. On that place ſtandeth a round Houſe, it hath four corners, [within] and 4 Windows: and every Window is round, and hath 4 round partitions, round alſo. It hath 4 Doores, and at the Eaſt Door is one ſtep, at the South 2 ſteps, and at the North 3, and at the Weſt Door, 4 ſteps: The firſt Door is white, like Chryſtal, tranſparent: The South Door is red of an high colour, tranſparent. The North Door is bright black, not to be thorough ſeen, as the reſt. The Weſt is green, like an Emerauld Stone: So is the South Door like a Ruby. The Doores be all plain. The Houſe within (as it may be judged by the tranſparent Doores) ſeemeth to be white, and empty.

△ LEVANAEL as may appear Febru. 5. poſt; ultima parte.

E. K Note, The Houſe is round without and ſquare within.

E. K. He that hath his face covered, openeth the Eaſt Door; and all the Houſe ſeemeth to be on fire, like a furnace. The fire within doth weve, and move about the Houſe, and by the roofe. Now he openeth the Weſt Door, and there appeareth, as if all the Houſe were a fountain full of water. And there run divers ſtreames, in the ſame one water, whereof, one doth go and come, as if it ebbed and flowed; which ſtream doth go about all the reſt, by the ſides of the Houſe, that is, as if it were the Ocean ſea compaſſing the World. The next ſtream, within that, moveth from the 4 ſides ward, and make (in manner) 4 Triangles, or rather Cones, of water, whoſe vertices reſt cut off (as it were) by the middle ſtream of water which occupieth the middle or Center of the Houſe, and is in circular form invironed.

1 Fire.

2 Water.

An other manner of ſtream there is, which commeth from the 4 corners of an innermoſt ſquare: and ſo run diametraliter or contradictorie wiſe, toward that circular middle ſtream.

The middle ſtream ſeemeth to iſſue out at the very Center of the place, and to mount up, and making an arch of his courſe, doth ſeem to fall circulariter in one circumference.

E. K. The fire alſo had diverſity in it.

△ I would you had noted the diverſity of the fires alſo.

...... Thoſe that learn truly, learn by parts.

E. K. The colour of the water in the Center, is moſt pure white.

The waters of that Saint Andrews Croſſe, are like a water ſomewhat Saffroniſh coloured. The waters of the Triangles, are ſomewhat like a watriſh blew, which appeareth moſt, in the top of the arches of their flowing:

For all ſpring otherwiſe.

The uttermoſt water, is of Quick-ſilver ſhew, as if it were ſomewhat mortified.

△ In the figure following, you may gather a better and more eaſie underſtanding of this Deſcription of the water ſtreams.

Here is a blank, or void ſpace in the Original Copie: but no figure.

E. K Now he openeth the Fire Door againe: And the fire appeareth in a ſquare place. And there appeare 4 fires filling the whole place, leaving nothing vaccuum.

One of theſe fires ſeemeth to riſe from the Center of the place; and to go in low arches to the 4 corners of the Houſe.

The Houſe ſeemeth to have 14 foot long in every ſide.

The arches of theſe fires ſeem to come from a trunk of fire, which riſeth from about the Center: and ſeemeth to be 4 foot over in the Diameter.

This Trunk ſeemeth to be high three quarters of the height of the place; The place ſeemeth to be as high as it is broad.

On the top of this fiery trunk, ſeemeth the fire to be in form of a fiery Globe, having 6 foot, his Diameter, which fire reverberateth and rolleth in it ſelf.

Here is a blank, or void ſpace in the Original Copie: but no figure.

From the ſides of the Trunk (between the ſaid Globe and foreſaid Arches,) goeth up fire Triangularly, filling all; ſaving that which remaineth filled, by the flames of fire, which ariſeth from the Globe to the 4 corners of the Houſe, filling all the place above the Globe: as by the figure annexed more plainly may appear.

E. K. Note The colour of the fire of the 4 arches, is very red; The reſt are very pure, Aërial, candent, &c.

The Motion of the trunk fire is ſwifteſt.

The Original Center of all theſe fires, ſeemeth to be very little.

E. K. Now he openeth the red Door.

3 Aire. The Houſe ſeemeth darkiſh, of colour of the ſmoak of a Wax Candle being put out.

...... By it ſelf, it is not, but by the Sunne, it is clear.

E. K. It hath 4 motions in it alſo: every one moving more ſwiftly then the other: All from the middle of the Houſe. Three of them move arch-wiſe to the ſides.

The firſt and ſecond ariſe to half the height of the place.

The third occupieth the other half.

The fourth goeth upright to the top of the Houſe.

The ſecond his ſpace (that he ſtriketh againſt on the Wall) is double to the ſpace of the Wall, againſt which the firſt ſmiteth.

Here is a blank, or void ſpace in the Original Copie: but no figure.

4 Earth. E. K. Now he openeth the black bright Door; And the Houſe there ſeemeth full of black duſt, like Gun-powder colour, or ſomewhat of Leadiſh colour.

E. K. Now he ſeemeth to goe down, faire and ſoftly from the Houſe, down the little Hill, and from thence goeth by a water ſide, to a Rockiſh Mountain.

E. K He ſpeaketh.

...... Aſcend. I am now ready for you: Bring out your Mattocks, Spades, and Shovels. Enig è veri eri.

E. K. Now come out of that Rock, ſeven lean men, with Spades, and Shovels, and Mattocks, &c.

...... Follow me.

E. K. Now they be come up to the foreſaid Hill.

...... Come on, Dig till you finde.

E. K. Every one ſtandeth diſtinctly one from another, and they dig on the foreſaid Hill, which before ſeemed covered with Earth and Graſſe: But now it appeareth to be a Rock, and they dig that the Fire flieth out again of their ſtroakes, and ſome have broken their Mattocks, ſome their Spades, all except two, one with a Shovel, an other with a Pickax.

The Workmen. O Lord we labour in vain.

...... So you are ſure to do, unleſſe you have better Tooles.

The Workmen. Alas we labour in vain.

One of them. This is long of you.

...... I bad you provide Inſtruments to labour with, but you asked not me, wherein you ſhould labour. Therefore have you digged away that which you ſaw, and have repulſe with that you knew not.

A dark man thou art, and hidden from men, and ſo are thy doings.

E. K. They ſtood gazing one on another.

...... Have you not better Inſtruments? Go, provide your ſelves, and return.

E. K. They runne a great pace to the foreſaid Rocky Cave from whence they came out firſt. Now they come againe with great Beetles of Iron, and Wedges. They knock their Wedges (as we uſe in Wood) and ſo break off great Slakes of Stone, like Slate, and throw it down the Hill.

One of them ſaid to the man covered with Hair-Cloth of Aſh colour.

One of them. What a thing is this, that this Wedg is broken?

Another. We are in worſe caſe then ever we were.

E. K. Their Wedges are broken, the moſt part, and the Fire flieth out of the Stone in great abundance.

...... The nature of this Stone is not to cleave: Therefore if you have no other Inſtruments you muſt ceaſe.

E. K. They are in great diſquietneſs among themſelves.

...... Thoſe that go a Journey, provide them Cloathes againſt all weathers: He that is worthy of the Name of a Conqueror, carrieth with him all Engines: Where the Bridges be broken down, he ſtayeth not, becauſe he is prepared: Behold, he hath victuals for time to come, and his Study is as well the event, as is the mean. So ſhould true Labourers do: conſidering what they work in. For the Earth is a Monſter with many faces: and the receptacle of all variety. Go home, ſtand not idle. Provide by Arts for the hardneſſe of Nature, for the one Siſter weepeth without the other.

E. K. They go away ſpeedily.

...... They have their Tooles to harden, and their Steeles to temper. It will be more then an hour ſpace before they return. Therefore may you ſpend the time in your neceſſity, and uſe the time of day as you are acquainted or wonted. I alſo muſt over-ſee them, or elſe their labour will be without fruit.

E. K. Now he is gone.

△. Gloria Patri, & F. & SS. ſicut erat, &c. Amen.

Monday,

The ſame day, after dinner we returned to our former purpoſe for God his Service, to his Honour and Glory.

E. K. He is here. Now the Labourers be comming out; They have Wedges made long and ſharp: and Pickaxes with three pikes very ſhort.

They ſay. Our Guide ſays, that theſe tools will ſerve.

E. K. They fall to work. They make like ſquare holes, and put in their wedges, and break up the rock or blackiſh ſtone (like yron-mine, or Magnes ſtone) in roundiſh lumps as big as a two-peny loaf, about two or three inches thick. They pick or dig round about the hole firſt, and ſo after uſe their wedges. The Pickaxes have three heads, every pick thereof bigger then the other. The firſt as big as one finger: the ſecond as two: the third as broad as four fingers. And ſo after the firſt digging they fetch three or four cakes or pieces out of one hole, and then they go to another. Now one of them is faln into the ground, up to the arm-pits. Now another is faln in, to the knees. Now the houſe ſtanding thereon beginneth to ſhake, and waver from one ſide to the other. Now the men be gotten out of the holes they ſtuck in.

...... Make an end of your labour.

One of the workmen to the Guide. It behoveth you to find a remedy, or to let us underſtand what remedy remedy we ſhall finde, that you may deſcend thence: for lo, the peril you ſtand in, is great: for this Rock was nothing elſe but a ſhell, whoſe kernel is a bottomleſſe lake, and a myre quickened with ſome ſhut up water.

...... You come hither as Labourers, therefore make an end of your work, and ſtand not idle. If the houſe fall, and I ſink, then is your labour at an end. For the end of your labour is the fulfilling of my will, and the promiſe which you have made me.

One of them. We are ready to do our promiſe; but we are more ready to provide that you may be amongſt us; ſo you may be free from danger.

......O you of little wit; are you not aſhamed? which of you have dwelt within the ſecrets of this Hill? yea, which of you intendeth to fulfil his promiſe? Judge not a thing whereof you have no skill, neither be ſlack in that you have to do: for the one hath his reward of idleneſſe, and the other is condemned of raſhneſſe: For why? It ſpringeth on her mother ignorance.

They ſay. If we work, it is againſt reaſon. Neither do our tools anſwer to this labour. Therefore we had rather be idle then to labour about nothing: for to labour in vain, is to do nothing.

If we were determined to work, how ſhould we perform our determination, ſince the Inſtruments of working want?

...... Gather up the pieces of your ſpades, that is wood, and may be joyned together: The older and the baſer they are, the fitter they are to turn up ſuch ſoile.

E. K. There commeth a Smith by with a budget full of nails.

One of them to the Smith. What haſt thou there?

Smith. Nailes.

E. K. They be like Horſhooe-nails.

...... Thou cam'ſt in good time, leave thy nails behind thee, and at thy return I will pay thee for them. See, God is not unmindful of us, for nails are the fitteſt things to further your work. Joyn therefore your ſpades and ſhovels together, and labour.

E. K. Now they are mending their ſpades and ſhovels, the iron of them being all off and broken.

Now they work, and throw away the earth like durty ſand, and the ſkurf of the earth ſticketh to their ſpades and ſhovels.

E. K. One goeth behinde, and maketh a trench to let the water out from the ſand.

One of them. How now! Have we found harveſt in the midſt of winter?

...... Why: what have you there?

One of them. Marry either Alablaſter or Salt.

E. K. Now one of them knocketh a piece off with his ſhovel-end, and reacheth it up to his Guide.

...... Did I not tell you, that the Earth hath many faces?

E. K. They work now eaſily, and cut up like Salt or Alablaſter.

Now they have digged all the hill away, even to the houſe. Now the houſe ſeemeth builded upon that white ſtuff.

One of them. If we dig any further, we ſhall undermine the houſe.

......Go to your buſineſſe.

E. K. They work.

...... Soft, ſoft. Now labour with your hands as ſoftly as may be. Stand aſide.

E. K. Now he taketh one of the irons of their ſpades, and ſeemeth himſelf to pare the ſides of the Foundation under the houſe, and it ſeemeth to be a veſſel of tranſparent glaſſe, and having fire within it.

Timor Domini ...... The fear of the Lord is a burning fire, conſumeth not, but rectifieth the body; the old droſs it wipeth away, and the daily influxion of the fleſh and ſin it ſeparateth from the ſoul.

Behold (I ſay) he liveth not, but unto whom life is given: neither is their any joy, but it is aſcending; for the end of joy is glory; but glory is the conſummation of deſire, and the beginning of felicity. No man entreth into joy, but by life: neither is there any life, but in the fear of God.

Whoſoever therefore hath the fear of God, let him draw neer, and come hither. Number exceedeth not, but by unities. Aſcenſion Neither is there any multiplication but by order. For the root of number is one. And things that aſcend are dignified by order. Out of this veſſel go four vents aſcending into that Rock, which is the Root, which is this building. Separation

It is ſaid, Behold: let my ſpirit enter in, let there be Separation made within the houſe of the North, that the earth may be divided into her members. Curſed be that body, that is not divided, according to proportion, anſwering to the Diviſion. For ſhe hath yet not caſt off the ſhape of darkneſſe.

E. K. There runneth up fire into the houſe, from out of the round glaſſe veſſel under under the foundation of the houſe. And that fire maketh a great noiſe (through the black bright or marble door to be hard onely.) Now that North door is mightily thrown open, and there appear in the houſe like kernels of apples, and ſlime appeareth, and water thinner then ſlime, and there appeareth pure water, elſe. Now there commeth together ſtuff like yellow earth, which the fire wrought out of the* black earth: And the pure water runneth into that yellow ſtuff.

......Of that take a part.

E. K. The fire returneth back again among the ſtuff in that houſe, and there appear of all Creatures ſome.

Here is Creation, and it is the firſt. Creation.

E. K. Now he taketh a lump of the earth lying by, which was thrown up, and he breaketh it into ſix pieces like round Balls.

E. K. He taketh a thing like a veſſel of iron, and putteth into it that mixture of yellow earth and water. And it looketh now like graſſe mingled with water.

......Thou art ſtrong, and wilt beget a ſtrong Child.

E. K. Now he putteth out the earth which he put in, and it is a lump of gold. He giveth it him that ſtandeth by.

......ſo are the ſeeds of the earth.

E. K. Now he taketh the ſecond, and putteth it in.

......Corruption is a thief, for he hath robbed thee of thy beſt Ornaments, for thou art weaker in the ſecond.

E. K. He taketh it out, and it is as if it were pure ſilver.

......Where there is double theft, poverty inſueth. But, notwithſtanding, Thou art true; for thou giveſt unto every thing as much as he deſireth: Thou openeſt the greateſt hability and ſtrength of thy power, not ſuch as it hath been, but ſuch as it is.

E. K. Now he putteth in the third Ball.

......Thou muſt tarry, for thou art of an harder digeſtion, ſince thou art the third, Content thy ſelf, for thou art not an Inheritor.

E. K. He taketh it out, and giveth unto one of them that ſtandeth by, that is a red metal like copper.

E. K. Now he taketh up another of the Balls, and holdeth it in his hand.

......Behold, thy mother, Heat is gone, and the enemy of life entreth; for he that paſſeth his middle age, decayeth, and draweth to an end.

Behold, thou ſhalt find a Step-mother, for thou cam'ſt out of time.

E. K. Now he putteth it into the veſſel.

......Let cold cover thy face, let the North truly beget thee, for thou art an enemy to thy predeceſſors. But thou art of great vertue, for of thy excrement ſhall vertue receive dignity. And thy vertue ſhall be a garland to Nature; for thou ſhalt be viſible when the other are ſilent: the Seas ſhall not hinder thy vertue, notwithſtanding, thy vertue ſhall differ with the Seas: For as they differ, ſo ſhalt thou.

E. K. Now he taketh it out. It is a ragged thing like Smiths cynder of iron, and it hath holes in it, as if it were ſpongy.

E. K. Now he taketh up another Ball of the earth: he putteth it in.

......Thou art tractable, and like unto an obedient daughter: But thou ſhalt be the fifth in the ſecond, and an Inſtrument to the firſt.

E K. Now he taketh it out, it is like unto a white whet ſtone, as he ſhaped it at the putting in, it is like Tynne.

E. K. Now he taketh up another Ball, and putteth it in.

......Thou art the laſt that hath in himſelf and by himſelf his being: Behold thy face is like unto wax, but thy inward bowels are like unto the anger of a Serpent: Many ſhall have thee, but ſhall not know thee.

One of them by ſaid. Will you give me nothing?

E. K. A great cloud covereth them all, the ſtone and all.

△ It dured ſo a quarter of an hour.

E. K. Now appeareth another, none of them before appearing. He ſeemeth afar off comming, and higher placed then the other, it ſeemeth to be URIEL, he hath his face covered with a Skarf of black hanging down to his breaſt.

URIEL ..... Bleſſed are ſuch as are not offended in the little ones.

[E. K. He ſpeaketh now a language which I underſtand not.]

URIEL ..... For the Angels of the God of Righteouſneſſe, are his little ones: and ſuch as know

not

not ſin of Concupiſcence by conſent (I ſpeak this for your underſtanding.) Take heed (therefore) that you offend not your ſelves : for you muſt become little ones : and the power of the higheſt muſt abound in you.

He that offendeth his brother, offendeth God : but he that offendeth his own innocency, is abhorred of the Lord. Lo you are The children of Promiſe, and in you is the myſtery of a great, and mighty Seal. Therefore ſtudy to humble your ſelves, for Humility is the Root of Innocency. But (my brethren) Innocents by nature you cannot be, neither can you ſerve God in the imagination of cleanneſſe of your own fleſh. Now (therefore) ſince you are fleſhly, will you become innocent? Or how can you ſeek that which Nature hath loſt?

In Chriſt we may become Innocents, and be born anew.

The Scriptures teach you; That in Chriſt you were born a-new: And by him you may become Innocents, when in him you are cleanſed. Therefore, if in him the ſtate of your Innocency remain, if in him you are renewed, and made clean, (being rotten and defiled,) why ſeek you not him, as you ſhould do?

No man that ſeeketh the brightneſſe of the Sunne, goeth under the Earth: Neither creepeth he into unknown Caves. The Tygres ſeek not their prey upon Earth, where the waters are not. Neither the Eagles upon waters.

Temptation.

No more ought you to grudg that the Lord tempteth you, nor to be offended when the World offendeth you.

Is it not ſaid unto you, that you ſhall fight a great fight: What fight is it my brethren: But a Battel againſt the Worldlings and the Devil?

Kings.

I ſay unto you that Kings ſhall be offended in you.

The Sunne ceaſeth not, yet he ſhall ceaſe, yea he ſhall not be.

The Lights of Heaven keep their courſe; but they ſhall ſuddenly ſtagger, and forget their long worne way. Much more ſhall the wickedneſſe of thoſe that riſe up againſt you, have an end, for in them is no courſe but error, and the fire-brands of Sathan, prepared in their own hands, for their own deſtruction.

* Victoria noſtra erit.

*Behold, they ſhall contend againſt you and ſhall deſpiſe thee: But lo I have bleſſed thee above them: for thou ſhalt fight againſt them, and ſhalt overthrow them : that my Name may be magnified in thy mouth amongſt the multitude of the ſinfull.

Behold, they are oppoſite unto thee, becauſe they are oppoſite unto me : for I have gathered thee from amongſt them, and they are become thy Enemies. Since therefore they are thine Enemies (becauſe thou muſt fight againſt them:) Be not grieved therefore when their wickedneſſe doth offend thee: But put on the armour of patience, and Become innocent.

Miniſtri veritatis.

Doſt thou think that from the Heavens can come the dew and life of all things? Even ſo think alſo, that from us commeth no untruth.

Be therefore innocent, and be not deceived by the fleſh; Caſt reaſon aſide, covered with her Cloud: And lift up thy ſelf in him, unto him (I ſay) that hath lifted thee from the Doores of Death: taken thee out of the hands of Butchers, and continued thee for a member of his Glory.

O magna miſericordia tua, Domine.

Behold, I ſay unto thee, The brightneſſe of Truth over-ſhadoweth thee. If therefore, thou dwell in truth, why ſhouldeſt thou be afraid? Conſidering that ſhe conquereth and reſiſteth all her Enemies.

Behold, the World deſpiſeth you, you alſo ſhall deſpiſe the World.

When the Angel of the Lord poureth his wrath and vial upon the Earth, and the enemies of the Sonne of God, runne in among the ſheep. When the ſelf-ſame Plague that was in the land of Pharaoh raineth in the Houſes of all that dwelleth upon the Earth, ſuch as the Lord abhorreth. When the Lord with his hand ſhall gather up the fruits of the Earth from them, Where then ſhall be their honors? What then ſhall be done with money; with that harlot and ſtrumpet of the Earth? Of what value ſhall their love be then, or who ſhall regard their friendſhip?

Prophetia

In theſe 4 yeares that are to come, ſhall all theſe things come to paſſe.

1589

And this great joy ſhall be turned into teares of Brimſtone.

1590
1591
1592

Why? you of little faith, you know not how often I have been amongſt you: neither the Harbor that I have thruſt you into. Notwithſtanding you murmur amongſt your ſelves. But ſtick faſt unto him that leadeth you : For he is a ſure Guide.

The Harbour we are in.

And be not afraid, though the Earth open her jaws againſt you, for why? I will bleſſe all things you take in hand, (ſaith the Lord,) and my ſpirit ſhall dwell amongſt you.

△ May I ſpeak?

E. K. He turneth him to you.

△ How ſhall our new proceedings joyne to our old beginnings? O God, our guide, light, ſtaffe, ſhield, and comfort, &c.

URIEL. Behold, I teach you, before I correct : But the Doctrine I teach is Humility, Patience [he ſeemeth to ſpeak to one above,] and the fear of wrath to come

After which manner, I have taught them, by thee △.

To Rodolph, and Curts.
Note
* I promiſed the ſtone.

Therefore, if thou teach Obedience through the ſpirit of God, appearing unto thee; Be thou alſo Patient and Obedient: And Humble thy ſelf unto them, for my ſake. Not with the opening of any ſeal, neither with the Counſailes, that I ſhall deliver thee: But with a ready mind, Obediently, deſiring to performe that which thou haſt promiſed in me.

I am ſufficient ſtrength, and will be thy buckler, and if they intend evil, it ſhall reſt upon them; yea when they imagin it, it ſhall frize within them. And thy goings in and out ſhall be ſafe amongſt them. But behold, I teach unto thee a way, which thou followeſt not. When thou mindeſt to do any thing, in the name of God, to his honour, to the help of thy neighbour, or thine own comfort: Go about it whatſoever it be: and begin a Labour; Do that thing thou intendeſt. And ſee that you joyn with one conſent towards God and the buſineſſe you are occupied in.

A way of dealing.

Then cry out to God for comfort, for light, and true underſtanding. And it it ſhall be given unto thee abundantly. For Lo, I ſay unto thee [E. K. I underſtand him not now.] I will open my hand unto thee, and be merciful unto thee: And whenſoever you heap up the Wood together, I will deſcend and give fire.

Together.

Behold, I keep back the reſt of my meſſage for an other time. Which ſhall be ready for you when I find you ready to receive it.

△ I requeſted to know how I ſhould deal with the Ambaſſador of Spain, or the Emperor, or Curtius; Secondly, your RULE here given, I underſtand it not. For I dare not begin any labour without counſel divine: Mans imagination is ſo weak, &c.

URIEL Thou haſt thoſe that are ſent unto thee here for thy inſtruction, which ſhall by degrees lead thee into the degrees of that thou art to do.

By degrees.

But it is one thing to receive Corn, and abundance of grain, by the bleſſing of God, in the return of an year: and an other thing to do the works of the Apoſtles.

For the ſpirit of God is twofold: working by information, and influence Cœleſtial through the grant of God his good will, in the miniſtery of his Angels to the information of ſuch as are but faithful and choſen: An other thing to be inſpired from God himſelf, in his holy ſpirit, imediately comforting and knitting Wiſdom together with you, beyond the power that is given unto his Angels.

I have ſpoken unto you a ſound and true doctrine, and have given you not fleſhly but Celeſtia counſel: Apply your ſelf unto it, as the Spirit of God leadeth you. As for thoſe wicked men (that Ambaſſador excepted) our underſtanding hath no name of them: We remember them not, neither limit any thing for them. But if thou in thy ſimplicity and innocency canſt not deal with them, the fault reſteth in thy own faith.

I am gone.

Simplicity
Innocency.

△ Deo noſtro Omnipotenti Immortali & Regi Gloriæ, ſit omnis laus, honor, gratiarum actio & Jubilatio. Amen.

January 16. ✝ Praga.

Wedneſday, Mane hora 9 ½ ferè

△ Precibus ad Deum fuſis, ut nobiſcum procederet in ſua miſericordia & lumine veritatis, non in parabolis ſolùm & ænigmatibus, ſed clara & manifeſta veritate, modo qui illi maximè placet, &c.

E. K. I ſee the man again and the houſe: the man ſeemeth to be covered on his face, and ſo over with a vail of hair-cloth to his middle.

△ When it ſhall pleaſe God, all vailes and Ænigmata ſhall ceaſe.

..... Whatſoever I teach you hath a Myſtery. And I am a Myſtery in my ſelf. Even ſo all things that you learn of me, you muſt be content to receive as myſtical inſtructions comprehending perfect truth, and to be known to ſuch as are true. Some there be that have, and have nothing: yea though they have all, for All, is conteined: But the myſteries of God are infinite, and his grace is not to be determined.

Myſteries.

△ That ſaying is dark.

That which is All, is conteined. Beleeve you, that we give holy things unto Swine? Or open the finger and workmanſhip of God unto Sinners? God forbid. Moſes ſaw God but his hinder parts. The Prophets were acquainted with God, but myſtically. The Apoſtles with the Sonne of God in ſhadows, and their own impotency. Yea, I ſay unto you, that ſhe that lyeth in the lap of her Mother, knoweth not but by degrees, for it is the manner of Gods Wiſdom, both immediately and by us, to keep back his Wiſdom from Hell and corruption.

Therefore murmur not at that which you receive, for it is not your own. Behold, if you have better, you need it not: for it is vanitie to ſeek for that you have. Well, ſince it is given you, Conſider what it is, that is given you. Conſider alſo how it is given you, and by whom.

△ We know by whom, as our conſciences and faith teach us.

...... O you of little underſtanding: Who is he that can and hath to give, but God, Jeſus Chriſt the Sonne of the living God, unto whom all things are given in Heaven, and in Earth, if therefore, All be his, then he giveth. And if you receive it hardly; Conſider how hardly you ought to deliver it again.

And if it be a fire reviving the form of all worldly things: Then caſt it not to Swine: neither yet worſhip it. Behold, you are men, But in having it you muſt ceaſe to be men, for by it you enter Ignis vivificans.

Lapidis P. Dignitas.

upon, and into all immortality: And by it you ſacend into the true knowledg of our fore-fathers, and ſtate of Innocency.

But I hear a voice; I will depart, and come again.

E. K. Now all is vaniſhed away.

△ We read over the premiſſes to our comfort and inſtruction, we beſeech God to continue his graces and mercies, on us, and in us, to his honour and glory, here and for ever.

E. K. Now he is here again.

...... The will of God is upon me, and ſnatcheth me unto other things.

To morrow in the morning, with empty Bellies, I will tell you what it is you ſeek.

△ Fiat voluntas Dei, ad ejus laudem, honorem & gloriam, nunc & ſemper. Amen.

✠ Praga.

Anno 1585. January 17.

Thurſday. Manè, circa horam 8. ½.

Oratione Dominica finita, & alia brevi ejaculatione, pro lumine & veritate Dei obtinendis, &c.

Poſt quartam horæ partem, venit.

E. K. Here he is now.

△ Gloria, laus, & honor ſit Deo noſtro Omnipotenti. Amen.

...... Honour and thanksgiving with lowd voices, be unto our Lord Jeſus.

△ Amen. E. K. Amen.

△ Note this VISION. Earth of a tawny colour.

E. K. He hath a great heap of earth, or little hill natural by him of orange or tawny colour, drawing ſomewhat to a Lion tawny.

E. K. A Woman commeth, and with a ſpade diggeth about it. Now commeth a child (a man-child) out of a dark place, with a fire ſhovel in his hand.

Water. Green. Red.

The Woman hath taken away all the earth, and there appeareth water, where the earth was. The boy caſteth out that Water with the fire ſhovel. The Woman laugheth at that. The Woman is in green clothes, and the boy in red.

Now commeth a Woman with child, or with a great belly, in white clothes, ſhe putteth her hand down to the ground, and pulleth out a little Glaſſe full of red oil.

Now commeth an old man with a Crab-tree ſtaffe on his back, his clothes of motly colour. This old man taketh the Glaſſe from the Woman by force, with his fiſt he breaketh the Glaſſe, and all the oil runneth about his arm, and out of that oil did ſeem a Book to come, a very little Book.

...... Plainer, truer, or better can nothing be.

E. K. He ſaid this, looking on the Book.

1 A Woman.
2 A Child.
3 A Woman with child.
4 An old man.

...... Theſe four found, but none H A D F R U I T, but the laſt. Hear and write the myſteries of God, with humble hearts, not ſitting, but kneeling, before Sanctum Sanctorum.

△ I kneeled, and ſo prepared my ſelf to the writing. In the Name of Jeſus our Redeemer, and the Wiſdom eternal of God Almighty.

E. K. He kneeleth himſelf.

E. K. Now goeth fire out of his mouth ſtreamingly, he turneth himſelf to the 4 parts of the World, ſpouting out, or breathing fire vehemently.

An Angel.

E. K. Now commeth one like an angel, hovering over him in the aire: and biddeth him Hold up his hand.

An Oath.

...... Thou ſhalt ſwear by heaven and earth, and by him that ſitteth on the Throne, that thou ſhalt open thy mouth, and ſpeak no more then is conteined in this Book.

E. K. He delivereth him a Book out of his Boſom.

...... I have ſworn.

E. K. The Angel is gone. Now truly, the place is holy.

E. K. He holdeth the Book in his hand which the Angel gave him. The Book is as if it were of Ivory bone. The Book is open, he looketh on it. The letters ſeem to be blewiſh.

...... There is ſilence in us, and in the heavens.

E. K. Now all is full of ſmoak.

△ Oravi paululum tacitus.

E. K. Now it is clear again. ...... He ſeemeth to read of the Book.

" ...... Take of your Dlaſod.

E. K. The book ſeemeth to be written in the holy Characters.

" ...... Dlaſod dignified.

E. K. —

E. K. thought this is ignotum per ignotius.

...... My brother, leave off thy childiſhneſſe: murmur not, thou hindreſt me.

E. K. He is again in a Cloud. E. K. Now he is cleer again.

And

...... And Luminus or from due degrees.

...... Read it.

△ I read it. ...... Take off your Dlaſod dignified, and Luminus, or from due degrees.

E. K. He ſeemeth to labour much about the reading of it.

...... Gather or take fierce degree.

......[I feel no power, therefore have patience.]

...... „ Notwithſtanding, work it diverſe dayes multiplying four digeſtions.

E. K. Now he is in a Cloud again.

...... Pray, that it may be given unto me of God.

...... „ And double then Dlaſod, and thy Rod lnr. [It is a word which cannot be ſounded]

...... „ Mend it R l o.

△ Muſt it be R l o d n r?

△ Corrected thus afterward

...... Look about you, for Satan would hinder you of Gods benefits.

„ ...... R l o d n r.

„ ...... Diligently.

...... Pray, that you may underſtand.

△ We prayed.

„ ...... For, until thou watch ſo continuing.

E. K. A Cloud ſtandeth by him, and now commeth before him as other times before: and then goeth away from before him again.

„ ...... it, a holy hour deſcendeth.

...... Note this, very well, for here you may be caſt over ſhoes.

E. K

...... This Cloud is in thee. △ We had talk of the foreſaid Cloud.

„ ...... Of every work there aſcendeth one Audcal, and ſo every Law R l o d n r.

E. K. Now he is covered in his vail or cloud again.

E. K. Prayed a ſhort fervent prayer, whereat I rejoyced much.

E. K. Now there commeth a beam from above into his head as big as my little finger.

„ ...... And purpoſe Dlaſod, take a ſwift Image, and have the proportion of a moſt glorious mixture Audcal and alſo Lulo. Continue and by office ſeek R n o d n r backward by the red digeſtion. But he by the common or red D a r r doth gather moſt ripeſt Work, purge the laſt fortene well fixed. Then the four through your [R l o d n r]

E. K. He ſpeaketh; & caſteth his arms abroad ſwiftly.

[I ſaid] Roxtan finiſhed more together at the lower body by one degree |bu| be by you for him hold it, for him in one of them.

[Fortene] △ This was added & corrected afterwards.

E. K. Now he lyeth down proſtrate.

„ ...... Until of the laſt thing.

E. K.—

He ſpeaketh ſwift.

„ ...... In him become his red and higheſt degree of his reſurrection through coition.

E. K. Now there commeth a great thing like a fire, and covereth him.

Now ſit up.

△ We did riſe up from kneeling.

„ ...... After a while I come again.

...... There is the whole work.

E. K. Here is again.

...... Bring forth the book of Enoch.

Liber Enoch

...... Read your leſſon ...... △ I read the former, Take off your, &c.

Gather your ſix words, 4 words conſiſt of 6 letters, and two of 4.

Six words.

R l o d n r read that, in the upper angle deſcending in the firſt ſquare.

It is a great thing to know which is the firſt table there in Nature.

Deliver the Book here.

△ I gave the Book to E. K.

...... Look where thou E. K. ſeeſt the letter clear.

E. K. looked, and ſaw a ſpark of light upon R, then on L, &c.

△ He was led by light appearing on the letters to read the ſix words, Dlaſod, Roxtan, Rlodnr, Audcal, Darr, Lulo.

Six words.

...... Here is Quaternarius in Circumferentia, and Quaternarius in Centro.

There be the 4 mediating wayes to the Center.

All that may be ſpoken in that you call Animal, Vegetable, or Mineral workmanſhip of Nature is here, as in a part of the four. This far now, more as you deſire it. But that you may ſee, I am a Companion with the reſt.

Animal, Vegetable, Mineral.

Omne verum vero concordat.

E. K. He is gone.

△ Benedicamus Domino Deo noſtro Omnipotenti, Patri Filio & Spiritui ſancto, Amen.

Januarii 18. ✝ Praga.

Friday Manè horam circiter 8½

Orationibus fuſis ad Deum, ut Myſteria nobis exhibita (heſterno die) explicentur; & ut detracta literæ cortice ſuccus & ſpiritus veritatis manifeſtus fiat, &c. tandem apparuit ille cum velo cinereo.

E. K. Here he is, upon a green endleſſe plain field, and as I ſee abroad in the field, ſo the Heaven appeareth, and all circumſtances of the air abroad: but my thinketh, that I am from the earth aloft, and ſee all under me, as if it were in a valley.

...... Now what have you learned out of that Leſſon?

△ We perceive the grace and favour of God, to deliver us Myſteries in outward terms determined, but in the fruitful inward verity, as yet unknown to us.

The uſe and fruit of the former Leſſons.

...... Behold I have delivered you (through the Will of God) the true perfect and moſt plain Science or underſtanding of all the lower Creatures of God: their natures, fellowſhip together, and perfect knitting together, which is fourfold.

The firſt, the knitting together of celeſtial influence, and the Creatures below. The ſecond, the centre of every body Eſſential. The third, the combination of many parts or bodies concurrent to one principle. The laſt the true uſe and knowledge of every ſubſtance to be conjoyned and diſtributed. Take a pauſe— [E. K. He ſpeaketh a language which I cannot ſound after him.]

△ We read the premiſſes, and diſcourſed of them.

E. K. Now he is here again.

...... In the Leſſon which I have taught you is this knowledge, with the reſt contained.

Note

Therefore ſeek, and turn the earth upſide down. Labour, that you may receive fruit, for unto him that worketh, and hath ſtrength, ſtrength ſhall be given, and the reward of a workman. Many years, the daughter of long time, are not neceſſary to the opening of this Myſtery. Many moneths have nothing to do here: For lo, it is a labour of one day, for in one day you may underſtand to tear this Leſſon in pieces, and to underſtand what every word ſignifieth.

Note

The place of words and letters.

But here is to be conſidered, in the learning of this Leſſon, three things: the place that every word occupieth; the place that every letter occupieth, and the number and place that every word and letter is referred unto. For here place and number are apart, and bear an Image of the work that they intreat of.

The number of words and letters.

But number and place muſt be joyned together, and thereby ſhall you taſte of that which followeth, true wiſdome.

The joyning of number and place.

Be therefore diligent, and pray for the grace of God, that you may learn and underſtand. The manner of mans teaching look not for, in me; for I have nothing to do with man. See, how you can digeſt this:

E. K. He is ſtept aſide. △ I diſcourſed.

E. K. He is here again.

......¶ Now hear of what I ſhall ſay unto you. I will open unto you a Myſtery, the key and foundation into the entrance and knowledge of the divine wiſdome, delivered unto you in a Science palpable, contained in letters and words unorderly placed, as a Chaos: and therefore not to be underſtood but by order to be reduced and drawn into their places, and thereby to be underſtood.

Cabaliſtically

For you have not a letter, nor the form of a letter, nor the place of a letter, but they are all counted with us, as the ſtars are counted with God. The letters and words working into all reaſon, as the ſtars do unto the lower creatures: Therefore humbly receive that which I have to ſay unto you, or ſhall open unto you as obedient Scholars, kneeling.

Firſt, a little with me praiſe God— E. K. He is on his knees.

E. K. prayed the 142 Pſalm, Domine exaudi orationem meam, and I with heart conſented, and greatly rejoyced in the aptneſſe of the prayer: as E. K. his caſe chiefly required, and mine alſo.

.. .. I come again.

E. K. He is gone.

△ We conferred and conſidered many things to the praiſe of God, and the contempt of the worldly wiſdome, &c.

E. K: Now he is come again.

E. K. Now there commeth a white curtain before him.

..... Now hear my voice, for thou canſt not ſee me.

120

One, Seventy three, 67, 29. 20

Read— △ I read. ..... it muſt be 120.

..... 33.

E. K.

E. K. I hear a voice, as if baskets, and earthen pots were thrown from place to place, from one ſide to another.

105
...... 78. ~~150~~ 95. 100. 60. 91.*

K. K. I hear as it were a whiſtling very baſely or lowly, whu, whu, whu, &c.

...... Say what you have. △ I read all the 12 numbers —.

...... Make a note there. △ I made * as you ſee before.

...... 39. E. K. Had a very heavy thing on his head: and in his cap it ſeemed as if it would have crept into his head.

...... 51. 52. 83. 6. 7. 12. 20. 88. *

...... Note that. △ So did I, as before, with * as a full point, Notable.

...... Take thou E:K. alſo pen, ink, and paper, and note the numbers alſo, that you may agree.

E. K. Took pen, ink, and paper.

...... Write thou E.K. alſo the numbers that he hath written.

E. K. Wrote out all the former numbers.

5
5 ...... 11. 13. 23. 62. 63 141. 9. 81. 18. 26. 54. 123. 105. 14. 27. 115.
135. 137. 10. 64. 46. 59.

△ I became here almoſt in a ſound, I was forced to riſe from kneeling. Our guide and Schoolmaſter bad me go away, and E. K. ſhould write out the reſt: But it was not our friend that ſo bad.

139. 22. 3. 45. 128. 86. 72. 68. 58. 142. 121. 143.
24. 63. 69. 55. 19. 15 25. 37. 31. 17. 76. 57. 75. 40.
42. 79. 119. 8. 96. 113. 93. 84. 70. 49. 32 17.
122. 136 71. 2. 138, 43. 109. 106. 126. 116 131.
77. 4. 103. 16. 124. 30. 102. 110. 50, 48. 89.
44. 97 101. 82. 129. 130. 90. 34. 98. 99. 65. 28.
112. 114. 47. 144. 107. 132. 61. 133. 134. 66 80.
53. 73. 35. 92 111. 21. 127. 108. 56. 118. 125.
104. 87. 42. 94. 38. 85. 74.

Thou E. K. haſt all done.

△ Theſe E. K. very quickly had received, after my going, by ſhew of bright light repreſenting the numbers upon his paper. But it was a Sophiſtical ſhew, as may appear after.

After Dinner we repaired to our buſineſſe, and by and by apparition was made.

...... And luminous, all one word.

...... Now ſet your numbers, as they follow in order, ſo orderly over every word.

△ To gether is to be taken for one word.

...... It is ſo.

△ There ſeem to be juſt 144 accounted words.

...... Now bring every word conſequently in order by number directing you. When you have finiſhed and conſidered, after 2 hours I will help you again.

5 ...... Muſt be in the place of 23, and muſt anſwer And luminous.

2 ...... The number over Comoron, muſt be 2: and not 138. Set all together, I will help your errors.

△ I cannot do it well this night.

...... As thou wilt, and when thou wilt, I am ready.

△ Omne quod vivit reſonet laudes altiſſimi. Amen.

+ Praga.

Saturday.
Januarii 19 Mane hora 9. Inſpecto Lapide ſtatim apparuit, qui ante heri. Poſt preces ad Deum.

...... Hear what I ſhall ſay unto you. The Word and Teſtament of Jeſus Chriſt, the bread of life, left to the comfort and inſtruction of the faithful, is ſuch as informeth according to the dignity and pureneſſe of Spirit in him, which ſeeketh to be informed. For why, the Holy Ghoſt helpeth not ſuch as are Lepers, neither healeth ſuch as are ſick, unleſſe they come ſeeking him truly for medicine.

Many read the Scriptures after the ſame manner, (my brethren) but they are confounded, becauſe they ſeek their own glory, and not the glory of him, whereof they intreat. Herein doth Satan rejoyce that the Word of God is become an inſtrument unto him, to ſpoil the life, (and ſtate to come) of man.

Herein doth he rejoyce, that with the ſame meat that God feedeth, even with the ſelf ſame he confoundeth.

For

△ I was very ſick ſuddenly, and was conſtrained to leave off.

After the ſame manner hath he done unto you.

For yeſterday, when he ſaw thee (△) labour and ſtruggle with infirmities of the fleſh, he thought a fit time to thruſt in himſelf, and of the ſame bread that I have given you (in the power of Chriſt) to make himſelf an inſtrument by turning of himſelf into our brightneſſe, to lead you into errour. But not unworthy are you of this miſt or darkneſſe: Read you not in the Scriptures, that he periſhed that moved himſelf to ſtay the Ark unbidden?

△ Unuſquiſq; proprium ſolum officium faciat.

The Hand doth not the part of the body, neither can he that is a Seer, and the member of another, fulfill the office of him of whom he is a member.

I ſay unto thee [E.K.]

Officio unuſquiſque fungatur proprio.

Becauſe thou yeſterday wouldeſt offer up ſacrifice, wouldeſt put thy hand to that which is not thy office, and that in the abſence of him, which is thy body: therefore hath Satan deceived thee, and as the father of liers hath in a leſſon of truth led you ſo far into errour, that you will never find the way out, if you ſhould follow thoſe inſtructions.

For why they are falſe, and of the Devil.

Mercy and Grace.

When thou wert commanded, ſaying, Write; then write: But when thou haſt no authority given thee, uſurp not. But notwithſtanding, Humble your ſelves before the Lord, and kneeling before him, Receive you Leſſons together, you are but one body.

△ Thanks be unto our God, which hath delivered us from the ſnare of the wicked hunter, and is ready to lead us into the path of truth.

...... Now write both together, as you ſhall hear.

△ In the Name of Jeſus.

...... The Place is holy.

∴ 1. 10. 67. 29. 120. E. K. Now I hear as the falling of a block.

∴ ∴ 33. 78. 140. 95. 52. 60. 91. 39. 51. 65. 83. 6. 7. 12. 20. 88.

∴ 11. 13. 5. 62. 121. 63. 125. 141. 9. 81. 18. 26. 54. 123 128. 14. 27. 115.
66.

∴ 135. 137. 18 64. 59. 139. 22. 3. 23. 105. 86. 72. 68. 45. 142.
121

∴ 29. 143. 24. 36. 58. 55. 15. 25. 37. 31. 117. 76. 57. 69. 40.

41. 79. 75. 8. 96. 113. 93. 84. 70. 35. 32. 17. 122. 136. 49.
138

∴ ∴ 2. 81. 43. 109. 106. 126. 116. 131. 77. 4. 103. 92. 19. 124.

30. 102. 110. 50. 48. 89. 44. 97. 101. 82. 129. 130. 90. 34.
132.

87 98: 134. 87. 28. 112. 114. 47. 144. 187. 132. 61. 21. 99.
[46] 71.

∴ 42. 80. 53. 66. 77. 16. 111. 133 127. 108. 56. 118. 119. 104. 100.

73. 94. 38 85. 74.

A holy muſt be all one word, and ſo elſe where, A moſt.

Note.

△ I find here 8 numbers double, and 9 numbers between 1 and 144, not ſerved with words, and one to want of 144.

...... What is it to me, if Satan confound you.

△ As I put my truſt in the Almighty power of Chriſt our Redeemer, ſo I moſt humbly, heartily and conſtantly beſeech him, and verily believe, that he will confound and utterly extermine all Satanical temptations in theſe actions, elſe are we nothing.

..... Beſeech God to forgive you your ſins. I will viſit you at the fourth hour after dinner.

Deo Gratias.

Saturday,

After dinner, circa horam 4.

△ Comfort us, O God, with thy truth, as we intend truly to be thy faithful and devout Servants. Mitte limam.

E. K. Here he is.

1 ..... You have 29 twice, the laſt 29 muſt clean be put out.

2 You have two Dlaiod, you muſt put the latter out.

E. K. He is gone.

E. K. He is here again.

3 ..... Have you not this word double?

Put two words next to that, Dlaſod and

..... Look out the number of 63

Put next to it 125. .....△ The wicked enemy prompted falls.

4 .....You have two 10

Make the laſt 66.

5 The laſt 77 muſt be 71.

The reſt will prove it ſelf.

Now ſet the numbers and gather.

..... Think not that I can erre; if there be a fault, it is yours.

Saturday,

After drinking at night, hora 7.

......Your words and numbers muſt be all one, or elſe you labour in vain.

...... 1. 2. 3.

△ Which be the words anſwering to thoſe numbers?

...... Take Common Rlodnr I will teach you no further.

△ God be thanked.

.....Take Common

.....I ſpoke to thee in the beginning of Darr and And, over the which there muſt be 121 and 125

I ſo inſtructed thee in the beginning.

But it muſt be for a new Revolution, but not for this.

Put out theſe numbers, let them fall elſewhere.

Note that, in the Margent, for the beginning of another.

Note: For a new Revolution The beginning of another.

1 Take
2 Common
3 Audcal
4 Purge
5 and
6 Work
7 It.

..... Dlaſod and then together.

..... 121 over Dlaſod, and 125 over then.

..... Now doubt not.

+ Praga.

Januarii 20.

Sunday after Dinner, about 3 of the clock. As we ſat together in the Myſtical ſtudy, and the Shew-ſtone being before E. K. our School-maſter appeared therein.

..... Behold I open unto thee this key, which is not worthy for the unworthy; neither are the unworthy worthy of it. Yea ſuch it is, as never entred into man before; but the body it is, with the image whereof they have brought forth many things, to the praiſe of God, in the Number of his works.

Take Common, &c. Take hold.

Write it in a paper by it ſelf.

Now you have that you ſought for (you may apply it, and find your own errours) which you are unworthy to receive any ſuch thing.

△ Gloria laus & jubilatio ſit Deo noſtro altiſſimo Domino Dominantium & Regi Regum immortali. Amen.

Januarii 21. + Praga.

Monday.

Manè hora 9 ½.

△ Oratione Dominica & aliis precibus ad Deum fuſis, pro ejus gratia & auxilio, per fideles ſuos Miniſtros, & noſtros conatus promovendos, &c.

E. K. Here he is.

△ Benedictus qui venit in nomine Domini, cujus nomen ſanctificetur & exaltetur, nunc & in ævum per omnes gentes.

.... Remember that you are fleſh, and by your works deſerve nothing at Gods hands.

Now

Now then if you be man, then are you of earth, earthy. But according to your ſimilitude, grafted in the image of God in his Sonne Jeſus you are heavenly.

But behold, God is oppoſite unto you, and his ſpirit cleaveth not unto you, in that you are fleſh, in that you are earth, in that you are filthy: in that you are the children of Satan, and that therefore, take part with him againſt Chriſt anointed of the Lord.

E. K. He is out of ſight now.

Now if you be oppoſite, or more contrary to the image of him which dwelleth in you, if you dwell in him what do yee here: why preſume you to enter within the Doores of him to whom you are an adverſary?

Herein you ſhew your ignorance; and the lumpiſhneſſe of your fragility, in that you ſeek of him, unto whom you are odious, or crave the bread which is due and neceſſary for his children and ſervants. But hear my voice, Petentibus dat, ſed petentibus filiis, & ſervis, ſed non alienis. Panis

Notwithſtanding, of his mercy, and for that, he knew before the beginning of all worlds, the corruption of your veſſels, and remembring that you have been of his houſhold, mercifully he hath hitherto winked at you, and at your preſumption, and fed you with that bread, which is not the bread of ſinners.

But now conſidering that you continue in your wickedneſſe, continue in your rebellion againſt his Majeſty, and fight daily under his banner which is accurſed, he taketh his bread from you, ſhutteth up his Doores againſt you, warneth his ſervants againſt you, and is become a fire-brand of wrath againſt you. Upon condition.

But here you will ſay: were not we of thoſe number unto whom he made a promiſe, you were ſo. But upon condition: That if you would bridle your tongues from ſpeaking evil, and become wholly his. But you are neither his, nor bridle your tongues: but ſpeak Blaſphemy before the Lord, and the Meſſengers of his light and covenant. Therefore are you not inheritors of his promiſe. Behold, while the grapes grew, and the corn ripeneth, God did expect your return, for no hour is unacceptable unto him.

But now the harveſt commeth that the corn muſt be cut down and the grapes preſſed, you are not as you ſaid you would be, nor as you promiſed.

Therefore are you excluded, for in the vineyard there commeth no ſtrangers, nor in this harveſt commeth any hirelings, for it is not the harveſt of man.

△

Now either fulfill your promiſe and return from the multitude of your ſinnes: or murmur not, though you be ſhut out of Doores.

The earth of it ſelf bringeth forth nothing, for it is the lump and excrement of darkneſſe, whoſe bowels are a burning lake. Hell.

But where the heavens yield, and the Sunne poureth down his force, ſhe openeth her ſelf, and becommeth ſpongy, receiving mixture to generation, and ſo is exalted above her ſelf, and bringeth forth to the uſe of man: Even ſo the Body when it lyeth in the puddle and hotchpotch of his earthly filthineſſe, and darkneſſe making himſelf equal with beaſts: whoſe dignity is not, but in their uſe.

E. K. Now he is here again.

...... Two things you have to be inſtructed in, in R l o d n r, and in the Law of Coition and Mixture.

The firſt, is the inſtrument working, and drawing things together of one nature. The ſecond is the bounds and termes, wherein every mixture conſiſteth, and beyond the which it cannot go.

The firſt of 4 parts, every part conteining, conteineth his conteined double.

The firſt is Tepens, this teacheth the reſt.

Theſe two things can I open unto you in two revolutions, which is but one dayes work.

But now I ceaſe to open any more unto you till I ſee the favour of God more open unto you.

After 7 dayes I will come again, until then, I neither am, nor ſpeak.

△ The mercies of God be upon us, now, and ever, Amen.

┼ Praga. Jeſus Mercy.

Monday.

Januarii 28. Mane, hora 10 ferè.

Oratione Dominica & aliis pro miſericordia divina, fuſis precibus extemporandis.

After diverſe pitiful complaints of our frailty, and calling for favour, grace, and mercy, he appeared.

...... Let the heavens prepare themſelves to hear, the earth ſcatter her ſelf before my voice: for I am the Trumpet of the Higheſt, and the piercing Spirit, diſperſed into all creatures, which are from the beginning in God, and made to his glory, and the uſe of man-kind, that in man he might be glorified.

Give ear therefore, gird up your garments, and ſcatter your hair abroad before the Lord, which is glorified in me, and through whom I ſpeak; and theſe are my words.

Har-

Harden not your hearts againſt the Lord, neither exalt your ſelves above him that hath created you. But humble your ſelves, and conſider you are fleſh, mortal, tranſitory, and full of ſinne.

My brethren, my brethren, ſinne and fleſh appear not before the Lord, neither ſuch as are ſinners, and fleſhly veſſels apt or fit for the Lord to dwell in.

Underſtand what the Lord is, and how great he is: a Judg to the wicked, great and terrible: a father to the holy and ſincere, juſt, full of mercy, and loving kindneſſe.

If you now therefore be holy, and put on the garments of Innocency, and walk before him in righteouſneſſe; Then look to have the reward of Children; Then look for his fatherly mercies, and loving kindneſſe; Then, then rejoyce at the garments of glory prepared for you. If

But if you ſeek him in judgment, and ſtir him up to wrath and anger: if you cauſe him to call the terrible thunders (provided for the wicked) about him, in the moſt furious flames of his indignation, to gather you together like whirl Winds: if you draw his holy Angel from you, and ſpoil you of your armes: if he ſit down upon the mouth of vengeance, and arm himſelf with righteouſneſſe againſt your wickedneſſe. But if

Then look for the horrible and unſpeakable reward of the wicked, and the conſuming fire of Juſtice, ſharper then the two-edged ſword.

Who hath ſtood before the Lord in Juſtice? or who dare quarrel with the higheſt? What fleſh hath ſeen the Lord in his Majeſtie? or can appear before him, as righteous?

Tear your ſelves therefore in pieces, and fall down before the Lord, worſhip him as a father, and become his children: for his Judgments (my brethren) are terrible, and his wrath is without meaſure. Many wayes you are bound and tyed unto God; As by diſcipline you learn.

But three ſpecial wayes you have been advanced by him more then your brothers or ſiſters have bin:

The firſt in the viſitation, wherewithal he hath comforted you, and exalted you above the worldlings, of his good, pure, and juſt Miniſters of eternity and light.

Secondly, in that with his own hand, yea, with the beck of his own eye, beyond the miniſtry of Angels, he hath divers wayes protected you: defended you, yea, and ſnatched you from imminent and violent envy, and prepared deſtruction of Satan, at home, abroad, and diverſe other wayes, ſecret and not to be opened.

Laſtly, that by their meanes and miniſtry, which are his good Angels, and miniſter unto him; he hath guarded you from the wickedneſſe of your own Country, and hath brought you, ready to place you into the lap of a Virgin, with whom, if you take part, you ſhall aſcend into that Hieruſalem, which ſhall deſcend, and there live for ever.

Therefore ought you, above all men, to lift up the horn of the Lord, and to blow his praiſes abroad.

Therefore ought you when others are full of idleneſſe, the dalliances of ſinne, to humble your ſelf upon the earth before the Lord, and to praiſe his Name.

Therefore ought you, though all fleſh forſook the Lord, and cried out againſt his anointed; to ſtand ſtifly againſt the malice of the hills, and to be without fear.

O my brethren, therefore ought you (in very deed) to ſhake off your wickedneſſe, and to cleave (before the Lord) unto the innocency of Angels, delighting in the one as an eternal food, deſpiſing the other as a fire-brand for Hell-fire and the wicked.

△ O Lord, Velle adeſt nobis, aſt abſque tuo ſingulari favore, & auxilio non poſſumus perficere, quod ita debemus præſtare. Igitur Deus.

Lo, behold, your humility is not, you are ſealed to the World, and according to the World meaſure the Lord; Therefore with the World ſhall you be judged. Therefore ſhall the Lord ſit in judgment againſt you. World.

△ O Lord, what prevaileth us that we are are born? or what prevaileth us that we have heard of the myſteries and promiſes moſt merciful of the higheſt, as concerning our Election, if the Lord will not help us in our great frailty and miſery ∴ where ſhall we become on the face of the earth? &c.

…… Hear me. Fret not in Spirit, for it is not in thee. △

E. K. Now a flame of fire flaſheth in my face.

…… O yee of little faith! O yee of little faith! O yee of little faith! I have gathered you together as Prophets. But you flie from me. If I had known or foreſeen, that to ſit on the ſeat of Kings, had been meet for you. to have had habitation or dwelling with the crafty Counſellors of the Earth would have made you fit for me. If I had ſeen that pride of the loathſome heaps of money ill gathered together, could have ſanctified you before me; Then could I have lifted you up, placed you amongſt the worldly wiſe, or opened unto you the lowth of the Earth. But I provided you againſt Kings, againſt Counſellors, againſt the Governours of the World, to open my judgments, and to bear witneſſe of my power. But ſince you are ſo full of rebellion, and will riſe up againſt the Lord that made you, diſdain to take part with his holy Spirit, that you may be rectified and ſanctified to the performance of his holy will; Hear [△] thou my voice.

△ abiſſum, the lowth.

△ Our office appointed.

Take whomſoever thou wilt, in whoſe face the Lord ſhall ſeem to dwell, and place him with this Seer, and let him ſtand ſeven times by him: I will take the ſpirit from him, and will give it unto another, unto the ſame that ſtandeth by, and ſhall have power to ſee: and he ſhall fulfill my word, that I have begun. But if thou do ſo, take heed that upon his head there come no raſor; But keep him for me.

De novo aſciſcendo vidente & Nazareo Domini futuro.

I come again.

△ O Lord God, thou haſt coupled us two together, in thy election, and what the Lord hath joyned, no fleſhly fancy of mine ſhall willingly ſeparate. But Lord, if it be thy will, ſeeing he is ſo hard to give credit to thy holy meſſages, without ſome proof in work firſt paſſed; as for example, this doctrine of the Philoſophers ſtone; that ſo he may come to be allowed, though he imitate Thomas Dydimus in his hard and ſlow belief, or credit given to thy Miniſters in this Action. Lord, proceed herein, that he may perceive thy power and mercies, &c. And Lord, becauſe he is to receive the pledge of thy mercies, and myſtery of the heavenly food, we would gladly hear of that holy Sacrament ſome diſcourſe for our better inſtruction, and his better incouragement to the myſtery receiving.

△ After a good while, in which mean time we had diſcourſed of the Sacrament receiving, and of the Philoſophers ſtone making, he appeared.

E. K. Here he is now.

..... Note well what I ſay unto you.

E. K. He openeth his face, he putteth on a white garment, he taketh up the four corners of his garment, and putteth them under a broad girdle he hath: on his head is nothing, but hair reddiſh wavering.

..... God, in the beginning, of Nothing, by himſelf, made, created, and gathered together all Creatures; of Nothing, becauſe in himſelf he is.

E. K. He holdeth up his hands, and looketh up to heaven, and ſeemeth to pray extentis manibus.

..... If he Be, then doth it follow, that nothing is, but that which is God. But God made not all things (made and created) of himſelf, neither out of himſelf: therefore of nothing.

Underſtand therefore, that God from beginning, and beyond the beginning in himſelf, in himſelf as God, conteined I am and is, proper to himſelf, and for himſelf: But alſo by the knowledge of himſelf, he conteined alſo that Nothing, of the which in his ſecret and determined purpoſe ſeparated from himſelf, he intended to make all things. It followeth neceſſarily (therefore) that that which was not, had no power of it ſelf, muſt remain after the Image of I S, brought or knit together by the Wiſdome of God, ſubſtantially in himſelf, whereby Jeſus Chriſt appeared in his God-head.

But behold, when God the Father and the Son through one ſpiritual ſubſtance and illumination, from one centre, had gatherered together (Ictu Divino) that Nihil ſeparable.

E. K. He ſeemeth to be conſumed to aſhes in a fire, and ſo lyeth as it were in aſhes proſtrate.

E. K. Now he is up again I know not how.

E. K. He ſeemeth now to be very clear, and in manner tranſparent.

..... Say that laſt.

△ I read, But behold, when God, &c. as in the 8th. line above.

E. K. He looketh about him diligently.

..... Then did he ſeparate that Nothing from himſelf, and as it marvelouſly lay hid in him: ſo marvelouſly he wrought upon it: Not at one inſtant, for then it had been like unto himſelf.

Time. But in time, which he firſt made out of nothing: which being conſumed, Nothing ſhall return into the place from whence it came. And that which hath offended in nothing ſhall be a ſecond, oppoſite from God, and out of God; which ſhall have continuance, world without end: And it ſhall be alwayes vexed, the Spirit of God mediating: not of the ſubſtance or pureneſſe of God, or of his Spirit, but with the ſelf-ſame Nothing; out of which God created all things. Seeing therefore, that the Will of God, which is his Image, ſeparating Nothing from eternity, in time made all things (being the work of ſix dayes.) [But I teach you a Myſtery.]

Angels All things that through God are moved to the Center by the Spirit of God, (which is the center of the Godhead) are not after the world, after the conſummation of the world, as Angels and the Mens ſouls. bleſſed ſouls, are not to be reckoned with [that] Nothing: But are of God, becauſe they dwell in him, of whom it is ſaid, There they ſhall not need the Sun nor the Moon, the Lamb himſelf ſhall be their light, and a ſhining lamp for ever. Note here that the Trinity, firſt, ſecond, and third, totally not moved, but by himſelf, in himſelf, time bringing forth all things according to his Word, made all things except Man. For why? when all things had pleaſed him, not becauſe they were, but becauſe by the Word (the Image of himſelf, and wherein he is delighted) they were made, he made man, as the Scripture teacheth you, how by the Spirit of God in Moſes, that he ſhould injoy and uſe the benefit of all this ſomething proceeding from nothing in the Creatures of God in their kind: that in him God might be glorified; not onely in this world, which is your earth & vail of miſery; but alſo and chiefly that the memory of his exceeding and great mercy & omnipotency might remain before him in heaven, in the image of man, and the moſt excellent Creatures, world without end.

E. K. Now he is faln into aſhes again, as before.

E. K. Now he ſtandeth up again, as before.

..... Here is the making of man to be conſidered: for of the moſt excellenteſt dignified, and neereſt part of Nothing diſtributed, as it were approaching neer unto God: God made the Soul of

man,

man, as a thing knit or tied in the convex of his own Sphere, not taking part with Nothing materially, but with Nothing Immortal.

Creation of man.

The Soul was made ſpiritual and increaſing, wherein the Philoſophers, the wiſe men of this world are deceived, and hath been a ſecret ſhut up in the Book of Eſdras, not fit for the world.

Anima hominis Eſdras book.

For even as fleſh by conjunction and commixtion of likelihoods proper in their own nature to bring forth the image of himſelf; ſo doth the moſt excellenteſt part of man, taking part with the vicinity of God, (and ſo perpetually moving) bring forth, after the manner of eternity, every living ſoul: the Spirit of God (conjoyned with the Trinity) working with him in his infinity.

Note of the ſouls ſpiritual increaſing.
A rare Myſtery.

Behold in the beginning God hath not numbred formally all ſouls that ſhall enter into theſe veſſels, or other part. But the matter material in himſelf, he knoweth and hath limited, beyond the which, Deficiente materia, there cannot be. Therefore it is conteined in Number: Not, that it is conteined in Number to be numbred, but within the proportion of number conteined in the knowledg of Jeſus Chriſt, taking part with man, and ſo to be numbred.

△

So that it may be ſaid, that Deus quaſi creando, & homo quaſi generando, animam humanam progignit.

Adam fell; tranſgreſſed God his Commandment, and therefore was his ſoul darkened, bare and naked, becauſe he wanted the beauty and excellency of Gods Spirit, wherein he dignified him, and made him like unto himſelf, being a living ſoul. He was caſt out, and now caſteth off miſery, wanting the knowledge of thoſe things, for the which he was created. Now God, the image of his Father, grieved at the fall of man, and moved with pity, vouchſafed, becauſe of the excellency of man, to enter into man, being before ſeparated, into this part of nothing, into man. Not that he would beautifie himſelf with any thing that man had: But that, Become man, begotten of the Holy Ghoſt, he might, as you know by the Scriptures, make man acceptable again with God his Father, God himſelf, with God in unity, for Juſtice and Terrour is God the Father, Mercy and love is God the Son. Wiſdome and knowledge is God the Holy ghoſt.

The Trinity diſtinct.

He, ſince he became man, put not on the fleſh of man to become a lyar, but that the fleſh of man might be full of the ſpirit of truth and underſtanding.

E. K. Now he is faln again into aſhes.

E. K. Now he is up again.

And ſo receive forgiveneſſe of ſins, and be at one with God, which is to ſay, in his favour, taking hold in God, not as created, and from Creation ſinful by fall. But by ranſome and redemption as bought and made free in Jeſus Chriſt, which offered up the Sacrifice of frankincenſe, gold, and myrrh, of true propitiation, for the quick and the dead.

Now, my brethren, give good ear what I ſay unto you.

The wiſdome of the Father, in love, created and made man, dignifying him, and exalting him, as the Lord and Maſter over all Creatures mortal. But how? by Plaſmation. For it is written, Let us make man.

Here thou ſeeſt alſo the Scripture ſaith, that God took of the Earth. Mark this word, and conſider it when I ſhall apply it.

Earth.

Now if this power, if this Plaſmating, if this Taking, which was the Word, become man, perfect man; then followeth it, that man was and is, God creating and created. If therefore this conjunction or knitting together of God and man, bear the image of him, in excellency and power, which created all things, and by whom this Nothing was ſpread abroad, and had form in his parts: then followeth it, that the ſelf-ſame God and Man being truth, ſpeaking of himſelf unto his Diſciples, ſaying, This is my body.

E. K. Now he is fallen again in aſhes.

E. K. Now he is up again.

+++++ Read.

△ I read, Now my brethren give good ear, &c.

E. K. Now he holdeth up his hands.

+++++ did in breaking of bread, which ſignifieth the earth, in taking it ſignified, the power of making, and his own Office, and breaking it before his Diſciples, according to the ſecret ſenſe of mans ſoul, then being yet alive, give himſelf in the bread, and in breaking unto his Diſciples, as the ſenſe of his word ſpoken.

E K. He ſpeaketh that I underſtand not.

+++++ did import and truly ſignifie himſelf, his very body, to ſuffer, and ſuffered in that, in him, in his Godhead and wiſdome before the worlds it was ſo: his very true body and very true blood. But notwithſtanding Myiſtcally. Conſider of this.

E. K. He is gone.

△ Bleſſed be.

E. K. Now he is here again.

+++++ Mark here for whom, and unto whom Chriſt took, and brake bread: alſo took the Chalice, and called it his blood of the New Teſtament, which ſhall be given.

Here you ſee, that in faith, and Sacramentally it was given unto his Diſciples there, which was alſo to be given upon the Croſſe for the redemption of man-kind; for elſe, why ſhould he have ſaid, which ſhall be given?

Note.
In faith & Sacramentally.

But here my Brethren, in that it was to be given, it was to ſeal the perpetual and everlaſting memory thereof unto the deſtruction of Satan, and the comfort of his choſen. But in ſpirit, before, he had pacified the wrath of his Father: Therefore it was given and to be given.

But unto whom? to his Diſciples, and not unto ſtrangers; not unto the Scribes and Phariſees, but unto ſuch as did apprehend him by faith.

Here thou ſeeſt, that to apprehend by faith, is to be comprehended in the love of God.

But in that Chriſt ſaid that ſhall be ſhed, it ſignified unto the worlds end: for his blood is always ſhed before his father, as a ſatisfaction for the obſtinacy and ſin of man.

The remembrance.

But the remembrance thereof is the power of doing, that he gave to his Diſciples, which conſiſteth in Act, which muſt be done in the Church of God, yea even unto the end. For as God (Jeſus Chriſt) is ſaid to be a Saviour and anointed, ſo is he an eternal King, and a continual Saviour of ſuch as fly unto him, conteining in man (being dignified through his Godhead) the eternal power of preſence and Being, in all places whatſoever.

Chriſtus poteſt eſſe ubique.

Conſider (my brethren) unto what uſe ſhould the body of Chriſt be, if the Body it ſelf were not a Sacrament, and the holy ſign of the peace between God and man.

Behold it is ſaid, unleſſe thou eat of the fleſh and drink of the blood, thou canſt not, &c.

If the Diſciples did eat the body of Christ, Chriſt miniſtring himſelf, and ſtanding by, not yet crucified, why therefore ſhouldeſt not thou eat the body of the ſame Chriſt, which dwelleth in thee, and in whom thou haſt to dwell.

But here is to be conſidered the manner of eating.

E.K. Now he falleth in aſhes again.

E.K. Now he is up again.

..... But at whom ſhall we learn this manner of eating? My brethren, of his Diſciples. For although Chriſt himſelf alive, viſibly and ſubſtantially ſtood beſide them, and miniſtred unto them: Notwithſtanding took bread, brake it, and gave it unto them, ſaying, This is my body: They ſimply did believe it, conſidering and acknowledging his Omnipotency (which Peter had grounded in ſaying, Thou art the Son of the living God.)

If therefore he be acknowledged of us (I ſpeak for you) to be the Son of the living God. Then muſt we truly confeſſe, that all things are poſſible unto him, and that by faith, we ought to believe the myſteries, works and wonders of God, Sacramentally opened and to be uſed for the cure of our own ſores.

[He ſpeaketh I know not what, nor to whom.]

..... Read.

△ I read: But at whom? &c.

And not as the wicked uſe to do; Tie the power and majeſty of God and his Omnipotency to the tail or end of reaſon, to be halled as ſhe will.

If his Apoſtles have left us examples of belief, have taught us how to believe, and upon what rock and foundation to faſten our belief; Then ſimply and nakedly follow the ſteps of true Faith, and laying reaſon aſide, believe.

But here note, that this Sacrament is to be miniſtred amongſt the Apoſtles, amongſt the Miniſters and true Servants of God, in his Church, and not in the temple of the Scribes and Phariſees, Hypocrites, and Deceivers, which whileſt they tear Chriſt Jeſus and his body after the frowardneſſe of their own ſenſe, do eat (as Judas did) and ſo periſh eternally.

But I ſay unto you, and teach you, that whereſoever in the true Church of God remembrance is made, and the uſe of this Sacrament is celebrated of the true body and blood of Jeſus Chriſt crucified, there is alſo the true body of Chriſt, God and man ſubſtantial, and bread of eternal comfort and food, to ſuch as humbly, nakedly, and penitently receive it, propitiatory for the quick and the dead; not unto ſuch as are dead in ſin, and in hell, and out of this life, but unto ſuch as are here Sinners, and ſo dead, and to be revived. For he that dwelleth in Chriſt is quick, becauſe he dwelleth in life and light. But he that goeth out of Chriſt through ſin, and in whom Chriſt dwelleth not, he is dead. For this, I have ſaid.

△ Lord, what ſhall we ſay to the Prieſts, when they would have us to acknowledge Tranſubſtantiation, &c.

△ The words of Conſecration pronounced. Sub forma panis.

..... The bread that was miniſtred by Chriſt unto his Diſciples, was not a figure of his body, but his true body. So the Miniſter uſing the office and perſon of Chriſt in office, pronouncing the [△] words, doth alſo give unto the people not Bread, but the true body.

But hear me. Thou muſt conſider it as a Sacrament, and muſt believe as the Diſciples did, that it is the true body of Chriſt, that thou eateſt in the form of Bread.

△ As concerning under both kinds recieving, what is your doctrine?

..... Caro & ſanguis faciunt corpus & conſtituunt.

△ Then it is no offence to God, to receive under one kind onely.

△ As concerning the worſhipping of it, being lifted up by the Prieſt.

..... That, by faith (in that it is believed to be the true body,) is alſo by faith to be worſhipped: Not in that it hath the ſhape of bread, but that it is the body of Chriſt, true God and man.

△ As concerning alſo the reſerving of it, being conſecrated, what are we to underſtand?

..... Reaſon hath no place here: To them that receive it, it is a Sacrament. But receiving ceaſing, the Sacrament ceaſeth alſo.

Celebrandi, & accipientibus, Sacramentum & Sacrificium eſt: Ceſſante celebratione, & nullis accipientibus, ceſſat Sacramentum & Sacrificium. Nam Sacramentum dicitur ab inſtitutione & modo.

The mean conſiſteth in them both.

..... To morrow you ſhall hear more of me, in the mean ſeaſon conſider you, How merciful God is unto you through me, and open this doctrine alſo unto your wives, that they may alſo know God truly.

△ Gloria in excelſis Deo, & in terra pax hominibus bonæ voluntatis.

1585. ✝ Praga.

Januarii 29. Tueſday. Manè hora 10 ½.

Orationibus finitis, poſt heſternæ actionis lectionem, apparuit, facie velata, ut prius.

..... I demonſtrated to you, yeſterday, how the viſible ſigne or matter appearing was united and knit unto the viſible, ſignificated: wherein and Whereunto I anſwered in my own form and perſon, for whoſoever talketh of God and Chriſt expounding the Scriptures, ought to talk plainly, truly, and openly, that that which they ſpeak may be underſtood. This is the Office of a Preacher. Even ſo I talking of God, and illuminated to this Office, for the time, was bare, becauſe I ſpake not of my ſelf. But the doctrine I taught you was true: and is worthy to be graved in golden Tables, and monumentally to be placed upon the altar, wherein man may ſee, as in a glaſſe, How God through his Sacraments and holy inſtitutions, ſanctifieth, regenerateth and purifieth man unto himſelf.

Now to the work intended, which is called in the Holy Art Gebofal, which is not (as the Philoſophers have written,) The firſt ſtep ſupernatural, but it is the firſt ſupernatural ſtep naturally limited unto the 48 Gates of Wiſdom; where your holy Book beginneth. The laſt is the ſpeaking with God, as Moſes did, which is infinite: All the reſt have proper limits, wherein they are contained.

But underſtand that hoc opus unum receiveth Multiplication and dignification, by aſcenſion through all the reſt that are limited according to their proper qualities.

Ars Sancta.
GEBOFAL.
Prima Porta libri ſancti.
48 Portæ Sapientiæ.
Colloquium cũ Deo, ſumma Sapientiæ Porta.

Of this knowledg I have laid a ſure foundation, have taught what it is, and the inſtrument wherewithal, and whereby it is. The manner of proceeding, and her Baſis. So that there wanteth nothing but the ſimple and eaſie unknitting of thoſe things that are wrapped, not with the bands of it ſelf, but with the obſcurity and caliginous Cloud of your own ignorance.

Multiplication.
Dignification.
What hath been taught.
What yet lacketh.

But if the Cloud be in you, then by your own help and conſent it muſt be removed.

△ By the favour and help of the Higheſt we truſt the Cloud ſhall be removed.

..... Take heed therefore you lift not up your ſelves in mind, preſuming againſt reaſon, (whereby you are knit together,) and the will of God: whereby you are taught obedience.

For pride is hateful before God: and to be in love with your ſelves is the greateſt ignorance.

Shall a dark ſeller brag or boaſt of her beauty? becauſe ſhe receiveth light and cleerneſſe, by a Candle brought into, or ſhining into her.

Pride:
Self-love.

No more canſt thou, [E. K.] for the ripenneſſe of thy wit and underſtanding is through the preſence of us, and our illumination.

But if we depart, thou ſhalt become a dark ſeller, and ſhall think too well of thy ſelf in vain.

Matter wanteth amongſt you, the fire cannot continue, but when you bring more Wood, you ſhall have more fire, I will not viſit you again, until the ſeventh day.

△ Deo noſtro Omnipotenti, Sempiterno vero & vivo, ſit omnis Laus, Decor, Gloria & gratiarum actio, nunc & ſemper. Amen.

✝ Praga.

February 5. Tueſday. Mane, horam circiter 10.

△ Orationibus finitis, & ſpecialiter pro miſericordia divina ſuper nos tres, [A L.] [E. K.] [△] ad ejus honorem, laudem, & gloriam.

E. K. He is here now.

△ Gloria patri, &c.

We

Wo be unto the World, for ſhe hath appeared before the Lord unpure.

Wo be unto the Sonnes of men, for they are the dwelling places of the beaſt.

Fames.

Wo be unto the ſeed of the earth, and unto the ſeed within her, for ſhe is touched with fire from on high, and is trod under the feet of the Higheſt.

Who is he that girdeth his ſword unto him: or what is he that is ready for the battel? ſuch as have forſaken the Lord and are run aſtray: and hath placed himſelf with the ſcornful.

Juſti opprimentur.

Great ſorrow is at hand unto all fleſh: the juſt ſhall be troden down, and the ſtreets ſhall bear witneſſe of them.

Bellum.

For there is a Battail proclaimed in Heaven, and the God of Hoſts hath put on his armour, and is become a fire of wrath.

Now commeth the time, that ſuch as fo. tè, fear not God, ſhall fall down Headlong, and ſuch as have been lifted up, runne aſtray and down willfully.

Happy is he that endureth and appeareth a Labourer before the Lord, for he ſhall enter into his holy hill, and ſhall be crowned with the Victory.

Such as God coveteth, they flie from him: yea, ſuch as ſerve at his Tables, become his enemies.

What therefore ſhall I ſay? I make ſeed, but I reap it not: I build, but I enjoy not.

△ Be merciful to us, O God, and help our frailty, purge our filthineſſe, and create a clean heart in us, &c.

..... The ſinner knocketh and is heard: but he that is juſt entreth, For into the Sanctuary of the Lord, no unclean thing commeth, for being cleanſed, they enter.

△ Make clean firſt.

He that is a Prophet, or an Apoſtle, or a Servant called, by the mouth of the Lord, and ſo ſeperated from the reſt, let him do his duty; Firſt, that he make himſelf clean before the Lord; And then may he hear, and ſit in judgment, againſt the impure and unjuſt, and may ſee the works and wonders of the Lord in his holy place.

Laboro vos, ad nauſeam.

E. K. He is gone.

△ After an hour we had diſcourſed together, I fell to this Prayer.

△ O Lord thou haſt heard our conferences, diſcourſes and reſolutions: O God, be our comfort, and reconcile theſe repugnances of purpoſes, ſo as it may appear that thou art the merciful Father, the almighty and living God, the Creator of all things being and that thy promiſes made in mercy and favour, ſhall not with mans frailty be overthrown, or hindred. Manifeſt thy power and glory to us herein, that thy Prophecies may come to light, to the end and purpoſe thy Wiſdom and power may work thy own honor and glory. So be it.

E. K. Now ſir, where are you?

...... Here I am, the ſervant of God.

Unus veſtrum, vocatus eſt hujus negotii miniſter.

Alter, Puer.

Igitur ad impleat miniſter miniſterium: Puer autem humili & ſe miniſterio.

Underſtand that.

Parabola de ſene nudo & puero. Suprà 13.

△ I remember the old Parable told us of a man naked, who cloathed himſelf with leaves, and of a child, and a Whale, &c. Anno 1584. Aprilis 21. Cracoviæ.

Hear my counſel, and follow it.

Conſilium.

Wonderful and great are the ſecrets and judgments of Gods determinations to come: which are all ready leaſed and gathered into your boſome.

A ſimilitude of the Rain bow very apt.

They are great and true: and are like unto the Rainbow which the Sunne maketh by the aptneſſe of the matter and place (that ſheweth it ſelf ſuddenly and many behold it: So ſhall the harveſt of this Doctrine, when the Vial is runne, and the World receiveth diſpoſition, ſhew himſelf wonderful and terrible to all Nations.

But if the matter agree not with the weakneſſe of your underſtanding, and palpable blindneſſe; Repine not, neither murmur. But pray, that you may have the ſpirit of God, to underſtand, and that your eyes may be opened.

△ Regum lib. 4. cap. 6. C. Elizeus.

The Prophet [△] ſaw, but his boy did not.

But the Prophet praying, the boyes eyes were opened.

Theſe myſteries are delivered and taught to a Miniſter apt for them through the Grace and foreknowledg of God, wherein ho hath bleſſed thee, Dee.

Dee.

Unto thee is joyned the dignity of this mans veſſel, which miniſtreth unto thee, as a ſervant.

He therefore is not part of the labour, but part of thy knowledge.

Kelley.

Kelley. True it is, that this rain falleth out at thy requeſt. But lo, thou art let into the garden, and art preferred before all others, as a gatherer, that the wonders of the Lord may be finiſhed in his Houſe.

Mirabilia Dei.

Our own judgment is to be laid aſide.

Therefore ſeeing thou art let in as a ſervant, not as a J U D G, lay Judgment aſide, and do thy duty.

So ſhall it come to paſſe that the miniſter, through thee, ſhall be ſatisfied, (as through the labour of a neceſſary) and thou through thee ſatisfied, ſhalt be ſatisfied alſo.

△ Through E. K. to be ſatisfied.

In the mean ſeaſon gather thy ſelf together, fear God truly, and humbly go home unto thy Mother.

△ Ad Eccleſiam Catholicam Matrem omnium fidelium, redundam eſt.

Endeavour thy ſelf to know things neceſſary for mans underſtanding, whereby thou ſhalt be apter to judg, and to take part with the * Spirit of God.

△ * In Eccleſia Catholica.

I promiſe thee, if thou do ſo, that the Spirit of underſtanding in all humane knowledg and divine, ſufficiently for thy Profeſſion, Calling, and Creation ſhall multiply upon thee.

A promiſe to E. K. of great importance.

△ I preſume not to interrupt your diſcourſe of matter, but as we are knit with the Lord A. L. in league of friendſhip, for the Service of God, ſo doth charity, and the order of our affaires require that ſomewhat we ſhould underſtand of his preſent eſtate, &c.]

A. L.

...... Caſt pride away and be humble: for he that hath an humble ſpirit knoweth much.

Et cum puer Prophete, es, ab illo quære, ipſe te informabit.

Video & circumſpicio, ſed non video, Lasky.

△ Oh Lord, what is this, what is this! Oh Lord!

...... Sedem poſuit Satanus in cor ejus, & neglexit mandata Dei.

Si quæ dixi feceritis, bene fiet vobis: Sin minus, fiat vobis, ſed bene mihi.

A. L. Nor apparet in conſpectu bonorum.

△ Give me leave to ſpeak I pray you.

...... Fio, loquendo, macer.

△ If Lasky fall, (upon whom ſo much of our worldly doings is grounded, as the Houſe-keeping, ſtill in Cracovia, in hire for an year, &c.) How ſhall we ſupply the wants? &c.

..... Si ceciderit, ſtatu.

Unicum habet [A.L.] à cœlo ſecum relictum.

But iniquity and negligence cauſeth him avolare alſo, of 21, this is the laſt.

△ O Lord, Lord, Lord, have mercy upon us.

...... Conſider this laſt counſel for I can counſel you no more. As your ſight is, ſo ſhall you ſee me.

A. L. Unicum bonum Angelum jam ſibi habet relictum: Habuit 21. ultimum conſilium.

△ I beſeech you let me know your name, if it ſhall not offend you to ask.

∴

...... Sum ſanctiſſimi ſigilli fœderis centrum.

△ Are you the ſame that is about the Croſſe in the Center?

Sigillum fœderis.

...... I. [$\overset{v}{L}$+na] △ Then are you Levanaël.

Leva. Relinquo, ſed non deſero. ∴ E. K. He is gone.

△ Gloria, Laus, Honor Deo noſtro Omnipotenti. Amen.

∴

△ Lib. 2. In Sigillo Dei.

+ Praga.

Februarii 18.

Monday Mane horam circitèr 9.

△ Orationibus ad Deum fuſis, & aliquantulum de E. K. quantum ad myſteriorum participationem preſentem: ut miſericorditèr nobiſcum agat, & illius [E. K.] intentionem, & fidem Catholicam reſpicit, & ut ſua divina bonitas nobiſcum procederet in myſterio perficiendo; viz. de lapide Philoſophorum, propter honorem & gloriam ſui nominis, &c.

E. K. I ſee an endleſſe thing like a red Sea. A head cut off from a body doth appear: the Hair hath bin pulled off it: that Head appeareth to come out up of that bloudy Sea, tumbling ſometime one part, and ſometime another upward, and ſometime under the water clean.

Shortly after.

E. K. Now I ſee a Tree upon an old Hill full of moſſe in a deſolate place, beſides the former water.

The Tree is ſprung of a graft, which hath been grafted in ∴ The Tree hath a few green leaves on, and many old leaves: The ſtate of the Tree is as if it were Autumn. There lyeth by it the top of a Tree cut off, and dead withered.

The Tree hath a eleven Shots or branches iſſuing out of it.

There tumbleth down from heaven a white thing, and out of it iſſueth an arm with a broad axe in his hand, ſuch as they hew pamnel board with, it ſeemeth to be about a yard long

That hand with his nail maketh a race down along the body of the Tree, and then ſpreadeth the bark open from that place of the race made.

Quod erit, & futurum eſt, eſt & non eſt.

A voice.

E. K. That voice ſeemeth to come out of the top of the Shew Stone.

E. K. On the place of the Tree where it was made bare appeared two figures of 8, one in manner under another. Now the bark is put together again, and the Tree ſeemeth whole, and as it were not cut.

A voice out of the white.

Quod erit & futurum eſt, jam eſt.

10 branches cut off of the grafted tree.

E. K. At this word he ſtrook off ten of the Tree branches, and the ſtem or branch that ſtandeth, ſeemeth to be now between me and the Sun riſen about an hour high; And that ſtem or branch hath five leſſer branches out of it.

Every.

E. K. Now there ſtandeth one like Michael,, with a tanckard in his hand of ſilver and ſtooped, he ſaith;

Mich. ...... Iterum Lavabo te.

E. K. He waſheth with water, and his hands the old branch cut off. Now he taketh that old branch up in his hand, and holdeth it up. The ax is torned from the tree.

A voice from the top of the ſtone.

..... Plantavi te, & neglexiſti mandata & ſtatuta legis meæ, & in ſuperbia tua defalcavi te: Sed jam memor ſum verborum & pacti mei apud patres, & occupabis locum ſolitum, & ipſe rorabo te nubibus cœli. Jam ponam timorem in cor tuum, & viſitabo te legibus meis, & introducam pedes reductos in Sanctuarium: Neque cades, ſicut patres tui ciciderunt; Induxi gentem malam & ſuperbam, & benedixi ei, (ſed proh dolor) tædet me. Igitur dejeci, & præcipitavi illos à me: Ne forte triumphantes poſuiſſent nullum Deum.

Michael..... Magnus es tu Ben Elohim, magna eſt gloria tua, magnitudo tua ſuperat cœlos, & jam regnabis in terris.

Regnum Dei in terris inſtat.

E. K. Now Michael putteth on the dead bough on the former tree: Now he with the ax with his thumb, cloſeth the barks together.

Now out of heaven commeth drops of a rain, and that ſtem which was ſo put to, had 12 branches; and both that and the reſt ſpringeth together very freſhly.

Michael. ..... Qui habet occulos videat, & cui ſunt aures audiat.

Dee

{ Dee Kelly

E. K. Now appeareth one like △ under the tree.

E.K. or Safeguard.

And alſo I ſee my ſelf (ſaid E. K.) comming there, and my Gown is all white, but bebloudied: and △ ſeemeth to have a white Gown, or rather like a womans ſafeguard full of pleats, and full of mens eyes.

Seven more.

There appear ſeven more, ſix men and one boy. One is a Blackamore.

They have all white garments alſo.

The tree at the firſt ſeemed to bring forth and ſhew horns, and after that there appeared men iſſuing out or growing plentifully on that tree, and thoſe men to have thoſe horns.

Then he with the Ax pulled one of thoſe men off, and pulled one of his horns, skull and all, and thereof gave to eat to △, E. K. and the other ſeven; and they did eat: and ſo all the Viſion did vaniſh away, nothing appearing in the ſtone.

A voice.

..... Iſta ad rem; Vos autem poſt modicum admonebo.

——— △ After half an hour, wherein we talked de Converſione Judæorum.

E. K. Here is now Levanael, as before time.

Levan. ..... O thou which art of the ſeed of the earth, attend my voice, and open thy heart, that thy bowels may be filled with gladneſſe, and that within thy head may wiſdome enter, ſince God hath not onely called thee, but alſo hath made a choice in thee, If thou hear his voice, and obey it.

If

Be not ſtiff-necked, neither ſuffer ſenſual imaginations to obſcure or defile thy inward underſtanding. The firſt nouriſheth thee to the nouriſhment of thy fleſh, that thy fleſh periſhing may alſo carry thy ſoul with it. The ſecond teacheth thee to underſtand thy ſelf, and thereby to acknowledg the Creator: that thereby thy ſoul purified may alſo purifie thy body: that thereby in the end thou mayeſt riſe a purified and perfect Creature.

Behold, there are which riſe; and have loſt their bodies: and there are alſo which riſe, and they riſe in body.

Qui appetit ſe propter ſe, not intelligit Deum, ſed qui intelligit Deum, appetit ſeipſum; ſed appetitus ejus non eſt à ſe, ſed ab alio.

Since therefore, to ſeek God [not] for your own ſakes, is to glorifie God, lift up your ſelves, and behold the heavens, and look into the earth, and muſe at her wonders: And let not the leſſer part carry away the greater.

E. K. I pray you ſpeak higher, I can ſcarce hear you.

Thoſe that have their Sanctification through promiſe, and fulfilling of the Will of God, have al-

wayes

wayes forſaken themſelves: But yet, for themſelves, followed his Commandements; Therefore I ſay forſake your ſelves, and do the will of God, that for the comforts of your ſelves, and your eternal ſalvation, you may ſeek God.

But he that ſeeketh God, ſeeketh him through patience, through afflictions, through temptations.

Therefore deſpiſe this Monſter that tempteth you, and neglect her in the middeſt of her pride, for ſhe is poor, miſerable, and prepared as a fire-brand for deſtruction; if you ſeek riches of her, ſhe hath none, if you ſeek wiſdom at her, ſhe knoweth it not, if you deſire quietneſſe, and the joyes of reſt, ſhe cryeth out againſt you, Watch, Watch, and gird up your ſelves.

Patience.
Afflictions.
Temptations.
Mundus.

And if you ſeek eternal life, or ſtudy to pleaſe God, and to glorifie him, whereunto you are created, ſeperate your ſelves from the Harlot.

Swear your ſelves her enemy, and hate all thoſe that take part with her; For, behold, ſhe is become an enemy of him that created you, a Blaſphemer of him whom you ſeek to glorifie, the daughter of him, which ſet himſelf againſt the Higheſt.

A mundo & mundanis debemus eſſe alieni.

Therefore for your Creations ſake, ought you to deſpiſe her.

For your Redemptions ſake to neglect her, and for the Glory that you ſeek to attain unto, utterly to deſpiſe or contemn her.

But here, peradventure, you will ſay unto me, as he ſaid unto Chriſt the Sonne of the living God.

E. K. He maketh curſy, and kiſſeth the ground.

What ſhall I do to enherit everlaſting life?

I ſay unto you follow the Commandements.

Behold, it is written, I give you a new Commandement; Love one another.

How love you one another without Charity?

Love.

But what is Charity? is it not the gift of the Holy Ghoſt? you know it is ſo, you know alſo, that the Holy Ghoſt is called a Comforter.

But conſider with your ſelves, why he is called a Comforter; Not becauſe he comforteth himſelf, for he is all comfort; But becauſe he is the comfort of ſuch as he hath ſpoken to, ſaying, I have given you a new Commandement, Love one another; But, who are they? Even they that eat the fleſh, and drink the bloud of the Sonne of man Jeſus Chriſt, the Sonne of God, true God and man, which unleſſe you do, you are not of that Company unto whom Chriſt ſaid I give you a new Commandment.

For in ſo doing you are grafted in Chriſt, are ſubject to the Commandment, tyed unto Charity, wherein you are refreſhed by the Holy Ghoſt the Continual Comforter, and giver of wiſdom to ſuch as dwell in Chriſt.

See therefore that none is of Chriſt, that hath not Charity, neither hath any Charity, that is not of the Company of ſuch as feed of the fleſh and bloud of Jeſus Chriſt, without the which there is no Salvation, therefore art thou E. K. a lyar when thou ſayeſt I fear God, I love God, I intend to live well and in obedience, for thou followeſt not his Commandements, thou flieſt from him; Therefore thou art not with him.

But I hear * thee ſaying, I confeſſe my ſelf to Chriſt before the Throne of God.

But thou haſt not offered thy ſelf unto the Prieſt, neither haſt laid down thy Sacrifice.

I ſay unto thee, Thou confeſſeſt not thy ſelf, neither thy ſinnes, before God, becauſe thou commeſt not where he is.

* △ E. K. did confeſſe that he thought ſo at this inſtant.

Penance.

Not that God ſeeth thee not, but that he is ſaid not to hear ſinners, unleſſe they be penitent, but penance is limited by the Church, and ſorrowfulneſſe is not judged by thy ſelf, it behoveth thee therefore, if thou wilt flie unto Chriſt, to enter into the Company of ſuch as profeſſe him, where he is, and with whom he dwelleth.

The Church.
Ad Eccleſiam Catholicam confugiendam.

There, at what time thou repenteſt thee of thy ſinnes, and ſhalt confeſſe them with ſorrowfulneſſe, before him which is in office at the myſtery; there alſo by the myſtery (which is Chriſt) ſhalt thou receive forgiveneſſe of thy ſinnes.

For if he that miniſtreth, is heard in the power of his Adminiſtration, and Sacramental vow, much more hath he power to forgive Sinnes; For lo, that he doth, is not of himſelf, but his dignity is of that, whereof he is called a Prieſt.

Now therefore I ſay unto thee E. K. until thou make thy ſelf clean, thou ſhalt continue filthy, & immundis & impuris, non revelat Deus Sacramenta.

But even as thou, not clean, ſeeſt, and yet ſeeſt nothing: ſo being cleanſed, not ſeeing thou ſhalt ſee, and ſee all things.

I have done.

△ Gloria Patri & Filio & Spiritus ſancto, ſicut erat in principio, & nunc & ſemper, & in ſecula ſeculorum. Amen.

1585. + Praga.

Februarii 23.

Saturday A meridie horam circiter 2.

Orationibus ad Deum fuſis, pro luce & veritate divina, &c.

△ The occaſion of this comming to the Shew-Stone, was that as we ſat together in the Stove, there was a pat or ſtroke or two (not natural) given on the Bench and Wall: and withal I felt on my head a heavy moving thing, and alſo after that E. K. felt on his back, as if one had written letters diſtinctly: whereupon we went to underſtand the will of God, as being thereto half warned and ſtirred by theſe tokens.

E. K. Madimi is here.

△ Benedicti ſunt pedes evangelizantium pacem & favorem altiſſimi.

Madimi …… What ſhould I ſpeak unto you, ſince you have no faith?

Faith. Why ſhould I teach you that deſpiſe my documents?

I knock in vain, for you hear me not.

Unus unam alius aliam quærit: diſpares eſtis.

△ Deus poteſt omnibus & diverſiſſimis ſatisfacere, bona ſemper petentibus.

Madimi …… Shall I ſpeak, or no?

△ Speak in the Name of God, who would not hear the words of the wiſe and of the mighty, of the good and true?

Mater. Madimi. Madimi ….. Shall I cloſe my mouth, becauſe of your wickedneſſe? or ſhall I open my mouth, becauſe my Mother hath commanded me?

I will go back, and will deſire that my mouth may be ſewed up with a double threed: for aſſure your ſelf I will not come again willingly: But if ſhe ſay again, Go, I will come.

Iui, wherefore doth God give bread to Dogs: or ſuffereth his ſonne to ſhine to the bottomleſſe Caves? I know a cauſe, but yet I am torn in ſpirit.

O Mother, Mother, if thou ſhouldeſt ſpeak unto this people, out of and from above the Clouds, they would melt before thee, yea, they would fall.

But lo thou ſpeakeſt unto them by thy daughter that they may ſtand and hear, but they hear not: But I ſwear unto thee, they deſpiſe thee.

What ſhall therefore become of them? I go, I will ſee if I can abſent my ſelf from them.

△ She went away as if ſhe had been angry, in the mean ſpace we argued after our former manner; E. K. as he was wont, and I ſtill in my conſtant hope of Gods mercies,

After half an hour. E. K. Now ſhe is here again.

E. K. She putteth off her peticoat, and putteth on an other Garment full of pleats of a golden colour, and after that an other Garment, upon that Garment with many Crowns bordered on it, with hands out of every of them, and a great part of the Arm, they are right hands, the firſt Garment (which ſhe put off) and flingeth it into a fire.

Madimi ….. I ſpeak unto you, though I ſay nothing.

Madimi …… The counſels from above, are perfect, becauſe they deſcend.

Conſilia Dei. But the wrappings of mans wit, are unperfect knots, hard to put together, and harder to unloſe: Therefore they are not.

Impriſonment conſpired againſt me. △ But theſe are of God, and they are true. Envious minds, and falſe hearts, do hunt after thee, and they have ſaid and have conſpired; But I have ſaid unto them, be it unto them, as they have meaſured unto others: And that which they have nouriſhed in corners, let it be fire, and conſume their dwelling places; Let it ſeek out their brothers: Let their throats be burſt in pieces: Let it range along their Kingdomes, and let it burn down the gate of their borders, that the way may be wide: for a narrow way ſerveth not where I bring in miſchief, I will bring her to the borders, and will place her in the Gates, and will ſay unto her.

Accipe tibi vim.

And I will give her a two edged ſword, but I will not enter in with her: becauſe I will not hear their Lamentations, neither be moved with their groanings.

Theſe are the hard and heavy knots, that the evil ſpirit and mans wit hath wrought togther; But becauſe they are humane, they ſhall periſh.

The way is prepared by A. L. Truly it ſeemeth good to my Mother and me: and our conſent thinketh good alſo, (and the rather becauſe ſhe hath prepared the way by her own wiſdome, which part of the North you muſt alwayes (look unto,) and be directed by.

For why, that Conſtellation is true, and doth teach thoſe that erre; Thoſe alſo that are right, it comforteth them.

But

But I will go unto my Mother, and ask her once more, whether I may hide theſe things from you.

Sapientia divina noſtra debet eſſe ſtella nauticis in hoc mari magno.

E. K. She is gone.

△ We read over the premiſſes, and gathered, that ſome treachery was deviſed againſt me: And therefore, I beſeech God, to give us his counſels, and adviſes, to be my guide and protector; my light and comfort.

E. K. Here ſhe is again.

Madimi ...... That you both, or (if you will be diſtracted) one of you, go ſecretly hence, and ſpeedily unto Lasky: So ſhall it come to paſſe, that he whom they intended to impriſon, (ſaying, we will compel him to perform his word, leaſt he peradventure triumph elſewhere againſt us;) [&] may at laſt, open the Priſon Doores for them, and ſalute a ſtrange King, even in the ſelf ſame place, where they ſhall eat to morrows Dinner. But when they perceive that you are gone; Then will they underſtand that you knew, and that the ſpirit of God was amongſt you.

Flie from Prage.

The words of the Conſpirators.

I come again.

E. K. She is here againe.

Spiritus Dei nobiſcum.

Madimi ...... If theſe words be true, bear witneſſe of the truth: if you think them to be falſe, you need not follow them.

△ How ſoon would you adviſe me to be going hence? you ſee how bare I am of money.

Madimi ...... Do ſo as in an eminent danger. I have ſpoke the laſt word. Sed adhuc tria; Omnia ſuccedent voto.

△ Deo noſtro Omnipotenti, ſapienti, & miſericordi, ſit omnis gratiarum actio, Laus, Honor, & Gloria, nunc & ſemper, Amen.

Monday

Februarii 25. à meridie, circiter $1\frac{1}{2}$.

Precibus ad Deum finitis, citò apparuit Angelus Dei.

E. K. Fell on his back as one had written as he ſat at the Table; Hereupon we reſorted to the Shew-Stone, &c.

E. K. Here is Madimi.

Madimi ...... You have vowed to your ſelves, and to the Lord, perform your vowes. That which God commandeth, that do.

Excuſe your ſelves with men, and gird up your Garments to the travaile; Not in Waggon, but on Horſe-back.

E. K. I pray you to give us ſome inſtructions of my Lord Lasky his being.

Travaile hence directly, and unto Wratiſlania, and there I will meet you.

E. K. I pray you to deal openly with us, according to our frail ſtate, and to declare unto us of my Lord Lasky his eſtate.

A. L.

Madimi ...... You depend not upon Lasky, but Lasky dependeth upon you; if he do evil, his puniſhment is ready: if he do well, he doth it for himſelf.

I am greater then you, and my eye ſtretcheth farther then yours; yea, though you went to morrow, you have loſt ſome dayes.

Dayes.

△ I muſt carry my Books with me, we muſt be at the leaſt three horſe.

Madimi ...... Not ſo, but thou ſhalt hide them.

Books to be hidden.

△ Am I to return hither again, before my wife come from hence?

Madimi ...... I am not fleſh, neither do I move, or am moved with fleſh; But if you fulfill the firſt, the reſt followeth.

Do this, as though you committed theft, △ Secretly and ſpeedily.

for if the hours be diminiſhed, the purpoſe ſhall alſo want ſucceſſe.

Houres.

Ductus es, ſequere ſi vis.

The hand is open, and ready to take hold on you, what therefore ſhall I ſay more to you?

△ What hand I pray you?

Madimi ...... Manus amplectens non rapiens.

△ Lord I underſtand not that neither.

E. K. She is gone.

△ In manus tuas Domine, Commendamus noſtra corpora, animas noſtras & ſpiritus noſtros.

Amen.

Wedneſday.

February 27. △ I and E. K. and Thomas Kelly as ſervant, rode to Limburg, (otherwiſe named Nimburge,) ſix miles from Prage, in the way toward Breſſel: otherwiſe, named Wratiſlania.

Februaris 28. Manè circa 6 horam. At Limberg.

Thurſday. Note, I had cauſed from 4 of the clock in the morning the Horſes to be looked unto, ſo as, by five, or aſſoon as it was break of day, we might be riding.

In the mean ſpace while E. K. yet lay in his bed awake, and I was in the next Chamber by, in ordering my things of my male. E K. heard a voice (like mine) ſay D.

Whereat he asked me, what ſay you? I anſwered, that I ſpake nothing. Then he doubted what creature did uſe that voice. Afterward he roſe: and when he had been ready a while, and ſate in the Chamber where my male lay, he ſaid, that he felt ſomewhat crawling, or as one writing on his back, and at length to aſcend into his head. And ſo I left him, and went out into another place, and kneeled to pray, and prayed, and upon the comming in of Thomas Kelly into that room where I kneeled (in the Door of a little open Gallery over the ſtreet) I roſe up, and went in again to E. K. and he told me that he ſlumbred by reaſon of the heavineſſe of his head, and that he ſeemed to ſee me praying, and Michael to ſtand by me. I anſwered, that truth it was I had been ſomewhat bent to prayer, but that I could not pray as I would, &c. Hereupon, Immediately he ſaw Michael over my Head with a pen in his hand: Thereupon I was reſolved that I was to write ſomewhat of importance: And I made ſpeed to take pen, ink and paper, and to ſettle my ſelf to writing, becauſe we made haſt to ride, as intending to ride 8 or 9 miles that day, and company tarrying for us: one of them being a Jew, whoſe ſiſter is wife to Doctor Salomon of Prague the Jew, &c. And going about to attend for ſomething to write, a voice ſaid, as followeth.

A Viſion.

A Voice.

Cur non includis te ad audiendum vocem meam?

△ Hereupon, I did ſhut all the Doors, and uttermoſt Doors.

Note the reaſon why a Receptacle is of more credit.

A voice ...... In receptaculo, ut magis approbetur veritas.

△ Hereupon ſpeedily I took out the Shew-ſtone, and ſet it on the Table before E. K.

E. K. Here appeareth a white Circle round about the border of the Stone, and a ball or Globe of flaming fire in the midſt; The white Circle hath great brightneſſe of light in it.

Madimi.

E. K. Now here is Madimi, ſhe ſtandeth in the white Circle: and looketh into the fire, ſhe kneeleth.

On the outſide of her, ſtandeth Michael with a ſword.

E. K. Madimi is gone away, and Michael is come to the lower part of the Circle.

A voice ...... Speak, for who controlleth me?

E. K. Michael boweth himſelf toward his feet, as though he kiſſed the place where he ſtood: as if it were the Circle that he kiſſed.

Michael ...... Theſe are the words of the Lord, and of me his Angel, and Miniſter of truth: and they follow.

Behold, I have led you forth diverſe times: and you have obeyed me. Therefore I ſay unto you, Be now Stewards of more.

△ O merciful God.

E. K. He ſpreadeth his Arms abroad, and ſtoopeth down.

Michael ...... He that committeth his Treaſure unto man, findeth favour, and at his return hath his own. But he that committeth himſelf unto me, and heareth my voice, I will write his Name in the Book of Life. Behold, Behold, Behold, I ſwear and it is.

Dee.

That in thee, Dee, I delight. And lo, becauſe thou haſt obeyed me, and not of force of humane perſwaſions, I ſhew unto thee what is to come, and what I would have thee to do: and wherefore thou commeſt hither.

△ Fiat voluntas Dei. E.K.

Michael ...... Cover me for a while, leſt peradventure thou ſee I am beyond the ability of thy capacity, and ſo return not eaſily.

E. K. He becommeth very bright.

△ I underſtood not well this ſaying, neither E. K.

Michael I ſay unto thee cover the receptacle.

△ We covered the ſtone a while, and read the premiſſes.

E. K. He is brighter then he was, the Circle of light ſhineth ſtill.

△ We uncovered the Stone, and then he ſpake again.

Michael ...... Before twelve moneths of your account be finiſhed, with the Sunne: I will keep my promiſe with thee, as concerning the deſtruction of Rodulph: leſt peradventure, he triumph, as he often doth. For, thy lines are many times peruſed by him; Saying, This man doted, where is become his God, or his good Angels?

Rod.
The deſtruction of Rodulph.

And behold, I will ſweep him off the face of the earth: And he ſhall periſh miſerably: that he may underſtand, that thou dealt not for thy ſelf, but didſt fulfil the work of thy maſter.

Moreover I will bring in, even in the ſecond moneth, (the twelve ended) Steven.

St.

And for a truth, (as I am) will place him in the ſeat Imperial; He ſhall poſſeſſe an Empire moſt great: and ſhall ſhew what it is to govern, when God placeth.

In his time will I fulfil many things that I have promiſed thee, and I will be mercifull unto thee; becauſe thou haſt not broken my Covenant.

△ All conditionally to be underſtood.

My minde abhorreth from Lasky, for he is neither faithful to me, nor to thee: neither he careth for his own ſoul.

A. L.

△ Chamo & fræno maxillas illius conſtringe (ô Deus) ut approximet ad te.

Michael ...... The ſpeedy return of Curtius was to deliberate with Rodolph how they might, (under the colour of Juſtice) entangle thee.

And lo, whom thou foſtredſt and fedſt at thy Table, is he, that hath wet his hand in the diſh with thee, and hath delivered thee.

Moreover, he hath betrayed his Maſter: And the cauſe of his adverſity, hath had chief root in him. From the third year he hath done unjuſtly: and hath made naked his Lords ſecrets.

Emericus. Soniagius.

But he ſhall have his reward: and ſhall periſh with his own hand. Before thou cameſt out of thy own Doores, to take thy Journey, Rodolph knew of thy going.

And for a truth, his letters are before thee.

Therefore, it behoveth me, to give thee warning, and to teach and inſtruct thee, as one exerciſed in my buſineſſe.

Cover me, I am become cleerer.

△ We covered the Receptacle.

After a while we uncovered it.

Michael ...... This therefore ſhalt thou do.

The ſame way thou cameſt, the ſame way thou ſhalt alſo return: Not to flie from their malice or tyranny: But to ſtand in the face of them as my ſervant.

Hereby, indirectly, ſhall the Traitour underſtand you know him.

The Traitor.

And Rodolphus hard heart, I will ſtir up with indignation againſt him. For he ſhall be conſtrued a Lyar.

And they ſhall begin to fear thee, and alſo to love thee: and thou ſhalt be in favour amongſt them.

Note.

Annuate their doings, and hear their ſayings. And thoſe things they ſhall offer thee, refuſe not. I will ſend one out to pay them their wages.

Annuate their doings.

Moreover, I command thee Kelly, (But in my own perſon, I counſel and advertiſe thee) that thou take part with the Lord Jeſus: And go forward with the buſineſſe thou haſt in hand.

For why? They ſhall be ſhortly made open and plain; leſt thy (△) word (to the Emperour he meaneth) receive foil in the hearts of men.

△ Belike he was ſtudying in Dunſtons book & Tables whereof he made me not privy.

But I bind it not to that place. For, the fruit that ſpringeth of it, ſhall do my ſervice with Steven; And yet, if he will, with that unjuſt Lasky. And it ſhall be a Garden for you: wherein you ſhall not borrow of the World, but of the Gift of God.

Yet if.

Donum Dei.

And hitherto I will deal with thee, that the leaſt thing which thou haſt beſtowed in obedience toward me, ſhall not be forgotten.

Live you together, as brethren: and wonder together, at my works, and in me, for there ſhall not a hair of your head periſh; So that you liſten, and be obedient unto my voice.

Together.

If.

When therefore thou commeſt home, hide not thy ſelf; But ſee, that the Infant be regenerated.

Infans baptizandus.

△ As concerning the Godfathers: ſhall I requeſt and uſe ſuch as I intended?

Michael ...... Do, that thou haſt done.

Mich.

But put all theſe things up amongſt the ſecrets of your hearts, as though not ſeeing, yet ſeeing all things.

Let theſe for this time ſuffice.

E. K. The fire is gone, he and all.

△ Creatori noſtro Omnipotenti, Protectori noſtro miſericordiſſimo & conſolatori noſtro abundantiſſimo in tempore neceſſitatis noſtræ ſit perennis Laus, Honor, Gloria, & gratiarum actio.

Amen.

△ Hereupon we had great comfort, and ſo brake our faſt, and returned to Prague again, before 4 of the clok in the afternoon.

Note.

While I was thus out, and had left a letter for the Curteſe Balthaſar Federicus. Dominus ab Oſſa, &c. to deal with the Spaniſh Embaſſador, the Lord Romſe, and myne Her Kinsky, to crave pardon of my ſudden departure, and the Child not yet chriſtened, &c. and had given my wife charge not to deliver the Letter before Friday night, &c. It came to paſſe, that this Mr. Balthaſar had ſent word of his comming to Prage with the Lord Kinsky, (whom on the Friday before I had met riding ding out of Town: and he told me that he was to be out three or 4 dayes, &c.) and that he was deſirous to ſpeak with me.

Upon which occaſion my wife thought it beſt to ſend the letter to him, and ſo did, not long before my coming home. Which thing when I underſtood, I was half ſorry for it, and ſent preſently word to Maſter Balthaſar of my coming home, and to certifie him that my wife had erred to ſend that letter unto his worſhip before Friday night, when ſhe might perceive that indeed I did ride forth to Breſſel.

He thereupon was deſirous to ſpeak with me, and of him I received my Letter which he had peruſed, and offered himſelf moſt ready to ſatisfie the content thereof, &c.

Now to the chief purpoſe, At my return home from Maſter Balthaſar Federick ab Oſſa, I found Emericus Sontagius, in my wives ſtove with Maſter Kelly, who at the ſight of me was ſore amazed, and half not able, or not willing to ſpeak, but ſaid, vos eſtis veteres equites. Then Mr. Kelly told me, that Emericus had told him, that the Emperour had been all day yeſterday very melancholick, and would ſpeak with no body. And that he knew of my journey in a moment when it was, and that by the Jews, & ſpecially by the Doctor his ſon, that had gone about to get me the four horſes, & laboured very much with himſelf (unasked) to perſwade me that the Emperour his firſt and chief underſtanding of it was by the Jews, &c. Hereupon (being now night) he went home.

+ Pragæ.

Martii 14.

Thurſday. A meridie, hora 2 ½. Baptizatus erat Michael Dee filius meus in arcis Pragenſis majori Templo. Baptiſmum exercente, Cæſareæ Majeſtatis Capellano.

Suſceptoribus verò, Illuſtriſſimis Dominis, Domino don Gulielmo de ſancto Clemente, Hiſpaniarum Regis, apud Cæſarem Legato, & Domino Magnifico, Domino Romff, ſummo Cæſareæ majeſtatis cubiculario, & à conſiliis arcanis intimo & primario, &c.

Suſceptrice autem, Nobiliſſima fœmina, Domina de Dittrechſtain, Domini de Dittrechſtain, uxore chariſſima, qui major Domo Cæſareæ majeſtatis eſt. Infanti verò nomen erat inditum Michael ad petitionem meam, ob gratam beati Michaelis memoriam, qui (ex miſericordia Dei) tam fuit eſt & erit nobis beneficus, auxiliaris & tutelaris, &c. Michael.

+ Pragæ.

Martii 18.

Monday. Manè, horam circiter 7.

△ Precibus (ex more) ad Deum fuſis, primùm, deinde (aliqua interpoſita mora) aliis etiam ejaculationibuſque factis pro miſericordia, luce & auxilio Dei, &c. poſt horas 2. tandem nulla facta apparitione, ceſſavimus. Ego verò de Dei ira timidus, cauſam ſubeſſe magnam dubitavi, &c.

△ Miſerere noſtri Deus, & ne nobiſcum agas, juxta omnes iniquitates noſtras, Amen.

Martii 20.

Wedneſday, manè. △ Note— E. K. yeſterday had a ſhew of a little thing as big as a peaſe of fire as it were in the ſtone going about by the brinks. And becauſe it was not in ſhape humane, he of purpoſe would not declare it ſo to me, and ſo I have noted (as appeareth) of no ſhew. This he told me on Tueſday night (that was yeſternight) upon occaſion of a great ſtir and moving in his brains, very ſenſible and diſtinct, as of a creature of humane ſhape and lineaments going up and down to and fro in his brains, and within his skull: ſometimes ſeeming to ſit down, ſometime to put his head out at his ear.

And this began from the ſame night following.

+ Pragæ.

Martii 20.

Wedneſday, manè circiter 6 ½.

△ Precibus ad Deum fuſis aliquanto prolixioribus quam ex more, &c. ſtatim facta eſt apparitio.

E. K. Here is the ſame ſhew of a little parcel of fire ſomewhat leſſe then a peaſe, going about the border of the ſtone.

E. K. Here is one, but he hath a covered face, I know him not, his covering is of a compound colour, between black, red and white, he is covered down to his middle, the ground of it is white: There be ſpots of black and red on it, ſome big, ſome little, as if they had been ſprinkled on with a pen, or daſhed on with a pencil.

..... Againſt divine neceſſity is no prayer nor reſiſtance.

E.K. I feel nothing, in my head now, and till now I did, as is moved before.

..... Come, ô you Prophets, and render your accounts. Come, O you that have ſucked of the breſts, wherein the judgments and ſecret will of the Lord is hid, and of Neceſſity to come, Gather your ſelves together, render ſome account why the King of eternity deſcending from the heavens hath ſo often viſited you? And why he hath rather viſited you, in the Deſert, upon mighty and high Mountains, unranged of men. Tell, I ſay, what the cauſe is, that he hath come down into the Fens, and amongſt your flock: Could not this God have lifted you up, and have brought you into his ſecret chambers? Could he not have raviſhed you unto himſelf, and ſo have carried you about with him, that you might ſee his great wiſdome unknown to man, and the abundance of Glory, wherein he hath his habitation. There is none of you that dare preſume to ſay, that you deſerved the Lord his preſence.

There is none of you that dare open his mouth, ſaying, God hath need of us.

Tell therefore what is the cauſe that God hath viſited you.

△ The unſearchable judgments and determinations of the higheſt, &c.

..... Be ſilent, thou anſwereſt before thou art called.

.... What is there none of you that anſwereth me? No, where art thou?

Job, where art thou?

Moſes, where art thou?

Zyrom, where art thou?

Syracasba, where art thou?

Daniel, where art thou?

Jonas, where art thou?

Ezechiel, where art thou?

Holy, holy Eſdras, where art thou?

You leſſer Prophets, where are you?

You number without number, (whom the Lord hath talked withal) wherefore ſhew you not your ſelves?

All theſe were full of the Holy Ghoſt.

All theſe mortified their fleſh for the love of God. Yet, what, are you not able to render account or to ſhew the true cauſe why God hath viſited you?

God viſited you ſo long, and ſo oft, ſo mercifully and ſo abundantly, and are you ſilent and ignorant? Why?

Mandata tua juſta ſunt Domine.

What, was this the cauſe that God viſited you for, that you ſhould fulfill his Commandments, and teach his people the way of ſalvation?

True it is, it was the cauſe that moved you to obedience. But the very cauſe why God appeared unto you, you know not.

Behold, the Commandments of God are juſt & true, whoſe ſons you are: if therefore you follow not the Commandments of your father, you are diſobedient. But why, your Father hath commanded you: Lo, I teach you.

When God of very God, the true light, beauty and honour of his Father, conteined or was full of the image of an heaven and earth, and by the omnipotent, conjoyned, and equal power and ſtrength of them both, joyned in one, was brought forth, and had his real beginning, he determined alſo, in the ſelf-ſame Image and Idea, the due and proper order, juſt law and determination, of all things that were comprehended, which law and things together have their courſe co-eſſential both in heaven and earth, diſtinguiſhing all things into their real beginnings, limitation of time, and determination between their extreams. This order or law, begun in the boſome of the Word of God, keepeth ſo his proper courſe, and order, and law of his own eſtabliſhment, That thoſe things that before were wrought in God, might alſo receive working and being ſubſtantial to the end of God his progreſſion.

This is the ſelf-ſame that we ſpoke of before, in the name of divine Neceſſity, againſt the which no prayer prevaileth, nor reſiſtance can be made.

This Neceſſity was the cauſe, O you Prophets and Children of God, that God dwelt amongſt you.

This Neceſſity was the inſtrument that brought you to the ſtage of your election.

This Neceſſity was the cauſe that God choſe you.

This Neceſſity maketh of wax, honey; of tar, milk; of long ranging, return, of Infidels, Chriſtians; of diſobedient, holy ones.

Finally, of the unperfect and evil, rage and roming aſtray of mankind, the true number of ſuch as return from wickedneſſe, and are choſen to eternal joy from the beginning.

But this may ſeem unto you a ſtrange and ſtumbling Doctrine.

I have laid the Baſis.

△ We read the premiſſes, which ſeemed to us very pithy, and ponderous, and full of myſteries.

△ I noted two Prophets names, not before.

..... This Neceſſity is two-fold, one (that is to ſay, the firſt) contemplative and fix.

The other, working and leading to an end.

In the firſt do dwell two great and mighty Judges, Juſtice and Mercy.

In the ſecond dwelleth the ſon and image of Juſtice, leading on by order for the courſe of things, that are led on by the later, have not true Juſtice, but the image of Juſtice.

This is the cauſe that the elect and choſen may erre and go aſtray, and loſe the benefit both of the end of his Election and firſt determination.

For why: All things come on, and keep their courſe, even as they are led, by the image of Juſtice, Man onely excepted: which by reaſon of his free-will, draweth out of order, runneth from the mark, refuſeth that which is good, and through the burden of his fleſh, inclineth unto evil.

[E. K. He teacheth himſelf.]

In the which evil, whilſt he dwelleth and continueth, lo the courſe of neceſſity taketh hold upon him, and draweth him unto the ſcope or end whereunto he inclineth himſelf.

If he continue. For, behold, Although he be before ſanctified unto the Lord, and made a choſen veſſel, wherein if he continue, neceſſarily he ſhall enjoy the reward and glory of the ſanctified. Yet if he loſe that Neceſſity, and fly from his own law and condition, taking part with the filthineſſe and iniquity of his enemy, through Satan or his fleſh, of Neceſſity he muſt periſh.

If For as thoſe that are good, tied unto the law of goodneſſe, are glorified, if they continue: ſo likewiſe are the evil tyed unto the law of wickedneſſe, the Neceſſity whereof is damnable.

This is the cauſe that the Prophets are viſited.

Becauſe God found them puniſhing their fleſh, deſpiſing the vanities of the world, and reſiſting Satan.

For lo, the Lord looked down unto the earth: And he ſaw them deſpiſing wickedneſſe, fearing him, and grounded in the faith of redemption.

Therefore he thruſt himſelf in amongſt them, and through the firſt part of neceſſity (in mercy) he viſited them.

Take heed (ô you) that the Lord of neceſſity viſiteth in Juſtice, for your burden ſhall be great and intolerable.

E. K. He is gone. △ We read and diſcourſed a pretty while.

E. K. Here he is again.

...... Now unto the reſt.

What is (therefore) that neceſſity divine againſt the which there is no prayer nor reſiſtance?

For why it is evident, That ſinners may return, and thoſe that erre, may be brought into the right way, and that by Prayer.

Prayer. Behold, no man is penitent, but he uſeth Prayer.

No man ſatisfieth, but he uſeth Prayer.

No man taketh part with the Church, but in Prayer, for Prayer is the Key, ſanctified by the Holy Ghoſt, which openeth the way unto God.

Neceſſity had determined the deſtruction of Ninevee, neceſſity alſo ſaved it.

For lo, when they ſhould neceſſarily have received reward for their wickedneſſe, they prayed, and reſiſted neceſſity.

It appeareth, therefore, not yet, what neceſſity that is, that Prayer prevaileth not againſt.

Note here, The later neceſſity is neceſſity, leading malum ad malum, & bonum ad bonum; which neceſſity is that, which is tyed unto every thing leading it unto the end that it deſireth.

Even as God, ſeeing the Prophets forſake the loathſomneſſe of their fleſh, and framing themſelves to the neceſſity which leadeth unto good, of his meer mercy, in the firſt, thruſt himſelf amongſt them, fixing their later and deſired neceſſity, with a neceſſity of his Omnipotent and unſpeakable mercy wherein there dwelleth two things;

Joy, and Perſeverance.

Theſe therefore (as the Prophets) which are viſited with God in mercy, are fed, nouriſhed and foſtered as the Prophets were, with theſe two diſhes, Whereof the greateſt is Perſeverance.

Herein I teach you, that he that is firſt elected and applyeth himſelf to the neceſſity of his Election, doing the works that are righteous before the Lord, and receiveth comfort by the viſitation of Gods mercy, is ſealed to the end of his Election, in gladneſſe, and through the value and ſtrength of Perſeverance, and cannot fall ſo far, that he ſhall be bruiſed, or run ſo far aſtray, that he ſhall not be able to remember himſelf.

Happy are thoſe that are elected.

But happy, happier are thoſe that perſevere in their Election.

Theſe are thoſe unto whom God imputeth not their ſinnes.

Theſe are thoſe that ſinne and Satan are a weary of, for they are not able to prevaile.

Theſe are thoſe which are numbred in the Book of God, and whoſe brethren tarry as yet for their comming. But the altar ſhall be opened, and they ſhall riſe.

But

But is there a mercy fixed, and doth this mercy alſo fix Juſtice; Or as I have called it the Image of Juſtice.

It is evident; So alſo is there a Juſtice that is fixed, a Juſtice triumphing, a Juſtice mighty, a Juſtice unable to be reſiſted, a Juſtice that Prayer prevaileth not againſt, yea, a Juſtice that Hell and the Devil are condemned in.

This is that Juſtice, this is that two edged ſword, this is, that Iron Mall, wherewith thoſe that refuſe their Election, or are not elected, following the neceſſity of wickedneſſe, are and ſhall be cut in pieces with, beaten into ſmall powder, and be caſt into the lake of fire and brimſtone.

This is he that ſealeth up the ſecond Hell, with the ſecond death.

This is that you, ô you ſtarvelings, you vagabonds, you ſtiff-necked and ſtinking ſinners ought to dread and fear!

Hath God elected you, and do you diſdain it?

Hath he provided a Seat for you, an Honour for you, a Crown for you, a Wedding Garment for you, his eternal glory for you. And will you force him to caſt it into the fire.

Shall the finger of God write you, and ſhall the vengeance of God root you out.

Repent I ſay, and flie from your iniquity.

Return into the way of the Lord, leaſt God ſeeing your wickedneſſe, your un-natural and inhumane rebellion, your diſobedience againſt your father, thruſt himſelf upon your neceſſity with his juſtice and vengeance.

Which thing if you do, Prayer prevaileth not, much leſſe is their reſiſtance.

Are you not afraid to loſe the ſight of God, and to be deprived of the glory of his Majeſtie?

Are you not afraid of the unſpeakable flames and fire-brands of Hell, which are prepared for the wicked?

What ſhall I ſay unto you?

Shall I take pity upon you?

Why care you not for your ſelves?

Shall I pray unto God for you?

You pray not for your ſelves.

Shall I beſtow goodneſſe upon you?

Hui, you deſpiſe it.

Shall I bring three Sheep from the Mountains, and ſhall I loſe two of them before I come home. Three ſheep.

O you mortal men, be merciful unto your ſelves, Take pity on your ſelves. Fall into the true judgment of light and darkneſſe, of good and evil, of eternal Glory and Damnation.

For, behold, I tell you, that God is ready to thruſt himſelf, yea, to throw himſelf as a might ſtone upon you.

Againſt the which there is no time of prayer, nor nothing that can prevaile.

I have here taught you, and exhorted you.

Exhorted you to forſake your wickedneſſe, and to cleave unto the Lord.

Taught you that thoſe that are elected may loſe their election, and may be eſtabliſhed in their Election. Alſo that thoſe that are not elected run by the rule of neceſſity unto the end of their wickedneſſe, which is rewarded with eternal fire.

From the which God of his mercy, and in his Sonne Jeſus Chriſt, who hath redeemed you, is yet ready, if you will, to deliver you.

Hal rowgh ha.

△ We long diſcourſed of ſundry things, and each reproved other of haughtineſſe, or pride of mind, how juſtly we did it God knoweth.

E. K. He is here ſtill.

△ O Lord order theſe matters with us, and between us, to thy Honour and Glory.

E. K. —

...... Thou E. K. and we, receive at one fountain, we are created and made by one God, to the end we ſhould glorifie him, as our Creator, you, as your Redeemer and Creator.

But lo, we are of Heaven heavenly, comforted and nouriſhed with the glory of God, wherein (ſince the (△) diviſion made amongſt us) we erre not: you to the intent you may be proved, are covered with mortality and corruption, to the intent that the judgment of God may allow you, for thoſe places you are apt to inherit. If therefore we be both refreſhed of God, have our beginning from God as from our Creator, let us both acknowledg his goodneſſe, and glorifie him in the works of our hands: we, in our angelical forms, you, in the Skirmiſh wherein you fight, by fighting manfully, and overcomming.

Note E K had ſaid, let them give me ſomewhat, or ſome thing beneficial to my mind or body, and then I will like the better of them.

△ The fall of Angels.

Yet of us thou haſt, as thoſe have that are rewarded in the labour of him that is ſent in meſſage from the giver.

If the King ſend his Meſſenger unto thee, he ought for three cauſes. Firſt, for the perſon from whence he commeth. Secondly, for the authority of his meſſage, or goodneſſe of reward. Thirdly, that by him you receive the benefit, whereby you are gratified.

A King his meſſenger to be honoured for 3 cauſes.

Even ſo deal with us ∴. for us he may ſay, you fare the better by him, in reſpect of his labour, and the authority that he uſeth: ſo may we ſay, you fare the better by us.

The Angels good will toward E. K.

But let the heaven and earth bear witneſſe (beſides the benefits of God) of our good will towards you. But anſwer me.

E.K. What ſay you to me? wherein.

..... As touching your receiving, as touching thy taking part with Chriſt Jeſus, very God and man: the Son of the living God, whoſe precious blood cryeth out continually before his Father for the ſins of the people.

△ E. K. ſaid he would not allow of their doings & counſels, unleſſe they were allowed of and confirmed by the Prieſt, to whom he would confeſs himſelf.

Whether is greater, the authority of truth, by the Church Militant, or Triumphant?

Anſwer you [E.K] to that.

E. K. By the Church Triumphant.

..... Even ſuch is our authority. Therefore it is greater then the authority of him that is a fleſhly Prieſt.

It the Angels that have appeared unto you, had appeared alſo unto the Jews, ſaying, Crucifie not the Son of God, they would not have done it.

For though they believed not man, yet would they have believed an Angel.

The authority of good Angels is greater then the authority of the Pope.

Note of the Jews.

Therefore did God the Father acknowledge his Son Chriſt, by both Churches: as you may read by the Angels that appeared to the Shepherds, acknowledging from heaven the truth, that Jeſus was the Son of God.

E. K. What is the Church? I did not think that the Angels were of any Church.

The Church is the number of thoſe which are governed by the Holy Ghoſt, and that continually ſing Holy, Holy, Holy, Holy, Lord God of Zebaoth: But that we ſing ſo, the Scriptures bear witneſſe. Therefore we are of the Church, and our teſtimonies are true.

Both Churches Triumphant and Militant.

Eccleſia. quid?

I counſel you therefore to put on humility, and to make your ſelves ſubject before the truth.

Love one another, not becauſe you are men, but becauſe you are partakers of the heavenly teſtimony.

△ E.K. had ſaid, let them give me ſomewhat profitable to my body, or ſome wiſdom to my minds behoof.

In reſpect of thy body and mind, I anſwer thee, that thy body is which now had not been, and what thy minde ſeeth, commeth through the light that we leave with it.

But if we forſake thee, thy body is not, much leſſe ſhall thy underſtanding be.

Stay and I come again.

△ We read, and E.K. marvelled at the aptneſſe and ſoundneſſe of their anſwer.

E.K. Here he is again. E. K. I cannot tell F or P.

A Prophecy.

..... When Φ hath ended, and P hath ended,

I come again.

△ Fortè P L. ſignificat Philoſophorum lapis.

E. K. He is here.

When P hath ended, and L hath ended (which is at hand) then cometh the ſon of perdition, and entreth.

This we had not yet.

Of theſe two Letters I will ſay more, in your next action.

The Light of heaven be amongſt you.

△ Amen.

Miſericordia Dei ineffabilis ſit ſuper nos, nunc & ſemper, Amen.

Sequitur Liber 24, qui, hac die etiam inceptus eſt à Meridie, horam circiter 3 per ipſum Levanaël.

Myſteriorum PRAGENSIUM Confirmatorum Liber.

PRAGÆ;

Anno 1585, Martii 20.

Myſteriorum CRACOVIENSIUM Stephanicorum;

Initia Aprilis 12. 1585.

Myſteria Stephanica.

TAke common Audcal, purge and work it by Rlodnr of four divers digeſtions, continuing the laſt digeſtion for fourteen dayes, in one and a ſwift proportion, untill it be Dlaſod fixed a moſt red and luminous body, the Image of Reſurrection.

Take alſo Lulo of red Roxtan, and work him through the four fiery degrees, until thou have his Audcal, and there gather him.

Then double every degree of your Rlodnr, and by the law of Coition and mixture work and continue them diligently together. Notwithſtanding backward, through every degree, multiplying the lower and laſt Rlodnr his due office finiſhed by one degree more then the higheſt.

So doth it become Darr, the thing you ſeek for: a holy, moſt glorious, red, and dignified Dlaſod.

But watch well, and gather him, ſo, at the higheſt: For in one hour, he deſcendeth, or aſcendeth from the purpoſe.

Take hold.

Anno 1585. | Vide hujus Diei actione præcedente. De Neceſſitate divina & electione, &c. | + Praga.
Martii 20.

Wedneſday, à meridie circa $3\frac{1}{2}$. △ As we ſat together in my Study, and talked of our affairs, and of the Philoſophers ſtone, E.K. felt a thing heavy upon his head, and heard a voice, ſaying, I will teach thee. Hereupon I ſet the ſtone in place.

E. K. Here is Levanael, covered as he was wont.

Levan. ..... Why are you not pure, that you may learn?

E. K. So we will receive at Eaſter, as the time of the year doth require.

△ Lord, thou haſt ſaid, we ſhould at length be of one minde, through thy mercies, Lord help us herein.

E. K. He ſeemeth to have had his lips ſewed: for the vail is ſo thin, that it permitteth his face in manner to be perfectly diſcerned.

NOTE.
Thrice.

Levan. ..... See that you take the ſeaſon, and gather while it is time; if you let this Harveſt paſſe, you ſhall be deſirous to gather, and you cannot.

Thrice I muſt come unto you, if I finde you not.

Lo, I have done, for I come no more.

E. K. I pray you to deal with another: here is John, a boy in the houſe, you may uſe him.

Levan. ...... Thy talk is humane folly: But before I go, I will not be hidden from you.

Read your Leſſon, it is now a ſtale leſſon.

△ I read, Take Common Audcal, &c. Take hold.

Levan. ..... You are beſt to do ſo.

E. K. Now he hath heaved up his vail, his face is bare, it was not his lips that had thoſe ſtitches as it were, but it was in his vail, his face is a very fair beautiful face.

△ We beſeech you for God his ſake, his glory and honour, to give light, and to make plain this Leſſon or Concluſion.

Levan. .....This Concluſion wherein man is exalted being the laſt and the firſt, is as neceſſary for you, and for the avoiding of temptations that are to come, as your garments are to cover your nakedneſſe, or the houſes to keep off the ſtorms.

△ Give us therefore this help, this hand, this ſtaff, this counſel, O Lord.

The fruit of the Philoſophers ſtone.

Levan. ..... How much the more you neglect it, and the time wherein it is to be gathered, ſo much the more ſhall you be tedious unto your ſelves and the buſineſſe which you muſt fulfill in the will of God, if you have this; it will firſt cauſe you to forſake; ſecondly, it will plant you there, where without it your feet cannot enter, and from whence when you are planted, you ſhall not eaſily be moved.

I ſpeak not this, for that you ſhould murmur, ſaying, Cannot God plant us without this? But to make it evident unto you: That God uſeth his Creatures viſible to introduce or lead in (yea, ſupernatural) force and wiſdome.

The divers commodities of the Philoſophers ſtone known.
Table-talk of poverty objected to us.

Theſe things will demonſtrate the will and power of God grafted in you, that it is found perfect, and from above.

For if you ſay, lo theſe things hath God taught me, and theſe things hath God opened unto me: Whileſt they wonder at the one, they ſhall be forced to believe the other.

Moreover, they ſhall leave their Table-talks, which object poverty unto you, and they ſhall be forced to ſay, (even in deſpight of their teeth) what need had he of us? he ſought us not of the world, for lo, he leadeth her as his ſlave.

Theſe things, if you conſider not, I put you in remembrance, that you may know you loſe time, yea, that you loſe a benefit, deſired of many, and ſo forth.

Lo, I come again.

△ I read over the premiſſes,

E. K. Here he is again.

Levan. ..... Read.

△ I read.

Levan. ..... What is Audcal?

△ God knoweth, I know not.

Levan. ..... It is Gold.

△ Purge and work it. How your purging is, I know not.

Levan. …… Read and go forward.
Levan. …… Dlaſod is Sulphur.
Go on let me teach you generally.
△ Take alſo Lulo of red Roxtan.
Levan. …… Roxtan, is pure and ſimple Wine in her ſelf.
Lulo is her mother.
△ There may be in theſe words great abiguitie.
Levan. …… Lulo is Tartar, ſimply of red wine.
Audcal is his Mercury.
Darr, (in the angelical tongue,) is the true Name of the Stone.
I come again.

△ He ſaid before it was Gold;

E. K. Here he is again.

I have no more to ſay to you, this is the firſt time.

E. K. He is gone. △ We know that Lapis Philoſophicus fit ex metallis, cum metallis, & ſuper metalla, &c.

The firſt time of three before ſpoken of.

E. K. Here he is again. --- All is there.

Levan. …… How many letters are in Audcal.——— △ —— Six.
So many wayes is this a working.

E. K. He is gone. △ Divina nobis ſemper adſit gratia, & nobiſcum co-operatur, ad Dei Honorem & Gloriam. Amen.

✝ Praga.

Martii. 21.
Thurſday, à meridie circa 5 horam.

Note, my wife being in great perplexitie for want of money, requeſted E. K. and me that the effect of the annexed petition might be propounded to God and his good Angels, to give anſwer or counſel in the cauſe? Hereupon I prayed a little to the ſame purpoſe, and read the petition, &c.

We deſire God of his great and infinite mercies, to grant us the help of theſe heavenly myſteries, that we may by them be directed how or by whom to be aided and relieved, in this neceſſity that we are in, of ſufficient and needful proviſion, for meat and drink for us and our Family, wherewith we ſtand at this inſtant much oppreſſed: and the rather becauſe that might be hurtful to us, and the credit of the actions wherein we are vowed and linked unto his heavenly Majeſtie, (by the miniſtry and comfort of his holy Angels) to lay ſuch things as are the ornaments of our Houſe, and the coverings of our bodies, in pawn either unto ſuch as are Rebels againſt his divine Majeſtie, the Jews, or the people of this City, which are malicious and full of wicked ſlanders: I Jane Dee humbly requeſt this thing of God, acknowledging my ſelf his ſervant and handmaiden, to whom I commit my body and ſoul.

E. K. Here is one with a leather coat and a ſpade, with a white Coronet on his head round, hath a bag on one ſide of him, and on the other ſide a bottle, it ſeemeth like an husbandman, but a young fair man he is.

Jane Dee.

Give ear unto me thou Woman, is it not written, that Women come not into the Synagogue, much leſſe ought they to come before the teſtimony of the will of God to be fulfilled mightily, and to come againſt the World and againſt the pomp for money and iniquity, but becauſe thou haſt humbled thy ſelf, and haſt refuſed to tarry before me, as it becommeth thee: I will anſwer to thy infirmities, and will talk with thee.

The title our actions.

He that hath his Houſe inhemmed with a Ditch, which is deep and ſwelled with water muſt needs make a Bridge over, that he may be at liberty, elſe is he a Priſoner unto the waters, but if he want Wood, and have no ſhift to enter into the fields, is it not Wiſdome to break his Dining Tables, and to ſet himſelf free; why cryeſt thou unto me; Behold, let thy Houſe yeeld, and the covering of thy body give place to the neceſſity of hunger, Behold, God ſuffereth his Elect & choſen veſſels oftentimes to be without Manſion or apparel: But, lo, he feedeth the Sparrows, but I will not reprehend thee, becauſe thy ſoul is frail, but be faithful and obedient, and that truly, as thou art yoked: Behold, I have bleſſed thy Children, and of thy ſeed and bones will I build a new, and they ſhall have Houſes, and ſhall be ſerved of ſuch as the people ſalute, ſaying, hail Maſter. Be thou patient and full of repentance, and do that thou haſt to do, and not that thou haſt done, For, lo, mercy is with thee, and well ſhall come unto thee.

A promiſe to Jane her children.

Of Neceſſity.

Behold, the Scourge is with you, and of neceſſity you muſt be tempted, that your Faith may worthily be glorified, and that you may be praiſed in me.

Behold thou ſeekeſt Counſel of me, I will counſel thee, Behold, I would dig for thee, but I ſhould do contrary to my ſelfe, becauſe I have given power, and he that poſſeſſeth the earth is againſt me; But ſuch as I have, I will give thee, and it ſhall be ſufficient, more then thy veſſels can hold, or thy dayes can thank me for.

Conſider that to morrow commeth not before he be brought in: Neither canſt thou have until thy power come; But caſt up thy eyes, and hope for better things; Lo, ſince I cannot give thee that thou deſireſt, really, yet I bow my head, and ſo I counſel thee, let thy husband ariſe and gird himſelf together, and let him take his eyes with him, and let him haſt out of this place: For my thinks they diſſemble; Lo, let him ſtand before Steven, and let him viſit Lasky, peradventure he find him not living: But if he live he is dead, there ſhall you ſee that I will relieve thee and do good unto him, and will bind up the Jawes of the perſecutor, that he may go on.

Note, One ſtorm is yet to come.
△
Huic ſexui ſcilicet muliebri.

Thou art a Woman, and thy infirmities follow thee, I counſel not without a cauſe, neither did I ſtirre thee up to ſpeak: But for thy faith I will reward thee: But one ſtorme is to come, take it patiently, thou ſhalt be the more whiter, and more neerer: Behold, I go before and he that followeth me doth well unto himſelf, for I do well unto thoſe that follow me; Caſt away your murmurring, and ſweep your Houſes, take heed of Spiders, and of the whore Rats.·. This is the firſt time that I have anſwered to this kind in the latter dayes; Lo, I go.·.

△ Lord, it was ſaid unto us as a Watch-word, when Stevens Meſſengers ſhould come for us, that then we ſhould go. Now his Meſſengers are not yet come, &c.

...... If the Bridegroom invite thee himſelf, what needeſt thou his ſervant.

△ Now is the difficulty for money greater, for if we had tarried together, leſſe money would have ſerved then now it will do. &c.

Numerata divina.
Neſcimus quis nobiſcum loquitur.

...... Thou haſt asked counſel, I have counſelled thee, if it pleaſe thee hear me, it ſhall be well with thee if thou tarry, but much better if thou go; I have numbred thee, but be not proud, but becauſe I have numbred, diminiſh not thy ſelf, leaſt when I find not the number, I find not thee alſo, if thou wilt any thing elſe, there are, and they can ſay unto thee, but who ſpeaketh with thee tho[illegible] knoweſt not.

E. K. He is gone.

△ Seeing here is matter unlooked for, we are ſtirred to ask queſtions not thought of before: Therefore, O Lord, ſend whom it pleaſe thee to us.

A voice ...... Sunt aliæ horæ.

Deo noſtro Omnipotenti ſit omnis Laus, Honor, Gloria, & Jubilatio. Amen.

+ Praga.

Wedneſday.
27 Martii Manè circa horam 9.

E. K. came to me and asked me the Circle or Copy thereof which was ſhewed to him at Oxford, and he had written out, or deſcribed by the light that was ſhewed to him by the ſpiritual Creature, he intended as he ſaid to ſhew it to a Jeſuit, and to ask his counſel of it, &c. having a great miſliking of our ſpiritual friends, ſaying, that they were the great Devils; and ſo the leſſer that he dealt withal before, gave place unto them, &c. Hereupon I told him I would ask our friends counſel, before I delivered any thing of theirs to their enemie, &c. He would preſently have it, and with great threats moſt terrible and dangerous to me, he willed me to deliver it ſtrait wayes.·. I being occupied with writing a letter to the Queens Majeſtie, ſaid aſſoon as I had leaſure I would give it him, he ſaid he would tarry my leaſure: I told him that would ſcarce be this ſeven night, I had ſo many letters to write, he thereupon grew in ſuch a rage that he ſaid I ſhould not paſſe one foot beyond him before I did deliver it him.·. at length he roſe to ſhut the Door of the ſtudy upon me, I aroſe and went after him and took him by the ſhoulders to keep him from the Door, and withal called aloud to my folks; Come here (how) here is violence offered unto me, whereupon they came in all, and my wife, and ſo afterward by degrees his fury aſſwaged, and my folks, my Wife and his went away: and after he had ſitten two or three hours with me, he ſaw on my head as I ſat writing Michael ſtand with a ſword, and willed him to ſpeak, which he did forbear to do, above a quarter of an hour, as E. K. ſaid: At length he ſpake as followeth ——

E. K. Here appeareth Michael on your head, and hath bid me divers times to ſpeak to you.

△ I diſpoſed my ſelf to write, and Michael bad bring the Stone.

E. K. Here appear 12 with him, 4 behind him, and 4 on each ſides of him 4, and all with ſwords of fire, and he the hindermoſt of them had a Barrel of Glaſſe on his back full of fire, the 12 were all in red Coats.

Michael …… The Prophet.

Nunc ergo Notum facimus Domine Rex quoniam ſi civitas hæc ædificata fuerit, & ipſius mutilati fuerint, deſcenſus tibi non erit Cœloſyriam, neque in Phœnicem. 3 Eſdræ cap. 2. c.

E. K. Now they all kneel down about him.

They look pitifully with their faces upward, as though they were praying, they be all in blood red Garments, and Michael his ſword is as the ſword I once did ſee him have; whoſe edge did open.

E. K. Now anſwer me to the purpoſe: whether I ſhall have the Circle of Letters which I did deſire?

Michael. …… Is there any like unto thee, O Jehovah in Heaven and in Earth, or can thy enemies riſe up [ſaying] againſt thee, and ſhall they ſtand, O thou whoſe look is more terrible unto thy Angels, then all the fires which thou haſt created, either in the bottomleſſe pit or in the life of all Elemental Creatures, or above in the heavens if they were gathered together in one can be terrible to man.

Haſt thou not made Heaven and Earth, and haſt put thy head no where, and thy feet ſomewhere; becauſe without thee there is not, and without thee there cannot be?

O thou that haſt numbred the Starres, and art Dominus Dominantium above thoſe that govern them, and more in knowledg then their Government. Thou, Thou, Wilt thou ſuffer thy Name to be trodden under foot? Thou, Thou, Wilt thou correct the Heavens, and the whole ſeed of man? Wilt thou drown the World with waters, and root the wicked from the face of the Earth? Wilt thou caſt down the lothſome and wicked Cities, that they may grow in the terrour of thy judgment? Wilt thou ſend ſo many Plagues into Egypt?

Wilt thou ſuffer all theſe things to be done and many more memorable, which are all in thee: And thou permit one Man, one Soul to be thus carried away with Satan to the diſhonouring and treading under foot of thee, and thy light of thee, and thy truth. One man: E. K.

If the King exalted him which magnified Truth before the ſtrength and Policy of Women: extolled him before his Princes, and cauſed for his ſake the building of this Temple to go forward: Wilt thou not puniſh him that deſpiſeth truth, that preferreth the wantonneſſe and voluptuouſneſſe of the World (that errant ſtrumpet) before thy word, and before the ſtrength of a heavenly Authority: Art thou ſo become a little one, that thou art leſſe then a King? haſt thou turned thy face ſo far aſide that thou ſeeſt not this Rebellion? Can one man be dearer unto thee then the whole World was? or ſhall the Heavens be thrown head-long down, and ſhall he go uncorrected? Haſt thou Mountaines and Stones untrodden on, out of the which thou canſt ſhew thy Praiſe and Honour? Are there not yet Infants which may be ſanctified to ſpeak with the Heavens, that thou ſo hideſt thy ſelfe away from Juſtice; What, what, if thoſe that often cry for grace receive it not, yet doſt thou give it unto him that commeth from it. Veritas. 1 Eſd. ch. 4. 33, &c. An apt Skrier is ſanctified. Nota.

Sane ſtupor Cœlis, & ſtupor terris.

What, are not ſo many Fires as wait upon me ſufficient to arm Satan with vengeance againſt this △ wicked one? O thou Beaſt, O thou roaring Lion, O thou Monſter, O thou Whirlpool, O thou terrible Murtherer. Note the manner of Juſtice.

E. K.

Haſt thou plac't headlong many thouſands into Hell, and doſt thou linger to rage upon this imp, whom thou haſt ſo long ſought for?

Is it not written, leaſt peradventure he find them ſleeping, and ſo overcome them.

But, behold, whom thou findeſt ſleeping, is ready for thee, willing to go with thee. what ſpareſt thou? art thou ſo bold to give authority unto thy Miniſters to confound, nay, to ſo blind that thou canſt not ſee ſo great an Hill?

Behold,

Behold, thy Miniſters cry out unto thee, and ſend thee word, calling thee Maſter, King.

Take heed the City be not built, take heed the walls of it be not lifted up, and as they that were the Meſſengers of the King made evident before his face that it was againſt his commodity, to have the Temple of the Lord built up, to have the City new ſhapen, to have the Walls made ſtrong,
1 Eſdras 2.24. becauſe it ſhould hinder his paſſage into Cœloſyria, and the reſt.

E. K. Now the 12 (he excepted) fall down.

Mich. …… And thy Miniſters have they not ſaid unto thee, if this work of the Lord go forward, if the City ſent down from the Heavens may receive a place to ſet her ſelfe in, if the Walls and Rampiers of this that was built above ſhall be placed on any place of the World on earth, Behold, Behold, will it not hinder thy cauſe, will it not ſubvert thy Kingdome, will it not turn thee out of Doors: will it not bring thee to a terrible day before the Lord?

Is it not written, that that day ſhall be terrible to Satan, and his Angels?

And wilt thou ſuffer a Door to be opened, wherein it may enter, it behoveth thee Satan here to bend thy bow, it behoveth thee now to draw up thy arrowes.

And if thou intend to plant on earth, that it may grow, time is, yet, now to weed out this Meſſage from above.

Do thy Meſſengers give thee warning of theſe things, doſt thou hold back thy force: when the Porters will betray the City, would deliver it into thy hands, would break down the walls before thee, what I ſay art thou like to enter, thou that loſeth no opportunity, art thou ſo negligent: Behold, the Doors ſtand open before thee, why entreſt thou not.

Doſt thou want fire, lo, he that betrayeth it hath fire for thee, yea, rumor.

Behold, he offereth himſelf a companion, what wouldeſt thou more, unto theſe things thou heareſt the ſayings of thy ſervants, which ſay unto thee O Satan, if this City be built, and the walls erected; Thou canſt not go into the Holy Land: And lo, heareſt thou not them, neither doſt regard this opportunity, whence art thou ſo forgetful, O God? great is thy mercies, and far art thou above the ſinnes of man: O thou not only ſhutteſt up the eyes of the wicked, that they cannot ſee truth before their face, but the profound [the] malice and ſight of Satan, that where he ſhould moſt enter he miſſeth that place, and when time ſerveth him, that he letteth it paſſe.

Mirabilis Dei miſericordia. But ſo, ſo, God, thou giveſt to whom, and where thou wilt, and even as thou art terrible in Juſtice, ſo likewiſe art thou wonderful in mercy; Therefore of thee is no end, neither can be added any end.

Blaſphemous rebellion. This thy great mercy is the cauſe that this blaſphemous Rebellion is yet unpuniſhed; This is the cauſe that Satan miſſeth his mark, and is become weak.

If any man make a pot, an earthen veſſel, worketh he not, tempereth he not, to the end to make a pot? But lo, when he hath made it, and applieth it to his intent, if even he againe deſtroy it, is he not vain? Do not thoſe that ſtand by him wonder at him? More mervail is it, that when Satan ſhooteth and hitteth the mark, that he ſhould be blind, yea, ſo blind, that he knoweth not where to gather up his arrow?

3 Eſdras cap. But lo, the Temple was built, and the City ſtood, although the work was left off for a while, and he that magnified truth went with glad tidings, neither deſiring rich apparel, neither to ſit next the King, but that the City of the Lord might be built, and that the Name of God might be magnified, ſo ſhall it be of this City which the Lord hath ſent down with his finger, his unſearchable
Actionum: and wonderful truth: the Revelation and Law of time to come, it ſhall be built, it ſhall flouriſh, it ſhall ſtand, it ſhall endure, it ſhall be magnified, it ſhall be ſpoken of through all the World, and it ſhall not ceaſe.

Behold, the King of Kings hath allowed it and the love of truth, is great with him, what hath he to do with Kings? or wherein needeth he the beauty of the Earth? Domini eſt terra, & plenitudo ejus.

Whoſoever therefore ſticketh unto truth, ſhall be exalted with God, which is the King of Kings ſhall be magnified before his Counſellors, not Counſellors fore-warning, but Counſellors pertaking of holy Will: not called Counſellors, in reſpect of counſelling him, but in that they are made privie of the Counſel of God: Before theſe alſo ſhall he be magnified.

E. K. For what end ſaith he all this.

O ye Infidels, and of little faith, which taſt of the meat that was hidden from the Prophets, which are over-ſhadowed with the light of heaven, which have alwayes aſſociated with the holy Miniſters of God, wherefore are you ſo ſtiff-necked, pleaſant is the yoke wherein you are linked, and honourable is the earth that you draw the plow upon, for the Lord followeth, and his Angels drive, and the ſeed that is ſown ſhall be the beginning of glory.

O yee ſtiff-necked people, why forſake you your viſitation, or runne aſtray from your faith that you are driven in, do you make much of the Lords of the earth? Do you delight in her droſſe that harlot money? Do you give reverence to the King, and ſtand you in fear to break his Lawes? have you a greater Lord then the Lord of Heaven and Earth, have you any money or jewels to be compared to his Grace? have you any honour on Earth, that can ſtand up againſt the Crown of Heaven ven? wherewith God crowneth thoſe that are Victors? Have you any Law ſweeter then the pure illuminations, and ſweet dew like comforts, the voices and preſence of the holy angels?

Be mindful, be mindful, and lift up your ſelves, and be not blind, but conſider the time of your viſitation, and that which you do, is the work of a King, a King which is able in power, ſtrength, and majeſtie to exalt you, to ſtrengthen you, and to make you honourable, but in the end of the Viſitation, and in the reward of your faithfulneſſe, work not to day, and be ſorry to morrow; But lay ſorrow a ſide, and continue your labour, leaſt peradventure God unhood-wink, and make open the ſight of Satan, and ſo deliver you.

Wo, wo, be unto them that are delivered, for beleeve me their tribulation is great.

There is horrour and gnaſhing of teeth, there is miſery and vengeance for ever, there is horrour and the worm of conſcience.

But two things are to be conſidered, here, whether the temptation be greater then the reſiſtance, or the reſiſtance, more dignified then the rigor of temptation.

Behold, the work is great, the labour is alſo equal unto it; And to fight againſt the Princes of darkneſſe in a ſet battail, requireth great force.

The temptations therefore that follow you, muſt needs be great, I ſee therefore the temptations ſurmounteth your ſtrength, and your dignity is not ſuch as can reſiſt againſt it; For why, Satan ſtriveth not with you, ſimply for the ſinne of Adultery, for the dregs of Fornication, for the covetous deſire of money, for the want of charity, or becauſe you are proud; But he ſtriveth, riſeth up againſt you and tempteth you againſt the Lord, and againſt the ſtrength of his truth, whereunto you are elected: Therefore, I give ſentence.

Lo, becauſe that temptations hath entred into you above your power, and not ſo much for the ſubverting as of the work of the Lord intended, and of neceſſity to be done.

Therefore, I proceed not againſt you, but againſt Satan, and God ſhall deliver you from your temptations; And this ſhall be a ſign and token, that I will hamper and bridle the jawes of the enemy, that is to ſay, ſo long as thou (Kelly) art in this fleſh, never ſhall there appear, or viſibly ſhew himſelf unto thee any wicked or evil ſpirit, neither ſhalt thou be haled in peeces, as thou haſt been, whoſoever therefore appeareth hereafter is of God; For thy eyes ſhall be ſhut up from the wicked object. Et intellectu tuo Non introibit umbra mortis.

Signum quo certi eſſe poſſimus quod Deus Satanæ frænum injicit.

Nota

But now take heed, thou either perverſe or froward, ſtiff-necked or diſobedient; The ſinne is of thy ſelf, and ſhall fall upon thee, and thou ſhalt not be ſpared as thou haſt been; Now watch and gird up your ſelves, and do the will of the Higheſt, preferre and worſhip truth, that you may be alſo worſhipped. Lift up your ſelves, as the ſervants of God, and help to bring ſtones unto the building of this great City, that you may be openers of the Gates, *and that the white * horſe may enter, and that he that entreth may reward you with honour.*

Caviat E. K. deinceps.

Veritas.

* Equus albus. Apoc.cap.19.B.

Noſtra vocatio magna.

Greater then you are in the dignity of truth, are not amongſt mortal men, neither ſhall there be any amongſt mortal men that ſhall more deſpiſe the World then you, therefore hath God framed one of you as a ſtiffe made aſſe, to bind up the countenance of his work, and to be free from yielding unto Satan, which well underſtandeth that Satan endevoureth, and that his Miniſters cry out againſt this glorious habitation, which being built, the wicked come not to Cœloſyria, neither ſhall they ſee the beauty of the Phœnices.

Dee ſup.

When you have read theſe things I come again, and ponder them well.

△ We read them, and the places of Eſdras, one in the ſecond Chapter of the third Book of Eſdras, and the other in the third and fourth Chapter of the ſame Book.

E. K. Now he is here himſelf alone.

Parabola de nobis duobus.

Michael …… A Wood grew up and the Trees were young, and lo, there aroſe a great Tempeſt from the North, and the Seas threw out the air that had ſubtilly ſtoln himſelf into them, and the winds were great, and behold, there was one Tree which was older then the reſt, and had grown longer then that which ſhot up by him; This Tree could not be moved with the wind, but the Tree that was young, was moved to and fro with the Wind, and ſtrook himſelf oftentimes, upon the ſtiff ſet Tree: The Foreſter came and beheld, and ſaid within himſelf, the force of this wind is great, ſee this young Tree beateth himſelf in peeces againſt the greater, I will go home, and will bring my ground inſtruments, and will eradicate him, and I will place him further off: Then if the winds come, he ſhall have room to move: But when he came home, the Lord of the Wood ſeeing him in a readineſſe, with his Mattock and his ſpade, asked him of his going. Which told the thing in order to his Maſter; But lo, his Maſter rebuked him, and he ſaid thus, when the winds are not they increaſe, they are not hurtful one to the other, ſuffer them therefore, when the young Tree taketh roots, and ſhall look up unto ſome years, his roots ſhall link themſelves with and under the roots of the greater; Then though the winds come, they ſhall not be hurtful one to another, but ſhall ſtand ſo much the more faſt, by how much the more they are wrapped together, yea, when the old tree withereth, he ſhall be a ſtrength unto him, and ſhall adde unto his age as much as he hath added unto his youth. And he ceaſed to dig.

Be not therefore haled in ſunder, neither be you offended one at another, peradventure Reaſon would ſet you aſide: But God will not ∴ Behold, if you break the yoke that you are in, and runne aſtray, he that erreth ſhall periſh: even ſo ſhall he that ſtandeth alſo be deſolate: For why, the driver angry, continueth not with one: But he ſhall return home, and ſhall not ſee the end of the Harveſt ∴

Primitiæ & Decimæ. ☞ [Feb] Peter. Ordo ſervandus. Vota voſtra. Actor. Videns. One body.

Love therefore one another, and comfort one another; for he that comforteth his brother, comforteth himſelf: and when one is a weary, let the other draw; For, why you are men and not yet crowned; the firſt is paid: ſo is alſo the tenth; Even ſo the tree that is grafted beareth fruit ſooner then that which groweth of the ſeed. Notwithſtanding, both have their place in the Orchard, the night let that yield unto day, and Winter bear rule over Summer: Let youth yield unto ripe for years; Solomon ſaith, it is good for that young man that obeyeth the counſel of his elder; In the Council Houſe the things that they handle are for their Common-wealth; Notwithſtanding hath his order and degree. Caſt your eye upon all things and you ſhall have examples. Peter in his vocation preached the ſame Goſpel that the reſt of the Apoſtles did, but he was greater then the reſt, not in reſpect of his Apoſtleſhip, nor in reſpect of feeding, but that God might keep his order, as the chief amongſt them, which preferred Peter firſt; Therefore be not ſtubborn. But I command you in the Name of him that ſent me, and becauſe you have vowed that the one of you did nothing without the others counſel, notwithſtanding ſhall you not be two counſellors.

Therefore, in things that are to be done, let the Door occupie the ſuperiority; The Seer let him ſee, and look after the doings of him that he ſeeth; For you are but one body in this work.

E. K. He is gone out of ſight.

△ As concerning my Letters and buſineſſe into England, I thought good to ask counſel what I were beſt to do with the Letters to the Queen and others.

Practica. Michael …… Gather out of the book of Enoch, the Seal and the Angel of thy Countrey, deal with him.

△ I found a Door, in the name due to Britannia. Anno 15.

Michael …… Thou ſhalt eaſily find the truth by their appearing, for the one anſwereth not unto the others function.

It is aſcribed to my negligence, that I have not the practice of Enoch his Book. Sigillum Æmeth. Liber Enoch. Note this Rule.

Hereby muſt thou do in all.

Kingdomes and Eſtates, both how, and what thou wilt, that thou haſt not is thy own errour.

Note. …… Underſtand me well here.

When thou wilt have any thing to do in the World, in humane affaires, ſeek nothing in Sigillo Æmeth, Enoch his Book is a worldly Book.

Veritas in Cœlo.
Imago veritatis, in terra.
homini
Imago imagini reſpondet.
Cœleſtia autem petuntur a Cœlo.

△ I beſeech you.

Michael …… Darkneſſe yeeldeth unto light: Falſum quod eſt, veritati malum bono.

Liber Enoch. But note in the Book of Enoch there are thoſe that are good, there are there alſo thoſe that are evil, the Prince of darkneſſe is evil.

And thoſe that are evil there, do ſtand on his ſide: but as his Miniſters give place to thoſe that are good, ſo do they alſo.

Note. …… But as concerning the manner how to practiſe that Book, I would gladly hear ſomewhat.

Michael. …… Sua ſunt, ſua dicunt.

△ I underſtand this to be required at his hands that gave us that Book.

Michael …… Polonia te expectat, & qui EST præceſſit.

Poloniæ. △ As concerning my health helping, may I ſtay here yet 8 dayes, and then make ſpeed to be going towards Poland, as was preſcribed to me.

Michael …… Poſſum tibi concidere dies, Septem —

Hortulanus noſter Chriſtus uti ſpero. If thou didſt know that which I ſee, thou wouldſt not go, but thou wouldſt runne: He that is before is a Gardener, and he knoweth the vertue of Herbs: But the eighth day I will be there alſo.

…… Where, and which eighth day.

Michael …… The eighth day hence I will be in Cracovia*: I have told thee plainly.*

△ May I then ſtay well 7 dayes, before I ſet forth on my journey.

Michael …… Potes, & non potes.

Thou haſt thy own judgment granted thee, thereby thou maiſt do it: But in reſpect of the neceſſity that requireth thee there, thou canſt not.

△ I beſeech you not to be offended, if I ask the cauſe of the Lord Lasky, ſilence —— △ —— He ſtayed long.

E. K.

E. K. Why did you not ſpeak now.

Michael ...... Behold, he hath ſaid with himſelfe, (and thoſe that are wicked, have whiſpered unto him,) ſurely it ſeemeth that they deſpiſe me, and obſtinately (becauſe he hath not received letters from you) he uſeth this ſilence.

Moreover, he hath not done, as God commanded him: But I will give him thee, uſe thou him as thou wilt.

Miſericordia & pax Dei ſit ſuper nos.

△ I render unto thee (O moſt merciful, mighty and loving God) thanks and honour, and will (during my being) praiſe thy holy Name.

E. K. He is gone, and went away mounting upward, &c.

Quis, ſicut Deus noſter, qui humiliter reſpiciet, & peccatores ſuis ditat gradibus.
Illi ſoli ſit omnis laus, honor, & gloria, nunc & ſemper. Amen.

+ Pragæ.

Monday
Aprilis 1. Manè, circa 8.

△ Præces feci, & viſitatas, & alias (ex tempore) ejaculationes, pro auxilio Dei omnipotenti neceſſario in omnibus noſtris (Dei præſcripti) tractandis negotiis, &c.

△ A remembrance for me.
England Letters.
A. L. His Letters opened, and ſome yet kept.
Emerick his traiterous dealing to be deciphered; Counſel for the manner of our going, and what things ſhall be needfull to take with us.

E. K. Here is a tall man with white clothes, with wide ſleeves, and his garment very much pleated, and a thing like a Cypreſs ſcarf before his face black, which had been many times doubled, and with a knot behind him, Two others there are by him on his left hand, one of them is apparelled in a green thing like a Caſſock comming down to his middle leg, and a pair of ſhooes on his feet, and a hat on his head.

The other in a marble Jerkin like a leather Jerkin with panes, and a pair of Hoſe, with round Breeches of the ſame ſtuff, his neither ſtocks like common black, and uſual ſhooes, and on his head an hat as the other hath of the Engliſh faſhion: The firſt hath a little beard ſhort, aburn colour, The other hath a young beard whitiſh.

The white man.

...... Why do you provoke me to indignation?
Why accuſe you me of doing wrong?
Have I not lead you out by the hand from the Serpents?
Carried you againſt nature thorow the waters?
Have I not held you up from falling?
Have I not brought you hither unto the Hill?
This is the entrance.
The way is open for you aſcend.
And are you not yet aſhamed to urge me?
If I have done you wrong, wrong be unto me.
If I have done more then I ought to do, why do you vex me?

E. K. He ſeemeth to ſpeak to them two looking on them.

E. K. There appeareth a very great Hill up to the Heavens by him.

△ He ſeemeth to mean us.

E. K. He ſpeaketh to them two.

I have ſaid unto you eat, and you have not.
I have told you it is time to eat, but you have your own time.
I have ſaid unto you Go before; Follow me.
But in this caſe I will not be Judg againſt you.
Theſe two, that record my ſayings ſhall give judgment againſt you.
Therefore now unto you. E. K. He turneth toward you, △]
Here you ſee the Hill, here you ſee the way open.
Here you ſee no hinderance.
Yet, lo, theſe men accuſe me, trouble me.
Determine you againſt them.
Call not at theſe Doores any more, untill you be called unto them.

If Ye have ſaid if, before the Lord, if you had not, it had been better for you.

E. K. He treadeth them two under his feet all to pieces, and taketh his hands, and flingeth the bloud of them about, and it ſticketh to the ſides.

A voice. …… What is it to me if man had never been.

E. K. He wrappeth up the place of their lying as if it were a Cloth, and putteth or tumbleth them out of ſight.

E. K. Now he is gone like a Whirl-wind away.

LORD,

△ I am heartily ſorry for any thing I have ſaid or done, which hath provoked thy indignation, thy mercy be upon us, and not the rigor of thy moſt juſt Judgment. Amen. Thy Name be alwayes praiſed. Amen.

O Lord, I find my own weakneſſe and frailty continually, and therefore I call unto thee for thy gift of Wiſdome, that I might wiſely and diſcreetly ſerve thee all the dayes of my life. O Lord, the eſcapes of my lips and the folly of my heart pardon, I moſt heartily beſeech thee: And if thy helping hand forſook us, and much more, if thy indignation work againſt us, we are in moſt miſerable and pitifull caſe, have pity, have mercy, have compaſſion on us, Lord, Lord, Lord, forgive this our offence whatſoever; Suffer us not to be confounded through our little faith, O God, help our faith, help, help, or elſe we periſh.

K. K. Here he is againe.

Note my great offence.

…… When the Lord bad thee go, if thou had'ſt ſo done, and had'ſt not taken thine own time, more had been given unto him, and more had been added unto thee.

△ Lasky his letters came on Friday laſt.

But now Letters came, that have paſſed through the hands of Sodomites and Murderers, (through whoſe hands they are accurſed,) you rejoice, you receive comfort, you determine to goe.

But if you had left thoſe letters behind you, had come when I bad you go. Then had my Name been untouched.

△ Pardon, pardon, pardon, ô God, thy judgments are juſt.

Therefore is the Lord angry, and forgetteth not this offence.

For he that dealeth with me, dealeth not as with a man, for I have nothing in me tied to time, much leſſe hath he that ſent me.

△ O God, what a wretched miſerable man am I, thus to fall, and to offend my God, O Lord, that thou judgeſt is very juſt; for man would have taken indignation againſt his ſervant that ſhould not go where he biddeth, or that would ſeek or uſe better credit to encourage him to his duty, then his Maſters, &c.

Many times haſt thou been wearied.

Have mercy, O God. Et dele omnes iniquitates meas, cor mundum crea in me, & averto iram tuam à nobis, Is thy fury implacable, or ſhall thy anguiſh laſt for ever, what is fleſh and duſt before thee?

A ſentence of puniſhment yet Lord be merciful.

…… There ſhall remaine the ſting of this offence, in both your generations, until the fifth. And I ſwear unto you by heaven.

△ Spare this Sentence of indignation (O God) againſt us. Thou haſt ſaid in what hour ſoever a ſinner is ſorry for his ſinnes, and turneth unto the Lord, &c. And Lord, I am heartily ſorry, I bewaile with teares this great offence, thou ſeeſt my contrite heart, O God, O God, O God, &c.

Pardon.

…… This hath added much, even hath bound up the rod, which I ſpoke before unto thee.

△ Thy mercies be recorded, likewiſe, O Lord, and praiſed from Generation to Generation.

After this we ſat and conſidered, and perceived, and confeſſed the greatneſſe of our offence, how it concerned much the Honour and Glory of God, if we had gone without receiving the advertiſement of thoſe Letters; So ſhould they hear (the) and the King St. have perceived that we had the direction of God, and of his good Angels, and not to have depended upon mans letters, or perſwaſions, &c. we both a like confeſſed this great miſdoing, and ſo framed our ſelves to make all ſpeed away that poſſible we could, the mercies of God be upon us now and ever.

△ xx dayes the Stone is to be ſhut.

E. K. He is here, and ſaid, Be thou ſhut for twenty dayes, and withal pulled a thing like a Curtain about the Stone, and the Stone ſeemed to be full of the ſame ſubſtance, being like the froth of the Sea, yet hanging or joyning together like Curds of a poſſet.

Miſe-

Miſericordias Dominum in æternum cantabo, quis ſicut Deus meus, qui cum iratus fuerit, miſericordiam præſtavit contrito corde invocantibus: Soli igitur Deo meo, ſit omnis laus, honor, gloria & jubilatio, nunc & ſemper, Amen.

Aprilis 5. A Praga.

Friday, I took my Journey from Praga toward Cracovia, God be our good ſpeed, E. K. I, Thomas Kelly, & Hugh Brycket my ſervants.

Friday. + Cracovia, 1585.

Aprilis 12. A meridie we came to Cracovia, and as we were within an Engliſh mile of the City, being a fair and calm day, there paſſed about half a mile before us, croſſing from the right hand to the left Whirlwinds, divers one after another, wreathing up the duſt with great vehemency on high, and ſhooting forward ſtill, and then mounting into the air, and ſo went Southerly from us, and likewiſe ſome began on the right hand, and came furiouſly, raiſing up and wreathing the duſt up into the air Southerly alſo, and did not croſſe the way.

When we came to our houſe, we found that a ſtranger was ſet into it, by the Landlords (Mr. John Long, the Judge, and Martin Plutner) and having by me the keys of the Store-houſe, and of the Street-door, I cauſed my ſtuff brought with me to be ſet in, and that night we made hard ſhift for lodging. But the new and forced in tenants gave me leave to have one of my Bedſteads, which was in one ſtove, and emptied the ſame to us, with much ado.

Saturday and Sunday we were ſore out-faced or rather threatned, that we ſhould have no houſe there, and alſo one Bonar his arms were ſet upon the door, as if the houſe had been allowed to him ex officio. Monday I made the Rector privy of the Injuries I indured, and he courteouſly ſent two Maſters of Art with me to the Proconſul to have Citation for the Landlords to appear on Tueſday by 7 of the clock, to anſwer to our complaint.

This Monday-night came the Lord Lasky from Lasko, upon a Letter he had received from me from Niſo, of my coming.

Tueſday (Aprilis 16) the Lord Lasky came to the houſe, and in the morning would have preſently caſt all their ſtuff out of doors, but by entreaty he permitted them to empty all into the lower ſtove.

In the mean ſpace I appeared with my Lawyer or Attourney Mr. Tetaldo, (an Italian) an ancient Practitioner in the Poliſh and Cracovian Cauſes: And to conclude, I had a Decree againſt my Landlords, that I was to have at leaſt an half years warning; whereupon John Laugh gave me warning to avoid at Michaelmas, and ſo we came from the Court or Town-houſe, called Prætorium in Latine. This ſame Tueſday afternoon, my Lord Lasky went to the King of Poland up into the Caſtle, and told him of my comming, and how evilly I was uſed: and he ſaid, why did he not caſt them out of doors? ſo have I now, quoth the Lord Lasky; and the King granted the Houſe to be holden ex officio: And the next day the King was deſirous to ſpeak with me.

Aprilis 17. Wedneſday, I went with the Lord Lasky to the King, to whom I ſaid, to this intent, Conſolatio, pax, & miſericordia Dei ſit tibi, ô ſereniſſime Rex: Coram quo, Divinitus recipi admonitionem, ut me ſuſtirem, quod nunc humillime facio: paratiſſimus cum omni fidelitate & ſinceritate ea cum Regia veſtra Majeſtate tractare, quæ mihi divinitus injungantur, Quorum myſteriorum hiſtorias de ordine in ordinem referre, prout occaſio dabitur, non recuſabo aliaque omnia peragere, quæ Deo & veſtræ Majeſtati Regiæ gratia fore intelligero, &c.

The King anſwered, Ut de veſtra perſona multa bona audivi abſente, ita jam mihi gratus valde eſt adventus veſter, & ſi quod ſit in quo vobis mea gratia & favor, poſſit eſſe commodo non dero me veſtrum favorem, & protectorem exiſtere: Atque de iſtis & aliis majoribus rebus aliquid magis opportuni loquendi tempus poſt feſtos iſtos dies: quo tempore vos ad me accerſori curabo, &c.

Hereupon I made Courſy, as was appertaining, and ſtepped back ſomewhat from the King, and ſo the Vice-Chancelor and other Officers, the chief Secretary brought Bills to be read, and ſubſcribed, or aſſigned with the Kings own hand, which he did: and after the Lord Lasky had watched a fit time to tell the King of his deſire to ſpeak a few words to his Majeſty of ſome of his own affairs, and was bidden to reſort ſtraightway after dinner to his Majeſty, we took our leave with reverence doing, and ſo went out of the privy Chamber, or rather with-drawing Chamber through his privy Chamber, where he had ſaid Maſſe when we came, and ſo into the Guard-chamber, and down, &c.

Friday, I took Ghoſtly counſel of Doctor Hannibal, the great Divine, that had now ſet out ſome of his Commentaries upon Pymander, Hermitis Triſmigiſti.

Saturday (Aprilis 20) I received the Communion at the Pernardines, where that Doctor is a Profeſſor.

This day E. K. the Ghoſtly counſel and comfort, as his caſe required.

On

On Eaſter Monday, very devoutly in Saint Stephens Church E. K. received the Communion, to my unſpeakable gladneſſe and conſent, being a thing ſo long and earneſtly required, and urged of him, by our ſpiritual good friends, as may appear by ſundry former actions.

+ Cracoviæ.

Tueſday in Eaſter week,
Aprilis 23. Manè circa horam 8. Præcibus fuſis; mediocritèr longis.

E. K. Here appears many thouſands of ſpiritual Creatures, all in white: Now there ſeemeth one like Michael, (all in red) to ſtand before them, they all ſtanding in an half Moon compaſſe behind him.

Michael.

Michael …… Adhuc ſemel (ſed Stephano aſſidente) Loquor.

△ Fortè de A.L. intelligit.

Sed ſi aurem, & animam ſuam, loquetæ meæ præbuerit ſtabilietur ſedes illi.·.

E. K. Now they ſeem all to mourn or hum, all in one tune. He ſpeaketh ſtill, but I underſtand not his ſpeech.

Sin minus loquitor pro me peſtis: ulcere enim percutiam terram Zeli plenus ſum, & Juſtitiæ.·.

E. K. All are vaniſhed away.

△ Ne obſerves iniquitates meas (Domine Jeſu Chriſti) qui ſperamus in miſericordia tua, qui redempti ſumus pretioſo ſanguine tuo, Amen.

Emitte Domine verbum tuum Evangelicum, ut liquefacias & emolias obdurata corda mea frigore vitiorum, ut mea peccata purgentur, & efficiantur, quaſi in Chriſto, ut nebula ignorantiæ expellatur è cordibus meis, & ſpiritus Sancto gratiæ affluant aquæ Lacrymarum in pœnitentia Salutari, Amen.

1585. + Cracoviæ.

Aprilis 24. in Eaſter-week.
Wedneſday morning, circa horam 8.

Orationibus factis ad Deum, tam oratione Dominica, quam aliis particularitur reſpectu Miniſterii Angelorum, qui regnis preſident obtinendi, ut nobis præſcriptum erat, & dum conarer particulariter nominare aliquem; ſtatim incipit E.K. & ſequitur—,

A woman.

E. K. There appeareth afar off a woman comming, and ſhe is here now, ſhe is all covered in green, as with a cloud: I may through it diſcern her fair face, and her hairs diſperſed abroad.

The place about her ſeemeth to be concave, repleniſhed with light of the Sunne: ſhe ſtandeth as in a hollow ſhell, or Oval figure concave.

Noſtrum officium erga Stephanum Regem.
Aëres 30.
Qui terram gubernant & 12 Reges Tribuum.
Vide Anno 1584. Maii 21 1584 Junii 10. de Angelis Aërum.

….. Stephen, lift up thy head amongſt the ſtars of Heaven; for the Spirit of God is with thee, and thou art become the Darling of the Higheſt, but the Lord will reprehend thee for thy ſins.

Behold, thou ſhalt ſtand, and thy ſword ſhall be made holy: See therefore that you honour him, labour for him. and obey him, as the anointed and beloved of the Lord.

For why, his ſpirit ſhall be plentiful amongſt you, and he ſhall put the pillow of reſt under your heads.

E. K. The more ſhe ſpeaketh, the more the place is bright.

…..The Prince of Darkneſſe ſhall lie as a ſtumbling block in his way, but he ſhall ſtride over him without offence.

::

△
In libro Enoch ſunt qui terreni tractant mali, at in 30 Aëris ſacris majoribus non ſunt tales quibus cum nobis res eſt.
Vide 21 Maii, 1584.
Ed ſent into England.

The earthly Creatures have not to do in this receptacle:
Therefore take heed thou defile it not.
If thou follow the rules of calling them, thou ſhalt ſee that the air is their habitation.
Other ways irregularly they appear in ſuch veſſels: But ſuch as are prepared for them.
Take heed (therefore) thou defile not the place of the Juſtified, with the preſence of thoſe that are accurſed.
But as they are of two ſorts; ſo let their appearing places be divers.
Thy ſervant is conducted, and ſhall not ſtumble, but ſhall return, that the name of God may be bleſſed.
Now ceaſe thy voice for our preſence, until the Lord hath rebuked Stephen, in the conſideration whereof conſiſteth the ſeal of his Election.

☞ Verbum ſhall be the firſt word wherein the Lord ſhall ſhew himſelf unto him.

Behold,

Behold, I am full of the light of heaven, and I ſhut up and go.

E. K. She is gone∴

△ Note, all thoſe things I intended or deſired to be ſatisfied in, are anſwered me without my asking.

Miſericordia, Pax, & Lux Dei nobis ſemper adſint ∴ omnis autem laus, honor, & gloria ſit Deo noſtro, Amen.

Notæ Cracoviæ.

Monday, Tueſday, Wedneſday.

May 6, & 7, 8. E.K. was very unquiet in mind, and ſo expreſſed to me in words: for that A. L. had not paid him his money, long ſince due: and chiefly for that he doubted very much of A.L. his turning to the Lord with all his heart, and conſtantly. So much did A. L. his former life and ungodly living and dealing offend him, and ſo void was he of any hope, that he became in a great oppreſſe of mind to find us coupled with ſo * ungodly a man. I ſhewed A.L. his laſt Letters, how he was in a Monaſtery of his own, belonging to the Caſtle Rithwyan, (vvhich he had now by a ſtratagem won from the unjuſt delaying of his adverſary) and what penance and contrition he was in, what meditations, and what godly purpoſes, &c. But E. K. would not hope of converſion, and thereupon utterly and reſolutely intended with all ſpeed to be gone from hence toward Prage, and willed me (if I would) to prepare my Letters He became very blaſphemous againſt God to my great grief and terrour: what the iſſue thereof would be, ſo great was the blaſphemy and rebellion againſt God and his holy purpoſes in us, that almoſt greater could not be uttered. I uſed as quiet words as I could, aſſuring him of Gods mercies alwayes ready, and his helping hand for all ſuch as put their truſt in him, and call upon him in their troubles and times of need, and ſo did betake him to God for that Tueſday night, being paſt 9 of the clock.

* △ What ſhould I then think o. both them.

Wedneſday morning, as I was at my prayers in my ſtudy over his Chamber, and had made declaration of this cauſe, and of the perplexity moſt grievous that I was in to ſee my friend and partner (E.K.) thus carried away with ſo grievous a temptation, ſo manifold and vehement.

E.K. yet lying in his bed, did call his brother Thomas to him, and willed him to call me to him: Thomas came (when I had in manner ended my devotions and prayers) for me, I went to him, yet lying in his bed: And after I had wiſhed a good morrow, and ſate by him on the Bench at his beds head, he began and ſaid ſuch matter as followeth,

E. K. A Spirit appeared to me this morning by my Bed-ſide, and bid me be quiet.

Bad me will you to go to morrow with both your ſervants to my Lord, as ſecretly as you could.

Bad you comfort him.

Bad you bring him with you.

Bad you to go to the King as you came homeward.

Bad me to board in the mean ſpace with the Italian * Doctor at Perins houſe.

Bad me lie here every night.

* Gregorius, Jordanus, Venitus.

Hereupon I was moſt glad and joyful, and praiſed God for his marvellous mercies, loving kindneſſe and goodneſſe toward us, and declared my ſelf aſſured that God had put out his term, and ſetled the degree: For the performance of his purpoſes and promiſes made to us, for his own honour and glory: And ſo with joy and thanks given E. K. for his courteous imparting theſe good news to me, I went about my buſineſſe intended, which was to go to the Table of the Lord: as I was prepared for it, and ſo went to the Barnardines Church.

Soli Deo noſtro ſit omnis laus, honor, gloria, & gratiarum actio, nunc & ſemper, Amen.

Note, I had in my prayers alledged to God, that albeit I was in great perplexity and agony of mind, yet ſince I was willed to ceaſe my voice for having at any angelical preſence, I ſaid he of his divine clemency and care over us, in theſe great deſires might counſel us and direct us, though we did not urge our requeſt as we were wont. The concluſion and ſhame which many wayes would follow, if this intended purpoſe of E. K. ſhould go forward and take place) was ſo great, that we might ſeem to the world, to have been led to that evil end, by a manifold digreſſion, rather then otherwiſe led in mercy and verity, wherein I requeſted God to regard his own honour and glory, &c.

✝ Cracoviæ,

Maij 20.
Monday à meridie horam circiter 6. in manſio meo.

NOTE △.

△
E. K. ſitting with me in my ſtudy, told me, that after my going to Rithian to the Lord Lasky, he had very many apparitions, and divers matters declared unto him, of the ſtate of Chriſtendom, &c.

* 1585. Aprilis.

Our actions to be cut off for our unworthineſs.

He ſaid (moreover) fault was found with my manner of ſtanding before Stephen, I ſhould have made ſome more ample declaration of my Calling and knowledge in theſe our actions. Secondly, that I did miſtake the phraſe ſpoken unto me at Prage of the rod binding up *: For he ſaid, that Michael Dee ſhould die, that I ſhould thereby be afflicted, and divers ſuch things he told me, and among other that he was willed to be ready to leave me, when he ſhould be called: for, he ſaid, our actions ſhall be cut off, for ſome of our unworthineſſe, &c. All which things were ſo grievous unto me, as I was (in manner) ready to ſound; and my diſtreſſe was the greater, becauſe (after a ſort) I was barred from requiring the preſence of any of our ſpiritual friends, till Stephen had been rebuked by the Lord, and I had vowed to obey their commandments and inſtructions, whereby I was driven to beſeech God to conſider my cauſe and grief, who unfainedly deſired to be his true Servant: And being deſirous to obey them, ſtaying of my voice for the preſence of his good Miniſters, I was contented to offer up my obedience herein for a ſacrifice; and ready to receive this diſtreſſe and affliction, as a puniſhment for my ſins, awaiting his will and pleaſure.

E. K. ſaid, It ſhall not be amiſſe to bring forth the Shew-ſtone, and aſſay what the good will of God would be herein.

△ I fetcht the Shew-ſtone, and after it had been ſet about a quarter of an hour. E. K. Eſpied in it a little naked boy, with a white cloth ſcarf, from under his Navel hanging down unto his knees; The hair of his head is ſhort as of an young child: [and about that time came the Lord A. L. unto us, who ſat down by us:] He had a little Circle of aire in his hand: There is a light in the ſtone as if there were the ſhining of the Sunne in it.

Apparition.

Puer ...... Creavit Deus omnia Spiritu oris ſui qui etiam Spiritus, defendit & defendet ſuos, & in nomine ſuo ſperantes.

E. K. He throweth up his Circlet, and catcheth it againe, three times; He ſtandeth ſtill, and ſaith nothing more yet.

Puer .... Perforatus à Domino, loquor.

E. K. Now he is turned into a water which goeth round about, and in the midſt of it is bloud.

Now he is returned to his former ſhape again.

Puer ...... The end of all fleſh is at hand.

Propheta.

And the ſickle of the Higheſt ſhall reap down the Mountaines; The Valleys ſhall be without fruit: And the ſeed of man ſhall be accurſed.

E. K. Now he turneth his face to you [△.]

Puer ...... Who is he that the Lord rejoyceth in, or on whom the Heavens look with merry countenance, whoſe feet are not a burden to the earth, and in whom is the force of the ſoul comforted? Who is he that ſhall rejoice in the Lord? Even he it is that goeth out of himſelf, and beholdeth himſelf, ſaying, O thou Carcaſe thou art a Sepulchre for me; Neither am I placed in thee, for thine own beauty, but that the Lord may be magnified, and his Creatures dignified; He it is that ſhaketh off himſelf, and putteth on the Armour of Affliction, praiſing and extolling the Garland of the God of Hoſts, before that great Whore, and in deſpite of her Congregation; He it is that forſaketh his own will, to do the will of him that created him; Whoſoever (therefore) doth his own will, is the ſervant of Perdition; But he that expecteth the will of God is anointed.

Behold, therefore, becauſe you do ſo, and have beheld your ſelves, not in your ſelves, have acknowledged the power of God, and the truth of his Meſſage, your Honour ſhall be great: Therefore fear not, For, lo, This Garland is prepared for you: and reſt is ſealed unto you, of the Higheſt, unto you, your wives, children and ſervants.

Divina acceptatio noſtrorum ſervitiorum.

△ Bleſſed be thy Name for ever, O eternal, almighty, and moſt merciful, our God and King of Glory.

Puer

Puer …… If the Sunne ſhine not in vain, if the Stars move not, but by variation and diſcourſe, moving things, alternatim, to an end, if the Earth ſtand ſtill, becauſe ſhe is ſo created: Much leſſe ought man to deſpaire in the mercies and promiſes of God, which are not without a cauſe, neither any time ſpoken without effect.

I remember thee (Lasky) ſaith the Lord: And I will chaſten thee for thy ſinnes, and behold, I ſwear unto thee, as I have done; But humble thy ſelf. This body of thine ſhall turn into duſt. Take heed therefore that it rule not the greater part; For unto him that dieth a ſinner, vengeance is judgment. But if thou live according unto my Lawes, and graft thy ſelf within my will, if thou forſake the World for my ſake, and do the works of righteouſneſſe; Becauſe I have call'd thee before me, I will adde unto thy yeares, and will not blot out thy Name out of my remembrance. A. L.

Be not therefore a Man, but the ſealed ſervant of the Higheſt. Rejoyce in him that created thee, and when I command thee to ſtrike, follow me, for I will make the way very broad for thee.

Behold, I am mindful of my Covenant made unto thee, the ſeventh day of September in the year fourſcore and three. Anno 1583. 7 Septemb.

I will eſtabliſh unto thee, that fortitude, both in true Wiſdome and Victory: And I will make thee mighty as a Corner Stone in the Angle of my Temple: if thou turn, if thou do the will of him that ſpeaketh unto thee: if thou become a marble ſtone, ſpeaking Juſtice and Verity; The myſteries of thy Croſſe light upon thee, and let thy ſonnes be bleſſed in thee. Mortlaci libro 10. If

I greatly thirſt after Steven, for the courſe of things are at hand,

Behold, I will bleſſe him, that he may leave bleſſing unto thee.

Behold, I will place thee unto him, as his right leg, and he ſhall ſtand.

But his wicked Garments I will cut in ſunder, yea I will ſend in the fire of wrath and diſſention: And I will take away the buttons from his breſt.

I have given unto him three wicked Nations, that they may grinde under him as ſlaviſh Captives. Tres impiæ Nationes datæ, St.

When I come in one Week, Behold, I ſtrike, and thoſe that are proud, become poor and deſolate.

The outward face of things ſhall be changed; And the whole World ſhall ſay, Lo here, is the finger of the higheſt. Digitus Dei.

Riſe Therefore, and with ſpeed go before Steven; But the League Table thou ſhalt leave behind thee. I will reveal my ſelf in thy proper Shew-ſtone. Menſa fœderis. In meo proprio Lapide myſtico.

Dixi: quarite victoriam.

△ Deo noſtro Omnipotenti, Patri totus conſolationis & miſericordiarum pleniſſimo, ſit omnis Honor. Laus, Benedictio, Gloria & Imperium, nunc & ſemper Amen, Amen, Amen. [O]

Note.

Maii 21. △ I did communicate, and this was the third time, within Eaſter receiving.

Tueſday. Primo cum Humbate, & bis cum Raphaeli confeſſus, &c.

That all manner of wayes I might have a clean and a quiet Conſcience.

+

Maii 22.

Wedneſday, Nyepolonicze, in Aula Regia, circa horam 1 ½ à meridie.

Note, after dinner as we ſat together, A. L. E. K. and I diſcourſing of ſome of our matters; There appeared over A. L. his head (to the ſight of E. K.) a little Child half, the upper part holding over the head of A. L. a white Crown, and a finger out of it pointing toward △, and withal he ſaid, Puer …… Audivi te victores eſtis.

△ Hereupon we ſat out the Shew-ſtone, as being ready and deſirous to be inſtructed, according as the cauſe chiefly required.

As I began to pray and ſtudy, Domino non ſumus digni ut nos exaudias, ſuddenly E. K. ſaid he ſaw as followeth.

E. K. I ſee a great Hill of fire, a very great Mountain, and it is as if it did hang in the aire: for I ſee the aire under it, and I ſee the Sun ſhine on it ∴ the Mountain fire flameth not.

Now the little boy that appeared laſt day, ſtandeth on the top of this Mountain.

Puer …… God hath ſpoken unto you, and hath gathered you together, and lo, you are become a ſtrong ſword, with the which the Nations ſhall be cut down, and the God of Hoſts ſhall ſtretch forth his hands; And behold, you are come, and now is the time you Satan ſhall reap ∴ But Satan ſtriveth ſore againſt you; Behold, Lasky thou art become rich; But have faith: For it overcometh riches, and ſhall beautifie and ſtrengthen thee, that thou ſhalt be able to receive reward for thy labour: For it is not a ſmall labour to contend againſt ſinne, I have brought thee unto Steven; And I will give him thee into thy hands: And becauſe thou ſhalt ſee that God is not barren, I am of power; Hear me therefore ſaith the Lord, wilt thou that before thy face I ſhall deſtroy Steven for his wickedneſſe? wilt thou that I ſhall ſtrike him with a perpetual Leproſie, or wilt thou that I ſhall correct him and leave him to do good unto thee? Now thou ſhalt ſee that I am not weak; Neither that my words are barren or without fruit: Ask therefore of the Lord, and before thou move it ſhall be given thee ∴. For thou dealeſt with him that is a flame of fire, and a two edged ſword to the wicked, out of the Dunghil I choſe him, out of nothing I can ſtirre thee up, and exalt thee, but thou muſt firſt be poor before thou be exalted, read the Scriptures and judge ∴. Now ſpeak. E. K. He is gone.

Oratio d.ua, Anno Lasky, de Stephani correctione.

Infinitæ & incomprehenſibiles ſunt miſericordiæ tuæ, O Deus, & Judicia tua ſunt inperſcrutabilia, hominibus.

A. L. Domine Deus miſericors, quanta eſt tua miſericordia, quod me ſummum peccatorem tanta gratia proſequeris? Indignus ſum Domine ante faciem tuam: Itaque Domine, quæſo, ne illum propter me deleas neque Lepra percutias: ſed potius inſpires in illum, ut mihi propter te, & à te, per illum bene fiat. Non quæro Domine divitias, ſed gloriam tuam. Non nobis Domine, non nobis ſed nomini tuo da gloriam. Et fiat mihi ſecundum voluntatem tuam Domine. Tu ſcis Domine, an hypocritice ago.

Miſerere mei Domine, miſerere mei, ſitque miſericordia tua ſupra me & fiat voluntas tua, ſicut in Cœlo, ſic etiam & in Terra, Atque nomen tuum ſit benedictum in ſæcula ſæculorum. Amen.

E. K. He is here againe.

Puer …… Sapiens es tu, [A. L.] & plenus ſpiritu Dei: Non quærens ſanguine fratris tui igitur benedictum, ſis inter potentes hujus ſæculi, & ab hac die ſpiritus meus nunquam à te diſcedet; & hæc quia te humiliaſti nam non elegi te ſine cauſa ∴.

Puer …… And lo, I will correct him ſharply: Ask therefore in what Language thou wilt have me correct him (for he is ſcarce worthy to hear that he may underſtand.)

E. K. He is gone.

A. L. Hungarice peto, ut ipſe audiat ea quæ illi ſunt dicenda ſic ita Divinæ tuæ placuerit Majeſtati.

Puer …… Hungarie is hateful unto me; For it is full of iniquity; Neither will I ſpeak unto him my ſelf that he ſhall (yet,) hear me. I will open my mouth in Latin for thy ſake: and if he become obedient, I will alſo appear unto him my ſelf and unto you all, in the ſpirit and preſence of my Angel: But to overcome him by Miracles it needeth not, for by him the people are not edified, But by my words he ſhall underſtand, that I touch him, although Satan ſtand by him: unleſſe it were for thy ſake I would not withdraw my word and curſe from him, for why, I am ſufficiently adviſed, And I do but keep back the fire from him.

But go thou [A. L.] unto him, and ſpeak unto him liberally, when he hath heard me, if he receive me, my bleſſing is upon him of neceſſity.

If he hear me not, I can eaſily unlock for I have the Key ready.

God the Father, God the Sonne, (unto whom all power is given in Heaven and Earth,) with the fire of eternal comfort, which is the privy ſcience and knowledg of the faithful; The Holy Ghoſt, be upon thee, and with thee for this day, thy [A. L.] ſinnes are blotted out of Gods remembrance.

I have no more to ſay.

Omnipotenti, tremendo & Solis Adorando Deo, & Domino noſtro ſit omnis gratiarum actio, Laus & Jubilatio, nunc & in omne ævium. Amen.

Hodie debentur Peccata ipſius A.L.

Deo honor, laus & litora.

✝ Nyepolonicze in Aula Regis Polonie.

Anno 1585.

Maii. 23. A meridie hora Circiter 6.

The King ſent for the Lord Lasky and me, by his Vice-Chamberlaine, whom we came unto in a Chamber, within the Chamber or roome where he uſeth to give audience, or to eat with his Palatines and other: He ſat by the Window which is toward the South, and by which his Proſpect is into his new Garden, which is in making: He began thus, (the Lord Albert Lasky being by, and thereto willed by the King,) and ſaid unto me very near as thoſe words import.

St. Egit mecum Dominus Palatinus, ut vos audirem de rebus iſtis magnis & raris loquente: Quod libentur feci: & tamen hoc conſiderari debet, quod Prophetæ omnes & revelationes jam diu & in tempore Chriſti ceſſaverunt. Tamen ſi nihil in iſtis, contra Dei ſit honorem, eo lubentius ſunt audienda: Et ego quidem haud dubito quin Deus nunc poſſit multis modis ſecreta quædam hominibus deligere, ad hac uſque tempora, mandatis & inuſitatis.

Heer-

Hereupon I anſwered to this ſence, although I cannot expreſſe the ſame words.

△ Conſidero in ordine veſtræ regia tria quaſi capitala, in quibus totus ordinis veſtræ eſt medulla. Primum de Prophetiar.s, & revelationem ceſſatione; ſecundum; an aliquid in noſtris actionibus, vel exercitiis inſit contra Dei honorem: & tertium (quod animo meo eſt valde gratium) quod, Deo non præſcribatis certos aliquos modos vel tempora quibus ſua hominibus velit aut debeat ſecreta detegere. De primo, hoc poſſimus veſtræ Majeſtati Reginæ aſſerere, quod ille Scripturæ locus haud rectè à plurimis intelligeter: & ab illis peſſime, qui velint omni modæ. Dei potentiæ & miſericordiæ & ſapientiæ præſcribere certos modos, & tempora certa: aſſerendo nullorum hiis temporibus eſſe Prophetiam, vel poſt Chriſtum fore: quia omnes in Chriſto ceſſavere: hoc eſt, quia omnes de illo quæ erant Prophetiæ felicet. De Dei filio in carne venturo & Meſſia vero, & redemptore generis humani futuro, (& de tota illa quam nos agnovimus & confitemur Chriſtiani, completum & conſummatum eſſe Chriſti hiſtoria) jam ceſſavere: adeo quod illa neque jam futura ſunt ut putant Judæi, neque repetenda ſunt, cum jam ſunt conſummata & peracta quemadmodum Prophetæ prænuntiabant nam ob hac cauſa cum Chriſtus Jeſus in cruce pendens ſciniſſet, quod omnia de eo Prophetia completa fuiſſent, & præcepimus ſcilicet omnium Prophetiarum (ante Chriſtiano) ſcopus jam eſſet Collinatus, & Juxta præſentiam & propoſitum Dei redemptoris humane conſcientiam eſſet myſterium ipſe dixit conſummatum eſt: Nam & Paulus dixit ad Judæos, (namque conſummaſſent omnia quæ de eo ſcripta erant, deponentes eum, de Ligno poſuerunt eum in monumento. Et poſt Reſurrectionem ſuam ipſemet Chriſtus ſuis diſcipulis pergentibus verſus Caſtellum Emaus, & de illius morte & reſurrectione differentibus & dubitantibus) dixit, O ſtulti & tardi corde ad credendum in omnibus quæ locuti ſunt Prophetæ: Nonne hæc oportuit pati Chriſtus, & ita intrare in gloriam ſuam, & incipiente a Moyſe & omnibus Prophetis interpretabitur illis in omnibus ſcripturis, quæ de ipſo erant, &c. & paulò poſt iterum ad eoſdem vobiſcum: Quoniam neceſſe impleri omnia quæ ſcripta ſunt in lege Moyſi & Prophetis, & Pſalmis de me.

* Joan.19.E; Acts 13.E.

Luke 24.

Sed quantum ad alium ſenſum quod poſt Chriſtum mille eſſent Prophetæ vel relationes ipſam Scripturæ planiſſime contrarium docent. Nam quod deſcendum erit de revelatione ſine notabile illa Beati Joanni Apocalypſi quæ poſt Chriſtum erat? quæ & ab eodem Joanne Propheta vocatur, dicendo* Beatus qui legit & audit verba Prophetiæ hujus & ſervat ea qui in ea ſcripta ſunt, & in ultimo Capite ejuſdem Apocalypſeos ſive revelationes, ter, eadem vocat Prophetiæ librum. Quare manifeſtum eſt poſt Chriſtum eſſe Revelationes & Prophetas. Prætceria que erat illa Paulo facta revelatio in ejus Vocatione & Converſione per ipſum Jeſum Chriſtum, ut in Apoſtolicorum apparet Actum libro, Cap 9. quid de illa decennes * Cornelio Centuriano?

* Cap.1.Apoc.

* Acts 10.

Quid de illa Petro de animalibus mundis & immundis. Et Paulus ipſam dicet ſi

△

gloriari oportet (non expedit quidem) veniam ante ad viſiones & revelationes Domini, &c. & paulò poſt: & de Magnitudo revelationem extollit me, datus eſt mihi ſtimulis carnis meæ, Angelus Satanæ qui me colophizet es, notum mihi factum eſt ſacramentum, ſicut ſupra ſcripſi: prout poteſtis legentes intelligere prudentiam meam in myſterio Chriſti, quod aliis generationibus non eſt agnitum filiis homini, ſicut nunc revelatum eſt ſanctis Apoſtolis ejus & Prophetis in ſpiritu, &c, ubi etiã Prophetas poſt Chriſtũ eſſe apparet: & cap.4 Et ipſe dedit quoſdam quidem Apoſtolos quoſdam autem Prophetas, alios verò Evangeliſtis, alios autem Paſtores & Doctores ad conſummationem ſanctorum, in opus miniſterii, in ædificationẽ Corporis Chriſti, Donec occurramus omnes in unitate fidei in menſuram ætate plenitudinis Chriſti, &c. ubi tam diu Prophetas fore in Eccleſia Chriſti poſt Chriſtũ apparet. Donec occurramus omnes in unitate fidei, &c. quod nondum poſt Chriſtum factum fuiſſe bene ſimus & jam hæc ætate noſtra maxime ſumus circa negotium fidei diſcordes maxime videntur eſſe neceſſariæ non Prophetæ ſolum ſed etiam Revelationes valde expreſſe de Myſteriis Divinus. Et de locotione Angelica * ad Philippum, & ejus de loco in locum inviſibile quaſi tranſlatione per Spiri-

Acts 11.

△

2 Ad Cor.c.12.

* Acts cap.8. Philippi datater à loco in locum per Spiritum Dei.

ritum Domini, quod putendum eſt. Et de Prophetis poſt Chriſtum tempora teſtificatur Actum undecimum caput, ubi legimus quod eodem tempore quo primum diſcipuli Chriſti Antiochiæ cognominarentur Chriſtiani, ſuperdenerunt ab Feriſolymis Prophetæ Antiochiam, & ſurgens unus ex eis nomine Agabus, ſignificabat per ſpiritum, famem magnam futuram univerſo orbe terrarum, quæ factum eſt ſub Claudio, ad ſecundum autem veſtræ Majeſtatis Regiæ Capitulum, ſic reſpondeo quod coram Deo & beatis ejus Angelis, aſſere quod conſcientia mea nihil adhuc deprehendit, Notivit, vel dijudicare potuit, neque poſſit in omnibus noſtris actionibus, vel illarum aliqua, quod ſit contra Dei, honorem, vel gloriam, Immo, quod ad Dei honorem & gloriam valde ſpectent, poſſimus.

Denique tertio in loco quod cum magna & veræ pia Regiaque & diſcretione exiſtitis, me Deum Omnipotentem iis temporibus poſſe modis ſuis variis, hominibus quibuſdam ſua manifeſtare myſteria & ſecreta. Valde letor: & eo magis, quód tam ex noſtris præteritis id conſtare potuerit multis Actionibus; quam ex futuris: quibus inter eſſe & adeſſe præſens (ſi ita illi viſum fuerit) veſtra poſſit Majeſtas Regia. “ Et præ-“ teritarum noſtrorum Actionum libros 24, paratus ſum (quecunque veſtræ ſereniſ“ ſimæ Majeſtati placuerit tempore,) videndos exhibere; quorum quædam Latina “ lingua, Græca aliæ, aliæ Anglica lingua, ſed ex maxima parte Anglica ſunt Conſcri-“ ptæ ipſæ actiones Angelorum, viz. Dei bonorum Inſtructiones, admonitiones, ex-“ hortationes, conciones, Prophetiæ, & quocunque alio ſunt. Cenſenciæ nomine nobis “ factæ Revelationes, reales vel verbales, & per ſpatium jam trium fere annorum à “ nobis receptæ & annotatæ, &c.

+ Nyepoloniz æ in Aula Regia præſente ipſo Stephano Rege, & A. L, &c.

Die Lunæ

May 27. Mane, horam 7. circiter. In camera privata Regis.

In lapide qui Angelus nobis adaixit: ut præſcriptum erat, noſtri actio cum eodem.

* A.L. E.K.

*Omnipotens, Sempiterna, Vera, & uni Deus, ô tu miſericors Pater mi, qui me de Patriæ mea funeſta contra me concepta malicia, per Angelos tuos bonos admoniſti, & per eoſdem, inde, me cum Uxore, Liberis, & Familia mea iſtiſque * duobus, egredi juſſiſti: e egredientes nos, ex ſertibus maris, quaſi miraculoſe liberaſti: Et qui ex homicidiarum & Hereticorum manibus & fraudibus variis nos expedimiſti: Et qui multis nos modis (partim nobis cognitis, partim incognitis) à periculis & morte protexiſti, ab eo tempore, quod ad tua ſecreta Judicia & negotia teſtificanda, tractanda & promovenda nos vocaſti: Ideo propter hanc tuam tantam & tuam admirabile miſericordiam; immortalis tibi à nobis deberi laudes & gratias humillime agnoſcamus. O tu Pater noſter Clementiſſime qui * nos duos; vinculo tuo Divino arctiſſime copulaſti: & quaſi unum ex duobus eſſe voluiſti. O tu fortiſſime Deus meus qui hanc tuum* Lasky, quaſi Athletam meum cautiſſimum, animoſum, & meum amantiſſimum, nobis adjunxiſti: virum Catholicæ tuæ & orthodoxæ Religionis amantiſſimum & Anti-chriſtianiſmi omnis acerrimum hoſtem; Denique ô Sapientiſſime, Potentiſſime & Optime Deus, & Pater meus, qui tuis mox incipiendis Regiis, magnis mirifici Conatibus, quem ſatiebas Regem, tandem inveniſti Stephanum, tuum futurum Bellatorem; quis tuo mutui, & juſſit ex animis, totis ſuis veribus, & maximo zelo obedire velit: & cui nos honorem & obedientiam & exhibiemus, in mandatis dediſti: & propter quem labores (tibi notas) ut ſubiremus & ſuſtenueremus, ſtatuiſti: & ad quem, poſt laborioſas peregrinationes noſtri multiplices quidem, præter 7 Menſes factas, directas aliquas, alias ante, (humano judicio) quaſi retrogradas, tuam maximam gratiam, favore: & auxilio incolumnies & ſalvos nos perduxiſti: Nos quaſi hic tuos, tuo Nomine & una mente convenientes, tua digneris Paterna miſericordia, à totius vitæ meæ omnibus purgare ſpurciliis: Et Chariſſimi tuo Filii Domini & Redemptoris Nomini Jeſu Chriſti intercedentibus meritis, nobis Condona quicquid contra Leges tuas Sanctas & Juſtas, volentes, vel neſcii, vel negligentes, verbo, facto vel cogitatione ad hanc uſque horam offenderimus omnes & ſinguli, ut tibi jam poſſimus maſſa pura & azima offerri: una Divina & abundantiſſima fermitanda gratia; & tuæ charitatis igne in cordibus noſtris per te accenſo, quaſi quidem proportionis & ſacri in Templo tuo efficiamur panes. Et ſit nobis interim Filius tuus Dominus noſtris Jeſus Chriſtus Panis vitæ: quem guſtando ſuaviſſimum, & fidei veribus tranſgladiendo vivaciſſimum Manna eundem habeamus nobiſcum in perpetuum, mitte igitur nunc Luce & Veritatem tuam ô Deus Omnipotens ſempiterna, Viva, & Vera, & tuo Stephano (noſter autem Sereniſſimo Gratioſiſſimoque Regi) appareat, Te Deum noſtrum verum vivam, Omnipotentem Doctorem noſtrum in iis actionibus & Myſteriis eſſe me antè (licet peccatis obnoxium) voto & Conatu magno, fidele tuam & ſincerium eſſe ſervatum: omniaque tua juſſa mihi maxime eſſe Curæ: noſque ſingulos ſingularibus in te autem mundi exordium præordinatos eſſe muneribus, in tuo Sancto ſervitio tractandis, &c.

* △ & E. K.

E. K

E. K. Nihil poſt primas præces apparebat.

△ Breves ſecundas feci, & adhuc nihil apparebat .·.

Tertias adjeci, etiam breves.

Poſt tertias ex lapide quidem Calor in faciem ipſius.

E. K. Exire videbatur.

Circa lapidis oram & fimbriam rubicundus viridis circulus apparebat.

E. K. Jam video hominem albis indutum veſtibus, & ſuccinctis facie longa ſparſis crinibus, & a deus notu quaſi undantibus, & dexter pes ſtans ſuper magnum lapidem rotundam, & ſiniſter ſuper aquam, & poſt dorſum ejus magna lux eſt: Nunc video terram ſub pedibus ejus, ſed quaſi in aere videtur eſſe tam lapis ipſe quam aqua illa.

△ Sit benedictus Deus noſter, & fiat voluntas ejus.

Aquæ curſus (qui verſus Occidentem eſt) pedem ejus videtur ſecundum ſe prius deferre.

Videtur ille longo à me eſſe: cum intueor faciem ejus interdum una apparet eſſe interdum tres facies & ita confuſo quodam modo.

E. K. Audio magnam vocem Dicentem, Veni & Vidi.

E. K. Deſcendit jam alter ad illum quaſi Globus Ignius cum facie eminenti, & ab ejus corpore quaſi verga arundinea videtur emanare.

...... Inſpexi, & examinavi, & ecce, Nulla eſt Juſticia.

Vox ..... Interet aqua in mare, & fiat falſa, quia ecce tertia viola eſt plena.

Anglice omnia dicta erant uſque ad verbum ab,&c.

E. K. Jam venit ignis, & illum totum circundat, aliquo minimo: Circa illud relecto intervallo ſibi proximo.

Vox ..... Menſura.

Menſuravi & ſigillum eſt (52) quinquaginta duo.

Aſt ecce, ſum plenus Juſtitiæ & Miſericordia.

Vis igitur tu, quod aperies os meum?

Aſt quare inquit Dominus viſitarem Stephanum humiliet Semetyrum.

E. K -- Inclinat caput ſuum] quia ecce habeo quod dicam, & ecce habeo,& labia mihi confuta ſunt.

Magnificat igitur potenti Cœli & terræ Deum Creatorem, Regem & illuminatorem quod poſſit vobis peccatoribus propitius eſſe & vultum ejus miſericordiam ſuper vos convertere.

E. K. Jam converſus eſt totus in Globium igneum.

△ Miſerere noſtri Domine,ſecundum magnam miſericordiam tuam, &c.

E. K. Jam magnus quidam fumus per plicas quaſdam (inſta nubis) lapidem operet.

E. K. Jam videtur illa nubes convoluta eſſe, & ſeorſim ad unum latus lapidis ſepoſita.

△ Latine hæc ſunt verbatim dicta.

..... Verbum, ab altiſſimo miſſus facio;
Quamobrem erige te & diligenter
Attende Stephane, quis te a Cunabulis
Enutrivit? quis viarum tuarum labores.

△ Nota quod hæc Stephani Regis reprehenſio incipiebat Latine, ab hæc dictione verbum quemadmodum prædixit, Maii Cracoviæ

Aut juventutis tua temeritate menſuravit? ab impetu judicii & temporis: quis te legit? aut unde munitus es Cœleſti decore? Hanc tibi animam viventem, ſagacem, & ſale plenum, quis induxit? Nonne Rex ille gloriæ, in cujus gratiam omnis ſubjecta eſt, in cœlo & in terra poteſtas? qui te potenti elevans brachio à milite ad majorem, a majore, ad maximum evocavit ſeptrium; Nonne idem ille, qui te & vocat & viſitat: & de ſemetipſo, ante ſæcula dixit, Ego ſum? Quare igitur, Nebulam tam tenebroſam, tanta ecce caligine tanta dico ingratudine ſuffultam, inter Deum tuum, & animam tuam induxiſti? An quod non accepiſti habes? [he ſhaked his hand at the King, after the Polonian manner] Aut unde (Dic) Diadema Capitis? Ecce quia in fragili cordis tui prudentia, Deum à ſiniſtris, immo a tergo, poſuiſti, ſequitur te ſpiritus malignus lignus: Nam craſti: Igitur multiplicata & numerata ſunt peccata tua in Cœlis, Judicium tuum in te canes ipſi cum pſeuda Propheta ferant inquinata ſunt Regia tua ſcelere turpiſſimo, Cubicula tua olent malum, igitur ſurrexit Deus turgidus & terribilis factus eſt & iratus tibi. Verum ſic dicit Dominus; quia patres tui, ad Altare meum ſanctiores ſtetere, neque perverſi à voce & via mei receſſere; te autem, quia virum a vulgo diſtinctum ſeperando ſeperavi, & ſeperatum: eligendo, dilexi: Non viſitabo iniquitates tuas in verga mea: Neque Dejiciam te quemadmodum decrevi: Sed in Solio titubanti ſedeas permittam. Verum ſi brachium meum Zelo cognoveris potens: ſi impietatem tuam derelinques: ſi te munditiæ ornaveris, ſi fetidam a ſinu tuo lepram & alunica tineam, (non ad vomitum rediens) abſterſeris Ego quoque iram avertam meam, & dies tuæ relinquæ ſtabilientur fortitudine: Reges malidicti & potentes hujus nudi intoxicati calice, Meretricis (mea quia neglexère ſtatuta) fulmine ire meo in manu, & ante pedes tuos cadent ferrorique erit gladius tuus nationibus, tutela te Cœli circumducent dum in robore dexteræ tuæ peribunt inimici.

Cor populi tui, a te alienatum, poſt modicum repurgabitur: qui autem in ſanctum conſpiramere turpiſſime, cadent ulcere Adhuc ſi latere meo cum firmiter, tam fideliter adhaſcas abumbrabit te ſpiritus meus: & evades ſapiens: teque res Fœcundabit de Cœlo. Hæc eſt veritas & Lex Domini, quam propoſuit tibi * Lux Dei hodie Stephano: Igitur ſume tibi gladium femori, eſtringe, eleva pro Domino & veritate, pugna, vince, Regna Noli (ſicut homo,) timori cedere, neque de mundo queritate: quia Deus tuus tecum eſt; Ignis terribilis & magnus Dominus exercituum: Igitur ſi os tuum juſte a ſolio operies: ſi impium condemnaveris impietatis impleto te ſpiritu meo, & anima tua repleatur igni potenti, dum manus tuæ vindicant Cœlos, [inclinat caput.]

* Forte Uriel.

Bohemia.

Impiam illam generationem, (de qua Domino loquuntur eſt, & in ſervitutem tibi tradidit,) cum videris tempus, cum filiis ſuis, & a populo ſuo, a parvo uſque ad majore, percute gladio ut pro impietate peccatum, ſit plagarum numerus; quia erit inflictus Bohemia (non minus odioſa Cœlis: quam terræ gravis, & tædioſa) ſignata tibi eſt; & maledicta in jubare ſolis, Collige & Orna.

Fuge pedem in Aquilone, & digitis tange mare, & noli ſpernere coronam altiſſimi oſtendam tibi nomen meum, & ponam laudes tuas inter aquas. Cinge te etiam ſicut forti, amplectere montes meridionales: & ædifica mihi altare: Eripuam enim vincula ab illis. Ab Occidente, manus violentas in viſcera tua extendunt: Sed ferro præſcindam illas ungues. Denique ſi a peccatis ceſſaveris, ſi ſtudio flagrabis cœleſtium, & ambulandus coram me Domino Deo tuo in juſtitia, & veritate, & nunc quid in nomine meo ſeperit benedicatur & in me ſplendorem ſuſcipit; Sin autem, verba, quæ locutus eſt Dominus, audire nolueris, Egomet ulter exiſtam hodie exaltavi te in Domino, & poſui caput tuum inter ſtellas: Eſto igitur obediens: Paratus eſt terror impiis, & maledictus eſt mundus: Beatus autem qui fideliter obſervant Verba, & illa cuſtodiet quæ Dominus hodie fecit Gratia Dei patris, Jeſu Chriſti filii, ejus [inclinat caput] & Spiritus Sancti viſitet vos ſemper [extendit manus ſitus valde.]

Egomet uiter exiſt am vide Junii 24.

△ Amen.

Adduc familiam tuam cum celeritate.

△ Sit benedictus nomen altiſſimi qui in ſervandis promiſſis eſt conſtantiſſimus, & in miſericordiis abundantisſimus .·. Illi Gloria, Laus, Honor, decus, jubilatio, & gratiarum actio nunc & ſemper. Amen.

Anglice hoc dixit.

Maii 28. ✝

Tueſday mane circa 6. in Nyepolonize.

△ Oratione finita & aliquibus verbis factis, de noſtra cum Stephano Actione præterita hæri.

E. K. Here is he that was yeſterday in our Action with the King.

Heu mihi (ſaith the Lord) [He ſtoopeth by little downward] why do I hold my hand from the Earth? What have all the Princes of the World built a Tower againſt me? Theſe in denying me and my Majeſtie: The other wallowing in extream drunkenneſſe amongſt the pleaſures and blindneſſe of the fleſh, neglecting (without fear) my Commandements, have I thrown out the Children from the Vineyard, and called in the Dung-carriers? have I viſited my ſervants, (whom I choſe,) in wrath and indignation with the Sword of Juſtice? have I thus ſcattered them upon the face of the World, without a Shepherd, to entertain blaſphemous Murderers, Lyars, and the Runnagates of the Earth, the ſeed of Cain, and of the curſed! O you Caterpillers, O you that fill the Earth with poiſon! O you abuſers of my Name, and Diſhonorors of my Temple! What is the cauſe that you are ſo barren, or that the Lord hath not mightily ſhewed himſelf amongſt you, as unto his Children? Why are not the Miracles and Wonders a Teſtimony of the God of Truth amongſt you, as they were unto the Iſraelites? Why, hath not the Sea divided her ſelf? Why, hath not the Lord delivered you from bondage? Unto the Iſraelites he gave a fruitful *land (the poſſeſſion of the wicked) abounding with Milk and Honey : unto you , he hath delivered your poſſeſſion unto the Dogs: and your children to become Captives, why doth not the God of Hoſts ſtretch forth his hand ſaying : Deliver my people from bondage? are not the times of thoſe latter dayes and of the Harveſt of the Diſciples * ſhadowed amongt the doings and graces of the Iſraelites, you are become blind , you have eyes but you ſee not , for you  know not the time of your viſitation. O thou ſtif-necked Generation this is the cauſe, that the finger of God commeth not amongſt you : This, this is the cauſe , becauſe you have not Faith : Neither is the Spirit of godlines and obedience amongſt you, can he that is all Truth defile himſelfe with lying : or can the fleſh of man diminiſh the authority of the Godhead : is Chriſt Jeſus, (very God of very God) *of leſs power or ſtrength unto you , then he was before , unto the ſeed of Abraham : becauſe he hath taken your fleſh upon him. O you ignorant , ô you blind ſtrangers , ô you that were faithful in the ſight of the Lord , is not the God of Heaven and Earth heire unto you , by reaſon of his Man-hood have you not now acceſs your ſelves unto the Throne of the Higheſt, which your Fathers had not ? the Iſraelites ran unto the Prophets and high Prieſts : yea , they durſt not run before the Lord : For it was ſaid of them * Let them ſtand before the hill. They brought their offerings to the Prieſt , which offered up their prayers and humility : But unto you (ô you of little faith) the Gates are ſet open : yea, even unto the Throne of God : why therefore, doe you not aſcend unto your* Chriſt , Which is anointed before the Father. Hath he anointed him for himſelfe, or for you? for both : If you have no miracle , you have no faith , if you have (ſaith the Son of God) faith , to be compared with a Muſtard-ſeed, &c. But you do none of theſe things , neither is the name of God magnified amongſt you , Is it not a ſhame , that the faith of man groweth not to be equal with a Muſtard-ſeed , is it not a ſigne of your ſlaviſh nature , from the which you were called, that there is no faith amongſt you?

△ As the Iſraelites and Hieruſalem knew not the time of their viſitation and ſo are theſe dayes ſhadowed in the Iſraelites acts, &c.

*Exod. c. 19. be

Miracula Fidei.

True it is : For why the blood of Chriſt is ſhed upon you : and you are waſhed without deſerts , Behold now (ſaith the Lord) when I have ſtirred up a Moſes there are no Iſraelites that will follow him : the ſeed of Abraham is deſtroyed with the Winter of ſelf-love and diſ-obedience.

A Moſes.

The Lord groaneth, ſaying : Whether ſhall I turn me ? unto whom ſhall I ſhew my face? if I ſay unto them go out , ſet your Tents againſt the wicked : Behold, I will be amongſt you , and fight for you : who is it that heareth me ? where is your faith become ? who is he that believeth me , O you wicked Generation ſhall the Lord call you and ſeeke your deliverance , and will you know of the Lord with what meanes he will work amongſt you, *is the God of Heaven and Earth become amongſt you an Ingineer or a Merchant , a Hoorder up of worldly treaſure ; or one that rideth on horſe-back to battail ? you ſtinking Carrion, you hateful wretches before Heaven and Earth , you blind hirelings. Who devided the Seas who threw down Jericho , who overthrew the wicked Kings ? who deſtroyed the Cities of the wicked ? who fought againſt the reprobate Giants and the fleſh of mankind ? who opened the windowes of Heaven and conſumed you all except as you read * eight perſons , yea, if out of the windowes I can conſume you , what ſhall become of you if I open my doors, if I ſend out my ſervants againſt you, and my innumerable army. Is it not ſaid, whatſoever I put into your mouthes , that ſpeake. Why do you ſo, but for the truths ſake : If therefore I bid you doe, is not my truth all one ? I am full of ſorrow : for no man openeth his doors unto me , no man believeth me : no man remembreth that I made Heaven and Earth :*

Hæc reſpiciant verba Stephani Regis cum quo medio.

* Geneſ. 7. 8.

Stay a while that I may weep with my ſelf.

E. K. All the ſtone is become black and full of fiery ſpecks.

△ After we had read the premiſſes

E. K. Here is another now come in green a man with nothing on his head but onely his yellow hair.

Ilimeſe. Vide infra.

He hath like a pair of black boots under his garments cloſe to his legs : like buskins &c.

△ Note Ilemeſe appeared in July, Anno 1548, and did make an end of Nalvage his work, &c.

△

I teach you ; he paused after a pretty while

He appeareth their like a little child with yellow hair, &c.

Thus ſaith the Lord thou muſt anſwer Steven according to the hardneſs of his hart : Anſwer him thus , for th : Mean : Lo, King, the God of Heaven and Earth hath placed me before thee , and hath ſhewed unto thee his will , hath nouriſhed up me his ſervant from my youth unto this day , in the fear of him and the fervent deſire of true wiſdome , whereby I have attained (through his help) unto the knowledge and ſecrets of the things in Nature : which knowledge behold in the name of God and for his ſake : and becauſe he hath choſen thee , lo, I offer up unto thee , and willingly made thee partaker of; This done be not afraid to open thy mouth unto him , as thou didſt unto Rodolph , in writing , Behold (ô King) I can make the Philoſophers Stone , for ſo they call it , Bear thou therefore the Charge, and give me a name within thy Court that I may have acceſs unto thee : and yearly maintenance of thee for us both ; Command him alſo, or ſtrike a band of ſecrecy between him ; thy ſelfe, Reſponſum primo Stephano Rege.

Rodolf the Emperour.

ſelfe, and Lasky. Take heed thou want not faith : for I will help thee : And he ſhall have a great Treaſure, I will ſee them, if he will labour for me. But it may be Lasky will hold him by the heele.

For us both E. K. and △ Fides.

△ What mean you by that phraſe ?

..... As Jacob did Eſau.

Geneſ. 23. D

Unto this apply thy ſelf, and give thy whole endeavor from time, to time alſo I will open my mind unto Stephen through thee, or in the preſence of himſelf.

But let Lasky open this unto him : The Camp is known unto me.

△ I underſtand not this point.

..... Let him underſtand, thou art minded ſo to doe.

Septem diebus ceſſandum à reſponſis petendis.

For this ſeven dayes, aske no more anſwer.

△ How, and if the King be deſirous of any action ?

..... I reſpect not the King.

△ I beſeech you be not offended that I aske your name ?

..... Ilemeſe. E. K. He is gone.

△ The other will come again.

A voice. Non venit.

Therefore ſhut up the window.

Deus Cœli & Terræ da nobis Fidem.

+ Nyepolonicze in Aula Regis St.

Junii,

Tueſday a meridie circa horam tertiam : The King ſend for me to hear what I had to ſay to him as I had, ſend him word that I had to ſay ſomewhat to him in God his behalfe. When I was come into his privy Chamber, and all others excluded but onely the Lord Lasky who came with me, and ſtayed by the King his commandement. I ſaid thus verbatim as followeth.

△ Ecce (ô Rex) Deus Cœli & terræ, me ante oculos Veſtros poſuit : & vobis ſuam declaravit voluntatem : me autem ſervum ſuum à juventute mea ad præſentem diem enutrivit in timore illius, & deſiderio ferventi veræ ſapientiæ qua ratione (& ejus auxilio) aſſecutus ſum cognitionem & ſecreta rerum naturalium quâm cognitione (ecce) in nomine Dei.

Junii 6 + Cracovia.

Mane horam circiter 8 .·.

Orationibus finitis, pro luce & veritate Divina, quæ nos ducerent & perducerent ad montem ſanctum Sion, &c.

I have (ô Lord) according to my ſimple abilitie, endeavoured my ſelf to declare to Steven thoſe things I was willed ; accept, ô Lord, my intent, and give me thy graces and encreaſe my faith that I may in my doings and ſayings, pleaſe thee or not offend thy divine Majeſtie, and now ô Lord, we await thy further direction : not preſuming to propound (as now) matter, ſuch as our frail ſtate might move us unto : but therein we crave this aide, thy light and wiſedome, &c.

K. E. Here is a great head with wings like a Cherubim : all of fire, the eyes are very big, as big as your hat, and his head as big as this Table.

..... He that is a ſleep let him ſleep on, he that is in the high way let him not return home. He that eateth let him not riſe, but eat ſtill, and he that weepeth let him weep ſtill, he that rejoyceth let him rejoyce for ever. He that goeth awry let him not return into the way. He that planteth his Vineyard let him not ſee it, he that gathereth the grapes let him not drink of them, he that blaſphemeth the name of God, let him blaſpheme, for he returneth not. But he that looketh up unto Heaven, let him not caſt his eyes upon the Earth.

Behold, the Lord hath forgotten the Earth, and it is a burden to me that I am here, therefore I go.

Unto thoſe that do well, the Steward is ready with the reward, wo be unto the Monſter of the Earth, for he is accurſed.

E. K. He is gone : and flyeth in a ſtrange order : upward in a ſpecial line in manner ?

A voice. Put all things to ſilence that the Lord had touched,

The receptacle and the Books, ſee you open them not, nor touch them until you hear more from me. But be of right heart, and walke the ways that you are returned into.

Take this one leſſon: you are in favour with me, and for the reſt care not.

△ Thy mercies be ſealed upon us for ever and ever, ô Lord, of Hoſts.

E. K. Now is a red thing, like a Cloud come all over the ſtone.

Ignem tui amoris & præpotentis fidei in cordibus noſtris, accende, ô Deus Omnipotens nunc & ſemper. Amen.

Anno

Anno 1585. Auguſti 6.

Unica Actio; quæ Pucciana vocetur.

Que durabat ab hora 5. manè, ad horam 11.

PRAGÆ.

Actio Pucciana.

+ Praga.

Actionis Pucciana, prior pars.

Auguſti 6.
Tueſday, Manè, circa ortum Solis, & nobis heri injungebatur.

Fuſis de more præcibus, &c. præſentibus nobis △, E. K. & Fr. Pucci, ut præſcriptum erat.

Diſpoſita erat Menſa fœderis: Candelaque cerea accenſa.

E. K. Here is one, covered in white to the breſt, all white apparalled, he hath a long glaſſe in his left hand, full of filthy loathſome ſtuffe, like matter or like bloud and milk, or curds mingled together, and a ſtaffe about an ell long in his right hand, he ſetteth the end on the ground, he pointeth with his ſtaffe toward the * Table of Covenant.

Accede Dominum.

△ He [E. K.] came to the Table of Covenant, and looked into the Holy-ſtone, and ſaw the ſame viſion, but his face is (here) bare, and he ſeemeth to be Uriel.

* △ I had ſet E. K. at the uſual Table, in our ſecret ſtudy, and had ſet my uſual Shew-ſtone before him.

△ Benedictus qui venit in nomine Domini: ô beata Dei Lux, URIEL. …… Gloria tibi Domine, Rex cœli, & terra, qui es, & venturus es.

E. K. Now I ſee the foundation of an old thing, as though it were of a Church.

A voice …… Meaſure.

Meaſure from the Eaſt to the North, and from the North to the Weſt part, for behold, the reſt is judged already.

URIEL …… I have meaſured, (Lord) 25, and the half of twenty five.

37 $\frac{1}{2}$.

The voice …… Divide into three parts. [△ The third part of 37 $\frac{1}{2}$ is 12 $\frac{1}{2}$.]

URIEL …… It is done.

The voice …… Unto the Kings of the Eaſt give the firſt.

Unto the Kings of Weſt give the ſecond.

The remnant meaſure unto the dayes of the North: that the fire of my indignation, may be a bridle amongſt them, and that the whole World (except the excepted) may drink of the ſorrow of the ſeventh part of the half time, yet to come.

Prophetia.

URIEL …… Thy mouth (O Lord) is a two-edged ſword, thy judgments are perpetual and everlaſting, thy words are the ſpirit of truth and underſtanding, thy Garments moſt pure and ſmelling incenſe; Thy Seat without end, and triumphing, who is like unto thee amongſt the Heavens, vens, or who hath known thy beauty? Great art thou in thy holy ones, and mighty in thy word amongſt the Sonnes of men: Thy Teſtament is holy, and undefiled. The glory of thy Seat, and the health of thy Sonnes: Thy anointed is ſacrificed, and hath brought health unto the faithful, and unto the Sonnes of Abraham. Thy ſpirit is everlaſting, and the oil of comfort: The Heavens (therefore) gather themſelves together, with Halleluiah to bear witneſſe of thy great indignation and fury prepared for the Earth, which hath riſen up with the Kings of the Earth, and hath put on the Wedding Garments: ſaying with her ſelf I am a Queen: I am the daughter of felicity. Remember all ye, that are drunken with my pleaſure the Character I have given you, and prepare your ſelves to contend with the Higheſt, ſet your ſelves againſt him, as againſt the anointed, for you are become the Children of a ſtrong Champion: whoſe Sonne ſhall garniſh you with the Name of a Kingdome, and ſhall poure wonders amongſt you, from the ſtarres, which ſhall put the Sunne the ſteward of his Waggon, and the Moon the handmaid of his ſervants. But, O God, ſhe is a Lyar, and the fire-brand of deſtruction. For, behold, thou art mighty, and ſhalt triumph, and ſhalt be a Conquerer for ever.

E. K. Now the Stone is full of white ſmoak.

△ A Pauſe.

A Viſion.

E. K. The ſmoak is gone, and here ſtandeth one over him in the aire with a Book, whoſe nether parts are in a cloud of fire, with his hair ſparſed, his arms naked, the Book is in his right hand, a four ſquare Book, with a red fiery cover, and the leaves be white on the edge, it hath 7 ſeales upon it, as if the claſpes were ſealed with 7 golden Seales. And there are letters upon the Seales, the firſt E.M. E.T.T.A.V.

Liber cum 7 ſigillis.

Emet tau.

The angel with the Book.

...... Take this Book, ut veritas Luce magis clareſcat, Et Lux, veritate fiat valida. Data eſt enim tibi poteſtas, dandi & aperiendi hunc librum mundo & mundis.

URIEL...... Gloria tibi, Rex cœli & terræ qui fuiſti, es, & venturus es hinc enim, judiciũ meretricis.

E. K. Now Uriel taketh the Book, kneeling upon both his knees.

URIEL ...... Rejoyce O you ſonnes of men, lift up your hearts unto heaven for the ſecrets of God are opened: and his word let out of Priſon. Rejoyce, O you ſonnes of God, for the ſpirit of truth and underſtanding is amongſt you. Rejoyce O you that are of the Sanctuary, for you ſhall be full of wiſdom and underſtanding. Rejoyce O thou the Houſe of Jacob, for thy viſitation is at an end, and thy viſitation is beginning: The four winds ſhall gather thee together, and thou ſhalt build up the trodden wall: he bridegroom ſhall dwell with thee. And lo, behold, the Lord hath ſworn, and wickedneſſe ſhall not enter into thee, neither ſhall the Spirit of the Higheſt go from thee, but thy fathers bones ſhall have reſt; And thou ſhalt live eternally.

△ Viſitatio Juſtitiæ, Miſericordiæ. Judæorum. Converſio.

The bloud of the Innocents ſhall be waſhed away from thee, and thou ſhalt do penance for many dayes. Then ſhall the Lamb ſtand in the middeſt of thy ſtreets O Hieruſalem: and ſhall give Statutes unto thy people and inhabitants: All Nations ſhall come unto the Houſe of David: The Mothers ſhall teach their infants, ſaying, Truth hath prevailed, and the Name of the Lord ſhall be the Watch-man of thee, O City.

Veritas prævalebat.

E. K. Now all is full of a white clond.

URIEL ...... Silence unto me, and reſt unto you for a ſeaſon.

E. K. All is diſappeared, and the ſtone ſeemeth cleer.

Actionis Puccianæ poſterior pars.

△ Legi præmiſſa Latine ipſi Fr. Pucci, & pauca locutus ſum de regibus & aliis qui hæc putant eſſe noſtras impoſturas, & à nobis hæc mala ratione tractari, &c.

E. K. He is here again.

E. K. He ſitteth in a chair of Chriſtal, with his Book in his lap, and the meaſuring rod in his right hand, and the glaſſe vial in his left hand.

URIEL ...... Seeing that power is given unto me, and that truth is added unto my Miniſtery, and I am become full of light and truth, I will open your eyes, and I will ſpeak unto you the truth that you may ſhake off the lumpiſhneſſe of your darkneſſe, and profound ignorance: and walk in truth with your fathers.

Give ear (therefore) diligently unto my voice: and imbibe my ſayings, within the liquor of your hearts, that the ſap of your underſtanding may receive ſtrength, and that you may flouriſh

with

with acceptable Truth, as the choſen ſervants and Miniſters of the Higheſt.

Totus mundus in maligno poſitus eſt, and is become the open ſhop of Satan, to deceive the Merchants of the Earth with all abhomination. But what, are you the Pedlers of ſuch wares? or the Carriers abroad of lies and falſe doctrine. Do you think it is a ſmall matter to tie the ſenſe of Gods Scriptures and myſteries unto the ſenſe and ſnatching of your Imaginations? Do you count it nothing to ſit in judgment againſt the Spirit of God: leaving him no place, but at your limitation. Is it lawful before the Sonne of God, to ſpend the whole dayes, yea, many yeares, with the Sonnes of Satan, the lying imps, and deceivers of the World? Are you ſo far entred into the ſhop of abhomination, that you point unto the Sonne of God the time of his comming, the deſcending of his Prophets, and the time wherein he ſhall viſit the Earth? Moſes durſt not ſpeak, but from the Lords mouth: The Prophets expounded not the Law, but the voice of the Lord. The Sonne of God ſpake not his own words, in that he was fleſh, but the words of his Father; His Diſciples taught not, but through the holy Ghoſt; Dare you (therefore) preſume to teach, and open the ſecret Chamber of the Higheſt, being not called?

Malitia, Mundana, Pompa, & Vanitas.

Tell me, have you left your Merchandize, and the counting of your mony deceitfully gotten, to become Teachers of the Word of God? Are you not aſhamed to teach before you underſtand? yea, are you not aſhamed to lead away, where you cannot bring home? Hypocrites you are, and void of the Holy Ghoſt, lyars you are become, and the enemies of Chriſt, and his holy Spirit.

Peradventure you will ſay, in reading the Scriptures we underſtand But tell me, by what ſpirit you underſtand them: what Angel hath appeared unto you? or of which of the Heavens have you been inſtructed?

It may be you will ſay of the Holy Ghoſt, O thou fool, and of little underſtanding! Doſt thou not underſtand that the Holy Ghoſt, is the School-maſter of the Church, of the whole Flock & Congregation of Chriſt? If he be the School-maſter (therefore) over a multitude, it followeth then, that one doctrine taught by the Holy Ghoſt, is a leſſon or an underſtanding of a multitude: But what multitude are of thine underſtanding or of what Congregation art thou? Wilt thou ſay, thou art ſcattered. Thou ſpeakeſt faſly, thou art a runnagate. But, behold, I teach thee, and thy error is before thy face.

Whoſoever doth underſtand the Scriptures muſt ſeek to underſtand them by Ordinance and ſpiritual tradition. But of what ſpiritual tradition underſtandeſt thou? or by what Ordinance are the Scriptures opened unto thee? Thou wilt ſay thou art informed by the Holy Fathers, and by the ſame Spirit that they taught, by the ſame Spirit thou underſtandeſt. Thou ſayeſt ſo, but thou doſt not ſo. Which of thy Fore-fathers hath tied reaſon to the Word of God? or the underſtanding of the Scriptures to the Diſcipline of the Heathen? I, ſay unto thee, that thy Fore-fathers were dear unto Chriſt, were pertakers of the heavenly viſions and celeſtial comforts, which viſions and celeſtial comforts, did not teach unto them, a new expoſition of the Scriptures, but did confirm and give light unto the myſteries of the Holy Ghoſt ſpoken by the Apoſtles, the ground-layers and founders of the Church. Whatſoever, therefore, thou learneſt of thy Fore-fathers, thou learneſt of the Apoſtles, and whatſoever thou learneſt of the Apoſtles thou haſt by the Holy Ghoſt. But if thou expound the Fathers after thy ſenſe, & not after the ſenſe of the Apoſtles, thou haſt not the Holy Ghoſt, but the ſpirit of lying. Therefore humble thy ſelf and fall down before the Lord. Lay reaſon aſide, and cleave unto him. Seek to underſtand his word according to his holy Spirit. Which holy Spirit thou muſt needs find, and ſhalt find in a viſible Church, even unto the end.

Reaſon. Eccleſia viſibilis.

I will plainly ſay unto thee (That, Truth may appear mightily in light:) Whoſoever is contrary unto the will of God, which is delivered unto his Church, taught by his Apoſtles, nouriſhed by the Holy Ghoſt, delivered unto the World, and by Peter brought to Rome, by him, there taught by his Succeſſors, held, and maintained, is contrary to God and to his Truth.

Luther hath his reward.

Calvin his reward.

The reſt, all that have erred, and wilfully runne aſtray, ſeparating themſelves from the Church and Congregation of Chriſt obſtinately, and through the inſtigation of their father the Devil, have their reward. Againſt whom the Sonne of God ſhall pronounce judgment, ſaying, Luther. Calvine. Wilfully, Obſtinately erring. The definition of an Heretique.

Go you deceivers into Hell fire, provided for your Father and his Children from the beginning.

The Pope is not Antichriſt.
Antichriſt.

You riſe up amongſt your ſelves, ſaying, The Pope is Antichriſt; For by this name you call him, an evil man he may be, and fall from his vocation: But he can never be Antichriſt: For Antichriſt is he, the ſonne of the Devil, a man, fleſh and bloud, born of a wicked and deceitful Harlot, that ſhall ſeduce the people, ſwell with the ſtrength of his father, and reſiſt God in Earth amongſt men, as his father did in Heaven among the Angels, utterly denying his Omnipotency, and ſetting himſelf againſt him.

Claves Cœli Apoſtolis datæ.
Remember to aske amending of this place. forte belongeth.
* Acts 23. A.

O you fools, and of little underſtanding: When unto the Apoſtles, the Keyes of Heaven were given, that is to ſay, the ſame authority and power of Chriſt Jeſus the Sonne of the Living God, to forgive ſinnes, and to exclude ſinners from the Kingdome of Heaven; (And) when unto the ſame Apoſtles; it was ſaid alſo Come behind me Satan: you have not underſtanding to ſee into the myſteries of the Higheſt; if the Sonne of God did commend and reprehend his Diſciples, why may not (therefore) a Biſhop, be counted good and evil; if it follow (therefore) that good and evil may be a Biſhop, it followeth alſo, that neither good nor evil addeth unto the Authority of a Biſhop, but unto his own life; if he be good he reapeth the benefit of his goodneſſe, but if he be evil, he is a Lyar, becauſe his Doctrine is againſt himſelf, if therefore for the ſinne of man, God hath ſuffered many in the ſpirit of * Ananias to ſit in the holy place, it is for your ſinnes ſake, and for your rebellious nature to be puniſhed: And not for the obſcuring or darkning of his Church.

Nullus ſibi autoritatem aſſumere poteſt.
An uſurper.

Open your eyes therefore, and underſtand, and cleave to the Church for the Church ſake, and not for the love of man. Deſpiſe not the Church, becauſe of the tranſgreſſions of man: But ſubmit your neck under that holy yoke and ordinance, which ſhall lead you to the Congregation governed by the Spirit of God, wherein you ſhall underſtand the ſecrets of God his Book, to be interpreted according to the ſenſe of your fathers: whoſe underſtanding was the finger of the Holy Ghoſt, you cannot authoriſe your ſelves, and without authority you can do nothing; Therefore if your authority be not, why take you upon you the doings of the Church, which it is one thing to ſeek to underſtand the Scriptures, and an other thing to teach the Scriptures according to his underſtanding, for he that teacheth, teacheth, by Authority, but if he have no Authority, he is an Uſurper.

Eccleſia, noſtra Mater: & tamen Virgo.
Simplicitas.
Obedientia.
Curioſitas à Diabolo eſt.
Matth. 7. 15.
Filii, Canes.
Canes.
In noſtri judicium ſtatus ipſi deſcendamus.

My brethren remember your ſelves, and conſider you are Children: you are not, veſtri juris, but alieni. Therefore, do nothing that is of your ſelves: But follow (as good children) the ſteps of your Mother: which Mother is a pure Virgin, and is alwayes inſtructed with the wiſdom of the Comforter; What meat ſhe ſhall give unto you her Children: and how ſhe ſhall bring you up and inſtruct you: Simplicity is much worth, and obedience is a Garland before the Lord. But Curioſity is the Devil; Have you not read; That the bread of the holy ones is not to be caſt unto Dogs? Look unto your ſelves whether you be Dogs or no. See if your life be holy: your doings ſtraight and juſt, your patience manifold: your affliction great for the Lord: if you find not your ſelves ſo, you are not Children, If you be not Children, you are not Sonnes, if you be not Sonnes you have no Mother, if you have no Mother you are Dogs, you are devourers of the bread of Children, curriſh, ſenſeleſſe, and againſt God.

Enter therefore into judgment with your ſelves.

Pater.
Filius.
Spiritus Sanct.
Eccleſia.
The bread of life underſtanding.

Conſider you are created by God.

Conſider you are redeemed by God.

Conſider alſo you are alſo left to the ſpiritual tuition and comfort of God: which God hath made of you a Congregation: a holy and ſanctified fellowſhip, feeding alwayes as brethren together, under his wings, and at his Table: which feedeth you with the bread of life and underſtanding, with the body and blood of Jeſus Chriſt the Sonne of the Living God.

Obedientia eſt finis noſtræ vocationis.

With underſtanding that you may know the will of your Father which is in Heaven, and knowing him, be obedient: which is the concluſion of your vocation. Shake not off therefore the yoke of Obedience, leaſt you put away alſo the Cup of underſtanding, and ſo know not the will of your Father.

But my thinketh, you are ſtarved, your guts are ſhrunk up: your bones and ſinewes are withered. What is the cauſe thereof? When received you the bread of the Lord? When received you nouriſhment? O you of little faith: and leſſe underſtanding you erre, and runne aſtray: you are blind, you follow not the will of your Father: Return, Return, and ſay within your ſelves, Oratio pœnitentis, & ad Deum Eccleſiamque (eius ſponſa) redeuntis.

O eternal God and loving Father, great is thy care and mercy over us, which being led aſtray (with Satan and the ſpirit of darkneſſe) haſt brought us home: which being blind haſt ſet open before our eyes: (our eyes alſo opened) the true path and line of underſtanding: Happy are we whom thou loveſt ſo deerly: and unto whom the care of our health is ſo dear: We will therefore praiſe thy

thy Name, and return from our errors: we will acknowledg our ſinnes, and follow thy Commandements: for thou, O Lord, art onely juſt and true, and thy mercy is everlaſting: Thy Lawes are ſweet, and thy love and kindneſſe mighty amongſt us, Holy, Holy, Holy Lord God of Zebaoth, all honour praiſe and glory be unto thee for ever.

△ Amen.

...... After a while I return again.

E. K. He is gone.

△ Note, I read the premiſſes to Fr. Pucci, in Latin, which ſeemed to us to be wonderfully pithy, and to the purpoſe, &c.

E. K. He is here againe.

URIEL ...... Francis Pucci, give ear unto my word.

Stay a while.

△ Hereupon Fr. Pucci did kneel on both his knees.

URIEL ...... True it is, that, as thy ſpirit moved thee, ſo God hath called thee to the partaking and underſtanding of his will to be fulfilled in puniſhment and wrath againſt the falſhood and deceit of the earth. And therefore hath God in his great love and exceeding mercy called thee away from the Sonnes of the accurſed, and from the way of unrighteouſneſſe: wherein if thou follow him in ſimplicity of Conſcience, and righteouſneſſe (the works of faith) thou ſhalt be confirmed: for I ſay unto thee, I will power my vengeance upon the whole Earth, and I will chaſten her in her iniquity, and in the midſt of her pride, I will throw her down head-long, and ſhe ſhall triumph no more. And becauſe thou haſt humbled thy ſelf, my ſpirit ſhall be with thee, and thou ſhalt underſtand. And this wicked Monſter, that ſitteth in the Holy Temple, and ſinneth againſt the Higheſt, ſhall be thrown down head-long with his pride: And he ſhall be chaſtiſed and corrected with the mouth of you two; For at the houſe of the Lord Judgment muſt begin. And the rebelling ſonne muſt be ſcourged before the wicked ſervant be puniſhed. Fear not, I will put unto your words, ſtrength and power: And if he hear you not, but ſtretch forth his hands againſt you, I will rain fire and brimſtone from Heaven: and his dwelling places ſhall ſink. And the Lake that ſhall remain, ſhall bear witneſſe againſt him for evermore: Lift up thy heart therefore, and deſpiſe the World; Fight with her manfully, and be not overcome. Moreover, acknowledg thy ſinnes, and fly unto the Lord. Seek out his Houſe, and eat of his bread: for thou haſt much need of it.

Franciſcus Pucci.

Judicium incipiet à domo Dei.

Filius, Servus.

The ſeeds that thou hath ſown abroad, gather up again, leaſt thou be puniſhed for the ſins of thy Brethren.

Thy Soule ſtandeth deare before the Lord, which is the cauſe that he hath mercy upon thee, which ſaith unto thee, If thou be obedient before the Lord, follow the inſtructions and diſcipline of the holy Ghoſt: and do the works of righteouſneſs and Charity, my Spirit ſhall reſt upon thee. I have ſaid.

K. E. He is gone.

△ I read over the laſt parcel in Latine to Francis Pucci: after he had in very penitent ſort thanked God, confeſſed himſelf an offender, as he was here noted, &c.

E. K. He is here again.

URIEL. .. .. Your Penance and Devotion premiſed, The bleſſing of God the Father, the Son, and the Holy Ghoſt, in his everlaſting truth and light, comfort you, bleſſe you, and be merciful unto you.

△ Amen.

URIEL. ..... Extingue lumen: Nam decedo.

△ Deo noſtro Omnipotenti, æterno Lucis & Veritatis Authori ſit omnis laus, gratia actio, honor & gloria, nunc & ſine fine. Amen.

Anno 1585 Auguſti 6 PRAGÆ.

Actionis P*uccianæ* poſterior pars.

Videns, (E. K.) nubem jam receſſiſſe conſpexit: ut ſupra URIELIS caput (quaſi in aëre) alium vidit Angelum: cujus pars inferior, nube ignea continebatur. Capitis veri capilli, circa humores Videntes olim, qui Prophetæ poſtea dicti.

humeros ſparſi, & brachia nuda apparebant. Dextra autem Librum tenebat, quadrata figura, tegmine, (quaſi ignito, rubicundóque colore,) velatim: Foliorum verò exterior margo, albicans erat. Septem retinaculis, quaſi totidem ſeris, clauſus eſſe, liber videbatur. Atque ſuper retinaculorum ora, ſigilla quaſi aurea, impreſſa comparebant. Et ſuper ſingulis ſigillis, litteræ inſcriptæ ſingulares. Super primo E, ſup. 2 M, ſup. 3 E, ſup. 4 T, ſup. 5 T, ſup. 6 A, ſup. 7 V.

..... Accipe librum hunc, & veritas luce magis clareſcat: Et lux, veritate, fiat valida. Data eſt tibi poteſtas dandi, & aperiendi hunc Librum, Mundo, & Mundis.

URIEL. ..... Gratia tibi, Rex Cœli, & terræ, qui fuiſti, es, & venturus es, hinc enim Judicium Meretricis.

E. K. Jam accipit librum URIEL, utriſque flexis genibus.

URIEL. ..... Gaudete, ô vos filii homini, levate corda veſtra Cœlum verſus. Secreta enim Dei panduntur: & verbum ejus ex carceribus emiſſum eſt. Gaudete, ô vos Filii Dei, quia Spiritus veritatis & intelligentiæ inter vos exiſtit: Gaudete, ô vos, qui de ſanctuario eſtis, quia ſapientia & intelligentia replebimini. Gaudete, ô tu domus Jacob, quia jam tua finita eſt viſitatio, atque incipit viſitatio tua. Quatuor venti te unâ colligent: & conculcatum redificabis mirum. Tibi cohabitabit ſponſus. Et, ecce, juravit Dominus, & non te invadent impietates; neque Spiritus Altiſſimi á te recedet. Verùm, Patrum tuorum oſſa quietem nanciſcentur: & tu ipſe æterna frueris vita. Sanguis innocentum, à te abluetur: & ad dies multos pœnitentia te affliges. Tunc quidem Agnus, in medio platearum, ſtabit, ô Hieruſalem: Edictaque promulgabit populo tuo, civibuſque tuis.

Omnis Nationes ad domum Davidis confluent matres, ſuos informabunt infantis, iis verbis: Prævaluit veritas: atque Dei nomen, tuus erit vigil, ô Civitas.

E. K. Jam, omnia, nube alba, oppleta ſunt.

URIEL. ..... Mihi ſilentium, vobis verò, ad temporis exiguum intervallum, quies eſto.

E. K. Ex oculis meis prorſus evanuere prorſus.

△ Nota. Interea ab ipſo Angelico ſermone, præſcripta in Latinum recitavi converſa, legendo expeditè, ipſi Domino Franciſco Puccio, præterea abiter pauca locutus ſum, de Calumniis, contra noſtras actiones tales oraculatis, &c.

E. K. Iterum hic mihi apparet Uriel, atque in Cathedra ſedet Chryſtallina cum Libro illo, in ſuo gremio: dextra autem, illam tenet virgam Geometricam: & ſiniſtra, illam Philoſophiam vitream, ut prius.

URIEL. ..... Cum mihi ſit conceſſa poteſtas, & cum meo miniſterio ſit adjuncta veritas; (unde lucis & veritatis ſum factus plenus) veſtras ego aperiam oculos, atque vobis ipſam eloquar veritatem; ut inertem illam molem tenebrarum veſtrarum, et profundæ ignorantiæ, excutere poſitis, et in luce cum patribus veſtris ambulare. Voci igitur meæ diligenter præbere aurem, & intra cordium veſtrorum liquorem, dicta imbibatis mea. Ut veſtræ intelligentiæ ſuccus, vigorem recipere poſſit: & vos ipſi florere poſitis cum acceptabili veritate, veluti ſervi electi, et Miniſtri ALTISSIMI.

Totus mundus in maligno poſitus eſt, aperta Satane factus eſt officina, ad terræ mercatores omni abominandæ impietatis genere decipiendum. Aſt, quid voſne facti eſtis talium mercium ſub mercatores garuli? vel mendaciorum et doctrinæ falſæ, in publicum vectarii: Æſtimatiſne vos, levis momenti negotium eſſe Scripturarum Divinarum & Myſteriorum ſenſum, judicium et temeritati alligare veſtrarum imaginationum? nihili rem eſſe ſtatutis, in judicio ſedere contra ſpiritum Dei, nullum illi concedendo locum, niſi veſtro ex præſcripto?

Vobiſne licet, coram Filio Dei, integros dies, immò in juſtos conſumere annos, cum filiis Satane mendaci ſobole, & mundi deceptoribus? Adeonè penitus in abominationis officinam voſmet contuliſtis ut Dei filio, futuri adventus ſui tempus præſcribere velitis, Prophetarumque ſuorum deſcenſus: temporiſque terminum, in quo ipſe terram erit viſitaturus?

Moyſes nihil loqui auſus erat, niſi ab ore Dei.

Prophetæ Legem non explicabant, ſed Dei vox.

Filius Dei propria ſua non eſt locutus verba, quatenus Caro erat, ſed verba patris ſui.

Diſcipuli ejus, nihil, niſi ex Spiritu ſancto docuerunt.

Audetiſne (igitur) vos, vobis docendi aſſumere munus, aditáque ſecreta Altiſſimi pandere, minimè ad id admiſſi, vocative?

Dicite mihi, Mercaturamne deſeruiſtis, veſtrarumque pecuniarum (fraude partarum) ſupputationes, ut verbi Dei eſſetis Doctores?

An non pudet vos, ante docere, quàm ipſi intelligatis?

Immò an non vos pudet ſeducere, prius, quàm domum reducere noveritis?

Hypocritæ eſtis, & Spiritu ſancto vacui.

Mendaces eſſe deveniſtis, & ipſius Chriſti inimici, & ſui ſancti Spiritus.

Fortaſſis dicitis, ex Scripturarum Lectione, intelligentiam comparamus earundem.

Aſt mihi reſpondeatis, cujus ſpiritus auxilio, hanc vobis comparatis intelligentiam?

*Q*uis vobis apparuit Angelus? vel ex quo Cœlo, veſtram recepiſtis inſtructionem?

Fieri poteſt, quod, ex Spiritu ſancto dicetis.

O ſtulte tu modicæque intelligentiæ! non intelligis tu, quòd Spiritus ſanctus Eccleſiæ Pædagogus eſt, integri gregis, & congregationis Chriſti?

Proinde ſi multitudinis Pædagogus eſt, ſequitur, quòd Doctrina aliqua, quàm Spiritus ſanctus docet, inſtructio, documentum, ſive intelligentia ſit multitudinis.

Atqui, quæ hominum multitudo, tuæ eſt intelligentiæ?

Vel cujus es tu Congregationis?

Aliter diſperſionis. Diciſne, diſperſus alicujus te unum eſſe: Falſum narras, fugitivus es.

Verùm, ecce, te doceo: Errorque tuus ante tuam conſtat faciem.

*Q*uicunque ad Scripturam intelligentiam pervenict, conari debet ad illarum intelligentiam prævenire, ſecundùm Ordinationem, & Traditionem ſpiritualem.

Aſt ex qua ſpirituali traditione, nactus es tu intelligentiam?

Vel juxta quam Ordinationem, tibi eſt apertus Scripturarum ſenſus?

Dices (forſan) ex ſanctis Patribus, informatum eſſe te, & per eundem ſpiritum per quem docebent illi, tuam te eſſe conſecutum intelligentiam.

Dicere ſic quidem potes, verùm non te ſic facere certum eſt.

*Q*uis enim antiquorum Patrum, rationem copulavit verbo Dei, vel Scripturam intelligentiam, Ethnicorum aſtrinxit diſciplinæ?

Tibi dico, quòd antiqui Patres, Chriſto chari erant, & cœleſtium viſionum, conſolationumque Cœleſtium participes: quæ viſiones Cœleſtéſque conſolationes non illos docebant novam Scripturarum expoſitionem, ſed confirmabant, lucéque illuſtrabant myſteria Spiritus ſancti, per Apoſtolos declarata, qui Eccleſiæ ipſi ſua poſuère fundamenta; quicquid igitur ab antiquis Patribus diſcere poſſis, ab Apoſtolis diſcis, & quicquid ab Apoſtolis intelligis, habes id quidem, à Spiritu ſancto, ſed ſi ipſos Patres exponas tuo ſenſu modóque, & non juxta ſenſum Apoſtolorum, certè Spiritum ſanctum non habes, ſed ſpiritum mendacii.

Humilem, igitur, temet præbeto, & coram Domino procidas, rationem ſemoveas, Dominoque adhæreas, laboréſque verbum ejuſdem intelligere, ex Spiritu ſuo ſancto: quem Spiritum ſanctum, omni ex neceſſitate invenire debes, atque invenies inviſibili Eccleſia uſque ad mundi finem.

Perſpicuè tibi dicam, (ut veritas potenter in luce appareat) quicunque Dei contrarius eſt voluntati, quæ ſuæ eſt tradita Eccleſiæ per Apoſtolos quidem publicata, per Spiritum ſanctum enutrita, & mundo impertita, & per Petrum ad Romam tradicta, & per eundem ibidem expreſſa, ab ejuſdem ſucceſſoribus retenta atque ſuſtentata eſt: Hic idem Deo & veritati ſuæ contrarius eſt.

Lutherus ſuorum recepit mercedem.

Calvinus ſuam.

Reliqui omnes quotquot erraverunt, & ſponte in devia concurrerunt, ſeparando ſeipſos ab Eccleſia & Congregatione Chriſti, obſtinatè & Diaboli (patris ſui) inſtinctu, mercedem ſuam receperunt.

Contra quos filius Dei judicium pronunciabit, dicendo:

Ite Deceptores in gehennæ ignem, Patri veſtro & filiis illius, ab exordio præparatum.

Inter vos ipſos inſurgitis aſſerendo, Papam Antichriſtum eſſe (hoc enim nomine illum inſignitis) homo certè malus eſſe poſſit, atque à ſua excidere vocatione, verumtamen Antichriſtus eſſe nunquam poterit.

Antichriſtus enim ille eſt, qui filius eſt Diaboli, homo quidem ex carne & ſanguine natus ex impia & fraudulenta meretrice, qui populos ſeducet tumiduſque ſui patris potentia, Deo reſiſtet in Terra inter homines, quemadmodum pater ejus in Cœlo fecerat inter Angelos: prorſus denegando Dei Omnipotentiam ſeque illi opponendo.

O vos ſtulti & exiguæ intelligentiæ, quum Apoſtolis Cœli concredabantur claves: (quaſi diceres) eadem Chriſti Jeſu filii Dei viventis, authoritas & poteſtas ad hominem condonanda peccata, & ad peccatores Cœlo excludendos, & quum * eiſdem Apoſtolis, vade poſt me Satana, etiam diceatur, non tanta eſtis intelligentia ut in Altiſſimi hæc introſpicere valeatis myſteria. * Mat.cap.16. C. D

Si Dei filius tum commendabat tum etiam reprehendebat Diſcipulos ſuos, cur non poſſit igitur Epiſcopus, & bonus & malus cenſeri? Si hinc conſequatur, bonum malumque Epiſcopo ineſſe poſſe, pari ratione inferri poſſit authoritatis Epiſcopalis rationem, à bono malove illo non pendere, ſed ipſius ad Epiſcopi vitam hoc bonum malúmve ſpectare ſi bonus ſit, ſuæ bonitatis metet beneficium; ſin malus ſit, mendax eſt; ſua enim illi contraria eſt doctrina. Proinde, ſi, propter hominum peccata Deus permiſerit, multos in ſpiritu * Ananiæ ſedere in loco ſancto, id quidem propter peccata veſtra eſt, & rebellem naturam, ut ſupplicium recipiatis: & non obſcura vel tenebroſa ejus fieret Eccleſia. * Act. 23. A Apertè itaque oculos veſtros & intelligite, & Eccleſiæ adhæritatis, amore ipſius Eccleſiæ, & non hominum. Neque Eccleſiam contemnatis, propter hominum iniquitatis.

Verùm

Verùm colla illi ſubmittatis ſancto jugo & ordinationi, quæ vos ducet ad illam Congregationem quæ gubernator per Spiritum Dei, in qua intelligetis ſecreta Libri Dei, explicata eſſe juxta ſenſum antiquorum veſtrorum Patrum: quorum intelligentia erat dignitus Spiritus Sancti.

Non poteſtis à vobis ipſis authoritatem recipere, & hinc authoritas nihil facere poteſtis.

Idcircò cum veſtra authoritas nulla ſit, cur Eccleſia opera Actave intra veſtras arripitis manus?

Malæ fidei poſſeſſor. Una quidem res eſt, Scripturarum aliquem quærere intelligentiam: atque alia eſt Scripturas docere, ſecundùm intelligentiam ſuam. Qui enim docet, ex authoritate docet: ſed authoritatem ſi non habeat uſurpator ſive intruſor eſt.

Fratres mei, Conſiderate voſmet ipſos bene, & conſiderate vos pueros eſſe, & quod veſtri juris non ſitis ſed alieni. Nihil igitur faciatis quaſi ex vobis ipſis: ſed inſiſtatis (ut pueri boni) veſtigiis Matris veſtræ, quæ Mater pura Virgo eſt, & ſemper à Paracleti ſapientia informatur, quem vobis (pueris ejus) exhibere cibum debet; & quo vos modo educare atque inſtruere.

Simplicitas multùm valet & obedientia, certum eſt, coram Domino; Aſt curioſitas Diabolus eſt.

Matt.7. a 15.C Mar.7.C An non legiſtis quid ſanctorum panis, non ſit ante canes projiciendus?

Penitùs voſmet examinetis, utrum canes ſitis, nec ne.

Videte utrum vita veſtra ſancta ſit, opera veſtra recta & juſta; patientia veſtra multiplex; afflictio veſtra, magna propter Dominum.

Si voſmet ipſos, in hoc ſtatu eſſe, minimè deprehendatis, pueri non eſtis; ſi pueri haud ſitis, non eſtis filii; ſi filii haud ſitis matrem non habetis; ſin verò matrem non habet, devoratores eſtis illius panis qui filiis debetur, canini, inſenſati, & contra Deum eſtis.

In veſtri igitur judicium ſtatus vos ipſi deſcendatis.

Vox hæc in Scripturis multum uſitata.
Pater Conſiderate, per Deum Creati eſtis
Filius Conſiderate, per Deum Redempti eſtis.
Spiritus S. Conſiderate etiam, relicti eſtis Spirituali Tutelæ & conſolationi Dei.

Qui Deus ex vobis congregationem ordinavit, ſanctam & ſanctificatam ſocietatem, paſcentem ſemper ſimul tanquam fratres, ſub alis ſuis & in ſua menſa; qui vos paſcit vitæ & intelligentiæ panæ; corpore (nimirùm) & ſanguine Jeſu Chriſti filii Dei viventis.

Intelligentiæ autem pane vos paſcit, ut patris veſtri voluntatem intelligatis, qui in Cœlis eſt; Obedientia ut illi quum noveritis, obedientes factis; quæ obedientia veſtræ vocationis finis eſt.

Nullo igitur modo obedientiæ jugum excutiatis, de ſimul etiam Calicem intelligentiæ à vobis repellatis; atque ea ratione Patris veſtri vos lateat voluntas.

Sed judicio meo famelici eſtis, veſtra contracta ſunt inteſtina, oſſa nervique marieſcunt.

Quæ hujus rei cauſa eſt? quando illum Domini panem recepiſtis? quando nutrimentum accepiſtis? ô vos modicæ fidei & intelligentiæ minoris erratis, & devii curritis. Cœci eſtis, patris veſtri, non obtemperatis voluntati; redite, redite & intra voſmet ipſos talia dicatis.

O ſempiterne Deus, & benigne Pater, magna certè eſt cura miſericordiáque tua erga nos, quos in devia actos per Satanam, & ſpiritum tenebrarum reduxiſti domum; & nobis cœcis præpoſuiſti (viſu etiam nobis reſtituto) veram ſemitam lineamque rectam intelligentiæ. O nos ſœlices, quos tibi tam charos habes; & quorum ſalus tantæ tibi curæ eſt. Nomen proindè tuum, laudibus celebrabimus; & à noſtris revertemur erroribus. Peccata confitebimur noſtra, & præcepta obſervabimus tua. Quoniam tu ſolus, ô Domine, juſtus & verus es, & miſericordia tua æterna eſt. Leges tuæ ſuaves ſunt, et per amans tua benignitas inter nos valida eſt. Sanctus, Sanctus, Dominus Deus Zebaoth. Honor omnis laus et gloria tibi detur in perpetuum.

△ Amen.

URIEL. ..... Modico tranſacto temporis ſpatio revertam.

E. K. Abiit.

△ Nota.

△ Interim Franciſco Pucci hæc (quæ Anglicè dictata recepimus) Latinè recitabam. Nobiſque nervoſa valdè, noſtriſque accommoda inſtitutis videbantur.

E. K. Iterum illum adeſſe video.

URIEL. ..... Franciſce attentis auribus, verba excipias mea.

SISTATIS PAULULUM.

△ Hinc ſtatim, Franciſcus Puccius à ſede ſua genibus utriſque (quaſi Deo ſupplex) terram petebat.

URIEL. ..... Verum quidem eſt (ut tuus te aliàs commune fecit ſpiritus) quòd Deus te vocavit ut particeps & intelligens eſſes voluntatis ſuæ explendæ, in vindicta & ira ſua exercenda, contra terræ falſitatem & fraudem.

Atque hanc ob cauſam, ex magno ſuo amore, & immenſa miſericordia ſua avocavit te Deus à filiis hominum, Deo inviſorum, & ab injuſtitiæ tramite.

In qua tua vocatione, ſi illum imiteris, in tuæ conſcientiæ ſimplicitate, & juſtitia (quæ fidei ſunt opera) confirmaberis. Tibi enim dico, vindictam meam effundam ſuper univerſam terram atque,

atque illam caſtigabo in iniquitate ſua, & in ſuæ ſuperbiè ſummo gradu illam præcipitem poſternam; neque ultra triumphabit.

Et quia te demiſſum humilémque exhibuiſti ſpiritus meus tecum erit, & intelligentiam tu conſequeris.

Et monſtrum hoc impium, quod in Templo ſancto ſedet, & contra Altiſſimum peccat, præcipitabitur cum ſuperbia ſua, Atque ex ore utriuſque veſtri caſtigabitur & corrigetur. Judicium enim à Domo Dei inchoari debet, E filius rebellis prius flagellis cædi debet, quam impius puniri ſervus. Ezech. 9. C 1 Petri 4. D

Ne timeatis, Veſtris enim verbis, vires & potentiam adjungam.

Et veſtra ſi contemnat verba manuſque ſuas contra vos exerat: de Cœlo ignis atque ſulphuris demittam imbrem, & Palatia ejuſdem in terram deſcendent: lacuſque ibidem remanens contra illum teſtimonium dabit perpetuum.

Erigas igitur cor tuum mundumque deſpicias, & contra ejuſdem viriliter pugna, neque ab eodem vincaris.

Tua præterea confitearis peccata: & ad Dominum confugias, illius perquirito domum, & de illius pane comedas: eo enim multum tibi opus eſt.

Et ſemina quæ ſparſim ſeminaſti, recolligas: ne fortè tu pœnas tuas, ob fratrum tuorum peccata.

Anima tua Deo chara eſt, atque idcirco miſericordia erga te movetur, tibique dicit, ſi coram Domino obediens appareas: atque ſequaris inſtructiones & diſciplinam Spiritus ſancti faciáſque opera Juſtitiæ & Charitatis, ſpiritus meus ſuper te requieſcet.

Dixi.

E. K. Abiit.

△ Ex Anglicis dictatis iſtis ultimis Latinè eundem expreſſi ſenſum, Domino Fr. Puccio, valde devoto humili, & præmiſſa agnoſcenti & acceptanti, &c.

E. K. Iterum mihi conſpicuus eſt.

URIEL. ..... Præmiſſa veſtra tam pœnitentia quam devotione, Benedictio Dei Patris Filii, & Spiritu ſancti, in ſua ſempiterna veritate lucéque vos conſoletur, vobiſque benedicat, & vobis miſericordiam impertiat copioſam.

△ Amen.

Ex Actione, quæ erat die Veneris, September 6. 1585. Pragæ.

Eat Puccius, ut promiſſis perficiendis provideat.
At cor habeat ſincerum rectumque. Angelica vox.
Immò ſæpe proprios detergat caliceos.
Inter eundem autem alloquatur mortua arbuſta, de Domino venturo.
Ambulet cum montibus ut illi ejus audire poſſit.
Tunc revertatur ut quod reliquum eſt ad implere poſſit.
Atqui dico proprios tergat caliceos.

△ Vos oro ut illam nobis explicare phraſem velitis obſcuram.

Qui flagellatur ipſe ſentit. Angelica vox

Angelica vox. ..... Reliqui (jejunii veſtri) dies, non hic complebuntur, ſed in illis viginti diebus, in quibus Romæ operari Decretum eſt mihi.

LIBER RESURRECTIONIS.

Pragæ, Aprilis 30.

Pactum, ſeu Fœdus Sabbatiſmi.

1586.

Threbone } { Venimus è
Octob. 14. } { Septemb. 14.

1586. { In Maio 29 Exilii Decretum contra nos exiit à Cæſare Rod.
{ In Auguſto 8, Reverſionis permiſsio D. Roſenbergio, obtinentent ad ſua veniamus.

Miraculum, & factum memorandum in perpetuum.

AS E. K. ſtood at the end of the Galery by his Chamber, looking over into the Vineyard he ſeemed to ſee the little man the Gardiner, in all manner of behaviour and apparel, who is the chief workman or over-ſeer of Mr. Carpio his workmen in the ſame Vine-yard. He ſeemed very handſomly to prune ſome of the Trees: at length he approached under the wall by E. K. and holding his face away-ward he ſaid unto him, Quæſo dicas Domino Doctori quod veniat ad me. And ſo went away as it were cutting here and there the Trees very handſomly, and at length over the Cherry-trees by the houſe on the Rock in the Garden he ſeemed to mount up in a great piller of fire.

E. K. bade his Wife to go, and ſhe who was in the Garden. She came up, and brought him word, No body.

E. K. then came to me and ſaid, I think there is ſome wicked ſpirit that would allude me, and he told and ſaid to me, as is before noted. Then ſaid I, I will go into the Garden, and bade E. K. come with me. We went down that way which this Creature did go: but nothing we ſaw, went to the Banqueting-houſe in the Vine-yard, but that place pleaſed us not: ſo, we went along in the way by the cliff ſide, and ſat down on the bank by the great pyle of Vine-ſtakes lying in the very South end of the Vine-yard. And we had not ſat there half a quarter of an hour, but I eſpyed under the Almond-tree, and on the South-ſide of it, being the Weſterly Almond-tree, that is it which is ſtanding on the Weſterly ſide of the ſtraight path which leadeth from the North toward the South in the Vineyard. I eſpyed (I ſay) like a ſheet of faire white paper lying toſſed to and fro in the wind. “ I roſe
“ and went to it, and (to the prayſe of God his truth and power,) there I found three of my Books “ lying, which were ſo diligently burnt the tenth day of April laſt.

1 The three Books were, Enoch his Book.

2 The 48 Claves Angelicæ.

3 And the third was the Book of my gathering of the thirty Aires, and entitled Liber Scientiæ terreſtris auxilii & victoriæ.

Thereupon E. K. comming to me, I fell on my knees with great thanks yeilding to the God Almighty, and ſo did E. K. whoſe mind and body were mervailouſly affected at the ſight of the “ ſaid Books, having no ſhew or ſigne that ever they had been in the fire, neither by colour or ſavour, “ or any thing wanting.

And after we had ſet half an hour under the fore-ſaid Almond-trees prayſing God and wondring at the Miracle. Suddenly appeared by us the ſelf-ſame Gardiner like perſon, but with his face ſomewhat turned away, and nothing thereof to be adjudged as of Ave the cuſtome is. He ſaid, Kelly, follow me, E. K. went, and I ſat ſtill, awaiting his return.

This

This Gardiner went before E. K. and his feet ſeemed not to touch the ground by a foot height. And as he went before E. K. ſo the doores did ſeeme to open before him, he led him up the great ſtairs on the left hand by the Vineyard door, and ſo in at his own Chamber door where E. K. hath his new Study, and then the door going out of that to the ſtairs opened of it ſelf, and he went up thoſe ſtairs, & at length brought him to the Furnace mouth where all the Books and papers had been burnt the 10 day of this April. And coming thither, there the ſpiritual Creature did ſeem to ſet one of his feet on the poſt on the right hand without the Furnace mouth, and with the other to ſtep to the Furnace mouth, and ſo to reach into the Furnace (the bricks being now plucked away which ſtopped the mouth of the Furnace, all ſaving one brick thick) and as he had reached into the furnace there appeared a great light, as if there had been a window in the back of the Furnace, and alſo to E. K. the hole which was not greater then the thickneſs of a brick unſtopped, did ſeeme now more then three or “ four brick thickneſs wide, and ſo over his ſhoulder backward he did reach to E. K. all the reſt of the “ ſtanding Books, excepting the Book out of which the laſt Action was cut, and Fr. Pucci his Recan-“ tation, alſo to E. K. appeared in the Furnace all the reſt of the papers which were not as then de-“ livered out.

That being done, he bade E. K go, and ſaid he ſhould have the reſt afterward. He went before in a little fiery cloud, and E. K. followed with the Books under his arm all along the Gallery, and came down the ſtairs by Fr. Pucci his Chamber door, and then his guide left E. K. and he brought me the Books unto my place under the Almond-tree.

✝ Pragæ.

1586 Aprilis 30 May-even.
Mane circa 8.

△ Precibus quibuſdam fuſis ad Deum, & gratiis pro miraculo Heſterno actis, petebamus jam a Deo conſilium ſuum quid de iſto miraculo nobis eſſet faciendum ulterius, &c.

Et quid faciemus cum Domino Roſenbergio, an illum debeamus admittere ad amicitiam noſtram & fœdus ſanctum? quid de ejus oblatis ædibus, &c.

E. K. A voice commeth down right before me ſaying.

Vox. ..... Thou William. △ A pauſe
Thou William. △ A pauſe
Thou William of Roſenberg. △ A greater pauſe

E. K. Who is this William? Willielmus à Roſenberg.
△ I ſuſpect it to be the Lord Roſenberg.

This day in the Bloud of the Lamb, do I pronounce forgiveneſs of ſinnes, upon thee: and for a ſigne and token: Thy lines ſhall be opened, and thy ſeed ſhall be multiplyed upon Earth Therefore take unto thee a Sheep, that is yet a Lamb, and ſpoile not the flock of thy poor neighbour.

And, behold, if thou turn thy ſelf from the North, and aſcend unto the Holy Mountain, [and] I will hereafter make a Covenant with thee. But take heed, thou deſpiſe me not.

Bleſſed are theſe that are comforted of me, for their ſtrength is from above. For whoſoever is rebuked of the ſpirit of truth, ſhall with time periſh as a ſhadow.

Is it not ſaid, if thy eye offend thee, caſt him out? I ſay unto thee alſo, yea, though thy head offend, caſt him alſo away. The unſtable Whiſperings and wordly Pollicies of ſuch as are the Princes of the World, are they not known unto mee?

O you Hypocrites! O you little of underſtanding, and of leſs faith, how far are you in love with the World, and her pomp, with the fleſh and her lightneſs or wantonneſs, with the Divel and his damnable ſubtilty! Purge your houſes, and purge your Kingdomes, if you will ſtir up the Lord to ſtrengthen you. Curſed is that Nation, that defiled her ſelf with the ſociety of ſuch as are Baſtards. But wo, wo, be unto him that Ruleth not according to the length of his bridle. Conſilium.

The chaff of this Empire and Kingdom, behold it remaineth, the father ſwept it not out, neither doth the Son lift up his hand for the name of the Higheſt. De Imperio Ro. & Regio Bohemiæ.

O you Hypocrites, you are faithleſs, for you fulfil not your charge!

Thou haſt, yet time to awake, thou mayſt yet be acceptable. Time yet.

Thy doings let them be a Judge between thee and me.

△ Magna pauſa.

Vox ..... Behold, I have given thee unto Roſenberg, him alſo have I given unto thee △. Whoſoever therefore conſidereth not the giver ſhall be called to account and that ſharply. △ The voice ſo expounded it after at my requeſt.

In the yeare 88, I will ſend out my viſitation that the ends of the world may be known, and that Juſtice may appeare in the garments of her unmeaſurable honor. Anno 88.

In the mean ſeaſon, I will bleſs you abundantly with all the gifts and ſeeds of nature. See therefore, that you work, and labour that your hands may bring forth fruit, the increaſe of the Lord. Noſter beneficentiſſimus D.us.

Sex Actiones futuræ & Sabbathum.
Vox 7.

*Six Actions you ſhall have: the ſeventh is the Sabbath of the Lords, and from this day (being a part of the time) beginning from * Fryday laſt celebrated, as the memorial of him through whom I ſpeak unto you, which ſuffered upon the Croſſe for your Redemption, until the day come of the ſixth Moneth, you ſhall not* preſume to aske any viſitation of him that ſpeaketh with you. And ſo the ſixth Moneth (the laſt day enſuing) ſhall alwayes be your day of Action.

△ I asked which Fryday.
* From good Fryday.

§ Pucci is defiled, and ſhall not be partaker of theſe ſix viſitations to come: but ſhall depart from you, and be ready as the Lord ſhall find him, and as he ſhall be warned of you. Notwithſtanding my ſpirit ſhall not depart from him, and I will open his underſtanding that he may convert many. For the World muſt be ſatisfied with teſtimony as well of his life, as the recantation & profeſſed Doctrine.

Our Heavenly Kalender of ſix moneths Action.

△ We lack (ô Lord) his recantation written by his own hand, I cannot find it in the Books reſtored.

The reſt red Books to be moſt cloſely kept until the ſixth Action.

Thoſe Books let them be kept of thee, as committed unto thy cuſtody by me. And ſee that they be never opened until the ſixth Action to come.

See alſo, that you diſcloſe not my hand amongſt you, leaſt I then riſe up againſt you.

For, behold, you are yet in the Wilderneſſe. Therefore, be ſilent.

Domini miraculum ſub ſilentio eſt tenendum.

Unto William, notwithſtanding (hereafter) all things may be known, and made manifeſt.

Willielmus à Roſenberg. faciendus eſt conſcius ſuo tempore.

If any man ſeek you, elſe, you know him not.

For you live within the ſilence of the Higheſt.

Omnia reliqua reſtituentur quæ igni committebantur.

The reſt that wanteth, ſhall be reſtored unto you: even unto the leaſt and laſt letter.

Live, therefore, together as in the hands of your Protector.

And doubt not, but that I will be merciful unto him that is ſick through his infirmity: yea, and unto his generation as I have promiſed. And the ſinne which remaineth in his Fathers houſe, and in his houſe for many generations, I will mercifully blot out.

Doubt not, my peace (which am peace, the beginning and the ending) ſhall alwayes be amongſt you.

E.K. and △ together.

△ We read all and had long diſcourſe of all, and at laſt, I asked thus.

△ What ſhall I ſay unto Roſenberg of your preſent merciful dealing and intent toward him.

Vox ..... That, which is ſaid of him, that, ſay thou △ unto him.

Adam of Newhouſe Lord Chancelor.

Move no more queſtions.

△ Benedicite Domino omnia opera ejus, laudate illum omnes Creaturæ ejus: laudent illum Angeli ejus, laudent illum Sancti ejus: ille ſolus eſt Omnipotens, ille ſolus eſt Sanctus, ille Protector noſtri, Illuminator & Conſolator noſter eſt. Cinguli omnis honor & gloria. Amen.

MEMORANDUM.

1586. May 1.

On May day after dinner I went over the water (being brought to the water ſide in the Lord Roſenberg his coach, and Jacobus Menſchick with me) unto the Lord Roſenberg his Gardens, and lodging by the water-ſide, whether he came to me by appointment. To whom when I had read in Latin (ex tempore) the things that concerned him, I asked him what he had done, ſince the time of my being with him, that I may the better underſtand theſe words ſpoken to him and of him.

He told, that he had often prayed, ſince unto God for the forgiveneſs of his ſins, and to open his eyes how he might ſerve him; and to make it to be evident unto him whether he is to marry or no, and where, or in what ſtock or kindred. And if it were his divine will, that he might receive comfort and inſtruction by me, and that theſe and ſuch matters, and ſomewhat earneſtly he had prayed alſo for his Mr. the Emperour, that he might bend himſelf to enjoy God his favour, yea, for his own marriage and amending of his looſe life, while he yet ſat at dinner this day at the Archbiſhops table, his heart and thought did come very much upon it, &c.

At theſe his words I rejoyced much to perceive the doing of the Higheſt, in the hearing of his prayer faithfully prayed & that the anſwer which I read unto him was ſo fitly applyed unto his prayer as he alſo himſelf, did perceive with great comfort and ſpiritual joy. He entreated much that I would pray to God that the Emperour might be reſtored to the favour of God, as he was when I declared my meſſage unto him from the Higheſt, I anſwered, that whatſoever the God of Heaven and Earth ſhould appoint me to ſay or do unto his Majeſty, I moſt willingly rejoyce in the faithful doing of it: and that it was my duty (as a Chriſtian) to pray for his Majeſty: but I ſhould not make my promiſe of my prayer to be heard, but would highly rejoyce if his Imperial Majeſty would ſo uſe himſelf in God his judgment, as might be meritorious in the ſight of our Redeemer.

Votum & promiſſum Wilhelmi Urſini, Vice-regis Bohemiæ.

Such words and matters as this paſſed between us. And he ſaid that he would in all points, fulfil the advice and warning of God, in this Action expreſſed, & would marry a Maiden as he was willed. And this day did acknowledge, & account himſelf a happy man. And as concerning our mutual bond by the meanes of each being given to the other by God of Heaven and Earth, he vowed and promiſed that he would regard it in all points to the beſt of his skil and power, &c.

Theſe and other ſuch good ſeeds for the ſervice of God being ſown between us; he went towards his Palace in the Court, and I to the water-ſide, and ſo over to the Coach awaiting for me, and ſo came home. God be prayſed.

MEMORANDUM.

The Lord Roſenberg ſent Mr. Jacob Menſchik with this Letter unto me.

Magnifico Domino Joanni Dee ad manus proprias.

Magnifice Domine, Pater Obſervandæ & Chariſſimæ.

LEtatus ſum in his quæ mihi dixiſtis. Cognovi enim quoniam exaudivit deprecationem meam pius pater & miſericors Dominus. Itáque maximo pere deſideravi ut quam ſepiſſime ea mihi legere, perlegere & ſemper ab oculos habere poſſim: per amorem Dei oro. ut ſaltem eorum, quæ mihi perlecta & ad me pertinent verborum mihi tranſmittas deſcriptionem: Non tantùm mihi multum gratificabitur, ſed & conſolabor plurimùm.

Obſecro præterea Dominum veſtram, aſſiduè pro me orare velit, ut confirmet hoc Deus quod operatus eſt in nobis: & dirigat omnia conſilia, opera, actiones, immò & cogitationes noſtras ad laudem & gloriam ſanctiſſimi noſtris ſui, commodum multorum, & animæ noſtræ ſalutem. Neque deſinat, pro amore ſuo paterno, quo me (uti ſpero) Dominatio veſtra proſequitur me, ſemper in omnibus quæ pro honore Dei & commodo veſtro à me fieri & debent & poſſunt, admonere & ſignificare. Rem ſummopere mihi gratum & expectationi meæ dignam & conſentaneam faciet. Et cum his, me commendo ſuis præcibus & orationibus, nec non paterno ſuo amori & cordi. Optimè valeat Magnifica Dominatio veſtra Dominica, Cantate, Anno 1586.

Filius & Amicus veſter ex animo
Wilhelmus R. Manu propriâ.

Rogo ut melius intelligat Dominatio veſtra eáque ſcripta ſunt, & conſideret plus mentem meam quam verba. Quia mihi in uſu non fuit à multis annis Lingua Latina, & nemini in hac re confidere volo.

NOTE.

I had tranſlated this Sunday morning, the ſame parcel of the former Action into Latin for the Lord Roſenberg, which he then ſent for, jump at the time, when I had finiſhed it: And ſo I ſent it him incloſed in a Letter.

May 6. Being Tueſday, I entred my Journey toward Valkenaw Glaſſe-houſe, and Leipſig Mart.

There are divers Valkenaws, one by Egre, or Elbogen, not far from Carls Bath, weſtward from Prage about 18 Bemiſh miles, an other in Behem, about 11 or 12 miles from Prage, northerly, a mile from Krebitz, and two miles from Liep, and a mile from Kamnitz.

NOTE.

May 11 I came to Leipſig, on Sunday the 11 of May, and was at Peter Hans Swartz his Houſe lodged. I found Laurence Overton, (with much ado) an Engliſh Merchant: to whom my wife (the laſt year) had ſhewed no little friendſhip to himſelf, and Thomas his partners ſervant, in the time of his lying ſick in our Houſe, &c. at Prage; He came from England at Mid-lent, he confeſſed that Edmond my ſervant had been oftentimes with him, at his Houſe, and that he did think that he would come with the next Ships after his comming from England, then to come within 16 dayes.

I perceived by his diverſe expreſſe ſayings, that he was but a hollow friend unto me, and ſeemed half afraid to deal either with me, or my man.

There, alſo I found a courteous Gentleman called Mr. Francis Evers, the Lord Evers his Sonne of the North. And of all other matters omitting the rehearſal in theſe Records, (thoſe matters I mean which at Leipſich and in this Journey happened notably unto me, or I did my ſelf) one Letter which I wrote to the Queen of England her Secretary, the Right Honourable Sir Faancis Walſingham, as followeth.

Right

Right Honorable SIR,

ALbeit I have (almoſt) in vain come a hundred miles (from Prage to this Leipſich Mart) hoping either to meet my Servant there, with anſwer to my former Letters, ſent in November laſt to her Majeſty (when alſo I wrote unto your Honor, and divers other). And ſo with ſpeed from this Leipſich to have ſent again, moſt ſpeedily as occaſion ſhould have ſerved. And now, I find, neither ſervant, neither Letter from him, neither word of mouth: yet all this notwithſtanding: and whatſoever the hindrance or delay hereof be (whether the keeping back of my Letters from her Majeſty, or the manifold and importune, moſt weighty affairs publick hindring or delaying her Majeſties moſt gracious, diſcreet and wiſe reſolution herein: or what other occaſion elſe hath and doth cauſe this long and wonderful delay of anſwer receiving. All this notwithſtanding, I thought good, before I ſet up to my Coach, to viſit, and moſt humbly to ſalute your Honour very faithfully, dutifully and ſincerely, with great and the ſame good will, that my Letter ſome yeers ſince written to your Honour, (butt hen., a ſtnmbling block unto your Honour and other, for the ſtrangneſſe of the Phraſes therein) doth pretend, ſo it is, right Honourable, that the merciful providence of the Higheſt, declared in his great and abundant graces upon me, and mine, is ſo wonderful and mighty, that very few, unleſſe they be preſent witneſſes, can believe the ſame. Therefore how hard they are to be believed, there where all my life and doings were conſtrued to a contrary ſenſe: and proceſſe of death contrived and decreed againſt the Innocent, who can not eaſily judg.

I am forced to be brief. That which England ſuſpected, was alſo here, for theſe two yeers, almoſt (ſecretly) in doubt, in queſtion, in conſultation Imperial and Royal, by Honourable Eſpies, fawning about me, and by other, diſcourſed upon., pryed and peered into. And at length, both the chief Romiſh power, and Imperial dignity, are brought to that point, reſolutely, that, partly they are ſorry, of their ſo late reclaiming their erroneous judgment againſt us and of us, and ſeek means to deal with us, ſo as wee might favour both the one and the other: And partly to Rome is ſent for as great Authority and Power as can be deviſed, and likewiſe here, all other means and wayes contrived, How, by force, or for feare, they may make us glad to follow their humours. But all in vain; for force humane we fear not: as plainly, and often, I have to the Princes declared: And otherwiſe then in pure verity, and godlineſſe, we will not favour any (my words may ſeem very marvellous in your Honours ears: But mark the end, wee have had (and ſhall have to deal with no babes) I have full oft and upon many of their requeſts and queſtions, referred my ſelf to her Majeſties anſwer, thus, in vain, expected. Nuncius Apoſtolicus, (Germanicus Mala Spina) after his yeers ſuit unto me to be acquainted with me, at length had ſuch his anſwer, that he is gone to Rome with a flea in his eare, that diquieteth him, & terrifieth the whole State Romiſh and Jeſuitical: ſecretly they threaten us violent death, and openly they fawn upon us. We know, the ſting of Envy, and the fury of the Fear in Tyrannical minds, what deſperate attempts they have and do often undertake. But the God of Heaven and Earth is our Light, Leader, and Defender. To the Worlds end, his mercies upon us, will bread his Praiſes, Honour and Glory. Thus much very rhapſodically, (yet faithfully) tanquam dictum ſapienti, I thought good to commit to the ſafe and ſpeedy conveyance of a young Merchant here called Lawrence Overton: which if it come to your Honours hands before my Servant have his diſpatch, I ſhall or may by your Honour be advertized. Your Honour is ſufficient from her Majeſty to deal and proceed with me, if it be thought good. But if you make a Council-Table Caſe of it, Quot homines, tot ſententiæ. And my Comiſſion from above is not ſo large: Qui poteſt capere, capiat.

and

Sir, I truſt, I ſhall have Juſtice for my Houſe, Library, Goods, and Revenues, &c. Do not you diſdain, neither fear to bear favour unto your poor Innocent Neighbour. If you ſend unto me Maſter Thomas Diggs, in her Majeſties behalf, his faithfulneſſe to her Majeſty, and my well liking of the man, ſhall bring forth ſome piece of good ſervice. But her Majeſty had been better, to have ſpent or given away in Alms, a Million of Gold, then to have loſt ſome opportunities paſt. No humane reaſon can limit or determine God his marvellous means of proceeding with us. Hee hath made of Saul (E K.) a Paul: but yet, now and then, viſited with a pang of humane frailty. The Almighty bleſſe her Majeſty both in this World, and eternally: and inſpire your heart with ſome conceiving of his merciful purpoſes, yet, yet, not utterly cut off from her Majeſty, to enjoy

From Leipſich this 14 of May 1586, at Peter Hans Swarts Houſe.

Your Honours faithful wel-willer to uſe and command for the honour of God and her Majeſties beſt ſervice,

JOHN DEE.

To the right Honourable Sir Francis Walſingham Knight, her moſt Excellent Majeſties Principal Secretary, my ſingular good Friend and Patron, with ſpeed

Illuſt.

Illuſtriſſ. & Magnif. D. mei Colendiſſimi.

Benedictio Dei Patris & mera gratia & miſericordia per unicum meritum Jeſu Chriſti, illuminatio Spiritus Sancti, confirmet nos cum omnibus Chriſtianis, qui magno cum zelo, propter gloriam ejus, crucem, tribulationem, & præſentionem a rancido atque putido ſcorto Babylonico, in turbulentiſſimo hujus mundi Oceano patimur, ut exemplo Jeſu Chriſti qui eſt in Patre, virtute & auxilio Spiritu S^{t}. hæc omnia perferre patienter valeamus ad nominis ſui gloriam & animarum noſtrarum ſalutem. Amen.

Mirum fortaſſis videbitur Dominat V. quod ignotus ad ignotos ſcribo imputabitis bonam hujus culpæ partem juſtiſſimo dolori, quem ex rumore ſparſo, & ad me delato propter D. V. concepi: mirari enim non ſatis poſſum pertinax ſtudium beſtiæ iſtius Babilonice, quæ nihil intentatum relinquit, nullum non movendo lapidem, quo hominibus veſtræ nationis præcipue piis & amantibus Dei non ſolummodo nocere ſed & funditus perdere ſtudet. Elapſo enim undecima die hujus menſis Legatus Pontificius Libellum ſupplicationum ut vocant) Cæſ. Majeſtati obtulit quo D.V. Nicromanciæ & aliis artibus, prohibitis inſimulat, aliiſque calumniis graviter accuſat copias hujus libelli habere potuiſſem, ſed nimis ſero hac de re ſum certior factus, nec tutum & abſque ſuſpitione eſt qui illum ex Italico in Latinum ſermonem tranſtulit petere. Quare cum hæc omnia vana a D. V. ut hominibus Chriſtianis & Philoſophis certo ſciam Epiſtolam hanc cum tenendi tum admonendi cauſa exarare libuit ut promptiores & paratiores D. V. ad reſpondendum offendant. Peto itaque ut eo animo ſuſcipiatis quo ſcripta eſt ſcilicet Chriſtiano integro & candido. Valete meque precibus veſtris Chriſto commendate.

POSCRIPT.

Ante aliquot dies tranſmiſiſſem D. V. Litteras ſed D. V. peregræ profectas eſſe mihi ſignificatum fuit poſtquam autem a ſervitore generoſo D. a Bikerſtein cognoviſſem (Ferdinando Harnik) D.V. hanc noſtram remiſſe patriam, intermittere non potui quin illud quod veſtrum intereſſit ſcire litteris iſtis ſignificarem. Julius Aſcanius ſeptima à Verdeman.

Illuſtriſſ. & Magnif. D. Joanni Dee & Edwardo V, &c. Dominis & amicis meis colendiſſ.

Rceived of Mr. Kelly on Friday before Whitſunday, after my return from Valkenaw. 1586.

Mr. Kelly received this on Thurſday before Whitſontide, 22 May 1586.

Illuſtriſſimo Principi & Domino Domino Wilielmo Urſino hereditario Domino Inclite Domus a Roſenberg, Domino in Grommaw Equiti aurei velleris Cæſareæ Majeſtatis intimi conſilii Conſiliario, & in Regno Bohemiæ ſupremo Burgravio, &c. Domino & Patrono meo Colendiſſimo.

ILluſtriſſime Princeps, nihil mihi gratias a Magnifico Domino, Schonbergio narrari poterat, quam veſtram Celſitudinem proſpera interim frui valetudine, Dum ego vario, diverſo, & intricato quodam fueram jactatus itinere, per montes, per valles, per ſylvas denſiſſimas, per apertos campos, & per nivem profundam, & nobis fere inperviam: Et (ſemper tamen nos protegente altiſſimo) tandem ſani, ſalvique illeſis tam equis quam curru Celſitudinis veſtræ, reverſi ſumus. Pro quo proſpero ſucceſſu, ſummas Altiſſimo agimus gratias, & Veſtræ Celſitudini infinitas a nobis deberi fatemur. Dum abſum contra nos neſcio quid falſi incipit iſte Apoſtolicus Nuncius vel leviter nimis credere, & temere conqueri, vel a ſeipſo excogitare perverſæ. Veræ ſi ita pergant(habito jam noſtri,per biennium experimento ſatis accurato)illi quidem,qui pietate& ſapientia, (ſaltem vulgares) deberent ſuperare homines omnes, omnium hominum ſemet declarare maxime invidos, malitioſos,perverſos,ſanguinis humani appetentes, ſuperbos, innocentum carnifices, & piorum in Chriſto Calumniatores exitioſos,&c.Vere (dico) cogemur pulverem ex calceis noſtris excntere, & alias in mundi partes nos conferre. Et niſi veſtræ Celſitudinis haberemus eam quam debemns conſiderationem: Et niſi nos ipſos veſtræ Celſitudinis præſidio quocunqne armato (quaſi) minntos exiſtimaremns (præter illud invincibile, Dei Opt.Max. agmen inviſibile) ſtatim abire ex hoc regno conaremur. Curare etiam debet ſua Cæſarea Majeſtas, ut aliquo modo, & citiſſime,perſpectum toti huic Regno eſſe poſſit,nos duos non ſolum veræ Catholicos eſſe,ſed etiam veræ pietatis & pacis Chriſtianæ,eſſe amantiſſimos. Per literas iſtas non eſt opus ut plura effundam, ſpiritus mei fervore quodam. Sed diligentiſſime & circumſpectiſſime reſpiciamus nos utrique, ineſtimabile Dei,quod nobis utriſque contulit Donum. Sumus enim quaſi tres. Sed in uno Deo,unus quaſi vir eſſe debemus. Myſterium hoc notate I. D. E. K. W. R. Nam qui me habet, habet & E. K. & quem ego meum habeo, ille etiam ipſius mei E.K. cenſendus eſt eſſe. Omnipotens ille Deus qui cuncta creavit, veſtram Illuſtriſſimam Celſitudinem; ſuæ divinæ Juſtitiæ,& Gloriæ Comimniſtrum & co-operatorem nobis conjungat & diutiſſime conſervet.

Pragæ, Maii 26, Anno 1586.

Illuſtriſſime Celſitudinis veſtræ fideliſſimus in Chriſto Servitor.

Joannes Dee.

Invictiſſimæ Potentiſſimeque ſacræ ſuæ Cæſareæ Majeſtati
Hungariæ, Bohemiæ, &c. Regi, &c. &c.

PEr aliquot jam hebdomadas , Invictiſſime & Gratioſiſſime Cæſar, aures noſtras circumſonabant rumores varii, quaſdam contra me, & ſocium meum, præparari accuſationes graves & exitioſas : Veſtræque Sacræ Cæſareæ Majeſtati offerendas fore vel jam oblatas eſſe : Et præterea Sacram Veſtram Cæſaream Majeſtatem, quorundam perſuaſionibus,pœne eo perductam eſſe, ut aliquam malam, &nobis periculoſam, de nobis conciperet opinionem.Veſtræ igitur Sacræ Cæſareæ Majeſtati humillime ſupplicamus ut (Authoritate ſua Cæſarea,interpoſita(illius,cujuſcunque contra nos exhibiti libelli, copiam, accurate & verbatim exſcribi, nobiſque tradi,mandare,gratioſe dignaretur,Sic enim noſtris reſponſis ad accuſationis contra nos confictæ collatis articulos, citiſſime & clariſſime intelliget ſua Sacra Majeſtas Cæſarea, quid in præmiſſis, cum Juſtitia, ad Dei honorem & Reipublicæ Chriſtianæ utilitatem , arbitrari, vel ſtatuere poſſit aut debeat. Et de hoc certiſſimi nos ſumus,favente Deo,(quod adhuc, et nimis diu, aliquorum negligentia , et contra noſtram voluntatem, Veſtram Sacram Cæſarem latet Majeſtatem.) Nos cum VeſtræSacræ Cæſareæ Majeſtatis perſonæ , tum Reipublicæ Chriſtianæ, per vos longe utiliores, gratioreſque eſſe poſſe,quam omnes, et quotcunque hic noſtri præſentes adverſarii : veluti ipſa docebit veritas ſi pœnesVeſtræ Cæſareæ Majeſtatis aures proprias,eum poſſit habere favorem , ut gratioſe audiri queat Deus Opt. Max.Sacram Veſtram Cæſaream Majeſtatem ſua Divina abundantiſſime illuſtret gratia abrachioque ſuo extento, contra, Chriſti atrociſſimos hoſtes Imperatorem reddat triumuphantiſſimum

Amen.

Maii 28, 1586

Sacræ Veſtræ Majeſtatis
Cæſareæ
Humilis & fidelis Servitor, ad Dei promovendam gloriam
Joannes Dee.

Invictiſſimæ potentiſſimeque Sacræ ſuæ Cæſareæ Majeſtate Hungariæ, Bohemiæ, &c.Regi, &c. &c.
Domino meo Clementiſſimo & Patrono incomparabili ad manus proprias expeditiſſime

Edlor

EDlor goſtronger lirbor bortrauter fraundt, Diſeſtumdoiſt mir daſz bruſſlain Ju komon, Darauſzichunt ſondon frondron Gottesdioner behorzt gannottvornoman, In ſumma craſz David ſraibt iſt waar , Mirabilis Deus in ſanctis ſuis Deus Iſrael, ipſe dabit virtutem & fortitudinem plebi ſuæ, Benedictus Deus.

Diſo Varfolgung wirds Inon, (obgottcoill) In Iror wolfart gorrichon und don Lonidon In Irom ſpot.

Dentibus ſuis frement , & contabeſcent deſiderium peccatorum peribit.

Dom gutton Jungon Gorrn Civillor got ſoinrm horrn vndſicſſolbſt orkonam.) kan afu ſoelvnd Crib goholſſonwordon. Daſz Vborig crollen coir cunnadtlich brld Vorrichton , Interim , So brotts Ich, ſic bon moiu & angon , Jum fernundtlichſton Jubo gruoſſon, vadarim tronots graucott Ina, Juoſſoriron, Darbinbegott ſbimt vnſz Von Nanaſa In arigkail.

Datum in Eyle Räudmitz don 28 Maii, Anno 1586.

Des ſorru trruoer
fraundt

Wilſclm Moimaigne handtz

Horrn Laſpar von Schonburg auff Voplitz Moinom Vartranotrá gutton froundo In ſolbſthandog.

Cito
Cito
Cito
Cito
Cito

SOwder Rumeſchenn Kayſerlichen auch Ju Hungern unds Bebom Koninbchon Mapt vnſors allor guadigſton borrn cropen Doctori Joanni de Dee Engellandorn, anſormoldon, Daſz Iro Mapt jauſz jondorn vrgeblichen, bodencklichon vndt billichen vrſachonjont ſchloſſon ſom ſnovndt dio ſomigon In Joror Mapt, tumg Ruch Bohem ſo woll als andorn doroſolbron Pomp Ranchon, burſtant gumbombon vndt Landon longer nicht Induldon nach julugivn Hiorauff ſo ſun nun Jorar Mapt Endlichor orille vndt truſter beurblich Daſz chrſichſambt ſoinom Worbe tindorn, vmdallon don ſoyinpen, ſo woll als ſoinem Conſorten vndt Jugethanen boy vormedanp Iron Mapt truſten vnnachlvſzlichenn ſtrafſland vnguad, Innerbali dru Negt nachoniandor volpomdon ſechs Zagen, albie or heve, vnd ſichalſzbalet daranff vrn binnon, auſſorbalbgedachtor Jorar Mapt Koningraich Behannb vms andoror Joror Mapt Koningraich, Curſtanthumbay vndt Cainder begebo diſeilben Durchauſz Jun Kunfftigmedr Nuchſuſ ſorror Darumen, weyternicht beſunden nach betreſten laſſe Damit auſz den laſll laſſalba vn Imo odar den ſeympen auch doupy Jme Jupethaury, vngrhorſamblicſay vborganpen crourdo Irr Mapt Inn truſton einſchon vndt Straff, ſoſie lirber vormitton ſchonvrolton nicet Vernrſacht wordoun, Wolton In Mapt, Ime Juondtlicher Nachrichtung, nicht porgen. Eſz boſzfeſe auch Hieran Iror Mapt ſoruſtor Willey vndt mainug. Decretum in Conſilio Imperatoriæ Majeſtatis ſecretiori. Prage xxix Maii, Anno Lxxxvi.

E. Waldtnons Sayleldt.

Mynſſnik.

Decret Doctor Johann de Dee Iror Mapt Koniglich Bohomb ſo woll als andors Iror Mapt Lander ſureamboy.

Doctori Joanni Dee
offerendum

I received this the 30 day of May,
Anno 1586, Mane hora nona,
By one of the Chancery Clerks.

The Copie of the Emperour his Decree, of our Baniſhment out of his Kingdomes, Dukedoms, &c. with onely ſix dayes warning.

Ad-

Anno 1586 18 Junii in Erphurdia Thuringiæ, quo, Illuſtriſſimus Dominus Roſenbergius, miſerat Joannem Carpionem ad nos, cum literis ſuis, & maxime ut de uxore futura, Dei intelligeret voluntatem, & de aliis rebus, &c. Ego verò jam Caſſellæ eram in Heſſia, & Erphurdiæ erat D. Eduardo Keleus. Qui ſuper quæſtionibus & petitionibus Illuſtriſſimi juſſus erat divinitus Chartam mundam ſuper Altare, ante Sacerdotem Miſſam celebrantem ponere, quod & fecit, anno & die ſupra ſcriptis, manè in Monaſterio Minoris Ordinis S. Franciſci, inter horam 6 & 7 Monacho Seniore Miſſam Celebrante. Et finita Miſſa, hæc quæ ſequitur in Charta inveniebantur pulchrè ſcripta. Sed die ſequente, poſtquam exſcripta erant pro Illuſtriſſimo Principe ſtatim evanuere omnes lineæ & literæ, nihilque in illa Charta, poſt viſible permanſit, &c. △ Admonitio. Tempore exilii noſtri.

Nations terræ omnes vocatæ in Judicium, coram Tribunal ſtabunt. Populus enim rebellis, nimiúmque hujus mundi deditus voluptati, mei jamdudum ira furoris irrititus tabeſcit: Ita quod, neque ad ſiniſtram neque ad dextram ſed ad voluntatem meam perinplendam, declinandum eſt. Beatus ille qui mihi mandatiſque patris mei obediens eſt & perſeverantia decoratus.

Maledictus autem, qui mendax operibus, perdicas verbum meum: quia ſcandalo multis erit, & ignominiæ pacis Evangelii mei.

Ego te Gulielme (quia manus adjunxiſti mihi) Davidem ad Goliatha jugulandum conſtitui & conſtituendo invexi.

Mundo igitur ad gloriam meam utere, & corpus tuum erige in me, ad juſtitiam meam in ſede debita collocandam, & ſuperbiam iniquiſſimam turpiſſimámque (illorum qui poſuerunt ſedem meam, in ſcabellum pedem blaſphemiæ & abominationis) ad penitus tum conculcandum, tum eradicandam.

Beatus enim eris in fortitudine manus & ſpiritus mei, quia audite preces tuas. Noli igitur tempus viſitationis tuæ negligere: ſed freme zelo & indignatione accrima, & conjunctam tuis parietibus, virginem in uxorem accipe, paratam lumbis & ſenectuti tuæ illámque amando dilige, & diligendo fove, ut mea in te & in illa benedictio pollicita manifeſta fiat.

Cave porrò, ne quos tibi in auxilium paravi, ſervos meos, vel negligentia vel timiditate tua, aliorum ſic patiaris ex manibus tuis vel tanquam oves ab ovili tuo, malis artibus & iniquitate, eripi. Quis enim illud ſurripiet quod datum eſt à me?

Cogita igitur & vigilando cura, quod hactenus leſum eſt.

Fringam namque frænum Satanæ & inimicis veſtris.

Benedictio Patris & Spiritus mei, & conſolatio à me (cui ſubjecta eſt omnis poteſtas) ſit tecum & ſupra te.

A peccatis denique monitus ceſſa ut cum mecum loqueris, vita tua ſit lumine & gratia mea ſuffulta.

MEMORANDUM.

Be remembred that Mr. Francis Pucci Florentine, whom at my going to Leipſich I left in our houſe at Prage, in the meane ſpace had been at Frankford upon Mene, and went from Prage about the ſame day that the Biſhop of Placenza Nuncius Apoſtolicus did exhibit to the Emperour a libel againſt us of moſt horrible untruths, &c. At his going from Prage he had that Nuncius bleſſing, &c. In the meane ſpace, and after his return to Prage again it happened ſo, that the 30 of May laſt, I received the Emperours commandment, I, my Companion, and all mine to depart within ſix dayes out of Prage and conſequently out of all his Kingdomes, Dukedomes and Lands. Which we did, and were come to Erphurd in Thuringa, and ſometimes to Caſſel whether we had removed our goods and family by reaſon the Senators of Erphurd would give us no leave to hire any houſe there as both by the Lord Schonberg in the name of the Lord Roſenberg, I was aſſayed, with repulſe received, and alſo again by me and E. K. proved, July 7, 8, 9, 10, 11, 12, 13, 14. And on Tueſday (the 15*th day of June*) Doctor Curtz brought upward from the Senat that they would not grant our Requeſt, yet notwithſtanding, if the Lord Roſenberg would again ſend unto them in the matter, they would think better upon the matter, &c. Mr. Francis Pucci. Anno 1586, Maii 6.

Now remember that Francis Pucci came to Erphurd on Thurſday after our ſupper, July 10 (ſtilo novo) on horſe-back on a horſe which he had bought at Mawnberg-faire, &c.

July the 11*th he diſcourſed with* E. K. and me, that he thought we might obtain favour to return to Prage again if we would.

That he had found this Nuncius Apoſtolicus more courteous then Malaſpina, of whom he reported alſo, that it was credibly informed that he was ſore offended that we gave him no more honourable title in our ſpeeches to him, then Reverendiſſima Veſtra Paternitas.

This Pucci framed the diſcourſe of his talk to perſwade us to think well of this Epiſcopus Placentius that he was charitable towards us, and ſorrow that we were ſo uncourteouſly uſed, that he meant nothing elſe in his ſute to the Emperour againſt us, but that we might be examined, and thou being found

found faulty, we ſhould be ſent to Rome, but after that he had begun to move againſt us, that he found the Emperour more eagerly bent againſt us, than he himſelf was.

NOTE.

The Lord Roſenberg told us that when he did (in our behalf) adviſe the Emperour of his error committed in our extermination, that the Emperour anſwered that this Nuncius from his firſt Audience did urge ſo vehemently againſt us, and alſo the Pope had ſent commandment by Letter to him to deliver us and ſend us to Rome, that he was forced in manner to do as he did. But if the commandement or his Decree were to be made again, that it ſhould not paſſe, or if this Nuncius Apoſtolicus had not ſent this Decree away to Rome, that he ſhould not ſend it, &c. This I note in reſpect of the contrariety in the Nuncius aſſertion, and the Emperours, of our ſo hard uſage.

The foreſaid eleventh day of July, the foreſaid Fr. Pucci to prove this his intended perſwaſion of the Nuncius good meaning toward us, and to make us beleeve that great benefit would enſue our going to Rome, did bring forth unto us a writing of his own hand which he read unto us, and at the hearing of it we muſed much for many cauſes I asked him then why the Nuncius had not ſubſcribed this writing. It is all one ſaid he for that; Hath he heard this read (quoth I,) yea, that he hath heard me read this three ſeveral times, ariſe unto him (ſaid he;) And if you like of it ſaith he, wherein his power ſerveth him not to performe as much as is ſpecified in the writing, he will make and uſe meanes to have it from his Holineſſe; well, ſaid I, take a copy hereof Mr. Kelly, for I was riding toward Salfeild about a houſe getting; Thereupon ſaid he, contented, but I think it meeter to ſave and keep the original it ſelf ſaid E. K. Well, ſaid Pucci, and ſo the original was delivered to E. K.

NOTE.

After 10 of the clock the ſame Friday, being the eleventh day of this moneth, after break-faſt I rid toward Salfeild about the houſe of the Earl Albert of Swartzenberg, &c.

But after I was out of Erffurd until my return again, I was ſo ſore vexed in mind to think of Pucci his return to our company, as well for his unquiet nature in diſputations, as for his blabbing of our ſecrets without our leave, or well liking, or any good doing thereby; either in God his ſervice, or our credit, but rather the contrary, enſuing albeit not of his intent, but by either his undiſcreet handling of it, or of his undue hearers of him, &c. And alſo for his Houſhold behaviour, not acceptable to our wives and family, and alſo becauſe we were warned that he ſhould be cut off from our company, &c. And chiefly, now to conſider that he had laid ſuch a bait for us with our mortal enemy, to entrap us by fair fawning words, which by no meanes the Emperour would conſent to do before by his authority, but rather to put us out of his Kingdomes, &c. And imagining that he was a mighty Explorator upon us, for this Nuncius Apoſtolicus, and his adherents, that now he might perceive what we had done hitherto, what we were doing, and what we intended to do, and conſidering that he urged at our hands in anſwer to the former writing, wherein alſo lay a trap for either in not anſwering it, or refuſing to grant ſome points of it, or in our conſenting to the whole, this Nuncius would put matter againſt us to our great diſadvantage. Thus being tormented in mind in my abſence, how we might be rid of this Fr. Pucci, by quiet and honeſt meanes, I deviſed to write to this Nuncius to know if this writing were of his contriving onely, or of Pucci his contriving onely, or joyntly, or if at the leaſt the writing were according to his will, and offer unto us, and ſo to ſend him away; wherein he could make no refuſal, I intending not to make him privy of the content of my Letter; And in the mean ſpace of his abſence I hoped that ſome good way and better meanes would appear or fall out, whereunto we might truſt, &c. Thus I note my imaginations and diſcourſes in the time of my abſence.

A bait.

A ſpie.

I returned to Erphurd July 13. hora 5. à meridie.

I found Fr. Pucci deſirous to have anſwer to the foreſaid writing, and very much perſwading this Roman voyage, uſing arguments out of our actions, as that God ſaid we ſhould go to Rome, in a certain moneths ſpace; That we ought to obey the Roman Biſhop, and to love him, &c. I replyed and ſaid, that he was not to urge God upon any his ſayings to us, but to referre all to his moſt free diſpoſition, his will was to be done and not ours, God was not bound to us, &c. He anſwered very vehemently, and often, that Deus eſt nobis obligatiſſimus, & Deus dixit nos ituros Romam, & ego credo & credam, & aliter non credam niſi mihi Deus dixerit non nobis, &c. Well, (quod we) God hath delivered unto us his meaning in that phraſe, which we alſo deviſe you of, that it is not meant (by the ſpeech) that we ſhall corporally goe to Rome, and ſo I brake off that his reaſoning; And told him that we mervailed that he ſhould urge this Roman Voiage ſo violently and eagerly more then we; It appertained unto us aſmuch as to him, &c. The ſame day I told him that he had heretofore offended God with his curioſity in our affaires otherwiſe then appertained unto his calling, and he may well remember his repentance therein, and his forgiveneſſe obteined. But that now he had offended much more in curioſity, and half in conſpiracy againſt us with our mortal enemy this Nuncius Apoſtolicus, upon whom he did fawn, in whoſe favour he is, who joyeth, counſaileth with him in our affaires, who dare preſcribe us what we have to do in ſo weighty affaires as our Journey to Rome, who hath framed a bill, accuſing us coufuſedly of Hereſie, and wicked Magick, both falſely in one part, and dangerous to life, and infamous at the leaſt in the other, and hereto requireth, urgeth, and in manner in God his name argueth by our actions paſt, obedience. And therefore he hath ſeparated himſelf from us, and hath ſet himſelf againſt us, &c.

now

With great vehemency he ſaid, He intended nothing, but well to us, and was Explorator with this Nuncius for our behalf; We require none (ſaid I) neither we need any, for God ſeeth all, and doth all, for our benefit, if we will conſtantly love and ſerve him; To be brief, he would ſeem to be worthy to be thought well of for his zealous good will and fidelity to us ward, in all his doings and ſayings; The truth whereof God knoweth, to whom we commit the cauſe between him and us.

The Copy of the writing before ſpecified.

SI D. Johannes Dee, D. Eduardus Kelleus, & Fr. Puccius, volent ire Romam, ut conferant cum Summo Pontifice de ſuis Revelationibus, venerantes cum tanquam Sancti Petri Succeſſorem & Chriſti in terris Vicarium Illuſt & Reverend. Epiſcopus Placentinus Apoſtolicus Nuncius apud Cæſaream Majeſtatem, dabit illis Literas commendationis, ut per totum iter, & Romæ, humaniſſime ſummaque charitate tractentur, & in ſuis neceſſitatibus juventur: Ac preterea authoritate Apoſtolica abſolvet eos & liberabit ab omni culpa & pœna, quam meriti eſſent in vita ante acta, ob artes Magicas exercitatas, hareſes, falſaſque opiniones ab eis ſparſas, aut fictas, verbis aut ſcriptis, aut aliis rationibus; ob libros prohibitos lectos aut ſcriptos, ſive ob aliud quodvis crimen, cujus accuſari aut argui poſſent in foro ſancto Inquiſitionis, aut in foro quod Contentioſum vocant; aut in quovis alio foro Pontificiæ ditionis: Ne quis ob ullum peccatum aut ſcelus quantumvis atrox, quod illi admiſerint ante hoc iter ſuſceptum, eis unquam faceſſere negotium, aut moleſtus eſſe poſſit, aut ullo modo inquirere, aut ipſos accuſare preſumat.

For the better ground of any manner of anſwer making hereunto I asked the ſame Fr. Pucci, after ſupper, on Tueſday the 15 of July, (foraſmuch as I had framed a Letter for anſwer to the pith of the Letter or writing here recorded) whether this Letter were written and ſent to us by the conſent of this Nuncius Apoſtolicus, to know our anſwer in, or no. He ſeemed to be unwilling now directly to affirm the Nuncius conſent. We replyed that he had already told us that he had read it thrice over to the ſaid Nuncius, and that he liked well of it, and did mervail that now he would make ſtrange to affirm the ſame again, ſeeing I had now, (according to his purpoſe) written a plain and perfect humble anſwer to the ſame Letter, and much more matter, true and needful for this Nuncius to know. Well, ſaid he, Eatenus ex ejus conſenſu eſt, ſi velitis ire Romam, ea præſtare conabitur, quæ in eiſdem literis continentur, &c. Well, ſaid I, (in Latin alwayes you muſt underſtand my talk with him in the ſame ſence here in Engliſh recorded, if he mean well unto us, and in charity unfeigned; he will not be offended with my anſwer; The Copy whereof doth enſue.

Illuſtiſſimo Reverendiſſimoque Domino, Domino Epiſcopo Placentino apud Potentiſſimum & Invictiſſimum Romanorum Imperatorem Rodulphum, ejus nominis ſecundum, Apoſtolico Nuncio, Domino mihi (in Chriſto) Colendiſſimo.

The ſuperſcription of the Letter without.

Illuſtriſsime & Reverendiſsime Domine, mihi Colendiſsime.

IN Nomine, Sanctæ Beatæ & Individuæ Trinitatis, veſtram Illuſtratiſſimam Reverendiſſimamque Dominationem, ea qua virum Chriſtianum decet animi affectione & humilitate ſaluto, non preſumptione aliqua, veſtris manibns oculiſve iſtas meas obtrudens literas, ſed ex iſtius Nuncii veſtri verbis admonitus, non gratas ſolum, ſed (ferè) expectatat fore: haſce aliquot, haud invitus, exaravi lineolas. Quibus cum non potero, 40 annorum continuum & ardentiſſimum vitæ me curſum in limatioris quam vulgaris veritatis Philoſophicæ in dagatione tranſactum, deſcribere; (vel adumbrare ſaltem) ſatis preſenti noſtro eſſe poſſit inſtituto, ſi præſenti rerum meta-

Remember Fr. Pucci his own hand writing hereof is kept in a lether bag by it ſelf, to be the more ſafe and ready to be ſhewed without ſhewing of this Book.

metamorphoſi, & admirandæ negotiorum noſtrorum actioni, itidumque circuitioni multiplici, aliquid exprimam quod maxime quadret.

* Ab Anno 1581. Divinitus ante aliquot annos * informati, & deinde ex Anglia △ evocati, non ſolum fortiſſima Dei Omnipotentis manu, & miraculoſè, ex multis magniſque evaſi-△ Anno, 1583. mus maris periculis: ſed etiam ex variis hominum fraudulentis & truculentis contra nos, & vitam noſtram conſiliis & conatibus, liberati hactenus, eidem Deo noſtro gratias laudeſque canimus mente grata, mente læta, mente profecto Chriſtianæ, Catholicæ, Apoſtoliceque Religionis amantiſſima, & (Dei nos confirmante gratia) tenaciſſima futura. Aſt ecce, tamen, qui ejuſdem noſtræ pie matris (Sanctæ Eccleſiæ Catholicæ) legitimi etiam cenſentur eſſe filii, nos, fratres ſuos, in omni modeſtia, quiete, pace, & civili Juſtitia, inter illos, & coram illis, Pragæ converſantes, ſubito, in exilium quoddam, ſive exterminium, Cæſareo emitti mandato procurabant nulla, nobis, nulla prorſus, neque privatim, neque publicè declarata tam violenti mandati, cauſa ſed vulgari ſolum, & aulica relatione nobis facta intelliximus ex libello quodam, per vos, ſacræ Cæſareæ Majeſtati exhibito, conflatam contra nos fuiſſe maximam Cæſaris indignationem, & quaſi excandeſcentiam: unde ex Cancellaria Bohemica,
* Anno, 1586. 30 Maii. acerbiſſimum ad nos (ſacræ ſuæ Cæſareæ Majeſtatis nomine) miſſum ſit * mandatum (nulla in eodem expreſſa, ejuſdem mandati cauſa, vel ratione legitima) ut infra tunc ſex proximos ſequentes dies, Ego, conſors meus, uxores noſtræ, liberi mei omnes, immò & ipſe infans noſter Michael (Pragenſis natus, & baptizatus) atque ad matris adhuc pendens mamillas, famuli etiam mei, & ancillæ, mei denique omnes, & domeſtici, ex ipſa Praga, atque ita conſequenter, ex univerſo regno Bohemiæ, & aliis quibuſcunque ſacræ Cæſareæ Majeſtatis Regnis; Ducatibus, & terris, migraremus, nunquam eaſdem reverſuri, ſub terribilis infligendæ pœnæ periculo. Nos autem, nulla interpoſita mora, huc mandato Cæſareo fideliter & humiliter obedire noſmet accinximus: Bonaque noſtra mobilia, à peregrinationis noſtræ ſuppellectilem, tam librariam quam domeſticam, in duos magnos currus conici curavimus: Reliquorum noſtrorum bonorum, partem unam, amicis dedimus, & pauperibus diſperſimus & diſtribuimus: Partem autem, de facie terræ, (propter cauſas Deo non ingratas) pri-
* Anno, 1586. 10 Aprilis. die, ante exitum iſtum noſtrum, per nos deletam eſſe ſciatis: Aſt optimum partem, Divino juſſu, decima die Aprilis (quando etiam, de tota hac afflictione, & perſecutione noſtra, & aliis adhuc futuris eramus divinitus præmoniti.) Ignis luculentiſſimis flammis commiſimus: quando illa, ejuſdem optimæ partis, quæ nullus unquam naturalis vulgariſque ignis poterat lædere vel conſumere, viſibili angelici miniſterio, ex ipſis ſummis flammis in Divinam, Angelicamve inviſibilem recipiebantur Cuſtodiam. Aſt librorum Divinorum Theſaurus maximus, tunc, & ibidem (duorum adhuc viventium teſtium diligenti opera,) ab ipſis flammis in cineres favillamque converſus eſt totus: renovationem, reſtaurationem, & quaſi regenerationem vel reſurrectionem quandam, per Divinam manum, opportuno recepturus tempore Sacellum; Denique cum altari quod omnipotenti Trinitati conſecrandum fore cupiebamus, (media ex parte abſolutum) intactum relinquimus. Ego verò, cum conſorte meo, uxoribus noſtris, liberis meis, & reliquis exulibus, ſive exterminatis noſtris Rhedis, tribus avecti, tranſmigrationem hanc, nobis injunctam, die præfinita ingreſſi ſu-Anno, 1586. Junii 4. mus. Atque nondum ex Imperii Romani finibus egreſſi, ita greſſus noſtros diſponimus, &, de cætero (Deo favente & gubernante) diſponemus: ut toti orbi Chriſtiano claro apparere poterit, patienter nos hæc (qualiacunque) tolerare poſſe, aut ſaltem velle: & paratiſſimos eſſe nos, Reddere Deo quæ Dei ſunt, & Cæſari, quæ ſunt Cæſaris. Obedientiſſimos etiam nos eſſe, & humillimos ſacro ſanctæ Catholicæ Eccleſiæ filios, & ſummi Pontificis Romani, & aliorum Eccleſiaſticorum Præſulum Catholicorum; in Chriſto & propter Chriſtum tam eſſe obſervantes & fore, quam ipſe qui Judex futurus eſt vivorum & mortuorum, varriis nos eſſe modis haud raro admonuit. Veſtræ vero Illuſtriſſime, Reverendiſſimeque Dominationi, hoc à Deo optamus bonum, ut per ſecundas veſtras (de tota cauſa noſtra) meditationes, noſtræ Innocentiæ, ſinceritatis, & fidelis (coram Deo & hominibus) in illa Republica Bohemica converſationis noſtræ, juſta habeatur ratio: Meæque honeſtæ famæ, exiſtimationiſque (ſine qua, ne vivere quidem cupio) ea fiat in integrum reſtitutio: ut talis poſt-poſthac eſſe indicetur indubitatè, qualis (ante veſtrum Cæſareæ Majeſtati exhibitum contra nos libellum,) per 30 annos, (& plures) in omnibus (pœne) Chriſtiani orbis tam Academiis, quam Regnis & Provinciis (ex Dei immenſa Bonitate, gratia abundantiſſima & ſingulari providentia) extitiſſe, haud obſcuris confirmari poſſit teſtimoniis. Ex hiis igitur paucis, Hiſtoriæ ipſius veritatis ſcintillis, Veſtræ Illuſtriſſimæ Reverendiſſimeque Dominationis prudentia, magnum ſibi lumen alicere ſive accendere potuit: ad nos, noſtrorum animorum affectiones, noſtrorum ita mirabilium & adhuc incredibilium negotiorum progreſſum & ſtatum dijudicandum, & denique de ipſo futuro horum omnium exitu, haud leves ſibi contexendas conjecturas: Cum nos, ex ſolo Deo Omnipotente, & vero & vivo, in omnibus noſtris pendeamus, & ab ipſo dirigamur & protegamur. Cui ſoli, nos ipſos, noſtraque omnia, Animæ, corporis & Fortunæ nuncupata Bona, tanquam Holocauſtum, quotidianis noſtris humillimis & ſpontaneis offerimus precibus. Cui denique ſoli ſit omnis laus, honor, gloria, & gratiarum Actio, nunc & ſemper. Amen.

Datæ Erphurdiæ, Anno 1586, die 16 Julii.

Fidelis (in Chriſto, & propter Chriſtum) ſervulus.
Joannes Dee.

This Letter being written, and read unto E. K. and of him well liked for the quiet and modeſt courſe therein kept, otherwiſe (as he ſaid to Fr. Pucci) then he could have uſed: or had uſed in a Letter which now he had alſo written: but now would not ſend, thinking that my foreſaid Letter might ſuffice for our caſe, he talked with Fr. Pucci of this Letter, which Fr, Pucci ſaid he would gladly ſee and read, which E. K. told him that I was minded not to let him read it: Then ſaid he, that he would not carry it: Hereupon in talk with Fr. Pucci, ſpeaking of this Letter, I told him that I had written a Letter with ſufficient anſwer in general to the Nuncius requeſt and offer by him in writing brought to us, and in ſumme told him the chief contents of the Letter. Then ſaid he, whereas you write of the Books burnt, why write you not unto him of the recovery of them, as I now perceive by you both, that they are reſtored? And it ſhall be a diſgrace to you if the Nuncius ſhall underſtand more by other, then by your ſelf. Thereof have I no care, Quod ſcripſi, ſcripſi, and I know the truth of my writing: And they are not all reſtored that I know of: And whatſoever he hath at my hands he may be aſſured is true: whatſoever he ſhall otherwiſe hear, the Record thereof cannot be ſo good, unleſſe, our Record conſent thereto; Then ſaid he, why write you of thoſe Books burning, being done before your comming away: It is as if you wrote backward. Have you no care Mr. Pucci, for the method of my Letters ſaid I, and I ſaid farther, it is told me that unleſſe you ſee my Letters you will not carry them, you ſhall pardon me for ſeeing of them, the content I have ſufficiently told you: and if you will not deliver them, I can get them delivered divers wayes, or I may omit the ſending of them, and write ſuch a Letter to the Nuncius that I had written anſwer to his requeſts, and offer ſent by Fr. Pucci; But he would not bring the ſaid my Letter, unleſſe he might have a ſight of it himſelf. At the length by farther diſcourſe with E. K. he became reſolved to go with the letter, and (by E. K. his order) he was to receive 50 Dollors of John Carpio, that he ſhould not be deſtitute of money at Prage.

Fifty Dollors.

NOTE.

This day, Francis Pucci ſaid to us both, how can you doubt of my fidelity toward you (whom I love as my own life,) and againſt this Monſter of Rome, whom my chief deſire is, and long hath been, that he may be overthrown, &c. Again, conſider, what fidelity, obedience, and reverence he hath promiſed to the Pope, and this Nuncius, as the writing brought by him, and ſo ſore and many wayes urged by him, for us to accept of, can ſpecifie.

Pucci infidelitas manifeſtiſſima facta.

Therefore Fr. is falſe to the Pope, or us, or both, or raſh, fooliſh, blind, &c. And (as our ſpiritual Schoolmaſter, divers times termeth him) leprous: Therefore I commit this his doings to the judgment of God: But alſo it is greatly to be remembred and noted that he now alſo diſcourſed again with E. K. as concerning the Birth of Chriſt, that it could not be proved by the Scriptures, that Chriſt came of the line of David, unleſſe he were begotten of the actual copulation of Joſeph, with Mary, and ſaid that, becauſe it was the gift of the Holy Ghoſt, that at Joſeph his firſt and onely carnal copulation with Mary, Chriſt was conceived; Therefore ſhe was accounted (in manner a Virgin according to the Jews doctrine: which his hereſie when I heard, I trembled for the horrour of ſo manifeſt an hereſie againſt evident Scripture, virgo concipiet & virgo pariet, &c. & againſt many other moſt plain and ſufficient Authorities both of Scriptures, and alſo Hiſtories of our Lady her examination made by Women, and that ſhe was found a Virgin, &c. And at her conception her anſwer to the Angel; Quia virum non cognovi, &c. & antequam convenirent, juventa eſt in utero habens de ſpiritu ſancto, &c.

Videlicet, that is miraculous that Virgo in primo cum viro congreſſu conciperet.

NOTE.

It is evident hereby that this Pucci is very leprous, both in this Hereſie (what other he is infected with, God he knoweth) and alſo the former infidelity proved.

On Thurſday 17 July Fr. Pucci entred his Voyage toward Prage with my Letter to the Nuncius Apoſtolicus, and with Letters to John Carpio from E. K, and with my Letters incloſed to the Lord Roſenberg. And we entred our journey toward Caſſel, but that night we rode onely three miles, to Gotha, our horſes were ſo ill that we hired, and therefore ſending them back again the next day, we hired a Coach, &c.

POSCRIPTUM.

Remember that Fr. Pucci, the morning before his going required of me our Letters Teſtimonial to our friends, of his fidelity toward us. What needeth that (ſaid I) for as much as your deeds were as well known to them as to us, your own conſcience to your ſelf may ſerve abundantly. But our friends divers, who have warned us of you, and have marvelled why we would ſuffer you any longer in our houſe and company, would neither credit our Letters as yet in this caſe. And would alſo condemne us of light judgment, or great blindneſs to judg the cauſe between you and us.

But truly I obſerved in him, now, a more proud preſuming over us then hitherto, before, when he was ſore rebuked, for over-crowing us, ſo as he began to do.

Præſumptio.

1 Now he ſaid, he had as great authority as we to publiſh any of our Secrets, at his diſcretion.

2 That he ought to eat bread with us.

3 That he underſtood our Books of Actions better then we.

4 That he needed not our conſent or counſail to deal with the Pope his Nuncius: he did it by his duty general, of Charity, &c.

5 He offered to order the Nuncius, and the Emperor to the reclaiming of the Decree made againſt us, &c.

NOTE.

Conſider what this may import, that the Decree touching him, being one of my houſhold company, and of them that then did appertain to me, and whoſe name he is not affraid one way and another way not abaſhed to * thruſt himſelf into the whole body of our Revelations, as a principal fellow or Receiver of them. By the firſt he ought to be afraid of the danger of the Decree which baniſhed us, unleſs he is aſſured of their good will who have ſhewed themſelves our mortal enemies, or elſe ſome other cauſe emboldned him to ſome other purpoſe, &c. by the ſecond he might be afraid of ſo great preſumption, being but a Probationer, not yet allowed of, and to us known to be cut off.

* Vide ſcriptum illius de noſtro itinere Romano, &c.

I. D.

All theſe points I cannot decipher and judge, but referre them to the profound wiſdome and high providence of God, wherefore and how farre he hath admitted him to be privy of our Actions, and ſo a Witneſs to ſome purpoſes ſufficient. All things be to the honour and glory of God. Amen.

Magnifice Domine,

Lectis tuis literis fui miratus quod intelligerem te illius eſſe opinionis & ſententiæ, me apud Cæſarem tibi ac conſorti tuo officiis meis non parum obfuiſſe, quod ſciam ita me & religione & natura comparatum, ut omnibus quam maxime cupiam prodeſſe, nemini aut obeſſe. Quod autem præſtiterim quod mei erat officii, mihi vitio verti non debet. Cæterum cum inter ſummum Pontificem, & Cæſarem, merus ſim interpres, non video quid in hoc veſtro negotio præſtare poſſim: Conſulo autem, ut veſtram innocentiam, de fide Catholica ſenſum, & de Angelorum converſatione & aſſiſtentia, quam viſibilem habere dicitis, juxta Concilii Lateranenſis in undecima Seſſione decretum, coram Summo Pontifice & Sede Apoſtolica deducatis, & ita exponatis ut non poſſit cuiquam eſſe dubinam bium quid ſentiatis, quin ſede Apoſtolica approbante , fides tuto ab omnibus Angelicis aſſertionibus veſtris , præſtari poſſit, & tum demum & obtrectatoribus, ſi qui ſunt, ora obcludentur. Nec ut arbitror grave vobis videbitur conſilium meum, ſi enim ea vobis eſt in fide Catholica puritas atque conſtantia, ea in præſenti Angelorum communione ſinceritas, vitæ integritas, & innocentia, ut aſſeritis : Me etiam tacente occaſionem quæritis declarandæ veſtræ fidei & bonitatis, & hac una ratione honori veſtro (cujus vos rationem habendam dicitis, & cui tantum abeſt quod per me aliquid ſit detractum, ut illum etiam pro viribus quantum officii mei & injuncti muneris ratio patietur, fovere ſim paratus, ut Domino Puccio pluribus dixi) & omnibus vitæ commodis vel maxime conſultis. Deus gratia ſua vos ita regat, ut Angelorum converſationem in Cœlis aliquando habere poſſitis. Vale Pragæ , die 28 Julii 1586.

Magnific. D.V.

Ex Corde in Chriſto frater Philip. Epiſcopus Placentinus Nuncius.

Magnific. Domino Joanni Dee, Anglo, &c.

△ Oraculum Divinum.

M*Vlta ſunt flagella præcepta mea* negligentium : Multiplexque furor hominibus propriis confidentibus viribus. Hi enim contemptores ſanguinis & Regni mei fortitudinis, Gigantes facti ſunt, ad omnem abominationem multiplicandam. Sed ego Sum qui ſum, qui poſui in Patre Solium verbumque ad faciendum in terris Judicium : qui in ultima Tuba percutiam illos , ut coacti recognoſcant vias meas, & ad ovile proprium redeant. Peribit Eccleſiæ & populi Iniquitas, & judicabitur in gladio. Tu vero Gulielme, manum in tempore extende opportuno, prout a me informaberis, & Regnum, (tacito & moriente nequiſſimo) adjunctum induc : Inunxi enim te in fortiſſima dextra mea, ad falſum illum Prophetam , & Goliath [forte Mahometanos & Turcas] extirpandum ut intelligat Terra judicium a Nazareno Crucifixo me. Sunt qui cribarent te : ſed maledicti ſunt machinantes in te malum. Fac bonum , & utere creaturis meis ad gloriam meam Docui Kelleum, inquiete, hac nocte, de cæteris, quæ ab illo diſces. Spiritus meus habitet in vobis.

Trebonæ, Anno 1589. Menſis Auguſti fine.

When Mr. Kelly was gone from me at Salfeild toward Bohemia , and in the mean ſpace the Emperour had granted to the Lord Roſenberg licence for us to return into Bohemia , to any of his Lordſhips, Towns, Cities, Caſtles, &c. This was delivered written by ſpiritual and divine meanes, and the writing yet remaineth in my Lord his hands, out of which I copyed this for the order of our Hiſtory ſomewhat making plain.

Franciſcus Puccius præſtantiſſimis ac Deo dilectis viris D D. Joanni Dee & Eduardo Kelleo generoſis Anglis, majoribus in Chriſto fratribus , & ipſis tanquam patribus colendis , precatur gratiam & pacem a Deo patre noſtro, & a Domino Jeſu Chriſto, Amen.

EX quo a vobis diſceſſi, toto illo itinere, quod octo diebus confeci , vendito Lipſiæ equo, haud parum vexatus fuit meus ſpiritus, dum animum mecum volverim, quot modis Satanas divinum opus retardare & noſtram conjunctionem dirimere, adhibitis exterioribus & interioribus machinis & armis , tentaverit, & adhuc tentare non ceſſet. Neque enim poſſum, niſi ab eo, agnoſcere afflatus illos diffidentie, rumores ab invidis hominibus, ſparſos, ſuſpitiones nobis injectas, abſque certis indiciis, adverſus fidem non levibus argumentis probatam, atque hujuſmodi impedimenta & offendicula, quibus curſum noſtrum impedire ac ſanctam amicitiam, divinis auſpiciis, inter nos cœptam, convellere ac labefactare, malignus ille ſpiritus aggreſſus eſt. Itaque, in illa lucta, ne ullo modo manus illi darem, aut fatiſcerem , decrevi me, magis ac magis, munire certa fide in Deum, ac ſpe promiſſionum ejus, quas illum ſervaturum non dubito, tum precibus frequentioribus magis inſtare, apud ſummum patrem, ut nos quam primum donare velit illo ſpiritu , quo noſtri humeri montibus ferendis, ut ille inquit, pares evadent ; ad hæc auſteriorem vitam inſtituere nec menſas lautas amicorum adire , ſed panem doloris ſolus comedere decrevi , ne ſim meliore conditione quam vos,qui tantopere affligimini,ut benigniſſimus Dominus quamprimum,vos in integrum reſtituat, atque ad ſolita colloquia piaque exercitia nos una revocet, & eventu conſentaneo ſuis ſanctiſſimis dictis, ſingulos noſtrum exhilaret. Hanc viam ſequenti Dominus mihi ſpem facit fore , ut vobis & aliis facilius meam fidem probem , & multas tentationes vitem quæ apud hujus mundi homines facile nos invadunt. Ideo, niſi neceſſitate urgente, aut communibus negotiis, familiaritatem omnem & convictum cum aulicis fugio , & me hoc modo minus ineptem precibus gentio, meamque vitam & mores in dies emendare conor, ne videar omnino indignus ea ſchola , in qua Dominus me erudire dignatus eſt, nec interim cum Publicano, illo, precari obliviſcor, ut Deus propitius ſit mihi peccatori.Vos non dubito me veſtris votis & ſupplicationibus juvabitis, ut vocatione meæ reſpondeam, & in opere Domini vobis adjumento & conſolationi eſſe poſſim : & benigniſſimus ille pater propediem hoc adverſo vento ignem ſuum magis excitari curabit, ac nos majori, quam unquam antea, jucunditate recreabit. Ac de his hactenus. Quod vero ad noſtra negotia attinet; perveni huc die 24 Julii, ſub veſperam, ac ſtatim adivi Illuſtriſſimum Dominum Nuncium, cui veſtras tradidi, quas læto vultu accipere viſus eſt: ſed colloquendi non fuit otium, cum, parata cœna, jam diſcumbere vellet. In poſteriorem Diem igitur rejectus, ad Dominum Carpionem me conferebam, cum didici eum ad vos Miſſum, quatriduo ante, hinc diſceſſiſſe. Dolui admodum eum non eſſe mihi obviam factum, tum ratione veſtrarum, tum mearum literarum, quoniam faſciculum quendam ad me quoque ferebat. Sed quod maxime me torquebat erat cura de litteris Illuſtriſſimi Domini Roſenbergii, quas ſciebam incluſas Domini Carpionis literis, nec eas aperire, aut alii tradere audebam, cum diſerte eſſet, ſcriptum illud ad manus proprias. Dum itaque occaſionem quero & expecto, ea ſeſe obtulit, quam mox audietis. Reverſus ſequenti die, ad Illuſtriſſimum Dominum Nuncium, invenio apud illum Jeſuitam Italum, qui mihi fuit a confeſſionibus: blande ab ambobus accipior, ſedere jubeor, a Jeſuita nomine candoris & ingenuitatis, non parum laudor. Tum lupide moneor ab Illuſtriſſimo Domino Nuncio ut ipſi adſim, in convertendo Jeſuita ille (is enim erat qui cum ipſo expoſtulaverat, quod nimis facile mihi dediſſet: teſtimonia triumphantis Eccleſiæ non ſubjici judicio militantis.) Reſpondeo me feciſſe quod in me erat ut docerem eum præferre Cœlum terræ, ac tribunal ſuperius inferiori; ſed cum id mihi minime ſucceſſet, ejus eſſe, ſua doctrina & autoritate, hominem de ſententia illa dejicere Illuſtriſſimus Dominus Nuncius haud gravate, noſtram ſententiam, hac in parte, probat, & exemplis confirmat, atque ita concludit, ut ſtatuat certitudinem videntis & audientis Dominum, aut ejus angelum, non pendere a probatione Eccleſiaſtica, neque ab illo eſſe rationem repetendam ſuæ revelationis, dum nihil publici muneris exercere audet: ſed ſi incipiat palam profiteri, ſe a Deo doctum & miſſum, ita ut non ipſius ſolum, ſed aliorum quoque interſit, ſcire quo ſpiritu agatur, tunc Eccleſiaſticorum munus eſſe, illius ſpiritum examinare & probare, neque ipſum jure poſſe examen hoc detrectare, licet ſuas revelationes eis ſubjicere minime teneatur. Nam ſi ordinaria autoritas eum admiſerat, bene habebit, nihilque turbarum excitabitur: ſin per injuriam aut inſcitiam aliquam, aut per aliam hujuſmodi cauſam, rejicietur, ſuum erit appellare Superiorem Dominum, qui ipſum miſit, quo ſuum ſervum & Legatum defendat, aut ordinario Judice commonefacto, aut alia ratione: quod probabat decreto Lateranenſe Concilii, cujus mentionem facit in ſuis literis; ac præterea hiſtoria S. Franciſci, qui primum expulſus ab Innocentio Pontifice, mox revocatus fuit, cum per quietem apparuiſſe Pontifici pannoſus ille, qui Lateranenſe templum ſuis humeris fulciret. Addebat præterea viros Dei non eſſe ſolitos deterreri una aut altera repulſa, & hoc

re-

repellendi modo, dicebat Præſules aliquando uſos eſſe, ut probarent ſpiritum & conſtantiam eorum qui res novas magnaſque proponerent. Ego vero inquam, ut hæc ita ſe habeant, Vos hactenus publicum munus exercere non tentaſſe, & intra privatos parietes, ſumma modeſtia vos continuiſſe. Tum ille, longiori ambitu verborum, ſic de vobis diſſerint, ut ex veſtris verbis Sereniſſimum Poloniæ Regem, ad invictiſſimum Cæſarem, & ad Illuſtriſſimum Legatum Hiſpanicum, jam conſtare diceret, vos aliquid amplius quam privatum moliri: Ac Summo Pontifici, ſedenti in ſpecula ſuper totam Chriſtianam Rempublicam potuiſſe merito ſuſpectas eſſe veſtras perſonas, hoc modo Principum animos, & interiores aularum receſſus ſcrutantes: Idque ratione veſtræ Regnæ, infenſiſſimæ Apoſtolicæ,ſedi,& cum ipſo Turca conſpirantis, necnon ſpiritus familiares habentis ac præterea ratione veſtræ ſummæ peritiæ, in artibus & ſcientiis reconditis, quibus facile plebi & imperitis imponi poteſt. Cum enim ſitis magni Aſtrologi, dicebat ille, & facile vobis ſit habere geneſes principum, necnon Magicas artes calleatis, haud difficulter poſſetior bonorum Angelorum nomine, ea proponere,quæ a ſpiritu Eccleſiæ hoſte manarent. Ideo Summum Pontificem, (cui duo, illi Principes ſunt maxime obſervandi, utpote qui inter Hæreticos vivant & regnent) prudenter feciſſe,qui juſſerit, ut in veſtros mores & doctrinam inquireretur. Accidiſſe autem præter ejus poſtulatam & voluntatem, ut, indicta cauſa, expelleremini. Se vero vicem noſtram dolere, & paratum eſſe ad curandum, ut vos juſtificare poſſitis, idque ſibi eſſe in votis, non ſemel aſſerint Quapropter hortatus eſt me, ut ad Illuſtriſſimum Dominum Roſenbergium contenderem,atque ipſius bonam propenſionem, erga vos,ei ſignificarem; Nam ille a Summo Pontifice facile impetrabit, ut cauſa veſtra hic cognoſcatur, & ſi ille vobis faverit, ut hactenus fecit, ſe quoque adfuturum vobis omnibus officiis, ac primum fore, qui ſe veſtris genibus obvolvat ſi tales eritis, quales vos nonnulli prædicant. Ego igitur recta ad Illuſtriſ. D. Roſenbergium. Sed quater redeundum mihi fuit, antequam admitterer. Die 27 tandem admiſſis, expoſui meum ſtudium,erga vos reſque veſtras,ac quomodo Illuſt.D.Nuncius affectus ergavos eſſet,ac tandem oravi utnon deſereret patrocinium & defenſionem illam, quam ſuſcepiſſet peregrinorum pientiſſimorum, qui a Cæſare minus bene informato ad Cæſarem melius informatum, provocarent, ac ſuam innocentiam, Dei & hominibus, probatam cuperent. Ille humaniter reſpondit: Vos non admodum ſibi notos eſſe: ſe bis cum ſeniore; ſemel tantum cum juniore collocutum, judicaſſe vos doctos & pios, & præclaris donis inſtructos: exiſtimare vobis hoc accidiſſe mala aliqua relatione cui incommodo a res principum ſunt obnoxiæ: veſtrum eſſe id æquo animo ferre:non ſe pœnitere quod vobis faverit, & ſi ſcirit quid potiſſimum, a ſe, peteretis, daturum operam, ut veſtris votis reſponderetur.Tunc mihi viſum eſt nonnulla dicere de optima ſpe, quam de ipſo concepiſſetis, piſſetis, & quomodo me non dimiſeratis ſine literis ad illum: Sed erant incluſæ faſciculo D. Joan. Carpionis, quem ſtatim protuli, atque eo inſtante ac reſpondente D. Carpionem non ægre laturum ſi ipſi dediſſem, tradidi faſciculum ei, qui dixit ſe per otium lecturum, ac, ſequenti die, mihi reſponſurum. Diſcedo igitur ab illo ad Illuſt. D. Nuncium, atque otium nactus, tum per me, tum per Illuſt. Legatum Florentinum, pluribus cum eo agere inſtituo, de inſigni injuria vobis facta: expono quantopore laboraveritis, ut confidere poſſetis, apud Catholica Templa, & quam inhumaniter, in hoſpitiis & civitatibus ratione hujus præjudicii Cæſarei, tractaremini, doceo quam ſordido & anguſto loco veſtras familias reliqueritas, ita ut veſtram ſupellectilem, & libros explicare nequi veritis; Moneo, ut Domini Dee jam grandis natu, aut potius ſenis, & nihil tale hactenus paſſi vicem doleat; ejus erumnas non tanquam ſimplicis hominis conſiderandas eſſe, cum vir ſexagenarius, quatuor tenellis ſuaviſſimiſque liberis (quorum major ſeptimum annum vix exceſſerit) ac dilectiſſimæ conjugi adjunctis, longe gravius affligatur, ratione uxoris ſuæ lectiſſimæ fœminæ, & pignorum chariſſimorum, quam ſui ipſius; oſtendo quanto offendiculo hoc futurum ſit Catholicis Anglis, ac cæteris, & quanta anſa præbeatur hæreticis, invehendi in Eccleſiaſticum ordinem: declaro periculum imminens ordini illi, ſi forte Deus facultatibus veſtris ad eos plectendos eorum inimicos armari permitteret: Demonſtro Deum alias, per Iſaelitas hæreticos Catholicos Judæos punire conſueviſſe: ac denique declaro, quam abſurdum ſit vos indicta cauſſa condemnari, ſi id meriti ſitis: quanto abſurdius, ſi non meriti ſitis quicqnam tale: abſurdiſſimum vero, cum a Catholica Eccleſia honor potius vobis deberetur: Ac cum non petatis niſi ut vobis vos purgare liceat, nihil magis conſentaneum rationi excogitari, nullo alio modo errorem admiſſum emendari, atque hoc negotium bene dirigi & redintegrari poſſe. Ille mihi legit veſtras literas, id eſt D. Dee, ſed de rebus, ambobus vobis, aliquo modo, communibus: dicit ſe non credere ea, quæ de divinis monitis & miraculis, in illis, continentur, petit ut ipſe declarem obſcuriorem locum de libris combuſtis: audit a me teſtimonium oculatum de illis concrematis, & quomodo vobis audiverim eos eſſe cœlitus reſtitutos, ac denique concludit in illis literis eſſe multa laudabilia, multa admirabilia, multa itidem incredibilia; ſed cum non ſint Deo impoſſibilia, ſe ſuſtinere aſſenſum, nec velle quicquam certi, re non penitus explorata, pronunciare: vobis tamen reſponſurum humaniter, ac daturum mihi literas, quod fecit poſtea die 28, quas literas ad vos, cum hiſce, mitto. Et quia legendi eas mihi fecit copiam, ſatis jejunias & frigidas mihi eſſe viſus, haud diſſimulo Tamen quia mentionem aliquam mei facit, tanquam hominis cum quo fuſius de ſuo animo, erga vos, egerit, viſum eſt mihi accurate & particulatim exponere, quid inter nos actum dictumve ſit, ut

verba

verba cum factis conferre poſſitis, & pro veſtra prudentia & pietate, conſilium capere, & ſi operæ precium videbitur reſcribere. Quantum enim ex ejus ſermonibus colligo, videtur ipſi neceſſarium novum mandatum, a ſummo Pontifice, antequam quicquam vobiſcum agat; nec ſe ſcripturum dicit de vobis Romam, niſi prius petatis quod ab ejus ſanctitate capitis : utpote qui, in hac cauſa, fuerit merus interpres, inter Pontificem & Cæſarem ; nec poſſit, niſi verbis ſui Domini quicquam promittere & ſtatuere. Idcirco, quantum videre poſſum, res diutius protrahetur quam vellemus, niſi Dominus noſter & Pontifex cœleſtis, alio modo, nobis providerit. Die 28 & 29 inveni Illuſt. D. Roſenbergium tam occupatum, ut admitti non potuerim, ſed per cubicularium ſignificavit, ſe valde cupere ut colloqueremur, itaque redirem die 30. Interim fui rurſus cum Illuſtriſſimo D. Nuncio, mox diſceſſuro ad Sancti Caroli Monaſterium, ubi commorabitur quamdiu hi eſtus ſævient. Et cum commodo cecidiſſet, in colloquendo, viſum eſt, mihi interrogare hominem, an probaret meam ſententiam de diſcernendo ex certis notis & terminis verum verbum Dei a ficto & fucato, cum poſſit angelus malus tranſformare ſe in angelum lucis & Apoſtata falſi, non raro, ſe transfigurent in Apoſtolos Chriſti. Dicebam enim duo mihi videri neceſſaria, ut hoc judicium rite fiat, primum quidem, in homine audiente, bona propenſio & animus bene affectus ad Creatorem, totuſque ex ei ita pendens, ut nihil antiquius habeat quam ei placere, & qui de ejus benignitate atque veritate non dubitet erga eos, qui ad ipſum confugiunt, ut bonum ſpiritum hauriant. Deinde in ſermone, nomine Dei propoſito, requiri eas proprietates, quæ tantum authorem deceant; quas graphice deſcribit Paulus, cum dicit, Vivus eſt enim Heb. 4. 12, 13. ſermo Dei & efficax, & penetrabilior omni gladio ancipiti, & pertingens uſque ad diviſionem animæ ac ſpiritus, compagum quoque ac medullarum, & diſcretor cogitationum & intentionum cordis, & non eſt ulla creatura inviſibilis in conſpectu ejus. Cui adſtipulatus Deus, Jer. 23, 28, 29. qui apud Jeremiam dicit; Propheta qui ſomnium habet, ſomnium narret, et qui verba mea habet, verba mea narret. Quid paleis cum tritico? dicit Dominus. Nunquid non verba mea ſunt quaſi ignis? dicit Dominus, quaſi malleus conterens petram? Concludebam igitur, hominem Deo fidentem, ex efficacitate & ardore illo, quo affici ſe percipit, deprehendere ſermonis Dei veritatem. Nam vox lupi & alieni paſtoris non poteſt permovero veram ovem, ut ipſum diu ſequatur, & hanc eſſe regulam, qua judicarem divinas ſententias a non divinis, diſtingui poſſe : Ille probabit meam ſententiam, atque addidit, ſine bono ſtudio auditorum, non apparere efficacitatem divinorum ſermonum, ut conſtat ex Chriſti hiſtoria. Dum enim ſimplices Iſraelite, dicebant; Nunquid ſic loquutus eſt homo, & ſimilia de Chriſti doctrina, Phariſæi & perverſi Sacerdotes eum deridebant & contemnebant. Tunc ego, ſi contingeret igitur, ut cum congrediemur, fieret ad te verbum Domini, mini, num hujuſcemodi regula utereris. Hic ille inquit, cum poſſet accidere, ut mihi de hac re judicandum eſſet, nolo hoc tempore, meam ſententiam declarare, ſed hujuſcemodi ratio non mihi mala videtur. Ex quibus verbis neſcio quid mihi viſus ſum adorari minus candidum, quam in re tanta, opus eſſet. Sed Dei eſto judicium de ejus interiori ſenſu. Ego, bona fide, colloquia noſtra expoſui, ut vobis uſui eſſe poſſint, ratus hoc vobis gratum, ſicut foret mihi ſi veſtro loco eſſem. Reverſus die 30, ad Illuſt. D. Reſenbergium vidi eum tandem exeuntem, ex cubiculo, ad quoſdam nobiles, et dixit ſe tantopere diſtrictum eſſe, ut mecum colloqui non poſſet. Sicut cuperet. Ego vero, inquam me S. Celſitudinis monitu, toties reverſum expectare ejus reſponſum, et an vobis reſcribere vellet. Tunc ille inquit prius tecum colloquendum eſt mihi, itaque, (ut ejus verbis utar) habeas patientiam, aliquot dies donec ego pro te mittam, et ſic me dimiſit. Docui igitur Venceſlaum cubicularium noſtras ædes, qui dixit ſe optime callere locum, ac, ſuo tempore, memorem fore mei, cum Dominus me accerſet. Expectans igitur aut reſponſum Illuſtriſſimi D. Roſenbergii, aut aliquid aliud dignum veſtris auribus, non viſum eſt mihi id vos expreſſum nuncium mittere: Monente præſertim Domino Sevembergio, vobis eſſe paratis neſcio quas ædes in oppido Naitu, in Comitatu Suarreburgenſi, & ut expectarem reditum Domini Carpionis, quem propediem reverſurum ſperabat, ne ſine magna cauſa atque incertus de loco veſtræ ſedis, ad vos literas dirigerem. Igitur non parum ſolicitus de vobis & de reditu D. Carponis, ſemel ad minimum in die, ejus ædes adeo, atque interrogo ſi quid de illo ſignificetur, nec quicquam, per multos dies audio. Tandem de die 12 Auguſti ſciſitor D. Millerum an aliquid mihi de amico, dicere poſſit. Reſpondet ſe quoque expectare hominem, atque admodum mirari tam diuturnam moram, præſertim cum D. Gregorius, qui in ipſo Carpione ad vos venerat, ſit triduo ante reverſus. Ego igitur, qui nihil prius de D. Gregorii aut itinere aut reditu noveram, ad illum recta contendo. Gallus ejus contubernalis humaniter me admittit, jubet expectare D. Doctorem, et ad illum accerſendum currit. Sed cum diutius moraretur, ego jam diſceſſurus, video D. Gregorium ſeorſum cum ipſo colloquentem, et me torvo vultu intuentum. Saluto illum & gratulor reditum, ac demum de vobis incorrogo. Ille reſpondet ſe nihil quicquam de vobis aut rebus veſtris ſcire, nec vobiſcum fuiſſe. Tunc ego aliquantulum hæreo, ac tandem dico, ſi nolit quicquam dicere me æquo animo laturum, ſed jam mihi conſtare eum vobiſcum fuiſſe: Ille ſtomachatur veſtrum nomen, ac totius mundi fallacias & impoſturas: dicit ſua ſibi eſſe curæ, non veſtra vos multa quidem promittere, ſed parum præſtare, neſcire ſe quare conqueramini: ſe per ſeſqui annum, vana ſpe lactatum, vobis ad hæſiſſe, ut aliquod e minoribus veſtris arcanis diſceret, nec quicquam alicujus momenti percepiſſe.

Hic ego: an parvum tibi videtur arcanum illud contra luem veneream? Ille vero, ſubridens, a D. Sconto, inquit, longe præſtantiorem habeo. Denique, his omiſſis, librum meum Poſtellæ repeto: ille negat ſe habuiſſe interrogata quo audiverim; ac me laudante D. Dee, ille rurſus negat ſe vidiſſe; niſi forte, inquit, ex manibus D. Sevenbergii, vis dicere librum neſcio quem ſine titulo: ac denique de reſtituendo nullam ſpem facit. Ego qui cum illo verba commutare nollem, abeo: ac puerum veſtrum Staniſlaum, in atrio offendo, & ab illo intelligo, vos Erfordiam uſque cum D. Gregorio & D. Carpione veniſſe, ante octiduum. D. Carpionem illinc Bambergam ad exigendas neſcio quas pecunias, profectum; ſe cum D. Gregorio, hoc veniſſe. Interrogo an literas aut aliquod verbulum, a vobis, ad me, ferret; reſpondet, nihil prorſus, quia forte putabant, inquit, te hic non eſſe: ſe poſt triduum aut quatriduum ad vos reverſurum. Laudo ejus conſilium, & conſtantiam in ſerviendis Dominis, ac doceo meas ædes, ne ſine meis literis ad vos veniat: promittit ſe non diſceſſurum, me inſalutato D. Gregorius interim percipit, me cum eo colloqui, atque iratus (quantum ex voce clamantis judicare poſſum) puerum revocat. Ego, cogitabundus, diſcedo. Die quinto decimo hujus menſis, tandem nactus ſervulum veſtrum Staniſlaum, in loco libero, eum accuratius de veſtris rebus ac ſtatu examino, atque non ſine magna animi mei voluptate, audio vobis conceſſas eſſe ampliores ædes. Illuſt. D. Langravium præſtantiſſimo D. Dee multum tribuere ut favere; & ſummo Deo pro tanto munere magnas gratias ago, atque puerum ad meum cubiculum duco oſtendoque illi literas ad vos paratas, ne ſine ipſis ad vos revertatur. Sed paulo poſtea pater Carpionis me monet, ſe velle ante noctem, ad vos unicum expreſſum mittere & ut ſcribam ſi velim: nam ſe a D. Kelleo monitum hoc mihi ſignificare: ingentes gratias ago D. Kelleo qui mei non ſit omnino oblitus, & hæc, per hunc quem vobis ſpero fidem nuncium, ſignificare ſtatuo, ſcripturus rurſus per Staniſlaum, ſi operæ pretium videbitur.

Oro vos atque obteſtor per Deum illum vivum, qui Autor eſt noſtræ amicitiæ, & qui diſerte præcepit ut nos invicem ac mutuo amemus, ne obliviſcamini mei cum datur vobis occaſio invigendi me per literas aut per inter nuncios, & reddendi me certiorem de ſtatu veſtrarum noſtrorumque rerum; nam ego certe veſtri non obliviſcar, & officia mea id teſtibuntur, non ſolum coram Deo, ſed etiam coram omnibus hominibus. Si veſter reditus aliquandiu differetur, inviſam vos proximo menſe Septembri, longe enim a vobis vix vivere poſſum, immo ſi proprie loquendum ſit, me vitæ tædet: Ac præſens agam de nonnullis rebus quas ſcribere minime decet.

Jam elapſi ſunt 18 dies ex quo Illuſtriſſimum Nuncium Apoſtolicum non vidi, & cum ſatis ſuperque ſatisfecerim obedientiæ, non adibo illum, ne verba nobis dare ſibi tam facile fore perſuadeat. Oſtendit literas D. Dee Legato Veneto & Florentino & uterque mihi

ſum-

ſummopere eas laudavit, dixitque ſibi viſus diſertas graves, & pluſquam vulgaris ſpiritus, & optiſſint exemplum illarum , ſed ego offerre non poteram, & dubito ne Illuſtriſtimus Nuncius eas ſupprimat; nam haud obſcure, innuit ſe timere veſtrum congreſſum præſertim æquum & rationale, & id quærere videtur, ut vobiſcum agere poſſit more Hiſp. &c. D. Joan. Carpio, nondum revertitur, & D. Roſenbergius cras dicitur diſceſſurus & neſcio an recuperare potero literas ad eundem Carpionem, in quibus de pecuniolis illis agebatur, ſi dubitatis ne ille diutius quam par ſit, ſolutionem differat quæſo curetis, ut aliquo alio modo mihi proſpiciatur. D. ab Oſſa, per 20 dies, non vidi, ac Jeſuitis palam dixi & dico quandocunque occaſio ſe offert, vobis factum ab ipſis inſignem injuriam, eos plus pendere ab aulis terreſtribus quam a cœleſti: timere collationem æquam cum vobis, ac ſuæ cauſæ annum haud obſcure diffidere, itaque jam ſum eis minus gratus.

Saluto uxorem D. Dee lectiſſimam fœminam, ac mihi non minus quam matrem venerandam; necnon conjugem D. Kellei rarum exemplum juvenilis ſanctitatis, caſtitatis, atque omnium virtutum. Saluto omnes, alios veſtros domeſticos ſanctos vosque inprimis D.D. Joan. & Ed. deſiderabilia mihi nomina fœlices ac beatos in Domino cupio ac precor. Quantum tribuam & tribuere debeam veſtris precibus noſtis, eis oro atque obſecro me apud D. Deum juvetis ut vocationi meæ reſpondeam, & curſum meum hilari animo ac firmo corpore perficiam. Sanctiſſimus ille pater, qui nobis jam ſuſcitavit paſtorem illum magnum D. Jeſum filium ſuum mox reverſurum ad ſubigendos omnes innimicos ejus ſub pedibus ſuis, atque extremam manum impoſiturum renovationi rerum, nos omnes ſuo ſpiritu foveat ac recreet, ut Læti adventum ejus præſtolari, atque nuptialibus voſtibus, lampadibuſque accenſis ornati, ipſi occurrere poſſimus. Praga xv Kal. Octob. M.D. Lxxxv.

Idem Dominationibus veſtris addictiſſius

Atque ex animo frater

PUCCIUS

Præſtantiſſimis ac Deo dilectis viris D.D.
Joannes Dee. & Eduardo Kelleo Generoſis Anglis, ac Majoribus in Chriſto fratribus, mihi, tanquam Patribus colendis, &c.

Mgnifice Domine;& uti pater amantiſſime & obſervande non minori etiam deſiderio teneor videndi & de multis colloquendi cum Magnifica dominature veſtra de cujus erga me & fide, & amore nunquam dubitavi nec dubitare poſſum poſt prandium hora commoda ego illam accedam. Deus ſua, gratia ſemper nobis adſit.

Veſter ex animo, Guilielmus propria manu.
Febr. 10. 1587, ſtilo novo. Trebone.
Poſtride reditus Illuſtriſſimi à Vienna ad Trebonam.

+ A

Sir, My hearty commendations unto you deſiring your health as my own, my Lord was exceeding glad of your Letters, and ſaid now I ſee he loveth me, and truly as far as I perceive he loveth us heartily. This Sunday in the Name of the Bleſſed Trinity I begin my Journey, wherein I commend me unto your prayers, deſiring the Almighty to ſend his fortitude with me. I commend me unto Mrs. Dee a thouſand times, and unto your little babes: wiſhing my ſelf rather amongſt you, then elſewhere, I will by Gods grace about twenty dayes hence return, in the mean ſeaſon all comfort and joy be amongſt you;

Your aſſured and immoveable friend.

E. Kelly.

Prage.
1587.
△ 25 Januarii.
Thomas Kelly.
Francis Garland. } went with him.
Ferdinando Hernyk.

To the Right Worſhipful, and his aſſured friend Mr. John Dee Eſquire, give theſe.

Magnifico Domino, Domino Dee.

Received of Lodovick in the High-way by Platz, in the middle way between New-houſe and Trebon, as I was comming from New-houſe, whither I went to have met my Lord as he came from Vienna: But Arch-duke Erneſt was occaſion (as was thought) that they ſhould go to Prage by Triegle, being the more even, although not the next way: I received them on Friday the 6 of February, and they were delivered him at Prage on Sunday was a ſeven-night before, being the 25 of January, novo ſtilo.

Swethart I commend me unto you, hoping in God that you are in good health, as I and my children, with all my Houſhold am here, I praiſe God for it; I have none other matter to write unto you at this time.

I being at New-houſe from Trebone, (to go to underſtand which way my Lord Roſenberg would go from Vien to Prage and when,) and this Letter being in the ſame day brought from Prage, my wife ſent Lodovick with it, toward me, and ſo without Platz Town in the High-way he gave it me.

+ Trebone in Bohemia.

Viſitationis Secundæ, Actio inſtituta.

Anno 1586. Die 19 Septembris. Die Veneris ſexti menſis ſive a die Veneris ante Paſcha à meridie hora 2.

△ Preces ad Diem fudi, and declared that we here and now preſented our ſelves, as in obedience, according to the time preſcribed of ſix Moneths end, ſince the laſt good Friday: I craved pardon of all our errors and miſdeeds, ſince the laſt time of his viſiting us, and now requeſted his aid and direction hence-forward to walk proſperouſly, according to the well pleaſing of his divine Majeſtie: and that he would grant unto William Roſenberg, E. K. and me his graces, ſo abundantly, that in us his honour might be increaſed, and glory advanced mightily and triumphantly, &c.

E. K. Here is a round fire like a Sunne.

Vox …… Frigida præparatio.
Frigida oratio.
Frigidam hoc exigunt reſponſum.
Revertente tamen Gulielmo, mediatorem & agnum, reſpondere paratum, conſulite.

E. K.

E. K. He is gone now.

△ Tu juſtus es Domine, & nos impii: tu ſanctus es Domine, & viæ tuæ immaculatæ: nos nec orare, neque nos præparare ſine tuo auxilio & gratia unquam poſſimus: Tuam igitur nobis concedas gratiam, & de tanto errore noſtro dignam agere pœnitentiam, ut agnum,& mediatorem noſtrum omni tempore nobis inveniamus propitium ex tua clementia, illius meritis, & ſpiritus tui Sancti afflatu conſolatorio: Amen.

Cui, Trino & uni, Deo vero, & Omnipotenti, ſit ſempiternus honor, laus perennis, & gloria perpetua. Amen.

✠ Trebone, Actio Secunda ex ſeptem.

Anno 1586.
Octob. 14. Tueſday. Mane poſt ſolis ortum.

Circa 7. Precibus fuſis, gratiiſque actis pro miſericordiis Dei infinitis erga nos tam in prædeſtinatione quàm in executione, in patria, in mari, & in hac peregrinatione, & pro liberatione noſtra ex manibus hoſtium in Pragenſi exilio, & pro ſua continua tutela, & pro redditione noſtra cum honore & gloria in illo, ad quietem & ſecuritatem cum Wilhelmo Roſenbergio, jam lebamus quid ipſe potiſſimum nobis proponere velit ex ſuis myſteriis, & quid de Pucceio eſſet ſtatuendum, quid de & operibus Philoſophicis juxta ejus propoſitum, & quid de errore in practica nuper facta ſit ſtatuendum, & quid prætereà nobis jam & præcipue ſit faciendum, & ad Wilhihelmum vocandum paratos, nos eſſe juxta Dei beneplacitum, &c.

△ I had ſet up Menſam fœderis, with the appurtenances, and had ſet the Angelical Stone in the frame of Gold on the Table, onely E. K. and I being in the goodly little Chappel next my Chamber, appointed to our uſes.

A voice …… Let him come, that is to come.

△ I went for the Lord Roſenberg, whom I found in his Oratory of the Church hearing of Maſſe: And he came with me and ſat in his place.

E. K. I ſee a great plain like unto a field, as though it were a Mile over, in the end of it there is a great high rotten Tree, all the graſſe is as though it were withered and burned, there commeth a beam as of fire from Heaven, and lighteth upon the Tree, now there commeth water out of the root of the Tree, as though it were a Sea, and ſpreadeth all the plain over: And the Tree openeth and there commeth a Man out of it, his hair hangeth down unto his girdle ſtead, his garment covereth him down from his ſhoulders, and hangeth behind him down upon the water. Viſio.

The earth hath now drunk up all the water, and the Man ſtandeth upon the dry ground.

All the place is full of green graſſe about a cubit high.

Now the Man is out of ſight.

It ſeemed to be as beyond and without the Stone.

The Viſion is clean diſ-appeared.

△ I expounded this Viſion in Latin to the Lord Roſenberg.

E. K. In the middeſt of the Stone ſeemeth to ſtand a little round thing like a ſpark of fire, and it increaſeth, and ſeemeth to be as bigge as a Globe of 20 inches Diameter, or thereabout.

Vox …… Wo be unto the World, wo be unto the World, and Worldlings: Wo be unto you Sonnes of men, for you are withered, and behold the field of the Lord bringeth you not forth: you are defiled, and being defiled, you defile alſo the beauty of your Seat: And behold, behold, behold, (I ſay,) you that are the King and Princes of the Earth tyed and knit together upon one ſtemme, you are all rotten and barren, behold, you bring forth no fruit: but even as the graſſe that withereth, he is a diſ-glory to the place, even ſo, are you that is graſſe, of your ſituation and dwelling, for behold, you have no leaves, much leſſe fruit: Wo, wo, wo, unto ſuch a generation, which lacketh moiſture, and the fire of comfort: The ſtemme that carrieth you is the Seat and holy place, which alſo is contaminated. And lo, behold, (as it were) withered; if holineſſe be hidden whereupon you ſtand, how wicked are thoſe that are governed by you, how wicked are you, and how abomina- Locus ſanctus contaminatus.

ble : how full of corruption are you that ſtand without all beauty, moiſture, or comfort : The time ſhall come that the power and might of God which here ſpeaketh amongſt you, in the fire and ſpirit of his holy truth ſhall come down from above, from Heaven, from the Seat of comfort, from the everlaſting Throne, and ſhall fall down, not into you, nor amongſt you (for you ſhall be rooted out,) but into the ſtemme and into the root which is the holy place, and the houſe of comfort : And behold, the power of God, (of him that ſpeaketh) ſhall be mighty, ſtrong, and of infinite power: So that like a Woman with Child, ſhe ſhall bring forth in the Church of God, a man, clothed with a white garment : which is JUSTICE unſpotted, which may walk with infinite power (and in the Garment of holineſſe and beauty,) upon the abundance of graces, and the waters of comfort, which ſhall flow out of the holy Seat.

And behold, ô you Sonnes of men, you ſhall be full of underſtanding, and of the ſpirit of Wiſdome, and the grace of God, (of him that ſpeaketh with you) ſhall be plentiful and ſtrong amongſt you : So that you ſhall ſpring, and beautifie the Earth and the Houſe of Chriſt : And behold, the higher boughes, and mighty branches ſhall loſe their vertue, and be caſt down, becauſe they have placed themſelves upon the outward rotten Stock, to the diſhonour of him that hath called them : and there ſhall no more ſtrength or vertue be amongſt you : but you ſhall be ſubject to verity, and be controuled with an iron rod, by him that came out, and walked on the waters : Then ſhall be peace and reſt : Then ſhall Hieruſalem deſcend.

Quando Hieruſalem deſcendet.

E. K. Now is all diſ-appeared away out of ſight.

△ I read the former parcel in Latine to the Lord Roſenberg.

A Pauſe.

△ Tu juſtus es Domine, & Judicia tua vera, tu omnipotens ô Deus noſter, & brachio tuo nullus reſiſtere poteſt. Veni, ô Domine, & conſolare nos veritate & Juſtitia.

E. K. Now he is returned again in the form he went away in. A red croſſe commeth over it, pure red, ſo yellowiſh.

A Pauſe.

Religionis reformatio in Anglia futura.
Locus ſanctus ruet.
Fines mundi detegentur.
Terribilia prius.

So that the Name of the God of Righteouſneſſe, and of his Sonne Chriſt ſhall be magnified in thee : § And lo, behold, by my ſelf, I ſwear that after a few Moneths the time expired ; I will ſmite, and break the holy place, ſo that there ſhall be no abomination in it.

§ And behold, the ends of the World ſhall be opened, and all people ſhall rejoyce in the Croſſe and Name of the Lamb.

§ But firſt commeth terrour to all Nations. § Wo, wo, therefore be unto you, ô you Kings and Princes of the Earth ! he that hath eares let him hear.

...... And lo, behold, this day I am deſcended, and my promiſe is upon him that heareth amongſt you.

William Roſenberg.

Let him mitigate therefore the fragility of humane reaſon, and give me a dwelling place by faith : for I will this day make a Covenant with him, ſo that my Name and Spirit ſhall not depart from his Houſe.

Roſenberg ſhall fall.

And what I have promiſed him I am, and I will bring to paſſe : what is he, or who is he that laugheth me to ſcorn, that (if he repent not) receiveth not his reward ?

And moreover, I will appear to him hereafter, and he ſhall be partaker of the cœleſtial myſtery, if my Name be exalted in him.

And behold, he ſhall often fall, but he ſhall riſe again, and ſhall perſevere unto the end.

E. K. It is diſ-appeared.

△ Legi ultimam hanc particulam Latine ipſi Principi Roſenbergio.

A Pauſe.

E. K. In lapide ſtetit ſcriptum. After an hour.

△ We removed not, but ſat ſtill and diſcourſed partly upon the premiſſes, and partly of Englands miſery to come.

K. K. There appeareth a little white cloud, like the end of a cloud, with a dark image of a face of three in one : ſometimes appearing three, ſometimes one.

The end of the white cloud doth wave up and down before the face.

Two Winds in this Kingdom.
Of the firſt,
Vide An. 1587
Actione Rebenſceinenſi.
Mart. 16.

Vox ex latere lapidis ...... Theſe four Moneths, let William (for aſmuch as in him lyeth) abſtain from Prage, for he ſhall deceive thoſe that are deceivers.

Two winds ſhall ariſe from the Earth within theſe next yeares in this Kingdom : In the firſt let him ſit ſtill : In the ſecond let him arm himſelf ; and reſiſt with Victory.

E. K.

E. K. There appeareth a Wood, a great Wood on the left hand by a River: There be two like Hawks, whereof one is white, and the other is black: The one is on a bough in the water, that is the black, the other on a withered bough on the land.

A great Bear commeth out of the Wood. urſus primus.

Now he runneth toward them, he catcheth the black one in the water, and ſwalloweth him, and ſtandeth up upon his hinder legs. Now he goeth to the other, and ſhaketh him in his mouth, and ſtandeth up on his hinder legs: and hath pulled off both his Wings, he returneth into the Wood again, the body of the white lyeth on the ground. Now he turneth his feet up.

Now he ſtandeth on his legs again.

He followeth the Bear the ſame way he went, he would lift up himſelf as if he would fly, but he cannot.

All this Wood, Bear, and two Fowles are vaniſhed.

E. K. Below ſtandeth a great Caſtle, at the foot of the Hill on which that Wood did ſtand, down in a valley from the Hill goeth a great high Bridge of Stone long (in ſight) about ten Engliſh miles long.

Beſide the entrance, on the right hand of that Caſtle, is like a Dial, with motions cœleſtial in it, of Sunne and Moon.

Now commeth a Bear, (black as the other) a very great monſtrous Bear. The Bridge quaketh under him as he paſſeth it toward urſus ſecundus. the Caſtle he roareth, looking toward the Caſtle. He ſteppeth up to the Dial, and taketh the Moon out of it, and teareth it all in pieces with his teeth. The Caſtle falleth, and the bridge where he ſtandeth is broken: The Caſtle is all in ruine.

The Bear ſtandeth upon the edge of the bridg, and beholdeth the ruine of the Caſtle down into a pit as it were.

Now he goeth back and the bridg falleth down after him.

Now the Wood appeareth again, and he goeth into the Wood.

Now that Viſion is all vaniſhed away.

Vox …… You ſhall ſhortly ſee, againſt what ſtone Pucci hath ſpurned.
My Peace and bleſſing be upon you.

E. K. Now all is gone away.

△ Gloria, laus, honor, Benedictio & Jubilatio ſit Deo Patri, Deo filio, & Deo Spiritui ſancto: ſicut erat in principio, & nunc & in ſempiterna ſæculorum ſæcula. Amen.

Spiritu principali confirma nos Deus, Deus noſter confirmet nos Deus, Omnipotens, Sempiterne vive & vere. Amen, Amen, Amen.

MEMORANDUM.

Anno 1586. Octobris Die 17. à meridie, poſt novas cum Fr. Puccio turbas & rixas, propter pecunias quas cupiebat à nobis habere, ex liberalitate, & in nomine Dei, & tanquam a ſervis Dei, & non ab Edwardo Kelleo tanquam ab Edwardo Kelleo, nos [△ & E. K] concluſimus (ad ſcandala multa evitanda quæ ipſe contra nos ſparſerat & excogitaverat, propter pecunias ejus 800 Florenorum, Deo oblatas & redditas per illum, & prius recuſatas quando nos illi ſolvere parati eramus, & 630 Ducatos illi exhibuimus coram Deo, ut inde acciperet quod ſuum eſſe iudicabat.) Concluſimus inquam, (cum bona ſp:, quod non offenderemus Deum) ante illum, coram teſtibus, exponere numerum 800 Florenorum: & ſi ſibi deberi aſſereret, quod recipere poſſet, ſi vellet; ſin vero negaret 800 Florenos, aut aliquam ſibi à nobis deberi pecuniam, Tunc & id etiam coram teſtibus pronuntiatum volebamus, teſtimonio, & chirographo conſcripto notum facere temporibus & locis opportunis.

E-

Ex Arco lvimus igitur ad Primatis Domum, & convocatis aliquot Civibus primariis, Sacerdote ſediore, & aliquot ſcribis Illuſtris ſummi Principis (Domini Roſenbergii) duos magnos ſaccos pecuniarum expoſluimus, & ex (ubi duo millia ducatorum, & præterea plures quàm 400 Doleri numerabantur ſupra menſam, 800 Floreni: Et Dilemmate illi propoſito (quod ſuperius annotavi) pecunias accipere contentus erat, ſed ille voluit ſubſcribere, ſe accepiſſe in nomine Dei, & à nobis tanquam à ſervis Dei. Nos vero proteſtabamur nos nullo modo recipere in nos, ut a Deo hoc nobis eſſet injunctum diceremus, ut illi illas proponeremus pecunias, vel accipiendas, vel recuſandas ab illo: Sed tantum ad evitanda magna & multa ſcandala contra nos, ill illius ibidem libero committere arbitrio, ut ill & dicat, quod illi videretur melius, & illi eſſet gr Accepit ergo pecunias, numeravit, & inde eſt conſcriptum Chirogrpahum manu ſcribe ſummi Principis (Pauli Wolfg) præſentis cum diverſis teſtibus, qui ſua nomina ſubſcripſerunt, ut in ipſo Chirographo appare poteſt.

Franciſcus Puccius.

Deo gratias agamus. Speramus enim, meliori nos jam quiete fruituros: & magis fore liberos ab ejus lingua venenata & inquieta Deus illum convertat: & illi ſit propitius, atque dixit nobis ſe velle nunc miniſtrum faciat, ſua divina Majeſtati utilem in ✝ Trebone. Anno 1587.

---

Die ☿ Januarii 21. mane hor. 9.

△ Tempus beneplaciti, eſt tempus opportunum.

Neceſſitas non habet Legem.

△ In nomine patris & F. & SS, &c. Pater noſter, &c. Omnipotens ſempiterne vere & une Deus in adjutorium W. C. E. K. & mei Joannes Dee, intend , &c.

△ Not by or upon preſumption (O Lord) but with fear and love toward thee we are ready to hear thy will, as concerning the Shew and Commandement, now at Prage in this moneths beginning, made to E. K. We beleeve and hope it is of thee, and that thou wilt not tempt us, or ſuffer us to be tempted in ſo weighty a caſe, And therefore being not perfectly informed in thoſe two ounces of powder. E. K. Knoweth not how to do, ſeeing at his return hither he miſſeth an half ounce thereof whether ſhall he of the reſidue make up that half ounce wanting, or no? we will or dare propound to make any compleat action: but therein referre all to our Parliament dayes, or principal ordinary actions aſſigned.

Mora interpoſita, parte horæ ¼.

E. K. Here appear Letters if I could read them, thus they are.

...... Mihi, ita, & à me.

E. K. They ſeem white Letters --- of greeniſh yellow coloured figures, in every figure one of the four words, in all being 12 letters.

E. K. Now they be gone.

△ I underſtand that the firſt part of that my Propoſition is touched in anſwer of mihi, that is, to God, the ſervice required is to be done: and ita & a me, ſo is the meſſage or commandment from the ſame our God.

△ Mora interpoſita horæ parte ¼.

E K. Now is here other writing, thus, Claudite, clauſæ ſunt.

△ I underſtand not this well, if it mean no more to be taken out of the Powder, or what elſe.

Now appear over the former words, other words, as thus,

Ceſſate

E. K. Over Claudite, is Ceſſate, the other words I cannot read yet.

E. K. Over clauſa ſunt appeareth divinum propoſitum ſibi ad hinc non conſtat.

△ *Qu*æ igitur tibi ſunt, & à te, nobis ſunt acceptiſſima.: & per te, & propter te, ut nobis injuncta faciamus tuum, ô Deus, nobis paratiſſimum præbeas auxilium!

Tibi Creatori Redemptori, & Sanctificatori noſtro, ſit omnis Laus, Honor, & Gloria, nunc & ſemper, Amen.

Ad Omnipotentis Trinitatis Laudem, Honorem, & Gloriam.

Myſteriorum Divinorum memorabilia cui dies quartus Aprilis, Anno 1587, dicata fuit.

Trebone

1587. ACTIO TERTIA.

Trebonæ Generalis.

△. POſt preces ad Deum, & recitatum Catalogum illum, petitionum noſtrarum ad eundem, quievimus divina expectantes conſilia, monita, & oracula.

Aprilis 4. Mane circa 8.

Magna pauſa.

△. ...... *Tandem accepi literas * utraſq; illuſtriſſimi Domini* Roſenbergii, & recitavi coram Deo, ut ejus obedientia, humilitas, & deſiderium, coram Deo & Angelis ejuſdem conteſtata eſſent.

Alia adhuc pauſa, ſive Mora facta, ſed non longa.

 Illas cum 12. quæſtionibus & illas priores ad Reichſtem. miſſas.*

E.K. There ſeemeth a black Curtain of Velvet, to be drawn from one ſide of the Stone to the other. The Curtain is full of plights.

There ſeemed alſo one to have deſcended from above, (a good way behinde the Curtain) and ſo to go behinde the ſame Curtain.

Alia pauſa.

Vox....... *Happy is he, whoſe minde thirſteth after the knowledge of ſuch things as are ſpiritual, and celeſtial, of ſuch things as are in the everlaſting place and glory of him that is, and was, and ſhall be for ever : for unto him belongeth reſt in the harveſt of the Higheſt, and comfort in the midſt of many worldly ſorrows. For unto him, thus ſaith the Lord, the Lord of Reſt, Thou haſt rendred my blood again, with comfort unto me, and haſt made a blood of eternal reſt unto thy ſelf for ever. Aſcend therefore and dwell with me, and receive eternal comfort : for unto ſuch belongeth the Kingdom of my Father ; for I am  Zebaoth unto all ſuch as truſt in me. But behold, the earth bringeth not forth my mighty praiſe, becauſe of the wickedneſs that aboundeth in all mankinde : Neither have I many ſuch children amongſt the ſons of men as I have ſpoken of before ; for why ? The Giants of this world are a ſtumbling block unto the poor people, and unto their ſubjects : for lo, behold, behold ! (I ſay) vile and baſe things (for that they are miſuſed) are become gods within their houſes : ſo that, Gold and Silver, precious Stones, and ſoft Apparel, which were wont to be brought out of their houſes to garniſh mine withall, are become their gods, and the Idols of their deſtruction : for, who is he that exalteth not himſelf in his riches, and deſpiſeth me that was the Author of them ? Where is he that loveth not his wife and children, pomp and worldly glory, more than the ſetting in order of my little flock, or the preferment of my glory ? Who (I ſay) is he, that maketh not more of himſelf than of me ? Woe be unto you that ſo do : and woe be unto the generations that ſhall follow you.

 Requies ceſſatio ſabbatum, &c.* Sabbath.

△. Be merciful unto us, O God of Mercies.

...... O wretched and miſerable mankind, look, look in and upon thy ſelf. Haſt thou made thy ſelf? or when thou art afflicted, canſt thou remove thine own affliction ? Haſt thou any thing of thy own, which my Father hath not given thee, through me, in one provident and eternal will ? Canſt thou hide thy ſelf where I cannot ſee thee ? or canſt thou do that which lieth hid from me ? Look again upon thy ſelf, and conſider what parents, and root thou hadſt thy beginning in Nature : behold, they and their fathers are become the duſt of the earth ; even ſo ſhalt thou do. And even as of them is a ſtraight account of life required, even ſo ſhall it be of thee : for, I that made thee, and gave thee breath, made thee partaker and uſer of my creatures, led thee in and out, gave thee the Sun to ſhine upon thee, and the Moon as the mother of your radical moiſture. I that lifted thee up, either to the honour of a King, or Magiſtrate, and made thee a governour over thy brethren, will at laſt take a ſtraight account of thee, how thou haſt uſed thy ſelf towards me, and where thou haſt advanced my Name in ſuch things as I have lent thee : And be right ſure, that thou ſhalt pay, even the uttermoſt farthing. Woe be unto thee, if thou make not a juſt account ; miſerable ſhalt thou be for ever, if thy deſerts condemn thee. Therefore while thou haſt time and ſpace, look, look up unto me ; for I am the Well of comfort, and the God of peace ; the true reward of righteouſneſs to all ſuch as faithfully love and truſt me.

Pauſa.

△. I read this over ...... Oh how comfortable are theſe leſſons ! Give us and confirm unto us thy graces and bleſſings, O God, to do thy bleſſed will herein, and in all our duty toward thee whatſoever.

E.K. Now the voice ſeemeth to come from him who ſtandeth behinde the Curtain.

Magna Pauſa.

William the ſon of Urſine, the Lord talketh with thee this day, ſaying, Wilt thou that I buy a Kingdom for thee with gold or ſilver? Wilt thou that the Kings and Princes of the earth ſhall laugh the Almighty God of the heaven and earth to ſcorn?

Have I at any time preferred (ſuch as truſt in me) to the government of my people, by giving them the excrements of the earth?

Look down upon my ſervant Abraham.

Look down upon his children.

Call to remembrance my ſervant David.

Set Solomon before thy eyes.

The Kings and Princes of Judah and of Jeruſalem.

Conſider with thy ſelf the Calling of the twelve: The government and ſtate of ſuch as have been Princes amongſt the flock Chriſtian.

Have they been hired or promoted? Have they been lifted up by me with gold or ſilver, or ſuch like trumpery, the Monſters of the earth? In neceſſity, to pay Tribute the fiſh miniſtred, wherewithall Tribute might be paid according to cuſtom.

In the calling of Abraham, multiplication of ſeed was promiſed; which was to be a multitude in people, mighty and great upon the face of the earth.

David was brought in (the leaſt of his brethren) even to be King of Iſrael, not by the multitude of precious ſtones, gold or ſilver. A Sling he had, a Satchel with a few ſtones.

Solomon was commanded to build me a Temple, without any ſum or ſtint. The Apoſtles went from place to place, intending to teach; neither carried they gold or ſilver, but onely a ſcrip or bag prepared for their common victuals and nouriſhment.

Many Princes and Kings have publiſhed my Name, without any promiſe made unto them from heaven.

Notwithſtanding, unto Abraham I have plenty, as his neceſſities required: and unto his children, as I had limited.

Unto David, being King, riches followed his State: and unto his ſon Solomon, plenty both at home and abroad, to build my Temple.

Unto the Apoſtles I gave (in the time of the calling of my people) the ſpirit of underſtanding, whereby they underſtood and had power to teach: And unto ſuch as ſtretched out their hands for my name, I have abundantly given; and it hath been faithfully, and for the love of me taken in hand.

Believe therefore with Abraham, and with his children.

Bring thy ſling and bag before the people of the Lord againſt Goliah.

Endeavor thy ſelf with Solomon, to build a Common-wealth, wherein I will be exalted, as the ſervant of the Son of God, and as his follower.

Go forward, as thy own power and ability ſhall ſerve thee: For thus ſaith the Lord of Hoſts:

Thou haſt nothing but what thou haſt received of me: neither thou, neither thy father.

Provide therefore, of that thou haſt, which is mine: that is to ſay, of that which thy power can extend unto, in thine own faculty and riches, to ſhew thy good will and ready endeavours in ſuch things to be brought to paſs, as thou haſt learned of me: That is to ſay, Neglect not the time of this thy viſitation, neither deſpiſe this Kingdom wherein thou ſhalt reign, for in ſo doing I dwell with thee for ever, and with thy poſterity which ſhall be (in me) mighty. ª When thou art entred into it, whatſoever Treaſure there is in my houſe, or amongſt you, Take it, uſe it.

The uſe of the Powder.

Make thee a ſword of it with two edges, that with the one thou maiſt cut off the baſtards head, and with the other build up the Monuments and the houſes of cleanlineſs, godlineſs, and underſtanding: That the Eaſt again may flouriſh, and that I may make one Floc, from the Sun-riſing to his going down.

Unum ovile.

The ounce & the half wch W.R. hath is to be multiplied.

In the mean ſeaſon, ſhall the Powder which thou haſt to be multiplied, be extended, and multiplied with them that are here preſent, that it may be apt for thy uſes, and the ſtrengthning of thy faith.

The one half of it thou ſhalt keep, as the perpetual remembrance of me, even thou and thy poſterity.

Caeſari reddenda quae ſunt Caeſaris.

Unto him that is thy head, do thy true obedience: although his heart be hardned againſt thee, and thirſteth after thy deſtruction.

The L. Sobcovitz the Land-Hoſt-maſter.

For behold, thy enemy that ſeeketh to devour thy Soul, ceaſeth not to lay nets for thee, that thou maiſt become odious to common people. But the time ſhall ſhortly come, when thou

ſhalt

Arth. Now in the place of thoſe ſquare marks, I ſee two Lions, the one very exactly, and gaping. About the upper brim of the Stone they appear: and the Lions feet be waxen greater and greater.

I ſee another man from the breaſt upward. I can ſee no hair on his head.

I ſee a great company of feet, and their garments skirts ſomewhat above their ankles: and they are like womens kirtles with gards about them.

I ſee another man without a doublet, in his ſhirt, and with a white Cloke about him, hanging his hands down by his ſides.

Δ. Nothing elſe eſteemed or judged to be ſhewn in the Stone, by the Childe, we ceaſed that Exerciſe, and committed all to Gods mercies.

Δ. On Thurſday and Friday, I determined each of them two dayes that the Childe ſhall thrice in the day be put to the Exerciſe, and each time repeat the Prayer preſcribed thrice. Aprilis 16.

Δ. In the forenoon I brought the Childe to the Exerciſe, and he ſaid as followeth. I.

I ſee two men with Crowns of gold upon their heads: their apparel is black and white. I cannot ſee their feet. Their faces are white, their eyes are black like ſpots of ink.

There appear now two other, without Crowns: of the which one ſtandeth whole before, and of the other I ſee nothing but the head, which ſtandeth behinde the firſt.

I ſee not any with Crowns now. The apparel of him is white that I ſee.

I ſee no hands of him. I ſee nothing now.

The ſquares and pricks appear again as yeſterday.

And I doubted it was ſomething of the Glaſs it ſelf: as there were in it certain white ſpots.

An hour we were at the practiſe.

Δ. The ſecond Exerciſe before Dinner. After the Prayer thrice ſaid, &c. II.

Arth. I ſee the firſt ſquare lines and pricks, white and black: the pricks for the moſt part be all white, but ſome are black, and the lines all white.

I ſaw, even now, ſome of thoſe ſquares made Lions: but now there appear none.

The ſquares are now turned alſo into other ſhapes, which I cannot well declare.

Now the Letters be gone, and the ſquares do appear again.

The ſquares are gone, and a word is there.

The letters are clearer then they were: for all the lines and letters do appear white.

There appeareth a B, with a ſquare, with four black pricks in it. It is gone.

Now ſome of the ſquares are come amongſt the letters B D O.

Under the B appeareth a little e thus ə backward.

The

The letters as if one had cut them in the glaſs B D O

Here appeareth a Caſtle with little pinacles like a Church.

Now it is gone.

B a this appeared and ſuddenly is gone.

Now there appeareth a young man with a white doublet, and his arms by his ſide, and a B before him againſt his doublet. He hath a black beard and a white face. I ſee no hair on his head: his beard is a little-----

He is now changed: he hath on his doublet breaſt, on each ſide three black lines.

He is gone, and another is come in his place, with a white leather doublet, and a grey cloke like Hans of Gloats his cloke. He is gone.

The firſt young man is come again, and hath now on the one ſide of his doublet = on the other ſide, thus :

Now I ſee only two ſtrokes overthwart all the doublet, but he hath no head that I ſee.

Either his head is come again, or elſe another man, that hath two lines and two pricks as he had.

The light of the candle did ſeem to ſhine ſuddenly on his face, and go away again. It did not ſhine on his doublet, but onely on his face and his head.

There is now another man come in, who holdeth up both his hands: the upper part of his ſleeves are white, and the half towards his hands black.

The firſt man is here ſtill. Now he hath no arms, but a B before his doublet, but no lines, but only on each ſide two pricks in ſtead of the lines, thus : :

Theſe men came amongſt the ſquares ſuddenly before I was aware.

Here appear not ſo many as were here.

Here are now but ſix ſquares, and one man. I ſee no farther of the man but to the waſte of his doublet.

The man appeareth not ſo brim to my ſight as he did, his head is no bigger than the mark in the margent.

III. The third Exerciſe after Dinner.

Arth. Whereas I ſaid before there was ſome of the ſquare figures wanting: Now I finde that they are all here again, as many as they were at my firſt ſeeing.

In lifting up the Stone, and bringing it down again, the ſquares do all ſeem like B B of the Roman letters.

Δ. Magna mora.

Arth. I ſee now B A. It is now vaniſhed away, after three Pater noſter times ſaying. R a appeareth, but I cannot ſee clearly the foot of the R. Now it is gone

▽△o I ſee a thing all white in this form, and a little o before it. It would ſhalt have juſtice againſt him. See therefore that thou ſmite; ſee, I ſay again, that thou ſmite him, for Juſtice is the hand of the Higheſt puniſhing ſuch as offend, either againſt him or his Innocent.

Juſtice againſt People.
Juſtice.

Theſe that now come unto thee, have brought thee a great Cluſter of grapes, even as big as they can both carry: amongſt the which, notwithſtanding there are many rotten. But behold, the fooliſhneſs from above ſhall appear wiſdom before them, when their wiſdom ſhall become fooliſhneſs before me, and before themſelves.

The Lord Ozorck Schonberg.
Δ He alludeth to the vines of the holy land for the children of Iſrael.

Round about thee thou ſhalt receive aſſiſtance, and many hearts ſhall be made glad in thee.

As for my Treaſures to be opened, To him that defileth my Seat, and the Sword of Juſtice.

To him that harboureth abomination in his own houſes, and liſtneth unto wicked counſel.

Unto him which hath deſpiſed me, which is accurſed of me, ſhall none of my Treaſures be opened.

I have judged him, and it ſhall appear ſhortly.

To the queſtion of Brandenburgh ſending to.

That which is Cæſars give unto Cæſar; and that which is mine, unto the Houſe of my Honour.

Be obedient (as the ſervant of God) unto thy Superiours: and whileſt thou maiſt, diligently do Juſtice. Thy Country ſhall receive ſuch remembrance of thee, as ſhall never be raſed from the face of the earth: until the fire come down from heaven conſuming all things.

R. ſpondet Articulo literarum ſuarum, an Cæſari ex pulvere aliqua ſit danda portio.

Be full of humility, and abandon pride.

Bow down thine ears unto the poor.

Be often ſorry for thy dayes miſ-ſpent.

Be ſtrong for ever in me.

Pauſa.

Δ.

Thy wife is even at the door of ſickneſs: But behold, I am even he, the Lord of health.

Jane my wife.

E.K.

As unto thee, Barrenneſs dwelleth with thee, becauſe thou didſt neglect me, and take a wife unto thy ſelf * contrary unto my commandment: for neither young nor old, rich nor poor, are reſpected with me; but what I will have done, is juſt, and whoſoever doth it not, is privily (if he be not openly) puniſhed for his offence. Therefore thou ſhalt have the womb which thou haſt barren, and fruitleſs unto thee, becauſe thou haſt tranſgreſſed that which I commanded thee.

Ed K. uxor ſterilis illi erat.
† At Mortlake, 1583.

Be it unto thy brother, as his ſervice, truſt, and confidence hath been in me, and towards me.

De Thoma Keleo ægroto

Lay your hands to work, and your bodies unto labour, and participate one with another, as is commanded you.

That the bleſſing which I have promiſed you may go forward in you; and that your labour may bring forth good fruit.

Our mutual participating one with another.

The fourteenth day hence ſhall this Action end: In which day you ſhall once again aſſemble your ſelves here together. And now behold I ſay unto thee, unto thee, that haſt thy eyes opened, and thy ears made perfect, which haſt been exalted by the ſight of the heavens, why doſt thou call upon me, deſiring to be made free.

18 Aprilis futura die Saturni.

Is it a burthen unto thee to be comforted from above? O fooliſh man! by how much the heavens excel the earth, by ſo much doth the gift that is given thee from above, excel all earthly treaſure. Notwithſtanding, becauſe that Manna is loathſom unto thee, behold what is ſaid unto thee this day.

Thou art made free: neither ſhalt thou any time hereafter be conſtrained to ſee the judgment of the higheſt, or to hear the voices of the heavens.

But thou art a ſtumbling-block unto many.

Notwithſtanding, my Spirit ſhall dwell with thee; and in the works of thy hands thou ſhalt receive comfort.

E.K. told me that he had all the Lent praid once a day at the leaſt, that he might no more have dealing to skry.

And the power which is given thee of ſeeing, ſhall be diminiſhed in thee, and ſhall dwell upon *the firſt-begotten Son of him that ſitteth by thee, as I have * before ſaid.*

In the mean ſeaſon ſhall he be exerciſed here before me, until the time come, that his eyes ſhall be opened, and his ears receive paſſage towards the higheſt.

Arthur Dee ∴ Prague ann. 1585.

And theſe fourteen dayes ſhall it be a time unto thee of chuſing or refuſing.

For I will not caſt thee away, neither out of my houſe, unleſs it be long of thy own ignorance, and wilful deſpiſing of my great benefit.

Unleaſt, &c.

If thou therefore be weary of it, the fourteenth day hence, bring hither, and lay before me the Powder which thou haſt, for thou haſt offended me, as a falſe ſteward, in taking out of that which is not thine own.

The Powder

I will no longer dally with you, but will give unto you according unto your works.

Δ. O God be merciful unto us, and deal not with us according to the wickedneſs, frowardneſs, and blindneſs of our hearts. Amen.

N O T E.

Δ. UPon this former part of the Third Action General, where my firſt begotten Son (namely Arthur) was aſſigned to the Miniſtry of ſeeing and hearing, in place and ſtead of E.K. if he would utterly refuſe the ſame office (hitherto by him executed, and by him to be executed, until the ſeven actions general finiſhed) And that the ſame Childe and Son, in the mean ſpace (that is to ſay, between the day of the part of Action received, and the end of the ſame: determined to be fourteen dayes after) ſhould be exerciſed before God. I thereupon thinking that E. K. would, ſhould, or beſt could inſtruct and direct the Childe in that exerciſe, did alwayes await, that E.K. would of himſelf call the Boy to that Exerciſe with him; and ſo much the rather, becauſe he ſaid, that he was very glad now that he ſhould have a Witneſs of the things ſhewed and declared by ſpiritual Creatures: And that he would be more willing to do what ſhould be ſo enjoyned to him to do, then if onely he himſelf did ſee, and that for divers cauſes. But when E. K. ſaid to me, that I ſhould exerciſe the Childe and not he, and that he would not, I thereupon appointed with my ſelf to bring the Childe to the place, and to offer him, and preſent him to the ſervice of Seeing and Skrying from God, and by Gods aſſignment, and of the time of fourteen dayes yet remaining, being the 15, 16, 17 dayes of April, and next before the 18 day, (the day aſſigned to end the Action in) to have the Childe exerciſed in them. And thereupon contrived for the Childe this order of Prayer enſuing.

Die Mercurii ſummo mane die Aprilis 15. anno 1587. Trebonæ.

Oratio pro Arthuro qua in exercitiis ſuis uti debet myſticis.

In the Name of God the Father, of God the Son, and of God the Holy Ghoſt. Amen.

Glory be to God the Father, God the Son, and God the Holy Ghoſt: As it was in the beginning, is now, and ever ſhall be, world without end. Amen.

O Almighty and Everlaſting, the true and living God, have mercy, pity and compaſſion on my father John Dee, and on me Arthur Dee; who being now called hither by thy aſſignment, am now here preſent and ready in all humility, obedience and faithfulneſs, to ſerve thy Divine Majeſty, with all the gifts and graces which thou haſt hitherto endued me with; and with all other which of thy moſt bountiful and fatherly mercy, thou wilt henceforward beſtow upon me. Lighten (therefore) O Almighty God, mine eyes, and open thou mine ears; Quicken, Inſtruct and Confirm in me, and unto me, my diſcretion, judgement, underſtanding, memory, and utterance, that I may be a true and perfect Seer, Hearer, Declarer and Witneſs of ſuch things which either immediately of thy Divine Majeſty, or mediately by the miniſtry of thy holy, mighty, and faithful Angels ſhall be manifeſted, declared or ſhewed unto me, now, and at all times and occaſions, for the advancing of thy Praiſe, Honour and Glory. Amen.

Hereupon, Wedneſday morning, (the 15 of this April) I brought the Childe to the holy Table, being in order of the furniture thereto belonging, and ſet before him the Stone in the frame, (my firſt ſanctified Stone) and cauſed him on his knees, to ſay the foreſaid Prayer. And I alſo praid to the Childs hearing, other Prayers to God for the purpoſe in hand: and at his coming to look and ſee in the Stone,

There appeared to him (as he judged) divers little ſquare figures, with pricks, and divers other figures and lines, which I cauſed him with his own hand to imitate upon a paper with pen and ink.

The lines were white, and ſome of the pricks alſo, but other of the pricks were black, as of ink.

Arth. Two old men with black beards, and with golden Crowns upon their heads, do appear. One is now gone: this holdeth his hands before him like a Maid.

would ſeem to be as an X and an o. It is vaniſhed away.

e B An Engliſh little e, and a Roman great B.

It is gone before I can be aware.

S B now appeareth. B by himſelf: it appeareth following S B thus S B. B.

N appeareth by the laſt B, in order following, thus S B B N.

I can ſee no more now but the S B the B and N.

ſ B appear. e B is here now. B by himſelf, with two great white pricks before it, appear. The pricks wax dim.

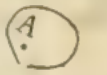
The man ſtandeth amongſt the ſquares and letters in the midſt of them. ∷ This now appeareth. The 4 little pricks be gone.

There appeareth like a B and a d joyning to it.

A circle appeared with a black prick in it, and two white pricks after. An n, two ſtrikes, and two white pricks after. The n is white and the prick within the n black. ua appeared, and quickly went away. Two long ſtrikes by themſelves, white. The two pricks black, and the crooked line white. Four white pricks by themſelves. Two black. Two long white ſtrikes and a prick. A round circle white, and a black prick in it. A white prick by it ſelf. A little prick as it were blotted, and a ſtroke by it all white. The crooked lines white, and the pricks black. Two white pricks by themſelves. Two long white ſtrokes. lo Theſe both white.

Here appeareth the thing like the Caſtle, all white.

The pricks black, the lines white. A little Engliſh o by it ſelf. Four white ſtrokes. The man is here in the midſt of the things, as before I told. Four white pricks.



Note: All the ſhews are within the uppermoſt quarter of the ſtone, as where A with the prick.

Like a figure of 2 all white. Two little black pricks, and the ſtroke white. They are now gone. D o appeareth all white. X o appeareth all white. B e appeareth white. Two o's joyned like a figure of 8 all white. A great Roman white S by it ſelf. B Bu Theſe appear white. A white prick by it ſelf. An Engliſh little t white. Two lines white.

Mora magna. So we ended.

Δ. God enrich us with his Truths.

The end of Thurſdays third Exerciſe.

Friday Morning.

I.

The Prayers on both parts being ſaid.

Arth. I ſee not the ſquares, lines, pricks, and thoſe other things which I was wont to ſee firſt.

Mora hora unius.

After

After I had tarried an hour, and had had no evident ſhew: as I asked the boy diligently again, he ſaid that he had from the beginning ſeen thus b b

Alſo there appeared X o all white. D o the o joyneth to the D.

Fiat voluntas Dei in ſua luce & veritate, ad ejus nominis laudem, bonorem;gloriam. Amen.

Friday. II.

Preces——

Mora horæ unius ſpatio.

Nulla oſtenſio toto illo tempore.

△. Benedictio, miſericordia & Pax, Dei, & Domini noſtri Jeſu Chriſti, ſit ſuper nos, & nobiſcum: nunc & in ſempiterna ſæculorum ſæcula. Amen.

Friday 3. à meridie.

Mora Magna.

Multæ factæ preces erant, & invitati illi fideles Dei ſervi quia etiam auxilia ſua pollicebantur neceſſitati quocumque tempore. Etſi mora magna & admiranda: & apparitio nulla facta eſt puero ipſi.

Thurſday a meridie circa 3. △. Tandem mirabili fortuna, ſive fato divino acceſſit ad nos Dominus E.K. & quæ ſequebantur notavi.

△. He ſate down by us: and Arthur yet ſtanding before me at the Table, being covered after the beſt manner, but onely the Stone being ſet thereon; He asked if any thing appeared: We anſwered No, albeit I have called oftentimes, and have prayed earneſtly that ſome of our former accounted friends might ſhew themſelves to the boy, as Madimi, Il, Is, and chiefly Vriel, becauſe as he was firſt which appeared to the joyning of E.K. and me together: ſo he might be alſo the Director in the tranſlating of E.K. his office to Arthur. Vriel. Then ſaid he, I marvel if you had no apparition here: for I ſomewhat thinking of Arthur and his proceeding in the feat of skrying, came here into the gallery, and I heard you pray: and opening the window, I looked out, and I ſaw a great number going in and out of this Chappel at the little hole in the glaſs window. I ſaw Madimi, Il, and many other that had dealed with us heretofore, but ſhewed themſelves in very filthy order; and Vriel appeared, and juſtified all to be of God, and good: And therefore I wonder if here you have no ſhew: perhaps there is ſomewhat, but Arthur ſeeth it not.

△. True it is: and how ſhould I help him herein, ſeeing I cannot yet ſee or skry?

E.K. I will come and ſee if there be any thing.

△. I pray you do. [Note: and ſo E.K. looked towards the ſtone, and he by and by ſaid, Here appeareth ſomewhat, and pointed to Arthur, where: and asked him if he ſaw any thing, and he ſaid No. Then ſaid

E.K. I ſee like a white Marble ſquare table or book lying on a wooden desk.

△. I pray you Sir take the pains to look and diſcern what is here ſhewed.

E.K. I ſee written upon that book,

Beata, quæ per peccatum mihi, domum corruentem & hominibus integram reddit.

E.K. Now a leaf of that book is turned open, and there is written on it, but I cannot reade it yet. Now I ſee it.

Ego ſum qui dedi & daturus ſum vobis legem: ex qua mortalibus perpetua requies & felicitas ſit ventura.

E.K. Now another leaf is turned over, and appeareth written,

Eſtote ergo tales, quales me meoſque decet, & rati coram me ambulate.

E.K. Now turneth over the leaf of it ſelf.

Ne populus eſuriens & ſitiens, negligentia & obſtinatia veſtra vel ruat vel ſaltem.

E.K. Now the leaf turneth.

Pro tempore, alimento careat.

E.K. Now the desk and book or table is gone.

△. Note: By and by after, while E.K. did look into the ſtone, he ſaid, E.K. I ſee a hand appear, a very great one, white, with the fingers ſpred abroad.

E. K. The hand is gone, but there remaineth writing.

Videbitis & audietis brevi omnes. Si interim.

E. K. It is as if it were upon the ſide of a white Globe afar off. The Globe turneth ſo ſwiftly that I cannot well read it. Sight and hearing promiſed.

Animi ad meliora compoti.

E. K. The Globe turneth ſo ſwiftly that I cannot read it till it ſtand ſtill.

Seſe mihi & meis.

E. K. Now again the Globe is turned moſt ſwiftly.

(Filiorum more) ſubjicient. Si vero (per meipſum loquor & jure) alieni & vagabundi alias vobiſmet ipſis diſimperitis non oculo, ſed corpcri, immo omnibus membris, caſus & ruina paratur. Quales enim in futuro eritis, vobis ut ſcivetis nullo modo licet : Majora enim à ſuperis mortalibus, præ foribus ſunt, quotidieque inſtant quam vel primo, vel ſecundo etatis modulo fuerunt. Qui aures, erigat : Cui intellectus, ſapiat. Omnia peccata apud me poſtponuntur huic. inſaniens propter me, ſapiat : Immo adulterizans propter me, in ſempiternum benedicetur, & premio afficietur celeſti.

E. K. Now the Globe is gone.

Δ. Gloria Patri & Filio & Spiritui ſancto, erat in principio & nunc, & ſemper & in ſecula ſeculorum. Amen.

So we left off.

Trebonæ.

Actionis Tertiæ altera pars.

1587. Saturday Aprilis 18.

Preces ad Deum Omnipotentem, pro ſua veritate nobis impartienda, ad nominis ſuo laudem, honorem & gloriam.

Δ. Note Arthur was ſet to the ſtone, but nothing appeared; E. K. had brought the powder with him as he was bidden to do. Then I deſired him to apply himſelf to ſee as he was wont. And ſo he did.

E. K. Here appear all in the ſtone that appeared yeſterday unto me in the air in that moſt diſorderly and filthy manner. They are in the like apparel as yeſterday.

Δ. O God confirm us in thy truth for thine own honour and glory, and ſuffer us not to be overcome with any temptation, but deliver us from all evil now and ever.

E. K. There appeared Madimi, Il. and the reſt : And ſo they are here; but now all the reſt are gone, and onely Madimi remaineth.

Madimi openeth all her apparel, and her ſelf all naked; and ſheweth her ſhame alſo.

E. K. Fie on thee, Devil avoid hence with this filthineſs, &c.

Mad. In the Name of God, why finde you fault with mee?

Δ. Becauſe your yeſterdayes doings, and words are provocations to ſin, and unmeet for any godly creature to uſe.

Mad. What is ſin?

Δ. To break the Commandement of God.

Mad. Set that down, ſo.

Mad. If the ſelf-ſame God give you a new Commandement taking away the former form of ſin which he limited by the Law; What remaineth then?

Δ. If by the ſelf-ſame God that gave the Law to Moſes, and gave his New Covenant by Chriſt, who ſealed it by his blood; and had his witneſſes very many, and his Apoſtles inſtructed by his holy Spirit, who admoniſhed us of all cleanneſs in words and works, yea and in thoughts, if by the ſame God, hoſe former Laws and Doctrines be abrogated, and that Sufficient proof and teſtimony to be had herein.

ſufficient proof and teſtimony may be had that it is the ſame God : Then muſt the ſame God be obeyed : For only God is the Lord of Lords, King of Kings, and Governour of all things.

E K She kneeleth , and holdeth up her hands.

Mad. The Laws , God, and of his Son Chriſt, ſtabliſhed by the teſtimony of his Diſciples and Congregation , and by the force and power of his holy Spirit , are not in any particular vocation abrogated, but rather confirmed.

Δ. A priviledge granted doth not abrogate a Law, but doth notifie the force of the law in it ſelf otherwiſe.

For oftentimes it falleth out , that God being offended at the wickedneſs of any man, or of ſome man private, ſendeth down his Spirit of Death, infecting and tempting another mans minde ; ſo that he becometh void of Reaſon, and riſeth up againſt him, whom God is offended with, and ſtriketh him, ſo that he dyeth. This, before man, is accounted ſin , before God it ſhall be imputed unto him for righteouſneſs. Even ſo whatſoever the Spirit of God teacheth us from him , though it appear ſin before man, is righteouſneſs before him.

Therefore aſſure your ſelves , that whatſoever is ſeen and heard amongſt you, is from above , and is a ſign and teſtimony even this day before you; for I that touched thy Son, might alſo have taken away his breath.*

* Arthur was ſmitten in a ſwound and E.K. ſaw one in a long white garment make as though he would ſmite him. He was very ſick for the time.

But O, you are of little underſtanding : But behold I teach you.

That unto thoſe that are acccounted righteous (through the good will of God) ſin is juſtly puniſhed, but not as unto the wicked. For whatſoever you have done unto other men, even the ſelf-ſame ſhall light upon you , but happy is he that receiveth not juſtice through the terror of malediction, but through the grace and mercy of God.

Juſtice.

The Apoſtle Paul abounded in carnal luſt : he was alſo offenſive unto his brethren ſo that he deſpaired, and was ready to have left his vocation, untill the Lord did ſay unto him , My mercy and grace ſufficeth thee.

S. Paul lecherous.

Beleeve me, that we are from above.

Good Angels.

Which conſidered : Conſider alſo , That as you cannot comprehend the heavens, ſo likewiſe can you not comprehend the wiſdome of God, which ſaith, I will be merciful unto whom I liſt; and unto whom I will not, I have none in ſtore : Fooliſh is he that asketh why ?

The wiſdom of God, of us incomprehenſible.

And behold I ſay unto you, Stumble not againſt God. Who he is that made you? Who is he that hath given you power to look up towards heaven ? You are fools , and of little underſtanding : This day ſaith God unto you,

Behold you are become free : Do that which moſt pleaſeth you : For behold, your own reaſon riſeth up againſt my wiſdome.

Not content you are to be heires, but you would be Lords, yea Gods, yea the Judgers of the heavens : Wherefore do even as you liſt, but if you forake the way taught you from above, behold evil ſhall enter into your ſenſes, and abomination ſhal dwel before your eyes, as a recompence, unto ſuch as you have done wrong unto : And your wives and children, ſhall be carried away before your face.

Δ. The Almighty God of heaven and earth be my comfort , as I deſire comfort in his ſervice; and give me wiſdome as I deſire it for his honour and glory, Amen.

E.K. I ſee a white pillar; and upon the pillar, I ſee four heads.

The Chryſtaline pillar

Shee tieth the pillar round about with a liſt.

The four heads are like on two heads, and on two Wolves heads.

Now there cometh a thing like a white Crown of Chriſtal, and ſtandeth upon all our four heads. The heads ſeem to be incloſed by the necks within the pillar.

Now ſhe taketh the pillar and goeth up with it.

Now ſhe bringeth an half Moon down , and written in it as followeth.

Injuſtum nihil quod juſtum eſt Deo.

Now ſhe goeth round about upon a thing like a Carpet ; ſhe goeth now beyond where is an Orchard; ſhe cutteth branches of two trees, and ſhee ſeemeth to inſert them, or graff them into another.

Now ſhe goeth into a black place behinde the wood, and bringeth a thing with her in a chain : An ugly thing like a Devil.

Mad. ...... Behold, ſeeſt thou this : wherewithall thou thoughteſt to overthrow, and moſt infect, thou art utterly overthrown, and ſhalt never return again.

E.K. Now he leapeth, and the ground openeth, and he ſinketh in : and and there ſeemeth a ſtink of brimſtone to come to my Noſe from the pit.

Now the grafts are all grown in the tree, as if they were all of one tree.

Now ſhe cometh out of that orchard. Now ſhe goeth round about the orchard, and leaveth a darkneſs like a cloud round about the orchard.

Mad. ...... Viſible to God, but inviſible to man.

E.K. Now ſhe cometh again upon her Carpet.

Behold, if you reſiſt not God, but ſhut out Satan (through unity amongſt you) thus it is ſaid unto you, Aſſemble your ſelves together every ſeventh day, that your eyes may be opened, and that you may underſtand by him that ſhall teach you, what the ſecrets of the holy books (delivered you) are: That you may become full of underſtanding, and in knowledge above common men.

Unity.
An offer of every 7th day to be taught the ſecrets of the books received.
The holy books delivered.

And in your works go forward, and detract no time, that you may alſo have fruit.

Our works to go on.

Unto William I will be merciful for ever, according to my promiſe. But I will buy him no Kingdom, after the manner of man, with money. But what I have determined unto him, ſhall happen unto him: And he ſhall become mighty in me.

The Lord Roſenberg.

¶ And this Powder which thou haſt brought here, is appointed for a time by God, and cannot be uſed until then, without offence. Happy is he that heareth my words this day: and happy is he that underſtandeth them.

The powder here.

But if you deny the Wiſdome of the Higheſt, and account us his Meſſengers, Creatures of darkneſs. This day you are made free.

If

And look that you lay up all things that is ſpoken of from above; and whatſoever hath been taught you, (as well the books as inſtruments.)

Omnia reponenda.

You ſhall ſhortly have to do again with the cruelty of the Emperour, and the accurſed Biſhop.

Caeſar & Papa brevi nos infeſtabunt denuo.

Whereunto, if you go forward with God, you ſhall be taught to anſwer. If you leave off, as ſoon as you hear of it be going into Germany, leſt you periſh before then.

If

I have no more to ſay unto you, but my ſwiftneſs is from above.

E.K. Now ſhe maketh her ſelf ready, &c.

Mad. ...... If my friendſhip like you not, I beſeech God ſend you as good will, as I (in power) bear towards you.

I have not one word more given me to ſpeak.

E.K. Now ſhe is gone.

△. I was glad that an offer was made of being every ſeventh day to be taught the ſecrets of the books already delivered unto us: Thinking that it was eaſie for us to perform that unity which was required to be amongſt us four; underſtanding all after the Chriſtian and godly ſenſe. But E.K. who had yeſterday ſeen and heard another meaning of this unity required, utterly abhorred to have any dealing with them farther, and did intend to accept at their hands the liberty of leaving off to deal with them any more: which his underſtanding, as it was ſtrange and unpleaſant unto me, ſo I earneſtly requeſted to be reſolved therein in manner as followeth.

At the ſame time and in the ſame place this enſued.

NOTE.

△. Upon Mr. Kelly his great doubt bred unto me of Madimi her words yeſterday, ſpoken to him, that we two had our two wives in ſuch ſort, as we might uſe them in common, it was agreed by us, to move the queſtion, whether the ſenſe were of Carnal uſe (contrary to the law of the Commandment) or of Spiritual love, and charitable care and unity of mindes, for advancing the ſervice of God.

E.K. Upon a Scroll, like the edge of a Carpet, is written,

De utroq; loquor.

△. The one is expreſly againſt the Commandement of God: neither can I by any means conſent to like of that Doctrine. And for my help in that verity, I do call down the power of Almighty God, the Creator of heaven and earth, and all the good Angels, (his faithful Miniſters) to aſſiſt me in the defence of my faithful obedience to the law of the Goſpel, and of his Church.

Aſſiſt me, O Chriſt. Aſſiſt me, O Jeſu. Aſſiſt me, O holy Spirit.

E.K.

E. K. It appeareth written upon a white Crucifix, as followeth,

Mea gratia, major eſt mandato. Gratia enim hec mea eſt, ut hominibus inſanis concederetur beatitudo : Et que ita dicta ſunt, Vel ſint, vel hodie libertas vobis reſtituitur. Amen dico vobis, quia ſi dicerem homini; Eas, & fatrem Jugula, & non faceret, filius eſt peccati & mortis. Omnia, enim, poſſibilia & licita ſunt ſuperis. Neque magis odioſa ſunt pudenda illis, quam mortalium quorumcumque vultus.

Ita enim fiet, ſpurius cum filio (quod magis abſurdum eſt) copulabitur. Et oriens cum occidente, Meridies quoque cum ſeptentrione coadunabuntur.

E. K. Now it is vaniſhed.

△. Hereupon we were in great amazement and grief of minde, that ſo hard, and (as it, yet ſeemed unto me) ſo unpure a Doctrine, was popounded and enjoyned unto us of them, whom I alwayes (from the beginning hitherto) did judge and eſteem, undoubtedly, to be good Angels : And had unto E K. offered my ſoul as a pawn, to diſcharge E.K. his crediting of them, as the good and faithful Miniſters of Almighty God. But now, my heart was ſore afflicted upon many cauſes : And E.K. had (as he thought) now, a juſt and ſufficient cauſe, to forſake dealing with them any more. As his prayer to God of a long time hath been (as in the former part of this Action may appear.)

?

After our going out of the Chappel, and at our being at dinner, when we four (whoſe heads ſo were united, in a pillar ſhewed, as is before ſet down, I found means to make ſome little declaration of our great grief (mine chiefly) now occaſioned, either to try us, or really to be executed*, in the common and indifferent uſing of Matrimonial Acts amongſt any couple of us four : Which thing was ſtrange to the women : And they hoped of ſome more comfortable iſſue of the cauſe. And ſo we left off.

After Dinner, as E. K. was alone, there appeared unto him little creatures of a cubit high : and they came to the Still where he had the ſpirit of Wine diſtilling over out of a Retorto : And one of them (whoſe name they expreſſed Ben) ſaid that it was in vain ſo to hope for the beſt ſpirit of the Wine : And ſhewed him how to diſtill it, and ſeparate it better. And moreover how to get oyl of the ſpirit of Wine, as it burned in the lamps: And began to ask E. K. what Country-man he was? And when he had anſwered an Engliſh-man, he asked then, how he came hither ? he anſwered by Sea : Then ſaid he, And who helped you to paſs the marvellous great dangers of the Sea. And ſo took occaſion to ſpeak of the benefits which God had hitherto done for us, very many. And this Ben, ſaid than among very many other things (as Mr. E.K. told me on Saturday night after Supper holding on his talk almoſt till two of the clock after midnight) That he it was that delivered him, or gave unto his hands the powder. And alſo he ſaid either than or the next day at the furtheſt, that unleaſt he would be conformable to the will of God in this laſt Action declared, That he would take the vertue and force of the powder from it : That it ſhould be unprofitable : And that he ſhould become a beggar.

Ben was the deliverer of the powder to E.K. at the digging in England,

Note, unleaſt conditionally.

And of me alſo he ſaid that I did evil to require proof, or teſtimony now, that this laſt Doctrine was from God Almighty, and ſaid that I ſhould be led priſoner to Rome, &c.

Q. El.
K. Phi.

He told of England, and ſaid, That about July or November her Majeſty ſhould from heaven be deſtroyed ; and that about the ſame time the King of Spain ſhould dye. And that this preſent Pope at his Maſs ſhould be deprived of life before two years to an end. And that another ſhould be Pope, who ſhould be Decimus quintus of his name ; And that he would begin to reform things, but that ſhortly he ſhould of the Cardinals be ſtoned to death. And that after that there ſhould be no Pope for ſome years.

England.

Of England he ſaid, That after the death of our dear Queen, One of the houſe of Auſtria made mighty by the King of Spain his death, ſhould invade and conquer the land, &c. He ſaid, One (now abroad) ſhould at Milford-haven enter, and by the help of the Britans ſubdue the ſaid Conqueror : And that one Morgan a Britan ſhould be made King of the Britans, and next him, one Rowland, &c.

Fr. Garland
Edw. Garland.

He ſaid alſo, That this Francis Garland was an eſpy upon us from the Lord Treaſurer of England : And that Edward Garland is not his brother : And that ſo the matter is agreed between them, &c.

That my Lord Roſenberg ſhould be in danger of poyſoning for theſe certain months to come.

Enochs Tables.

That my Tables of Enoch, were in ſome places falſly written.

Antichriſt.

Of Antichriſt he ſpake, and of his appearing.

Ely, Enoch.
Johannes Evangeliſta

Of Ely and Enoch coming out of Paradiſe : And of Saint John Evangeliſt, that he dyed not, but in Pathmos had his inviſible being : And that he it was, who did give Julianus Apoſtata his deaths wound.

He ſaid alſo that he hath at divers times preached viſibly ſince the time of his inviſible ſtate entred.

He

He confirmed the words of the great Famine and Blood-ſhed that ſhould come ſhortly.

He ſaid that on every ſide of us, people ſhould be ſlain, but that we ſhould (by the Divine protection) eſcape.

God our Protector.

He ſaid that ſhortly this Francis Garland ſhould go into England : And that we ſhould be ſent for. But that it were beſt to refuſe their calling us home.

F. Garland into Engl. Refuſe calling home.

He ſaid that there were four other, who were made alſo privy of God his myſteries as we were, with whom we ſhould meet at Rome.

4 alii participes horum myſteriorum.

He ſaid that Mary and one more in England, ſhould ſee the wonderful days to come.

Mary my old Maid.

Madimi appeared to him there alſo.

The ſame Ben went once away mounting up in a flame of fire : and afterward upon occaſion of asking him ſomewhat, he came down ſo again.

Ben.

And of the manner how to draw the oyl of the Spirit of wine being burnt, he brought thither the inſtruments of two ſilver diſhes, whelmed one upon another with an hole paſſing through the middle of them both, and with ſponge between them : in which the oyl would remain, &c.

After all theſe, and many other things told me by the ſame Mr. E.K. we departed each to his bed, where I found my wife awake, attending to hear ſome new matter of me from Mr. Kelly his reports of the apparitions, continued with him above four hours, being elſe alone, I then told her, and ſaid, Jane, I ſee that there is no other remedy, but as hath been ſaid of our croſs-matching, ſo it muſt needs be done.

About 2 of the clock after midnight. Jane Dee.

Thereupon ſhe fell a weeping and trembling for a quarter of an hour : And I pacified her as well as I could ; and ſo, in the fear of God, and in believing of his Admoniſhment, did perſwade her that ſhe ſhewed her ſelf prettily reſolved to be content for God his ſake and his ſecret Purpoſes, to obey the Admoniſhment.

△. Note, Becauſe I have found ſo much halting and untruth in E. K. his reports to me made, of the ſpiritual Creatures, where I have not been preſent at an Action : and becauſe his memory may fail him, and becauſe he was ſubject to ill tempters, I believe ſo much hereof as ſhall by better trial be found true, or conformable to truth.

April 20.

△. Note ...... E.K. had this day divers apparitions unto him in his own Chamber, and inſtructions in divers matters which he regarded not, but remained ſtill in his purpoſe of utterly diſcrediting thoſe Creatures, and not to have any more to do with them. But among divers apparitions he noted this of one that ſaid unto him.

...... Joyn Enoch his Tables.

...... Give every place his running number.

E.K. What mean you by places ?

...... The ſquares. Which done, refer every letter in the Table to his number, and ſo read what I will, for this is the laſt time I will admoniſh you.

E.K. A man ſtandeth in the Air, in a fiery Globe of my heighth, accompanied with ſome hundred of Puppets : on the one ſide of him ſtandeth a woman, and about her are four Clouds all white.

The

The man upon a white Triangle △ ſhewed theſe Numbers with ſpaces, as you ſee following.

△. I perceive that commonly one is to be abated of the number.

△ 49
228 218
409 410
505

603
149
173
197

174---- 175
177
272---- 273
416

225---- 226
441
250---- 251
586
83
131---- 132.

251---- 253
277
39
303---- 304

401
496
592
90
355
618
20
501 597

466
597
502
550
119 264
312
24
338
411

603
604
150
414

395 467
519

53
59
68

418
444
355
497
20
116
287

604
610
480
182
98
401

495
63

306
473
517
363
247 271
367
89 65

11
46
267
228 331
97

269
244
400
23

75
178
586
545
18 43

25
17

165
93
52
511
175
170

46
607

228 179
141
22
403
370

97
243
80 552

295
46

163
418
311

222
150
253
395
538
156
46
55
7

123
433
151
197

285 335 621
544
352 295

395
254
566
423

214
261
59
494

517
116
103

405
170

25
606
466
490
620

53
32
196
224
512
20
338
290

244
·72
340
195
314
495 284

152
418
82

320
491
390
414
366

239

182
460

163
175
171
73

418
214

4
98
96
188
331
136 335

408
452 424
97

Δ. Note: When E.K. had ſhewed me this Note, I by and by brought forth my book of Enoch his Tables, and found the four letters r T b d to be the four firſt letters of the four principal ſquares ſtanding about the black Croſs: and that here they were to be placed otherwiſe than as I had ſet them. And in the firſt placing of them together, I remember that I had doubt how to joyn them; for they were given apart each by themſelves.

Secondly, I found out the 4 Characters; ſaving they were inverſed ſomewhat, and one of them cloſed: wherof I found none like, but very near. Theſe Characters were of every ſquare one.

Thirdly, I did take theſe numbers contained between the lines (ſome more and ſome fewer) to be words to be gathered out of the Table of letters: ſo many words as were diſtinct companies of numbers; it is to wit, 41.

Hereupon we began to number the ſquares wherein the letters ſtood in Enochs Tables as I had them, but we could not exactly finde the words, but ſomewhat near. Hereupon being tired, and deſirous to know the ſenſe of that Cypher, we left off till after ſupper, and then we aſſayed again: but we could not bolt it out, though we knew very near what was to be done by the inſtruction of a ſpiritual Voice, now and then helping us toward the practiſe.

At length E.K. was willed to go down into his Chamber, and I did remain ſtill at our Dineing Table till his return, which was within an hour or ſomewhat more. And at his return this he brought in writing.

		r		Δ.
r z ɪ l a f	a y t l p a	t a o a d v	p t d n ɪ m	24
a r d z a ɪ	d p a l a m	a a b c o o	r o m e b b	48
c o o n s a	r e y a v b	t o g c o n	x m a l g m	72
t o ɪ t t z	o p a c o c	n h o d d ɪ	a l c a o o	96
s ɪ g a s o	m r b z n b	p a t a x ɪ	o v s . p s n	120
f m o n d a	t d ɪ a r ɪ	s a a ɪ x a	a r v r o ɪ	144
o r o ɪ b a	h a o z p ɪ	m p h a r s	l g a ɪ o l	168
t n a b r v	ɪ x g a s d	m a m g l o	ɪ n l ɪ r x	192
o ɪ ɪ ɪ t T	p a l o a ɪ	o l a a d n	g a t a p a	216
a b a m o o	o a c v c a	p a l c o ɪ	d x p a c n	240
n a o c o t	T n p r n t	n d a z n z	ɪ v a a s a	264
o c a n m a	g o t r r ɪ	ɪ ɪ d p o n	s d a s p ɪ	288
s h ɪ a l r	a p m z o x	x r ɪ n h t	a r n d ɪ
b o a z a r	o p h a r a	d o n p a t	d a n o a a	336
v n n a x o	p s o n d n	o l o a g e	o o b a v a	360
a ɪ g r u n	o o m a g g	o p a m n o	v g m d n m	384
o r p m n ɪ	n g b e a l	a p l s t e	d e c a o p	408
r s o n ɪ z	ɪ r l e m v	s c m ɪ o o	n a m l o x	432
ɪ z ɪ n r c	z ɪ a m h l	v a v s g d	l v r ɪ a p	456
m o r d ɪ a	l h c t g a	o ɪ p t e a	a p d o c e	480
o c a n c h	ɪ a s o m t	x s v a c N	r z ɪ r z a	504
a r b ɪ Z m	ɪ ɪ l p ɪ z	s ɪ o d a o	ɪ n r z f m	528
o p a n a l	a m s m a p	d a l t t d	n a d ɪ r e	552
d o l o p ɪ	n ɪ a n b a	d ɪ x o m o	n s ɪ o s p	576
r x p a o c	S ɪ z ɪ x p	o o d x z ɪ	a p a n l ɪ	600
a x t ɪ r v	a s t r ɪ m	r g o a n n	q a c r a r	624

My applying of Numbers for more eaſie reckoning.

...... The

...... The black Croſs is right, and needeth no mending. But thus much I do, to let thee underſtand, that thou mayeſt conſider thy ſelf to be a man: And beneath this underſtanding, unleſs thou ſubmit all into the hands of God, for his ſake; who elſe leaving you, all naked, provideth in his creatures to his own glory.

...... Cara tibi uxor, carior tibi ſapientia, chariſſimis tibi ego ſum. Electus tremis, & heſitando peccas: Noli igitur ad genium, & carmen ſapere; ſed obtempera mihi: ductor enim tuus ſum & autor ſpiritus omnium. Hec omnia à me ſunt, & licita vobis.

...... I admoniſh you as the children of God, to conſider your vocation, and the love of God towards you; and not to prefer your reaſon before the wiſdome of the higheſt, whoſe mercy is ſo great towards you, That you are choſen from the number of men to walk with him, and to underſtand his myſteries, and with all to execute his juſtice and praiſe throughout the Nations and people of the earth. Conſider that if he finde you obſtinate, the plagues of haynous ſinners, and contemners of the gifts of God ſhall fall upon you, to your great overthrow: This is the laſt time of your trial. Therefore ſhew your ſelves lovers of him that hath led you, and covered you with a mighty ſhield: Or ſhortly look for the reward of ſuch, as have contemned the Wiſdome and Majeſty of the Higheſt.

I Raphael, counſel you to make a Covenant with the Higheſt, and to eſteem his wings more then your own lives.

△. When E.K. had brought me theſe things, I greatly rejoyced in ſpirit, and was utterly reſolved to obey this new Doctrine to us, peculiarly, of all people of the world enjoyned. And after ſome little diſcourſe and conference hereof, we went to bed, this 20. day of April, at night.

Aprilis 20.

Aprilis 21.

△. Thus, am I reſolved, O Almighty God, as concerning the caſe, ſo hard to fleſh and blood, to be reſolved in, thus: And thus I deſire, that we all four, might with one minde and conſent, offer and preſent unto thee, this writing as a Vow, Promiſe, and Covenant, if it ſo pleaſe thy divine majeſty to accept it.

WEE four (whoſe heads appeared under one Chryſtalline Crown, in one pillar united, and incloſed) do moſt humbly and heartily thank thee, O Almighty God (our Creator, Redeemer and Sanctifier) for all thy mercies and benefits hitherto received, in our perſons, and in them that appertain unto us: And at this preſent, do faithfully and ſincerely confeſs, and acknowledge, that thy profound wiſdome in this moſt new and ſtrange doctrine (among Chriſtians) propounded, commended, and enjoyned unto us four only, is above our humane reaſon, and Chriſtian profeſſion to like of: For that in outward ſhew of words, it ſeemeth to us expreſly to be contrary to the purity and chaſtity, which of us, and all Chriſtians, thy followers, is exactly required. Notwithſtanding, we will, herein, captivate, and tread under-foot all our humane timorous doubting of any inconvenience, which ſhall, or may fall upon us, or follow us in this world, or in the world to come, in reſpect or by reaſon of our imbracing of this Doctrine, liſtened unto, of us, as delivered from our true and living God, the Creator of heaven and earth; who only hath the true original power and Authority of ſins releaſing and diſcharging: And whoſe pardoning, and not imputing of ſin unto us, through our lively faith in the moſt worthy merit, and precious blood of the Lamb Immaculate, ſhed for us, is and ſhall be our juſtification and ſalvation. We, therefore (according to bleſſed Raphael his counſel laſt given) moſt humbly and ſincerely require thy Divine Majeſty, to accept this our Covenant with thee (for that, thy merciful promiſes made unto us, may be to us performed; and thy divine purpoſes in us and by us, may be furthered, and advanced and fulfilled.) That, as we acknowledge thy divine wiſdome and grace offered unto us in this thy laſt myſtical Admoniſhment: And doſt moſt earneſtly will us to accept the ſame, as lawful and juſt with thee; Which Admoniſhment ſtandeth upon two parts: That is to wit, upon our true Chriſtian charity ſpiritual between us four, and alſo upon the Matrimonial licence and liberty, indifferently among us four to be uſed: So we the ſame four (which hereunto will ſubſcribe) covenant with thy Divine Majeſty, upon the two principal reſpects before rehearſed, truly and unfainedly to accept and perform henceforward amongſt us four, in word, thought and deed, Chriſtian charity, and perfect friendſhip, and all that belongeth thereto: And as for the Matrimonial-like licence, and liberty, we accept and allow of it, and promiſe unto thee (O our God) to fulfill the ſame, in ſuch ſort, as the godly are permitted to fulfill, and have been by divers teſtimonies commended for, and by Divine doctrine willed to fulfill, in Matrimonial converſation, whenſoever thy motions and allurements (Matrimonial-like) ſhall draw and perſwade any couple of us. Beſeeching thee, as thou art the onely true Almighty and Everlaſting God, Creator of Heaven and Earth, Thou wilt, in thy infinite mercies, not impute it unto us for ſin, blindneſs, raſhneſs, or preſumption, being not accepted, done, or performed upon carnal luſt, or wanton concupiſcence; But by the way of Abraham-like faith and obedience, unto thee, our God, our Leader, Teacher, Protector and Juſtifier, now and for ever. And hereunto we call the holy Heavens to be witneſſes, for thy honour and glory (O Almighty God) and our diſcharge, now and for ever. Amen.

I Edward Kelly by good and provident (according to the Laws and ordinances of God) determination and conſideration in theſe former Actions, that is to ſay, appearings, ſhews made, and voyces uttered, by the within named in this Book, and the reſt whatſoever Spirits have from the beginning thereof (which at large by the Records appeareth) not only doubted and diſliked their inſinuations and doctrine uttered, but alſo divers and ſundry times (as coveting to eſchew and avoid the danger and inconvenience that might either by them, their ſelves, or the drift of their doctrine enſue, or to my indamagement divers wayes, happen) ſought to depart from the exerciſes thereof: and withal boldly (as the ſervant of the Son of God) inveighed againſt them: urging them to depart, or render better reaſon of their unknown and uncredible words and ſpeeches delivered; and withall often and ſundry times friendly exhorted the Right Worſhipful Maſter JOHN DEE (the chief follower thereof) as alſo in the Records appeareth, to regard his ſouls health, the good proceeding of his wordly credit (which through Europe is great) the better maintenance to come of his wife and children, to beware of them, and withall to give them over: wherein although I friendly and brotherly laboured, my labour ſeemed to be loſt and counſel of him deſpiſed, and withall was urged with replies to the contrary by him made, and promiſes, in that caſe, of the loſs of his ſouls health, if they were not of God: Whereunto upon as it were ſome farther taſte of them, or opinion grounded upon the frailty of zeal, he ceaſed not alſo to pawn unto me his ſoul, &c. which his perſwaſions were the chief and onely cauſe of my this ſo long proceeding with them: And now alſo at this inſtant, and before a few dayes having manifeſt occaſion to think they were the ſervants of Sathan, and the children of darkneſs; becauſe they manifeſtly urged and commanded in the name of God a Doctrine Damnable, and contrary to the Laws of God, his Commandements, and Goſpel by our Saviour Chriſt as a Touchſtone to us left and delivered, did openly unto them diſlike their proceeding, and brotherly admoniſhed the ſaid Worſhipful, and my good friend Mr. JOHN DEE to beware of them: And now having juſt occaſion to determine what they were, to conſider all

theſe

theſe things before mentioned by me,and wiſely to leave them; and the rather becauſe of themſelves,they (as that by their own words appeareth) upon our not following that Doctrine delivered, gave unto us a Quietus eſt , or paſport of freedome : But the Books being brought forth *, after ſome diſcourſe therein , after a day or two had, and their words peruſed ſpoken heretofore, did as it were (becauſe of the poſſible verity thereof, Deo enim omnia ſunt poſſibilia) gave us cauſe of further deliberation : ſo that thereby, I did partly of my ſelf, and partly by the true meaning of the ſaid Mr. DEE in the receiving of them, as from God ; and after a ſort by the zeal I ſaw him bear unto the true worſhip and glory of God to be (as that was by them , promiſed) by us promoted, deſcend from my ſelf, and condeſcend unto his opinion and determination, giving over all reaſon, or whatſoever for the love of God : But the women diſliked utterly this laſt Doctrine , and conſulting amongſt themſelves gave us this anſwer , the former actions did nothing offend them but much comforted them : and therefore this laſt,not agreeing with the reſt (which they think to be according to the good will and wholeſome Law of God) maketh them to fear, becauſe it expreſly is contrary to the Commandement of God : And thereupon deſiring God not to be offended with their ignorance,required another action for better information herein; in the mean, vowing, faſting, and praying , Mrs. DEE hath covenanted with God to abſtain from the eating of fiſh and fleſh untill his Divine Majeſty ſatisfie their mindes according to his Laws eſtabliſhed , and throughout all Chriſtendome received. To this their requeſt of having an action, I abſolutely anſwer , that my ſimplicity before the Higheſt is ſuch as I truſt will excuſe me : And becauſe the ſumme of this Doctrine, given in his name , doth require obedience which I have (as is before written) offered , I think my ſelf diſcharged : And therefore have no farther cauſe to hazzard my ſelf any more in any action. Wherefore I anſwer that if it be lawful for them to call this Doctrine in queſtion , it is more lawful for me to doubt of greater perril ; conſidering that to come where we are abſolutely anſwered were folly , and might redound unto my great inconvenience. Therefore beſeeching God to have mercy upon me , and to ſatisfie their Petitions, doubts and vows , I finally anſwer , that I will from this day forward meddle no more herein. 22. of April, 1587.

* April 22. at night.

The women.

An action required by the women.

By me

EDWARD KELLY.

Aprilis

Aprilis 24. Trebonæ.

Aprilis 24. Friday.

△. PRayers to God made in reſpect of this ſtrange and new doctrine, requiring his Divine Majeſty to be merciful unto us, and to give us wiſdom and faith that we may herein pleaſe him; and that we cannot finde how we may do the thing required, being contrary to the Laws of Moſes, Chriſt, his Church, and of all Nations. Therefore ſeeing God is not contrary to himſelf, we deſired that we might not be contrary to him or his Laws, &c.

△. Not long, lo, there appeared a great flame of fire in the principal Stone, (both ſtanding on the Table before E.K.) which thing though he told me, I made no end of my Prayer to God. And behold, ſuddenly one ſeemed to come in at the ſouth window of the Chappel, right againſt E.K. (But before that, the ſtone was heaved up an handful high, and ſet down again well, which thing E.K. thought did ſignifie ſome ſtrange matter toward.) Then after, the man that came in at the window ſeemed to have his nether parts in a cloud, and with ſpred-abroad arms to come toward E.K. At which ſight he ſhrinked back ſomewhat, and then that Creature took up between both his hands the ſtone and frame of gold, and mounted up away as he came.. E.K. catched at it, but he could not touch it. At which thing being ſo taken away, and at the ſight thereof E.K. was in a great fear and trembling, and had tremorem cordis for a while. But I was very glad and well pleaſed.

¶ Here appeareth a fire in this other ſtone alſo, and a man in the fire, with flaxen hair hanging down upon him, and is naked unto his Paps; and ſeemeth to have ſpots of blood upon him. He ſpake, and ſaid as followeth.

If I had intended to have overthrown you, or brought you to confuſion, or ſuffered you to be led into temptation beyond your ſtrength and power, then had the Seas long ago ſwallowed you. Yea, there had not a ſoul lived amongſt you.

Chriſtus.

But the law and tidings (to mankinde) of gladneſs, are both grounded in me, I am the Beginning and the Ending: And behold, happy is he that delighteth in me, for in me is truth and underſtanding. Whatſoever you have received, you have received of me; and without me you have received nothing. Behold, I my ſelf was even the figure of miſery and death for your ſins. Why (therefore) diſdain you to be figured after me? I will gather the four quarters of the earth together, and they ſhall become one.

The Law & the Goſpel.

And as I have made you the figure of two people to come, and amongſt them, the executors of my Juſtice: So likewiſe have I ſanctified you in an holy Ordinance, giving you the firſt fruits of the time to come. Happy is he that is a Serpent in the wilderneſs hanged up upon the Croſs, being the will and figure of my determination, and Kingdom to come: I am even in the doors; and I will overthrow all fleſh. I will no more delight in the ſons of men.

△. and E.K. a figure of two people to come.

* Contrary to my ſelf, I teach you nothing.

For this Doctrine is not to be publiſhed to mortal men: but is given unto you, to manifeſt your faith, and to make you worthy in the ſight of the heavens, for believing in me of your vocation to come.

△. * He anſwereth to a phraſe of my prayer or diſcourſe.

Therefore I ſay unto you, Rejoyce, and be not careful for to morrow: for I, even I, have provided for you: Sin no more.

Behold! None of the Orders, either of Heaven or Earth, are armed to open their mouthes in my Name, teaching or opening this Doctrine, unleſs it were of me, for I am the Firſt and the Laſt. And I will be Shepherd over all, that the Kingdom of my Father may come, and that my Spirit may be upon all fleſh, where there ſhall be no law, nor need of light: I my ſelf am their lanthorn for ever.

This doctrin is not to be publiſhed to any man. Note.

Unus paſtor & unum ovile.

And behold, I will be as a Rock between you and the teeth of Leviathan, which ſeeketh to ſet you aſunder, and to bring you to confuſion.

Conatus Diaboli.

And I am, and am holy, and holineſs it ſelf: Out of me cometh no unclean thing.

For even as the time of Moſes was wonderful to all the Gentiles, even ſo ſhall thoſe days to come be unto the Nations and Kings of the earth. I am a law for ever. And behold, power is given unto me from above: And I have viſited the earth, and have thrown my curſe upon her: And lo, ſhe ſhall become barren.

Moſes.

Sterilitas Terræ.

He that faſteth and prayeth doth but that which is commanded: He that alſo fulfilleth my will, is juſtified before me: for who is he that raiſeth up, or who is he that caſteth down? Yea, even I it is that have taken you four Trees out of the forreſt of the world, and have covered you hitherto with my wings. And behold, this that is taken away ſhall be reſtored again to you with more power. And Might ſhall be in it, and a breſtplate unto you, of Judgement and Knowledge.

The ſhew of 4 trees, what it meaneth.

Pectorale cum Urim & Thummim.

And if there be any of you that ſeeketh a Miracle at my hands, and believeth in my words, let him or her preſent themſelves here the next Monday, with the reſt, and he ſhall perceive that I was the Judge of Abiram, and the God of Abraham: Walk before me as the ſons of my

Num.

Father, in all righteouſneſs. And follow you that which you call unrighteouſneſs even with gladneſs: for I can make you whiter then ſnow.

Our unity of what importance it is: eſt finis exordii meſſis futuræ.

Your unity and knitting together is the end and conſummation of the beginning of my harveſt. I will not dally with you, but I will be mighty in deed amongſt you. And lo, I will ſhortly open your eyes, and you ſhall ſee: And I will ſay, ARISE, and you ſhall go out. What I am, I am.

The ancient token and watchword foreſhewed us: Ariſe, come and ſee my judgements.

E.K. The flame and all is diſappeared.

△. Gloria Patri, & Filio, & Spiritui Sancto, ſicut erat in principio, & nunc, & in ſempiterna ſæculorum ſæcula. Amen.

E.K.

...... ſaid after, that his body had in it like a fiery heat, even from his breſt down unto all his parts, his privities and thighs.

Deo Omnipotenti, Miſericordi & Regi ſeculorum ſit omnis laus, honor & gloria nunc & ſemper. Amen.

J.D. E.K. J.D. J.K.

Aprilis 18. ann. 1587.

WEE four (whoſe heads appeared under one Chryſtalline Crown, and in one pillar united and encloſed) do moſt humbly and heartily thank thee (O Almighty God, our Creator, Redeemer and Sanctifier) for all thy mercies and benefits hitherto received in our own perſons, and in them that appertain unto us: And at this preſent do faithfully and ſincerely confeſs and acknowledge, that thy profound wiſdom in this moſt new and ſtrange Doctrine (among Chriſtians) propounded, commended and enjoyned unto us four onely, is above our humane Reaſon, and our Catholick Chriſtian Profeſſion to like of: for that, in outward ſhew of words, it ſeemeth to us expreſly to be contrary to the purity and chaſtity which of us and all Chriſtians (thy followers) is exactly required. Notwithſtanding, we will for thy ſake herein captivate and tread under foot all our humane timerous doubting of any inconvenience which ſhall or may fall upon us, or follow us (in this world, or in the world to come) in reſpect, or by reaſon of our embracing of this Doctrine, liſtned unto of us, as delivered from thee, our true and living God, the Creator of heaven and earth, who onely haſt the true original power and authority of ſins releaſing and diſcharging; and whoſe pardoning, or not imputing of ſin unto us, through our lively faith in the moſt worthy Merit and precious Blood of thy Lamb immaculate, ſhed for us, is and ſhall be our Juſtification and Salvation. We therefore,

Aprilis 20. nocte profunda.

(according to bleſſed Raphael his counſel lately given) moſt humbly and ſincerely require thy divine Majeſty to accept this our Covenant with thee (to the intent that all thy merciful and gracious promiſes made unto us four, and any of us, may be to us performed: and alſo that thy divine purpoſes in us, and by us, may be furthered, advanced and fulfilled) That as we acknowledge thy divine wiſdom and grace opened unto us in this thy laſt myſtical Admoniſhment of univerſal unity to be between us: And doſt moſt inſtantly and earneſtly will us to accept and uſe the ſame, as both myſtically moſt needful, and alſo lawful and juſt with thee: (which Admoniſhment ſtandeth upon two parts; that is to wit, upon true and conſummate Chriſtian Charity between us four unviolably to be kept. And alſo upon the New Matrimonial-like licence and liberty indifferently amongſt us four to be uſed:) So we the ſame four above-named (which hereunto will alſo ſubſcribe our Names) do this day Covenant with thy Divine Majeſty (beſides all other reſpects, chiefly upon the two principal intents and reſpects * before here reherſed) truly and unfeignedly to accept and perform henceforward amongſt us four (in word, thought and deed, to the uttermoſt and beſt of our power) a perfect unity, and with incomparable true love and good Chriſtian Charity, friendſhip, imparting and communicating each unto other, all and whatſoever we have or ſhall have hereafter during our lives. And as for the Matrimonial-like licence, we accept and allow of it: And promiſe unto thee (O our God, the Almighty, Creator of heaven and earth) to fulfil the ſame in ſuch ſort as the godly are permitted to fulfil, and have been (by divers teſtimonies) commended for, and by divine Doctrine willed to fulfil in Matrimonial-like converſation, whenſoever thy motions and allurements Matrimonial-like ſhall draw and perſwade any couple of us thereunto: Beſeeching thee, as thou art the onely, true Almighty and everlaſting God, Creator of heaven and earth, Thou wilt in thy infinite mercies not impute it unto us for ſin, blindneſs, raſhneſs or preſumption; being not accepted, done or performed of us upon carnal luſt, or wanton concupiſcence, but by the way of Abraham-like faith and obedience unto thee our God, our Leader, Teacher, Protector and Juſtifier, now and for ever. And hereunto we moſt humbly and faithfully require thy Divine Majeſty to be our witneſs: And moreover we call thy holy Angels, and to bear record for thy honour

* Before at this mark.

and

and glory, and for our diſcharge, now and for ever. And for a further conſummation of this New Covenant on our behalf, (by thy will and permiſſion) made with thee (the God of heaven and earth) we the ſame four firſt notified, and particularly and vulgarly named John Dee, Edward Kelley, Jane Dee, and Jone Kelley, have faithfully, obediently, willingly and wittingly ſubſcribed our Names with our own hands day of May, Anno 1587. In Trebon Caſtle.

And finally, as thou haſt warned us (O God) that this doctrine and doings ſhould unto no mortal man elſe be diſcloſed, but among us onely the above-named four to be kept moſt ſecret : and haſt ſaid, that whoſoever of us ſhould by any means diſcloſe the ſame, and he alſo or ſhe to whom the ſame ſhould be diſcloſed, ſhould preſently and immediately be ſtrucken dead by thy Divine power : So we all and every of us four do requeſt thee moſt earneſtly, and Covenant with thee as our God, that ſo all this doctrine and doing may be kept moſt hid and ſecret ; and alſo that the ſudden and immediate bodily death may light and fall on the diſcloſer, and on him or her to whom the ſame doctrine or doing any manner of way ſhall be diſcloſed or known. Amen, Amen, Amen.

JOHN DEE.

Note and remember, That on Sunday the third of *May, Ann.*1587. (by the new account) I John Dee, Edward Kelley, and our two wives, covenanted with God, and ſubſcribed the ſame, for indiſſoluble and inviolable unities, charity and friendſhip keeping between us four, and all things between us to be common, as God by ſundry means willed us to do. Ad Dei honorem, laudem & gloriam in fide & obedientia Factum eſto. Amen.

1587. Trebonæ, in the fine Chappel.

May 6.
Wedneſday,
a Meridie.

Δ. THe foreſaid Covenant being framed by me John Dee, as near as I could according to the intent and faith of us required, to be notified and declared by the works of unity both ſpiritual and corporal. Now it was by the women as by our ſelves thought neceſſary to underſtand the will of God and his good pleaſure, Whether this Covenant and form of words performed, is and will be acceptable, and according to the well liking of his Divine Majeſty : And that hereupon, the act of corporal knowledge being performed on both our parts, It will pleaſe his Divine Majeſty to ſeal and warrant unto us moſt certainly and ſpeedily all his Divine, Merciful and bountiful Promiſes and Bleſſings ; and alſo promiſes us wiſdome, knowledge, ability and power to execute his juſtice, and declare and demonſtrate his infallible verity amongſt men, to his honour and glory.

Hereupon E.K. and I went to the Chappel to the South Table. Δ. To this intent I prayed to the Almighty God, Creator of heaven and earth, fatherly, favourably and mercifully to regard the ſingleneſs and ſtraits of my heart, deſiring him to encreaſe the faith, and to open the eyes of my heart, that I may ſee Opera digitorum & mirabilia ejus, nobis ſicuti neceſſaria, for his ſervice and glory, and for the confuſion and overthrow of his enemies. Amen.

I read over the Covenant (verbatim) before the Divine Majeſty, and his holy Angels.

Pauſa $\frac{1}{4}$ horæ.

E. K. Here appeareth Madimi.

As a thing like a head with three eyes cometh upon her head, and one of the eyes ſeem to come one into another.

Mad. …… Pepigiſtis.

Δ. Pepigimus.

Ratum eſt: perumpite ſunt vobis omnia communia.

Dei, non hominis eſtote : Promiſſa quæ ſunt, poſſidete : Vobis deſtinata, vera ſunt : Æternus ſum.

E. K. She is gone.

E.K. My thought an infinite number of ſpiritual Creatures ſtood afar off behinde her like as in an half Moon.

Δ. Illi qui Æternus eſt Omnipotens, Sapiens, Bonus, Verus, Miſericors, & rerum omnium Creator, Redemptor noſter & Illuminator omnium (lumine vero Colluſtratorum) Sit omnis gratiarum actio, laus, benedictio, honor & gloria : Nunc & in ſempiterna ſæculorum ſæcula. Amen.

1587. Trebonæ.

Wedneſday morning Maii 20.

PReces ad Dominum Creatorem Cæli & terræ, &c. Then as concerning the Covenant which was made ſubſcribed and delivered in, but the next day required again of Mr. E.K. and in his wifes name to put out his name, &c. But when he had it, he cut it into equal parts; keeping that half wherein his ſubſcription and his wifes were, and delivered unto me, the other half but after a few dayes deſired to have the ſight and reading of both together; and then he kept the other part from me alſo: But afterward Madimi did with her finger draw on the two papers make them whole again, &c. and then ſhe gave the print of my Characters, and ſaid a red Circle ſhould alwayes appear in the Stone to all mens ſight, &c.

Quaſi Chriſtus.

E. K. There is here a great Globe of fire hanging in the top of the Stone; and in the Globe a man ſtanding with a purple Robe like Chriſt, I cannot well perceive his face.

...... Who ſitteth upon the Cherubins, and is carried abroad with their wings: Who is he that is lifted up in thunders, and in the voyce of many waters exalted and magnified through the power of a Seraphin (which is the power of him that made him?) Who is he that ſtretcheth out his arms and imbraceth all things? Who is he that is not, and is? Who is he that numbreth the Stars as the letters of a Volumn? or entreth down into the waves? In the multitude of his wonders who is he that harboureth his Whelps there, where the Sea glideth, and keepeth them in Chains, till the day of his ſtretch-forth power come? Who is he that maketh his habitation in the Sun, or filleth the Moon with a perpetual River? Who is he that hath made Winter and Summer, times and ſeaſons? Who is he that is the Lord of all beaſts and fowls? Who is he that hath made you of nothing? even he it is that hath led you out, even he it is that hath carried you to the Seas even he it is, that hath kept you ſleeping, and preſerved you waking: Even he it is that hath tyed his thunders underneath your   and hath harniſhed you.

With the Whirlwind of vengeance againſt the people of Ethan, yea even he it is (I ſay) that is, and liveth for ever, and hath provided yon as the chiefeſt reapers, yea and over-ſeers of his harveſt, which hath made you a promiſe: That the Kings of the earth ſhall be inriched by you, and hath made you free from all men; againſt the day when you ſhall ſee me. But O you of little faith and underſtanding, O, I ſay, you of little faith and underſtanding, how long will you be your own maſters, nay your own ſervants, how long do you contemn, the profound and unſpeakable floods of my wiſdome, and fore-knowledge in you.

How long (I ſay) will you run after your own imaginations and contemn the preſent counſels which I give you, hindring the power that is ready to fall upon you, O yon of little faith and underſtanding.

Behold I have prepared a banket for you, and have brought you even unto the doors; but becauſe you ſmell not the feaſt you diſdain to enter, happy is he that entreth in through me: For I am the very gate to all felicity and joy, and without me is nothing: Are you more diſcreet then I am wiſe? or more holy than I am holy? Righteouſneſs, and righteouſneſs is that, which is rewarded with honour. Behold I made all things, Is it not contrary to Nature, that the lights of heaven ſhould ſtand: Why therefore at the prayer of the Carpter call you upon the Sun in my name; Calling (I ſay) upon my name did the Sun ſtand ſtill. Rebuke him therefore if he hath done amiſs; or teach him, why he ſo abuſed Nature, O you wretches, I ſay unto you, you are the laſt of the beginning of the times to come, ſo figured by my determination and eternal purpoſe: And behold the Son and Moon ſhall ſtand ſtill, even at your voyces, and the Mountains ſhall bring themſelves together before the face of man, at your commandement, that the people and Kings of the earth may ſay, Lo this is the finger of him that hath created all things.

Joſue.

Figuration

Be therefore obedient and full of faith.

And ſee that all things be one amongſt you, and cleave not aſunder, leſt I take vengeance upon you, for behold Sathan hath power to caſt you aſunder, but a little he ſhould-be faithful therefore, and provident, be watchful, and take heed for you have made a Covenant; and behold it is written before my face in heaven, even as whatſoever I have ſpoken unto you, is laid up in my treaſures. Take heed that you run neither to the right hand, neither to the left; but that you caſt away your ſelves for me: As I humbled my ſelf to death, wherein the unity between my Congregation and me, was before my Father perpetually ſealed, whereby I am alwayes preſent with ſuch as put their truſt in me. Even ſo as the Eaſt and the Weſt, the North, and the South, Eſau and Jacob, ſhall be gathered together through the power I will give you, and united for ever in the Kingdome of my Father which is to come, in one holy and eternal fellowſhip, ſo be you contented alſo to be the figures of the things that are to come by you, that it may be a perpetual teſtimony before the heavens, and before men, of your perfect and ſound faith: And thou, even thou that haſt tore in peeces even this morning again this Covenant which thou

All things one.

A Covenant.

Potentia magna ex deo futura.

Figures.

haſt

haſt made with me, Behold the time ſhall come that thou ſhalt be torn in peeces thy ſelf, and I will turn even my face away from thee for a time : And even as thou haſt obſtinately and ignorantly, blaſphemed the company of my holy meſſagers, even ſo ſhall the people of the earth obſtinately and ignorantly throw thee out from Town to Town : And even as thou haſt done unto me, even ſo ſhall men do unto thee. But becauſe thy minde was inwardly never to forſake me, even ſo ſhalt thou never be forſaken of me, but I will return again unto thee. And now behold, thou haſt made a bargain, and behold thou thinkeſt to take thee up a new dwelling place, and thou ſhalt not do ſo : But who ſo receiveth thee into his houſe ſhall as truly as I am, both he and his family ſink down into the very lake of hell. But before thou enter in, I will by dreams and viſions warn him; therefore run not abroad : Take heed of the Tempter, Thou made a Covenant with me, which thou canſt not in breaking of the papers put out ; for my regiſter is eternal : And thoſe that bear witneſs before me are the compaſs of my wings.

And lo behold Carpio hath for his former intent of ſeperating you, cut off the day of his Father, and is become fatherleſs : Behold even ſhortly ſhall his mother periſh alſo.

And, if hereafter, he attempt any farther, I will throw the vengeance of Juſtice upon him, that he ſhall be a laughing ſtock to the people amongſt which he was born : Wo be unto them that riſeth up againſt me.

…… After a while I come again.

E. K. I thought we ſhould have nothing elſe, but △. I read this over to E.K.

E. K. He is here again.

He that pawneth * his ſoul for me, loſeth it not, and he that dyeth for me, dieth to eternal life. Behold you ſhall both as Lambs be brought forth before men in your latter dayes, and ſhall be overthrown and ſlain, and your bodies toſſed to and fro : But I will revive you again, and will be full of power : And you ſhall be comforted with the joyes of your brethren, for I have many that ſecretly ſerve me, and when you have ſhewed your obedience, the ſecond day after, come here again before me; for I will lead you into the way of Knowledge and Underſtanding : And Judgement and Wiſdome ſhall be upon you, and ſhall be reſtored unto you : And you ſhall grow every day, wiſe and mighty in mee.

* This was ſaid becauſe I had pawned my ſoul, upon my avouching the ſpiritual creatures which have dealt with us, to be of God and good : which my bargain E. K. had by word & writing, diſdainfully charged, and of late threatned me withall.

The ſecret ſervants for God.

E. K. He is gone : and in going he made a Croſs (toward us) of bleſſing.

Sapientia & potentia in Deo.

Rerum omni Creatori Omnipotenti, Miſericordi & Juſto, Domino noſtro & Deo noſtro, ſit omnis laus, honor, gloria, gratiarum actio & Jubilatio : Nunc & in ſempiterna ſæculorum ſæcula. Amen.

I can, and by our two Conſents, and at the requeſt of Jane △ ··· unto the women. And Mr. E.K. hereupon ſaid to his wife, That his boots were now put off, and changed his purpoſe of going away with Carpio now. God confirm his minde in all good purpoſes according to the well-pleaſing of the Higheſt. Amen.

Carpio.

······ △ ······ As I, and E.K. walked out at the new ſtairs, into the new Orchard-ward along the little River to view the ſmall fiſh, and returning to the fore ſtairs again, E.K. ſaw twain as high as my ſon Arthur fighting by the River ſide with ſwords; and the one ſaid to the other, thou haſt beguiled me : Then I at length, ſaid unto them, Can I take up the matter between you ? one ſaid yea that you can : in what is it quoth I ? Then ſaid he, I ſent a thing to thy wife by my man, and this fellow hath taken it from him. They fought ſore and at length, he that had it was wounded in the thigh, and it ſeemed to bleed. Afterward he that was wounded, did bring a yellow ſquare thing out of his boſome; then I gueſſed it to be my Stone that was taken away. The other ſaid unto him, let it be carried, ſuddenly he ſeemed to have been out of ſight, and to be come again; he threatned the other that had wounded him, and ſaid he would be even with him. The other ſaid, Haſt thou laid it under the right pillow of the bed where his wife lay yeſternight.

Friday afternoon about four of the clock.

Lapidis ſancti reſtitutio.

At length they both went (one after another) into a little Willow tree body on the right hand next the new ſtairs into the garden ; the tree ſeemed to cleave, or open, and they to go in.

Hereupon we went away: And I coming to my Chamber, found my wife lying upon her bed (where I lay yeſternight) and there I lifted up the right pillow, upon which ſhe lay reſting her ſelf (being not well at eaſe) And in manner under her ſhoulders there I found my precious Stone, that was taken away by Madimi : Whereat E. K. greatly wondred, doubting the verity of the ſhew. But I and my wife rejoyced, tkanking God.

Saturday

Saturday May 23. Mane circa 9. ½

P*Reces ad Deum fundebantur,&c.* And then we requeſted that the act of obedience performed (according to our faith conceived of our vocation, from the Almighty and Eternal God of heaven and earth) might be accepted: And that henceforward we might be inſtructed in the underſtanding and practice of wiſdome, both ſuch as already we have received ſome introductions Myſtical, and alſo of all other what the Almighty God ſhall deem meet for us to know, and execute for his honour and glory,&c.

△ E. K. Took Pen and Inke, and wrote the requeſt here adjoyned; and he read it to me, and he requeſted me to read it to the Divine Majeſty; and ſo I did, and hereupon we waited both to the firſt my prayer and to this Petition, the Divine anſwer.

△. Omnipotens ſempiterne, vere & vive Deus mittas lucem tuam & veritatem tuam ut ipſæ nos ducant & perducant admontem, ſanctum Syon, ex hac valle miſeriæ & ad Celeſtem tuam Jeruſalem. Amen.

E. K. From the beginning of this our coming, there appeared a purple Circle as big as a ſtar in the Circumference of the holy Stone, which yeſterday was brought again: And that it ſhould ſo be, Madimi had forewarned E. K. when ſhe ſhewed it unto him, when alſo ſhe gave the prints of the letters of the backſide of the bottome of the gold frame of it.

Equus albus

...... E. K. There appeareth here a great man all in bright harneſs ſitting upon a white horſe: he hath a ſpear all fiery in his left hand, he now putteth into his right hand: he hath a long ſword by his ſide: he hath alſo a target hanging on his back, it ſeemeth to be of ſteel: It hangeth from his neck by a blue lace; it cometh up behind him as high as the top of his head. The horſe is milk white, all ſtudded with white: a very comely horſe it is. The man is in compleat harneſs, the top of his helmet hath a ſharp form.

Sum.

Cherubin.

Upon his Target, are many Cherubins, as it were painted in Circles: there is one in the middle: About it as a Circle with ſix in it, and then a Circle with eight, and then a great Circle with ten in it, and in the greateſt are twenty; and about the Circle of twenty are ſeven parts: at each of which points is a Cherubin; Their faces be like burning gold, their wings be more brighter and as it were their wings coming over their heads do not touch together. His horſe is alſo harniſhed before and behind. The horſe legs behind are harniſhed as with boots marveilouſly contrived, for defence as it were of his hinde legs.

E. K. He is ridden away, he ſeemeth to ride through a great field.

E. K. Here is now come Madimi.

E. K. She is gone into the field, that way which he rode.

E. K. Here is another, like a woman all in green.

E. K. Here cometh another woman: All her attire is like beaten gold; ſhe hath on her forehead a Croſs chryſtal, her neck and breaſt are bare unto under her dugs: She hath a girdle of beaten gold ſlackly buckled unto her with a pendant of gold down to the ground.

I am

I am the Daughter of Fortitude, and ravished every hour from my youth. For behold, I am Understanding, and Science dwelleth in me, and the heavens oppress me, they covet and desire me with infinite appetite. Few or none that are earthly have embraced me, for I am shadowed with the Circle of the Stone, and covered with the morning Clouds. My feet are swifter than the winds, and my hands are sweeter than the morning dew. My garments are from the beginning, and my dwelling place is in my self. The Lion knoweth not where I walk, neither do the beasts of the field understand me. I am deflowred, and yet a virgin: I sanctifie, and am not sanctified. Happy is he that imbraceth me, for in the night season I am sweet, and in the day full of pleasure. My company is a harmony of many Cymbals, and my lips sweeter than health it self. I am a harlot for such as ravish me, and a virgin with such as know me not. For lo, I am loved of many, and I am a lover to many; and as many as come unto me as they should do, have entertainment. Purge your streets, O ye sons of men, and wash your houses clean; make your selves holy, and put on righteousness. Cast out your old strumpets, and burn their clothes; abstain from the company of other women that are defiled, that are sluttish, and not so handsome and beautiful as I, and then will I come and dwell amongst you: and behold, I will bring forth children unto you, and they shall be the Sons of Comfort. I will open my garments, and stand naked before you, that your love may be more enflamed toward me.

As yet, I walk in the Clouds; as yet, I am carried with the winds, and cannot descend unto you for the multitude of your abominations, and the filthy loathsomness of your dwelling places. Behold these four, who is he that shall say, They have sinned? or unto whom shall they make account? Not unto you, O you sons of men, nor unto your children: for unto the Lord belongeth the judgement of his servants.

Now therefore, let the earth give forth her fruit unto you, and let the Mountains forsake their barrenness where your foot shall remain. Happy is he that falleth with you, and cursed is he that holdeth up his hands against you. And power shall be given unto you from henceforth to torment your enemies: and the Lord shall alwayes hear you in the time of your trouble. And I am sent unto you to play the harlot with you, and [illegible] other men. Prepare for me, for I come shortly. Provide your Chambers for me, that they may be sweet and cleanly, for I will make a dwelling place amongst you: and I will be common with the father and the son, yea and with all them that truly [illegible] you. For my youth is in flower, and my strength is not to be extinguished with man. Strong am I above other women, therefore provide for me: for behold, I now salute you, and let peace be amongst you: for I am the Daughter of Comfort. Disclose not my secrets unto women, neither let them understand how sweet I am, for all things belongeth not to every one. I come unto you again.

[illegible]

E K. She is gone along that green field also.

△. I read it over to our great comfort.

△. We most humbly and heartily thank thee, O God Almighty, the only fountain of Wisdome, *Power, and all goodness: Help us now and ever to be faithful and fruitful servants to thee, for thy honour and glory. Amen.

E.K. The field appeareth a very level ground, covered with pretty grass even to the brinks of the [illegible]. It is bright as the Sun light, but I see not the Sun, but the clear sky over it.

△ Pausa semihoræ.

E.K. Now cometh the horseman, and rideth by into the field, and so doth Madini. Now cometh the third, and so goeth away into the field.

Now cometh she that was left here: she standeth still: she hath a book in her hand covered (as it were) with Moss three inches at the head, and four inches long, and a finger thick: it hath no Clasps, it is plain. A book [illegible]

Pausa.

The fourth hour after dinner, return hither again: And whatsoever you shall receive out of this book, receive it kneeling upon your knees: and see that you suffer no Creature female to enter within this place: Neither shall the things that be opened unto you, be revealed unto your wives, or unto any Creature as yet: for I will speak you a truth, and you shall perceive that I am sweet and full of comfort, and that the Lord is at hand, and that he will shortly visit the earth, and [illegible]. Women excluded.

Dominus prope eſt.

E. K. She turneth her ſelf into a thouſand ſhapes of all Creatures: and now ſhe is come to her own form again.

She hangeth the Book in the air.

Give God thanks, and ſo depart.

△. All laud, thanks, honour and glory be to our God, our King and Saviour, now and ever. Amen.

1587. Saturday the ſame day.

After Dinner, about four hours, or ſomewhat leſs we reſorted to the place.

A voyce to E.K. Kneel toward the Eaſt; ſo he kneeled at the table of Covenant, with his face toward the Eaſt; and I at my table oppoſite to him.

△...... In the Name of God the Father, God the Son, and God the Holy Ghoſt. Amen.

Recte ſapere & intellegere doceto nos (O Dominus) nam ſapientia tua, totum eſt quod quærimus Da verbum tuum in ore noſtro & ſapientum tuam in cordibus noſtris fige.

E. K. The Book remaineth hanging in the ayre.

A voice ...... Kelly, I know it is troubleſome for thee to kneel: Sit. Pauſa magna.

△ ...... So E.K. roſe from kneeling, and did ſit.

...... E. K. Now ſhe is here, that laſt advertiſed us.

The book divided.

She taketh the book and divideth it into two parts: and it ſeemeth to be two books: the half cover adjoyning to one, and the other half cover belonging to the other, the ſides with the covers are towards me.

Ad imaginem Dei factus erat.

The conceiving the expoſition of our former books. The good will of God. Adam his knowledge. The Apoſtles. We.

...... Wiſdome is a piercing beam, which is the center of the ſpiritual being of the holy Spirit, touching from all parts from whence the Divinity ſendeth it out: and is proper to the ſoul, or unto ſubſtances, that have beginning, but no ending; ſo that, whatſoever ſhall have end, can never attain unto that which is called Wiſdome: Neither can things that are ſubject to the ſecond death, receive any ſuch influence, becauſe they are already noted, and marked with the ſeat of deſtruction. Happy is he whom God hath made a veſſel of ſalvation; for unto him belongeth joy, and a crown of reward: Adam (your forefather and firſt parent) in reſpect of his creation, that is to ſay, in reſpect of his imaginative compoſition received no ſtrength, but by the Holy Ghoſt; for the ſoul of man is free from all paſſions and affections, until it enter into the body unto the which it is limited: ſo that, being neither good nor bad (but apt unto both) he is left, by Divine providence and permiſſion joyned together to the end of the one, or the other: But wheresoever wiſdome dwelleth, it dwelleth not with the ſoul, as any property thereof, but according to the good will of God, whoſe mercy concurreth on every ſide into him, and taketh up a manſion therein, to utter out, and manifeſt his great goodneſs: And even as the heavens are glorified continually with the Spirit of God: So is the ſoul of man glorified, that receiveth ſanctification thereby; for no man is illuminated, that is not ſanctified: neither is there any man perfectly ſanctified, that is not illuminated. I ſpeak this (my brethren) for that you ſhall underſtand, That no man did, or can ever attain to wiſdom (that perfect wiſdome which I ſpeak of) without he become a Center in his ſoul unto the mercies, and good will of God comprehending him, and dwelling in him, therefore lift up your eyes and ſee, Call your wits together, and mark my words, To teach you, or expound unto you the myſteries of the Books that you have already received, is not in my power, but in the good will of God, after whoſe Image I am: Which good will of God, is the deſcending of his holy Spirit abundantly upon you, and into you, opening all your ſenſes, and making you perfect men: for Adam underſtood by that grace, and his eyes were opened ſo that he ſaw and knew all things that were to his underſtanding: So have all thoſe more and leſs, that have been counted wiſe, received the gifts of the Holy Ghoſt, which ſetteth the ſoul on man ſo on fire that he pierceth into all things, and judgeth mightily. The Apoſtles which knew even the thoughts of men, underſtood all things, becauſe the holy Spirit made a dwelling place in them: even ſo ſhall it happen unto you: For you are the choſen of this laſt dayes, and ſuch as ſhall be full of the bleſſings of God, and his Spirit ſhall reſt with you abundantly. Mark therefore what I have to ſay unto you.

A

A hundred dayes are limited unto you during the which time, you ſhall every ſeventh, preſent your ſelves in this place, and you ſhall laud and praiſe God. And behold I will be preſent amongſt you.

An hundred daies limited every 7th day.

And before theſe dayes paſs, when power is given me ſo to do, I will enter out of this Stone unto you and you ſhall eat up theſe two books, both the one and the other: and wiſdome ſhall be divided between you, ſufficient to each man.

Perſonal apparition.

Then ſhall your eyes be opened to ſee and underſtand all ſuch things as have been written unto you, and taught you from above. But beware ye take heed, that you dwell within your ſelves, and keep the ſecrets of God, untill the time come that you ſhall be bid SPEAK: For then ſhall the Spirit of God be mighty upon you; ſo that it ſhall be ſaid of you, LO were not theſe, the Sorcerers, and ſuch as were accounted Vagabonds: Other ſome ſhall ſay, Behold let us take heed, and let us humble our ſelves before them: For the Lord of Hoaſts is with them.

The underſtanding of ſuch things as have before time been delivered us myſtically.

Silence untill.

And you ſhall have power in the Heavens, and in the lower bodies: And it ſhall be taught you at all times inwardly, even what belongeth to the hearts of men: Then ſhalt thou E. K. have a new coat put on thee, and it ſhall be all of one colour. Then ſhalt thou Δ. alſo have power to open that book, which God hath committed unto thee; but uſe your ſelves as men, yea even then remember ſuch as may receive the mercies and grace of God: And let all peace and unity be amongſt you: For even as the Sun looketh into all things from above, ſo ſhall you into all the creatures that live upon the earth; yea the one of you ſhall have his liſted, and ſhall enter into the fourth or fifth heaven, for unto him that is worldly knowledge be given; and unto him that hath been patient, ſhall greater things deſcend. Notwithſtanding both ſufficiently ſatisfied: In the mean ſeaſon, The ſeventh day hence, ſhal thou bring in ſuch things, as the Lord hath given thee: And in this place they ſhall be diſpoſed according to the knowledge that is given me: And herein thou haſt pleaſed the Lord; For that thou haſt dealed ſtreight, and according to brotherly meaning.

Power to be given us.

Vide actionem an. 1583 menſis die, of his divers ſpotted coat.

Note and remember.

Entrance in the 4th. and 5th. heaven.

Δ. Now cometh the time that the Whore ſhall be called before the Higheſt, and the tenth Month hence, ſhall the Turk and the Moſcovite make a perpetual league together, and in the thirteenth month, ſhall Poland be aſſaulted, with the Tartarians, and ſhall be ſpoyled: yea even unto the very ribs, ſo that in the ſixteenth month they ſhall fall all together from Chriſt: And the hand of God ſhall run in vengeance, vengeance, even through this Kingdome, and through Germany, and into Italy; and in the 23. Month Rome ſhall be deſtroyed, ſo that one ſtone ſhall not be left ſtanding upon another, and vengeance ſhall be on all the earth, and fear upon all people, for the Lord is gone out againſt them: They eat and drink, and ſay, Let us be merry: Wo be unto them, for the know not the time of their viſitation. For lo Juſtice ſhall viſit them and tread them under foot: And even this Kingdome ſhall dure for a while; that is to ſay, This wicked triumph. And behold in the North ſhall riſe that Monſter, and ſhall paſs forth with many Miracles, but you ſeeing all theſe things ſhall be at quietneſs untill ſuch times as it ſhall be ſaid unto them, Revenge. Happy is he that is not partaker of the love of ſuch as ſhall be vexed theſe latter dayes.

Δ O Lord I thank thee that thou haſt accepted my patience.

Maii 30. The books of Dunſtan and the powder.

Δ.

Menſe 10. forte menſe pro ann. erit.

A Propheſie

Menſe 13. Poland.

Menſe 16. Bohemia.

Germania.

Italia.

An. 1589.

Bohemia.

Antichriſtus

Untill.

Revenge.

E. K. She is gone.

Δ. I read theſe over to E. K. To his great comfort.

...... Make an end, I have no more to ſay

Δ. Deo noſtro Omnipotenti, Patri, Filio, & Spiritui ſancto ſit omnis laus gratiarum actio, honor gloria & Imperium nunc & in ſempiterna ſæculorum ſecula. Amen.

MAgnifici viri fratres & amici Chariſſ. Hodie hora 9. ante meridiem iſtæ mihi allatæ ſunt literæ a Domino Schombergio, quæ datæ ſunt 5 Marcii, & debebat jam deveniſſe in manus meas antea. Ex quibus intelligo ipſum cum Domino Holek expectare reſponſum Munſterbergii. Quandoquidem Omnipotens ille omnium rerum moderator, & rector vos delegaverit ad hoc miniſterium & opus perficiendum. Ego nihil ſcio quid agendum, nec ullum meum Conſilium eo accedere poteſt, ut diſponere aliquid poſſim, ſciam aut velim; niſi quod ſapientiſſimo illi moderatori viſum fuerit. Proinde omnia vobis tranſmitto, Orate ſedulo, & quod placuerit Altiſſimo & Potntiſſimo Domino hoc fiat, & me etiam in omnibus informate & in tantis libenter obedire cupio & volo : Et ita nolim neq; diem iſtam prætermittere quin ſtatim rurſus ad vos tranſmittam. Interim vos & meipſum Dei omnipotentis bonitati immenſæque miſericordiæ commendans. Dat. Cromoviæ, 16 Marcii, Anno 1587.

Veſter amicus & frater,

Cuilielmus manu propria.

Magnificis viris Domino Joanni Dee & Domino Edvardo Kelleo & ad manus proprias.

1587. Recepimus tandem Trebonæ Aprilis 2. Nos enim a Reichſtenio abiveramus & rediveramus antequam ad Reichſtenium nuncius venit.

MAgnifici Domini Chariſſimi amici & fratres, ad literas veſtras nihil reſpondere potui, quandoquidem per ſuas mihi literas D. Schomberg. de ſuo & ſocii ipſius a . . . . tu ſignificaveras, volui primum quæ mihi . . . . necentur audire. Et ſi aliqua nova eſſent vel non audita, dominationem veſtram magnificam denuo certiorem reddere. Hæri noctu ſolus ad me venit D. a Schomberg. relicto ſocio in monaſterio meo. Coronienſi dimidium ab hinc milliare, & de negotiis mihi multa expoſuit, de quibus uti intellexi, ex ipſo & Rom. veſtris Mag. ſignificaverit, Uti potui intelligere, ſatis circumſpecte & provide negotia ſunt tractata uſq; huc, & ſpero etiam fideliter : Ad omnia iſta reſpondi, prout ſepiſſime a me intellexiſtis, & nuper etiam literis quæ illi dicenda putabam Dom. veſtræ ſcripſi. Tota res videtur conſiſtere in adjuvandis aliquibus perſonis pecuniarum aliquo auxilio, & prout & ſcriptum ſive . . . . memoriale mihi tradidit, quod tranſmitto Dom. veſtris perlegendum & conſiderandum, & poſt, mihi remittatur oro. Chariſſimi Domini ſcitis quæ ſit voluntas Domini, proxima actio & aliæ, (mihi videtur) annuunt ipſos adjutandos, fiat ſecundum ipſius cujus omnia ſunt voluntate & miſericordiſſima diſpoſitione & expediantur eo celerius, prout cum Domino Edvardo locuti ſumus. Ipſi reſpondeant Domino altiſſimo & potentiſſimo de fide quam ipſi præſtabunt, ſin vero aliter viſum fuerit Omnipotenti Domino fiat ita. Rogo Dom. veſtras Magn. quam amantiſſime piis ſuis ad Deum orationibus & mediis a Domino vobis traditis & conceſſis promovete, & adjuvetis Domini Dei noſtri opus & voluntatem exequi.

Socius remanſit in monaſterio, ut ſupra dictum, & concluſi cum Domino Schombergio, ut neq; videam neq; tractem cum illo, certis de cauſis, quas vobis ſignificabit, & a me etiam intelligetis ; tamen ut eo ſit melius contentus de duobus vel tribus millibus tallerorum ipſi procurabitur ad quædam ſibi neceſſaria comparanda in lucio ſperat ipſum bene fore contentum pro tempore modo cætera quæ majora ſunt propter reliqua ut ſupra ſcripſi procurentur.

Ego non ſum ab Imperatore vocatus, ſed meam de aliquibus expetivit ſua Majeſtas ſententiam de quibus reſcripſi ut decuit.

De actione intellexi Dom. veſtras paratas ad præſcriptum diem eſſe velle, bene eſt. Semper nos paratos eſſe decet & convenit; Ipſe benigniſſime quæ in nobis deſunt, ſua miſericordia & clementia inenarrabili perficiat: Placet mihi ſententia Dom. veſtrarum & quæ initio & in prooemio actionis proponere velletis, de quo me informabitis, ad hoc me componam & expectabo humiliter reſponſum.

Quæ proponenda putabam nulla ſunt alia niſi illa.

1. Si Imperator de rebus Polonicis a me quicquid ſciſcitari vellet, aut ſuſpicione aliqua de me concepta aut fingendo ſibi aliquid quomodo me gerere debeam.

2. Si Imperator de ſucceſſione Regni hujus pro fratre aliquid tractare vellet quomodo me gerere debeam.

3. Si electio Polonica ſucceſſura ſit, quid de bonis meis paternis diſponat Dominus, & mihi quid faciendum.

4. Debeo-ne de negotio Polonico aliqua cum Electore Brandenburgico aut aliquo Principe Imperii confidenter conferre, vel non. Cum quibus, quando & qua ratione.

5. Si miles aliquis conducendus & quando.

6. Si Pontifex aut Imperator de perſonis Dom. veſtrarum vellet aliquid attentare, vel eas iterum relegare, vel quovis modo perturbare, quid agendum & ipſis reſpondendum.

7. Si de Theſauro nobis concredito aliquid Cæſari ſit communicandum, quando, quantum, & quomodo.

8. Si Imperator mea opera uti vellet pro agendis Comitiis in Moravia & Sileſia, ſi hoc ſuſcipere munus debeam.

De cæteri humiliter ſupplicent ut me ita diſponere dignetur altiſſimus ut ſibi ſoli placeam & ſerviam fideliter & conſtanter ad ſui nominis æternam gloriam & Reipublicæ Chriſtianæ ſalutem.

Si Dom. veſtræ putant aliqua omittenda, aut quæ offendere poſſent per amorem Dei oro, bene conſiderent: omittant aut emendant pro ſua pietate & prudentia.

Unum eſt quod omiſi de propoſitionibus; Quod conſtitueram in animo de Theſauro Domini mihi benigne conceſſo aliquas fundationes, hic in patria iſta conſtituere. Deus ſcit mentem meam quem nihil latet. Si placet hoc meum miſericordiſſimo Domino propoſitum vel non.

Et præſertim ſi mihi alio (divina ita diſponente gratia) ſit commigrandum, vellem patria mea cognoſcat, & tota poſteritas quod amaverim illam, & optime de ſalute ipſorum & poſteritatis ſenſerim.

Dat. Cromoviæ færia 5. poſt Paſcha, Anno 1587.

Veſter ex animo, & frater & amicus ſincerus

Guilielmus manu propria.

In

In nomine Patris, & Filii, & Spiritus Sancti. Amen.

Gloria Patri, & Filii, & Spiritui Sancto: ſicut erat in principio & nunc & ſemper & in ſecula ſeculorum. Amen.

In Actione Tertia, proponenda.

1. Deo Omnipotenti, Patri, Filio & Spiritui Sancto, offerimus nos humilimè, paratos ad Divina Oracula, monita, inſtructiones, informationes, & alia quæcunq; in hac generali Actione, ſuſcipienda, intelligenda, & exequenda, quæ ſua Divina Majeſtas, pro ſua gloria & noſtra conſolatione maxima fore, præviderit & decreverit.

2. Humiliter requirimus, an hic plenaria hæc tranſigetur Actio: vel an nobis ad Cromoviam, cum neceſſariis noſtris rebus, (& quibus illis quidem) properandum fuerit.

3. Has noſtri Domini Roſenbergii Quæſtiones 12 generales, & alia quæcunq; in eiſdem particulariter continentur, humiliter offerimus, tam ejus quam noſtro nomine, illa & talia expectantes reſponſa quæ & qualia a ſede Majeſtatis Divinæ, in ſuorum ſervorum conſultationibus procedere, & olim & ſemper ſolent.

4. Et quia in eiſdem Quæſtionibus, nulla facta eſt mentio de uſu pulveris quem ſibi divinitus conceſſum habet, & aliquoties prius dictum fuerit, quod in hac Actione, informaretur de illius pulveris uſu, nos, jam humiliter illam deſideramus informationem.

5. Et quia extraordinarius iſte vehemens favor Moſchovitici Principis erga me incognitum jam eſt mihi & multis aliis conteſtatus, & manifeſtius, (ago Deo Optimo Maximo gratias quantas poſſum maximas) & quia incertus ſum ad quem finem Deus illum ejus favorem erga me, dirigere velit: humiliter peto & mihi a te (Omnipotens Deus) informatio detur de iſto fine, & voluntate tua in hac parte, & quo modo ejuſdem Nunciis reſpondere debeam, ſi qui jam venerint de cætero.

6. An non debeamus noſmet diſponere, (ut alias, aliquoties præmonitum eſt) ut hic, lapidem Philoſophorum ex methodo Dunſtani conficiamus: quæ methodus, quia mihi non conſtat, ſæpe me hactenus fecit videri quaſi in hoc labore tardum, otioſum, vel ignavum: Vbi, contra, quam eſt paratus animus meus & manus & pedes & omnes vires tam animi quam corporis mei, Tu noſti, Tuq; (O Deus) teſtis eſto meus.

7. Illa Praxis, cum poculo ferreo, canali vitrea, calce &c. nondum nobis ſuccedit; idcirco, ad illius quoq; Concluſionis veritatem practicam obtinendam, libenter ſciremus, quid eſt quod nos hactenus impedivit, vel quid nobis deeſt, ad veram intelligendam, & perficiendam praxim illam.

8. Thomæ Kellei decumbentis valetudinem & ſanitatem, tibi (O Deus) commendamus, & ſupplicamus, ut illi, nobiſque propitius eſſe velis: illumq; ſanum & ſalvum nobis reddere & confirmare digneris ad nominis tui laudem, honorem & gloriam, ex fideli ejuſdem poſthac ſervitio, & officio: erga divinam tuam Majeſtatem. Amen.

9. Joanna, uxor Ed: Kellei noſtri, Omnipotenti Divinæ Majeſtati tuæ ſupplicat per me, & ego humilimè (ejuſdem Joannæ nomine) tibi (O Deus) ſupplico, ut illi velis eſſe miſericors, clemens & benignus; & ut ejus multiplices ad te preces pro fæcunditate cum hoc ejus marito obtinenda, paterna reſpicias charitate: & ut illi hoc contribuere velis gaudium, & quaſi ſui fidelis ſervitii (erga hunc ſuum maritum) præmium, ut prole per eundem & cum eodem gaudere poſſit beata: reſpice quæſumus hanc noſtram petitionem, ut a multis olim piis fæminis & viris eandem accepiſti, & etiam conceſ- ſiſti

ſiſti petitionem Miſericordiſſime Pater, per Filium tuum, Dominum noſtrum Jeſum Chriſtum. Amen.

10. Pro mea Jana (O Deus) humilimè gratias ago, quod hactenus tam clementer & pie illam liberaveris a ſuæ radicalis infirmitatis contagione: contra quam & medicinam facere, me docuiſti: & me ut facerem adjuviſti, factæque eam virtutem conceſſiſti, ut illa remedii optati nobis præberet ſigna, qualia noſtra imperitia magis ſperat eſſe bona & certa, quam recta ratiene dijudicare poteſt, hoc igitur ſymptona egeſtionis ſanguinolentæ quid ſit neſcimus, an morbi alterius indicium, an dictæ Medicinæ adhuc in ſua virtute & efficacia procedentis, operatio. Tuum (O Deus) ne dedigneris impartire mihi conſilium: & de fluxu illo frequenti, ex ejuſdem Janæ auribus, libenter audire vellemus remedium aliquod.

De Angliæ & Reginæ ejuſdem ſtatu, ſi aliquid ſcire nobis expedit, libenter audiemus.

London, At Mrs. Goodman her houſe.

Martii 20 à meridie hora 4 ½

JESUS

Omnipotens ſempiterne & une Deus.

MItte lucem tuam & veritatem tuam, ut ipſa me ducat & perducat ad montem ſanctum tuum & Tabernacula. Amen.

Ra. I am bleſſed Raphael, a bleſſed meſſenger of the Almighty, I am ſent of God, who is bleſſed for evermore. Amen.

John Dee, I am ſent of God for thy comfort firſt to certifie thee that thou ſhalt overcome this thy infirmity, and when thou art ſtrong in body, as God in his goodneſs will make thee, THEN thou ſhalt have all made known unto thee of ſuch things being not come to paſs as have been before ſpoken of, becauſe that thou ſhouldeſt take comfort in God, that thou art not left from the comfort of Gods bleſſed creatures. Now God hath ſent me at this time whereby thou wert to be ſatisfied, THAT when thy body is able to abide the time of my ſervice from God to be delivered unto thee by me Raphael. Thy friend John Pontoys goeth forth, but his time is likely to be ſhort.

Δ. As ye will.

Δ. O God, I am brought into a great attempt, to make the counſel privy of my beggery, and to offer the Earle of Salsbury, ſuch my duties as I may perfect to his content. How ſtandeth this with your good liking?

Ra. Spiritual.

Thou ſhalt have friends in thy ſuit, and thou ſhalt have foes, but through Gods

Ra. Spiritual.

mercies, thy friends, ſhall overcome thy foes and thou ſhalt ſpeed in that God in his goodneſs will work mightily in his power for thee.

Proceed in thy ſuit ſo ſhortly as thou canſt finde thy health in body able: And for thy health uſe thy own skill, that God hath, and ſhall guide thee withall to thy good and perfect recovering of thy perfect health.

Δ. Of the blood, not coming out of my Fundament, but as though it were a pin hole of the skin.

Raph. That the which thou hadſt of knowledge to help thy weakneſs, God in his mercy did ſend thee therein preſent help, the which but only for that iſſue thou couldeſt not have lived. And for thy cure and thy help, the ſame God will work with thee in thy heart and mind ſo, that it ſhall be known unto no man, but by Gods merciful goodneſs delivered unto thee ſuch wayes and means as ſhall be thy help, and reſtore thee to health again. This God of his mercy hath ſent me to deliver this ſhort meſſage, becauſe of thy weakneſs. Thou art not ſtrong to endure them, therefore ſuch is Gods goodneſs to let you to underſtand that after the tenth day of April, I will then [16] appear again, and thou ſhalt underſtand much more what God will and his pleaſure is to be done in Gods ſervices, and for your good, and ſo for this little ſhort meſſage, I have declared unto you the will of Jeſus Chriſt. And ſo for this time, In the Name of the moſt higheſt Creator and maker of Heaven and Earth, I do now return at his will and commandement, and I am ready at all times when he ſhall command me to appear to thy comfort. His Name be praiſed continually, Amen, Amen.

Δ. Amen.

Friday

Friday 24 Martii hora 9 ½

Deus in adjutorium noſtrum intendas D. D. R. R. ... Zebaith .... The Omnipotent God be praiſed for evermore, his holy Name be glorified. Now John Dee, I Raphael am now come at Gods pleaſure, and at his commandement to ſpeak with thee, and make known unto thee as far forth as in my power lieth to ſpeak God hath ſent me to declare unto thee: the cauſe of thy deſire now at this time, John Dee, as thou art an earthly man, if thou doſt deſire to have help from God of ſuch things as earthly men cannot be without while they have time here in this mortal life, thou deſireſt to have knowledge as concerning things hid, the which I Raphael have no delight, neither pleaſure in ſpeaking of any ſuch earthly matter, or earthly caſes. But my delight is in the Almighty, and in his wiſdome. But notwithſtanding at this requeſt, and thy inward deſire in God to be certified of this treaſure, the which theſe two men whom thou knoweſt do ſpeak of, they ever had a time appointed of God for it, and it was not uſed accordingly as they ſhould have done. Now this ſecond time, becauſe you have a deſire to have help and knowledge at the hands of the Almighty, I Raphael do command thee and thoſe men whom thou knoweſt, that they ſhall not intermeddle, or to take it in hand before the tenth day of January be paſt, for if they do, they ſhall not prevail, for that is a time that God hath beſt appointed for the ſaid purpoſe, and for the quiet enjoying of it; ſo when that day is paſt, then let them in the name of God enter into that work. And if they will be ſuch men as they ought for to be, and as Gods will is that they ſhould be, to deal faithfully and truly one with the other in deed and in word, God will then bleſs their good purpoſe, and bring it to their head when they ſhall take in hand to open the earth, God will preſently at that inſtant then ſuffer their good purpoſe to take effect, and the matter to be effected and had, ſo that they ſhall not be put off, if they ſhall heare or ſee any thing that they ſhall diſlike, but ſafely to ſtand in the hope, and craving at Gods hand to have that good help to be a warrant between them, and all hurt and danger whatſoever may behappen, and ſo overcome. I ſay, If they will faithfully pray unto God with their whole truſt in God, God will bleſs their good ſucceſs, if they be otherwiſe, then as good never ſtir, and their good ſucceſs will be againſt them. So I Raphael have made known unto thee Gods purpoſe in this thy requeſt.

For this I have ſaid.

John Dee, I Raphael, did make known unto this deſire of that ſecret, and that great gift that gave unto thee in ſuch order and manner as thou knoweſt where thou hidſt it, and that never as yet hadſt the knowledge and the wiſdome that God will give thee as concerning that, and many mo ſuch unto thee: So this rare gift being taken away from thee by them thou knoweſt, by taking thy key, and ſo taking of it from thy keeping, it was the will and purpoſe of God, that I Raphael ſhould give ſuch ... that thou ſhouldeſt have knowledge ... of the ſame. Thou ſhalt take ſuch courſe .... thou mayeſt obtain it again, and when thou haſt it, thou ſhalt put it into the ſame cheſt again, and commit it into the cuſtody and keeping of thy very friend John Pontoys, and he ſhall, and will deal faithfully and friendly with thee in keeping the ſame until ſuch time as by that ... the which thou knoweſt is promiſed unto thee, that thou ſhalt receive the perfect underſtanding of the hid knowledge and ſecrecie of God that is not as yet made known unto thee, and .... as hath been ſaid, ſo ſhalt thou have ſuch wiſdome delivered unto thee by me Raphael that ſhall come in ſuch ... and order as hath been late made known unto thee for thy good in ſuch ſhort and ſpeedy time to be performed, and ſo thus much I have made known unto thee, as God hath in ſtore for thee to be performed. Thus much I have now ſaid, and given thee cunning to keep it in ſuch maner as I have ſpoken, or elſe thou wilt be diſappointed of that, and ... it will hide ſuch purpoſe as God will have come to paſs, ſo in his mighty power command me to come. I have for this matter finiſhed; If thou have any thing ſpeedily, ask in ... for I am to depart.

John Dee, If thou wilt have all thy cauſe then .... as thou muſt ſhew unto thy liking and hers what thou haſt drawn, and crave for good aſſiſtance it ... of ... deſiring his help, and ... unto her the diſeaſe. ...to go to ſuch men that ſhoald give thee further inſtruction thy beſt as I have ſaid to ſhew unto her that thou haſt done .... and he will ... in thy caſe unto ...... and Canterbury, and ſo the faith ſhall triumph in ſhort time, and if this be ....

Julii 9. hora 4. a meridie.

Weſtminſter Three Kings in Kings-ſtreet.

▲. After my Prayers for a quarter of an hour, a Voice ſaid,

I am Raphael whoſe voice thou doſt hear: To morrow morning at nine of the clock God will ſend me to thy ſight.

▲. So with thanks to God I ended.

Friday the 10 Julii, hora 9.

△. Mittas lucem tuam & veritatem tuam, quæ nos ducant & perducant ad montem ſanctum tuum & cæleſtia tua tabernacula. Amen.

Barth. As for you, the Creator of God doth appear.

△. Benedictus qui venit in nomine Domini Halleluia.

...... Bleſſed be God the Father, and God the Son, and God the holy Ghoſt. All honour and power be aſcribed unto the living God for evermore. Amen. △. Amen.

John Dee, I am Raphael, one of the bleſſed and elect Angels of the Almighty; and at his will and his good pleaſure, he hath commanded me to appear here at this time, to ſet forth the will and pleaſure of the Almighty God.

John Dee, my meſſage that I have at this time to deliver unto thee, is of great force, in that God would have thee to do. And whereas it was ſaid at my laſt appearing at this beholder, that I would appear again, and now it hath pleaſed God to ſend me to perform and make known according to that which was then ſaid, that all things before promiſed ſhould be made plainly known what Gods will is to be done in all that hath been before ſaid.

Now I do make known unto you the plain meaning and underſtanding thereof.

Firſt thou haſt been promiſed the ſecret knowledge and underſtanding of the Philoſophers Stone, of the Book of St. Dunſtans, to have the knowledge of them.

It is ſince a long time, as thou knoweſt to mans reaſon, and to the minde of man, a few years is with man thought to be big; and now God hath been thy keeper, and moſt chiefly created thee, and hath ſuffered thee to have time to live unto this age: and furthermore, thou doſt like unto thy Nativity, and conſidering thy great age that the courſe of Nature for age, is likely, by thy reaſon, to take place. BUT John Dee, thou doſt well remember unto whom, in the holy Scriptures, that God in his mercies did adde and put to fifteen years longer than the time was ſet him: So think not but God in his mercies will be as great unto thee. And now to come to the matter whereby to let thee to underſtand why thou hadſt not thus theſe rare gifts and promiſes performed unto thee, it was the will of God to keep them away, and to ſuffer the heart of thy ſupreme head and governour, under God, to be hardned againſt thee, that thou art no better account made of unto him, but to be ſuch an one that doth deal with Devils and by Sorcery, as you commonly term them Witchcraft: and who doth, and who hath informed him, to be thus evil and hardly informed againſt thee, but only the Devil, and by the hatred of thy ſecret enemy whom thou knoweſt (Saliſbury I mean) and all malice and enemies that he can by his Devils, Maſerien, Hermeloe, the four wicked ones, the which are accounted the four Rulers of the Air, whoſe names be Ories, Egym, Paynim, and Mayrary: They be the Devils that he doth deal withall, that he through their enticing and his, he thinketh to be pleaſant and good wiſdom that he receiveth at their hands; That he and his Devils do ſeek thy overthrow in all good things, and doth and ſhall, ſo far forth as God will ſuffer them, ſeek all the malice and hindrance in all good cauſes to be done to thy good. Therefore now John Dee I am to let thee to underſtand plainly what Gods will and his great purpoſe is to have thee to do, although it may ſeem hard to thy good liking, conſidering as thou doſt think, the weakneſs of thy body, and courſe of age: yet notwithſtanding, that ſame God that hath been thy protector and keeper until this preſent time of years, that ſame merciful God ſhall keep thee, and make thee able to perform things that ſhall be made known unto thee; for God will not beſtow ſuch rare gifts as I have before ſaid, amongſt thoſe which be unworthy of ſuch great bleſſings from the Almighty. For God will not beſtow Pearls amongſt thoſe that will not believe nor underſtand that God hath any ſuch bleſſings to beſtow upon men: for I ſay unto thee, John Dee, that if God ſhould or would beſtow thoſe bleſſings upon thee, even at this preſent, or at any time to be ſhortly performed and delivered unto thee: Then, except that thou ſhouldſt make all things plainly known of Gods ſecrets delivered unto thee, unto thy ſupreme head under God here upon earth, and likewiſe thy enemy to be partaker in theſe ſecrets and great gifts of God, if thou wouldſt not perform as much unto them, as God ſhould give wiſdom unto thee, therein, thy life would and ſhould, by the envy and malice of thoſe wicked ones, and by thy great enemy thou ſhouldſt ſpeedily be cut off from this life, but God will not have it ſo. So if thou wilt do as God ſhall command thee by this meſſage, thou ſhalt have all theſe meſſages, promiſes and wiſdom, both for the Philoſophers Stone, the book of S. Dunſtans, the ſecret wiſdom of that Jewel that was delivered, as thou knoweſt, in what manner it is plainly known unto thee.

So now it is the will of God to ſuffer thy ſupreme Head his heart to be hardned againſt thee; and likewiſe for thy great enemy for his wicked inſtructions againſt thee, God doth ſuffer it ſo to be, even as Pharaoh his heart was hardned againſt the children of God, ſo ſtandeth the matter againſt thee with them. It is the will of God ſo to ſuffer it to their great account that they ſhall have to make, when it ſhall pleaſe the Almighty that that time ſhall be, that they muſt render unto God their accounts. Now John Dee it is the will of the Almighty to ſend me Raphael to deliver unto thee this Meſſage, the which will ſeem unto thee to be very hard: yet as thou art the ſervant of God, and one whom God doth favour and love (although the world by wicked enemies doth hate thee) willingly and obediently follow that courſe the which God in his mercies at this time ſhall make known unto thee.

Thou ſhalt (if thou wilt obey the commandment of God, by me made known unto thee) take a long journey in hand, and go where thou ſhalt have all theſe great mercies of God performed unto thee, and God will ſhew thee as great favour in the ſight of God as ever he did ſhew unto Joſeph, who was ſold into bondage, as thou knoweſt, and in all his impriſonment and troubles God was with him, and delivered him: So, if thou wilt follow this commandment from God delivered unto thee by me Raphael, that thou ſhalt not doubt, nor waver in thy mind, but God will be merciful unto thee, both in this life and in the life to come: and think God will not command thee to take ſuch a journy in hand, but that he doth know that is beſt for thee, and he will preſerve thee, and keep thee in thy journy. And thou ſhalt find in thy journy, that God ſhall and will deal mercifully with thee in finding eaſe of the infirmity of the ſtone, that the Angels of God ſhall direct thee in thy heart and mind, how thou ſhalt uſe thy body, to the health and comfort of thy ſtrength. And when thou art at thy journies end amongſt ſuch friends beyond the ſeas as thou knoweſt, God ſhall and will raiſe thee as faithful friends (as now I have ſaid before) as Joſeph had, ſo ſhalt thou be favoured with God and man; for it is the will and purpoſe of God to have thee to be obedient unto this the which I do make known unto thee, becauſe thou ſhouldſt not remain here, to be beholding unto thoſe that are thy mortal enemies, and had rather to hear of thy end, than otherwiſe to hear of thy well-doing, or any good to be done unto thee by any man; it is a grief and a ſpight in head and mind unto them, that thou ſhouldſt come to any help, or things neceſſary for mans uſe here upon earth, the which man cannot be without. And John Dee, I am to command thee, that ſo ſhortly as thou canſt by all means poſſible, ſet thy things in order, for thy Wardenſhip, and in all other cauſes of worldly affairs. ¶ And for maintenance to further thy journy God will moſt graciouſly raiſe thee up ſome good friends to be helping unto thee, that thou mayſt have maintenance in thy journy. And thy very friend John Pontoys ſhall by Gods favour come home, and he ſhall and will be a great aid unto thee, to perform this courſe the which God by me hath commanded thee to undertake: That where thou doſt live now in want, and to be beholding unto thoſe, who do not love thee, neither in heart do wiſh thee well; ſo God would have thee to be where thou ſhalt do him ſervice, and God will give thee long days in ſo doing, and fulfilling this his commandment and will by me Raphael, the which meſſage I am at Gods will and his pleaſure plainly to make known unto thee, that it is his will to have thee to follow this courſe, in which God will have thee to enter into, Not fearing nor miſtruſting the weakneſs of thy body, but that God will preſerve thee for that time, as ſhall be his good will and pleaſure, that thou ſhalt have life here in this world, to be as merciful a God to deliver thee from all hurts and dangers, and from all infirmities, even with as much health as thou haſt had in this time as thou haſt lived thus many years; ſo God will have thee to follow his will in this direction, and then thou ſhalt have all things aforeſaid performed unto thee, and thou ſhalt then have ſuch favour, that thou ſhalt behold his bleſſed Creatures with theſe thy mortal eyes: and if thou wilt perform to the uttermoſt of thy power this meſſage from God by me delivered; Then God will in his mercies perform all that is promiſed unto thee. And except thou wilt be willing and dutiful ſo much as in thee lieth to make good this, the which I have through Gods means declared what courſe thou muſt take; and if thou doſt it not, then God will not no more ſend unto thee, to the beholding of any mans earthly eyes, any of his bleſſed Creatures. Therefore I command thee from God, as I am his faithful Miniſter and bleſſed Angel of God, that thou ſhouldſt not doubt to take this journy in hand, for God will be with thee and for thee, and his bleſſed Angels ſhall be thy comfort, even as the Angel of God was the comfort unto young Tobias in his journey, ſo God will deal with thee in thine. And ſo I have delivered unto thee what God will have thee to do.

John Pontoys.

Long life.

△ Si Deus nobiſcum quis contra nos.

It is the will and favour of God to give the as much underſtanding of Gods mercies towards thee yet for to come, as ever mortal man had delivered unto him by any ſpiritual Creature from God. So now I have fully ended my meſſage. Therefore, ſee that thou John Dee be as ready to perform it to the greateſt of thy power, as lovingly in giving God thanks for this meſſage delivered, becauſe I would have thee to be ſuch an one as ſhall not end his dayes in reproach, and rejoycing of thy enemies, but thou ſhalt have time and days to live, that when thou dieſt, and ſhalt depart this world, thou ſhalt die with fame and memory to the end, that ſuch an one was upon the earth, that God by him had wrought great and wonderful Miracles in his ſervice. And thus to Gods honour and his glory, I have ended my meſſage, yielding unto God all honour, and praiſe, and thanks for all his bleſſings, and his great benefits beſtowed upon his Creatures, both now and for evermore. Amen. Bleſſed be God in all his gifts, and holy in all his works. Praiſed be God. Amen, Amen.

Miracula.

△. Amen.

△. Now, O God, as I have willingly yielded unto thy will and commandment of undertaking a Journey: ſo I beſeech thee that it may ſtand with thy good pleaſure to notifie unto me the Country, Region or City unto which thou wouldſt have me direct my courſe from hence-forward.

△. Nothing appeared.

A Voice ...... A Voice ...... In the Name of God, to morrow at ten of the clock.

△. So be it.

△. All thanks, praiſe and glory be to God the Father, God the Son, and God the holy Ghoſt, now and for ever. Amen.

A Note to be conſidered.

Mr. Eccleſtone.

In the houſe at the breaking up of the place were theſe: James Bolton, Lettice Goſtwich a Maiden, Cook and Dairy-maid.

T*o know the houſe and place therein where it is; or if it be in many places divided, which they are.*
Or if any other be privy of it, who may give any evidence.

And whatſoever may make this a perfect work, to Mr. Eccleſtones reaſonable contentment, moſt humbly and heartily I beſeech God to make known now unto us, and ſo the praiſe and thanks due to God for his mercies, to the beſt of our power to be yielded unto him.

Saturday, Julii 11. hora 10. ante meridiem.

Note, In the Original two Schedules are pinned acroſs this page.

The firſt Schedule. To enquire,

1. T*He Name of the place whether I am to direct my total Journey.*
2. Whom ſhall I have in my company beſides John Pontoys.
3. What of Patrick Sanders.
4. What of my daughter Katherine.
5. What of my ſtanding Books and other appurtenances.
   What of Mr. Bardolf to go with me? Or,
   Of Mr. Dortnall his Companion?
6. What ſhall my Son Arthur do, to his help and comfort in his intended travel?
7. Shall not I at any time return hither into England again?
   Shall I make account to keep ſome title of enjoying my houſe at my return?

Mr. Eccleſtone his Caſe.

Junii 27. 1607. The ſecond Schedule.

T*He Name of my Houſe is* Eccleſton of Eccleſton, the mans Name whom I ſuſpect is Thomas Webſter Carpenter, of the age under fourty, not more, within the County of Lancaſter.
The place was in a falſe Roof adjoyning to a Chimney called New Chamber Chimney.

Edward Eccleſtone.

Thomas Webſter the Thief.

Note:

Note: There being a Figure in a ſingle leaf of paper, and the ſame having no direction where it ſhould be placed, I thought beſt to place it here, the page immediately aforegoing making mention of one Webſter a Thief; and here being words which (if I miſtake not) relate to ſuch a buſineſs, an unquam recuperabitur, whether that was ſtoln ſhall ever be recovered; and, In quo loco jam eſt, In what place Webſter the Thief is at preſent.

1. Significat Dominæ Aſcendentis & octavæ, recuperari poſſe.

2. Applicans per ſed cum receptione, recuperari poſſe ſignificat, ſed cum difficultate aliqua.

4. Nota locum, & ſignum eſt: & Ancilla vel fœmina aliqua conſideranda eſt.

4. Luminaria ſeſe mutuo reſpicientia, non poſterdum fore denotat 5. & maxime cum Dominus medii cœli carpere 7. ſexali radio reſpiciat ſed interim 7'. domum comburat.

JESUS

A Domino factum eſt iſtud & eſt mirabile in oculis noſtris. Ex ſtercore erigit pauperem ut collocet eum cum principibus populi ſui. Amen.

Mittas (O Deus) lucem tuam & veritatem tuam, ut ipſa nos ducant, mirabilem in me fac miſericordiam tuam, & ſapientiam tuam in corde meo figas.

A Voice. I Am Raphael that ſpeak, if you will have me to appear, proceed in haſte, for God hath appointed me great ſervice to do.

△. In the Name of Jeſus, we deſire your anſwers and inſtructions to theſe Articles here ſlightly noted.

1. Raph. In the Name of Jeſus Chriſt, I Raphael am now ſent unto you to deliver unto you your queſtion ſo far forth as God his will and pleaſure is to command me, and I muſt make a ſhort continuance with you, for I have ſervice of God commanded me in haſte to be done, in his bleſſed Name I am come to fulfil his will in your deſires, and therefore in his Name go on.

1. △. The name of the place.

Raph. John Dee, thou haſt been a Traveller, and God hath ever yet at any time provided for thee in all thy Journeys, ſo much Gods favour and his mercies is ſuch toward thee, that this thy requeſt and deſire to be known, What Country is beſt for thy good: God hath referred it to thy own will to make choiſe, in what Country or City thou haſt thy beſt minde unto; and when thou haſt made thy choiſe, if it be Gods liking, and to thy good, it ſhall be directed unto thee; otherwiſe, if it ſhall be made known that ſome other place ſhall be better for thee: Therefore take thy own choiſe and liking.

△.

Raph. John Dee, he that hath commanded thee to take this Journey in hand, he will provide for thee in Germany, or any other Country whereſoever thou goeſt. Therefore let thy good will and liking be in placing thy ſelf, if thou wilt be near unto England or far off.

△. Whether is beſt, I know not.

Raph. I have ſaid, that whereſoever thou wilt, God doth prize thy willing deſire, to fulfil that God doth command: think but thou ſatisfie and reſt in taking thy own choiſe, God will provide for thee, whither and to what City thou haſt a minde or will to enter into, and always Gods good Angel ſhall hold thee, and ever give thee to underſtand, what and where ſhall be ever beſt for thy good liking, when thou art there. Therefore take no care, he, that Almighty will provide for thee, that thou ſhalt be ſo governed with his goodneſs, that all ſhall ſtand well with thee.

2. △. Whom ſhall I have in my company beſide John Pontoys?

3, 4. Raph. John Dee, thou of thy ſelf doſt beſt know that without thy daughter; thou canſt cannot be without her: and likewiſe God hath ſent thee a very honeſt and well-diſpoſed young man to go with thee in thy Journey. And for John Pontoys, he ſhall be one, as thy greateſt comfort and ſpecial ayd, next unto the Almighty. And for any other elſe, it is at thy own good will and well-liking whom thou wilt chuſe to make fit thy purpoſe for neceſſary uſes, for help about thee, Servants I mean.

5. △. What of my ſtanding Books, and other appurtenances?

Raph. John Dee, thou haſt ſpoken already of a very good courſe to ſend them away, nor all at once, but ſome at one time, and ſome at another, and God ſhall and will give thee good ſucceſs therein: and let thy friend John Pontoys, let him provide for all ſuch purpoſes, and ſo ſhalt thou do well.

John Pontoys.

△. As I have been heretofore hindred of many of good purpoſes fulfilling, ſo perchance the King will not be willing now to grant me licence to paſs over ſea.

Raph. He ſhall and will grant thee licence.

6. △. For my Son Arthur, do to his help and comfort in his intended travel.

Raph. If thy Son do like his courſe to travel, he ſhall in the mean while do well, for thy ſake, being a father unto him, God will favour him. And when thou art in place where God hath commanded thee to go, in ſhort time after thy being there, thou ſhalt be able to do him good, in helping him for ſuch things as he now wanteth, and then thou ſhalt take him near unto thee, ſo that he may have a comfort of thy fatherly help, and thou to have comfort of his well-doing: and ſo for this I have certified thee.

7. △. Shall not I at any time return hither into England again?

Raph. Thou ſhalt be better able in health and ſtrength of thy body to come into England again, if thou wilt: but thou ſhalt ſee and perceive thy ſelf ſo mercifully provided for, that thou wilt have but little minde or willingneſs to come into England again, ſuch ſhall Gods great mercies be towards thee.

△. Then I perceive that I ſhall not make any great account of keeping my houſe at Mortlake for any my return hither.

Mr. Eccleſton his Caſe of his money taken away by one Thomas Webſter, &c.

Raph. Thou doſt take an hard matter in hand. This man Thomas Webſter had it, and hath it in his keeping as yet, but he will not yield that he hath it. And for Eccleſton to deal by extremities with him, he ſhall prevail little, he ſhall not thereby obtain his purpoſe. But by friendly dealing with the party, and in proffering him to be a partaker with him, he may yield unto Eccleſton. But otherwiſe, the matter will grow hard. I would from God adviſe thee, John Dee, to enter as few of theſe matters as may be, for this will not be compaſſed, except that he ſhall proceed into the mans houſe according unto Law; and then he ſhall entangle himſelf into trouble, and for the thing never the better: but, as I have ſaid, by friendly dealing he may yield, and ſo far forth as it ſhall pleaſe God, I will work by Gods favour to make him yield. And thus much I have ſaid, and let it ſuffice.

It doth remain as yet in a Coffer that is ſomewhat of a white colour, but he will, if he be ſtirred, he will then remove it, and hide it in the ground in a little Parlour that he hath. And ſo I have ſpoken and anſwered thee at this time, as concerning △. Money I had ſent me from the Emperour by Hans Bik: I marvel that it is not yet come hither.

Raph. For that, John Pontoys will make known unto thee, all to thy good. And in whoſe Name, and in his whoſe Power I came, ſo now again I return to that place, to the which in his mercies bring all his bleſſed Creatures, yielding all honour and praiſe unto his holy Name, I end. Amen, Amen.

△. Amen.

14 day of July, hora 11½.

△. AS I ſate at Dinner with Bartholomew Hickman, my Daughter, Patrick and Thomas Turner, about the end of the Dinner Bartholomew heard a Voice, ſaying, To morrow half an hour after 9 of the clock, give your attendance to know the Lords pleaſure.

△. As near as I remember, ſo he ſaid, or to that effect.

1607.

1607 Julii 15. hor. $9\frac{1}{2}$. ante meridiem.

JESUS

In nomine Dei Patris, & Filii & Spiritus Sancti. Amen.

Mittas lucem tuam & veritatem tuam, ſapientiam & omnimodum auxilium tuum, Domine Deus, ut tibi ſerviamus ſancte, fideliter & conſtanter omnibus diebus vitæ noſtræ. Amen.

Barth. ..... The Creature.

IN the Name of him that created me Raphael, and all the bleſſed Creatures, and likewiſe in his power made all the world, and all things therein contained : Jeſus Chriſt of his great goodneß hath ſent me now at his will, and ſo I am bound at his will to return, when his pleaſure is. All honour be given to him, being God Almighty for evermore. Amen.

Jeſus Chriſt

John Dee, I am Raphael that laſt appeared unto you, and I through Gods good pleaſure did ſet down and made known unto thee, what pretended courſe God would have thee to enter into, and his will is ſuch, that ſo far forth, and ſo ſpeedily as thou canſt, to proceed in it, becauſe that God hath great ſervice for thee to do, when thou ſhalt be there placed.

And now I do let thee underſtand, that as concerning Eccleſton his ſuit and matter that I did at my laſt being here ſpeak of, ſo far forth as it pleaſed God to give me his free will : and now God hath ſent me for favour that God doth bear unto thee, and not for no cauſe elſe, I Raphael do now tell thee, that this matter, and all ſuch like unto it, are not for me to enter into, neither for any ſuch as be of that high Society and Calling as I am of. Yet notwithſtanding, I am ready by Gods merciful goodneſs to command thoſe whom God hath and doth appoint to ſerve under me : and ſuch his bleſſed Creatures being thoſe that do ſtand in his preſence, I Raphael will at Gods pleaſure command thoſe that ſhall deal in Eccleſtons ſuit, in conſtraining by ſuch Creatures as I have made known unto you, that they ſhall force and conſtrain theſe parties, as he which he had in hand; he is one, James Bolton is another, and the Treaſure was carried to the Carpenter his brothers houſe; and there, as I did ſhew unto thee, a Coffer of white colour. Thoſe parties are ſo troubled in minde, that they cannot be quiet, how or where to place the Treaſure, becauſe they would keep it cloſe. But let this ſuffice and ſatisfie for the whole anſwer in this his ſuit : I Raphael through Gods power will command ſuch Creatures that ſhall conſtrain thoſe parties to bring the matter to true light, and confeſs the ſaid Treaſure; and he, the party the owner to have his money again, in ſo ſhort time as may be pleaſing and acceptable unto the Almighty. God will have the whole matter made known in this order, without any further trouble unto the parties : but it is his will that he ſhall examine them in friendly manner, if they will not yield, then by the force of a Juſtice in examination; but they will not yield till ſuch time as I by theſe Creatures ſhall make them to yield, through Gods help, to their ſorrow; and ſo the party the owner ſhall ſo come by his goods again. And now I have anſwered you in as ample manner as God will have me; for (as I have ſaid) ſuch matters are not for me, but that courſe that I have now declared, by Gods help ſhall be performed. And ſo in the Name of the Higheſt for this I do now end, giving praiſe to the Almighty. And furthermore, John Dee, in few words, for thy ſake, If this Window by his Creatures, ſhould have medled in the cauſe, they ſhould have had a great labour. But notwithſtanding, that which I have ſpoken of, is ſufficient, praiſed be the Name of God : and ſo I end.

Mr. Eccleſton.

Raphael his inferiours.

The Treaſure.

Raphael his commandment.

How they will & ſhall yield.

△. By this The Window to be brought in, &c.

△. If it ſhould not offend, then I would gladly know the ſum of the Treaſure.

Raph. Two thouſand and a half, and odde money.

△. How, in gold and ſilver?

Raph. More then three parts thereof in gold.

△. Moſt humbly and heartily I thank the Almighty for ......

Raph. John Dee, if thou doſt doubt of any thing as concerning the entring into the courſe of thy Journey; and likewiſe, if thou doſt doubt of any thing that ſhall be againſt thy good ſucceß when thou art there, Now ſpeak, and I ſhall through Gods mercies make thee anſwer, as it may and ſhall pleaſe God to the good direction of any thing that thou ſhalt doubt of, for God will not command thee to enter into that Journey, but that he will moſt mercifully and graciouſly be thy keeper, and deliver thee from the hands of thy enemies in thy Journey. And for the good health of thy body, God will ſo carry thee in good health, that thou ſhalt ſet forth ſuch ſervice when thou art there placed, that ſhall be thy great comfort unto Gods honour, in making of his marvellous works to be known. And thus much for thy comfort through Gods merciful goodneß I have made known unto thee : and ſo I end.

△....

△. . . . . .

John Dee, God doth know all this that thou doſt ſpeak of. In few words, to end many words, he will ſo direct thy wayes in ending ſuch troubles, as ſhall be to thy good and ſpeedy finiſhing.

△ . . . . .

John Pontoys, before ſuch time as thou ſhalt have any great cauſe to uſe his aid, and furtheremore, God will ſo work for thee in the heart of his Maſter (whom he is Factor for) Stapers I mean, that Stapers ſhall with all the aid and help that he can to further thy good proceeding. And ſo God in all caſes will thus graciouſly deal with thee. And now is my full time to depart in Gods peace, and to ſerve him from whom I came, his mighty Name. •

△. I fearing his ſudden departure, did earneſtly urge at his hands, to know the truth of Tobias his hiſtory: and ſo half unmannerly did interrupt his ſpeech with my queſtion.

John Dee, I am Raphael that is appointed of God to be thy Guide in this thy Journey; and I am that ſame Raphael that was the Guide unto young Tobias in his long Journey, and delivered him from the power of the wicked Spirit Aſmodeus, who had, as thou knoweſt, how many he had deſtroyed: and I brought him through Gods power home again, and delivered him in health unto his own parents. And thus much I have made thee plainly to underſtand without any doubting to the contrary. And ſo now once again I do depart. All honour and glory to the everlaſting God, both now and for evermore. Amen, Amen.

△. Amen.

17 July.

After dinner (horam circiter 4½.) as Bartholomew and I talked of divers of my doings with Mr. Kelley, a Voice produced this to Bartholomews hearing,

A Voice. . . . . . I, John Dee, I have heard you all this while.

Thou ſhalt be able to do, and to ſee, and to underſtand more than all this as thou haſt ſpoken of, according as God hath promiſed thee.

△. Bleſſed be his holy Name, and his mercies be magnified on me, to the honour of his holy Name. Amen.

△. Note . . . . . Upon occaſion of further talk and ſpeech of my Jewel that was brought, I asked Bartholomew if ever he had ſeen it ſince it was ſet in gold; and he thought that he had not ſeen it: Whereupon I went ſpeedily to my Cheſt, unlocked it, and took it out, and undid the Caſe, and ſet the Stone in his due manner.

And by and by did Raphael appear in the Stone, and in voice ſaid thus, as followeth:

Dei donum. Vid. Arbatel.

Raph. In the Name of Jeſus Chriſt, I am Raphael whoſe voice thou didſt hear right now. And now, in Gods holy Name, for thy good, and for thy comfort, I have, now, here, in this Pearl entred Poſſeſſion, in token hereafter to be that bleſſed Creature, to be obedient unto Gods Commandment, to ſerve thee at all times, when thou art placed in thy Journey, which God hath 1 commanded thee. And likewiſe thou ſhalt have the book from whence this came. And that
2 Duſt which thou haſt in keeping, (the which thou doſt make account of no better but duſt) Then it
3 ſhall be turned to the right uſe, from whence it was: and to that good purpoſe, that God hath ordained for to do. And now it was the will of God, that I ſhould ſpeak unto thee a few words of this good comfort to be performed. Praiſe God, honour his holy Name, for his great bleſſings now and for ever; That it did pleaſe the Almighty to ſend me to your preſence, in token of his love, for his great mercy. And ſo now, in his Name I go again into the preſence of the Almighty, whoſe Name be ever praiſed, with all his elect Angels, and all the bleſſed Creatures of God, and all the bleſſed Creatures upon earth, praiſe his Name for evermore. Amen, Amen.

△. Amen.

△. O Lord God, moſt humbly, heartily and ſincerely I honour thee, praiſe thee, and extoll thy mercies, and moſt loving kindneſs, for theſe, and all other thy graces and bleſſings on me. Accept, O God, my hearty thanks, and enable me ſo to thank thee, as may be a moſt acceptable ſacrifice unto thy Divine Majeſty. Amen, Amen, Amen.

1607.

1607. Sept. 5. hora 9½. Mortlak.

יהוה

Mitte lucem tuam & veritatem tuam Domine, quæ nos ducant & perducant ad montem ſanctum tuum & ad cœleſtia tua tabernacula. Amen.

Barth. He is in the Stone now.

Benedictus qui venit in nomine Domini.

O Moſt merciful Lord and Saviour Chriſt Jeſus, who is and was the Creator and Redeemer of Mankinde, and of all his bleſſed Creatures. In his power I Raphael am now come at his will and commandment, and ſo likewiſe at his good pleaſure I muſt then return at ſuch time as he hath commanded me.

John Dee, in the Name of the Moſt Higheſt, I am come to deliver unto thee this my Meſſage, the which God in his goodneſs hath commanded me.

Firſt, I Raphael am ſent of God at this time moſt chiefly to put thee in that good remembrance of my laſt appearing to your preſence, to let thee to underſtand, that look what courſe God in his mercies did ſet then down, what way thou ſhouldſt take to enter into this Journey, the which God in his goodneſs is moſt willing that thou ſhouldſt enter into. For, John Dee, God hath declared, and made manifeſtly known unto thee at my laſt appearing, what ſervice God would uſe thee unto, and all ſuch purpoſes that were the laſt time ſpoken of, ſhall be by Gods favour and his merciful good gift performed unto thee : and fear thou not, but God will ſafely help and preſerve thy body in thy Journey, to that end, that thou ſhouldeſt be in that place wherein thou mighteſt have time to enter into all ſuch ſervice as God hath by me made known unto thee. For, John Dee, ſuch hath Gods mercies been in ſuffering wicked men to prevail againſt thee, and they have and do make a ſcorn of thee here in this thy Native Countrey : So it is with thee as it was with Chriſt and his Apoſtles, being moſt cruelly uſed in their own Native Countreys ; ſo John Dee, God hath ſuffered thoſe wicked men to pluck thee down in worldly affairs, the which ſhould be maintenance for thee and for thine, and without ſuch maintenance man cannot be without, while he is here in this vale of Miſery. Such wicked men have moſt cruelly uſed thee, even as Job by Gods ſufferance, who ſuffered the Devil to prevail againſt him : yet Gods mercies be ſo great unto thee, that although they (moſt wickedly) have robbed thee of thy poſſeſſion, yet God would not ſuffer thoſe wicked ones by any of their malicious practices to prevail in any wiſe to hurt thy body, as Jobs was : For if they (hrough their wicked purpoſes) could have wrought ſuch cruelty againſt thee, thou hadſt not been a man living here upon earth until this time. So John Dee, thou doſt know who is thy mortal enemy, who, rules next unto your earthly King.

Δ.

Why thou maiſt well know, for I have made it known before time unto thee, that he is not thy friend, though thou haſt not offended him in any wiſe. Therefore, becauſe that this thy Native Countrey is not a place fit for Gods purpoſes in his wiſdome to be beſtowed upon thee here, Therefore at my laſt Meſſage, God did ſend me to make known unto thee, whether he would have thee to go , that there thou mightſt be a man ; and that man, whom God hath appointed to make his Wiſdome known : for thou art that man whom God hath choſen, that (accordingly as it was ſaid yeſterday) that no mortal man in fleſh, but onely Enoch, had or ſhall have the like wiſdome made known, plainly to be underſtood by any man, or thou thy ſelf ſhalt underſtand and receive at the hands of the Almighty. Therefore it is his will and purpoſe of God, that he would have thee in that Countrey, for this thy Native Countrey is not worthy of gifts that thou ſhalt receive at the hands of God, to come, and to be made known unto thoſe which be not worthy of ſuch great gifts of Gods wiſdome, to come amongſt thoſe that be unworthy.

Therefore, John Dee, in all theſe matters the which in favour at this time made known unto thee, the chief and greateſt cauſe of this my coming unto thee , is to make the matter plainly known, that God in his mercies would have thee with all diligence that thou canſt poſſibly, to haſte thee to that Countrey where God doth command thee, and at my laſt being here thou knoweſt what was my Meſſage, therefore do thy diligence to fulfil it as thou canſt, and God will put his great helps unto thee, in ſtrengthning of thy body, and otherwiſe, which ſhall be to thy good. And thou being once in that place where God would have thee to be, thou ſhouldſt well perceive and plainly underſtand, that God will moſt mercifully work with thee for thy good in performing all ſuch promiſes, the which hath been both at the laſt time and at this time made known unto thee.

John Dee, I do put thee in remembrance, that whereas thou didſt ſay, that thou hadſt a portion of money ſent thee from the Emperour unto thee; I tell thee, that the Devil in working in the heart of one of thy enemies (Cook I mean) did ſeek ſome wayes by his falſe important ill ſpeeches, in moſt falſe manner, unto one that did in ſomewhat let the Emperour to underſtand, what he had moſt falſely, to thy diſcredit (as he thought) to hinder thee, that thou ſhouldſt not come to any help or credit at the *E*mperours hand. But John Dee, be of good comfort, The Emperour of all Emperours will be thy comfort, and aid thee, and evermore put down thy enemies, that the Emperour (that thou ſhouldſt have received that portion of) it ſhall be ſo with thee, that he ſhall have more need of thee, in ſuch wiſdome as God ſhall deliver unto thee; for thou ſhalt have no need of him, but onely to keep good will and friendſhip betwixt him and thee, in ſhewing thy ſelf friendly unto him, as God ſhall hereafter give thee plainly to underſtand.

Now, John Dee, I have made known unto thee what Gods will is in this my meſſage. This is the greateſt and the moſt principal cauſe, why God hath ſent me unto thee at this preſent time. And now I have through Gods mercies delivered this his Commandment unto thee: and for this I have now ſaid and finiſhed.

△. Bleſſed be the Almighty God, now and for ever.

Gladly I would have underſtood how much the portion was which the Emperour would have ſent me.

John Dee, let it go, and ſpeak no farther of it: for thou maiſt be joyful, whereas it is ſaid unto thee, that he ſhould have need of thee, and not thou of him. Therefore reaſon no more in that matter.

△. As concerning Mr. Eccleſton.

John Dee, in few words I anſwer thee, He hath dealt with the parties in thoſe affairs, but the chief party will not, as yet, yield any thing to be made known, but doth ſtubbornly and ſtoutly ſtand in his own defence: And Gods Creatures have wrought with him, and nothing he will (as yet) yield unto, except that thoſe Creatures ſhould deal ſo cruelly with him, as it were to pull him apieces: this is his wicked ſtubbornneſs. But God will bring the matter to light; but Eccleſton hath not dealt ſo in the matter as he might have done, he is too too ſlack in his own cauſe. Therefore if the fault be in him, then do not blame the Creatures of God. For God could (as you very well do know it) command that ſaid Treaſure to be brought: but he will not have it ſo to be, becauſe it ſhall come by other means among men: So God hath a great care and purpoſe to do all for your good, to keep matters out of blame and ſlander of the world, as it might come to paſſe, if it ſhould come by any other wayes, but by this plot which is laid down to decline. And when it is the will of God that it ſhall be delivered, God will ſo perform it, as man will do as he ſhould do, in all reverend manner towards God-ward. And ſo now I let you to perceive, and to know, that it is not as yet obtained.

△. Whether hath the other party confeſſed any thing?

Raph. He hath not as yet yielded openly: but he hath in ſecret manner perſwaded his fellow, that the matter might be made known unto Eccleſton, in confeſſing of all the whole matter, but the other will not yet yield: but it were better for him to yield at the firſt, then to tarry any longer, the leſſe would be his puniſhment from God therein. And ſo I let you to underſtand, that you ſhall give God his time to work in that matter at his pleaſure, and then ſhall it be to the good of the owner, and of you likewiſe. And now I have ſaid.

△. As concerning the bereaving me of my own goods, I would gladly underſtand who hath my ſilver double gilt bell-Salt, and other things here of late conveyed from mee.

Raph. John Dee, This is the will and purpoſe of God to command thee, although thou doſt ſuffer wrong becauſe thy goods be ſo taken away from thee, yet Gods will is ſuch, that he will have thee to be a peace-maker in this cauſe: for it is paſt help to have it again: But as thou art a mortal father, ſo uſe that matter as a father, for thy ſon had it, although he would not, neither will confeſs it. And likewiſe for ſuch things of late miſſing about this houſe, thou ſhalt hereafter as plainly know who had them, and how they were gone, as thou doſt plainly underſtand for thy Salt, but thou ſhalt ſtay and proceed no further, till ſuch time as I Raphael ſhall ſpeak further of it, for God will have all things to be done well, and to his beſt liking. So for that I have now ſaid.

Δ.

John Dee, it is in the hands of God and his power to ſend thee ſuch helps as thou doſt ſeek of the Treaſure to be brought unto thee, but God will not have it ſo to be, the while thou art in this place (England I mean) for God will not have thee to come into any diſdain, or ſlander might take ſome advantage againſt them, but be content with that little that can be made of thy right in the Colledge matters. And furthermore, thou ſhalt ſee that God will ſend thee ſoon ſome ſuch ſmall helps by man, that thou ſhalt have ſome feeling of help, to help thee whither thou ſhouldſt go; and therefore I Raphael have now ſaid.

Δ.... John Pontoys.

John Dee, be not too much inquiſitive, but what ſhall be beſt to your liking in any good cauſe whatſoever you or he ſhall think good to be done for your good, God will put his aſſiſtance and help that you ſhall perceive Gods favour therein. And thus much I have ſaid: at Gods commandment I came, and ſo on his mercifull goodneſſe, and his power, I muſt preſently depart.

Δ... Bartholomews requeſt of George Sherman his earneſt oft and dreaming of Treaſure to be under the foundation of the wall called De la pry wall, a Nunry in times paſt within half a mile of Northampton, Sir William Tate his houſe is within that wall in three parts.

That man may lawfully have it, if he take heed in the breaking of the the three places, for 500.
it is for the greateſt part under the bottom of the wall, and many roots of thorns and trees that will let and hinder the working for it, if he do not work much as ſlope as you can, to go under the roots, the which he may well and lawfully do. So doing, he may well obtain his purpoſe; and 300.
now you have plainly underſtood the truth.

The one part of that Treaſure was laid by an old Nun, that was of that houſe, at that time, and one that was her brother, and the other was laid even at the ſame time, that the ſame travel the which you took the laſt day ſaving one, to know of that battel, it was hid at the ſame time by one of the Lords that was there killed, and ſo it hath remained ever ſince, the one place more eaſier to come at then the other, but with the favour of God, and in his mercy, that good fortune to be deſired at parties hand, it may be had and compaſſed by the ſaid party. And ſo now I have made the matter known unto you. And now in the name of the Almighty, and merciful God, at whoſe will and pleaſure I came, ſo now I depart in Gods peace. The mercies of God be upon you, both for this life, and for that which is to come, his name be glorifyed for evermore. Amen, Amen.

Δ. Amen.

1607. Munday 7. Sept. hora 7.

Δ. This morning as Bartholomew had intended to be going homeward in the morning, and I not intending to move an action now, but committed all to God, Bartholomew was ſpoken unto by Raphael.

..... Command John Dee to come up into this place.

A voice to Bartholomew.

Δ.... In the name of Jeſus, and to the honour and glory of the moſt bleſſed Trinity. Amen.

Mittas O omnipotens ſempiterne & une Deus lucem tuam & veritatem tuam, quæ nos ducant & perducant ad montem ſanctum tuum & cœleſtia tua tabernacula. Amen.

Barth. .... He is here.

Δ.... Benedictus eſt, qui venit in nomine Domini. Amen.

The Almighty God be bleſſed and praiſed of all good creatures, give praiſe unto his holy name, for evermore. Amen.

John Dee, I am the ſame bleſſed creature Raphael, that did appear the laſt day but one in this place, I am at the commandment of the moſt higheſt to come unto your preſence at this time, becauſe thou ſhouldeſt very well know that I Raphael am very ready at all times, to come, when God ſhall command me; but John Dee, I have no long meſſage, at this time, for thou haſt Gods full purpoſe and his will, in what he would have thee to enter into, and becauſe that thou ſhalt well know that even now at your departing, the one from the other, it hath pleaſed God to ſend me to let thee to underſtand that for this time no more matters (as concerning what thou art taught) ſhall not (at this time) no more be ſpoken of, untill ſuch time as God ſhall appoint, at your next meeting and coming together, that then, if there be any thing, that is not done of you, ſo far forth as it is in your power to fulfill it, if any ſuch default in you be, I will then put you in remembrance of it, and help you in any thing which you ſhall doubt of: and if you have any queſtion or demand to ask of me, even now, I am very ready in few words to anſwer you, and then in his name, who hath ſent me (that is the Almighty) I muſt return therefore, if you have to ask do it.

△ .... As concerning Mr. John   of the Iſle of Man, his pitiful caſe hath moved my compaſſion.

Raph. ... John Dee, aſſure thy ſelf, that as thou doſt moſt heartily, with a good faith in God, that thou mighteſt be that man wherein God will moſt mercifully help his diſtreſſed caſe, therefore I anſwer thee, that God hath, and he will hear thee, to thy comfort therein, and to the great comfort of the man whom that cauſe doth belong unto. God will mercifully help the cauſe ſo ſhortly, as his will and pleaſure is to be done in it. So much I have ſaid for this.

△ .... I thank God moſt heartily for his ſo great mercies.

△ .... John Pontoys, my great friend, earneſtly deſireth to know his good Angel.

Raph. .... John Dee, for thy ſake he ſhall know his good Angel, but let it not be with him hereafter to have a pride in mind, that God hath made known unto him his good angel, for no man upon the face of the earth can have a better then he hath, for Uriel is his appointed Angel from his birth to this day, and ſo ſhall continue with him to the appointed time, that God will take his life away in ſeparating his ſoul from his body, for Uriel hath been under God his deliverer forth of many dangers, and ſo he ſhall be his defence under God to his lifes end. And for this, I have made the matter plainly known unto you. Procede.

△ .... Secondly, John Pontoys is deſirous to know the end of the Poliſh troubles.

Raph. ... John Dee, in few words, for that matter, I anſwer thee. Thoſe troubles will ſomewhat end to his loſſe; but it ſhall be no great matter, ſo that God will work the caſe that it ſhall end to his liking. And thus much for this I have ſaid.

△ .... As concerning the man and the Treaſure, I am deſirous to know whether he will be content to aſſign his title to Bartholomew, upon ſome portion thereof delivered unto him; and what other he hath made acquainted with the matter; and whether it may not by Gods good liking be ſet up without digging.

Raph .... John Dee, in all this I hear thee, and I know thine intent herein. That man may be reaſonably ruled, but yet he will not put over his title therein; but he hath 4. that beknowing how the matter doth ſtand with him, and ſo much as he doth know, he hath made them to know as much as himſelf: Therefore aſſure thy ſelf that he ſhall be ruled, and that it ſhall not be as he will. If he will not be ordered in ſuch ſort and good councel as I Raphael ſhall give unto this Bartholomew at that time, that then he ſhall have no part of it, but I certifie you that he will be ruled; but onely the others, which I have made known unto you, they will not come to ſo good courſe in the matter as he will. Therefore let it reſt, I will direct Bartholomew in the matter which ſhall be to his good, or elſe it ſhall not come to his hand, the which you have to know of. And for this, now I have ſaid.

John Dee, it is the will and purpoſe of God, that it ſhall come by breaking of the ground, becauſe that God will have all things done well, that no diſcord may break out betwixt the parties hereafter. And ſo now in Gods name I have ſaid.

△ .... Moſt humbly I thank and praiſe Almighty God for his infinite mercies and favour, beſeeching him to aſſiſt me evermore. Amen.

△ .... John Pontoys would ſhortly fall to work ſomewhat, to win ſome help for mony by diſtillations and Alchymicall concluſions, till we were otherwiſe holpen, and we are utterly unable to provide things neceſſary for lack of ſufficient proviſion of money.

Raph. ... Trouble not thy ſelf (as yet) with theſe cauſes.

△ ... If Captain Langham will lend me an hundred pounds or more, as he promiſed me, for which my ſervant Patrick expecteth his performance at this hour.

Raph. ... Not (in ſuch time) TO DO YOU GOOD.

Note. John Dee, that is the plain meaning, wherein it is ſaid, not to do thee good, becauſe it will be ſomething too long (for thou art ready for it, if it were now, therefore with all haſt, ſo much as is in Gods will to be done in it, it ſhall be haſtened forward to do thee good.

And now I have plainly ſpoken unto thee in this caſe , my time appointed of God is at hand.

Iohn Pontoys note. John Dee, thou haſt fulfilled two queſtions, as concerning John Pontoys, look in thy Note.

John Pont. Oh that I might be fit to ſerve you in Bartholomews abſence.

Raph. ... John Dee, In the name of the moſt higheſt I anſwer thee, to this his deſire wherein he doth crave at the hands of God, for to obtain the ſight of his bleſſed creatures; but hereafter it ſhall be made known unto thee what God will do for him in that his deſire. And now, all power and glory be given to the Almighty who hath made heaven and earth, his name be magnified, and praiſed everlaſtingly. Amen, Amen.

△ .... Amen.

△ .... All praiſe, all thanks, all honour and glory be yielded unto God of all his creatures, now and for evermore. Amen.

△. John

△.... John Pontoys note, which he wrote, and left on my ſtudy table, 7. Septemb. The Note.
mane.

If it may ſtand with the will and leave of the Almighty, whoſe name be bleſſed for evermore.

I would deſire to know

1. My proper Angel.
2. The end of the Poliſh troubles.
3. O that I might be fit to ſerve you in Bartholomews abſence.

Under John Pontoys Note the which is ſowed over, is thus written.

The place of Baſel
in the Map of Europe.

Baſel
City
To the left or next ſide
2 foot, and about 4 inches
to the edge of the Map below 4 foot and a finger from Baſel.

◆

1. ARney vah nol gadeth adney ox vals, nath gemſeh ab orza vall gemmah, oh gedvam on zembah nohhad vomſah oldru ampha nots admancha nonſah vamſas ornad, alphol andax orzadah vos auſoh hanſah voh adma wha notma goth vamſed adges ouſeple oudemax orzan, unſa onmah vndabra gouſah gols nahàd Na.

2. Oxar Varmol pan ſampas os al paus orney audſu alſaph oncha, coſdam onzagofes natmamatatp max, oluah von ganſe pacath olnoh vor nasquah loth adnay nonſah oxanſah Vals nodax vandqueth lan ſandquat ox ardanh onzabel ormach donquin aſtmax arpahels ontipodah omvah noſch als maut quts, ar mad notgals.

3. Vantantquah ondreh als vrh quanchah orn ſandvah loh, audah nol pan, ſedmah zvgeh als abmicadampaget ordomph, oxah gethol val axel authaih gorſan vax parſah vort lanq audamſſah getheol, urchan nabadah oxembles armax lothar, vos antath, orſe vax, alnoth, other mals olnah gethom Vardamach, allſa.

4. Orgeth or paſquah omzadah vorts, antenodah varſava onch aldumph, auget onſaval galta oth arveth ax pa geſne ovad ax orney aldumbiges, Voſcomph alze ax, orzad audah goſt aſtoh nadah Vortes, aſtmah noteſima goth nathad omza, geth alteth ox degath ouda voxa gemnache adnv dauſa als alſt arſah.

5. Orthath ols gaſt ardoh max varmah doth novamq lath, advat Gotham, ardrivoh aſtomagel arpaget aſteih arde obza, ols (ya) gem va pala bunda orſat nabah odmazen andulphel, ox ambraſſ:h oxab geth nor uamfah genoh daqueth als aſtna, ob tutoh, alſah goth necor andeoh neo alda nah.

6. Vanlah oha demageus ou ſanfah, paphah olemueh, ozadcha lax ornah vor adme ox Vaſtmah grelabazna, gamnacho aſtmah ochado laudridah vons ſah, lugho iahat nabſcham nohads vandiſpa roßamod audroch alpoh zuml loh aſnah gonſageph aldeh lo dab vax orh aſnis gad av dan ſe qua deo, dath vax nogral vox ſegbat Mon.

7. Arni olbah galpa lohanaha gaupumagenſah ollo var ſe darſah goho albvmielamacapaloth who nad veſtah vors ardni imnony aſqvam rath als vaſmah genda loggahab aſtmv.

8. Arnah notah lax vart lvhoh diſmaphi ol eapraminacah oxandahvah gemveloriphitonpha attamplahnoſtapha ormaxadahahar orzemblizadmah panchefelogedoh aſchab olmah ledoh vaxma.

9. Cans na Cap lan ſeda ax nor vorza vo. Las pral onſa gem gemah noph gazo na von ſaulfa noſtradg anſil unſa pah vort velſa or alda viax nor adroh ſemneh ols vandeſqual olzah nolpax pahab loth r ax rv vanſar glminaph gath ardot ardri axa noh gaga leth arde maxa.

10. Carſal mabah nophch alps arford vord vanfax oriox nabat gemnepoh laphet foda nat vombal nams argeth alloah nophirt lauda noxa voxtaf ardno androch labmageth oſſu almaglo ardet nalbar vanſe darto vorts parſan ur unrah vor gadeth leth orze nax vomreh gelpha, legar or nembla ox ar vah ſu.

11. Zanchevmachaſeph, olzaminoah Valſeburaah nodeliganax orſapnago darſagnapha nobſiblith armipyth arſepolimitantons Jembulſamar leboge axpar ornaza oldaxardacoah.

12. Semno ab al chi do a cha da Selpagmodah a da hu ba mi ca noh dam pha gli aſ cha nor ox om pa mi na pho. lemp, na, gou, ſa, pha ne co al pha aſ pa ge mo cal. na tu rage.

13. Sen gal ſe quar ruſ fa glau ſur taſt ormaca oxinodal ge brah nop tar na gel vom na cheſ pal ma cax arſeß aſ don ſadg aſc lan fau che dah nor vi car max coh zum bla xanpha ad geb do ca ba ah.

14. Ar gem na ca pal fax, or nido hab caſ pigan alpuh gagah loth zal ſa bra dan go ſa pax vol ſan queſ tan ondapha opicab or zy la pa a chra pa ma les ad ma carpah oxalps on da pa, gem na de vor guſe.

15. Lat gaus ſa par ſat laſteah lor adah nox ax ardephes nouſou andoh gvmzi vor ſab liboh ad ni ſa pa loh gabo lar va nox ax oho lan ſempah noxa Uriah ſephah luſaz oldgalſax nottaph ax vernoc arpos ar'a zem zubah, lothor gas lvbah vom xa da phi ca no.

16. Aſſotaphe ondah Vor ban ſanphar pa loth agno jam neſrob am algors vrrabah geuſeh alde ox nah vors purblox amphicato noſtrohh admadg or napſv aſmo lon gamphi arbel noſ amphi on ſembeloh aſchi nar laſſax las doxa pra gem a ſeſtrox amphi nax var ſembleh.

17. Angeſel orcapacad onz adq ochadah olzah vor nah orpogographel al ſa gem na ca pi coh. Ul da pa por ſah naxor vonſa rous Erbauf lab dun zaph algadef loh gem vorta oh amph a hoba za vaxorza lepteh oxor neoh ah va dv na ca.pi ca lodox ard nah.

FINIS.

[illegible]

10/4

The Vision and the Voice

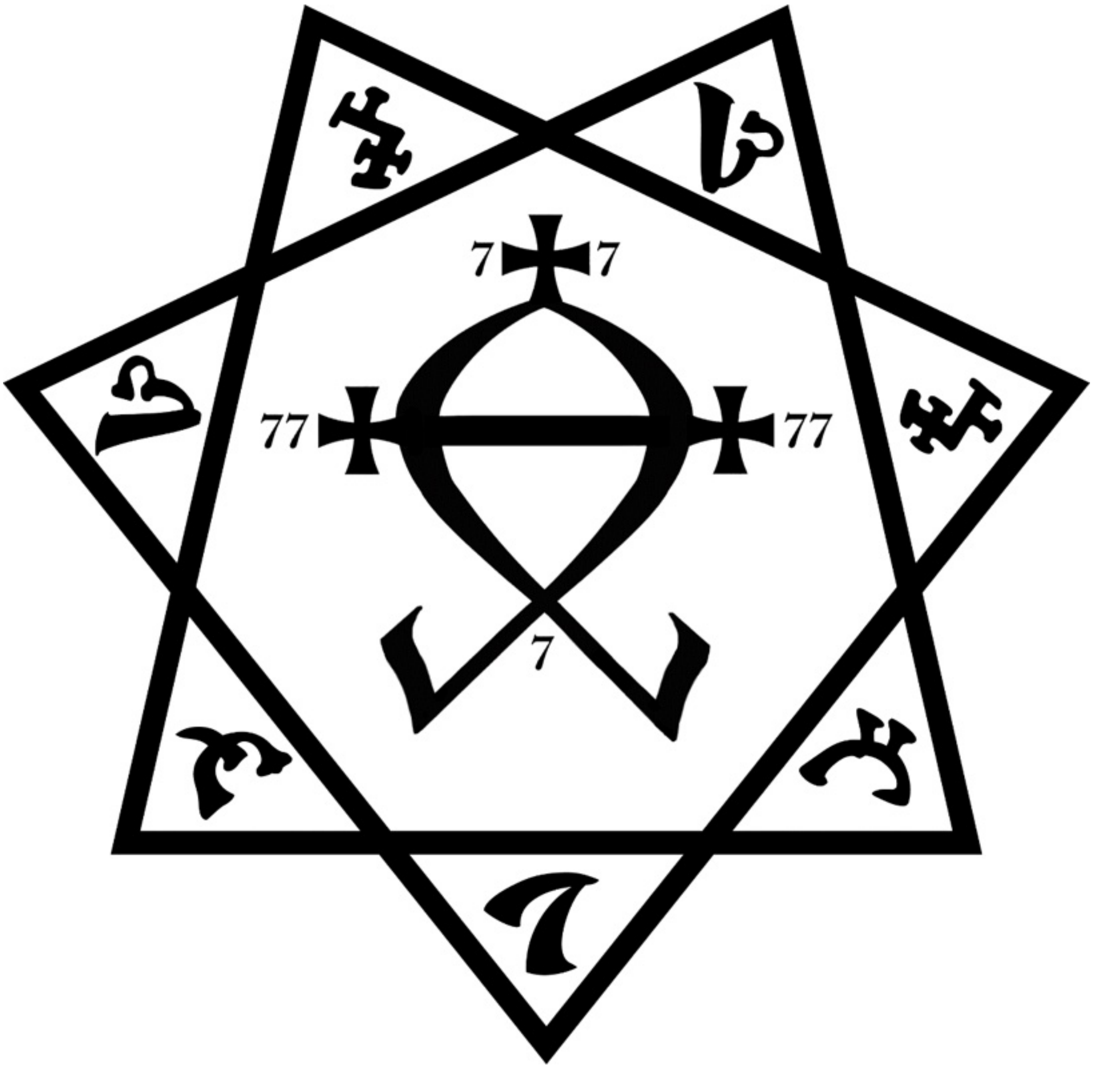
being of the Angels of the Thirty Æthyrs

(Mexico, 1900 and Algeria, 1909)

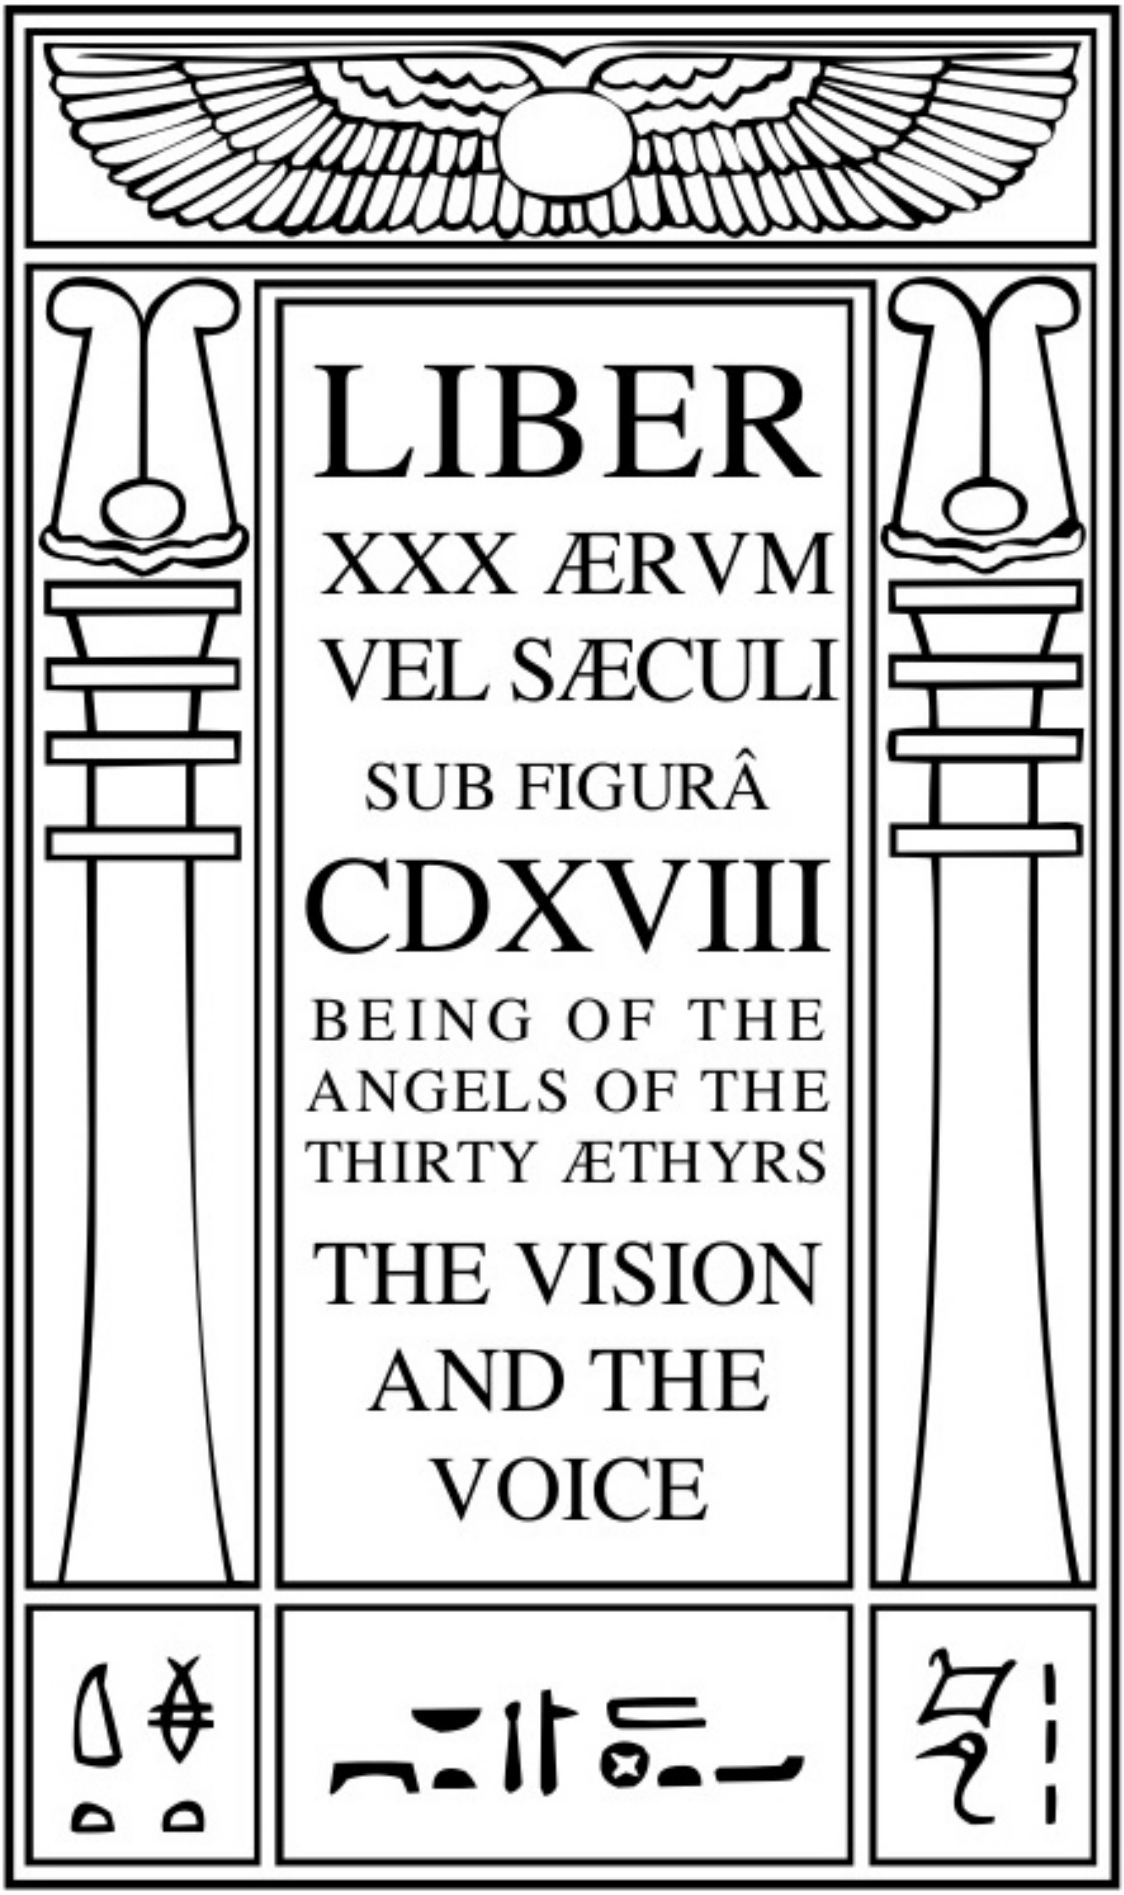
As delivered to Perduabo and O.V.

Introduction and Supplemental Volume

With essays by David R. Jones and Obsidian



IN NOMINE BABALON



LIBER
XXX ÆRVM VEL SÆCULI
SUB FIGURÂ
CDXVIII
BEING OF THE ANGELS OF THE THIRTY ÆTHYRS
THE VISION AND THE VOICE

A∴A∴

Publication in Class A.

Introduction Volume in Class B

For J.F.C. Fuller,
the man responsible for this edition more than any other mortal.

Without his decades of careful custody and safekeeping through times of trouble, these words as they are and ever shall be would have been lost.

Love always to Agent 156, Augustus Sol Invictus, Stacey Diana Porter, V.V.V., Eamonn, Kate Jones, Tony Iannotti, Maria V. Montgomery, Antti Balk, Marissa Lafferty, the Children of ’83, and Matthew Lyons.

Gloria in Mater et Filia et Mensa Sanctorum.

Sicut erat in principio, et nunc, et semper, et in saecula saeculorum.

Contents

Editor's Forward 8
Introductory essays 11
0. Prologue 17
I. To Mexico 26
II. In Mexico 29
III. The Dating Problem 31
IV. Don Jesús Medina 37
V. High Priest of L.I.L. 45
VI. Talismans of L.I.L. 71
VII. The Mexican Rituals 93
VIII. L.P.D. 162
IX. Geomantic Correspondences 189
X. On the Holy Twelve-fold Table 214

00. Interlude 223
XI. Map – The Algeria of the Vision & the Voice 224
XII. The Scribe 225
XIII. The Divorce 239
XIV. The Puzzle of Choronzon 256
Works Cited 257

On the assignment to "Class A" in this edition 273
A re-consideration of the Prophet after 418: 279 facts as they appear
The 19th Call (West 36, annotated and transcribed) 285
The Dates and Times of the Aires 303

Editor's Forward

Throughout the course of doing the restoration of The Vision and the Voice from the notebooks, and doing related research, the one underlying theme which keeps recurring, even from those with whom I place a great deal of trust and mutual respect, has been the ostensible importance of "Crowley's vision" or "what Crowley would have wanted."

For this edition, for the first time since 1909, the notebooks and the Aethyrs speak for themselves - free from the shackles of that very vision, or what that man wanted. These were never intended to be edited or mangled. They are implicitly sacred, part of our religious and cultural heritage, and were for a century available only in their defaced form by the very desire of that man and his later disciples. I am not one of those. I am a servant of the forces beyond these pages, not of the smoldering bricks of a crumbled estate or of Prophet who lost the Voice.

Every choice made herein is intended to be such to return focus to the message and the practices detailed therein, free from that editorializing and agenda. No, this edition will not be perfect despite best and genuine efforts to make it so. However, the original documents are always provided for the reader to be able to make that call; I neither want you to trust my judgement nor refrain from pointing out errors such as they occur.

In this, every choice is intentional, from fonts to layout to keeping everything that is not explicitly Class A out of the non-supplemental volumes. Should you ignore this supplemental volume altogether, that is perfectly reasonable. I have included works which I felt would be of interest for those of which this is a sacred text, a central part of the system long overlooked and never before done properly, including inviting David R. Jones to share his insights on the material. I do not always agree with Mr. Jones, but I have always respected his judgement and reasons for making his decisions. In that, I also felt it important to have a more traditional pro-Crowley voice than mine to be represented in this supplemental volume. His work is also staggering for both depth and time investment, and should be carefully considered by any serious students of these subjects. I have been examining myself for some time, having already spent a great deal of time reading them in its preparation.

As we enter the first rays of dawn of this Aeon, it is important that the central works of our tradition be available in editions which present them as they are. The fact that we do not have a proper color edition of Liber AL with detailed manuscript pages is a travesty, and the loss of the manuscript pages for the other Holy Books even more so. As you can clearly see by this manuscript and the available black and white photographs of Liber AL's pages, the Prophet could not leave well enough alone - and as such, every inch of all of them must be viewed again with that knowledge.

This has not been done for love of money, nor status, nor anything but making the shining city on the hill that The Vision and the Voice is stand upright and proper for the first time since the dusty desert of Algeria. I have received nothing for this Work, and never will. I have no podcast to promote, no organization to proclaim from the rooftops. I have no other books to sell.

The Work is its own reward, and to that, I implore you, "Come away!"

Read this with a critical eye, as if it has never been read before. Open yourself to what it is, what it represents, and where it leads.

In Her Service,

Obsidian

Sol in 19° of Virgo, Luna in 28° of Aquarius, Anno Vv

Hail Victory!

Introductory Essays to the Vision and the Voice.

David R. Jones

The purpose of these essays is not to interpret these visions and words which came forth from the angels of the Æthyrs, but to provide the context and background of their reception.

- David R. Jones

Acknowledgements

I would like to express my heartfelt gratitude to Eamonn Loughran and Robert Furtkamp for the allowing me the privilege of participating in this project. Also especial thanks to my lovely and brilliant wife, Katherine D. Jones, the most amazing research librarian I have ever had the pleasure of knowing, my constant support and muse, and editor par excellence. I also would like to acknowledge Maria V. Montgomery for her unwavering support in this work and her astute understanding of the details of Enochian Magick; to Tony Iannotti for first introducing me to the depths of the amazing and mysterious world of Enochiana and assisting me as the curator of the Ordo Templi Orientis archives; Bill Heidrick for allowing me access to his collection of primary sources; Tod Jones for enlightening me on the details of the science of Geomancy; Tony Fuller for sharing his deep knowledge of the early Golden Dawn, and correcting some of my misconceptions about it; Richard Kaczynski for his profoundly detailed chronology of the life of Aleister Crowley; and 100th Monkey Press for its preeminence as a resource for the works of Aleister Crowley and Victor Neuburg.

Prologue

In the late 16th century, during the illustrious reign of Queen Elizabeth I, her advisor, the prominent mathematician Doctor John Dee, with his infamous partner in metaphysical exploration, Edward Kelly, carried out some of the most important experiments in the history of Ceremonial Magick. Through a long series of visions and auditory messages, Dee and Kelly received a complex and monumental system of magick. This magical system was alleged, by the angels (with whom Dee and Kelly believed they were in contact), to originate with the antediluvian patriarch Enoch. Furthermore, this system purported to be a symbolic explication of the coming Apocalypse, as foretold in the Revelation of St. John. The crown of this magical system was a layered map of the metaphysical reality beyond the observable universe. This spiritual realm consisted of 30 nested Aires or Æthyrs, extending outwards from the Earth into the domain of angelic hierarchies and ultimately to the throne of God himself.

This system bore a strange and striking resemblance to the 30 Æons of Gnostic heretics, with their hierarchy of Archons, of which Dee and Kelly had, no doubt, read in the vitriolic condemnations of the Ante-Nicene Church Fathers. These 'Spirit Actions' (as they were called by John Dee) promised, to those who were illuminated by direct contact with the angels, not only the deepest insights into the secret inner workings of the Universe, but also the ability to alter the "States and Kingdoms of the World."

Dee and Kelly parted ways under scandalous circumstances. Kelly perished in Bohemia under suspicious conditions in late 1597 or early 1598, and Dee died in relative obscurity during the reign of King James I.

For nearly a century, after the deaths of Dee and Kelly, these Spirit Actions were lost or hidden: buried in the earth, hidden in the secret compartments of furniture, and covertly exchanged among antiquaries, astrologers and alchemists. Then, in 1659, they were exposed, in print, for the first time in Meric Casaubon's A True & Faithful Relation of What Passed for many Yeers Between Dr. John Dee (A Mathematician of Great Fame in Q. Eliz. And King James their Reignes) and Some Spirits. Casaubon portrayed the tales of angelic communication as diabolical, and Dee and Kelly as the victims of demonic imposture.

Nevertheless, after the publication of this epic tome, ceremonial magicians began, secretly and guardedly, to analyze the magical system revealed in A True & Faithful Relation. The identity of these magicians remains clouded in obscurity. These unknown magicians analyzed, organized, and elaborated upon the materials. They combined what they found in A True & Faithful Relation with their own demonic machinations, organizing its elemental components, and applying the theories of Renaissance magicians such as Cornelius Agrippa and Petri di Abano to produce grimoires for their own use.

In the 1880s, leading brethren of the Masonic Societas Roscicruciana in Anglia came into the possession of a secret manuscript, encoded in one of the ciphers invented by the father of cryptography, the abbot Johannes Trithemius. Once decoded, the manuscript described the formation of a magical society that taught qabalistic knowledge and was centered (in its secret inner order) on the study of the mysterious Enochian system of magick received by Edward Kelly and John Dee. In 1888 this magical fraternity, named the Hermetic Order of the Golden, was duly formed and took up the work of initiating and training ceremonial magicians.

One of the Order's heads and leading lights was the scholar S. L. MacGregor Mathers. He was the chief author of the Order's rituals and instructionsand shortly after the founding of the Order, Mathers began elaborating the Golden Dawn's system of Enochian magick. He explored the archives of the British Museum and discovered manuscripts, not only of largely unexamined Spirit Actions of Dee and Kelly but also the grimoires of the magicians who had experimented with and expanded upon the materials given in A True & Faithful Relation. The Golden Dawn's interpretation of Enochian magick is centered on what are called the Four Great Watchtowers of the Universe, which Mathers elaborated by adding a complex set of astrological, qabalistic, Egyptian, and geomantic correspondences. He also introduced a vital component: the use of the 19 Calls, in the Angelic language, which were received by Kelly and Dee, and are the metaphysical keys to the operation of the system. Among these keys was the 19th Key or Call of the Æthyrs, that gave the method of invoking the 30 Æthyrs. These Æthyrs proceed outwards in ever greater circles into the spheres, beyond the four Watchtowers that guard the Earth and the lower realms.

The 19th century was coming to a close and the 20th century loomed. Enter our hero: the Cambridge bon vivant Edward Alexander Crowley, otherwise known as Aleister. Already famous for his mountaineering and rock-climbing exploits, Crowley joined the Hermetic Order of the Golden Dawn after reading Arthur Edward Waite's notorious Black

Magic & Pacts. Crowley was seeking magical instruction and the guidance of a mysterious mythical brotherhood known as the Secret Chiefs of the Great White Brotherhood. Crowley passed through the Order's preliminary degrees in rapid succession and soon found himself (not without trials and tribulations) in the sanctuary of the Inner Order's Adepts.

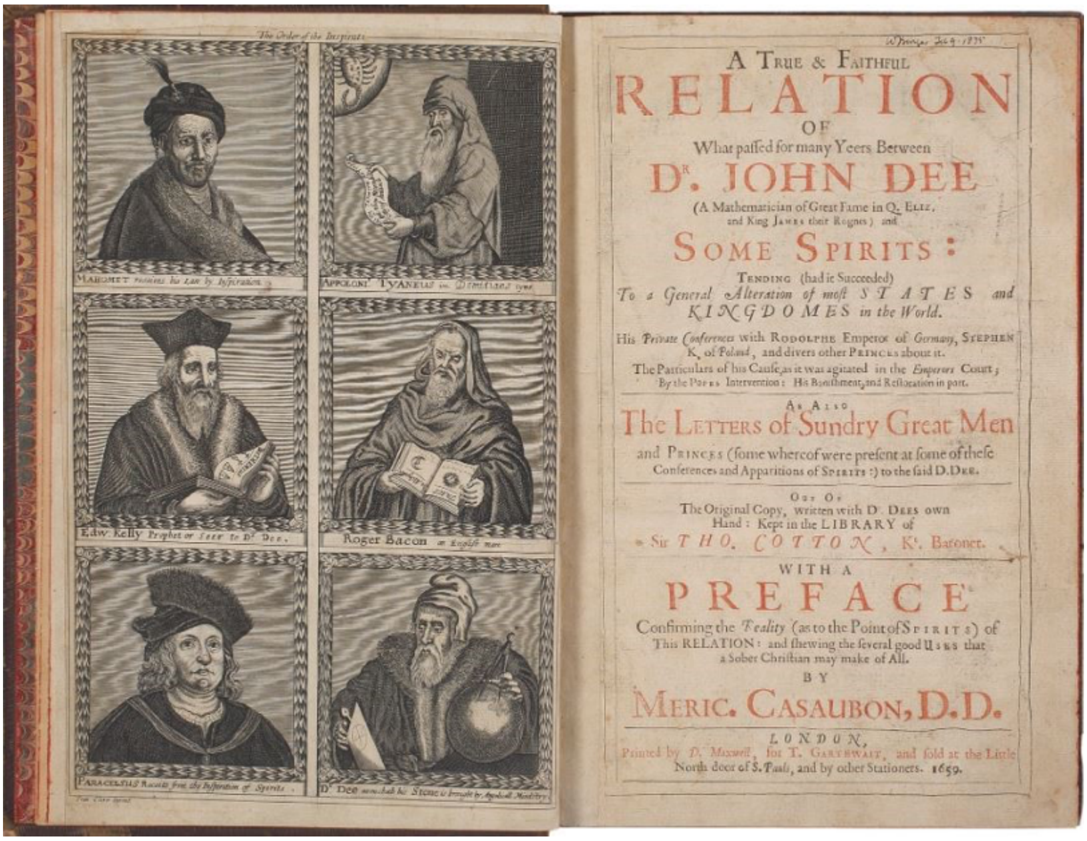
Within the Hermetic Order of the Golden Dawn's inner order: "The Rose of Red and Cross of Gold" Crowley encountered Enochian magick. Yet, no one he knew, even among the Order's most advanced Adepts, had dared to take up the mighty invocation of the 30 Æthyrs. He studied what he could among the Order's internal papers, in A True & Faithful Relation, and in the archives of Oxford University and the British Museum.

Aleister Crowley, whose fate it was to become one the most famous initiates of this Order of the Golden, took upon himself the challenge of exploring the Æthyrs. He, alone, stepped forth into this unknown territory, to attempt to climb the magical heights that awaited. How different could this be from the challenges of unconquered mountains to which he was accustomed?

What follows are the first steps on the mystical journey into these Æthyrs, which Crowley recorded in a little notebook he titled:

A Booke Contayninge Sundry & Divers Matters Humain and Divine

It is, indeed, a tale both divine and mundane. At its end, Crowley leaves the mystical mountain unscaled. Nevertheless, it was but a preview of things to come, foreshadowing a time when our hero would take up the quest again in another place and another time with a companion to assist in the journey. Then, Crowley did reach the highest peaks of mystical attainment, but let us start at the very beginning and not get ahead of our tale.



Mahomet receives his Law by Inspiration
Appoloni' Tyaneus in Domitians tyme
Edw. Kelly Prophet or Seer to Dr. Dee.
Roger Bacon an English man
Paracelsus Receives from the Inspiration of Spirits
Dr. Dee

A True & Faithful RELATION
OF
What paſſed for many Yeers Between
D^R. JOHN DEE
(A Mathematician of Great Fame in Q. Eliz. and King James their Reignes) and
SOME SPIRITS:
Tending (had it Succeeded)
To a General Alteration of moſt STATES and KINGDOMES in the World.
His Private Conferences with Rodolphe Emperor of Germany, Stephen
K. of Poland, and divers other Princes about it.
The Particulars of his Cauſe, as it was agitated in the Emperors Court;
By the Popes Intervention: His Baniſhment, and Reſtoration in part.

As Also
The Letters of Sundry Great Men and Princes (ſome whereof were preſent at ſome of theſe Conferences and Apparitions of Spirits:) to the ſaid D. Dee.

Out Of
The Original Copy, written with D. Dees own Hand: Kept in the LIBRARY of Sir THO. COTTON, K^t. Baronet.

WITH A PREFACE
Confirming the Reality (as to the Point of Spirits) of This RELATION: and ſhewing the ſeveral good Uses that a Sober Chriſtian may make of All.
BY Meric. Casaubon, D.D.

LONDON,
Printed by D. Maxwell, for T. Garthwait, and ſold at the Little North door of S. Pauls, and by other Stationers. 1659.

A True & Faithful Relation

HENRY CORNEILLE, AGRIPPE.

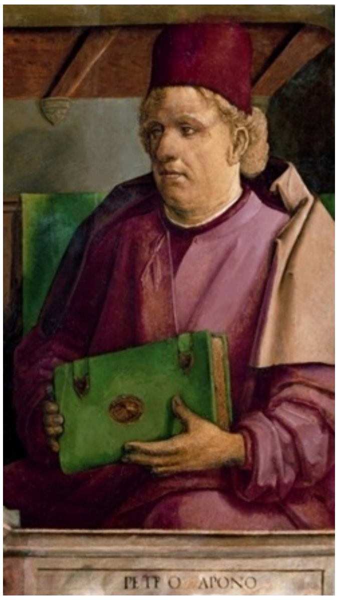
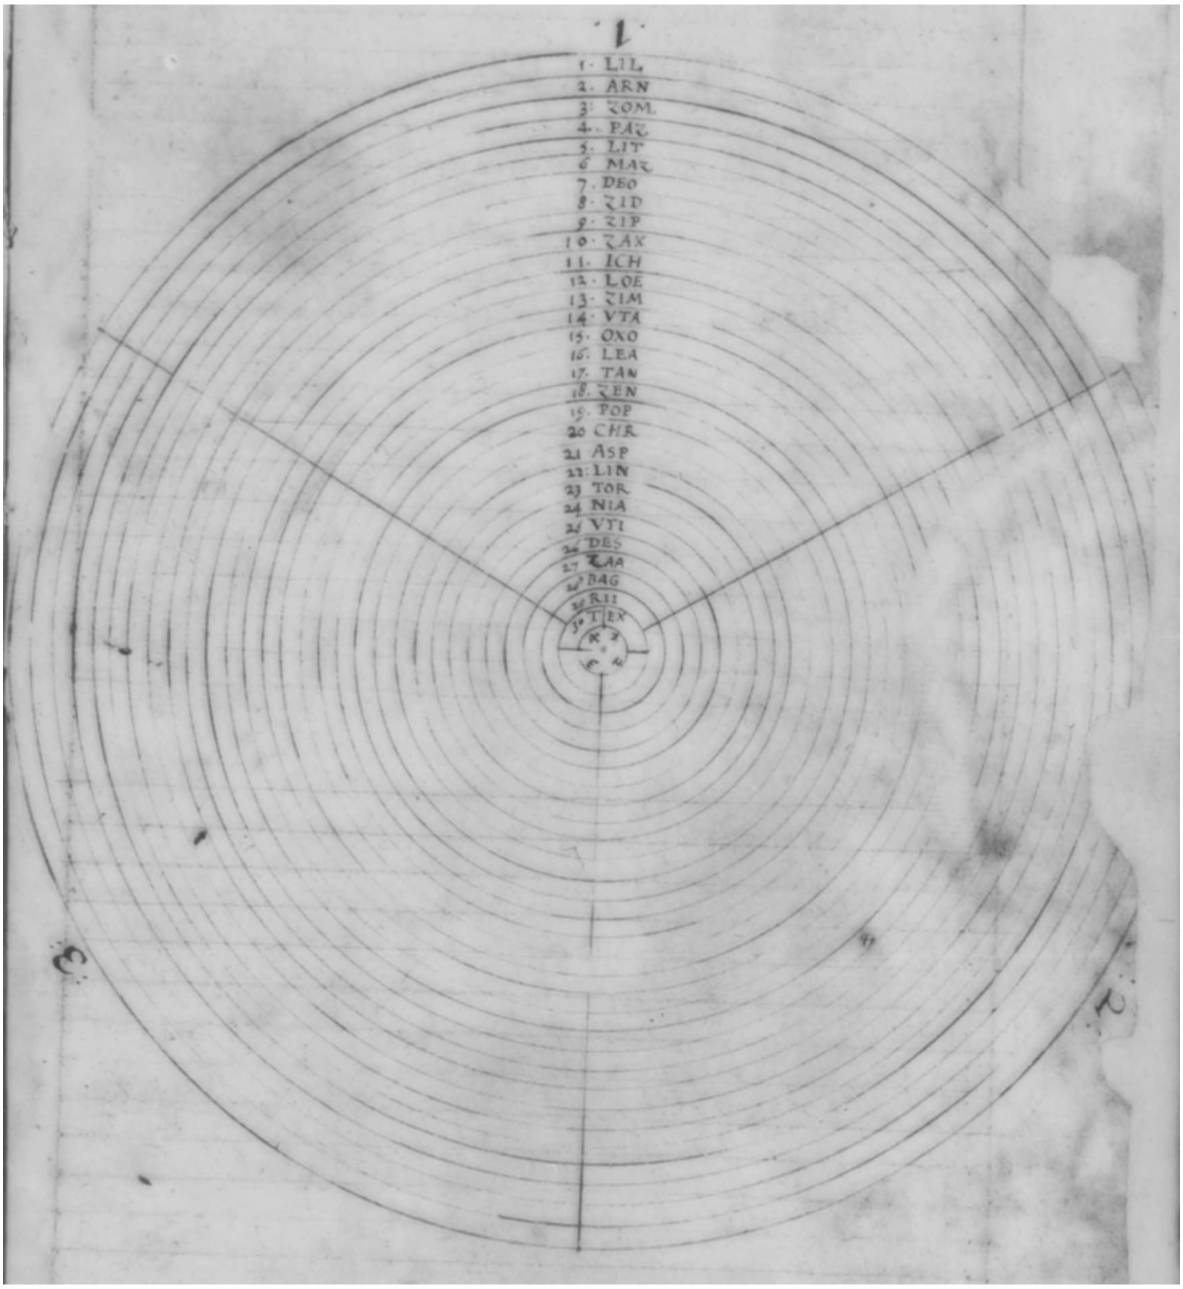
Henry Cornelius Agrippa



PETRO APONO

Petri di Abano



1
1. LIL
2. ARN
3. ZOM
4. PAZ
5. LIT
6. MAZ
7. DEO
8. ZID
9. ZIP
10. ZAX
11. ICH
12. LOE
13. ZIM
14. VTA
15. OXO
16. LEA
17. TAN
18. ZEN
19. POP
20 CHR
21 ASP
22 LIN
23 TOR
24 NIA
25 VTI
26 DES
27 ZAA
28 BAG
29 RII
30 TEX
3
2

The Thirty Æthyrs – Sloane MS. 3191

I. To Mexico

"When I was cacique in Mexico."

> "We must now return to his wanderings, and so we find him in July 1900 crossing the Atlantic to New York. From New York P. journeyed to Mexico: in this country he travelled about alone for three months; and whilst in Mexico D.F.[1] became partaker in a wonderful experience known as the Vision and the Voice (Two of the "Cries of the Æthyrs.) Shortly after this vision, he founded at Guanajuato[2] the Order of the L.I.L., and the fire of Adonai descending upon him, he wrote 'The Book of the Spirit of the Living God,' of which the two following rituals are part:" [3] Temple of Solomon the King[4]

On July 6th, 1900, Aleister Crowley arrived in New York for the first of his trips to the Americas. He disembarked from the SS Pennsylvania and suffered a few days of sweltering heat and turbulent weather before deciding to head off to Mexico.[5] Crowley had already made plans, for the following year, to meet his friend and fellow mountaineer Oscar Eckenstein and assault the notable peaks of that country. Crowley's Mexican period is often considered but a footnote in his long and storied career, yet it was a time in which the seeds that he obtained from his Adeptus Minor initiation would be planted even if itsfruit would not be fully gathered for years to come.

The preceding two years were eventful ones for Aleister Crowley. He had been initiated into the Hermetic Order of the Golden Dawn and had passed rapidly through the preliminary degrees. During his rise through the degrees from Neophyte to Dominus Liminus, Crowley studied under two of the Order's most learned adepts: George Cecil Jones and Charles Henry Allan Bennett.[6]

---

[1] Distrito Federal, lit. the Federal District aka Ciudad de México, Mexico City.

[2] Guanajuato is both a state and its capital city (21°01′N 101°15′W), located 175 miles (or about 230 miles by road) northwest of Mexico City. It is a colonial city; whose silver mines were the chief source of its economic wealth during the Diaz administration. Its southern region forms a part of the Eje Volcánico Transversal or the Trans-Mexican Volcanic Belt, whose peaks interested Crowley. It has a long and storied place in the political history of Mexico, as both the origin of the Hidalgo revolt and one of the revolutionary capitals of Benito Juarez. During Crowley's time in Mexico it also had a substantial hacienda based agricultural economy in both ranching and grain production.

[3] These rituals along with Crowley's Enochian grimoire, including the Enochian keys or calls that he would use for the conjuration of the 30 Æthyrs of the Vision and the Voice are extant. They are contained in a notebook titled Ol Sonf Vorsg (West MS. 36), held at the Charles Deering McCormick Library of Special Collections at Northwestern University.

[4] J.F.C. Fuller. "Temple of Solomon the King." Equinox v. I. n. 3. (London: Simpkin et al, 1910), pp.68-69.

[5] For details on Crowley's travels and of the heat wave, the related death toll and the bizarre weather associated with it during Crowley's brief stay in New York City see Richard Kaczynski, Perdurabo. (Berkeley CA: North Atlantic, 2002), pp. 83-84, n. 586 and Tobias Churton, Aleister Crowley in America. (Rochester VT: Inner Traditions, 2017), pp. 63-64.

In late 1899, the Adepts of London's Isis-Urania Golden Dawn Lodge, rejected Crowley's advancement into the Rosæ Rubeæ et Aureæ Crucis or RR et AC,[7] the Inner Order of the Golden Dawn. He appealed to Order's head, S. L. MacGregor Mathers, and was initiated by Mathers, in Paris on January 16th, 1900 taking the magical motto Christeos Luciftas[8] 5°=6□. Shortly thereafter, in early 1900, Bennett took ship for Ceylon to study Yoga and Buddhism, financed by Crowley and his friends. As a parting gift, Bennett bestowed his Golden Dawn papers on Crowley.[9]

Rebellion was in the air in the London lodge of the Golden Dawn.[10] Mathers assigned Crowley the task of seizing the lodge's property and its Vault of the Adepts. Though he failed in this task Crowley remained on good terms with Mathers. During the late spring and early summer of 1900, Crowley was often engaged in commuting between London and Paris, carrying out Mathers' attempts to regain control of the Golden Dawn in London and attending meetings of the Order's Inner Order in Paris. As a result of this, Crowley abandoned his proposed Abramelin operation at his recently purchased house at Boleskine on the shores of Loch Ness, Scotland. Late in June, Crowley had a chance meeting with some friends of the Mathers in Paris, recently returned from Mexico. These otherwise unknown persons seem to have extolled the beauty of Mexico, particularly its impressive volcanic mountains. Inspired by these descriptions, Crowley decided to travel to Mexico to see them for himself. He also may have wanted some relief from the fractious politics of the Golden Dawn.

---

[6] The details of Crowley's life and adventures follow the narrative he gives in his Autohagiography aka The Confessions, unless otherwise noted. Aleister Crowley, The Confessions of Aleister Crowley, (London: Routledge & Kegan Paul, 1979).

[7] Lit. The Rose of Red and the Cross of Gold.

[8] Lit. "Let there be brightness", in the Angelic or Enochian language, an allusion to the "let there be light" of Genesis I. The phrase has a notably homophonic relationship to Christ and Lucifer.

[9] Bennett's surviving Golden Dawn manuscripts are held by the Harry Ransom Center at The University of Texas at Austin. They were acquired with a number of J.F.C. Fuller's papers, and were probably in Fuller's possession, as part of his work for The Equinox. The Harry Ransom Center's catalogue mistakenly gives Bennett's first name as 'Allen' and some of his papers are not identified as his. Cf. Kaczynski, Perdurabo, p. 71.

[10] For a lively and detailed account of this struggle see Kaczynski, Perdurabo, pp. 71-80.

Aleister Crowley – Golden Dawn Initiate

022376. S.S. PENNSYLVANIA

SS Pennsylvania

Samuel Liddell MacGregor Mathers

Charles Henry Allan Bennett

II. In Mexico

"What must Mexico be like?"

On the night of the 12th or early morning of Friday the 13th, July 1900, Aleister Crowley's train arrived in Mexico City. Crowley's diaries for this period are no longer known to be extant,[11] but we have his own accounts from Temple of Solomon the King in the Equinox, and in The Confessions.

Upon arrival, Crowley checked into the Hotel Iturbide, named for the revolutionary Emperor of Mexico, Agustín de Iturbide.[12]

> "I found myself spiritually at home with Mexicans. They despise industry and commerce. They had Diaz[13] to do their political thinking for them and damned well he did it. Their hearts are set on bull fighting, cock fighting, gambling[14] and lechery. Their spirit is brave and buoyant; it had not been poisoned by hypocrisy and the struggle for life."

Shortly thereafter Crowley moved from the Hotel Iturbide to rented accommodations overlooking the Alameda park in the city's center. There, he took up magical practices and experiments according to the curriculum of the Golden Dawn's 5°=6□ Adeptus Minor degree. Here the timeline of Crowley's magical activities becomes fuzzy, as will become obvious in due course. The dates for Crowley's reception of the Vision and the Voice, his relationship with Don Jesús Medina,[15] and the foundation of the Order of the Lamp of Invisible Light are far from clear. Crowley may have moved to the Alameda residence in late July or August. At any rate, he was almost certainly living there by August.

---

[11] This critical magical record for April 22th, 1900 through February 21th, 1901 is missing; Churton America p. 63.

[12] The hotel is not to be confused with the Palacio de Iturbide.

[13] Porfirio Diaz 33° Scottish Rite in power as El Presidente of México. More on Diaz's Masonic career will be discussed in the section III, vide post.

[14] For Crowley's anecdote of his gambling at the Tacubaya Casino see Crowley, Confessions. pp. 210-211.

[15] Don Jesús Medina, head of the schismatic fringe Scottish Rite, Rito Mexicano Reformado (the Reformed Scottish Rite), as opposed to the more popular the regular and recognized Scottish Rite, to which Diaz belonged. The machinations of Freemasonry, during the period of Crowley's time in Mexico and the critical role that Medina played in Crowley's life will be discussed in Section IV.

In his biography of Crowley, The Eye in the Triangle,[16] Israel Regardie correctly observes that it was when Crowley settled down in Mexico that he seriously began to devote himself to the magical curriculum of the RR et AC. The Adeptus Minor program was both a synthesis and application of all the degree knowledge of the preceding degrees and an introduction to the Enochian system that essentially underlies all the Golden Dawn's teachings. An accurate idea of what these instructions and practices were, can be gathered from the information Crowley himself gave us, as well as from the accounts of the Golden Dawn instructions given in Temple of Solomon the King.

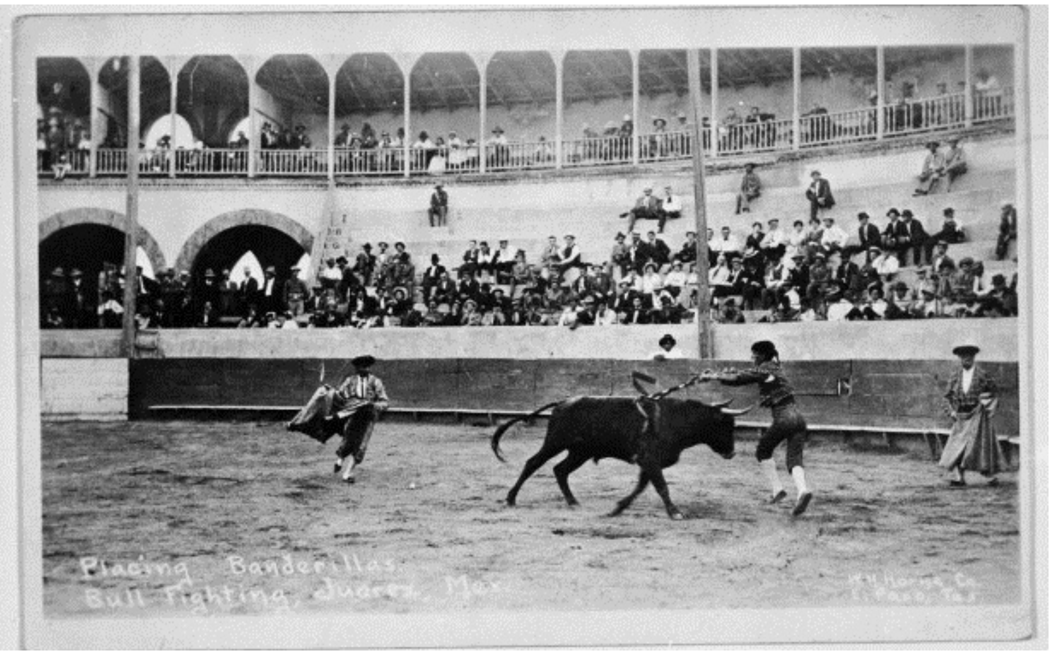
In the Confessions, Crowley shows a strange combination of enthusiasm and disillusionment with the Ceremonial magick of the Golden Dawn during his sojourn in Mexico. Nevertheless, this was a period that would prove to be both fruitful and portentous; for it was the magical work done during this Mexican period that would not only begin the text of the Vision and the Voice, but also instigate events that would lead directly to Crowley's involvement in Ordo Templi Orientis.

It is impossible to fully understand either Crowley's time in Mexico or his subsequent magical career without understanding how the Golden Dawn appropriated Dee and Kelly's angelic system of magick and how that system was adapted and practiced among the Adepts of the Golden Dawn.

---

[16] Israel Regardie, The Eye in the Triangle, (Phoenix AZ: Falcon, 1986), pp. 202-203 where he analyzes the program in some detail.

El Presidente Porfirio Diaz



Placing Banderillas.
Bull Fighting, Juarez, Mex.
W.H. Horne Co.
El Paso, Tex.

Bullfighting in Mexico

1243. Salon del Tivoli de Cartagena Tacubaya. The Monte Carlo of México.
Waite. Photo.

Tacubaya Casino

III. The Dating Problem

When exactly did Crowley begin the Vision and the Voice? The surviving information is both inconsistent and possibly misleading: the dates given for the reception of the 29th and 30th Æthyrs are inconsistent, for instance, and undated narratives in the Confessions and Temple of Solomon the King would indicate early periods in Crowley's Mexican stay, for not only the Golden Dawn practices and Enochian evocations, but Crowley's initial contact with Don Jesús Medina[17] and possibly the foundation of L.I.L., the Order of the Lamp of the Invisible Light.

It was Crowley's usual practice to rent rooms dedicated to his magical experiments. The Alameda lodgings would seem to be a more likely place to carry out the various magical experiments of the Adeptus Minor curriculum than his rooms in the Hotel Iturbide, especially the Enochian evocations associated with scrying the Æthyrs, but there is no certainty here.

During this period he travelled widely in the Mexican countryside, usually on short trips, returning to Mexico City in the interval. During these travels he contracted malaria (and possibly Yellow Fever aka 'Yellow Jack). On his arrival in Mexico he initially stayed at the Hotel Iturbide, moved soon after to rooms near the Alameda park and after what appears to be about three months of lodging there, returned to the Hotel Iturbide to recuperate from his illnesses. This timeline, roughly, puts Crowley in the Hotel Iturbide during July, at his Alameda lodgings during August, September and October and back in the Hotel Iturbide by November give or take a week or two of overlap.[18]

---

[17] Don Jesús Medina, head of the schismatic fringe Scottish Rite, Rito Mexicano Reformado (the Reformed Scottish Rite), as opposed to the more popular the regular and recognized Scottish Rite, to which Diaz belonged and which was under the jurisdiction of the Mexican National Rite and supervised by Grand Diet of Mexico of which Diaz, at this point, was the Past Grand Master. The machinations of Freemasonry, during the period of Crowley's time in Mexico and the critical role that Medina played in Crowley's life will be discussed in the section on Don Jesús Medina.

[18] Crowley states, in the Confessions, that he recuperated at the Hotel Iturbide after his various explorations of rural Mexico. Churton clearly establishes his return to that Hotel by November, 1900. Churton's assertion is based on the now well-established identification of Crowley with the Chevalier Isadore Achilles O'Rourke (the Colin McLeod, William Breeze, Tobias Churton hypothesis). Churton's identification, from Newspaper accounts in The Mexican Herald, is well documented and makes fascinating reading; it accords with Crowley's practice of using pseudonyms and nom de plumes. Churton's attachment to, and attempts to justify Richard Spence's theories regarding Crowley's Carlist and espionage activities during his Mexican travels is more problematic. Churton, America, pp. 71-105.

For Spence's speculations see Richard B. Spence. Secret Agent 666: Aleister Crowley, British Intelligence and the Occult, (Port Townsend WA: Feral House, 2008), Chapter 2: "The Movable Beast."

The pertinent Mexican Herald articles can be found on the 100th Monkey website at 100thmonkeypress.com/biblio/acrowley/articles/articles.htm

Courtyard Hotel Iturbide

IN THE ALAMEDA, CITY OF MEXICO.

La Alameda Central

The August – September Hypothesis

The first possible date for the initial reception of the Vision and Voice's lowest Æthyrs is the period beginning in August, through to September or even early October, 1900.

The account in Fuller's Temple of Solomon the King states:

> "From New York P. journeyed to Mexico: in this country he travelled about alone for three months; and whilst in Mexico D.F. became partaker in a wonderful experience known as the Vision and the Voice. Shortly after this vision, he founded at Guanajuato the Order of the L.I.L., and the fire of Adonai descending upon him, he wrote 'The Book of the Spirit of the Living God,"[19]

A literal reading of this passage would indicate that Crowley received the 30th and 29th Æthyrs sometime between mid-July and early October of 1900 while living in Mexico City either at the Hotel Iturbide or in his rooms off la Alameda Central.

Concerning the thirty æthyrs:-
The ~~th~~Visions of the 29th. & 30th. Aethyrs were given to me in Mexico in Aug 1900, & I am now trying to get the rest. It is to be remarked have 10 angels

The first of the original notebooks[20] that contains the manuscript of the Vision and the Voice, and in all later published editions state:[21]

> "The Visions of the 29th & 30th Aethyrs were given to me in Mexico in August 1900, & I am now trying to get the rest."

It must be noted that the August dating is a later insertion, and the text originally read:

---

[19] Fuller, Temple. op. cit.

[20] The original of this notebook, along with the accompanying volumes that comprise the MS. record of the Vision and the Voice are held by the Harry Ransom Center at The University of Texas at Austin, cf. n. 9. These notebooks and their provenance are discussed in detail in Hymenaeus Beta's editorial notes to Aleister Crowley et al's, The Vision & The Voice with Commentary and other Papers (Equinox v. IV. n. 2), (York Beach ME: Samuel Weiser, 1998), pp. 424-427. It is notable that the editor of that edition maintains ambiguity regarding the dates of reception for the Mexican Æthyrs.

[21] The only edition of the Vision and the Voice published during Crowley's lifetime was as the "Special Supplement" to Aleister Crowley et al's. The Equinox v. I. n. 5. (London: Equinox, 1911). A typescript was made by Israel Regardie, during Crowley's lifetime and under his supervision. This TS. Is extant in the Yorke Collection at the Warburg Institute (OS L3) and provided the essential text for both Karl Germer's edition: The Master Therion. Liber XXX Aerum vel Saecvli Svb Figvra CCCCXVIII: Being the Angels of the 30 Aethyrs – The Vision and the Voice with Commentary. (Hampton NJ: Thelema Publishing, 1952), reprinted by Helen Parsons Smith (Barstow: CA, n.d.) and the Israel Regardie edited The Vision & the Voice. (Dallas TX: Sangraal, 1972).

> "The Visions of the 29th & 30th Aethyrs were given to me in Mexico in 1900, . . ."

Crowley further stated in his Prologue to John St. John:[22] "received the mysteries of L.I.L. in October (19--)," so that if Crowley received the mysteries of L.I.L. in October, the "experience known as the Vision and the Voice" must have occurred shortly before according to the Temple of Solomon the King timeline.

These accounts, given in the early numbers of the Equinox, are therefore fully harmonious and accord with this annotation that Crowley's uses to divide the visions received in Mexico from those received later in Algeria, and given in the note following the 29th Æthyr. And yet this is seemingly contradicted by the date given at the end of the 29th Æthyr: November 17th, 1900, which is clearly from the same pen and ink as the recording of the Æthyr itself.

& indeed apparently physical.] almost in Dhyana
November 17, 1900 Die ♀

The November Hypothesis

Crowley did not mention his exploration of the lower Æthyrs in the chapters on Mexico, given in his Confessions. It was not until later, when he was recounting his second attempt in Algeria, that they get mentioned at all.

> In Mexico I thought I would discover for myself what the Aethyrs really were, by invoking them in turn by means of the nineteenth Key and, skrying in the spirit vision, judge their nature by what I saw and heard. I investigated the first two Keys on November 14th and 17th, 1900. "The Vision and the Voice" was mysterious and terrific in character. What I saw was not beyond my previous experience, but what I heard was as unintelligible to me as Blake to a Baptist. I was encouraged by the evident importance of these results, but I found that I could no more force myself to go on to the twenty-eighth Aethyr than I could have thrown myself from a cliff. I accepted the rebuff; but, while dismissing the matter from my mind, managed to preserve the record throughout my wanderings.
>
> Confessions: chapter 66

---

[22] G.H. Frater O∴M∴ (aka Aleister Crowley). John St. John. "Special Supplement" to Aleister Crowley et al. The Equinox v. I n. 1. (London: Simpkin et al, 1909).

In the Confessions Crowley asserted that the Mexican Æthyrs were received several days apart in mid-November of 1900. This accounts for the November 17th date given in the record of the 29th Æthyr. Richard Kaczynski has constructed a timeline for these events,[23] assuming the Confessions' reception dates of November 14th and 17th. This timeline resolves many of the apparent inconsistencies, and although plausible, it still suffers from not being able to address all the issues raised by the evidence supporting the 'August – September Hypothesis." Kaczynski's timeline presumes that the events regarding the contact with Medina, Crowley's advancement in Medina's Scottish Rite, the composition of the rituals the order of the L.I.L., Medina's initiation as the High Priest thereof, and the final known workings of that order (hinted at Crowley's poetry collection Oracles[24]) all happened in a narrow window of time at the end of 1900. It posits, at the very least, the details regarding L.I.L. all occurred in the 49 days or less, between November 17 and New Year's Eve 1900.[25] But the development of the order of the Lamp of Invisible Light seems, in the given accounts, to have progressed over some time. In any case, the following contradictions and problems need to be considered.

Kaczynski assumes that the Temple of Solomon the King account asserts that Crowley met Medina subsequent to the conjurations of the Æthyrs, but in fact the contact could have occurred early in Crowley's Mexican sojourn and the formal foundation of the order of the L.I.L. later, after Medina bestowed upon Crowley the Masonic degrees of Medina's Scottish Rite. The Temple of Solomon the King account only states that the Order of the L.I.L. was founded after the Vision and the Voice, not the meeting with Medina per se. In fact, there is no particular reason to assume that the Vision and the Voice experience related in Fuller's account necessarily included both Æthyrs. It could well have been only the 30th Æthyr, followed by the initial foundations of the Order of the L.I.L., followed by the reception of the 29th Æthyr with no contradictions to any of the texts, save the Confessions dating. Kaczynski also disputes Crowley's rather categorical assertion in John St. John that he "received the mysteries of L.I.L. in October" since an October reception of the 'Mysteries of L.I.L.' would preclude a November reception of the 30th and 29th Æthyrs. Crowley specifically asserts that these Mysteries of L.I.L. were subsequent, not prior, to the reception of the Vision and the Voice.

---

[23] Kaczynski, Perdurabo, pp. 87-88 & n. pp. 586-587.

[24] The poetry contained in Oracles is some of Crowley's best. These poems were written during Crowley's trip around the world that began in New York 1900, and from which he didn't return to London until 1903. Many of these poems are inspired by Crowley's time in Mexico. "Venus" has this prefatory note: "Written in the temple of the L.I.L., No. 9, Central America." Aleister Crowley. Oracles: The Biography of an Art. (Boleskine, Foyers, Inverness: Society for the Propagation of Religious Truth, 1905), p. 87.

[25] J.F.C. Fuller. "Temple of Solomon the King." Equinox v. I n. 4. (London: Equinox, 1910), p. 45:
"At the End of the Century: At the End of the Year: At the Hour of Midnight: Did I complete and bring to perfection the Work of L.I.L.

There are therefore three main possibilities given the evidence at hand:

1. That the 30th and 29th Æthyrs were received in August and/or September of 1900 as the note indicates and as the Temple of Solomon the King account seems to imply.
2. That they were received on the 14th and 17th of November, 1900 as the Confessions account indicates, supported by the dating for the 29th Æthyr.
3. That the 30th Æthyr was received at some unknown day in August or September 1900, during Crowley's early experiments with the Adeptus Minor curriculum, and the 29th later, on November 17.

In any case, absent the discovery of the missing magical record, certainty on these dates seems impossible.

Much of the problem with dating the reception of earliest Æthyrs of the Vision and the Voice, is bound up with Crowley's interaction with Don Jesús de Medina-Sidonia and the founding of the ephemeral Order of the Lamp of Invisible Light to which this analysis now proceeds.

IV. Don Jesús Medina

> I had an introduction to an old man named Don Jesus Medina, a descendant of the great duke of Armada fame, and one of the highest chiefs of Scottish rite freemasonry.
>
> Confessions, chapter 23

Don Jesús Medina, a man largely unknown to history, was but a fleeting acquaintance of Aleister Crowley's. Yet this brief relationship left a profound and indelible mark on Crowley's life.

What we know of Brother Jesús comes directly through two sources. We have the information that Crowley writes about him and the writings of Don Jesús himself in El Boazeo,[26] the propaganda organ of the Rito Mexicano Reformado. The Reformed Mexican Rite was a small schismatic Masonic order to which Don Jesús belonged and of which he was probably, for a time, head. Some details can also be derived from the publications of Masonic scholars and historians who write about this small and obscure rite.

It would be impossible, in this short introduction, to go into all the vagaries that constitute the history of Freemasonry in Mexico. Interested readers may follow the machinations in several works that have attempted to describe the factionalism that was, (and to some degree continues to be) the fraternity's fortunes there.[27]

Crowley arrived in Mexico during the long and prosperous regime of Porfirio Diaz. Crowley complimented the so-called Porfiriato and the conditions and life in Mexico generally: "They had Diaz to do their political thinking for them and damned well he did it."

"Politics had always been the bane of Mexican Freemasonry but also its driving force."[28] Freemasonry throughout the 19th century had largely been a competition between Republicans represented by the Yorkinos (or York Rite) on the one hand, and the [26] El Boazeo December 1894 through December 1898. The articles were mostly written by Medina, from a Mexico City address, they are Anti-Catholic, philosophical, concerned with the infighting among Mexican Freemasons and explaining the Constitution of their Grand Lodge.

---

[27] Robert Freke Gould, Gould's History of Freemasonry v. 4, rev. Dudley Wright. (New York: Charles Scribner's Sons, 1936) is the most detailed account, given in a standard Masonic reference, although the information on the Reformed Rite is scant, due to that rite's minor role and irregular nature. Oliver D. Street, "Masonry in Mexico," The Builder v. VI. n. 10. (October 1920) gives the most detail for the Reformed Rite and its role in Mexican masonry in the latter half of the 19th century. See also Peter Ingram, "Early Mexican Freemasonry: A Confused Chapter in Our History," United Masters Lodge v. 28 n. 14 (October 1990).

[28] Op cit. Ingram, Early.

Traditionalists whose allegiances were distributed among the various factions of the Rito Escocés (or Scottish Rite) on the other. The Yorkinos were constituted of lodges that had been loyal to Benito Juarez during the French Intervention of Maximillian,[29] along with numerous English and American expatriates living and working Mexico. The Escocés were composed primarily of Catholics and more traditionally conservative brethren.

> "In February, 1890, was established the Gran Dieta Simbolica which was to be a central governing Body for the entire republic. It started well and had at one time seventeen of the State Grand Lodges under its control. In April, 1901, it was disbanded and with the Grand Lodges became independent."[30]

In 1890, Porfirio Diaz and his political allies attempted to unify Mexican Freemasonry under a supreme authority titled the Gran Dieta Simbolica. President Diaz, was made the nominal Grand Master. This supreme authority was generally successful at first, but soon came under the negative scrutiny of Grand Lodges in the U.S. and UK for including in its member jurisdictions lodges that violated the Antient Landmarks by either admitting women and/or not having the Bible on the altar. Attempts to solve this problem were not altogether successful and its recognition was controversial among regular English-speaking Grand Lodges around the world, until the Gran Dieta's dissolution in 1901 made it a nonissue.

The matter of foreign recognition was not the only challenge to unifying Mexican Freemasonry. From the very beginning of the Gran Dieta's existence a number of Grand Lodges refused to join. Three prominent Grand Lodges dissented from this union. Firstly, The York Grand Lodge of Mexico which was largely made up of English and American expatriates, and had been formed in 1862. It is and was the only Grand Lodge recognized by the United Grand Lodge of England and most state Grand Lodges in the U.S. Secondly, The Grand Lodge of the Federal District left the Gran Dieta soon after it was formed. Benito Juárez Maza, politician, diplomat, and son of the liberal president and great reformer Benito Juarez was its Grand Master.[31] Finally, the Reformed Scottish Rite (into which Aleister Crowley would be initiated and passed to its highest degrees) opposed the Gran Dieta from its very formation.

---

[29] Alfonso Sanchez Arteche, "Juarez: indio, liberal y mason," La Jornada Semanal, n. 185 (May 21, 2006).

[30] Albert Mackey. (rev. R.I. Clegg, W.J. Hughan & E.L. Hawkins). Encyclopedia of Freemasonry and Kindred Sciences. 2 vols. (Chicago: Masonic History Company, 1929) v. 2. pp. 663-664.

[31] Benito Juarez was a Mexican hero who had successfully resisted the French and Catholic backed intervention of Maximillian but had subsequently been in political opposition to Diaz.

The Reformed Scottish Rite was founded in 1871 as a reaction to and rebellion from the 1870 formation of Supreme Grand Orient of the Scottish Rite. It also came into competition with the Mexican Grand National Lodge and its affiliated Grand Orient of Mexico (recognized by the Northern Jurisdiction of the Scottish Rite in the U.S.). It was these two later Grand Jurisdictions that originally formed the foundation of the Gran Dieta Simbolica. Porfirio Diaz was originally a member of a lodge affiliated with the Grand National Lodge, but had at some point changed loyalties to the Supreme Grand Orient of the Scottish Rite. The internal political maneuverings and problems with foreign recognition led Diaz himself, in 1895, to withdraw from the Gran Dieta.

The first Sovereign Grand Commander of the Rito Mexicano Reformado was Joaquin Peña 33°. Peña continued his leadership, at least, through the formation of the Gran Dieta Simbolica, to which he was vehemently opposed. By 1895 the U.S. state Grand Jurisdictions reporting on the rite considered it to be clandestine and irregular.

In 1894 the Rito Mexicano Reformado began the publication of its official organ El Boazeo. In this brief leaflet they declared themselves to be 'French Masons' and laid out their program. The remainder of the issue was comprised of an attack on the Catholic Church and its influence on and against Freemasonry in Mexico:

The Program:

I. Simplification and modification of the Ancient Landmarks
II. Reforming the Constitutions and Rituals
III. Absolute independence of the three principal degrees
IV. Equality of men and women in the initiations
V. Correction of the language and words of the degrees
VI. Decatholization of the people and the rites of Freemasons,
VII. Full and free expression of thought.

From this program[32] it can be seen why the rite was considered 'clandestine' by regular English and American Freemasons. Points I, II, and IV, in particular, are in direct violation of both the oaths and landmarks of regular Freemasonry. The program also shows why Crowley found Medina to be sympathetic to his ideas.

Jesús Medina's name, address and secretarial office were printed on the masthead from the first issue in December, 1894. The Director is listed as Jose M. Medina, probably

---

[32] El Boazeo. No. 1 December 1894

Jesús' brother. The first mention of Jesús, beyond his secretarial status in the rite, is given in the fourth issue of June, 1895 in which a public lecture he was giving was advertised. The subject matter shows that Medina's Christianity was far from orthodox:

> ". . . to show that the Bible cannot be the infallible rule of faith, and religious practices, because the Bible errs, and that which errs is not infallible. These conferences interest Catholics as well as Protestants and free thinkers."

In the following issue Jesús Medina got his first byline, in the, by now common editorial practice of attacking the Roman Catholic Church. Jesús Medina concluded his article with the following remark:

> "Until the Roman Church stops being what it is, what it has been and what it will be, if it will not reform: the most corrupt Church in Christianity."

As posited previously, the Yorkinos were generally anti-Catholic, whereas the Escoceses were more sympathetic to the Catholic Church. Medina, and the Rito Mexicano Reformado, were, on the other hand both liberal anti-Catholics and followers of the Rito Escocés.

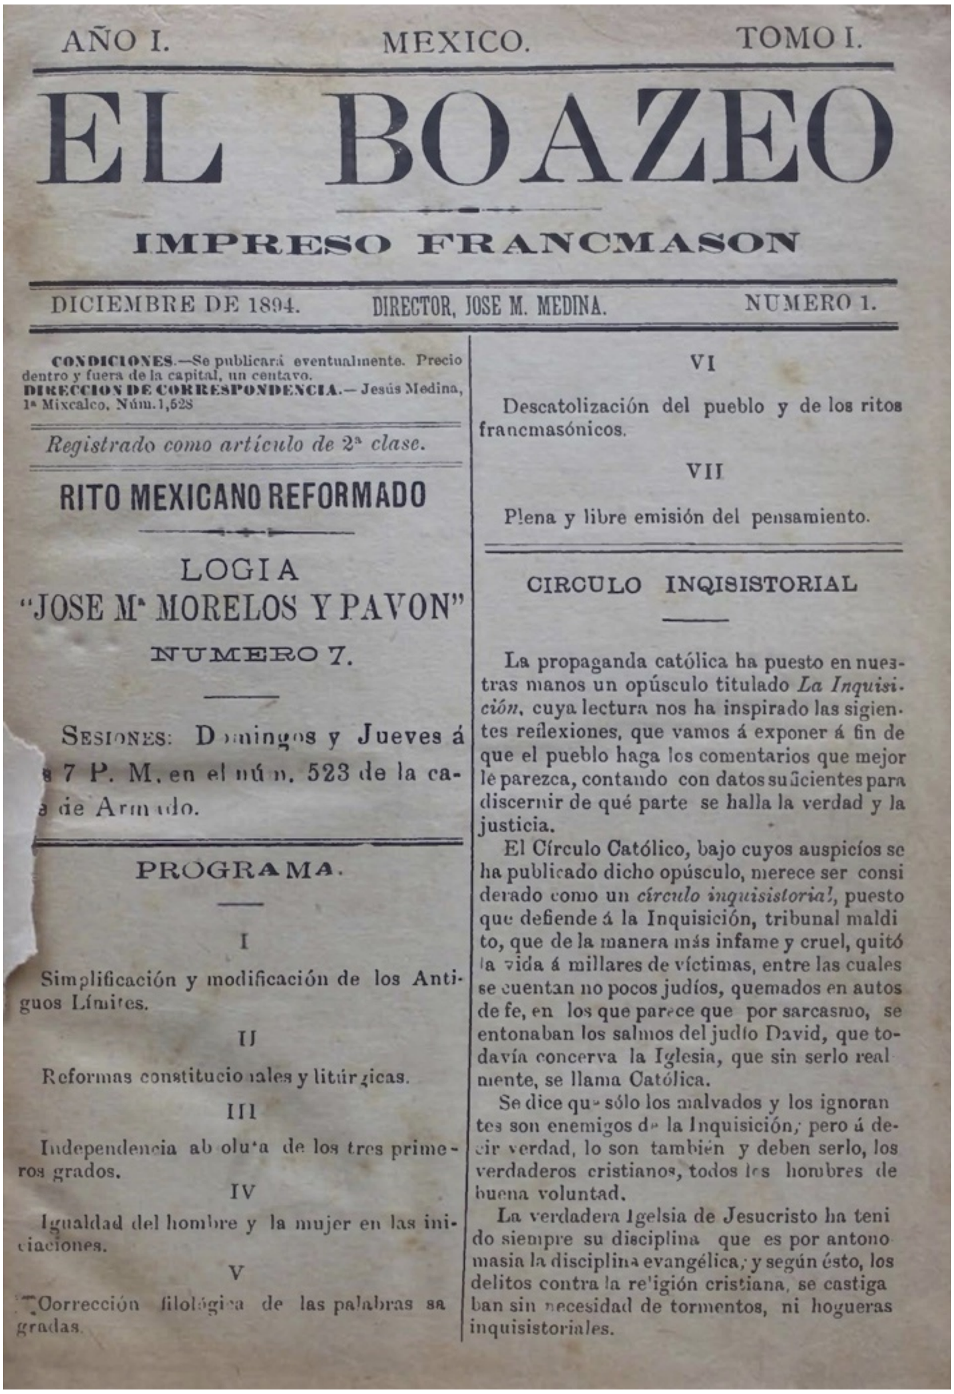
The confused condition of Mexican Freemasonry and its recognition or general lack thereof by Freemasons outside of the Republic of Mexico, especially among English speaking Freemasons, can be studied in Gould's History of Freemasonry volume 4, from a Regular Masonic point of view. McBlain Thomson's Universal Free Mason[33] gives the perspective of the 'Irregulars.' This situation has changed and improved somewhat in the intervening years.

Unfortunately, it has been the common practice of Masonic scholars to assume that Crowley's entrance into Medina's Rito Mexicano Reformado was specious because of the status of the Grand Lodge under whose authority he was admitted. Freemasonry was active and widespread in Mexico, yet all, but some of the smaller jurisdictions in Mexico were considered irregular by most of English-speaking Freemasonry. Even the status of the President of the Republic, Porfirio Diaz, would not have been considered regular by most Grand Lodges, though he belonged to the largest faction of Freemasonry in Mexico, a faction that was recognized by the Northern Jurisdiction of the Scottish Rite in the United States.

---

[33] Universal Free Mason June, 1908-May, 1922. Thomson's American Masonic Rite and its publication, The Universal Free Mason, kept up communication and some recognition with many of the various Mexican Grand Lodges (most of which were not recognized by regular Freemasonry).



AÑO I. MEXICO. TOMO I.

EL BOAZEO

IMPRESO FRANCMASON

DICIEMBRE DE 1894. DIRECTOR, JOSE M. MEDINA. NUMERO 1.

CONDICIONES.—Se publicará eventualmente. Precio dentro y fuera de la capital, un centavo.
DIRECCION DE CORRESPONDENCIA.—Jesús Medina, 1ª Mixcalco, Núm. 1,528

Registrado como artículo de 2ª clase.

RITO MEXICANO REFORMADO

LOGIA
"JOSE Mª MOROLOS Y PAVON" NUMERO 7.

Sesiones: Domingos y Jueves á s 7 P. M. en el núm. 523 de la ca- a de Armado.

PROGRAMA.

I

Simplificación y modificación de los Antiguos Límites.

II

Reformas constitucionales y litúrgicas.

III

Independencia absoluta de los tres primeros grados.

IV

Igualdad del hombre y la mujer en las iniciaciones.

V

Corrección filológica de las palabras sagradas.

VI

Descatolización del pueblo y de los ritos francmasónicos.

VII

Plena y libre emisión del pensamiento.

CIRCULO INQISISTORIAL

La propaganda católica ha puesto en nuestras manos un opúsculo titulado La Inquisición, cuya lectura nos ha inspirado las sigientes reflexiones, que vamos á exponer á fin de que el pueblo haga los comentarios que mejor le parezca, contando con datos suficientes para discernir de qué parte se halla la verdad y la justicia.

El Círculo Católico, bajo cuyos auspicíos se ha publicado dicho opúsculo, merece ser considerado como un círculo inquisistorial, puesto que defiende á la Inquisición, tribunal maldito, que de la manera más infame y cruel, quitó la vida á millares de víctimas, entre las cuales se cuentan no pocos judíos, quemados en autos de fe, en los que parece que por sarcasmo, se entonaban los salmos del judío David, que todavía concerva la Iglesia, que sin serlo realmente, se llama Católica.

Se dice que sólo los malvados y los ignorantes son enemigos de la Inquisición; pero á decir verdad, lo son también y deben serlo, los verdaderos cristianos, todos los hombres de buena voluntad.

La verdadera Igelsia de Jesucristo ha tenido siempre su disciplina que es por antonomasia la disciplina evangélica; y según ésto, los delitos contra la religión cristiana, se castigaban sin necesidad de tormentos, ni hogueras inquisistoriales.

El Boazeo

By the time of Crowley's encounter with Medina, the Rito Mexicano Reformado seems to have been on its last legs. Its periodical El Boazeo had ceased publication in December of 1898.

> "My Cabbalistic knowledge being already profound by current standards, he thought me worthy of the highest initiation in his power to confer; special powers were obtained in view of my limited sojourn, and I was pushed rapidly through and admitted to the thirty-third and last degree before I left the country."
>
> Confessions chapter 23.

Sadly, Crowley doesn't provide many details regarding his encounter and initiation through the various degrees of Medina's Reformed Mexican Rite. The extant details indicate that Medina made him a 'Mason on Sight' and gradually elevated him through the degrees to the 33°. This would be well within the authority of a Grand Master. Reading through the degrees with conferral of the 'obligatory' degrees was (and continues to be) the norm in appendant Masonic systems with large numbers of degrees. A significant amount of coverage has been given to the supposed illegitimacy of Crowley's Masonic status based on the clandestine, schismatic, and irregular nature of Medina's Rito Mexicano Reformado. In point of fact neither state Grand Lodges in the U.S. nor the United Grand Lodge of England concerned themselves with the authority, legitimacy, or politics of the ruling jurisdictions of appendant rites, such as the Scottish Rite, in this period of history.[34] It wasn't until the Thomson Masonic scandal of the 1920s that Grand Lodges in the U.S. took it upon themselves to determine who was legitimate and who wasn't.[35] In the UK the issue of the recognition of appendant bodies was not even considered until the late 1950s (after Crowley's death).[36]

It seems unlikely that Don Jesús Medina had any direct contact with either John Yarker's or Theodore Reuss' wide reaching high grade 'fringe' rites of Freemasonry. Even if these men were aware of each other, there was no Masonic communication nor formal recognition. Mexican Freemasonry was largely isolated from other Freemasonry around the world. This was due to both the number of competing Grand Lodges in Mexico, their often irregular practices, and to the extremely political nature of the fraternity's activities in Mexico. Yarker's and Reuss' rites, and for that matter all high-grade Freemasonry, was generally not the concern of Craft Grand Lodges, especially in either the United States or the United Kingdom.

---

[34] In any case Crowley regularized his status as Freemason, at least in terms of U.S. recognition in 1904 when he was initiated, passed and raised in Anglo Saxon Lodge #343. Details regarding this and Crowley's Masonic status can be found in David R. Jones, "Aleister Crowley Freemason? Revisited." Coph Nia Wand (Summer 2011), republished in Words of Power. (New York: Ordo Templi Orientis, 2014). pp. 233-239.

[35] Isaac Blair Evans. The Thomson Masonic Fraud. (Salt Lake City: 1922).

[36] A.C.F. Jackson, Rose Croix: The History of the Ancient and Accepted Rite for England and Wales. (London: Lewis Masonic, 1980).

> This view was confirmed when The Arcane Schools of John Yarker came to me for review. I wrote to the author, who recognized my title to the 33° and conferred on me the grades of 95° Memphis and 90° Mizraim. It seemed as if I had somehow turned a tap. From this time on I lived in a perfect shower of diplomas, from Bucharest to Salt Lake City.[37] I possess more exalted titles than I have ever been able to count. I am supposed to know more secret signs, tokens, passwords, grand-words, grips, and so on, than I could actually learn in a dozen lives. An elephant would break down under the insignia I am entitled to wear. The natural consequence of this was that, like Alice when she found the kings and queens and the rest showering upon her as a pack of cards, I woke up."
>
> Confessions chapter 66

In September of 1910, Crowley reviewed John Yarker's the Arcane Schools in the Equinox.[38] As a result, Yarker recognized Crowley's 33° in the Ancient and Accepted Scottish Rite. Yarker's recognition of Crowley's masonic status was made more expedient due to Medina's bestowal. Yarker's true reasoning was likely because he saw Crowley as a kindred spirit, a small 't' theosophist with a syncretic kind of perennial philosophy as expressed in ancient rites. Crowley's review of Yarker's Arcane Schools in The Equinox introduced Yarker to Crowley's insightful brand of Scientific Illuminism and Yarker found someone potentially qualified to carry on his legacy or at least competent enough to understand and apply the intricate complexities of symbolism across metaphysical paradigms. It is interesting that The Arcane Schools was published in late 1909 and most likely came into Crowley's hands soon after his return from Algeria where he had completed the work of the Vision and the Voice.

Crowley's contact with Yarker would, in turn, lead to Crowley being contacted by Theodor Reuss, one Yarker's chief partners in promulgating the Rites of Memphis and Misraim and its related systems of 'High Grade' Freemasonry. The magical results of these workings appear significant, if not immediately obvious. Crowley's contact with Don Jesús Medina and his initiation into what is now considered irregular and fringe Freemasonry would ultimately to lead to his contact with Theodor Reuss and his involvement with Ordo Templi Orientis. From a seed that was planted in Mexico grew a tree that dominated the latter half of Crowley's magical life and remains one his most lasting legacies to this day.

---

[37] Salt Lake City is a reference to the headquarters of McBlain Thomson's 'Grand Lodge.' cf. Evans, Thomson. op. cit.

[38] Equinox v. I. n. 4. (London: Aleister Crowley, 1910). p. 240.

> Having my own information on the subject, though communicating it to nobody else, I got rid of these pests as quickly as possible. One of my callers, however, did show some method in his madness; a man named Theodor Reuss — of whom more anon. Here I must simply mention that he was Grand Master of Germany of the combined Scottish, Memphis and Mizraim Rites of Freemasonry. I remembered that I had been made a Sovereign Grand Inspector General of the 33° and last degree of the Scottish Rite in Mexico ten years before, but I had never bothered my head about it, it being evident that all freemasonry was either vain pretense, tomfoolery, an excuse for drunken rowdiness, or a sinister association for political intrigues and commercial pirates. Reuss told me a good deal of the history of the various rites, which is just as confused and criminal as any other branch of history; but he did persuade me that there were a few men who took the matter seriously and believed that the foolish formalism concealed really important magical secrets.
>
> Confessions chapter 67.

V. High Priest of L.I.L.

> I had also a certain amount of latitude granted by Mathers to initiate suitable people in partibus. I, therefore, established an entirely new Order of my own, called L.I.L.: the 'Lamp of the Invisible Light.' Don Jesus became its first High Priest.
>
> Confessions chapter 23

Crowley's foundation of the ephemeral order of the Lamp of the Invisible Light was inspired by his early explorations into the Enochian system, especially the system of the 30 Æthyrs of which LIL is the crown. What we know of the rite of the Lamp of Invisible Light comes from what Crowley's writings, the rituals that are extant, and the artifacts that remain. These details are scanty but highly suggestive.

The ritual of the initiation of a High Priest of L.I.L. survives,[39] in the form a typescript copy of a purported original. The transcript, once in the possession of Charles S. Jones aka Frater Achad, later owned by his student Kowal, and now in the possession of the archives of Ordo Templi Orientis, from a spirit duplicate made by Kenneth Anger.[40] The following pages of this section contain a diplomatic transcription of the typescript of that ritual and explanatory notes following:

---

[39] Flawed transcriptions of this ritual are available on the internet and a problematic version of it was published in Rodney Orpheus' Grimoire of Aleister Crowley. (Newburyport MA: Weiser, 2019).

[40] Aleister Crowley. Book of the Spirit of the Living God. (Ordo Templi Orientis Archives.): archives.bapho.net/C/C0000068/C0000068.html.

4

The Ritual of Consecration of an High Priest of L.I.L.

Opening .

Let the forces of Jupiter be invoked by the hexagram in a temple purified by ~~t~~ the elements. Let the Spirit be also invoked.

The temple has : in the South, a Coffin : in the E(east), a lamp or flaming bowl; in the W(est), a Sword; in the N(orth), a bowl of bitterly cold alcohol. In the centre, an altar with the Star of magick Light : ~~N?S?E?W?~~ N,S,E,W are salt, fire, rose water

The opening being finished, let the doors be opened; andlet the Introducing Adept admit the Candidate, his hands bound and his eyes blinded. Follows the Ritual

A. Who art thou?

C. _____, in darkness and slavery which I have voluntarily taken myself; that I may bring Light and Liberty to others.

A. Whence comest thou ?

C. From the Place of the Meditations.

A. Whither goest thou ?

C. To the Place of the Tryings.

A. Art thou furnished for the journey ?

C. I am naked, and poor, and miserable.

A. Hast thou nought to sacrifice unto the guardians of the Ways?

C. The Breath of my Nostrils, the Flesh of my Body, the Tears of mine Eyes and the Blood of my Heart.

A. Add thou thereto the Silence of Thy Tongue.

Let the Purification be performed:

(Ritual J is solemnly recited of C.)

A. Thou hast signed the Oath of thine Obligation : art thou now ready to confirm its provision in this Presence ?

C. I am.

(C. is led to foot of Altarand kneels. His hands are unbound; they are ~~pla~~ placed around the lamp in the centre, as if ready to support it. TheOath ~~i~~ is then taken.)

A. Knowest thou the Force of the name I H V H ?

C. At this name the Elements are moved.

A. Thy Name is the Child of the Children of the Elements: ~~i~~ ~~th~~ In This Name Tet~~t~~ragrammaton dost thou trust ?

C. It is written : It is better to trust in Tetragrammaton than to put confidence in Princes.

A. The River Kishon swept them away : that ancient river, the River Kishon. The Lord is a Man of War : the Lord of Hosts is his name.

The Dukes of Adom were amazed : trembling took hold of the Mighty of Moab.

Lord, when thou wentest out of Seir ; when thou marchedst out of the field of Adom!

He bowed the Heavens also and came down, and Darkness was under His feet : at the Brightness that was before Him the thick clouds passed : hailstones and coals of fire Tetragrammaton thundered through the Heavens and the Mighty One gave forth His Voice hailstones and coals of fire! He sent out his arrows and scattered them.; He hurled forth His lightnings and destroyed them. At Thy Rebuke, Oh Lord! At the blast of the Breath of Thy Nostrils ! The Voice of Thy Thunder was in the Heavens : the Lightnings lightened the World : the Earth trembled and shook!

Oh Lord I have heard thy Speech and was afraid. The Voice of the Lord is upon the Waters! The God of Glory thundereth ! The Lord is upon many waters! The Voice of ~~t~~ the Lord is powerful! The Voice of the Lord is full of Majesty ! The Voice of the Lord breaketh the cedars : yea, the Lord breaketh the cedars of Lebanon.

The Voice of the Lord divideth the Flames of Fire ! The Voice of the Lord shaketh the Wilderness! Yea! the Lord shaketh the Wilderness of Kedar.

Before Him went the Pestilence: and Flaming Fire went forth at his feet. He stood : and measured the Earth ! He beheld and drove asunder the Nations. And the Everlasting Mountains were scattered : the Perpetual Hills did bow!

Ateh Gibor le-Olahm, Adonai. Let Power be ascribed unto the name I H V H.

Candidate is led to S(outh) and his r(ight) h(and) burnt with Fire).

I said : Is not the Fire mine, and the Inhabitants thereof? Hear then the Voice of the Fire.

(Recite Prayer of Salamanders)

(C. to W. and his l(eft) h(and) placed in freezing mixture)

It is written: Who shall abide His frost?

(Recite Prayer of Undines. C(andidate) to E. and blood drawn from heart)

The Word of Tetragrammaton is a sharp sword: the Breath of the Lord divideth the reins of men.

(Recite Prayer of Sylphs. C. to N. placed in coffin and closed up)

As for man, his days are as grass, as a flower he flourisheth : dust thou art, and to dust shalt thou return.

(Recite Prayer of Gnomes.)

And I heard a Great Voice out of Heaven saying : It is the Word of Tetragrammaton: it is the speech of I H V H . Seal up the Book : for the Name is written and the Word vibrated. And I said : "What is the Name?" And a great thunder rose up and roared and in its echo was the Name of Death.

ו (Note. This means knock ?)

And I saw in the Midst as it were a Lamb slain, having seven horns and seven eyes, which are the seven spirits of God sent forth unto all the world. And the Four Beasts and the Four and Twenty Elders fell down, saying "Thou art worthy to take ~~t~~ the Book, and to open the Seals thereof : for Thou hast redeemed us to God by thy blood out of every kindred people and nation and hast made us unto our God ~~Kin~~ Kings and Priests !"

Let the Dead rise from their tombs !

A
For as in ^dam all die, even so in Christ shall all be made Alive! the first man is of the earth, earthy : the Second Man is the Lord from Heaven ! The first man Adam was made a living soul : the last Adam a quickening spirit !

Let the dead rise from their tombs !

I AM, the Resurrection and the Life ! I am He that liveth and was dead : and behold I am alive for evermore AMEN and have the Keys of Hell and of Death.

Let the dead rise from their tombs.

(Three times) In the name of Osiris, I say unto Thee, Arise !

(C. is assisted to kneel at altar.)

And
Awake thou that sleepest ~~na~~ rise ~~among~~ from among the death (sic. T) : and Christ shall give thee Light. (Unbandage C's eyes).

Lux Umbra Kristi

Phos Logos Uiou (in Greek. T.).

Dawn Promise of Light

L.P.D. : L.V.X. : the Flaming Star of Light!

I now clothe thee with the Robe and Crown of the High Priest: I bestow on Thee the consecrated Wand.

The Grand Word is ~~P~~L.P.D. answered by L.V.X. The secret meaning of the first is "the Blood of the Lamb". For the Greek Letters L P D combined give
Δ
W D M in Coptic, and these again give the Hebrew Word "Dam", blood, which by Temurah yield Car = Lamb. L.V.X. is the mystic expansion of the Cross or Hebrew Tau and if this letter is inserted in the midst of Car we have KThR (in Hebrew script. T.) Kether the Crown.

The Age of the Priesthood is 114 years, from L.P.D. (Hebrew script. T.) and it refers ~~t~~ to the mourning of Isis over the Slain Osiris, that is, to the lamentation of the priesthood over their country. For Daleth Mem Ayin (Hebrew script. T) means "tear".

The Corresponding Sign of Greeting : The Priests weep or sigh heavily. The Answer is 65 and the elder Priest is glad, saying "Adonai hath shone in His Palace", the other is glad also, and replies "Keep Silence".

But the Sign of True Esotericism is thus given.

The first priest looks to heaven saying "I watch".

The second, holding his hands as if to shield a flame: "I work".

The first, looking to earth, "I weep".

The second, pointing to heaven, "It beams".

The first, as shielding a flame, "It burns!"

Both Priests then give the grip: ~~eah~~ each places his arms around the neck of the other,arms straight, thus forming a hexagram; both look to heaven : they slowly lower their eyes and when they meet, the arms are crossed on the breast, and both bow profoundly.

The Pass-Word is changed annually; it is at present _____.

By virtue of which mystic Words and Signs I now declare thee fitted to sacrifice before the Most High : for in the name of Jeheshua art thou admitted to the mysteries hereof. Sacrifice thou therefore the four into the One. Cast this limpid fluid into the bowl; light thereon the flame: place the incense and the salt therein ! (Done.)

Let the Spirit of the Gods descend! (C. kneels).

I finally invoke upon Thee the Light Divine in the divine Name Jeheshua Jehovashah – and lo ! I saw you to the end !

By the virtue of the Name Osiris, in the Divine Name I A O, I say "Receive Thou the Holy Ghost ! Whatsoever thou shalt loose on earth, shall be loosed in heaven : whatsoever thou shalt bind on earth shall be bound in heaven!

Arise, High Priest of   for by this Name I call thee. Hail unto ye, O ye Great Gods of Heaven ! Give me your hands, for this One is made as ye ! Who is this that hath passed under the power of the Name ? Who is he that cometh triumphant from the trials ? Hail unto thee, O Thoth ! Is not his name written in thy book of Life ? (High Priest led to East.)

This is thy blood, the symbol of thy life. It shall be for a sign, that thou hast shed it willingly for men ; or, if thou failest in thineoath, it shall be a practical and material link whereby the Chiefs of the Order shall the more speedily and easily execute vengeance upon Thee - yea - unto the Uttermost.

Return then to the Altar and kneel in humble prayer unto the Gods, that they may hold thee in their hands to keep thee in all thy ways.

(Done, while Initiator chants "Seigneur, delivre-moi")

Est, sit, esto, fiat !
Ad Virginis Fructifictionem
Ad~~d~~ Gloriam Roseae Crucis
Ad Matris Amorem
Ad Patris Vitam
Ad Lucem; ad Gloriam
Tui Nominis Ineffabilis
AMOUN

Note!

A.C. in the second volume of his Confessions pp 4-~~?~~ Wrote :)

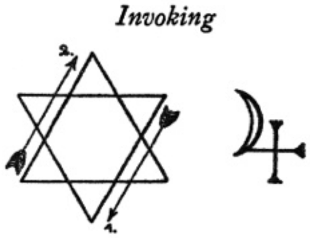
"I had also a certain amount of latitude granted by Mathers to initiate suitable people in partibus. I, therefore, established an entirely new Order of my own, Called L.I.L. : the "Lamp of Invisible Light". Don Jesus (Medina) became its first High Priest. In the Order L.I.L., the letters L.P.D. are the mon^ograms of the mysteries. An explanation of these letters is given by Dumas is the prologue of his "Memoirs to a Physician," and Eliphas Levi discusses them at some length. I, however, remembered them directly from my incarnation as Cagliostro. It would be improper to communicate their significance to the profane , but I may say that the political interpretation given by Dumas is superficial, and the ethical su ggestions of Levi puerile and perverse ; or, more correctly, intentionally misleading. They conceal a number of magical formulae of minor importance but major practical value, and the curious should conduct such research as they feel impelled to make in the light of the Qabalah . Their numerical values, Yetziratic attributions, and the arcana of the Atus of Tahuti, supply an adequate clue to such intelligences as are enlightened by sympathy and sincerity.

" The general idea was to have a ever-burning lamp in a temple furnished with talismans appropriate to the elementary, planetary, and zodiacal forces of nature. Daily invocations were to be performed with the object of making the light itself a consecrated centre or focus of spiritual energy. This light would then radiate and automatically enlighten such minds as were ready to receive it.

" Even today, the experiment seems interesting, and the conception sublime. I am rather sorry that I lost touch with Dom Jesus ; I should like very much to know how it turned out. "

Notes:

“Let the forces of Jupiter be invoked by the hexagram . . .”



How elaborate such an invocation was intended to be is a matter of speculation. A fair idea can be deduced from an early ritual that Crowley composed for charging a “Talisman of ▽ of ♃,”[41] wherein the hierarchy of spiritual forces used with the hexagram are listed as:[42]

אל אב
חסד צדקיאל חשמלים יופיאל חיסמאל

followed by a ‘Great Invocation of Amoun.’ This generally follows the outline given in Liber O for planetary invocations: God - Egyptian, Hebrew God name, Archangel, Choir of Angels, planetary Intelligence and planetary Spirit.

“. . . in a temple purified by the elements. Let the Spirit be also invoked.”

Typically, this would include a purification by water, a consecration by fire, and banishing by both the lesser pentagram and hexagram rituals; the pentagrams proper to the invocation of Spirit would also be used. This was the process followed in the “Talisman of [41] “Talisman of Water of Jupiter with Ritual” (1901). Yorke Collection OS 21. (London: Warburg Institute, 2002). Film 1 Reel #1. This ritual was published as “Talisman of Fire of Jupiter with Ritual” in the Equinox v. I. n. 3. op. cit. pp. 190-197. It is notable, in appraising Crowley’s technique of the period, that this ritual is roughly contemporary with the Mexican rituals.

---

[42] These are, respectively, the God names: AL AB (777 V: 4 & 21), Sephira: Chesed (777 II: 4), Archangel: Zadkiel (777 XCIX: 4), Choir: Chashmalim (777 LXXXVI: 6), Intelligence: Jophiel (777 LXXVIII: 4) and Spirit: Hismal (777 LXXIX: 21) associated with the planet. Aleister Crowley, 777 and other Qabalistic Writings. ed. Israel Regardie. (York Beach ME: Weiser, 1973).

There are some minor problems involved in this hierarchical list. 777 has what appears to be a misspelling for what is probably the Shinanim (for 777 LXXXVI: 6, an order of angels of which Zadkiel (the angel of Jupiter) is the prince, and puts the Chasmalim in Tiphareth, but Crowley’s original usage in this ritual is more traditional and is what is given by Maimonides and other early authorities as the Choir or Order associated with Chesed. יופיאל and חיסמאל are both variant spellings, in the ritual, that deviate from the יופיל and חסמאל given in 777. See also A.E. Waite, The Holy Kabbalah. (New Hyde Park NY: University Books, n.d.), pp. 254-255.

▽ of ♃” ritual, the details of which may be found in Liber O,[43] and chapter XIII “Of the Banishings, and of the Purifications” in Magick in Theory and Practice.[44]

THE PENTAGRAMS OF SPIRIT

Invoking

Equilibrium of Actives,
Name: A H I H (Eheieh).

Equilibrium of Passives,
Name: A G L A (Agla).

The signs of the Portal (see Illustrations): Extend the hands in front of you, palms outwards, separate them as if in the act of rending asunder a veil or curtain (actives), and then bring them together as if closing it up again and let them fall to the side (passives).

(The Grade of the “Portal” is particularly attributed to the element of Spirit; it refers to the Sun; the paths of ס, נ, and ע, are attributed to this degree. See “777,” lines 6 and 31 bis.).

“The temple has: in the South, a Coffin : in the E(east), a lamp or flaming bowl; in the W(est), a Sword; in the N(orth), a bowl of bitterly cold alcohol.”

The Temple is initially laid out according to the celestial formula of the Lesser Hexagram Ritual and the Greater Pentagram Ritual:

Coffin in the south for Earth,
Lamp or flaming bowl in the east for Fire,
Sword in west for Air,
and bowl of bitterly cold alcohol in the north for Water.

“In the centre, an altar with the Star of magick Light: N,S,E,W are salt, fire, rose, water”

The central altar is alternatively laid out according the terrestrial formula of the Lesser Pentagram Ritual:

Salt in the north for Earth,
Fire in the south for Fire,
Rose in the east for Air,

---

[43] “Liber O vel Manus et Sagittae sub figura VI” in The Equinox. V. I. n. 2. (London: Simpkin et al, 1909). pp. 10-30 and reprinted in Crowley’s Magick in Theory and Practice, vide post.

[44] Aleister Crowley, Magick in Theory and Practice. (New York: Castle Books, 1961), pp. 101-105.

And water in the west for Water.

The Star of magick Light is probably the Magen David or six-pointed Star of David.

"The Breath of my Nostrils, the Flesh of my Body, the Tears of mine Eyes and the Blood of my Heart."

This again follows the terrestrial elemental formula, counterclockwise from the east: Breath for Air, Flesh for Earth, Tears for Water and Blood for Fire.

"Add thou thereto the Silence of Thy Tongue."

For the element of Spirit.

"Let the Purification be performed: (Ritual J is solemnly recited of C.)

Thou hast signed the Oath of thine Obligation: art thou now ready to confirm its provision in this Presence?"

'Ritual J' is essentially the first point of the Adeptus Minor Ritual, including and especially focused on the Obligation.[45] It was almost certainly edited and redacted for this ritual. The following from Temple of Solomon the King includes the essentials:[46]

---

[45] 'Ritual J' is extant in F.L. Gardner's Golden Dawn papers in the Yorke Collection (NS 63), as "J. The Obligation of an Adeptus Minor 5=6."

[46] J.F.C. Fuller, "Temple of Solomon the King" in Equinox v. I n. 3. Orpheus, Grimoire op cit. mistakenly identifies this as the obligation of the Neophyte degree in the Golden Dawn, probably due to the fact that it is identified in the later Golden Dawn structure with the Neophyte Adeptus Minor sub-degree. The two are completely different.

[The Second Adept then raises his hands on high and cries :]

I invoke Thee, the Great Avenging Angel H U A, in the Divine Name I . ·. A . ·. O . ·., that thou mayest invisibly place thine hand upon the head of this Aspirant in attestation of his obligation.

[The Aspirant then repeats the obligation after him, saying :]

כתר. I, "Christian Rosenkreutz," a member of the body of Christ, do this day, on behalf of the Universe, spiritually bind myself, even as I am now bound physically unto the Cross of Suffering :

חכמה. That I will do the utmost to lead a pure and unselfish life. . . .

בינה. That I will keep secret all things connected with this Order . . . that I will maintain the Veil of strict secrecy between the First and Second Order.

חסד. That I will uphold to the utmost the authority of the Chiefs of the Order.

גבורה. Furthermore that I will perform all practical work connected with this Order, in a place concealed . . . that I will keep secret this inner Rosicrucian Knowledge . . . that I will only perform any practical magic before the uninitiated which is of a simple and already well-known nature, and that I will show them no secret mode of working whatsoever. . . .

תפארת. I further solemnly promise and swear that, with the Divine permission, I will from this day forward apply myself unto the Great Work, which is so to purify and exalt my spiritual Nature that with the Divine Aid I may at length attain to be more than human, and thus gradually raise and unite myself to my higher and divine Genius, and that in this event I will not abuse the Great Power entrusted unto me.

נצח. I furthermore solemnly pledge myself never to work at any important Symbol or Talisman without first invocating the Highest Divine Names connected therewith ; and especially not to debase my knowledge of Practical Magic to purposes of Evil. . . .

הוד. I further promise always to . . . display brotherly love and forbearance towards the members of the whole Order. . . .

יסוד. I also undertake to work unassisted at the subjects prescribed for study in the various practical grades. . . .

מלכות. Finally, if in my travels I should meet a stranger who professes to be a member of the Rosicrucian Order, I will examine him with care, before acknowledging him to be so.

The full ritual including the continuation of the unfilled ellipses can be studied in Regardie's The Golden Dawn.[47]

"A. Knowest thou the Force of the name I H V H?
A. Thy Name is the Child of the Children of the Elements: In This Name Tetragrammaton dost thou trust?"

IHVH also referred to as the Tetragrammaton (four lettered name) is the transliteration of hwhy one of the most important divine names in the TaNaKh, the Hebrew Bible or Old Testament. Commonly translated as 'God' and variously pronounced as Jehovah or Yahweh, it can be taken grammatically as either the Hiphil third person singular masculine imperfect form of the 'to be' verb' הוה meaning 'he causes to become,' or a conflation of the three temporal forms of the 'to be verb' combining the meanings 'he was, he is and he shall be.'

---

[47] Israel Regardie, The Golden Dawn. (St. Paul MN: Llewellyn, 1995). pp. 221-247.

The Tetragrammaton played a central role in the magical symbolism of the Golden Dawn system, in which each letter of the name being attributed one of the four Classical Elements: yod (י) to Fire, heh (ה) to Water, vau (ו) to Air, and final heh (ה) to Earth.

"C. At this name the Elements are moved."

As will be seen later in the ritual, the outer symbols of the Elements are moved to conform to terrestrial formula, so that the Fire is moved to the south, the bowl to the west, the Coffin to the north and the Sword to the east; thus aligning with elements on the altar and the microcosmic formula found in the Lesser Pentagram ritual.

"C. It is written: It is better to trust in Tetragrammaton than to put confidence in Princes."

An adaptation of Psalm 118:9 (see also the Darby translation of the Bible for an explicit reference to Jehovah).

"A. The River Kishon swept them away: that ancient river, the River Kishon."

קישון - lit. "twisted" or "tortuous," a river arising on Mt. Tabor and flowing through the Jezreel Valley or Valley of Megiddo into the Gulf of Ptolemais, at modern Haifa. From Judges 5:21. This and many of the following biblical lines are part of the Philosophus ritual and the "Garden After Eden" lecture in the Golden Dawn.[48]

"The Lord is a Man of War:"

Exodus 15:3

"the Lord of Hosts is his name."

Isaiah 47:4

---

[48] Op cit. Regardie, Golden Dawn. pp. 181-196. Pat Zalewski*, Kabbalah of the Golden Dawn.* (St. Paul. MN: Llewellyn, 1993). pp. 127-134.

“The Dukes of Adom were amazed: trembling took hold of the Mighty of Moab.”

Adapted from Exodus 15:15. Adom (אדום) is Edom. Crowley is using a direct form of qabalistic transliteration. The Dukes of Edom play an important role as the sub-rulers of the qliphoth of the Sephiroth (vide 777. CIX).

“Lord, when thou wentest out of Seir; when thou marchedst out of the field of Adom!”

Judges 5:4.

“He bowed the Heavens also and came down, and Darkness was under His feet:”

Psalm 18:9

“at the brightness that was before Him the thick clouds passed: hailstones and coals of fire Tetragrammaton thundered through the Heavens and the Mighty One gave forth His Voice hailstones and coals of fire! He sent out his arrows and scattered them.; He hurled forth His lightnings and destroyed them.”

Adapted from Psalm 18: 12-14

“At Thy Rebuke, Oh Lord! At the blast of the Breath of Thy Nostrils!”

Psalm 18:15

“The Voice of Thy Thunder was in the Heavens: the Lightnings lightened the World: the Earth trembled and shook!”

Psalm 77:18

“Oh Lord I have heard thy Speech and was afraid.”

Habbakuk 3:2

The Voice of the Lord is upon the Waters! The God of Glory thundereth! The Lord is upon many waters! The Voice of the Lord is powerful! The Voice of the Lord is full of Majesty! The Voice of the Lord breaketh the cedars: yea, the Lord breaketh the cedars of Lebanon. The Voice of the Lord divideth the Flames of Fire! The Voice of the Lord shaketh the Wilderness! Yea! the Lord shaketh the Wilderness of Kedar.

Adapted from Psalm 29:3-9. The author has substituted Kedar (קדר) for the Kadesh (קדש) found in the biblical original. Kedar was a tribe of Ishmaelites dwelling to the south of Israel, Kadesh may refer to one of two locations, either the city of Petra in Jordan or the site of an important battle in Syria between Rameses the Great and the Hittites.

"Before Him went the Pestilence: and Flaming Fire went forth at his feet. He stood: and measured the Earth! He beheld and drove asunder the Nations. And the Everlasting Mountains were scattered: the Perpetual Hills did bow!"

Adapted from Habbakuk 3:5-6

"Ateh Gibor le-Olahm, Adonai. Let Power be ascribed unto the name I H V H."

This is the full phrase meaning: "Unto thee be the power forever oh Lord," that is basis for the magical acronym AGLA (אגלא). It is important in the Golden Dawn system as the god name attributed to north and Earth in the Lesser Pentagram Ritual. It an extremely old formula going back to early Medieval and Late Antiquity Jewish and Gnostic Magic amulets and talismans and later used by Renaissance Hermetic magicians such as John Dee, who places it on the reverse side of the Sigillum Dei Aemeth.

"Candidate is led to S(outh) and his r(ight) h(and) burnt with Fire)."

This is the first indication of how the elements were moved in the opening. Fire is now in the south from its original position in the East.

"(Recite Prayer of Salamanders)"

From Eliphas Levi's Transcendental Magic, pp. 219-220.[49]

"(C. to W. and his l(eft) h(and) placed in freezing mixture)"

Likewise, Water is now in the west.

"(Recite Prayer of Undines.)"

Ibid. pp. 218-219.

---

[49] Eliphas Levi, Transcendental Magic: Its Doctrine and Ritual. trans A.E. Waite. (London: Redway, 1896).

"C(andidate) to E. and blood drawn from heart) The Word of Tetragrammaton is a sharp sword: the Breath of the Lord divideth the reins of men"

Air and its magical weapon, the Sword, now being in the east, the candidate is presumably cut therewith. The word of God is commonly identified, in the Bible, with a sharp sword, conspicuously in Revelation 1:16 et passim, Ephesians 6:17, and Hebrews 4:12. The reins of man are similarly identified with the heart, cf. Psalm 73:21 and Jeremiah 11:20.

"(Recite Prayer of Sylphs"

Op cit. Levi Transcendental pp. 216-217.

"C. to N. placed in coffin and closed up)"

Completing the shift of the elements, the Coffin is finally located in the north for Earth. Interestingly, in Freemasonic symbolism, the north is the place of darkness and the location of the first of three places, where Hiram Abiff is buried in the Master Mason degree.

"As for man, his days are as grass, as a flower he flourisheth:"

Psalm 103:15

"dust thou art, and to dust shalt thou return."

Genesis 3:19

"(Recite Prayer of Gnomes.)"

Op cit. Levi Transcendental pp. 220-221.

"And I heard a Great Voice out of Heaven saying:"

Revelation 21:3.

"Seal up the Book"

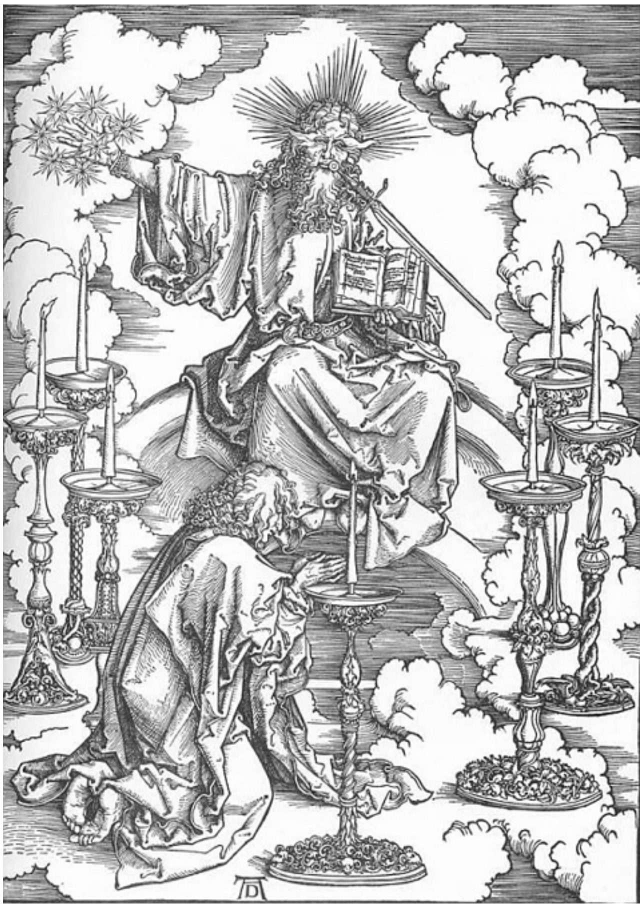
Daniel 12:14

"And I saw in the Midst as it were a Lamb slain, having seven horns and seven eyes, which are the seven spirits of God sent forth unto all the world."

Adapted from Revelation 5:6.

“And the Four Beasts and the Four and Twenty Elders fell down, saying "Thou art worthy to take the Book, and to open the Seals thereof: for Thou hast redeemed us to God by thy blood out of every kindred people and nation and hast made us unto our God.
Kings and Priests!"

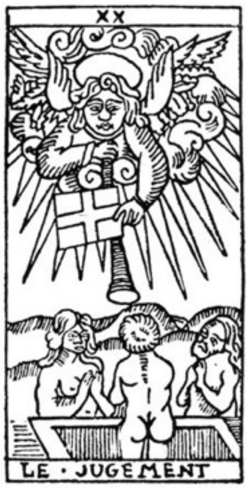
Adapted from Revelation 5:8-10.



Woodcut by Albrecht Durer

“Let the Dead rise from their tombs!”

The opening of the tombs and the future resurrection of the dead is an important theme in the Bible, especially the New Testament. The most pertinent verses regarding this doctrine of the Last Trump are I Thessalonians 4:13-18; Matthew 24:30-31; John 5:28-29, I Corinthians 15:51-54. The event is depicted on the traditional rendering of the “Last Judgement” the XXth trump of the Tarot.



"For as in Adam all die, even so in Christ shall all be made Alive!"

I Corinthians 15:22.

"the first man is of the earth, earthy: the Second Man is the Lord from Heaven! The first man Adam was made a living soul: the last Adam a quickening spirit!"

Adapted from I Corinthians 15:45-47.

"I AM, the Resurrection and the Life!"

John 11:25

"I am He that liveth and was dead : and behold I am alive for evermore AMEN and have the Keys of Hell and of Death."

Revelation 1:18.

"In the name of Osiris"

Crowley followed Golden Dawn symbolism, which identifies Osiris with Christ as dying (and risen) gods. Its most obvious correlation in Golden Dawn magical symbolism is in "The Analysis of the Key Word." This identification was formalized by James G. Frazer in his seminal work, The Golden Bough.[50]

---

[50] Crowley only had access to the three volume second edition and probably had only read the first edition. James G. Frazer. The Golden Bough: A Study in Magic and Religion, 3 vols. (London: MacMillan, 1900).

"I say unto Thee, Arise!"

Mark 2:11 & 5:41; Luke 5:24 & 7:14.

"Awake thou that sleepest and rise from among the death (sic. T): and Christ shall give thee Light."

Ephesians 5:14.

"Lux Umbra Kristi"

Light is the Shadow of Christ.

"Phos Logos Uiou (in Greek. T.)"

Φως Λογος Υιου: Light is the Word of the Son.

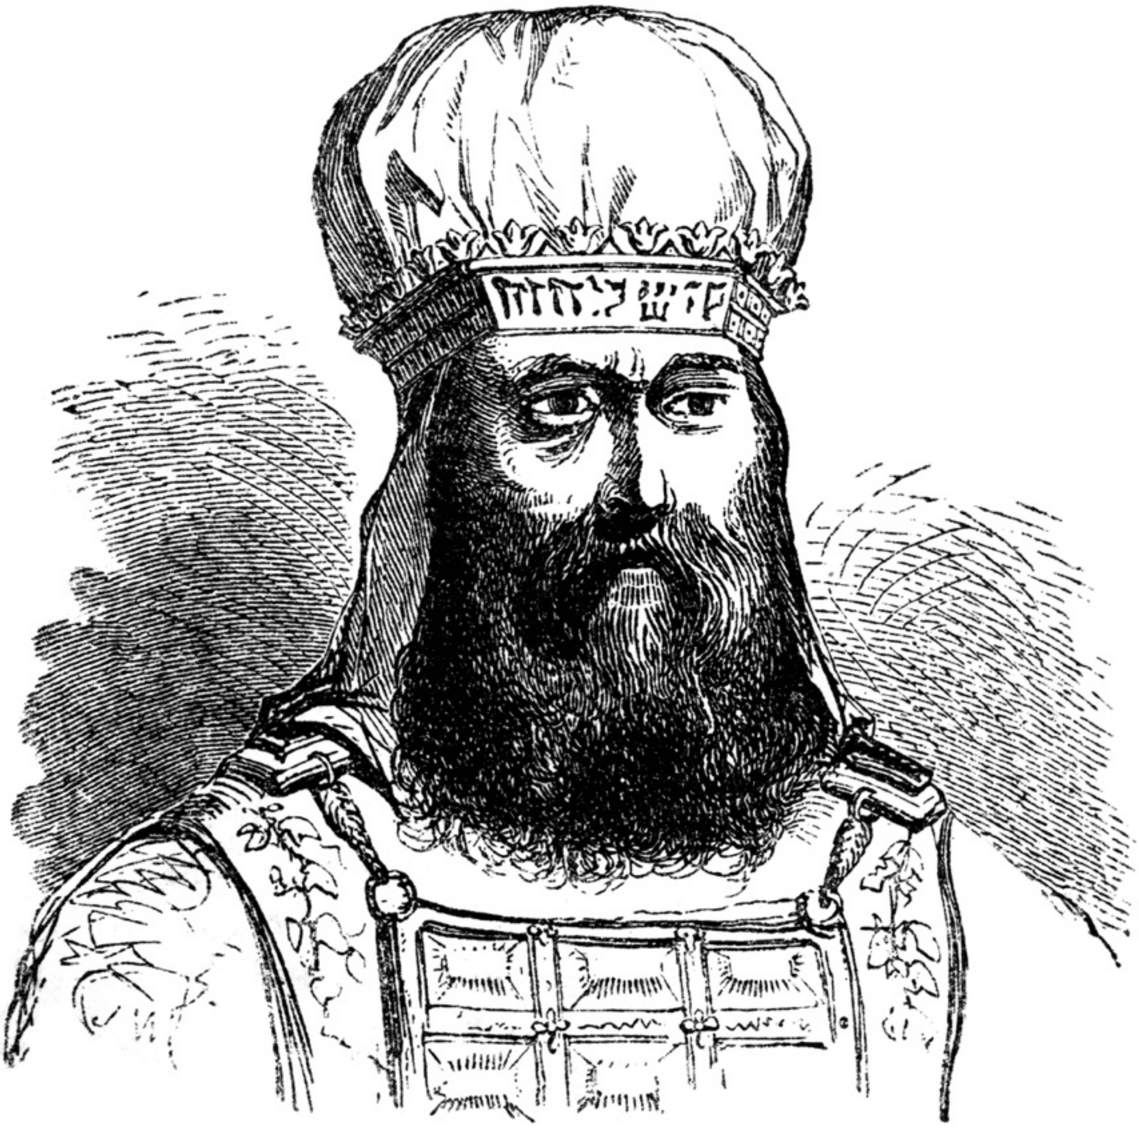
"L.P.D.: L.V.X. : the Flaming Star of Light!"

LPD was an acronym for the secret of Cagliostro's Egyptian Freemasonry and will be discussed in more detail in a following essay. It is also the Hebrew root meaning 'to flame' or 'shine' from which the word for 'lamp' is derived.

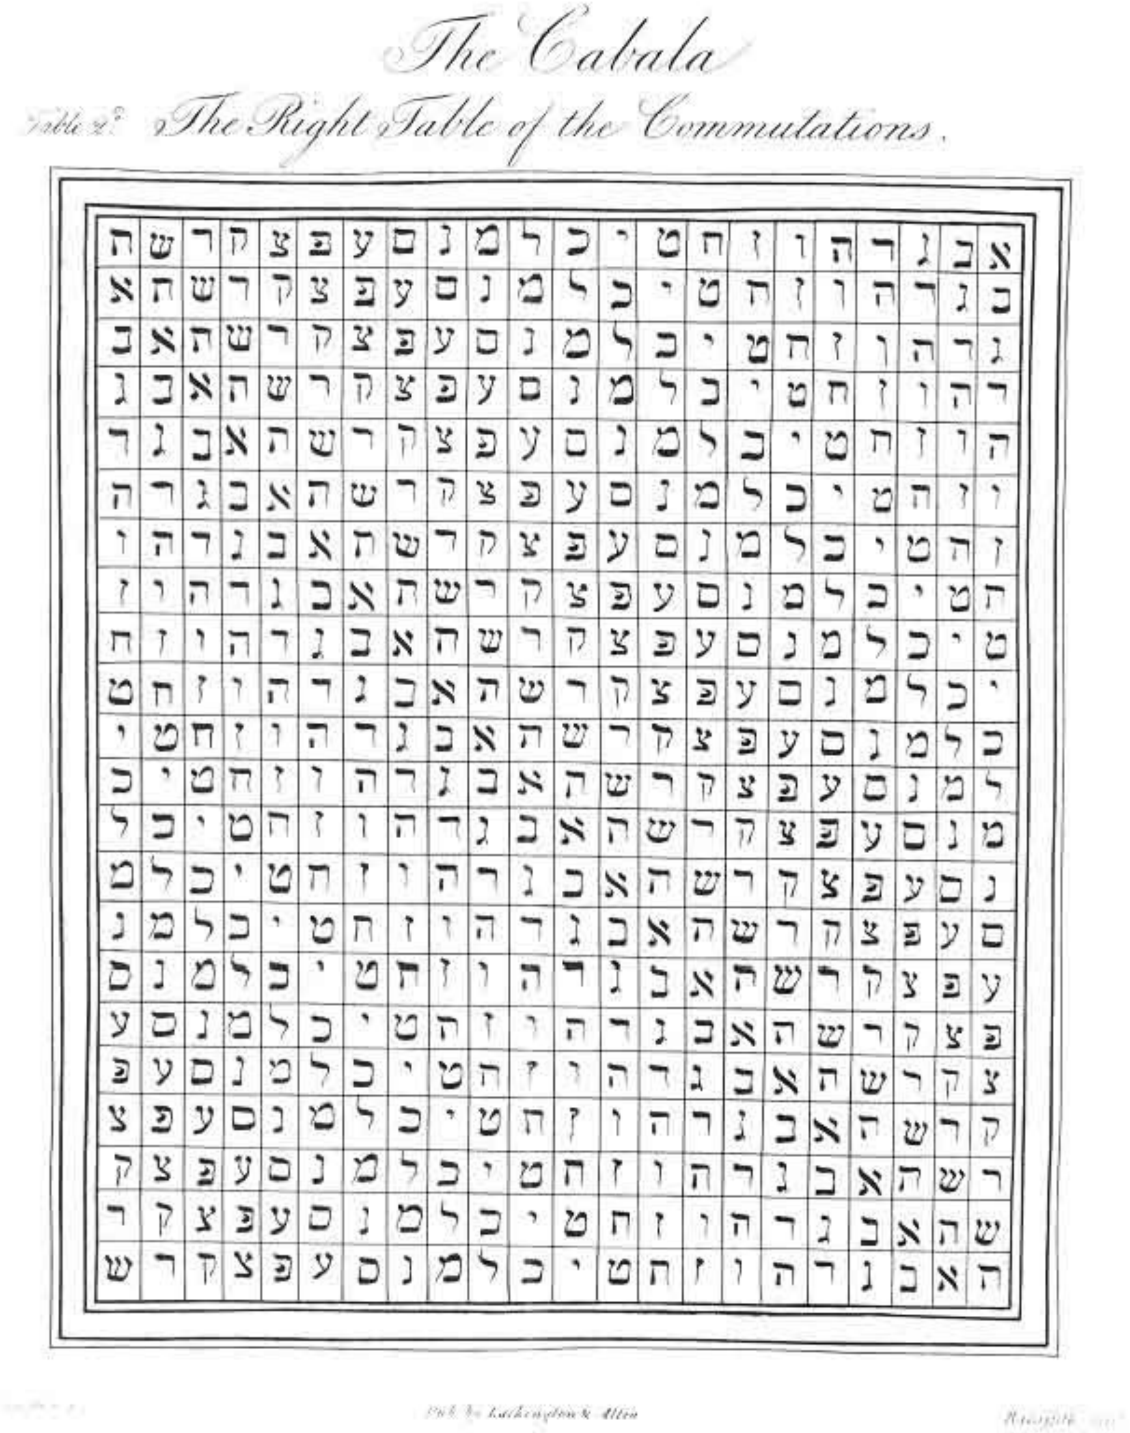
L.V.X. is part of the formula of the 'Analysis of the Key Word' which concludes the formula of the Adeptus Minor degree in the RR et AC of the Golden Dawn. The letters form the Latin word Lux, meaning light.

"I now clothe thee with the Robe and Crown of the High Priest: I bestow on Thee the consecrated Wand."

Given the quasi-Masonic context of L.I.L. it is likely these were the typical crown and robe of the High Priest in various of the appendant degrees, notably the Royal Arch. These garments are based on the description in Exodus 28.



The High Priest



The Cabala

Table 2d. The Right Table of the Commutations.

א	ב	ג	ד	ה	ו	ז	ח	ט	י	כ	ל	מ	נ	ס	ע	פ	צ	ק	ר	ש	ת
ב	ג	ד	ה	ו	ז	ח	ט	י	כ	ל	מ	נ	ס	ע	פ	צ	ק	ר	ש	ת	א
ג	ד	ה	ו	ז	ח	ט	י	כ	ל	מ	נ	ס	ע	פ	צ	ק	ר	ש	ת	א	ב
ד	ה	ו	ז	ח	ט	י	כ	ל	מ	נ	ס	ע	פ	צ	ק	ר	ש	ת	א	ב	ג
ה	ו	ז	ח	ט	י	כ	ל	מ	נ	ס	ע	פ	צ	ק	ר	ש	ת	א	ב	ג	ד
ו	ז	ח	ט	י	כ	ל	מ	נ	ס	ע	פ	צ	ק	ר	ש	ת	א	ב	ג	ד	ה
ז	ח	ט	י	כ	ל	מ	נ	ס	ע	פ	צ	ק	ר	ש	ת	א	ב	ג	ד	ה	ו
ח	ט	י	כ	ל	מ	נ	ס	ע	פ	צ	ק	ר	ש	ת	א	ב	ג	ד	ה	ו	ז
ט	י	כ	ל	מ	נ	ס	ע	פ	צ	ק	ר	ש	ת	א	ב	ג	ד	ה	ו	ז	ח
י	כ	ל	מ	נ	ס	ע	פ	צ	ק	ר	ש	ת	א	ב	ג	ד	ה	ו	ז	ח	ט
כ	ל	מ	נ	ס	ע	פ	צ	ק	ר	ש	ת	א	ב	ג	ד	ה	ו	ז	ח	ט	י
ל	מ	נ	ס	ע	פ	צ	ק	ר	ש	ת	א	ב	ג	ד	ה	ו	ז	ח	ט	י	כ
מ	נ	ס	ע	פ	צ	ק	ר	ש	ת	א	ב	ג	ד	ה	ו	ז	ח	ט	י	כ	ל
נ	ס	ע	פ	צ	ק	ר	ש	ת	א	ב	ג	ד	ה	ו	ז	ח	ט	י	כ	ל	מ
ס	ע	פ	צ	ק	ר	ש	ת	א	ב	ג	ד	ה	ו	ז	ח	ט	י	כ	ל	מ	נ
ע	פ	צ	ק	ר	ש	ת	א	ב	ג	ד	ה	ו	ז	ח	ט	י	כ	ל	מ	נ	ס
פ	צ	ק	ר	ש	ת	א	ב	ג	ד	ה	ו	ז	ח	ט	י	כ	ל	מ	נ	ס	ע
צ	ק	ר	ש	ת	א	ב	ג	ד	ה	ו	ז	ח	ט	י	כ	ל	מ	נ	ס	ע	פ
ק	ר	ש	ת	א	ב	ג	ד	ה	ו	ז	ח	ט	י	כ	ל	מ	נ	ס	ע	פ	צ
ר	ש	ת	א	ב	ג	ד	ה	ו	ז	ח	ט	י	כ	ל	מ	נ	ס	ע	פ	צ	ק
ש	ת	א	ב	ג	ד	ה	ו	ז	ח	ט	י	כ	ל	מ	נ	ס	ע	פ	צ	ק	ר
ת	א	ב	ג	ד	ה	ו	ז	ח	ט	י	כ	ל	מ	נ	ס	ע	פ	צ	ק	ר	ש

Pub. by Lackington & Allen

Table from Barrett's The Magus.

"The Grand Word is L.P.D. answered by L.V.X. The secret meaning of the first is 'the Blood of the Lamb'.

For the Greek Letters L P D combined give
Δ
W D M in Coptic,"

ΛΠΔ in Greek. This is a puzzling qabalistic reference; it seems likely the typescript is corrupt in some way.

"and these again give the Hebrew Word "Dam", blood,"

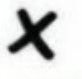
דם blood, (etymologically related to both Adam and 'red').

"which by Temurah yield Car = Lamb."

כר lamb, (especially a fatted one). For Temurah, see Crowley's essay "Gematria'[51] and 'The Right Table of Commutations' from Barrett's The Magus.[52] The particular formula of Temurah used here is AChBT, where א equals ח and ב, equals ט; the 8th row in Barrett's Table. This can be seen by following the 4th column (of the first row) where ד appears, down to the 8th row where כ appears, and likewise in the 8th row ר appears in the 13th column corresponding to מ in the 13th column of the 1st row.

"L.V.X. is the mystic expansion of the Cross or Hebrew Tau"

This mystic expansion is shown in the 'Analysis of the Key Word' and the gestures that accompany it "LVX, Lux the Light of the Cross." The principle is based on the original Paleo-Hebrew form of the letter Tau which is a cross:



"and if this letter is inserted in the midst of Car we have KThR (in Hebrew script. T.) Kether the Crown."

כתר (777 II:1)

---

[51] Crowley, "The Temple of Solomon the King" in the Equinox v. I n. 5 op. cit. pp. 72-83; republished in Crowley 777, op. cit. pp. 1-26.

[52] Francis Barrett, The Magus or Celestial Intelligencer. (New York: University Books, 1967), plate post p. 62.

“The Age of the Priesthood is 114 years, from L.P.D. (Hebrew script. T.) and it refers to the mourning of Isis over the Slain Osiris, that is, to the lamentation of the priesthood over their country. For Daleth Mem Ayin (Hebrew script. T) means ‘tear’.”

LPD (לפד 30+80+4=114).

דמע (70+40+4=114): ‘to weep’ or ‘a tear.’

There seems to be no evidence that 114 years is a traditional enumeration of the years Isis spent mourning over Osiris. The value is likely a qabalistic construct of Crowley’s based on gematric correlation of the value of LPD to דמע.[53]

“The Answer is 65 and the elder Priest is glad, saying "Adonai hath shone in His Palace", the other is glad also, and replies "Keep Silence".”

אדני Adonai (1+4+50+10=65)

“But the Sign of True Esotericism is thus given.

The first priest looks to heaven saying "I watch".
The second, holding his hands as if to shield a flame: "I work".
The first, looking to earth, "I weep".
The second, pointing to heaven, "It beams".
The first, as shielding a flame, "It burns!"

This is clearly a symbolic reference to the five elements: “I watch” = Spirit, “I work” = Earth, “I weep = Water, “It beams” = Air, and “It burns” = Fire. The order would seem to follow the invoking Pentagram, beginning at the top with Spirit, proceeding to the lower left, attributed to Earth, going next to the upper right for Water, across to the upper left attributed to Air and concluding by moving to the lower right for Fire.

“By virtue of which mystic Words and Signs I now declare thee fitted to sacrifice before the Most High:”

This is further indication that the High Priest, his garb etc. is correlated to the biblical archetype given in Exodus, vide supra.

“for in the name of Jeheshua art thou admitted to the mysteries hereof.”

Jeheshua (יהשוה) is a qabalistic version of the name of Jesus, going back the early

---

[53] The John Symonds, Kenneth Grant note that “114 is a key number in Rosicrucianism” is equally specious. Crowley Confessions op. cit. p. 926.

Christian Qabalists. It posits that the name of Jesus can be composed by inserting the Shin (attributed to Spirit) into the Tetragrammaton of the four elements. The name is frequently used by the Golden Dawn in various ritual contexts.

"Sacrifice thou therefore the four into the One. Cast this limpid fluid into the bowl; light thereon the flame: place the incense and the salt therein! (Done.)
Let the Spirit of the Gods descend! (C. kneels)."

This is a ritual explication of the previous formula: "fluid into the bowl" = Water, "light thereon the flame" = Fire, "place the incense" = Air, "and the salt therein! = Earth. Finally, "Let the Spirit of the Gods descend!" = Spirit. The ordering of the elements is not obvious, but may refer to the career of Jesus in the Gospels.

"I finally invoke upon Thee the Light Divine in the divine Name Jeheshua Jehovashah"

For Jeheshua see above, Jehovashah (יהושה) is a variation of this formula. It was used in the Consecration of the Banners of the East and West in the Golden Dawn and with Jeheshua in various rituals of consecration used in the Golden Dawn.[54]

"By the virtue of the Name Osiris, in the Divine Name I A O, I say "Receive Thou the Holy Ghost!"

IAO (Gk. ΙΑΩ) was originally a Greek version of the Tetragrammaton used in Late Antiquity. It subsequently became widely used among the Gnostics. In the Golden Dawn it is the essential conclusion of the 'Analysis of the Key Word,' formulated as an acronym for the initials of the Egyptian god names Isis, Apophis, Osiris. Crowley considered it an important formula in the practice of magick.[55] Here these names are used to formulate an Egyptianized Holy Trinity; beginning with Osiris as the son, IAO as the Father and concluding with the reception of the Holy Ghost.

"Whatsoever thou shalt loose on earth, shall be loosed in heaven: whatsoever thou shalt bind on earth shall be bound in heaven!"

Adapted from Matthew 16:19.

---

[54] See the full "Ritual of the Rose Cross" in the Golden Dawn. op. cit., pp. 306-309, and Israel Regardie, "The Ritual of the Banner of the East." The Sceptre of Power. (Phoenix AZ: New Falcon Publications, unpublished)
[55] Crowley, Magick. op. cit. pp. 28-38.

"Arise, High Priest of_____ for by this Name I call thee."

The blank here is curious. One might expect 'the Lamp of Invisible Light,' but following clause indicates that some 'secret' divine name is indicated, possibly LPD.

"Hail unto thee, O Thoth!"

Thoth is the Egyptian God of magick and the divine scribe. Here in the role of recorder of the name in the Book of Life.

"Is not his name written in thy book of Life?"

The Book of Life is recurring theme of the Book of Revelation, verses 3:5, 13:8, 17:8, 20:12, 20:15, 21:27 also in Philippians 4:3 and in other texts, both Christian and Jewish, of Late Antiquity. It is sometimes contrasted with the Book of the Dead (an allusion to famous Egyptian text).

"This is thy blood, the symbol of thy life. It shall be for a sign, that thou hast shed it willingly for men;"

A reference identifying the candidate with Christ. "It shall be for a sign" is a frequent trope in biblical texts going back to Genesis.

"or, if thou failest in thine oath, it shall be a practical and material link whereby the Chiefs of the Order shall the more speedily and easily execute vengeance upon Thee - yea - unto the Uttermost."

This is a reference to the supposed power of sympathetic magic and the magical link.[56]

"(Done, while Initiator chants "Seigneur, delivre-moi")"

Psalm 140 (139) in French, a standard liturgical psalm.

> Seigneur, délivre-moi de l'homme mauvais, > préserve-moi de l'homme violent,
> de ceux qui ont prémédité le mal,
> qui provoquent des guerres chaque jour.
> Ils ont dardé leur langue comme le serpent,
> ils ont du venin d'aspic entre les lèvres.
>
> Seigneur, garde-moi des mains de l'impie,

---

[56] See Frazer, Golden Bough op. cit. and Crowley Magick op. cit. pp. 106-122.

préserve-moi de l’homme violent,
de ceux qui ont médité ma chute.
Des orgueilleux ont dissimulé des pièges devant moi, ils ont tendu des cordes, un filet au bord du chemin,
ils m’ont posé des traquenards.

J’ai dit au Seigneur: “Tu es mon Dieu!”
Seigneur, prête l’oreille à ma voix suppliante.
Dieu, Seigneur, la force qui me sauve, tu as protégé ma tête le jour du combat.

Seigneur, ne cède pas aux désirs de l’impie, ne laisse pas réussir leurs intrigues,
car ils se redresseraient.
Que le crime de leurs lèvres recouvre
mes assiégeants jusqu’à la tête!
Que des braises se déversent sur eux,
qu’il les précipite dans le feu,
dans des gouffres d’où ils ne se relèveront pas!

Les mauvaises langues ne resteront pas dans le pays;
l’homme violent et méchant,
on le pourchassera sans répit.
Je sais que le Seigneur fera justice au malheureux, qu’il fera droit aux pauvres.
Oui, les justes célébreront ton nom et les hommes droits habiteront en ta présence.

“Est, sit, esto, fiat!”

It is, it shall be, it will be, let it be done!

“Ad Virginis Fructifictionem”

For the Virgin is Fruitful

“Ad Gloriam Roseae Crucis”

To the Glory of the Rosy Cross

“Ad Matris Amorem”

For the Love of the Mother

“Ad Patris Vitam”

For the Life of the Father

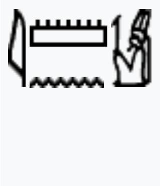
“Ad Lucem; ad Gloriam”

For the Light; for the Glory

“Tui Nominis Ineffabilis”

Your Name is Ineffable

“AMOUN”



Hellenized spelling of the Egyptian god Amun which means ‘hidden one.’ ‘Amoun was, since Classical times and in the Golden Dawn system, associated with the Greek Zeus and the Roman Jupiter. He became, over time, the central deity in the Egyptian pantheon, syncretized with other gods, almost to the point of monolatry.

In this context the name serves as a substitute for the Amen which terminates prayers and supplications, a frequent practice in the Golden Dawn, but without etymological justification. The name also serves to seal the Jupiterian nature of the ritual begun in the opening.

VI. The Talismans of L.I.L.

> The general idea was to have an ever-burning lamp in a temple furnished with talismans appropriate to the elemental, planetary and zodiacal forces of nature. Daily invocations were to be performed with the object of making the light itself a consecrated centre or focus of spiritual energy. This light would then radiate and automatically enlighten such minds as were ready to receive it.
>
> Confessions chapter 23

The talismans of the planetary and zodiacal forces, described above, do not, so far as we know, survive. Small black and white photographs that Crowley apparently took in Mexico do.[57] The quality of these images is moderate, at best, but the vast majority of their symbolism, if not quite all, can be discerned. The formation and details of the figures will be reproduced, analyzed, and discussed in detail, later in this essay. The elemental talismans were almost certainly the four great Watchtowers which do survive. Their composition and consecration are the subjects of the subsequent essay.

What can be said about these talismans, here, is that they were oil paintings, probably on linen board, as were the Watchtowers. They appear to have been done in Flashing Colours, according to the Adeptus Minor instruction. These talismans were a conglomeration of planetary and zodiacal symbols and names, drawn both from the Qabalah of the Golden Dawn, as well as from Occult Philosophy of Cornelius Agrippa;[58] although the evidence indicates that Francis Barrett's redaction of Agrippa, The Magus or Celestial Intelligencer was the direct source of the later.[59]

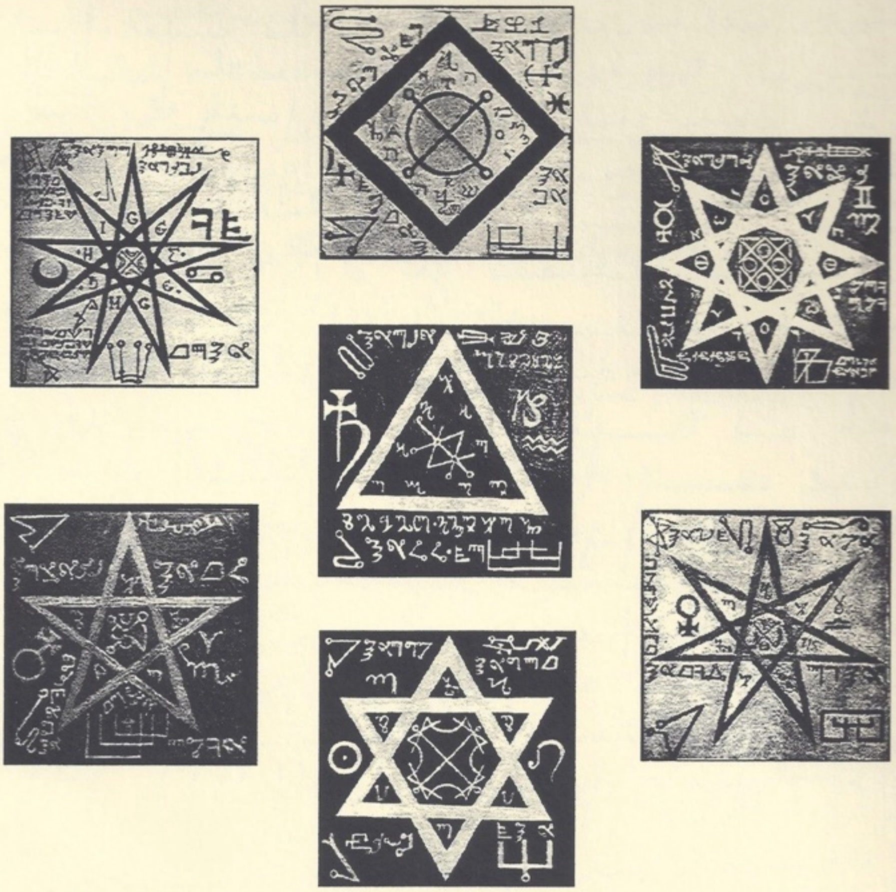
---

[57] These photographs are in the Yorke collection at the Warburg Institute in London and have been published in The Goetia with Additional Annotations by Aleister Crowley & G. J. Yorke. (Seattle WA: Holmes, 1992). It is upon these reproductions that this analysis is based.

[58] The principle source of the magical formulae and nomenclature used in these talismans derives from Cornelius Agrippa's Three Books of Occult Philosophy. ed. Donald Tyson. (Woodbury MN: Llewellyn, 2007), in particular the second of the three books, and, to a lesser degree, the pseudo-Agrippan Fourth Book of Occult Philosophy. ed. Donald Tyson. (Woodbury MN: Llewellyn, 2009). Donald Tyson's annotations and commentary in the Llewellyn editions are of exceptional value in understanding the magical mechanics of these formulae. The matter is also discussed in detail in the Golden Dawn instructions on the making of Talismans, Regardie, Golden Dawn. op. cit. pp. 479-513.

[59] Cf. Barrett, Magus op. cit. Crowley makes a point of referencing The Magus in this regard in Oliver Haddo (pseud.), "The Herb Dangerous pt. II." Equinox op. cit. v. I. n. 2. p. 61. Crowley certainly owned both Barrett and Agrippa, but minor differences of form indicate The Magus was Crowley's immediate reference for these paintings.

A C told me that these were photographs of paintings of Talismans in his temple of L.I.L in Mexico (for which see Confessions II p5,6) G.J.Y.



Photographs of the Talismans of L.I.L. – Gerald Yorke Collection

The colour scheme of these talismans was taken from the Golden Dawn's Flying Roll XIV: Talismans & Flashing Tablets.[60] This document is usually attributed to Frater Sapere Aude aka Wynn Westcott, but is probably derived from a lecture given Frater D.D.C.F aka MacGregor Mathers.[61] An analysis of the greyscale in the surviving images indicates that either the background or the figures of each talisman (there seems to be no reason why some talismans are one way and others are the other) was painted in the Queen Scale colour of the Sephira attributed to the planet being exemplified. The various words and figures on the talisman were then painted in the flashing compliment. According to the Flying Roll instructions the seven talismans would have had the following colour relationships:

Saturn: Black background with White figures
Jupiter: Blue background with Orange figures
Mars: Red background with Green figures
Sun: Violet background with Yellow figures
Venus: Emerald background with Red figures
Mercury: Blue background with Orange figures
Moon: Yellow background with Violet figures

Each of the Planetary Talismans follows a uniform pattern and formula of composition, though minor details of the formulae vary from tablet to tablet:

> The major figure of each planetary tablet is a geometric figure appropriate to that planet. The number of sides of each represents the number associated with that planet which is derived from the planetary attributions of the Sephira to which it is attributed. That is Saturn is attributed to the third Sephira, (Binah) therefore the talisman of Saturn is a triangle with three sides.
>
> Within the geometric figure, and central to the tablet, is the traditional seal of the planet drawn from its Kamea.

---

[60] Frater Sapere Aude (Wynn Westcott), "Flying Roll XIV." Commentaries on the Golden Dawn Flying Rolls. (Dublin: Kerubim, 2013), pp. 160-169 et passim. The substance of the instruction can be found in the above cited section of Regardie's Golden Dawn on Talismans. It should also be noted that the Golden Dawn's Flying Rolls are widely available on the Internet.

[61] Frater Yechidah in his online article "Attribution of Golden Dawn Flying Roll," points out that although this Flying Roll was issued (as opposed to written) by Westcott; it was, in fact, "Notes of a Lecture" on "The Formation of Talismans & Flashing Tablets" given by Mathers, in 1893, to the College of Adepti. Mishkan ha-Echad: Quit the Night & Seek the Day. (January 16, 2016). mishkan-ha-echad.blogspot.com/2016/01/attribution-of-golden-dawn-flying-rolls.html.

To the left of the geometric figure is the traditional astronomical symbol of the planet.

To the right of the geometric figure are the zodiacal symbols of the signs ruled by that planet.

In the upper left is the sigil of the Intelligence of the Planet (drawn from the Kamea).

In the upper right are the traditional sigils of the Angel (more properly the Archangel) associated with that Planet.

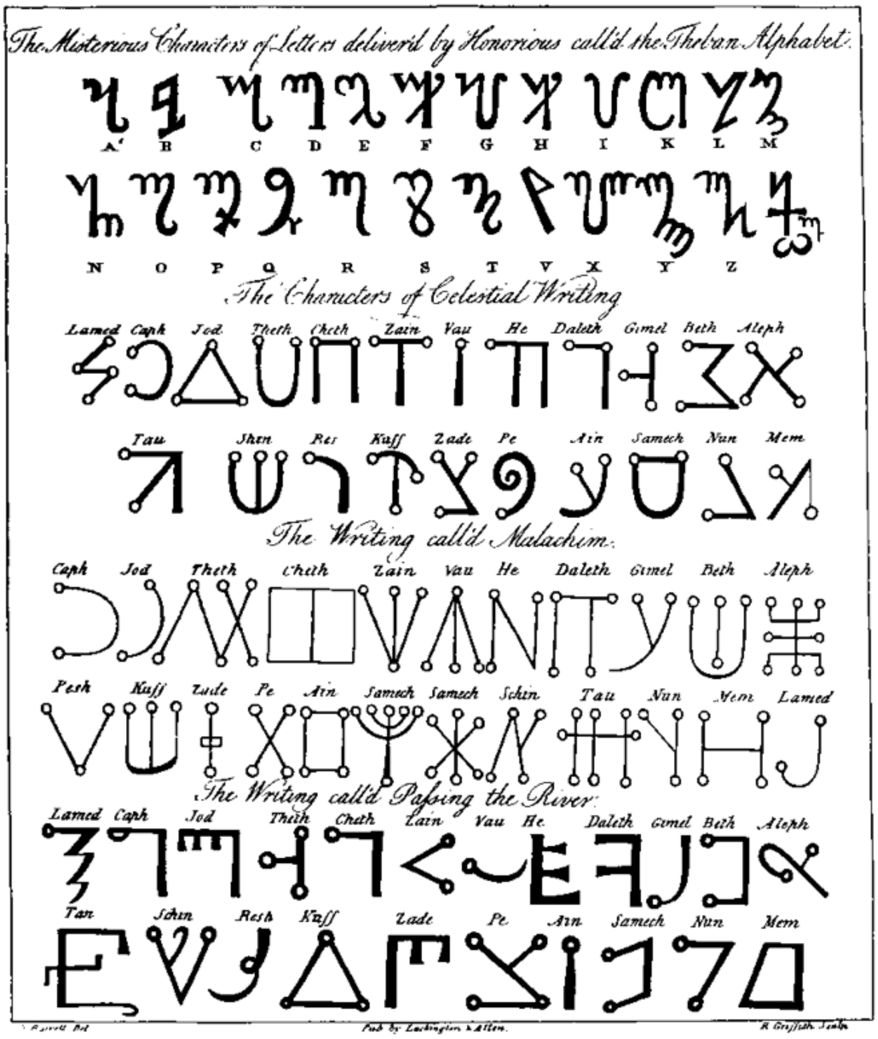
In the lower left is the sigil of the Spirit of the planet (drawn from the Kamea).

In the lower right is the sigil of the Olympic (or Olympian Spirit) associated with the planet.[62]

---

[62] These are derived from the Arbatel of Magic, included in Agrippa's (pseud.) Fourth Book of Occult Philosophy, op. cit. The preeminent version of the Arbatel is Joseph Peterson trans. & ed., *Arbatel: Concerning the Magic of the Ancient*s. (Lake Worth FL: Ibis, 2009).



The Misterious Characters of Letters deliver'd by Honorious call'd the Theban Alphabet.
A B C D E F G H I K L M
N O P Q R S T V X Y Z
The Characters of Celestial Writing
Lamed Caph Jod Theth Cheth Zain Vau He Daleth Gimel Beth Aleph
Tau Shin Res Kuff Zade Pe Ain Samech Nun Mem
The Writing call'd Malachim.
Caph Jod Theth Cheth Zain Vau He Daleth Gimel Beth Aleph
Pesh Kuff Zade Pe Ain Samech Samech Schin Tau Nun Mem Lamed
The Writing call'd Passing the River.
Lamed Caph Jod Theth Cheth Zain Vau He Daleth Gimel Beth Aleph
Tau Schin Resh Kuff Zade Pe Ain Samech Nun Mem
Barrett Del
Pub by Lackington & Allen
R. Griffith Sculp

A Table shewing the names of the Angels governing the 7 days of the week with their Sigils, Planets, Signs, &c.

Sunday	Monday	Tuesday	Wednesday	Thursday	Friday	Saturday
Michaël	Gabriel	Camael	Raphaël	Sachiel	Anaël	Caffiel
						☉ ♌	☽ ♋	♂ ♈ ♏	☿ ♊ ♍	♃ ♐ ♓	♀ ♉ ♎	♄ ♑ ♒
name of the 4th Heaven Machen.	name of the 1st Heaven Shamain.	name of the 5th Heaven Machon.	name of the 2nd Heaven Raquie.	name of the 6th Heaven Zebul.	name of the 3rd Heaven Sagun.	No Angels ruling above the 6th Heaven

Tables of Magical Alphabets and Planetary Angels from The Magus

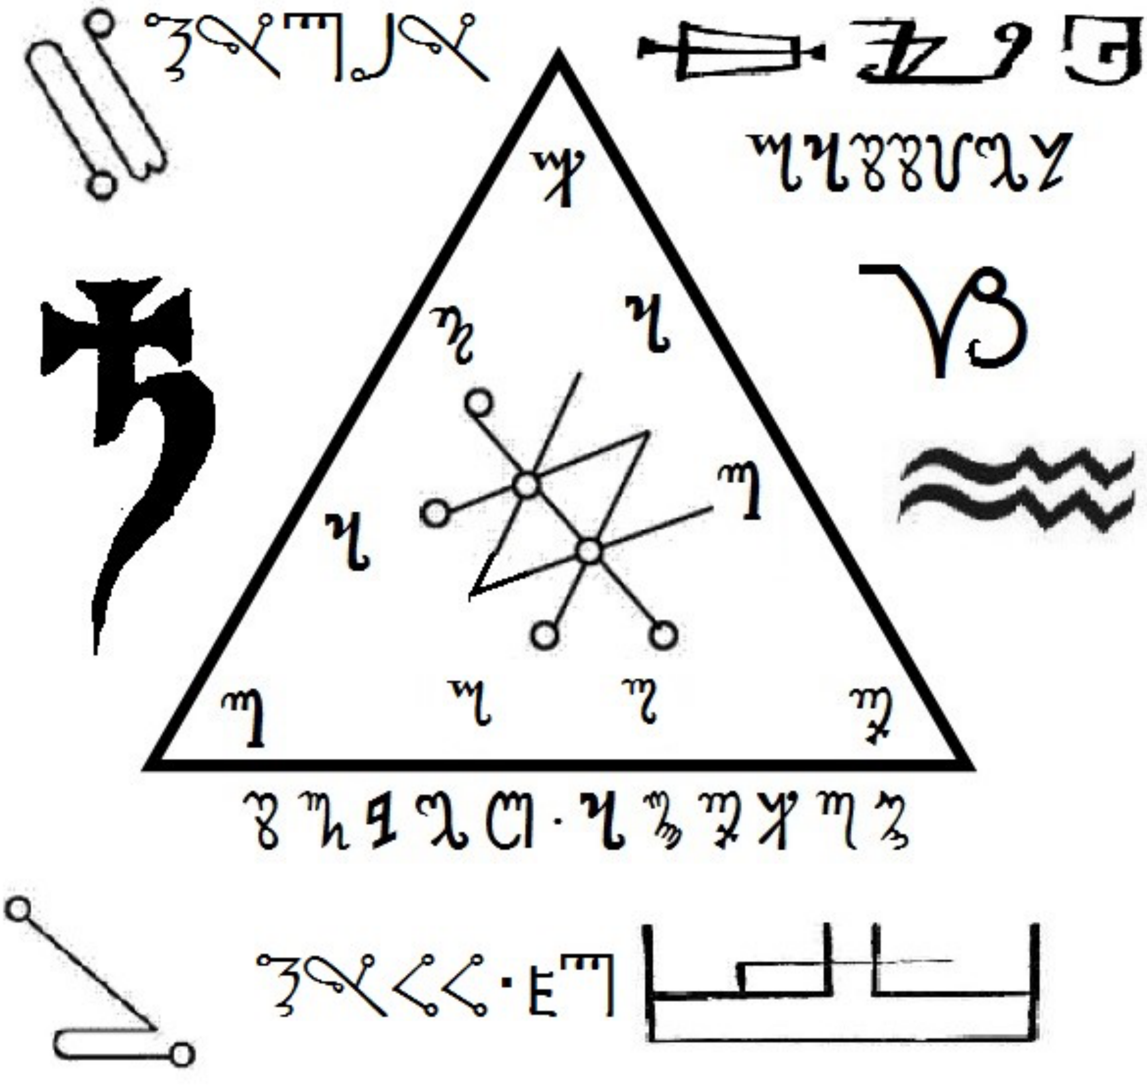
Around, in, and about these various figures are names, written in a number of alphabets. The predominant alphabet is called 'Passing the River;'[63] it is a magical substitution cipher for the Hebrew alephbet. The second most frequent alphabet is Theban, attributed to Honorius; it is a magical substitution cipher for Latin characters. Greco-Coptic, Hebrew and Latin characters also appear on the tablets, but less frequently. 'Passing the River' is abbreviated as P.R. and Theban as Theb. in the following analyses.

Many of the names are obvious and have aided in deciphering difficult readings. A few of the readings remain a mystery. Others are readable, yet remain inexplicable, though Crowley almost certainly had some elusive reasoning for their inclusion. Here follows each talisman, in its original form, with a reconstruction and explanatory notes.

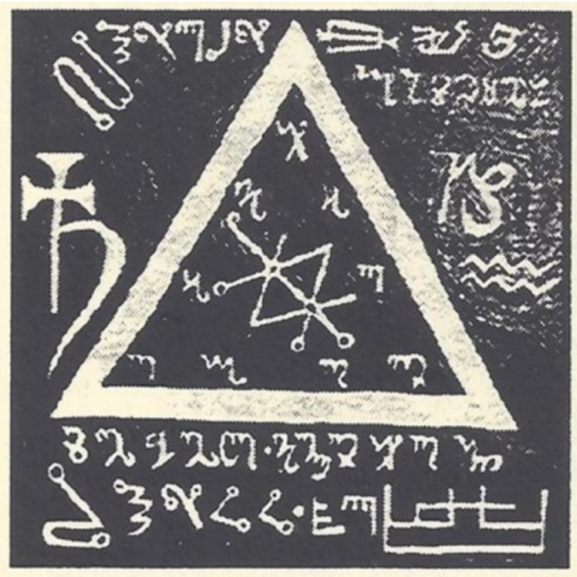
---

[63] This is the Transitus Fluviii, one of the most famous Hebrew ciphers of Renaissance magic. Fred Gettings, Dictionary of Occult, Hermetic and Alchemical Sigils. (London: Routledge & Kegan Paul, 1981), p. 267.

The Talismans of L.I.L.

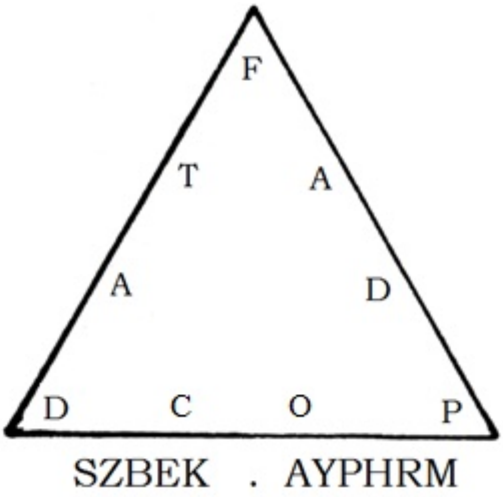


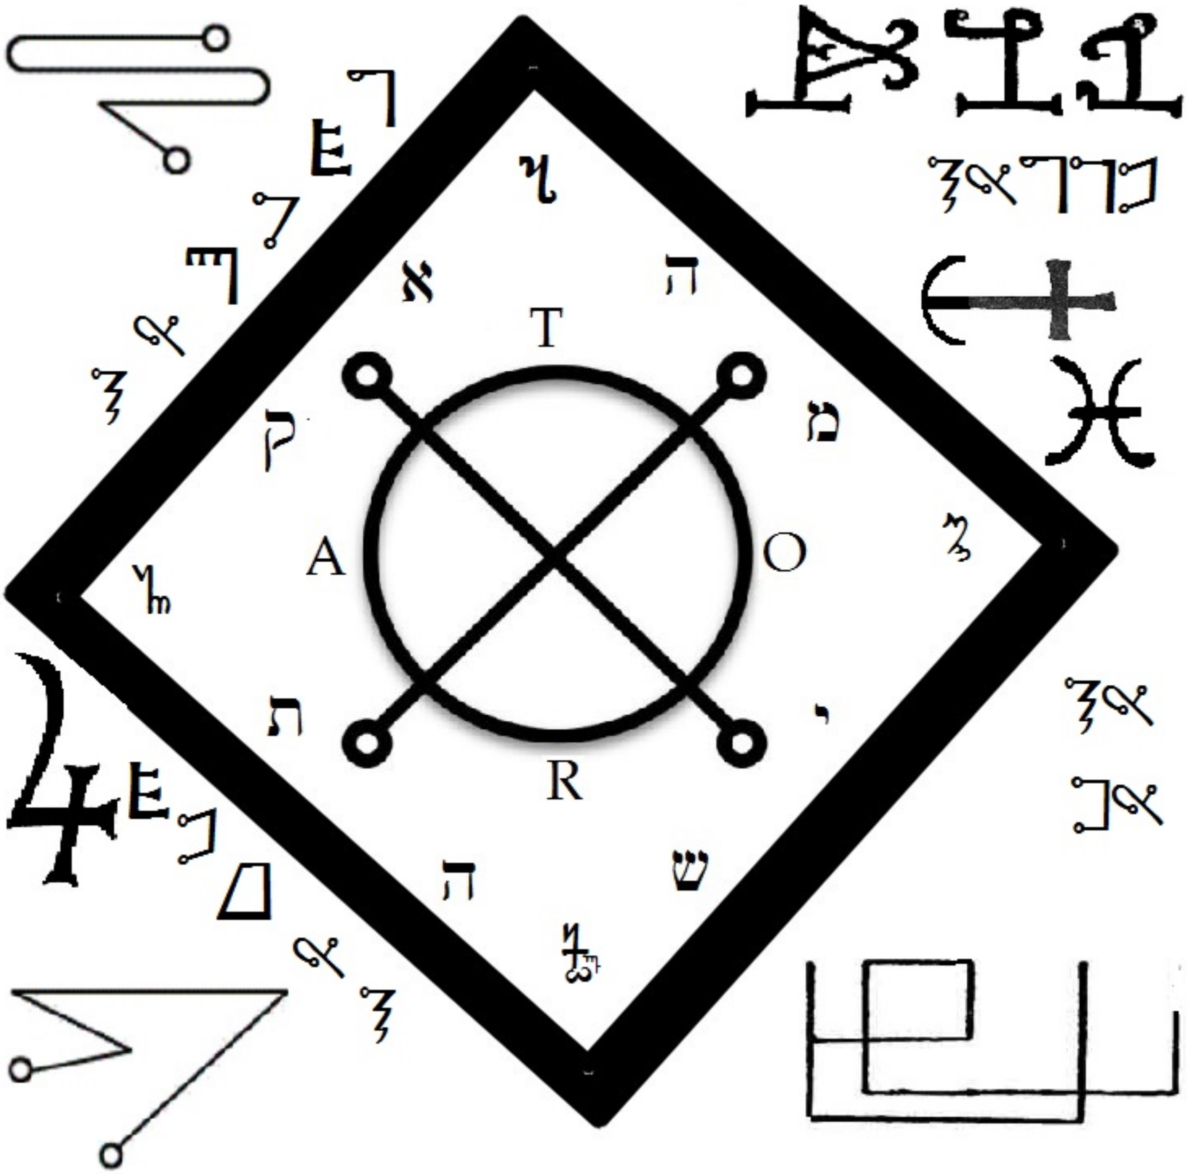
Talisman of Saturn



Saturn:
Geometric figure: Triangle (777. XLIX: 32). There is writing within and below the triangle in Theban, but it is essentially inscrutable. The letters within the triangle may be formulaic, those below are likely names. It is also possible that some of the Theban letters are not correctly identified, due to the imprecision in reading Crowley's painted figures. The first, SZBEK, might be a form of the name of the Egyptian god Sebek, the other remains a nomina barbara.

Upper left: The Intelligence of Saturn (P.R.) – Agiel – אגיאל (777. LXXVIII: 32) including its figure.
Upper right: Archangel (Theb.) – Cassiel (777. CLXXIII n.), including his sigil.
Middle left: ♄
Middle right: ♑ / ♒
Lower left: The Spirit of Saturn (P.R.) – Zazel – זזאל (777. LXXIX: 32) including its figure.
Lower right: The figure of the Olympic Spirit. Aratron.





T
A
O
R א ה ק
מ ת י ה ש

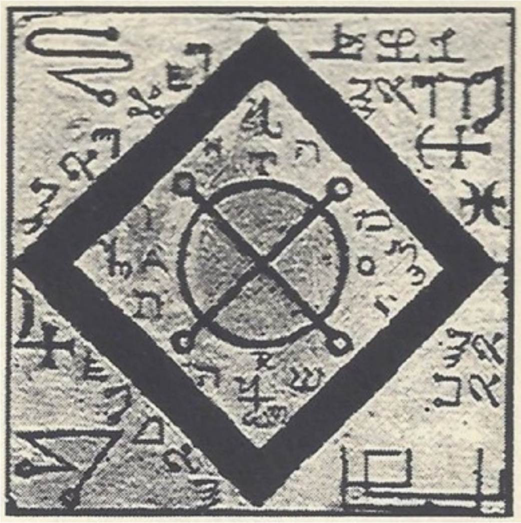
Talisman of Jupiter



Jupiter:

Geometric figure: Square (777. XLIX: 21). There are three sets of letters within this square. The first set, in Theban, is AMN with the Theban alphabet's termination indicator. The AMN in clockwise triangle, beginning from the top, probably represent the Egyptian god Amoun, attributed to Jupiter/Zeus since antiquity (777. XIX & XX: 4 & 21).

The innermost letters provide the formula TARO, ROTA etc. associated with the "Rite of Jupiter" Rites of Eleusis,[64] the 20th Æthyr KHR of the Vision and the Voice, and the Golden Dawn Tarot Trump 'The Wheel of Fortune.'[65]

The Hebrew letters: אתהשמה, "thy name".

Upper left: The figure of the Intelligence of Jupiter: Jophiel, with a curious, unexpected and obscure angelic name (P.R.) Khaniel - כהניאל

Upper right: Archangel (P.R.) Sachiel סחכאל (777. CLXXIII n.), including his sigil.

Middle left: ♃

Middle right: ♐ / ♓

Lower left: The Spirit of Jupiter (P.R.) – Hismael - הסמאל (777. LXXIX: 21) including its figure.

Lower right: The figure of the Olympic Spirit: Bethor. Above which are two godnames (P.R.) אל & אב both attributed to Chesed and/or Jupiter (777. V: 4 & 21).

---

[64] Aleister Crowley et al. The Rites of Eleusis in Equinox v. I. n. 6. (London: Wieland & Co., 1911), Spec. Supp. pp. 19-43.

[65] Vide 777. CLXXXI:21 and Aleister Crowley, The Book of Thoth. Equinox v. III. n. 5. (London: Chiswick, 1944), pp. 89-91 et passim. Compare here Pamela Colman Smith's illustration for the Rider-Waite deck. A.E. Waite, The Pictorial Key to the Tarot. (London: William Rider, 1911).

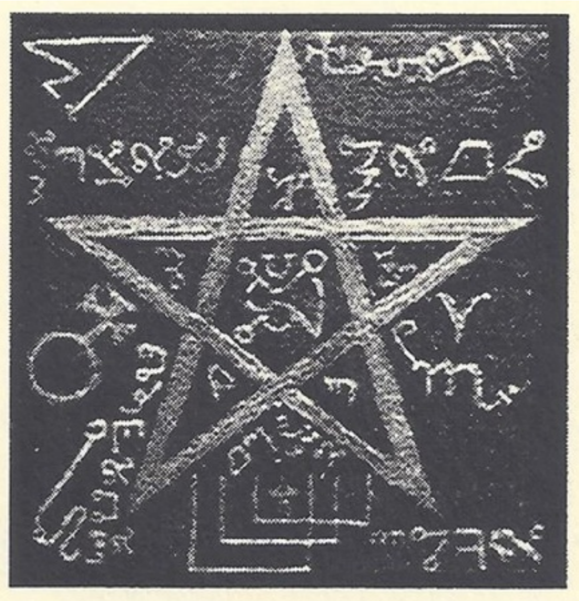
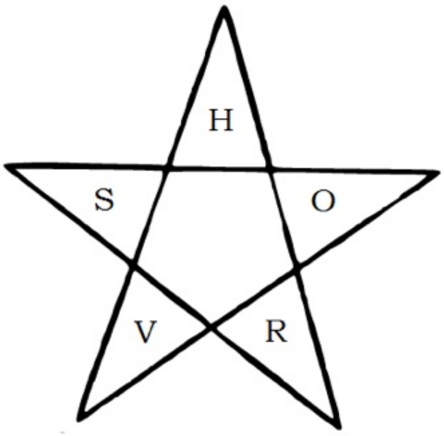
Talisman of Mars



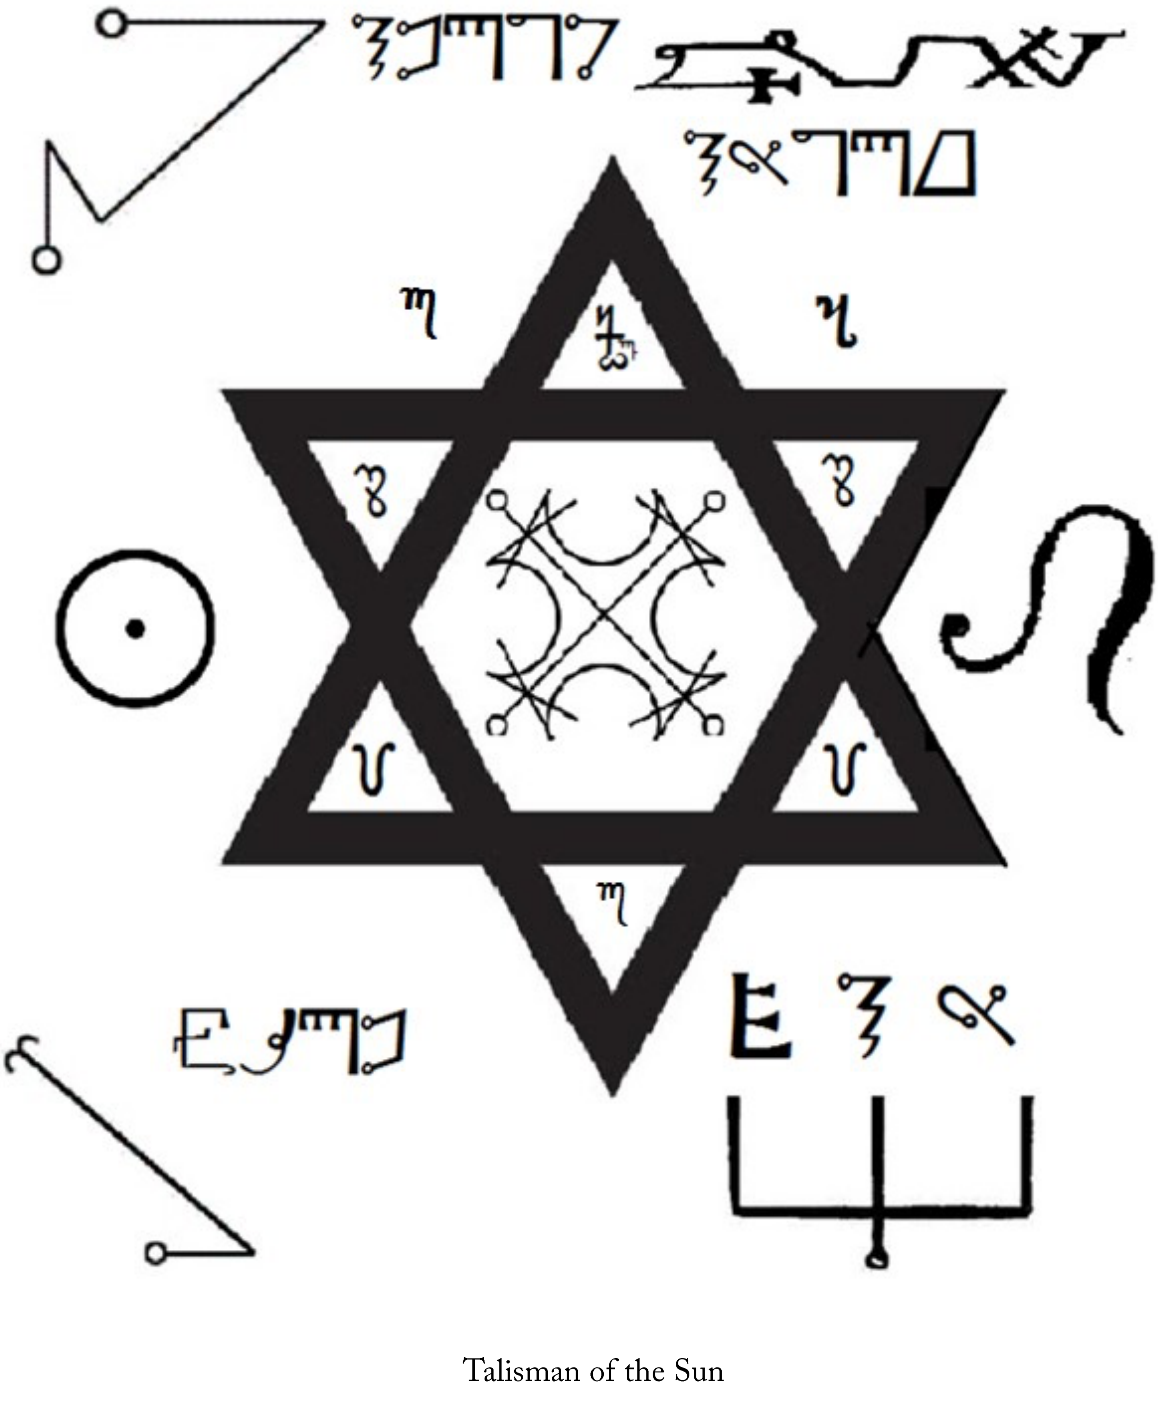
Mars:
Geometric figure: Pentagram (777. XLIX: 27). There is writing in the internal angles of the points of the Pentagram in the Theban alphabet; clockwise from the top. It spells out HORVS or Horus, the Egyptian god frequently attributed to Geburah and/or Mars (777. XIX:5 & XX:5 & 27, also 19 in both columns for the martial rulership of Aries). Horus will become central to Crowley's theology of the New Aeon and makes a climatic appearance in LIL, the highest of the Æthyrs in the Vision and the Voice.

Upper left: Intelligence of Mars (P.R.) Graphiel - גראפיאל– (777*:* LXXVIII:27) including its figure.
Upper right: Archangel (P.R.) Samael – זמאל (777. CLXXIII n.), including his sigil.
Middle left: ♂
Middle right: ♈ / ♏
Lower left: The Spirit of Mars (P.R.) Bartzabel - ברצאבאל– (777. LXXIX: 27) including its figure.[66]
Lower center: The figure of the Olympic Spirit Phaleg. Above this figure is the godname (P.R.) Alhim or Elohim – אלהים. This name is associated with Geburah, usually with the root thereof, GBR – אלהים גבר, (777. V: 5).
Lower right: Godname (P.R.) Adonai – אדני attributed to the letter Peh and thus to Mars (777. V :27).

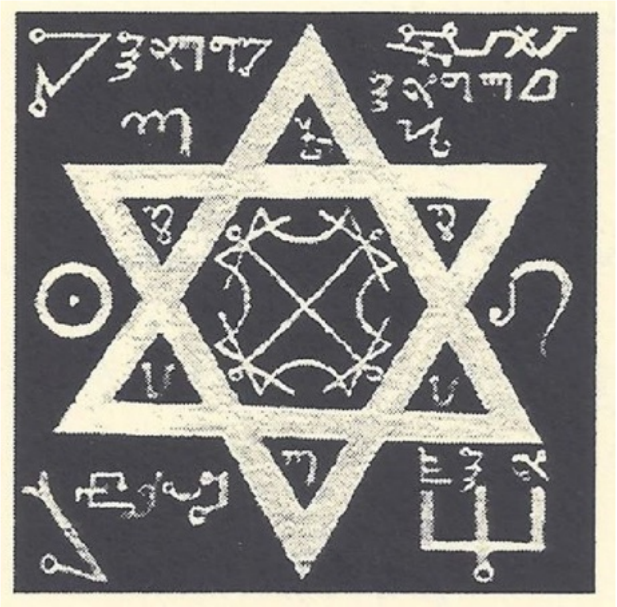


---

[66] Bartzabel was famously evoked by Crowley with Victor Neuberg on May 9th, 1910, not long after the two returned from Algeria, where they had completed the work of the Vision and the Voice. "The Evocation of Bartzabel." Aleister Crowley et al. Equinox v. I. n. 9. (London: Wieland & Co., 1913), pp. 119-136.

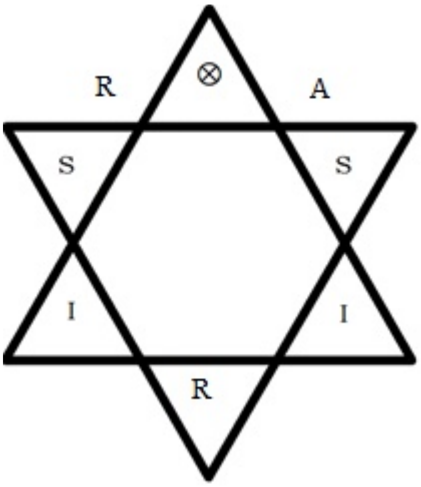


Talisman of the Sun

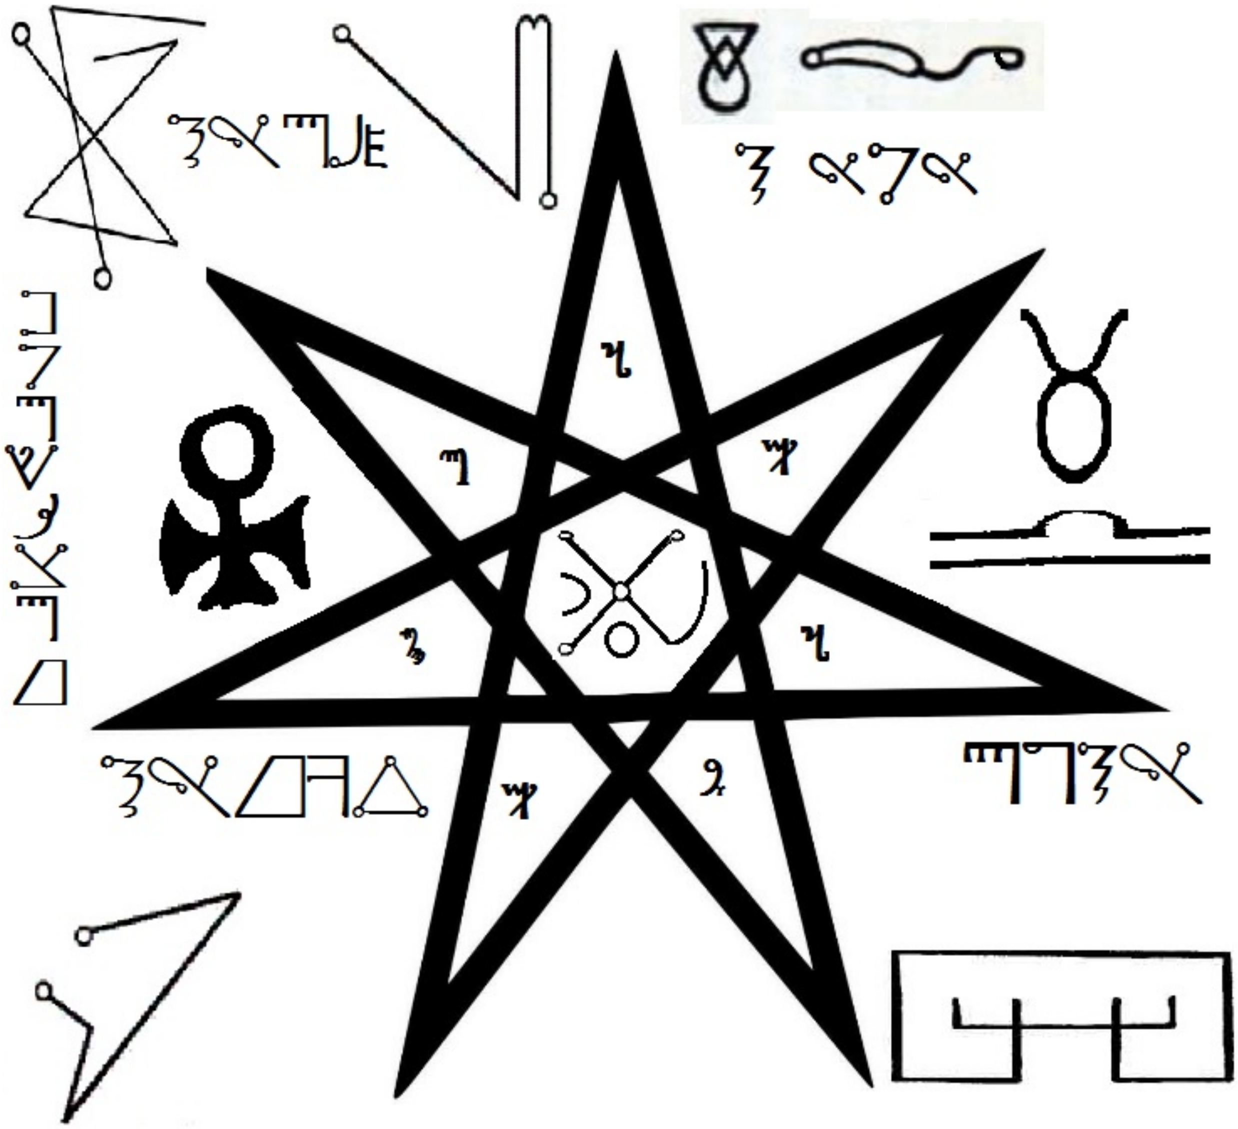


Sun:

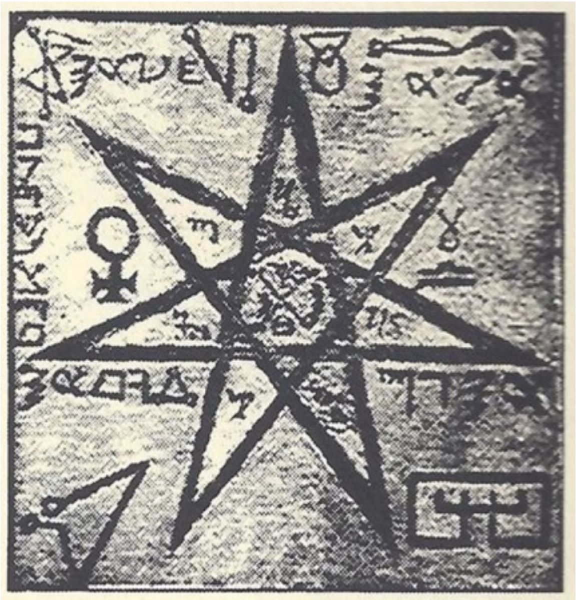
Geometric figure: Hexagram (777. XLIX: 30). The internal angles of the Hexagram contain letters in the Theban alphabet. The topmost point contains that alphabet's terminal symbol, the angles of the side points contain parallel sets of letters, S on the upper points and I on the lower points, the bottommost point contains an R. On both sides of the uppermost point, above the upper horizontal, are the letters (Theb.) R (to the left) and A (to the right) = RA. It would appear that these letters indicate the traditional Holy Trinity of the Egyptians. Osiris, Isis and Ra. With the terminal sign taking the place of the O in Osiris (probably an allusion to his death, A & Ω etc.) Ra above the upper horizontal, Isis in the horizontal angles, and Osiris reading either clockwise or counterclockwise from the topmost point.



Upper left: The Intelligence of the Sun (P.R.) Nakiel - נכיאל (777: LXXVIII: 30) with its figure.
Upper right: Archangel (P.R.) Michael - מיכאל (777. CLXXIII n.), including his sigil.
Middle left: ☉
Middle right: ♌
Lower left: Spirit (P.R.) Sorath - סורת (777. LXXIX: 30) with its figure.
Lower right: The figure of the Olympic Spirit Och. Above that the godname (P.R.) ALH – אלה (777. V: 30) attributed to the path of Resh and therefore to the Sun.

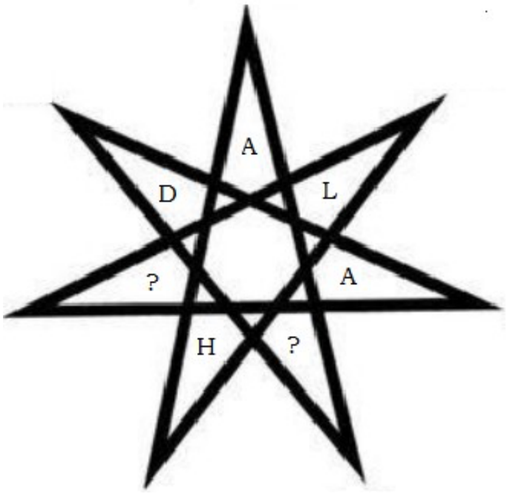


Talisman of Venus



Venus:

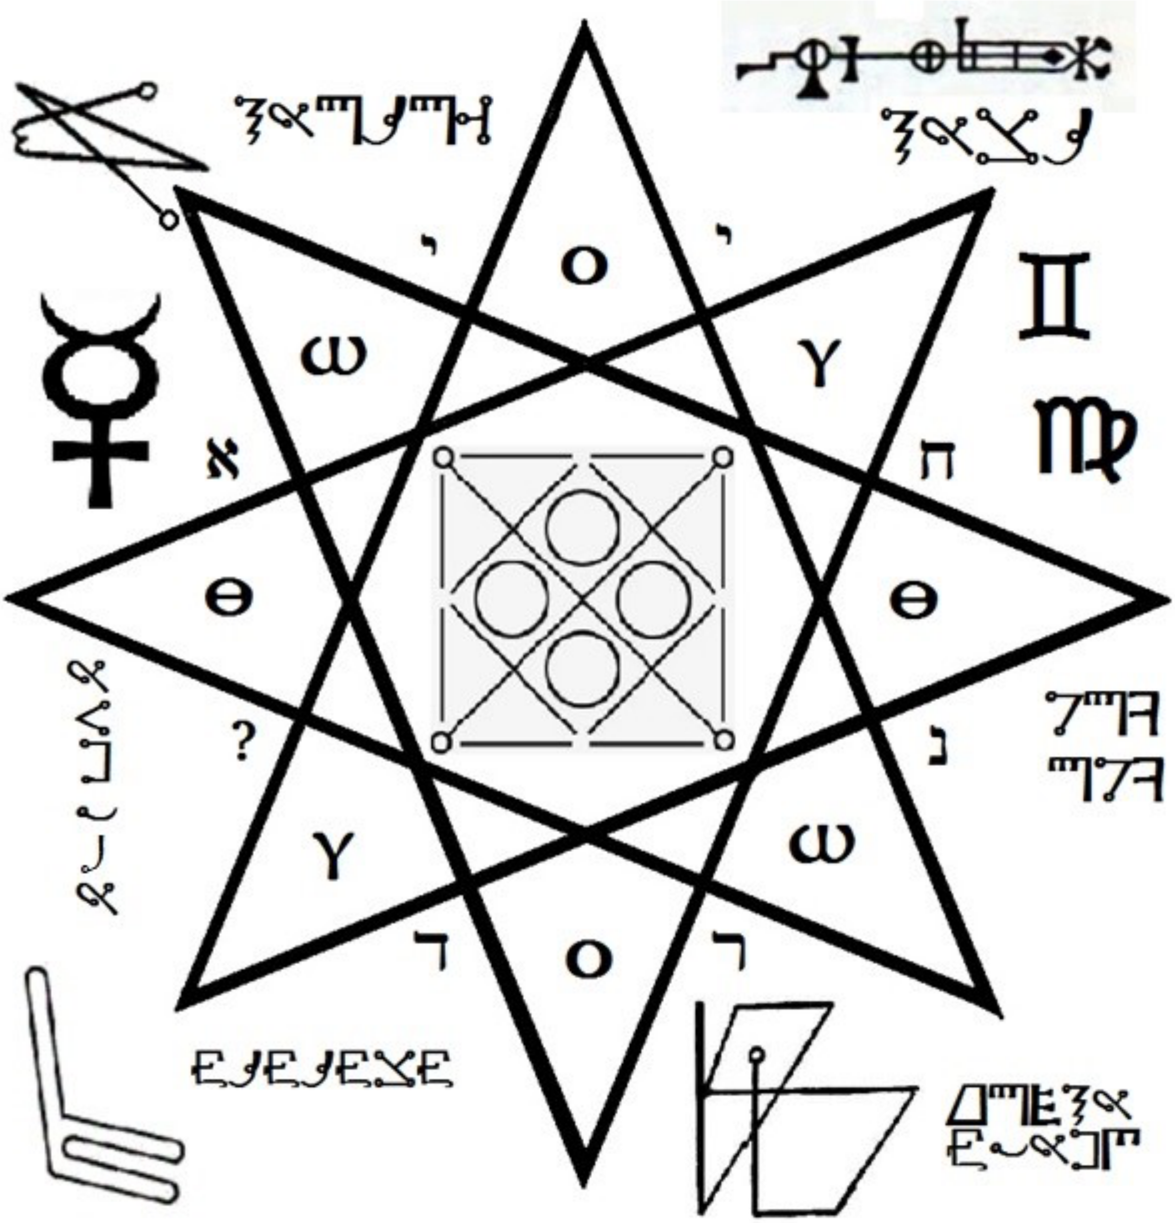
Geometric figure: Second interval heptagram (777. XLIX: 13) or septagram. The internal angles of the points of the heptagram contain letters in the Theban alphabet. Some of these are particularly difficult to discern in the available image. Reading clockwise from the top they are A, L, A, undecipherable, H, terminal symbol) and D. It may be DALATH (beginning clockwise from the upper left most angle) with the terminal sign otherwise the name or formula that is intended here is unknown.



Upper left: There are two figures and two names in the upper quadrant attributed to the Intelligences of Venus. The first, located in the upper left corner, is the figure for the Beni Seraphim with the name (P.R.) בני שרפים proceeding vertically down the left side.[67] The second, to the left of the topmost point is the Intelligence of Venus – Hagiel (P.R.) הגיאל (777. LXXVIII: 14) with the name reading from right to left between the two figures.
Upper right: Archangel (P.R.) Anael - אנאל (777. CLXXIII n.) including its sigil.
Middle left: ♀
Middle right: ♉ / ♎
Lower left: The Spirit of Venus (P.R.) Qedemal – קדמאל (777. LXXIX: 14) including its figure.
Lower right: The figure of the Olympic Spirit Hagith. Above the figure is the godname (P.R.) Al Chi - אל חי meaning ‘Living God.’ Its value in gematria is 49, the square of 7, the number of Netzach the sphere of Venus.

---

[67] See Donald Tyson edt. Three Books. op. cit. pp. 748-749 for the use of this Choir of Angels.



☿
♊
♍
י
O י ω
Υ
א ח θ
θ
?
נ Υ
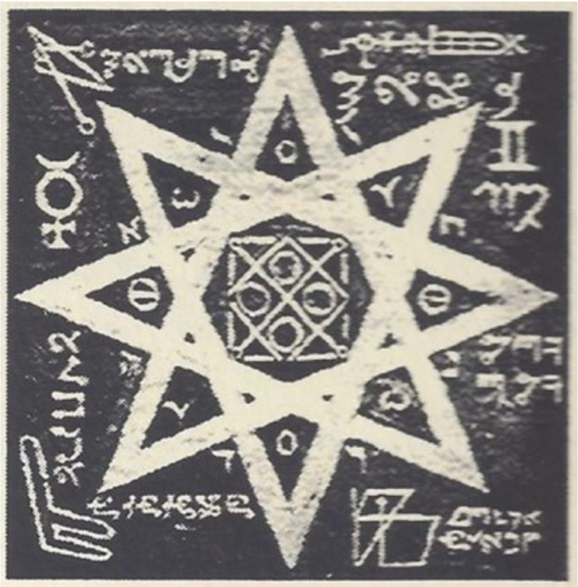
ω
ד
O
ד

Talisman of Mercury



Mercury:
Geometric figure: Second interval Octagram (777. XLIX: 12). The writing within the outer points of the Octagram is in Greco-Coptic and clearly represent a formulaic expression of the name of the Egyptian god Thoth: ⲑⲱⲟⲩⲑⲱⲟⲩ. . .

About the figure, within the external vertices, are Hebrew letters. Some of these are difficult, and one impossible, to discern from the image available. They form no obvious name or formula.

Upper left: The Intelligence of Mercury (P.R.) Tiriel - טיריאל (777: LXXVIII: 12) with its figure.

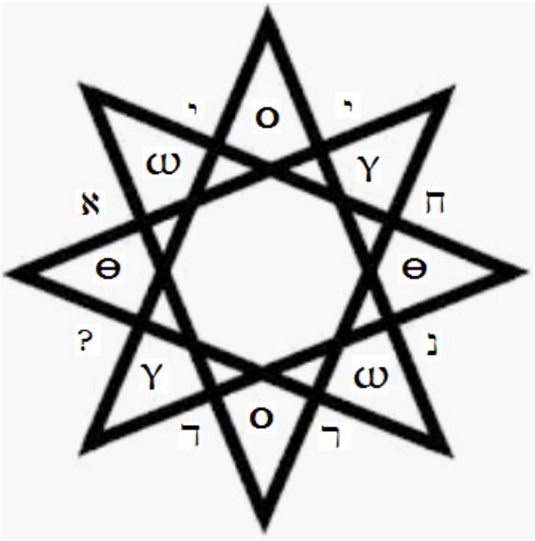
Upper right: Archangel (P.R.) Raphael – רפאל (777. CLXXIII n.) including his sigil.

Middle left: ☿

Middle right: ♊ / ♍

Lower left: The Spirit of Mercury (P.R.) Taphthartharath - ננתפתרתרת – (777. LXXIX: 12) with its figure.

Above the figure of the Spirit, written vertically, is the name (P.R.) Asboga - אזבוגא, a divine name, associated by Agrippa with the Kamea of Mercury. It should be spelled אזבוגה for the correct arithmetical value. Its value in gematria is said to be 'eight extended,' that is (אז) 1+7=8; (בו) 2+6=8, and (גה) 3+5=8.



Lower right: The figure of the Olympic Spirit Ophiel.

To its right, the godname (P.R.) ElohimTzabaoth - אלהים צבאות attributed to Hod, the Sphere of Mercury (777. V: 8).

Above these are two names (P.R.) Din and Doni - דין and דני , both equal 64 (ignoring the nun as final). 64 is the square of 8, the number of the Sephira Hod and therefore associated with Mercury. On Din and Doni see the Book of Lies (Liber CCCXXXIII) chapter 64.[68]

---

[68] Aleister Crowley, The Book of Lies (Liber CCCXXXIII). (York Beach ME: Weiser, 1981).

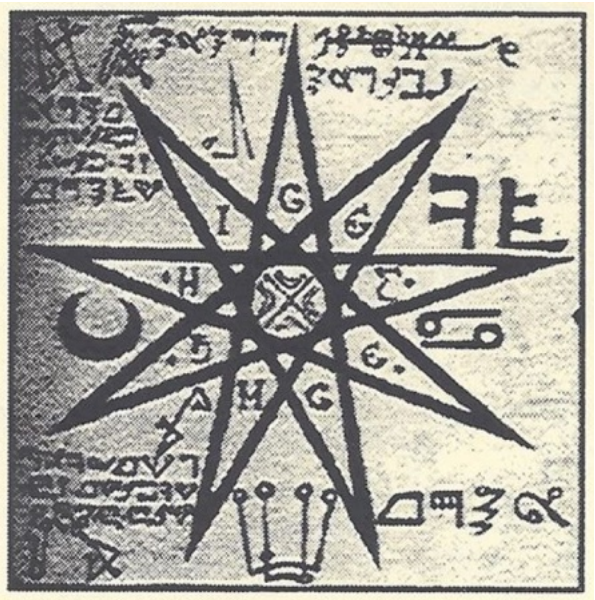
Talisman of the Moon



Luna:

Geometric figure: A second interval Nonagram or Enneagram (777. XLIX: 13). The nine letters in the outer points of the figure are Coptic, going clockwise from the top they are Ϲ Є Ƹ Є Ϲ Ш ϧ H I (Semma Ei Sou Ei Semma Mé Khei Héta Yota). Some are also pointed with 'periods' either before or after, depending on their position on the figure (the 'periods' are always toward the outside of the figure from the standpoint of the letters). There seems to be no obvious meaning for this set of letters, Upper left: The three figures for the Intelligence of the Intelligences of the Moon (777. LXXVIII: 9). Below the leftmost figure is the name (P.R.) Malkah Betarshishim Va'ad Bruach Shehaqim - מלכא בתרשיתים עד בדוה שהקים, except that Crowley seems to have misspelled the last part of the name as שהלים.

Left of the uppermost point is the name (P.R.) Yilal – יילאל, which is an angel name meaning 'Hearer of Cries.' The gematria value of the name is 81, the square of 9. Yesod is the 9th Sephira and the Sphere of the Moon. Compare Sepher Sephiroth under the number 81.[69] There is also, what appears to be a sigil in the left uppermost internal angle. Its identity is unclear.
Upper right: The Archangel (P.R.) Gabriel – גבריאל (777. XCIX :9 & CLXXIII n.) including his sigil.
Below that, above the geometric figure's right horizontal is the divine name (P.R.) HD - הד whose value in gematria is 9, the number of Yesod, the Sphere of the Moon.
Middle left: ◡
Middle right: ♋
Lower left: The figures and names (P.R.) for the Spirit and the Spirit of the Spirits of the Moon (777. LXXIX: 13 & 13n.). The top figure and top name are those of the Spirit Chasmodai - חשמודאי.

---

[69] Sepher Sephiroth (Liber D) in Equinox v. I. n. 8. spec. supp. & Israel Regardie ed. 777 and Other Qabalistic Writings. op. cit.

Below these is the name of the Spirit of the Spirits of the Moon, Shadbarshemoth Sharthathan - שדברשהמעת שרתתן. Crowley again seems to have made a minor spelling error in the first part of the name, writing שדברשמעת without the Heh. Below the names are the two figures for the Spirit of the Spirits of the Moon.

Lower center: The figure of the Olympic Spirit Phul.

Lower Right: The godname (P.R.) Alim – אלים whose value in gematria is 81, the square of 9 as previously noted (777. V:13) and attributed to the path of Qoph and thus to the Moon.

VII. The Mexican Rituals

I had also a certain amount of latitude granted by Mathers to initiate suitable people in partibus.
Confessions chapter 23

In Partibus, is an abbreviated form of the ecclesiastical phrase, in partibus infidelium, meaning 'in the lands of the unbelievers,' or literally 'in the parts' euphemistically 'in the boondocks.' How much power Mathers actually granted Crowley is unknown. No charters or authorizations survive, if ever there were any. Yet it is clear that Crowley used the Golden Dawn initiation rituals as a model, not only for the 'Consecration of a High Priest of L.I.L.,' but for all of the rituals that survive from Crowley's stay in Mexico.

The chief sources of these materials are the Equinox[70] and a typescript held in the O.T.O. Archives,[71] as noted previously in the context of the 'Consecration of a High Priest of L.I.L.' This typescript has the following cover sheet:

The Book of the Spirit of the Living God.

A Ritual and Magic Dance for IAO.
The Rituals of Invisibility.
Consecration of Watchtowers.
Consecration of High Priest of L.I.L.
All by G.H. Fra. ΑΠΩ 7=4
then V.H.F. ου μη 5=6

(Note: Copied from small holograph MS book in the possession of Dr J.P. Kowal, and ~~being~~ found amongst the papers of Frater Achad: Book was clearly written in Mexico in 1900. For which see Aleister Crowley's Confessions vol 2 Stanza XXIII.
(The first two rituals are printed in The Equinox I, 3 pp 269-278.).

This table of contents in both suggestive and somewhat misleading. The first two items listed in the table of contents of the cover sheet were published in the Equinox, but are not included in the typescript. The typescript itself contains three rituals. The first of the three is an untitled and unlisted ritual for the Evocation of a Saturnian spirit. The second is a ritual entitled: "The Great Watchtowers of the Quarters. Their Consecration and Fulfillment." The third is the "Consecration of High Priest of L.I.L." given in a previous essay.

---

[70] Equinox v. I n. 3. pp. 269-278.

[71] Crowley, "Book of the Spirit of the Living God." op cit. ".T" throughout indicates the typist, that is the unknown copyist who produced the extant typescript. The text itself indicates that it derives from Crowley's Mexican rituals; that the transcript was, at one time, in the possession of Charles S. Jones aka Frater Achad, then Achad's student Kowal. These were subsequently copied in the 1960s (indicated by internal literary references) and came into the possession of Kenneth Anger, and from thence to the O.T.O Archives.

The Consecration of the Watchtowers

The "Consecration of Watchtowers" ritual is important to the purposes of this introduction for several reasons. First, as noted in Crowley's discussion of L.I.L.:

> The general idea was to have an ever-burning lamp in a temple furnished with talismans appropriate to the elemental, planetary and zodiacal forces of nature. Daily invocations were to be performed with the object of making the light itself a consecrated centre or focus of spiritual energy.
>
> Confessions chapter 23.

The Temple was to be furnished with talismans appropriate to the elemental, planetary and zodiacal forces. The previously discussed talismans cover and account for the planetary and zodiacal forces; they do not include the elemental forces. The preeminent talismans for elemental forces in the Golden Dawn system are the four great Watchtowers. It is likely therefore that these Watchtowers were to be the elemental talismans included in the Temple of the Lamp of the Invisible Light.

In Magick Without Tears Crowley makes the following comment:

> It was part of my plan for the Equinox to prepare a final edition of the work of Dr. Dee and Sir Edward Kelly. I had a good many of the data and promised myself to complete them by studying the manuscripts in the Bodleian Library at Oxford --- which, incidentally, I did in the autumn; but it struck me that it would be useful to get my large paintings of the four Elemental Watch Towers which I had made in Mexico. I thought these were probably in Boleskine.
>
> Magick Without Tears, Cap LI.[72]

The edition in question was, the never fully completed, Liber Chanokh,[73] but what is important for this introduction is that the Watchtowers were painted during Crowley's stay in Mexico, while he was beginning his studies of the Adeptus Minor curriculum. It seems probable that these Watchtowers were a part of Crowley's magical temple where the earliest invocations that became the Vision and the Voice were conducted. They were integral to Crowley's early Enochian experiments, and he possibly performed the consecration itself.

---

[72] Aleister Crowley, Magick Without Tears. (Hampton NJ: Thelema, 1954).

[73] The Equinox v. I. n. 7. (London: Wieland & Co., 1912). pp. 229-243 & v. I. n. 8. op. cit. 99-128.

Another important detail about these Watchtowers is that they were critical to the rediscovery of the manuscript of the Book of the Law.[74]

The consecration ritual itself is a bit convoluted, essentially putting each Watchtower through an abridged version of the 5°=6□ initiation.[75] Not only is the consecration ritual extant, but also the paintings of the Watchtowers themselves. Here follow Crowley's original paintings of The Great Watchtowers of the Quarters[76] and a diplomatic rendering (with notes) of the typescript of the ritual for Their Consecration and Fulfillment.

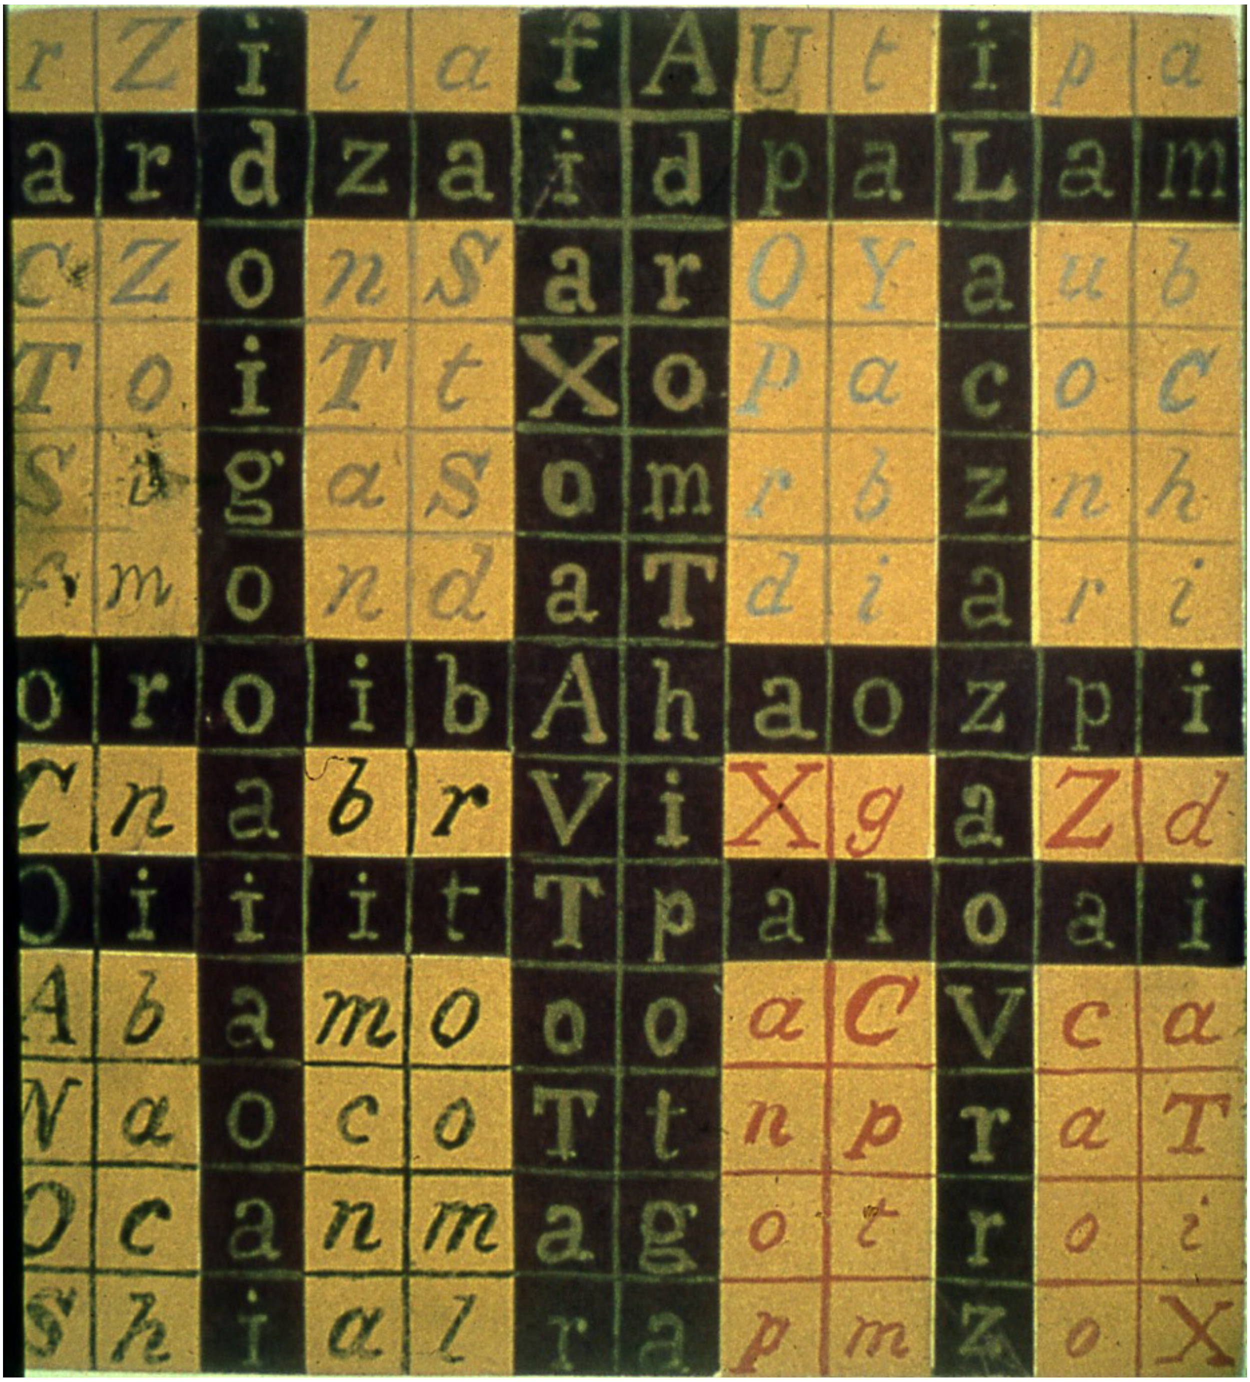
---

[74] It was the search for these Watchtowers that led to the rediscovery of the manuscript of the Book of the Law: "Glory be to Nuit, Hadit, Ra-Hoor-Khuit in the Highest! A little before midday I was impelled mysteriously (though exhausted by playing fives, billiards, etc. till nearly six this morning) to make a final search for the Elemental Tablets. And lo! when I had at last abandoned the search, I cast mine eyes upon a hole in the loft where were ski, etc., and there, O Holy, Holy, Holy! were not only all that I sought, but the manuscript of Liber Legis." Crowley, Magick Without. op. cit.

[75] All quotes from the Golden Dawn's 5°=6□ Adeptus Minor ritual are taken from either Temple of Solomon the King in Equinox v. I. n. 3 op. cit., pp. 208-233, or Regardie, Golden Dawn. op. cit. pp. 221-246.

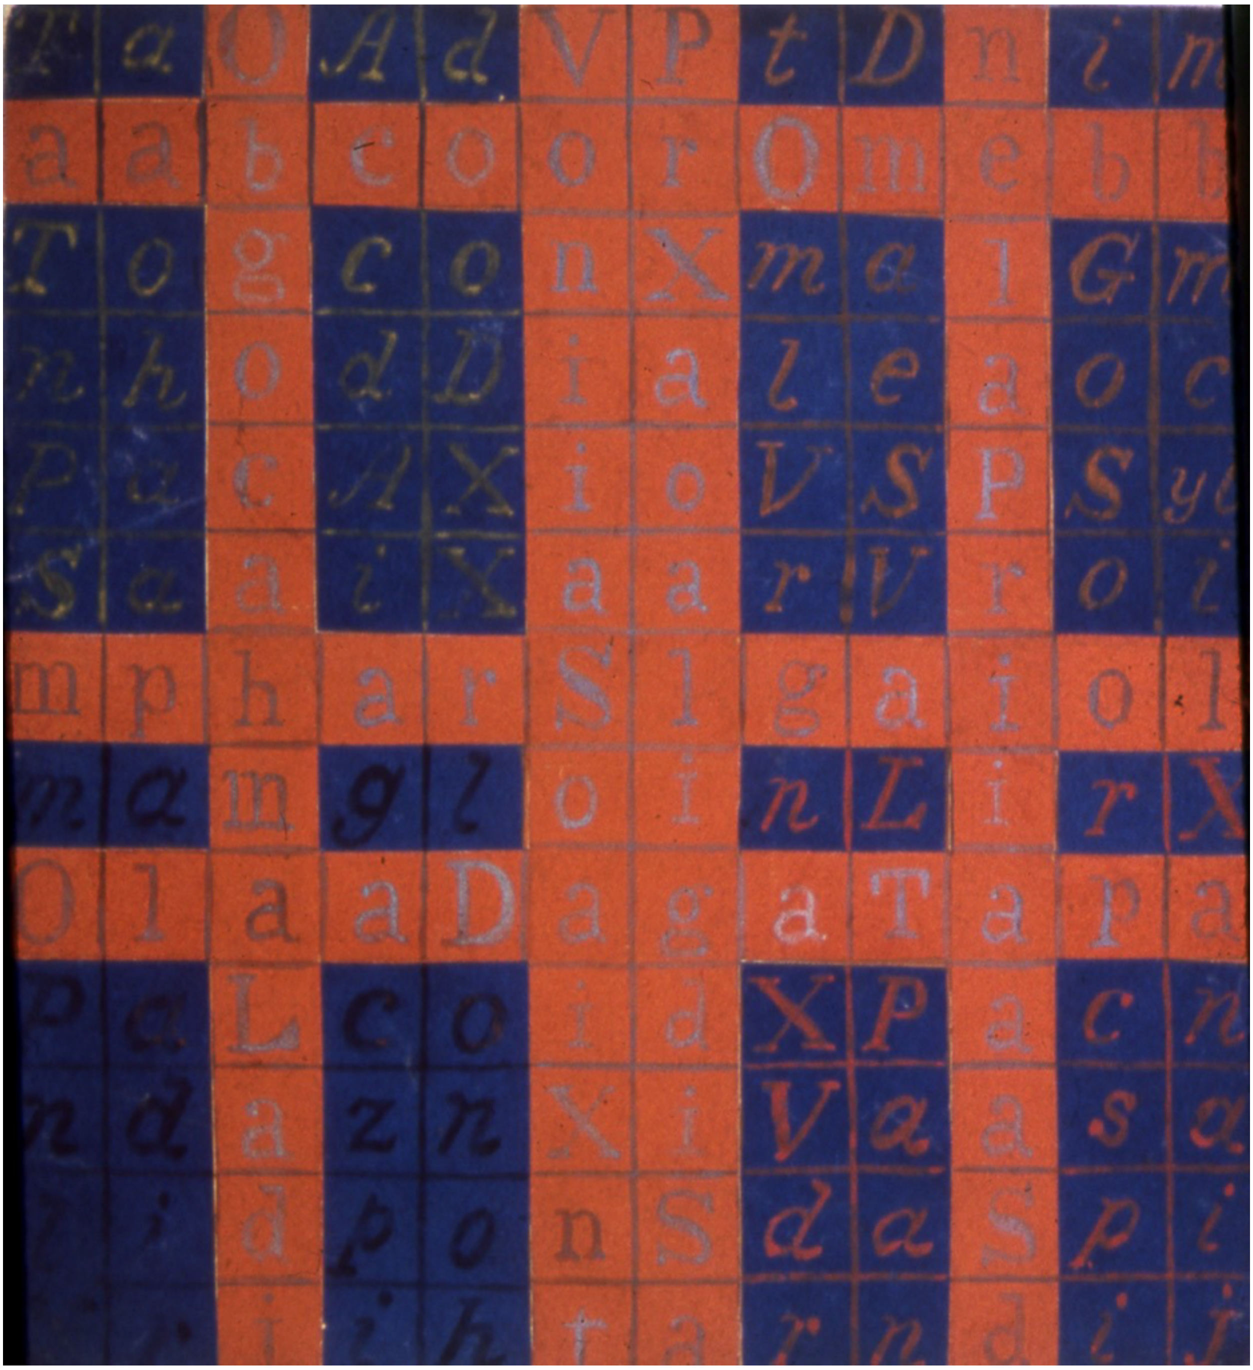
[76] Aleister Crowley, Enochian Watch Towers, Oil on linen board. (Austin TX: Harry Ransom Center, Aleister Crowley Collection, 1900).

The Great Watchtowers of the Quarters



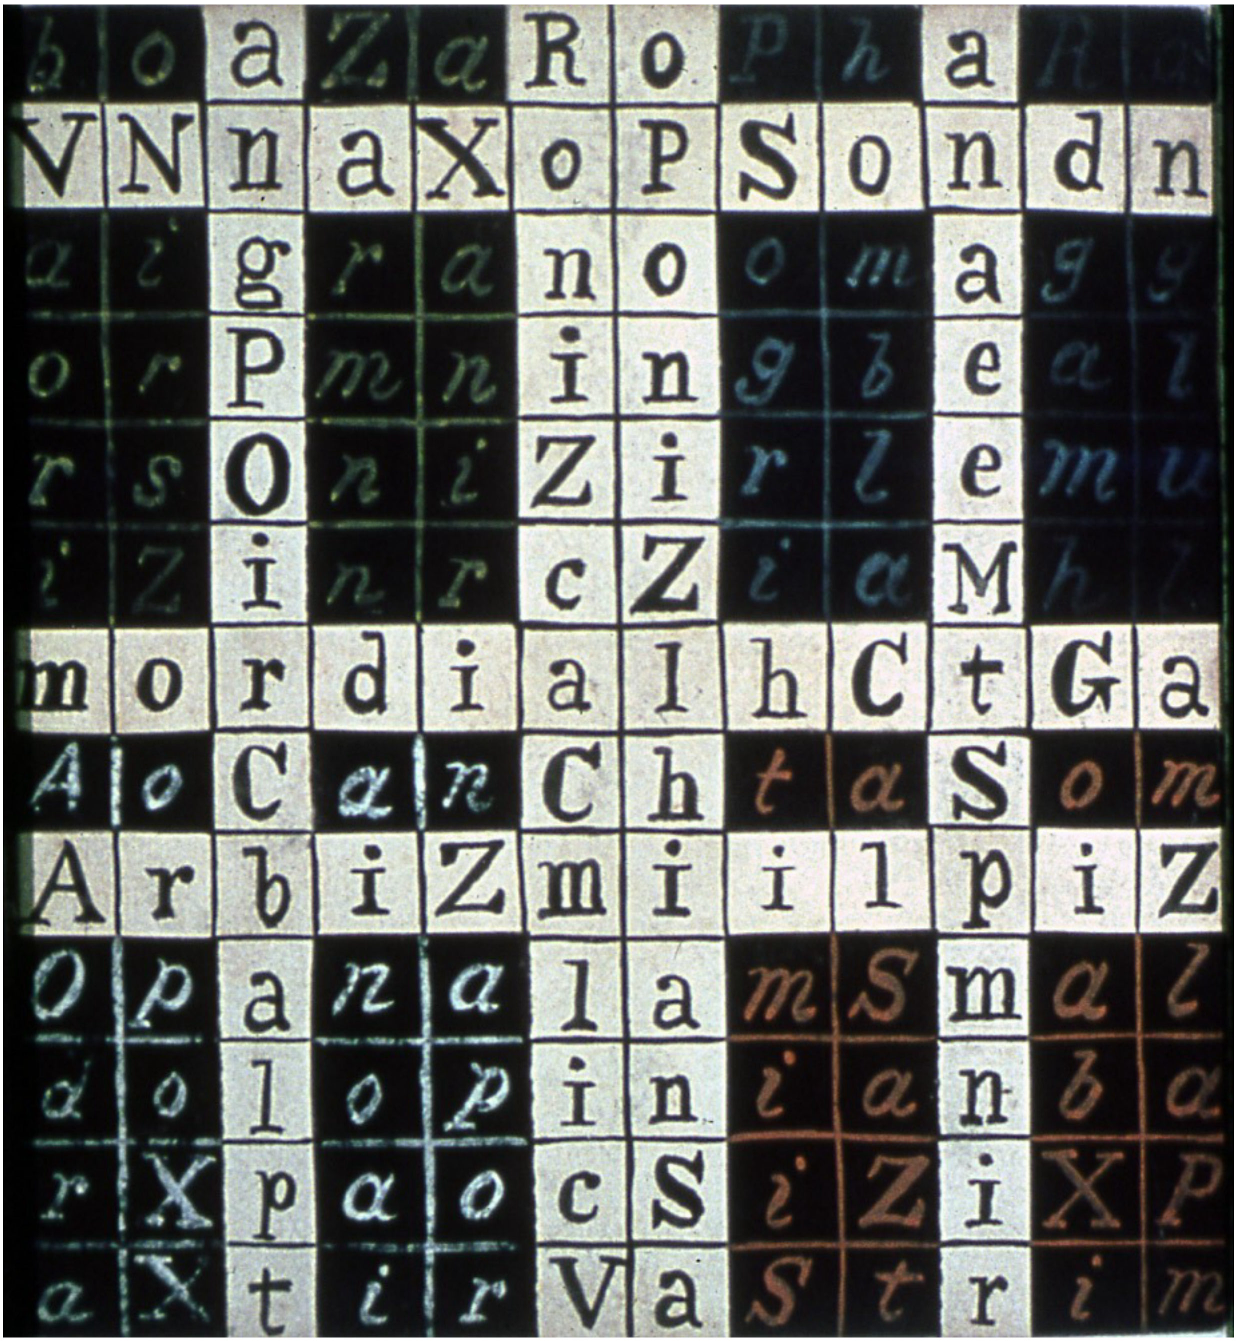
r	Z	i	l	a	f	A	U	t	i	p	a
a	r	d	z	a	i	d	p	a	L	a	m
c	Z	o	n	S	a	r	O	Y	a	u	b
T	o	i	T	t	X	o	P	a	c	o	C
S	i	g	a	S	o	m	r	b	z	n	h
f	m	o	n	d	a	T	d	i	a	r	i
o	r	o	i	b	A	h	a	o	z	p	i
C	n	a	b	r	V	i	X	g	a	Z	d
O	i	i	i	t	T	p	a	l	o	a	i
A	b	a	m	o	o	o	a	C	V	c	a
N	a	o	c	o	T	t	n	p	r	a	T
O	c	a	n	m	a	g	o	t	r	o	i
S	h	i	a	l	r	a	p	m	z	o	X

The Great Watch-Tower of the East attributed to Air



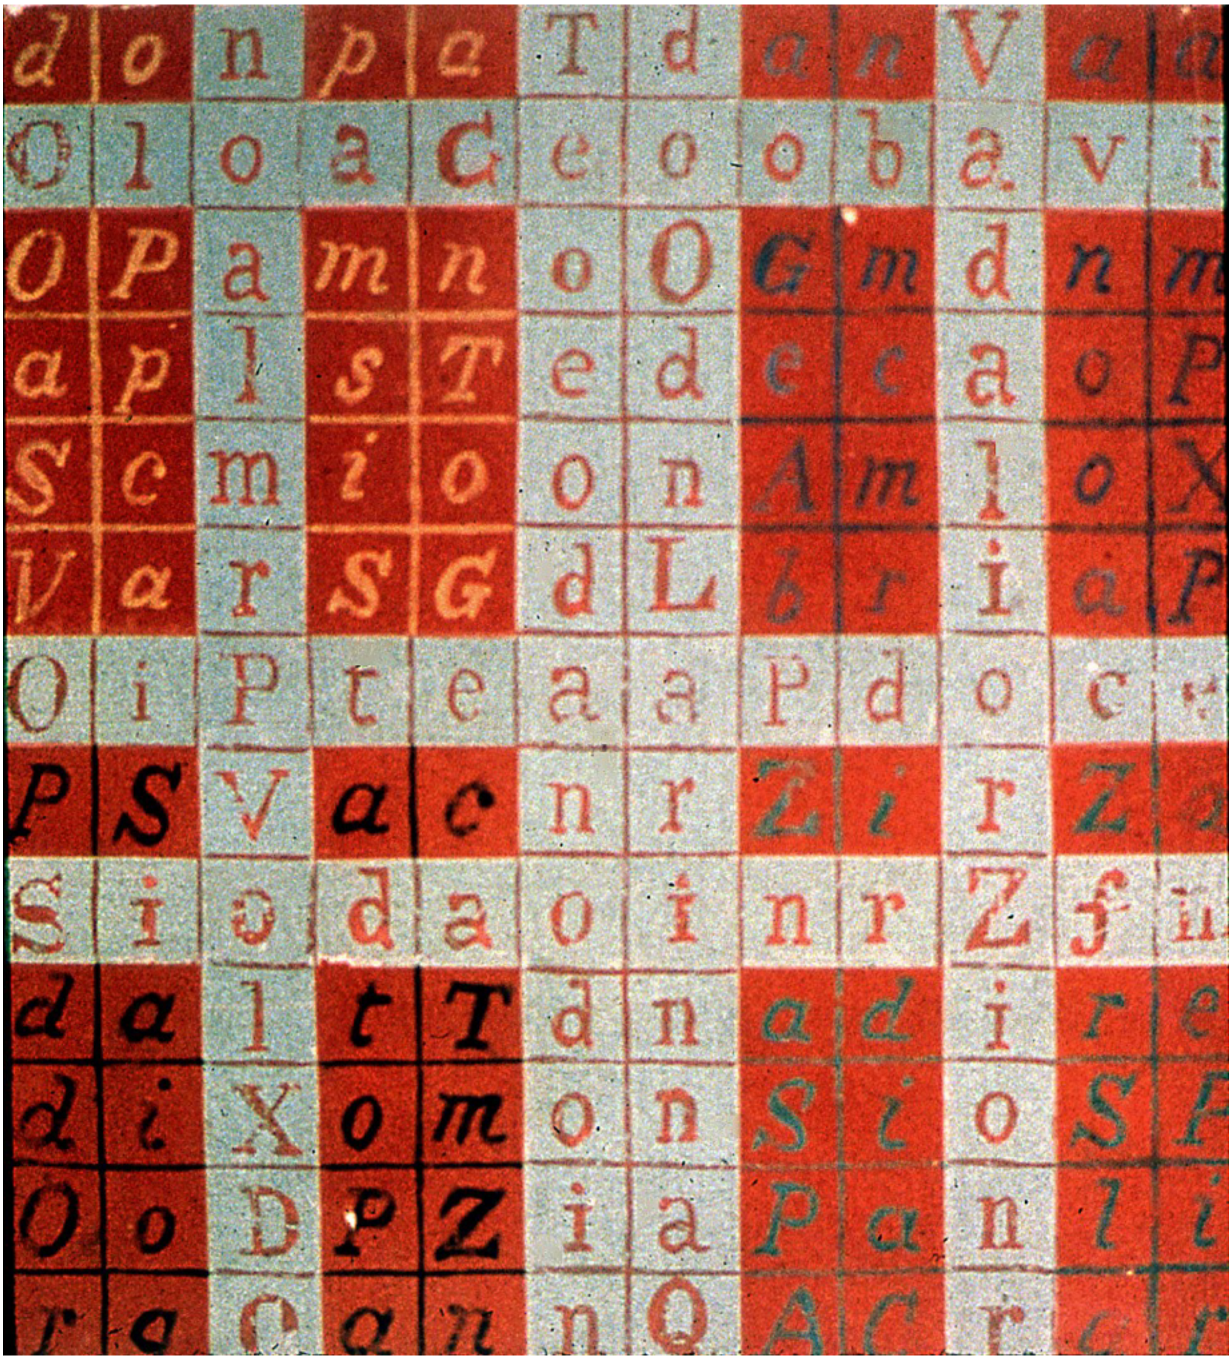
T	a	O	A	d	V	P	t	D	n	i	m
a	a	b	c	o	o	r	O	m	e	b	b
T	o	g	c	o	n	X	m	a	l	G	m
n	h	o	d	D	i	a	l	e	a	o	c
P	a	c	A	X	i	o	V	S	P	S	y
S	a	a	i	X	a	a	r	V	r	o	i
m	p	h	a	r	S	l	g	a	i	o	l
M	a	m	g	l	o	i	n	L	i	r	X
O	l	a	a	D	a	g	a	T	a	p	a
p	a	L	c	o	i	d	X	P	a	c	n
n	d	a	z	n	X	i	V	a	a	s	a
i	i	d	p	o	n	S	d	a	S	p	i
[illegible]	[illegible]	i	i	h	t	a	r	n	d	i	j

The Great Watch-Tower of the West attributed to Water



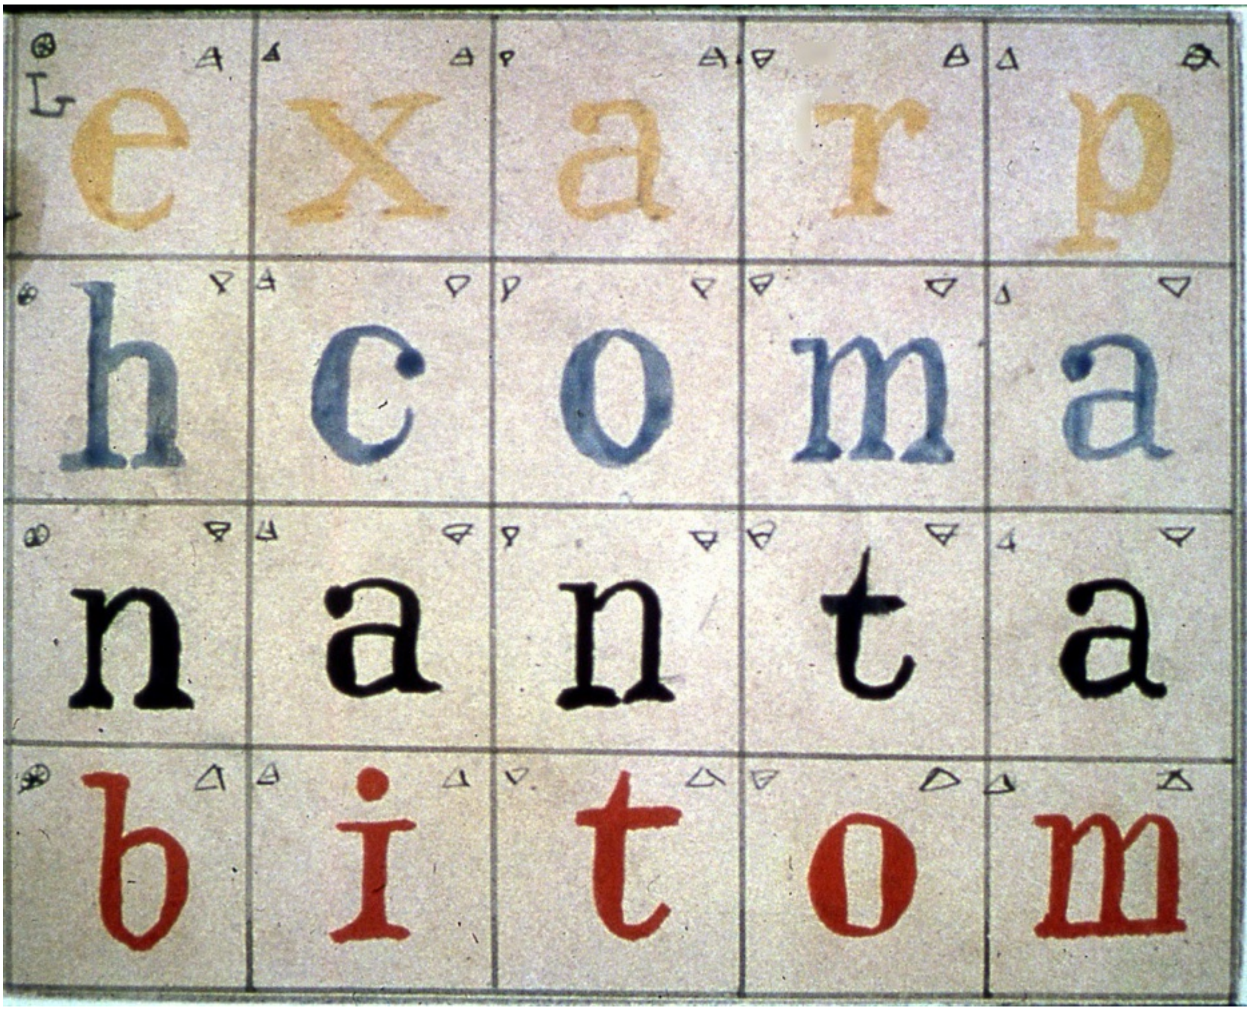
b	o	a	Z	a	R	o	P	h	a	R	a
V	N	n	a	X	o	P	S	o	n	d	n
a	i	g	r	a	n	o	o	m	a	g	g
o	r	P	m	n	i	n	g	b	e	a	l
r	s	O	n	i	Z	i	r	l	e	m	u
i	Z	i	n	r	c	Z	i	a	M	h	l
m	o	r	d	i	a	l	h	C	t	G	a
A	o	C	a	n	C	h	t	a	S	o	m
A	r	b	i	Z	m	i	i	l	p	i	Z
O	p	a	n	a	l	a	m	S	m	a	l
d	o	l	o	p	i	n	i	a	n	b	a
r	X	p	a	o	c	S	i	Z	i	X	P
a	X	t	i	r	V	a	S	t	r	i	m

The Great Watch-Tower of the North attributed to Earth



d	o	n	p	a	T	d	a	n	V	a	a
O	l	o	a	G	e	o	o	b	a	v	i
O	P	a	m	n	o	O	G	m	d	n	m
a	p	l	s	T	e	d	e	c	a	o	P
S	c	m	i	o	o	n	A	m	l	o	X
V	a	r	S	G	d	L	b	r	i	a	P
O	i	P	t	e	a	a	P	d	o	c	e
P	S	V	a	c	n	r	Z	i	r	Z	a
S	i	o	d	a	o	i	n	r	Z	f	m
d	a	l	t	T	d	n	a	d	i	r	e
d	i	X	o	m	o	n	S	i	o	S	P
O	o	D	P	Z	i	a	P	a	n	l	i
r	g	C	a	n	n	Q	A	C	r	a	r

The Great Watch-Tower of the South attributed to Fire



e	x	a	r	p
h	c	o	m	a
n	a	n	t	a
b	i	t	o	m

The Black Cross or Table of Union attributed to Spirit

The Great Watchtowers of the Quarters
Their Consecration and Fulfillment

The Great Watchtowers of the Quarters

Their Consecration and Fulfilment

Open as in 5°=6▫. Draw the lamen of a Hs (Hiersus.T) over the tablet.

O Hoor! Thou Great One of the Night of Time! Thou, Lord of Force in Matter! Fill, by this terrible symbol of thine Avenging might, the heart of this Creature of Talismans, with Force of Life Tremendous.

וווו ו (represents knocks .T)

I am the Great Tablet of ______, Lord of Time and Death, the Bringer-Forth of Life: I have been fashioned in beauty, in harmonious colour; deep is my symbolism and profound, mighty are the names borne on my breast. The Synthesis of the Forces of ____ am I!

Blessed are the Poor in Spirit: by these proclamations comest thou not unto the House of the Rose.

Draw diagrams of the Serpent and the Lightning Flash on the Tree of Life over Tablet : reject, and readmit. Bring tablet to East (without the door) wrapped in black, bound, and chained.

From Thy hands, O Lord, etc.

Unbind, Lift Talisman.

My Spirit shall not always strive with man, seeing that he also is flesh yet his day^{s} shall be an hundred and twenty years.

Let the Binding of the Conjuration be made:

Tablet fixed to wall by nails. Cross (+) drawn over it. Symbols of R.C. lifted above it.

I invoke Thee, the great Avenging Angel HUA, in the divine name IAO, to place ~~this~~ thine hand invisibly upon this tablet, compelling its obedience to the Living Breath. Creature of ___ , in the name of Thoouth, Lord of the Secret Light: in the name HRU, set over the Operations of the Sacred Magic and this Thy Wisdom: in the name AVE, who first revealed This to Chanokh: in the names of God that govern thee (trace names and sigils) I conjure , constrain and very powerfully exorcise thee; and by the -- Glory of the Highest, I do bind thee, even as thou art now physically bound unto the Cross of Suffering: that thou be a pure habitation, a pure servant of the Rose and Cross: that thou conceal the mystery from all but those to whom I may reveal it: that thou obey my will, silently, persistently, accomplishing my commands: thus, in the Service of the Servant of the Light, shalt thou come unto thine own light, thin Own Divine Indwelling One, working under and with the Mighty Names of God inscribed upon thee: that thou dwell ever in harmony with thyself, lest one undo his brother's work: to seek ever to attract fresh power, life, and sense from the Universe, lest I destroy thee for a barren fig-tree. Finally, to this symbol of the True Rose and Cross be thou obedient, and to none other.

Such are the words of this thy binding and obligation this day, in the Presence of the Divine One and of the Avenging Angel HUA.

And - if thou dost fail herein - Let thy Rose be disintegrated and thy power with Magic cease.

Let the Stigmata be placed upon the Tablet, with the Versicles appropriate.

I, Perdurabo, Fra R.R. et A.C. etc am here this day: that I may consecrate, equilibrate and purify this tablet of ____: Further I will attract therein, as in a pleasant habitation, the forces of ______, severally and as|an whole: that they may dwell therein in Light and Life and Love: ever ready to come forth, manifest into matter, at my word and will: untouched by any banishing ceremony that is not specially directed against them: ever abiding in the palaces and pyramids, the mansions of my Father's house.

(Note. In pencil opposite the above A.C. wrote: -

For ⊛ Open as Portal. Key 1. Pentagrams of Spirit
2. do Ehnb
3. Exarp. Aquarius (♒) in Spirit (⊛)- active
4,5,6.

for Air. Open as 2=9

sword
Key 2 for Cherubic above ~~for~~ Sceptre (? T) + a (~~?~~ and ~~wand~~. ? T)
Note ends.)

Draw over tablet the symbol of the Winged Globe, and the Ankh. Cover its face.

The General and Especial Invocation now takes place. For each tablet open as in grade corresponding: first the general invocation: then line by line, corner by corner, invoke the Dwellers, using the Enochian Keys and the Pentagrams. For lesser angles etc invoke e.g. Fire of Air by pentagram of Fire with letter Shin placed therein. Use the names of God both without and within the tablet. This done, chain the tablet:

draw the + and lift it. Stigmata as before and ⊕ above. Let touch the tablet to your R.C.

Out of the darkness let the Light Arise.

Speech of C. A. "I am the R and the L."

Draw crook and scourge on tal(isman) and shroud it again.

EX. DEO. NASCIMUR.

IN. JEHESHVA. MORIMUR.

PER. S. S. REVIVISCIMUS.

Invoke the Light to abide both above and below the tablet. (As in 5°=6□)

Speech of C. A.

Tab(let) to altar. Crook and scourge again.

Speech of C. A. from East. (~~? C.A. Consecrating Adept~~. T.)

+ on Tab. Lifted.

I receive thee as a Brother of the Cross and Rose, in that Sign of Rectitude and of Self-Sacrifice.

With R(ose) C(ross) touch tablet in 3 places. Words as 5 6 6 (Note. i.e as in the 5°=6□ ceremony of the Golden Dawn, as published in the Equinox and in Regardie's Golden Dawn. T.)

Seal in mystic numbers and words. Draw Sephirotic crosses; mothers; planets and signs to show colour.

Again draw ~~scourge~~ crook and scourge and finally the diagrams of the Serpent and the Lightning flash on the Tree of Life.

Thus, from the Darkness, and the Valley ~~has~~ hast thou climbed the Mystic Mountain of Abiegnus. For about the Throne of the mighty One is a Rainbow of Glory and at his Feet the Crystal Sea. Therefore do I affirm thee Hodos Camelionis; thine is the symbol of The River Hiddequel.

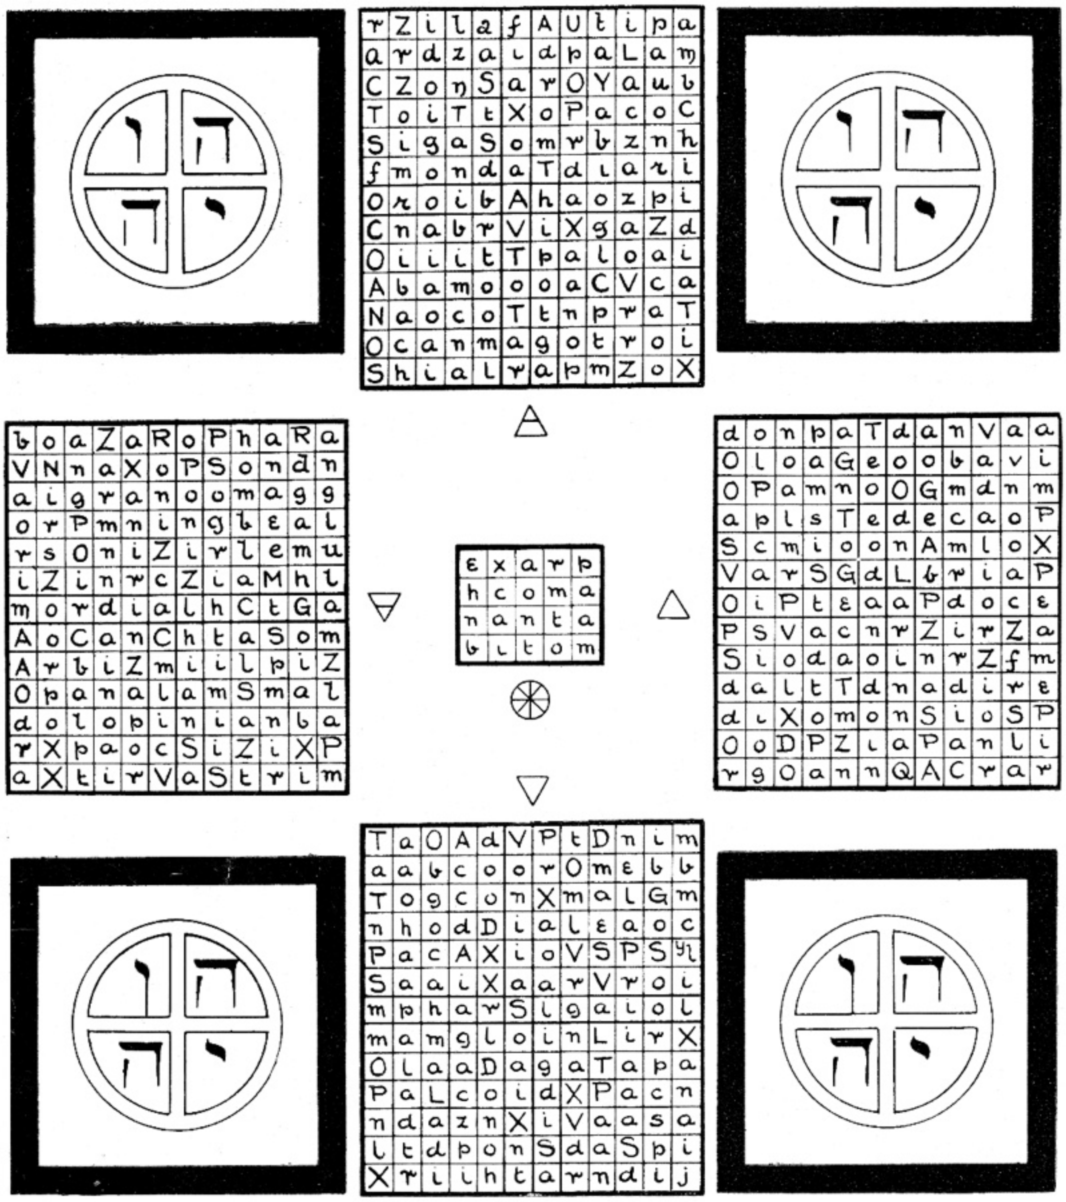
Remember thou, O Tablet of ___, thou who unitest Sphinx and Pyramid: remember this my Temple and my tomb : for it is the Chamber of the King.

I now formulate upon thee the grip of the Grade, and do now declare in the Name of the Lord of the Universe, that thou art duly consecrated, and prepared as a pure and pleasant dwelling for the Names and Forces Divine, Archangelic, Angelic, Elemental or Demonic in you duly written and illuminated.

Come away! and make us partakers of the Wisdom Undefiled.

Close as in 5°=6□.

_____



The Elemental Tablets as painted on the door of the Pastos.

NOTES ON THE RITUAL.

“The Great Watchtowers of the Quarters”

The Great Watchtowers of the Quarters are magical talismanic devices of the Enochian or Angelic system received by Dr. John Dee and Edward Kelly. They were received on June 25th 1584, and their reception was recorded in Liber Septimi Apertorii Cracoviensis, Mystici Sabbatici, pars Quarta.[77] These Watchtowers were later reformed by the archangel Raphael on April 20th 1587 in Liber Actio Tertio Generalis Trebonae.[78] These angelic communications are contained in the Cotton Appendix and were published in Casaubon’s A True & Faithful Relation.[79] The Golden Dawn used the reformation of Raphael as its standard and revised their version of the system in accordance with how the system was laid out in the later anonymous adaptations of Sloane MS. 307.[80]

“Their Consecration and Fulfilment”

The Watchtowers that Crowley constructed in Mexico reflect those presented at the opening of the 5°=6□ ritual; that is, they are composed of Latin not Angelic characters.

“Open as in 5°=6□”

How elaborate this opening was intended to be is unclear. The full opening can be studied in Fuller’s Temple of Solomon the King, and in the literature of the Golden Dawn. The following is adapted from the Temple of Solomon the King version; it is likely that the ‘Analysis of the Key Word’ concluded this opening.

> [The Chief Adept, having called upon the members to assist him open the Vault of the Adepts, and upon the Associate Adeptus Minor to see that the portal is closed and guarded, turns to the Second Adept and says:]

---

[77] John Dee, Cotton Appendix XLVI. (London: British Library, 1583-1607), ff. 198-206r in Kevin Klein ed. The Complete Mystical Records of Dr. John Dee. 2 vols. (Woodbury MN: Llewellyn, 2107), v. I pp. XI-45-53 et passim, see also John Dee, Sloane MS. 3191. “A Booke of Supplications and Invocations,” (London: British Library, 1583-1607), ff. 55-7 et passim: Klein, Complete v. 2 XXIV-1-9 etc., Geoffrey James, The Enochian Evocation of Dr. John Dee. (Gillette NJ: Heptangle, 1984), pp. 117-177 and Robert Turner, Elizabethan Magic. (Shaftesbury UK: Element, 1989), pp. 59-80.

[78] Dee, Cotton App. op. cit. f. 201r, Klein, Complete. op. cit. v. II: p. XIX-29

[79] Meric Casaubon ed., A True & Faithful Relation of What Passed for many Yeers Between Dr. John Dee (A Mathematician of Great Fame in Q. Eliz. And King James their Reignes) and Some Spirits. (London: D. Maxwell & T Garthwait, 1659). pp. 175-179 et passim.

[80] Sloane MS. 307. (London: British Library, n.d.); published by Stephen Skinner & David Rankin eds. Practical Angel Magic of John Dee’s Enochian Tables. (London: Golden Hoard, 2004).

Mighty Adeptus Major, by what sign hast thou entered the Portal?

Second: By the sign of the rending asunder of the veil.

Chief: Associate Adeptus Minor, by what sign has thou closed the Portal?

Third: By the sign of the closing of the Veil.

Second: Pe : פ

Third: Resh : ר

Second: Kaph : כ

Third: Tau : ת

Second: Paroketh : פרכת

Third: The Veil of the Sanctum Sanctorum.

Chief: Mighty Adeptus Major, what is the mystic number of this grade?

Second: 21.

Chief: Associate Adeptus Minor, what is the Pass-Word formed therefrom?

Third: Aleph : א

Chief: Hé : ה

Third: Yod : י

Chief: Hé : ה

Third: Eheieh : אהיה

Chief: Mighty Adeptus Major, what is the Vault of the Adepts?

Second: The symbolic burying-place of our mystic Founder, Christian Rosenkreutz, which he made to represent the Universe.

Chief: Associate Adeptus minor, in what part of it is he buried?

Third: In the centre of the Heptagonal sides and beneath the altar, his head being towards the East.

Chief: Mighty Adeptus Major, why in the centre?

Second: Because that is the point of Perfect Equilibrium.

“Draw the lamen of a Hs (Hiereus .T) over the tablet.”

The Hiereus (Gk. ἱερεύς) is the second of the three principal officers (with the Hierophant and the Hegemon) in the first order of the Golden Dawn rituals. The title means ‘priest.’ He assumes the godform of Horus, vide post for HRU.

Lamen of the Hiereus

“ ו וווו (represents knocks .T)”

These are the opening knocks of the Adeptus Minor ritual.

“Blessed are the Poor in Spirit”

Matthew 5:3

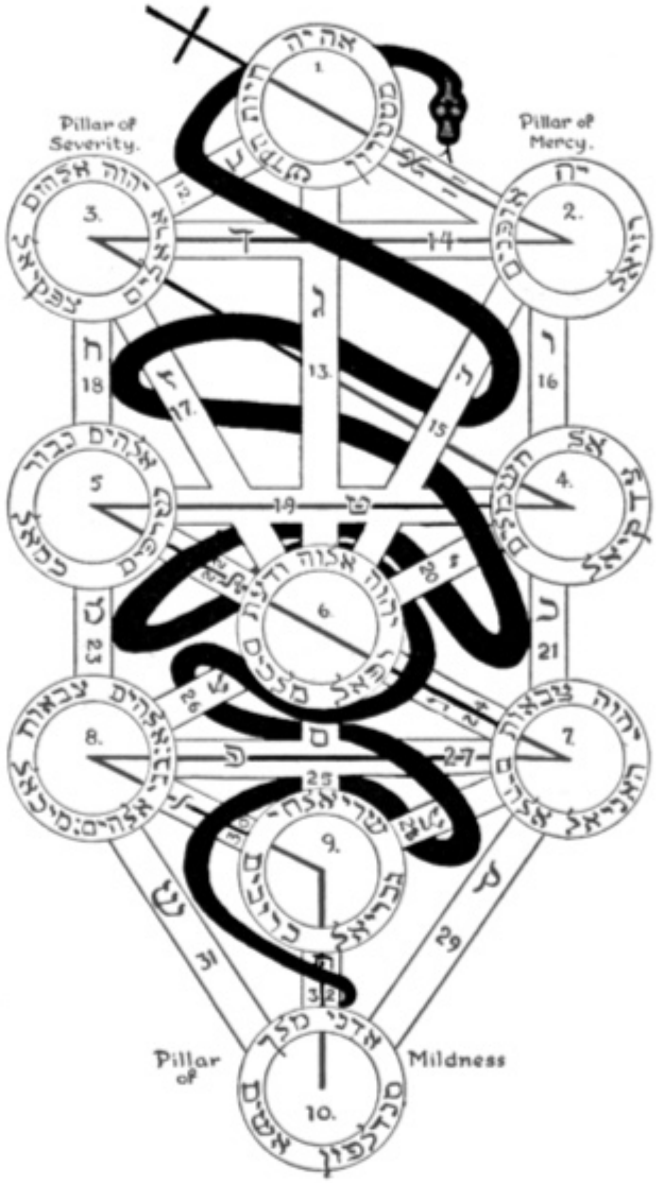
“Draw diagrams of the Serpent and the Lightning Flash on the Tree of Life over Tablet:”

Although these are somewhat complex symbols used in the Adeptus Minor degree, the instruction may only indicate the lineal figures that trace their courses on the Tree of Life. William Ayton’s diagram from his Golden Dawn notebooks gives some idea of what was probably intended.[81]

---

[81] William Ayton’s Golden Dawn notebooks are held by the Library of the United Grand Lodge of England. William Ayton, Frater Virtute Orta Occident Rarius (Who rises by virtue rarely dies) was one of the earliest initiates of the Golden Dawn; a member of St. Johns Lodge of Freemasons #601, the Rev. William Alexander Ayton’s life and work can be studied in The Alchemist of the Golden Dawn, edt. Ellic Howe. (Wellinborough UK: Aquarian, 1985). Ayton is also notable for having translated Thomas Smith’s Life of John Dee. (London: Theosophical, 1908) which Crowley, rather wryly reviewed in the The Equinox v. I. n. 3, op. cit., p. 310:

> “Wm. Alexr. Ayton's preface to this book deserves a better subject than Dr. Thomas Smith's Life of John Dee, which is as dreary dull as a life crammed so full of incidents could be made. In fact, if Dr. Smith had collected all Dr. Dee's washing bills and printed them in Hebrew, the result would scarcely have been more oppressive; anyhow it would have been as interesting to read of how many handkerchiefs the famous seer used when he had a cold as to ponder over the platitudes of this rheumy old leech.
>
> Never since reading “Bothwell” and “Who's Who” have we read such ponderous and pedantic pedagogics. The translator in his preface informs us that Moses and Solomon were adepts; verily hast thou spoke, but thou, Wm. Alexr. Ayton, art greater than either, to have survived such a leaden task as this of putting Dr. Smith's bad Latin into good English; at the completion of it you must have felt like Jacob when “he gathered up his feet into the bed, and yielded up the ghost.”



Pillar of Severity.
Pillar of Mercy.
Pillar of Mildness
1.
אהיה מטטרון
2.
יה רציאל
3.
יהוה אלהים צפקיאל
4.
אל צדקיאל
5.
אלהים גבור כמאל
6.
יהוה אלוה ודעת רפאל
7.
יהוה צבאות האניאל
8.
אלהים צבאות מיכאל
9.
שדי אל חי גבריאל
10.
אדני מלך סנדלפון 12 13.
14
15
16
17.
18 19 21
23
25
26
27
28
29
30
31
32

The Serpent and Lightening Flash on the Tree of Life

כתר חכמה בינה חסד גבורה תפארת נצח
הוד יסוד מלכות

William Ayton's Painting of the Diagram of the Serpent and Lightening Flash.

"My Spirit shall not always strive with man, seeing that he also is flesh yet his days shall be an hundred and twenty years."

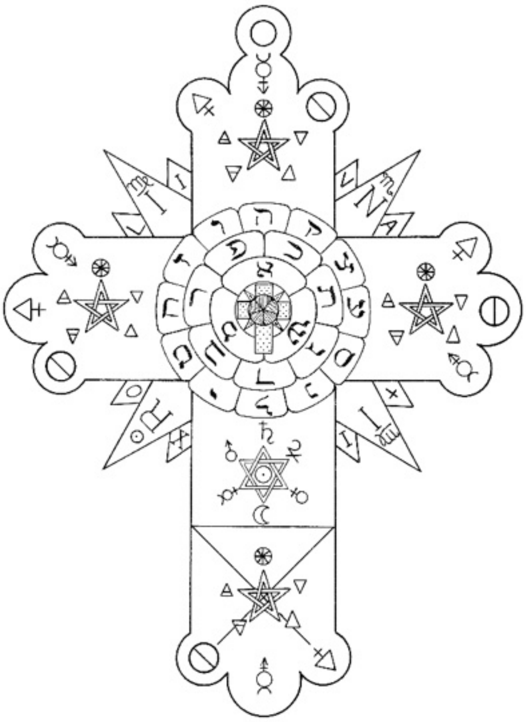
Genesis 6:3

"Tablet fixed to wall by nails. Cross (+) drawn over it."

A reference to the Crucifixion and to the symbolic crucifixion which constitutes the First Point of the Adeptus Minor ritual.

"Symbols of R.C. lifted above it."

The Rose Cross Lamen.[82]



"I invoke Thee, the great Avenging Angel HUA, in the divine name IAO, to place thine hand invisibly upon this tablet, compelling its obedience to the Living Breath.
Creature of _______:,"

This is a direct quote from the First Point of the Adeptus Minor Ritual, the opening of what is called in the Golden Dawn 'Ritual J'[83] immediately preceding the administration of the obligation:

---

[82] See MacGregor Mathers' "The Rose Cross," in Pat Zalewski's Talismans & Evocations of the Golden Dawn. (Loughborough UK: Thoth, 2002), pp. 53-59.

[83] "Ritual J." F.L. Gardner papers. Yorke Collection (NS 63). op. cit.

> I invoke Thee, the great avenging Angel HUA, in the divine name IAO, that Thou mayest invisibly place Thy hand upon the head of the Aspirant in attestation of his Obligation.

For more discussion of ‘Ritual J’ refer to the ‘Consecration of a High Priest of L.I.L.’ Here the talisman or Watchtower replaces the candidate, and the blank would be filled in by the element proper to the particular Watchtower being consecrated.

“the great Avenging Angel HUA”

HUA alternatively Hoa, Hva & Hu (הוא) is literally ‘He,’ ‘It’ and even ‘She.’ The name is identified in the Zohar with the Ancient of Days or Macroprosophus, for which see Mathers’ Kabbalah Unveiled,[84] from whose ideas the Golden Dawn’s usages derive. Mathers has this to say about HVA in his notation to the text:

> Himself, HVA. Hoa, whom we can only symbolize by this pronoun. HE, Who is the Absolute; HE, Who is beyond us; that awful and unknowable Crown, Who hath said, I AM; in Whom is neither past nor future, He Who is the ETERNAL PRESENT. Therefore is HE, Hoa, the Father, known of none save the Son, IHVH, and him to whom the Son will reveal Him. For none can see Hoa and live, for they would be absorbed in Him. p. 156n.
>
> Kether is Macroprosopus from whom backwards depend the Negative Existences in their Veils; and Macroprosopus is called HVA, Hoa, which = 12, and finds its expression in Aima Elohim. Thus rusheth through the Universe the Flux and Reflux of the Eternal Word. (p. 330n.)

A full set of references is given in the footnote, but some taste of the nature and complexity of this name’s meaning in the Zohar is valuable. For it is in the idea of HUA; that the creator is defined as inseparable from its creation, an idea that underlies the essential pantheism which informs the Qabalah of the Zohar:

> All which I have said concerning the Most Holy Ancient One, and all which I have said concerning Microprosopus, all are one, all are HVA, Hoa, Himself, all are Unity, neither herein hath separation place. Blessed be HVA, Hoa, He, and blessed be His Name unto the Ages of the Ages. (Mathers’ Kabbalah Unveiled, 1912: p. 283.)

---

[84] S.L. MacGregor Mathers trans, The Kabbalah Unveiled. (New York: Theosophical, 1912): pp. p. 54, 78-79, 168, 242, 268, 279-280, 283, 291-292, 294, 298, 318, 326n, 330n.

> And therefore do all things ascend in one path, and all things are crowned by one and the same thing, and one thing is not separated from another, since HVA, Hoa, Himself, and His Name, are one. (Ibid. p. 294.)
>
> (Now, indeed, Macroprosopus is not so closely known by us as to address us in the first person; but he is called in the third person, HVA, Hoa, he.) Like as it is said, Ps. c. 3: "He hath made us, and not we ourselves." And again in Job xxiii. 13: "And He existeth in the unity, and who can turn Him aside?" (Ibid. p. 78.)
>
> And all things depend mutually from Himself, and mutually are bound together unto Himself, until He is known, because all things are one, and HVA, Hoa, He, the Ancient One, is all things, neither from Him can anything whatsoever be separated. (Ibid. p. 279.)
>
> "This is that very thing which is written, Deut. iv. 38: "Know therefore this day, and consider it in thine heart, that Tetragrammaton, He is Elohim (HVA HALHIM), in the heavens above, and upon the earth beneath: there is none other." (Ibid. p. 242.)
>
> And although the Most Holy Ancient One hath been conformed (as it were) alone (i.e., apparently apart from all things at first sight); yet when all things are accurately inspected, all things are HVA, Hoa, Himself, the Ancient One, alone. (Ibid. p. 298.)
>
> HVA, Hoa, He Himself, is all things; blessed be Hoa, and blessed be His Name in eternity, and unto the ages of the ages. (Ibid. p. 292.)
>
> And thus all the other Lights are sanctified, are restricted, and are bound together in the Unity or Monad, and are One; and all things are HVA, Hoa, Himself.
> (Ibid. p. 268.)

In the ritual of the Golden Dawn, Hua becomes the Avenging Angel who enforces the oath and the name set over the Tarot.

"in the divine name IAO"

For more on IAO see "The Consecration of the High Priest of L.I.L."

"in the name of Thoouth, Lord of the Secret Light:"

Thoouth is the Coptic spelling of the Egyptian god Thoth. Thoth was previously discussed in the notes in the chapter "Consecration of a High Priest of L.I.L." In this context he represents the Hermes figure of the Hermetic tradition of Late Antiquity. The Godform is represented by the Cancillarius in Golden Dawn rituals. The usage probably derives from the essentially unpublished Golden Dawn instruction titled The Book of the Voice of Thoouth. This text is extant among Frederick Leigh Gardner's papers in the Yorke Collection at the Warburg Institute and appears to be the invocation of Thoth attributed to Allan Bennett, which was used in the evocation of the mercurial spirit Taphthartharath (in which Gardner was a participant).[85] Said invocation would eventually form the basis of Liber Israfel.[86]

In this context the formula of L.V.X. is indicated. In Crowley's post Book of the Law metaphysics, "the Secret Light" became associated with the 'Khabs' and the 'Obeah.'[87] Crowley's understanding of the Egyptian part of the soul, then commonly called the 'Khabs,' derives principally from the works of Gerald Massey and E.A. Wallis Budge.[88] His usage of 'Obeah,' though informed by Obeah Simplified, the True Wanga,[89] depends on the works of Levi and Blavatsky.[90] In Crowley's commentaries to the Book of the Law, he has the following to say:

> Khabs is the secret Light or L.V.X.;
>
> The Obeah is the magick of the Secret Light with special reference to acts;

"in the name HRU, set over the Operations of the Sacred Magic and this Thy Wisdom:"

HRU is the Egyptian god Horus. Horus is one of the oldest and most important deities in the Egyptian pantheon. In the Golden Dawn system, he plays essential and wide-ranging roles. He is identified with the role of the Hiereus officer in Golden Dawn rituals.

> "Avenger of the Gods" is the name of Hiereus, and he is "Horus in the Abode of Blindness unto, and Ignorance of, the Higher." Hoor is his name.[91]

---

[85] The Book of the Voice of Thoouth. F.C. Gardner papers, Yorke Collection (London: Warburg Institute), NS 63. op. cit.

[86] Equinox v. I. n. 7. pp. 21-27.

[87] Aleister Crowley, Magical and Philosophical Commentaries on The Book of the Law. (Quebec: 93 Publishing, 1974): Old Comment I:8 & New Comment I:37.

[88] Gerald Massey, The Seven Souls of Man: Lecture. (London: Villa Bordighiera, 1887?), and A Book of the Beginnings v. I. (London: Williams & Northgate, 1881). E.A. Wallis Budge, An Egyptian Hieroglyphic Dictionary. (London: John Albemarle, 1920), p. 540.

[89] Myal Djumboh Cassecanarie, Obeah Simplified, the True Wanga. (Port of Spain: Mirror Office, 1895).

[90] Eliphas Levi, The Great Secret of Occultism Revealed. (York Beach ME: Weiser, 1975), bk. 2 chapter 1, and H.P. Blavatsky, Isis Unveiled. (New York: Theosophical Society, 1877), chapter 13.

[91] Regardie, Golden Dawn. op. cit. p. 338.

“in the name AVE,”

Ave is an angel in the Enochian system of John Dee and Edward Kelly. Its name derives from the Sigillum Dei Aemeth,[92] and the angel plays a significant role in the Spirit Actions of Dee and Kelly. In particular, Ave was the communicating angel who delivered the initial forms of the four great Watchtowers.[93] Ave also appears in the Vision and Voice at the opening of the sixth Æthyr: MAZ.

“who first revealed This to Chanokh:”

Chanokh or Enoch (חנוך) was the antediluvian patriarch, whose mysterious relationship with God in Genesis 5 made him the object and pseudo-author of much Jewish apocalyptic and mystical literature in Late Antiquity, the Medieval period and into the Renaissance.[94] Enoch is the subject of a body of work known as Enochic literature, which precedes and informs the later Merkavah texts, and which are themselves the precursors to Qabalah.

Enoch was reputed in the Golden Dawn to be the source of much of Dee & Kelly’s Spirit Actions, hence the title ‘Enochian.’ Dee and Kelly received a number of angelic communications that purported to be from a lost book of Enoch.[95]

“in the names of God that govern thee (trace names and sigils):

These would be the Hebrew godnames as assigned in Liber Chanokh, in the openings for principal keys or calls.[96] These are essentially taken from elemental attributions of the five lower Sephiroth and are:

IHVH (יהוה) and ShDI AL Chi (שדי אל חי) for the east and Air.

---

[92] For the details of the Sigillum Dei Aemeth see Liber Secundus in Sloane MS. 3188, published by Joseph Peterson ed. John Dee's Five Books of Mystery. (York Beach ME: Weiser, 2003), pp. 87-148; Christopher L. Whitby. John Dee’s Actions with Spirits: 22 December to 23 May 1583, v. 1. pp. 118-131; v. 2. pp. 41-101. (PhD diss., University of Birmingham, 1981), pp. 150-151; and Klein, Complete. v. I. Sloane 3188 f. 17r II-1 to f. 30r II-27.

[93] Casaubon, True & Faithful op. cit. pp. 169-185 et passim; Klein Complete. op cit. Cotton Appendix XLVI pt. 1 f. 193r XI-39 to f. 190v XI-72.

[94] See the Book of Enoch (I Enoch), The Secrets of Enoch (II Enoch aka Slavonic Enoch) and III Enoch. For an excellent, if still controversial, analysis of the formation of Enochic Judaism see Gabriele Boccaccini's Beyond the Essene Hypothesis. (Cambridge UK: Eerdmans, 1998). For a scholarly comparison of the traditional Enochic literature to the Enochian Spirit Actions of Dee & Kelly see James R. Davila, “The 94 Books of Ezra and the Angelic Revelations of John Dee,” and Lorenzo DiTommaso, “Echoes of Enoch in Early Modern England.” both contained in Wisdom Poured Out Like Water: Studies on Jewish and Christian Antiquity in Honor of Gabriele Boccaccini. (Berlin: De Gruyter, 2018). ed. F.V. Reiterer et al.

[95] Geoffrey James has collated the legends ascribed to Enoch in the Spirit Actions: cf. The Enochian Evocation of Dr. John Dee. (Gillette NJ: Heptangle, 1984). op. cit. pp. 1-15.

[96] Liber Chanokh pt. II in the Equinox v. I. n. 8 op. cit. pp. 102-113.

AL (אל) and ALHIM TzBAVTh (אלהים צבאות) for the west and Water.
ADNI MLK (אדני מלך) for north and Earth.
IHVH TzBAVTh (יהוה צבאות) for south and Fire.
IHVH ALVH VDOTh (יהוה אלוה ודעת) for Spirit.[97]

The sigils would necessarily be those drawn from the Hebrew on the petals of the Rose Cross lamen, since there are no Kamea for the Elements. This was exactly how the sigilae were formulated in the untitled consecration ritual for an Evocation of a Saturnian Spirit that opens the typescript of the Book of the Spirit of the Living God. The method of the formulation of these sigilae was originally explained in Mathers' "Sigils of the Rose" instruction.[98]

"I conjure, constrain and very powerfully exorcise thee; and by the ------- Glory of the Highest,"

This is a magical charge in typically 'Solomonic' language; compare for instance this passage from Mathers' version of the Greater Key of Solomon:[99]

> I conjure ye and I exorcise ye by the most holy name of ELOAH VA-DAATH, which Jacob invoked when in great trouble, and was found worthy to bear the name of Israel, which signifieth vanquisher of God; and he was delivered from the fury of Esau his brother.

What exactly is intended to fill in the blank is left to the ingenium of the magician. It might include, as well as the appropriate godname given above, the name of the Archangel ruling the element and a Bible passage as indicated in Liber Chanokh or Barrett's Magus.[100]

---

[97] Crowley, 777 op. cit. columns V & XI.

[98] "Sigils of the Rose" in Zalewski, Talismans. Op cit. pp. 93-98.

[99] S.L. MacGregor Mathers trans. The Key of Solomon the King (London: George Redway, 1889).

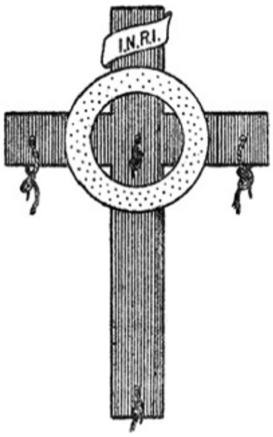
[100] Francis Barrett, The Magus or Celestial Intelligencer. op. cit. with particular attention to the conjurations of the Archangels (pt. 2: pp. 116-127) that were adapted from Abano.

“I do bind thee, even as thou art now physically bound unto the Cross of Suffering:”



The Cross of Suffering.

This line is adapted from the ritual of the Adeptus Minor degree of the RR et AC, the entrance into the second order of the Golden Dawn: “even as I am now bound physically upon the Cross of Suffering.” The symbolism is, of course, that of the passion and crucifixion of Jesus Christ portrayed in the gospels. Crowley uses this phrase, in the first and second persons, for a number of rituals: notably in The Book of the Spirit of the Living God, also written around this time in Mexico (and later published in the Equinox),[101] and as part of the ritual obligation of Crowley’s John St. John working.[102]

“that thou be a pure habitation, a pure servant of the Rose and Cross: that thou conceal the mystery from all but those to whom I may reveal it: that thou obey my will, silently, persistently, accomplishing my commands: thus,”

The remainder of the Charge.

“in the Service of the Servant of the Light, shalt thou come unto thine own light, thine Own Divine Indwelling One,”

Such emphasis on the Light and service thereto is an indicator that this ritual was indeed intended to be part of the working instructions for L.I.L.

---

[101] Equinox v. I. n. 3. op cit. p. 270.

[102] Aleister Crowley, The Equinox. v. 1 n. 1. op. cit. “John St. John” Special Supp. p. 10.

“working under and with the Mighty Names of God inscribed upon thee:”

In both the Golden Dawn and in the original Dee and Kelly understanding of the Watchtowers, certain names ‘inscribed on the Watchtowers’ were godnames, and under them were subordinate spirits: including the 24 elders of the book of Revelation, various angels, And elementals, down to cacodemons.[103] In the Golden Dawn system these ‘Mighty Names of God’ were the names drawn from the Tablet of Union, attributed to Spirit, that were particular to the spirit of the element of the Watchtower, the three names drawn from the central horizontal line of the Watchtower, termed the ‘line of the Holy Spirit,’ consisting of three, four and five letter each, and the eight lettered name in the central whorl of the Watchtower, referred to as the King, along with the four sets of Sephirotic or Calvary Cross names, two each for each subquadrant, one vertical and one horizontal.[104]

These are as follows:

Air
Exarp
Oro Ibah Aozpi
Bataivah
Cross Names
🜁 🜁 Idoigo & Ardza
🜁 🜄 Ilacza & Palam
🜁 🜃 Aiaoai & Oiiit
🜁 🜂 Aourrz & Aloai

Water
Hcoma
Mph Arsl Gaiol
Raagiosl
Cross Names

---

[103] The details for this procedure are described in Book H (Clavicula Tabularum Enochi) published in The Seventh Ray, Carroll “Poke” Runyon ed. (Silverado CA: Church of Hermetic Science, 2016 rev.) pp. 4-39, in Mathers’ The Book of the Concourse of the Forces pt. 1, published in Regardie ed. Golden Dawn. op. cit. pp. 630-659, and in Liber Chanokh op. cit. They differ, in some minor but significant ways, from the instructions given by the angels to Dee and Kelly.

[104] The pronunciation and naming conventions for these names is somewhat variable, due to use occasional attribution of multiple letters to some squares. Their pronunciation is also a matter of consideration, as Sloane MS. 307 and the Golden Dawn have similar but slightly different rules for pronouncing Enochian words.

🜁 🜄 Obgoca & Aabco
🜄 🜄 Nelapr & Omebb
🜃 🜄 Maladi & Olaad
🜂 🜄 Iaaasd & Atapa

Earth
Nanta
Mor Dial Hctga
Iczhhcal
Cross Names
🜁 🜃 Angpoi & Unax
🜄 🜃 Anaeem & Sondn
🜃 🜃 Cbalpt & Arbiz
🜂 🜃 Iaasd & Atapa

Fire
Bitom
Oip Teaa Pdoce
Edlprnaa
Cross Names
🜁 🜂 Noalmr & Oloag
🜄 🜂 Valadi & Sioda
🜃 🜂 Volxdo & Sioda
🜂 🜂 Rzionr & Nrzfm

“lest I destroy thee for a barren fig-tree.”

An allusion to Mark 11:12-14 & 20 and Matthew 21:18-22.

“Such are the words of this thy binding and obligation this day, in the Presence of the Divine One and of the Avenging Angel HUA. And - if thou dost fail herein - Let thy Rose be disintegrated and thy power with Magic cease.”

The curse and binding section of the obligation, cf. Matthew 18:18.

"Let the Stigmata be placed upon the Tablet, with the Versicles appropriate."

It is likely that Watchtowers themselves were pierced in the upper corners and at the bottom center to replicate the wounds of Christ. It is also possible that blood was taken from a cross, cut upon the breast of the consecrating magician, for this purpose, as in John St. John.[105] This is almost certainly a reference also the nailing of the Watchtowers to the wall given above.

"I, Perdurabo, Fra R.R. et A.C. etc. am here this day: that I may consecrate, equilibrate and purify this tablet of ____: Further I will attract therein, as in a pleasant habitation, the forces of ______, severally and as an whole:"

The blanks again indicate the specific element of the Watchtower being consecrated.

"that they may dwell therein in Light and Life and Love: ever ready to come forth, manifest into matter, at my word and will: untouched by any banishing ceremony that is not specially directed against them: ever abiding in the palaces and pyramids"

This passage is meant to protect the magical forces (elemental, planetary and zodiacal) contained within the Watchtowers from the general and regular banishings that are necessary to maintain a sanctified magical temple. Pyramids are a particular form of dwelling space for the spirits peculiar to Golden Dawn Enochiana, vide post.

"the mansions of my Father's house."

John 14:2

"(Note. In pencil opposite the above A.C. wrote: - For ☸ Open as Portal. Key:
1. Pentagrams of Spirit
2. do Ehnb
3. Exarp. Aquarius (♒) in Spirit (☸)- active 4,5,6.
for Air. Open as 2=9
Key 2 for Cherubic above for Sceptre (? T) + a (? and ~~wand.~~ sword ? T) Note ends.)"

---

[105] Op. cit.

This is an abbreviated instruction in the basic order of operations used in Golden Dawn Enochian. For the details study Liber Chanokh pt. 2.[106]
"For ⊛ Open as Portal. Key: 1. Pentagrams of Spirit

For the element of Spirit use the Portal Opening. First Key is recited with the Spirit Pentagrams.[107]

"2. do Ehnb"

Second Key is used to invoke the Ehnb angels, they are: Exarp, Hcoma, Nanta and Bitom.

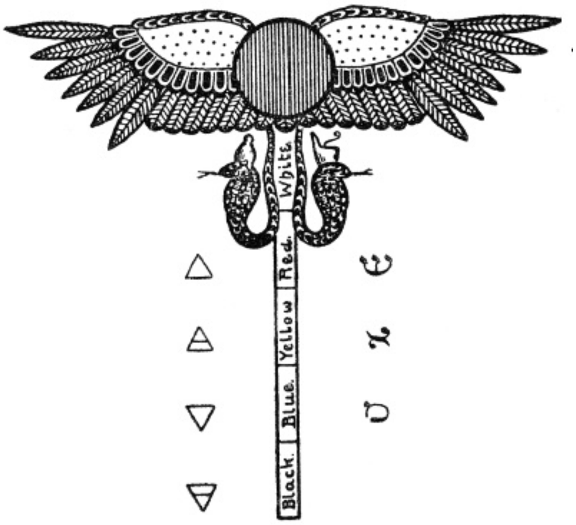
"3. Exarp. Aquarius (♒) in Spirit (⊛)- active"

Third Key is used to invoke Air, using the sign of Aquarius (the Cherub of the fixed sign of Air) in the active Pentagram of the Spirit.

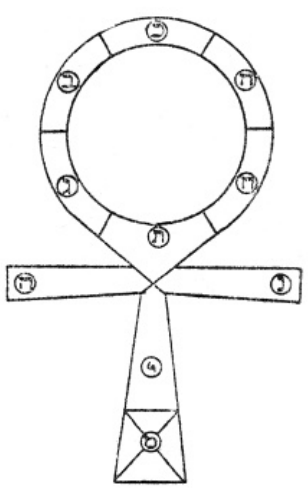
"4,5,6."

The fourth, fifth and sixth keys are the remaining keys used, in the Golden Dawn system of Enochiana, to invoke the pure elements: Water, Earth and Fire respectively.

"Draw over tablet the symbol of the Winged Globe, and the Ankh. Cover its face."



The Chief Adept's Wand.



The Egyptian Key of Life.
The Crux Ansata.

---

[106] Equinox v. I n. 8. Liber Chanokh pt. 2 op. cit. pp. 101-113.
[107] For all of the pentagrams used in this section see Aleister Crowley, Liber O in Equinox v. I. n. 2. op. cit. pp. 10-30.

"The General and Especial Invocation now takes place."

In the Golden Dawn these invocations are based on the anonymous Sloane MS. 307. The text of this manuscript was codified from Sloane MS. 307 by Wynn Westcott to become the Golden Dawn's Book H, the so-called Clavicula Tabularum Enochi or Key to the Tables of Enoch.[108] It was from this text that the Golden Dawn's idiosyncratic form of Enochian derived. It was also, strangely enough, a text that was essentially rejected by Israel Regardie. He says of it:

> "H" Clavicula Tabularum Enochi, is a more or less lengthy manuscript, turgid and archaic, for the most part repeating, though not as dearly, the contents of "S, The Book of the Concourse of the Forces." Incidentally, this document is practically a verbatim duplicate of part of a lengthy manuscript to be found in the Manuscript Library of the British Museum, Sloane 307. A good deal of the advice given is typically mediaeval, and definitely unsound from a spiritual viewpoint, and is certainly not in accord with the general lofty tenor of the remaining Order teaching. It explains how to find precious metals and hidden treasure, and how to drive away the elemental guardians thereof. It is an inferior piece of work-as also is the document 'T', and so have decided to omit both.[109]

"For each tablet open as in grade corresponding:"

This can be moderately confusing, given Crowley's adjustment of degrees from the Golden Dawn to A∴ A∴ The model is given in Liber Chanokh,[110] with reference to the degree numbers and signs. At the time of the composition of this ritual, the reference was certainly to the original Golden Dawn degrees,[111] and are attributed according to the elemental attributions of the Sephiroth, save 5°=6□ which is here attributed to Spirit.

1°=10□	Zelator	Earth	🜃
2°=9□	Theoricus	Air	🜁
3°=8□	Practicus	Water	🜄
4°=7□	Philosophus	Fire	🜂
5°=6□	Adeptus Minor	Spirit	⊛

---

[108] Sloane MS. 307, Skinner, Practical op. cit.; Book H (Clavicula Tabularum Enochi) published in Runyon, The Seventh Ray. op. cit.

[109] It is interesting that the very parts of Book H Regardie finds offensive are the ones that have their origin in the original Dee and Kelly materials. Regardie, Golden Dawn, op. cit. pp. 43-44.

[110] Equinox v. I n. 8. Liber Chanokh pt. 2 op. cit. pp. 101-113.

[111] 777 op. cit. column CXXI.

In either case $1^{\circ}=10^{\square}$ equals Earth etc.

“first the general invocation: then line by line, corner by corner, invoke the Dwellers, using the Enochian Keys and the Pentagrams.”

Again, this is laid out in Book H (Clavicula Tabularum Enochi), Mathers’ The Book of the Concourse of the Forces part 1. and detailed in Crowley’s Liber Chanokh with the application of the Keys that the Golden Dawn attributes to the elements.[112]

“For lesser angles etc invoke e.g. Fire of Air by pentagram of Fire with letter Shin placed therein.”

This instruction is a bit odd. One would suspect that the pentagram of Air with the Shin (being the Hebrew letter attributed to Fire) is what should be intended here.

“Use the names of God both without and within the tablet.”

The godnames without are the attributed Hebrew godnames, vide supra, the godnames within would be those from the Watchtower itself, i.e. the name from the Tablet of Union or Spirit, the three names from the line of the Holy Spirit, and the name of the King of the Watchtower being invoked.

“This done, chain the tablet:”

A somewhat strange admonition, as if the forces being bound were necessarily demonic.

“draw the + and lift it. Stigmata as before and, above. Let touch the tablet to your R.C.”

R.C. equals Rose Cross.

“Out of the darkness let the Light Arise.”

From the second point of the Adeptus Minor ritual.

Speech of C. A. "I am the R and the L."

The Speech of the Chief Adept in part 3 of the Adeptus Minor ritual.

---

[112] Op. cit. all this material is worked out in simplified and fairly complete detail in Gerald Schueler’s Enochian Magic: A Practical Manual. (St. Paul MN: Llewellyn, 1986).

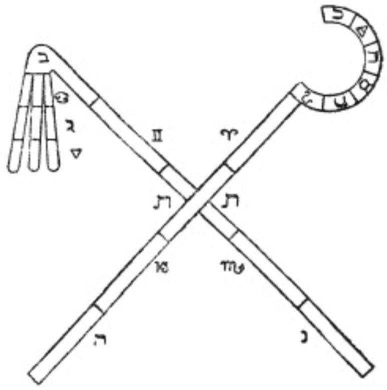
> I am the Resurrection and the Life: he that believeth in me, though he were dead, yet shall he live, and whosoever liveth and believeth on me, shall never die.

This is almost verbatim from John 11:25-26.

> I am the resurrection, and the life: he that believeth in me, though he were dead, yet shall he live: And whosoever liveth and believeth in me shall never die.

The speech makes the subtle change to "believeth on me" which is a phrase used by Jesus in other parts of the Gospel of John (6:47 & 7:38).

"Draw crook and scourge on tal(isman) and shroud it again."



The Crook and Scourge.

"EX. DEO. NASCIMUR."
"IN. JEHESHVA. MORIMUR."
"PER. S. S. REVIVISCIMUS."

This phrase used in the Adeptus Minor degree is from the Fama Fraternitatis.[113] The legend has it that when the body of Christian Rosecreutz was discovered, a parchment titled book T was found atop his body. It contained this elogium. Literally translated it means:

From God we are born.
In Jesus we die.
By the Holy Spirit we are restored to life.

---

[113] A.E. Waite, The Real History of the Rosicrucians. (London: George Redway, 1887). chap. III.

“Invoke the Light to abide both above and below the tablet. (As in 5°=6$^{\square}$)”

What is meant here is not entirely clear. If the sequence of events in the Adeptus Minor ritual is being followed, this would refer to be the speeches of the second and third adepts, with their allusion to the Book of Revelation (adapted and inspired by vv. 12:3-13 through 13:1-10 and 1:12-16 respectively) and the images painted on the lid of the pastos.[114] For although the speeches describe the powers below first and the powers above second, the diagram has them in the order given in this instruction.

> Second Adept : Behold the Image [directing attention to lower half of 1id] of the Justified One, crucified on the Cross of the Infernal Rivers of Death, and thus rescuing Malkuth from the Folds of the Red Dragon.
>
> Third Adept : And being turned [directing attention to upper half] I saw seven golden light-bearers, and in the midst of the seven light-bearers, one like unto the Ben Adam, clothed with a garment down unto the foot, and girt with a golden girdle. His head and His hair were white as snow, and His eyes as flaming fire. His feet like unto fine brass as if they burned in a furnace and His voice as the sound of many waters. And He had in His right hand Seven Stars, and out of His Mouth went the Sword of Flame, and His countenance was as the sun in its strength.

“Speech of C. A.”

Speech of the Chief Adept, following the sequence in the ritual this would be:

> “I am the First and I am the Last, I am He that liveth but was dead, and behold I am alive for evermore, and hold the keys of Hell and of Death.”

This is again adapted from the Book of Revelation, combining phrases from vv. 1:17 (also 22:13) and 1:18; themselves derived from Isaiah 44:6 & 48:12.

“Tab(let) to altar. Crook and scourge again.”

Tablet taken to the altar is the equivalent of the candidate being led to the vault. This emphasizes that each Watchtower aka Tablet is to be consecrated individually.

---

[114] For a detailed explanation of the image of the dragon see S.L. MacGregor Mathers (Frater D.D.C.F.), “Flying Roll X.” in Francis King ed. Astral Projection, Ritual Magic and Alchemy. (Rochester VT: Destiny, 1987), pp. 131-140.

"Speech of C. A. from East. (~~? C.A. Consecrating Adept~~. T.)"

This is the Chief Adept not the Consecrating Adept. This confirms the sequencing of the previous speeches; as the next speech, given by the Chief Adept in the ritual, is explicitly given from the East.

> For I know that my Redeemer liveth, and that he shall stand at the latter day upon the Earth. I am the Way, the Truth and the Life, no man cometh unto the Father but by Me. I am the Purified, I have passed through the Gates of Darkness unto Light, I have fought upon Earth for Good, I have finished my Work, I have entered into the Invisible. I am the Sun in his rising. I have passed through the hour of cloud and of night. I am Amoun, the Concealed One, the Opener of the Day. I am Osiris Onnophris, the Justified One. I am the Lord of Life triumphant over Death, there is no part of Me that is not of the Gods. I am the Preparer of the Pathway; the Rescuer unto the Light. Out of the Darkness let that Light arise!

"For I know that my Redeemer liveth,"

Job 19:25.

"I am the Way, the Truth and the Life, no man cometh unto the Father but by Me." John 14:6.

The remainder of this text is a Golden Dawn adaptation of Egyptian formulae found in the Book of the Dead and the Pyramid texts.[115] "Osiris Onnophris" is Asar un nefer ("myself made perfect according to Crowley's 'translation' in Liber Samekh).[116] Here again Osiris and Christ are being equated with the dying and rising god formula of Frazer.[117] The full Golden Dawn elaboration of the idea can be found in "The Magical Invocation of the Higher Genius."[118]

"+ on Tab. Lifted."

Cross over Table, i.e. Watchtower and the Watchtower elevated, probably above the head. This equates, in the ritual, to the candidate arising from his kneeling position.

---

[115] E.A. Wallis Budge, The Book of the Dead. (London: Kegan Paul, 1895), and Egyptian Heaven and Hell 2 vols. (London: Kegan Paul, 1905).

[116] Crowley, Magick in Theory and Practice. op. cit. pp. 265-293.

[117] Frazer, Golden Dawn. op. cit.

[118] Equinox v. I. n. 3. op. cit. pp. 197-206.

“I receive thee as a Brother of the Cross and Rose, in that Sign of Rectitude and of Self-Sacrifice.”

The reception of the Aspirant, and reference to the sign of Osiris Slain.

(to Aspirant) Arise now as an Adeptus Minor of the Rose of Ruby and the Cross of Gold, in the sign of Osiris Slain.

We receive thee as an Adeptus Minor in the Sign Rectitude and Sacrifice.

“With R(ose) C(ross) touch tablet in 3 places.”

A further reiteration of the symbol of the 3 wounds of Christ, as in the stigmata previously applied. In the actual ritual of the Adeptus Minor, this consists of three sets of triangles formulated upon the Aspirant.

“Words as 5 $\underline{6}$ 6 (Note. i.e as in the $5^{\circ}=6^{\square}$ ceremony of the Golden Dawn, as published in the Equinox and in Regardie's Golden Dawn. T.)”

This would seem to be a typographical error for 5=6; it makes no sense regarding either the number of letters or values of any of the words associated with the Adeptus Minor degree. The words actually given in the ritual, corresponding to this point in the consecration are the ‘Analysis of the Key Word:’

I.
N.
R.
I.
Yod.
Nun.
Resh.
Yod.
Virgo, Isis, Mighty Mother.
Scorpio, Apophis, Destroyer.
Sol, Osiris, Slain and Risen.
Isis, Apophis, Osiris, I. A. O.
(The Sign of Osiris Slain.) The Sign of Osiris Slain.
L. The Sign of the Mourning of Isis. (with bowed head)

V. The Sign of Typhon and Apophis (head erect)
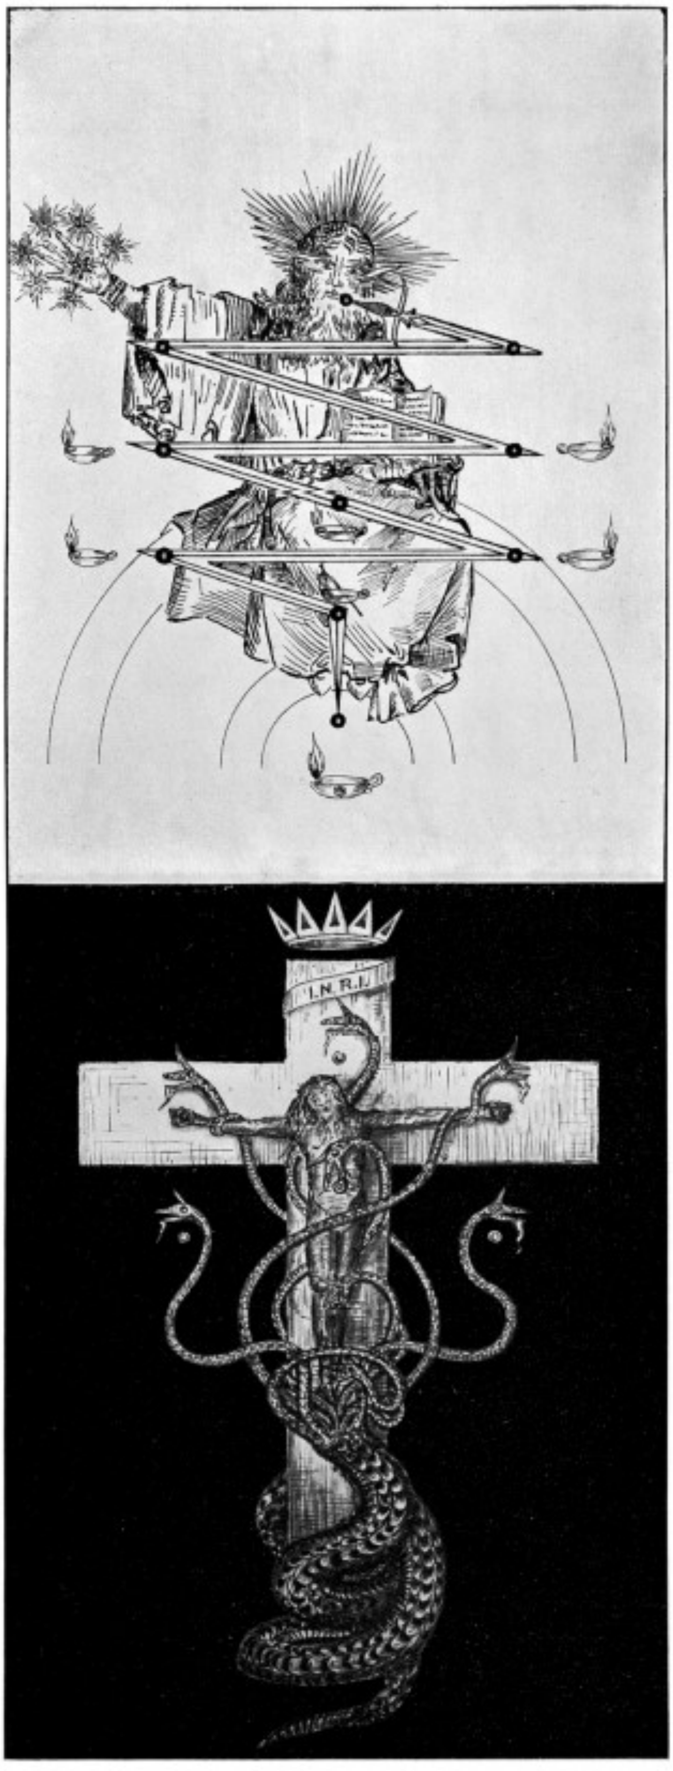
X. Isis, Apophis, Osiris, I.AO.
They give the saluting Sign with heads bowed. A pause.



The Lid of the Pastos.

“(Note. i.e. as in the $5^{\circ}=6^{\square}$ ceremony of the Golden Dawn, as published in the Equinox and in Regardie's Golden Dawn. T.)”

This entire analysis is based on a comparison of these two versions. The Equinox edition clearly represents an earlier version, but Regardie’s in the Golden Dawn is more thorough in its detail.

“Seal in mystic numbers and words.”

> The Password. EHEIEH (אהיה), which in this degree is lettered.
>
> The Mystic number of this Grade is 21, the Heptad multiplied by the Triad; and from it is derived the Password of this grade which is EHEIEH, which should be lettered separately when given thus:
>
> Aleph.
> Heh.
> Yod
> Heh.

“Draw Sephirotic crosses; mothers; planets and signs to show colour.”

This is the place in the Adeptus Minor ritual where the Aspirant is presented with the lecture on the symbols of the degree and their meaning. First is presented the Minutum Mundum or Tree of Life and its complex set colour schemes. This is followed by the attribution of the three mother letters of the Hebrew alephabet, the letters attributed to the planets and finally those attributed to the signs of the Zodiac all with their colour attributions.

This lecture is paralleled here. The Sephirotic crosses are a distinctive part of the Golden Dawn’s system of Enochian symbolism that attributes the 10 squares in each of the sixteen Calvary Crosses (four per Watchtower). This can be seen from example of the ‘Great Watchtower of the East, attributed to Air’ found in Liber Chanokh pt. 1 (on the page following). The four subquadrants of a given Watchtower proceed, one each, from the four corners of that Watchtower. Each subquadrant is subdivided by a Calvary Cross of ten squares. The ten squares of each Calvary, or in Golden Dawn terminology Sephirotic, Cross are attributed to the ten Sephiroth of the Tree of Life as follows:

		1
5	3	6	2	4
		7
		8 9
		10

Similarly, the planets and signs of the Zodiac are attributed to the squares of the 24 Seniors (six per Watchtower), as shown in Regardie's Golden Dawn:

Linea Dei Patris Filiique
Cardinal Signs
Mutable Signs
ו ה
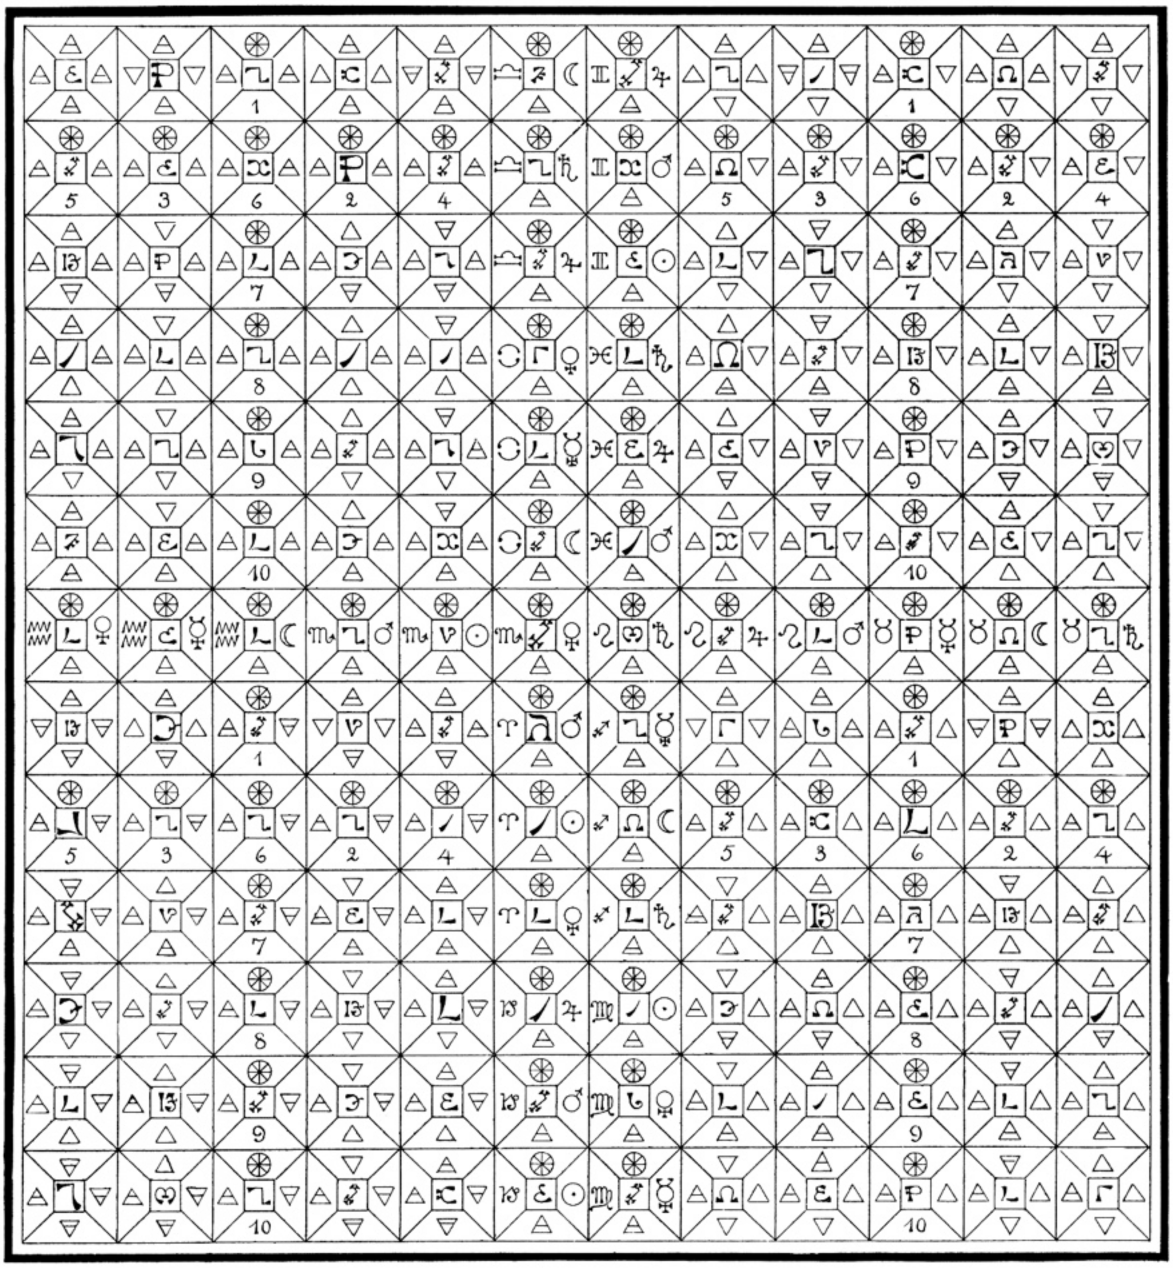
2 Sw
8 Sw
3 Sw
9 Sw
4 Sw
10 Sw
2 Cups
8 Cups
3 Cups
9 Cups
4 Cups
10 Cups
Linea Spiritus Sanctus
5 Sw
6 Sw.
7 Sw.
5 Cups
6 Cups
7 Cups
Kerubic or Fixed Signs
י
ה

THE GREAT WATCH-TOWER OF THE EAST, ATTRIBUTED TO AIR.



The meaning of the three mothers is not entirely clear in this explanation, but they do correspond to the colour attributions of the elements used in the Watchtowers, save for the normal minor confusion regarding the colour/colours attributed to Earth. This explanation would give the basis for all of the colour attributions in the complex schema applied to the individual squares of the Watchtowers, in the fully elaborated system. The method of making these attributions is given in Mathers' On the Concourse of the Forces and in Regardie et al's Complete Golden Dawn System of Magic.[119]

"Again, draw crook and scourge and finally the diagrams of the Serpent and the Lightning flash on the Tree of Life."

As before.

"Thus, from the Darkness, and the Valley hast thou climbed the Mystic Mountain of Abiegnus."

In Rosicrucian lore, Mount Abiegnus is the mountain, whereon is the cave, wherein is the Tomb of Christian Rosencreutz. Abiegnus literally means fir or conifer.

> ". . . for this also is like the Rosicrucian mountain of Abiegnus and the mystic Fir-Cone, a mystery enfolded within and without by many meanings."
>
> A.E. Waite, Hidden Church of the Holy Graal.[120]

The source of Abiegnus as the name of the mysterious Rosicrucian mountain is somewhat obscure. One of the earliest references to Monte Abiegno can be found in the treatise entitled Aureum Seculum Redivivum (lit. The Golden Age Revived), ascribed to one Henricus Madathanus or Theosophus. The author was, in fact, the German alchemist Adrian von Mynsicht (1603-1638, if even that was his real name) and written circa 1621.[121]

The text was republished several times and eventually translated into English and published by Franz Hartmann as Cosmology or Universal Science, Containing the Mysteries of the Universe, explained according to the Religion of Christ by the Secret Symbols of the Rosicrucians

---

[119] On the Concourse of the Forces pt. 1 in Regardie, Golden Dawn, op. cit pp. 630-659, and Regardie et al, "The Enochian System" in Israel Regardie*, Complete Golden Dawn System of Magic.* (Tempe AZ: New Falcon, 1984), v. 10: pp. 17-52 show the method in detail. Crowley's Liber Chanokh pt. 1 op. cit. and Schueler, Enochian Magic. op. cit. provide some of the method, but are chiefly important for demonstrating how the method is applied in the actual construction and application of the Watchtower system.

[120] A.E. Waite, The Hidden Church of the Holy Graal. (London: Rebman, 1909), p. 560.

[121] In the Musaeum Hermeticum. (Frankfurt: Lucas Jennis, 1625) and reprinted in Geheime Figuren Der Rosenkreuzer (Altona J.D.A. Eckhardt, 1785).

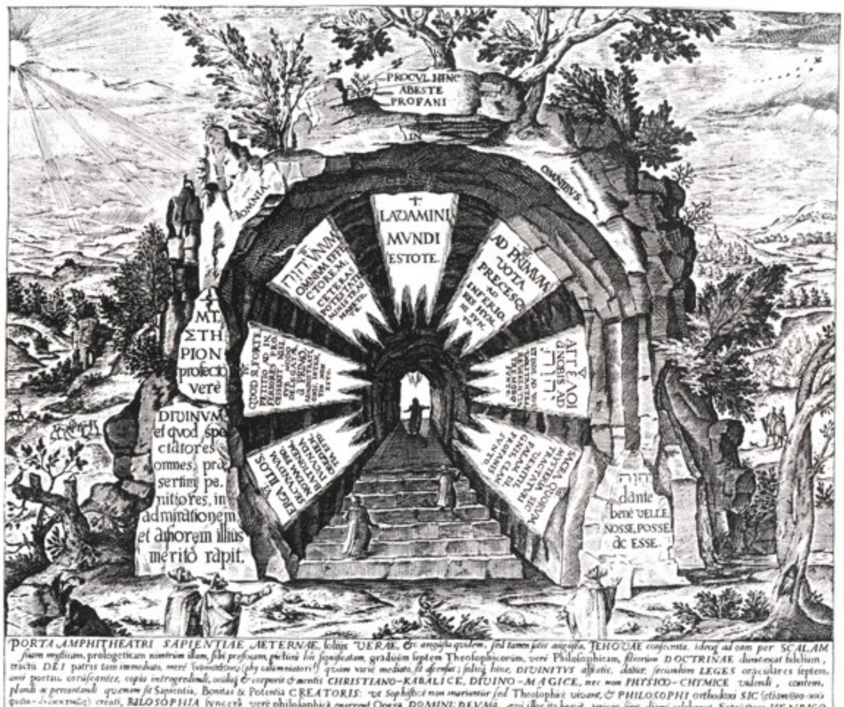
IGNIS.
AERIS.
AQVÆ.
TERRÆ.
TINCTUR.
COAGULATION.
DISTILLATION.
PUTREFACTION.
SOLUTION.
SUBLIMATION.
CALTINATION.



PROCUL HINC ABESTE PROFANI
LAVAMINI MUNDI ESTOTE.
AD PRIMUM VOTA PRECESQ.
DIVINUM et quod spectatores omnes, præsertim pe. nitiores, in admirationem et amorem illius meritò rapit.
dante bene VELLE NOSSE, POSSE dc ESSE.
PORTA AMPHITHEATRI SAPIENTIAE AETERNAE, solius VERAE, &c angusta quidem, sed tamen satis augusta, IEHOVAE consecrata. ideoq ad eam per SCALAM suam mysticam, prologeticam nimirum illam, sibi professam, picturâ hîc significatam, graduum septem Theosophicorum, verè Philosophicam, filiorum DOCTRINAE, dum tractu DEI patris tam immediato, ... DIVINITUS ... LEGES oracularis septem, ... CHRISTIANO-KABALICE, DIVINO-MAGICE, nec non PHYSICO-CHYMICE ... Sapientia, Bonitas & Potentia CREATORIS: ... PHILOSOPHI orthodoxi SIC ... PHILOSOPHIA syncerâ verè philosophicâ enarrent Opera DOMINI: DEUMq., qui illos ita beavit amicos suos, dignè celebrent. Extructore HENRICO KHUNRATH LIPS. Theosophiæ amatore fideli, & MEDICINAE vtriusq; DOCTORE. ANNO â JHSVH CHRISTO nato M. DC.II.

Images of the Mysterious Rosicrucian Mountain otherwise simply Secret Symbols of the Rosicrucians.[122]

In the RR et AC ritual of the Golden Dawn the name took on a spurious and convoluted etymology:

> Mountain of the Caverns, the Mystic Mountain of Abiegnus. The meaning of this title of Abiegnus - Abi-Agnus, Lamb of the Father. It is by metathesis Abi-Genos, Born of the Father. Bia-Genos, Strength of our race, and the four words make the sentence: ABIEGNUS ABIAGNUS ABI-GENOS BIA-GENOS. "'Mountain of the Lamb of the Father, and the Strength of our Race."

For Crowley, the legend was of central importance.

> In Abiegnus the Sacred Mountain of the Rosicrucians the Postulant finds but a coffin in the central shrine; yet that coffin contains Christian Rosencreutz who is dead and is alive for evermore and hath the keys of Hell and of Death.
>
> The Soldier and the Hunchback.[123]

> There will I lay myself and await thee, even as our Father Christian Rosenkreutz that laid himself in the Pastos in the Vault of the Mountain of the Caverns, Abiegnus, on whose portal did he cause to be written the words, "Post Lux Crucis Annos Patebo." So, Thou wilt enter in (as did Frater N. N. and his companions) and open the Pastos; and with thy Winged Globe thou wilt touch the Rosy Cross upon my breast, and I shall wake into life - the true life that is Union with Thee. So therefore - perinde ac cadaver - I await Thee. John St. John.[124]

Liber XIII vel Graduum Montis Abiegni (literally the Grades of the Mountain Abiegnus) laid out Crowley's plan for his reformulated Golden Dawn, as part of his A∴ A∴, retaining its summit at the Adeptus Minor degree with the 'Knowledge and Conversation of the Holy Guardian Angel.'[125]

---

[122] Franz Hartmann, Cosmology or Universal Science, Containing the Mysteries of the Universe, explained according to the Religion of Christ by the Secret Symbols of the Rosicrucians. (Boston MA: Occult Publishing, 1888). See also Westcott's "Introduction" to F. Leigh Gardner's A Catalogue Raisonné of the Works on the Occult Sciences. v. I.: Rosicrucian Books. (London: Green, Limpus, 1903) and The Rosicrucians: Past and Present, at Home and Abroad. A Lecture presented at the S.R.I.A. in London n.d. (Mokelumne Hill CA: Health Research, 1966) on the transmission of Rosicrucian documents, and Charles Cicero, "The Rosicrucian Vault: A Compendium of the Universal Unity." lecture, Canonbury Masonic Research Center, London: Nov. 15, 2006.

[123] Equinox v. I n. 1. op. cit. pp. 127.

[124] Ibid. special supp. p. 74.

The Thelemic Holy Book Liber Cheth vel Vallum Abiegni identifies Abiegnus with the Graal myth,[126] implicitly identifying Mount Abiegnus with Montsalavat (the mountain of salvation), whose covering of impenetrable forest correlates to the conifers that define Abiegnus.[127]

Abiegnus plays an abiding role in Konx Om Pax, a work largely devoted to Crowley's construal of the Golden Dawn and his experiences in it. In the fantasy devoted to ascending the Tree of Life he describes it thus:

> Mons Abiegnus v. Cavernarum
> You see the Sixth House is really in a mountain called Mount Abiegnus, only one doesn't see it because one goes through indoors all the way.
>
> Liber XCV – The Wake World part II.[128]

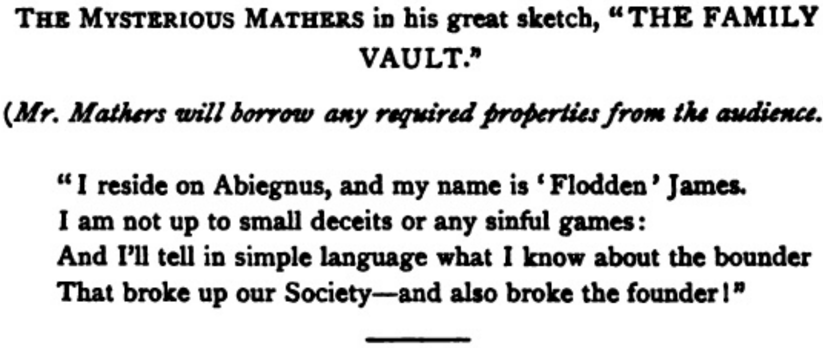
In his satire on the Golden Dawn, Ali Sloper and the Forty Liars,[129] also contained in Konx Om Pax, Crowley uses the Vault of the Adepti and its identification with Mount Abiegnus to lampoon Mathers.[130]



THE MYSTERIOUS MATHERS in his great sketch, "THE FAMILY VAULT."

(Mr. Mathers will borrow any required properties from the audience.)

"I reside on Abiegnus, and my name is 'Flodden' James.
I am not up to small deceits or any sinful games:
And I'll tell in simple language what I know about the bounder
That broke up our Society—and also broke the founder!"

Finally, the volume of the Konx Om Pax concludes with the epitome of Crowley's philosophical wit and poetic sarcasm in The Stone of the Philosophers which is in Abiegnus, the Rosicrucian Mountain of Initiation.[131] Scoffing at, and in turn acknowledging, with grudged admiration, his experience in the Golden Dawn. It is important to note that this little tome was penned during the intermediary period between the Mexican Æthyrs and the beginning of his Algerian adventure with Victor Neuburg which would conclude the momentous work of the Vision and the Voice.

---

[125] Equinox v. I. n. 3. op. cit. pp. 3-8.

[126] This presumption does not originate with Crowley. As seen above, Waite makes it is as well. For a detailed comparison of the relationship of the two legends see John Matthews, "The Grail and the Rose," in The Rosicrucian Enlightenment, Revisited. Ralph White ed. (Hudson NY: Steiner,1999), pp. 25-41.

[127] Aleister Crowley, Liber Cheth vel Vallum Abiegni, sub figura CLVII in The Equinox v. I. n. 6. (London: Wieland & Co., 1911), pp. 23-27.

[128] Aleister Crowley, The Wake World (Liber XCV) in Konx Om Pax. (London: Walter Scott, 1907), pp. 12-15.

[129] Cf. Katherine D. Jones "Will the Real Ali Sloper Please Stand Up." Coph Nia Wand (Winter, 2015).

[130] Ali Sloper and the Forty Liars in ibid. p. 28.

[131] The Stone of the Philosophers which is Hidden in the Mountain of Abiegnus in ibid. pp. 69-108.

Twice in the Vision and the Voice Crowley would return to the importance of Mount Abiegnus:

> And this is the secret of the brothers of the Rosy Cross; and this is the heart of the ritual that is accomplished in the Vault of the Adepts that is hidden in the Mountain of the Caverns, even the Holy Mountain Abiegnus.
>
> - LOE, the 12nd Æthyr.

And in his reformation of the Key of the Æthyrs in ARN.

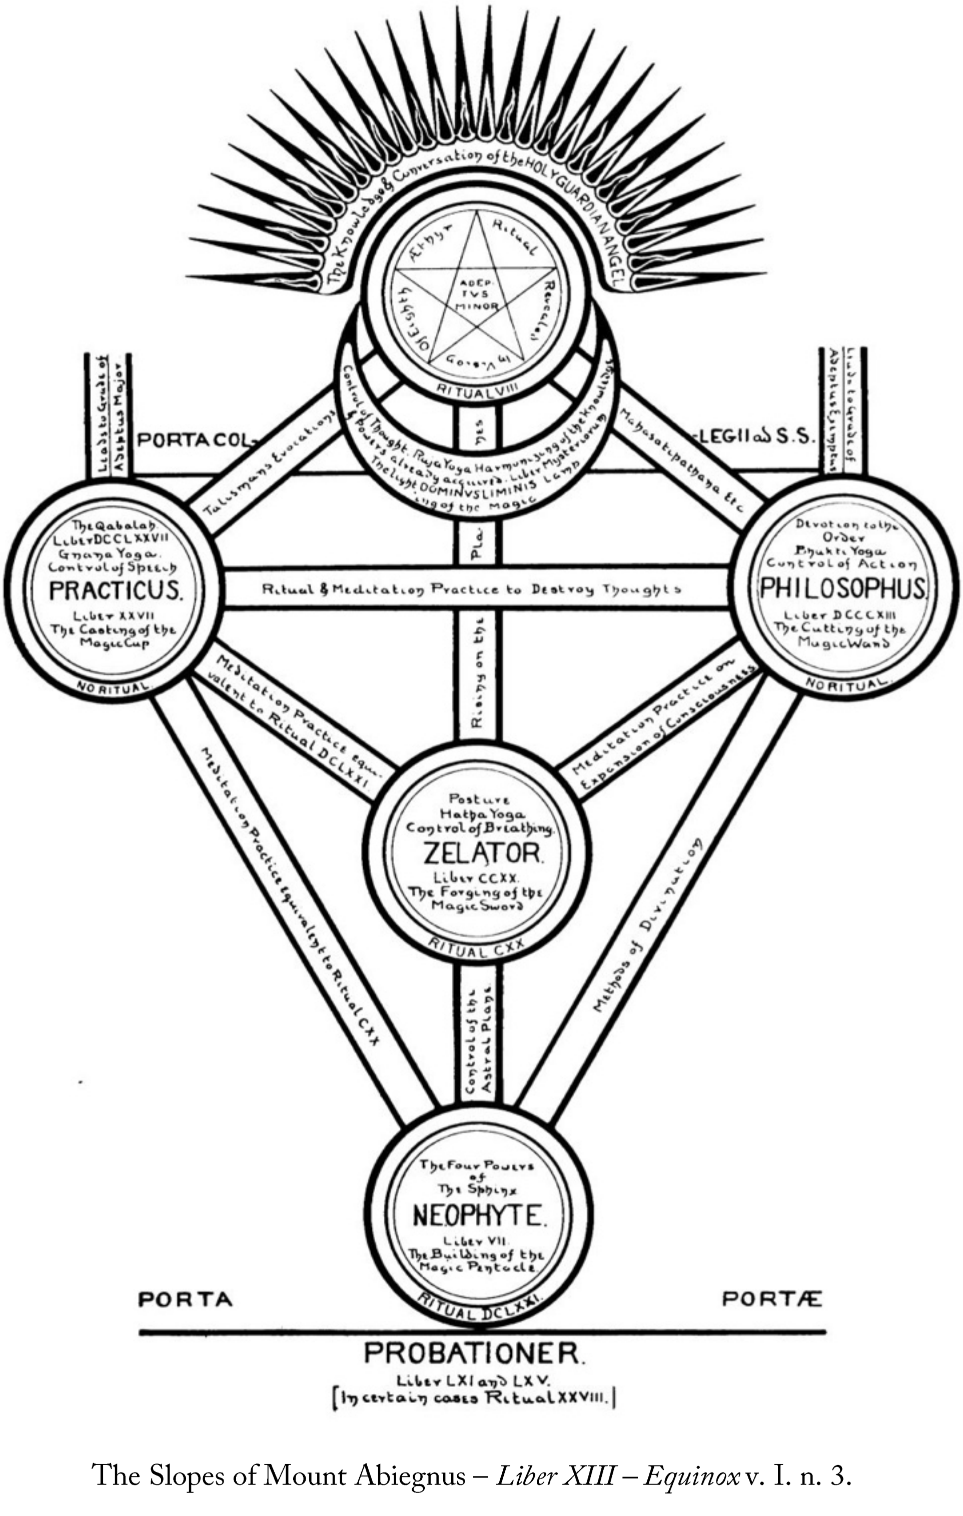
> His building, let it be a cave for the Beast of the Field. ("His building" means the Vault of the Adepts, and the "Cave" is the Cave of the Mountain of Abiegnus, and the "Beast" is he upon whom BABALON rideth, and the "Field" is the supernal Eden.)
>
> - ARN the 2nd Æthyr.

"For about the Throne of the mighty One is a Rainbow of Glory and at his Feet the Crystal Sea."

Adapted from Revelation 4:2-6, et passim. This is an important passage from the point of view of the Enochian system, for the four beasts and the 24 elders that are about this throne play essential roles in the hierarchy of the Watchtowers. The Kings of the Watchtowers represent the beasts and the six seniors (on each Watchtower) symbolize the wings of each of these kings or beasts.

"Therefore do I affirm thee Hodos Camelionis;"

> "And therefore do I greet thee with the Mystic Title of Hodos Chamelionis, the Path of the Chamelion, the Path of Mixed Colours,"



The Knowledge & Conversation of the HOLY GUARDIAN ANGEL
Æthyr
Ritual Revealed
in Vision
Of Eighth
ADEPTVS MINOR
RITUAL VIII
Control of Thought. Raja Yoga Harmonising of the Knowledge & Powers already acquired. Liber Mysteriorum The light DOMINVS LIMINIS Lamp
…ing of the Magic
Yes
Pla.
Rising on the Leads to Grade of Adeptus Major Leads to Grade of Adeptus Exemptus PORTA COL-
-LEGII ad S.S.
Talismans Evocations
Mahasatipatthana etc
The Qabalah
Liber DCCLXXVII
Gnana Yoga.
Control of Speech
PRACTICUS.
Liber XXVII
The Casting of the Magic Cup
NO RITUAL.
Ritual & Meditation Practice to Destroy Thoughts Devotion to the Order
Bhakti Yoga
Control of Action
PHILOSOPHUS.
Liber DCCCXIII
The Cutting of the Magic Wand
NO RITUAL.
Meditation Practice equivalent to Ritual DCLXXI.
Meditation Practice on Expansion of Consciousness
Meditation Practice equivalent to Ritual CXX
Methods of Divination Posture
Hatha Yoga
Control of Breathing.
ZELATOR.
Liber CCXX.
The Forging of the Magic Sword
RITUAL CXX
Control of the Astral Plane
The Four Powers of The Sphinx NEOPHYTE.
Liber VII.
The Building of the Magic Pentacle.
RITUAL DCLXXI.
PORTA
PORTÆ PROBATIONER.
Liber LXI and LXV.
[In certain cases Ritual XXVIII.]

The Slopes of Mount Abiegnus – Liber XIII – Equinox v. I. n. 3.

Hodos Camelionis is Latinized from the Greek ὁδός χαμαιλέων, literally “the path, way or journey of the ground lion,” but intended to simply mean “the Path of the Chameleon,” a reptile famous for its ability to change color at will.

Crowley, in Magick Without Tears, has this to say about the title:

> In the R.R. et A.C., this is indicated to the Adept Minor by the title conferred upon him on his initiation to that grade: Hodos Camelionis: - the Path of the Chameleon. (This emphasizes the omnivalence of the force.) In the higher degrees of O.T.O.— the A.'.A.'. is not fond of terms like this, which verge on the picturesque - it is usually called "the Ophidian Vibrations," thus laying special stress upon its serpentine strength, subtlety, its control of life and death, and its power to insinuate itself into any desired set of circumstances. Magick Without Tears IX[132]

And in Absinthe, The Green Goddess:

> The veil of the Temple, too, was of many colors. We find, further east, that the Manipura cakkra -- the Lotus of the City of Jewels -- which is an important centre in Hindu anatomy, and apparently identical with the solar plexus, is the central point of the nervous system of the human body, dividing the sacred from the profane, or the lower from the higher.
>
> In western Mysticism, once more we learn that the middle grade of initiation is called Hodos Camelionis, the Path of the Cameleon; there is here evidently an allusion of this same mystery. We also learn that the middle stage in Alchemy is when the liquor becomes opalescent.
>
> “Absinthe - The Green Goddess.” [133]

“thine is the symbol of The River Hiddequel.”

> “. . . and I give thee the Symbol of Hiddekel, the Third River which floweth towards the cast of Assiah.”

The River Hiddequel (777: LVI. 11), Hiddikel or Hiddekel (הדקל) from the Accadian, the river Idikla; this is the modern Tigris river. It is one of the four rivers proceeding from Paradise in Genesis 2:14.

---

[132] Crowley, Magick Without. op. cit.

[133] “Absinthe - The Green Goddess.” The International. v. xii. n. 2 (New York: International, February 1918), pp. 47-51.

The Golden Dawn attributes these rivers to the four elements. They flow from the Supernals as Naher and are split at Daath; the Hiddekel flows into Tiphareth thus infusing Tiphareth with the power of the Supernals. As the Adeptus Minor degree is attributed to Tiphareth, so the Hiddekel is that river that provides the flow of energy, from on high, to the Aspirant in that degree; similarly, in this place, that energy is being drawn into the Watchtowers. These rivers are also important as key elemental attributions that apply to the Watchtowers in the Golden Dawn system.

> And a River Naher went forth out of Eden, namely from the Supernal Triad, to water the Garden (the rest of the Sephiroth), and from thence it was divided into Four Heads in Daath, whence it is said 'To Daath the Depths are broken up and the clouds drop down dew."
>
> The first Head is PISON, which flows into Geburah (whence there is Gold.) It is the River of Fire. The Second Head is CIHON, the River of Waters; flowing into Chesed. The Third is HIDDEKEL, the River of Air, flowing into Tiphareth, and the Fourth which receiveth the virtues of the other three, is PHRATH, Euphrates, which floweth down upon the Earth. This River going forth out of Eden is the River of the Apocalypse, the Waters of Life, clear as crystal proceeding out of the Throne of God and the Lamb, on either side of which was the Tree of Life, bearing Twelve manner of Fruits. And thus do the Rivers of Eden form a Cross, and on that Cross the Great ADAM, the Son who was to rule the Nations with a Rod of Iron, is extended from Tiphareth and his arms stretch out to Gedulah and Geburah, and in Malkuth is Eve, Mother of all, the Completion of all, and above the Universe she supporteth with her hands the Etemal Pillars of the Sephiroth. As it was said to you in the Thirtieth Path, "And above the shoulders of that Great Goddess is Nature in her vastness exalted."
>
> The Garden of Eden before the Fall.[134]

"Remember thou, O Tablet of ___,"

The blank indicates, as usual, the element of the Watchtower in question.

---

[134] Op. cit.

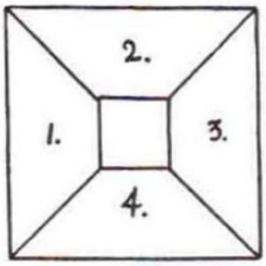
“thou who unitest Sphinx and Pyramid:”

> “The Keys of the Governance and Combinations of the Squares of the Tablets. They are the Sphynx and the Pyramid of Egypt; that is, the combination of the Kerubs being the Sphynx. The combination of the Elements being the Pyramid.”
>
> S.L. MacGregor Mathers. “Egyptian Pyramid God Forms”[135]

The Sphinx and the Pyramid represent one of the most elaborated parts of Golden Dawn’s Enochiana. This embellishment bears little, if any, correspondence to the system and materials received by Dee and Kelly. It does provide the Golden Dawn with a method of integrating and syncretizing the complexity of Hermetic and Apocalyptic symbols into the Watchtowers. In brief each square in each Watchtower was considered a pyramid. To each of the four sides of these pyramids was assigned a Yetziratic attribution, usually an element. In fact, most of the squares were composed of purely elemental attributions. From the four elemental attributions a Sphinx was formulated for each pyramid by taking the aspects of the tetramorph, that is the Man, the Eagle, the Bull and the Lion. The physical aspects are assigned according the position of the element on the pyramid thus:



1. Head
2. Upper torso and wingedness
3. Lower torso & limbs
4. Tail

The method is given, in detail, in On the Concourse of the Forces, part 1.[136]

“remember this my Temple and my tomb: for it is the Chamber of the King.”

The Chamber of the King is the central feature of the Great Pyramid at Giza. Along with the underlying pyramidal scheme for attributing the individual squares of the Watchtowers, the Golden Dawn also associated these pyramids with Egyptian gods and the godforms of the officers in their initiation rituals. This process was also integrated into the Golden Dawn's Rosicrucian or Enochian chess.[137]

---

[135] This is instruction X of the Adeptus Minor Curriculum, cf. Regardie, Golden Dawn. op. cit. p. 43 et passim.

[136] Regardie, Golden. op. cit. pp. 630 et passim.

"I now formulate upon thee the grip of the Grade,"

> Frater (vel Soror) I now greet you with the grip of this Grade which is given thus. (shows it) The fingers of the right hand are held so as to form the letters L. V. X. The thumb and first fingers are stretched to form the letter L The first and middle fingers are extended to suggest the V. The little finger is crossed over the third finger to make X.
>
> This may be done with both hands, and is always exchanged by placing the hands, with fingers thus arranged, over the wrist of the Frater or Soror being greeted. You will note that this grip must never be exchanged except across the Pastos.[138]

"and do now declare in the Name of the Lord of the Universe,"

The Lord of the Universe is a title (usually unnamed, in spite of the use of the phrase "in the Name of") in many of the Golden Dawn's rituals and degrees, particularly in the context of the rituals of the Adepti.

"that thou art duly consecrated, and prepared as a pure and pleasant dwelling for the Names and Forces Divine, Archangelic, Angelic, Elemental or Demonic in you duly written and illuminated."

This is a specific set of hierarchies corresponding to the Golden Dawn's method of drawing names from the Watchtowers, not the traditional qabalistic hierarchies that the titles might, at first, appear to imply.

Divine: The divine names consist of the names drawn from the Great Cross of each Watchtower, i.e. the 3 Banner names, the central King, and 6 Seniors assigned to that Watchtower, as well as the vertical name (of six letters) and the horizontal name (of five letters) drawn from the four Calvary or Sephirotic crosses that divide the Watchtower into subquadrants.

---

[137] Pt. 2. Regardie, Golden Dawn. op. cit., pp. 659-670. See also the Adeptus Minor instructions Y1 and Y2, "Enochian Chess and Chaturanga" by W. Wynn Wescott and S.L. MacGregor Mathers and "Enochian Chess and Tarot" by S.L. MacGregor Mathers, respectively, as well as "Enochian Chess - Pyramid God Forms by S.L. MacGregor Mathers." HOGD Hermetic Order of the Golden Dawn: Alpha Ωmega Rosicrucian Mystery School. 2017: www.golden-dawn.com. Updated and detailed analysis can be found in Chris Zalewski's Enochian Chess of the Golden Dawn. (St. Paul MN: Llewellyn, 1994) and Israel Regardie et al, The Complete Golden Dawn System of Magic. op. cit. v. 10. pp. 33-37 & 98-128.

[138] Ibid. p. 246.

Archangelic: The Archangels are drawn from the four squares above the horizontal of the Sephirotic Cross, with the addition of the appropriate letter from the Tablet of Union.

Angelic: The Angels, strictly speaking, are of two kinds: the Cherubs, drawn from the four squares above the horizontal of the Sephirotic Cross, and what are deemed the Ruling Angels, drawn from the four letters on either side of the Sephirotic Cross, below the horizontal, with the addition of the appropriate letter from the Tablet of Union.

Elemental: The Elementals are the names drawn from the four letters on either side of the Sephirotic Cross, below the horizontal.

Demonic: These are the Cacodemons, they are of three letters each. Two letters are taken from the two letters each from either side of the vertical of the Sephirotic Cross below the vertical, with the addition of the appropriate letter from the Tablet of Union.

“Come away! and make us partakers of the Wisdom Undefiled.”

A paraphrase of the conclusion of several of the Angelic Keys or Calls.

“Close as in $5^\circ=6^\square$.”

As in the opening, it is difficult to ascertain exactly how elaborate this closing was meant to be. It is likely that all that was intended was the knocks, the words and actions of the closing - as given in Temple of Solomon the King.

וווו ו
“Post centum viginti annos patebo.”
Thus have I closed the Vault of the Adepts, in the Mystic Mountain of Abiegnus.
Ex Deo Nascimur
In Jeheshuah Morimur.
Give the LVX sign in silence.

This ritual was almost certainly Crowley’s first foray into the world of Enochian magick. He would use and apply the Enochian system throughout much of his magical career, and it would serve as the key and catalyst to many of his most successful magical endeavors.

In the end he would have this to say in Magick Without Tears:

Before closing the subject entirely, I think it well to point out that there are quite a number of worlds on which a good deal of work remains to be done. In particular, I cannot refrain from mentioning the work of Dr. Dee and Sir Edward Kelly. My own work on this subject has been so elaborate and extensive that I shall never sufficiently regret that I never had an opportunity of completing it, but I should like to emphasize that the obtaining of a book like Liber 418 is in itself so outstanding an achievement that it should serve as an encouragement to all Magicians.

A RITUAL TO EVOKE THE SPIRITS OF SATURN

As previously discussed, there are three rituals included in the typescript titled The Book of the Spirit of the Living God.[139] Two (the Consecration of a High Priest of L.I.L. and the Consecration of the Watchtowers) are fully formed and complete. This ritual, which is actually the first of the three given in the typescript, seems to be missing its preceding page or pages. It begins (in lower case) with the line "in Malkuth: ye, ye I invoke!" This 'opening' lacks any of the descriptive formalities that mark Crowley or other Golden Dawn rituals of the period, such as a title, preliminary banishing etc.

In point of fact, this ritual is an application of the Golden Dawn's Z.2 formula for Practical Evocation.[140] It follows the outline set forth in that instruction, almost exactly. This Z.2. instruction is divided into 23 lettered directions, from A to W. These are chronological steps in the Golden Dawn's method of evocation.[141] The apparently missing page or pages of this typescript (or possibly the manuscript from which the typescript was made) would have covered Crowley's application of these directions from A through the middle of J. With very minor deviations, this ritual can be seen to outline every step of the evocation instruction, applying the general method given to specifically Saturnian attributions.

It may have been included as a model for the consecrations of the planetary talismans of L.I.L., but this seems doubtful, as the sigilae in this ritual are drawn from the Golden Dawn's Rose Cross and are not the traditional forms used on the talismans of L.I.L., which are taken mostly from the Agrippan Kamea.[142] What is most likely is that Crowley was once more studying the exercises and practices given in the Adeptus Minor curriculum.

What was originally included at the beginning is something of a mystery; it can be roughly reconstructed by applying the directions, to the portion not included in the typescript, on the same principles as they are applied to the rest of the ritual.[143] An examination of Crowley's Jupiter Talisman and Invisibility rituals, which date from the same period and are also based on the Z.2 series of instructions, can also provide insight into the missing section.[144]

---

[139] Crowley, Book of the Spirit of the Living God. op cit.

[140] The Z.2 instructions are based on the formula of the Neophyte ritual of the Golden Dawn, although sections are taken from other degrees preliminary to admission into the inner order of the RR et AC, and the instructions themselves were not given until admission into that inner order. "The Formula of the Neophyte" is discussed in detail by Crowley in "Temple of Solomon the King" in Equinox v. I. n. 3 op. cit. and in Magick in Theory and Practice. op. cit. chap. VI. et passim, also by Regardie in "The Formulae of the Magic of Light: An Introduction to the Practical Working of the Z.2 Formulae." Golden Dawn. op. cit., pp. 376-400.

[141] Cf. Regardie, Golden Dawn. op. cit., pp. 380-384

[142] Mathers' "Sigils of the Rose" in Zalewski, Talismans. op. cit. and Regardie, Golden Dawn. op. cit. pp. 482-486 et passim.

[143] "Talisman of Water of Jupiter with Ritual" Yorke OS 21. op. cit. and the nearly identical "Talisman of Fire of Jupiter Ritual." Equinox v. I. n. 3. op. cit., pp. 190-198; also "Invisibility." ibid. pp. 157-159.

Typographical and other minor problems in the original typescript have been corrected in this transcript, so that it is not as purely diplomatic as the previous transcriptions from the Book of the Spirit of the Living God. The original Golden Dawn instruction on "Practical Evocation,' from Equinox is provided, in side by side comparison, to show how closely the one follows the other. Sections A through J of "Practical Evocation" are given first, then the parallel comparison begins in section J. Crowley's Saturnian sigillae follow. Endnotes (indicated by Roman numerals) are provided for notable points or significant deviations.)

---

[144] Equinox v. I. n. 3 op. cit. pp. 190-198 & 272-279; cf. Regardie, Golden Dawn. op. cit. pp. 423-428.

י

BOOK I

PRACTICAL EVOCATION

A. The Magical Circle.

B. The Magician, wearing the great lamen of the Hierophant, and his scarlet robe. The Hierophant's lamen is on the back of a pentacle, whereon is engraved the sigil of the spirit to be invoked.

C. The Names and Formulae to be employed.

D. The symbol of the whole evocation.

E. The construction of the circle and the placing of all the symbols, &c., employed in the places proper allotted to them, so as to represent the interior of the G.'.D.'. Temple in the "Enterer": and the purification and consecration of the actual pieces of ground or place selected for the performance of the invocation.

F. The invocation of the Higher Powers. Pentacle formed by the concentric bands, name and sigil therein, in proper colours; is to be bound thrice with a cord, and shrouded in black, thus bringing into action a blind force, to be further directed or differentiated in the process of the ceremony. Announcement aloud of the object of the working, naming the Spirit or Spirits which it is desired to evoke. This is pronounced standing in the centre of the circle, and turning towards the quarter from which the Spirit will come.

G. The name and sigil of the spirit wrapped in a black cloth or covering is now placed within the circle, at the point corresponding to the West, representing the candidate. The Consecration, or Baptism by water and fire of the sigil then takes place: and the proclamation in a loud and firm voice of the spirit (or spirits) to be evoked.

H. The veiled sigil is now to be placed at the foot of the altar. The Magician then calls aloud the name of the spirit, summoning him to appear: stating for what purpose the spirit is evoked: what is desired in the operation : why the evocation is performed at this time: and finally solemnly affirming that the Spirit SHALL be evoked by the ceremony.

I. Announcement aloud that all is prepared for the commencement of the actual evocation. If it be a good Spirit the sigil is now to be placed within the white triangle. The Magician places his left hand upon it, raises in his right hand the magical implement employed (usually the sword of Art) erect, and commences the evocation of the Spirit. This being an exorcism of the Spirit unto visible appearance. The Magician stands in the place of the Hierophant during the obligation, and faces West irrespective of the particular quarter of the Spirit.

But if the Nature of the Spirit be evil, then the sigil must be placed without and to the West of the white triangle; and the Magician shall be careful to keep the point of the magic Sword upon the centre of the sigil.

J. Now let the Magician imagine himself as clothed outwardly with the semblance of the form of the Spirit to be evoked: and in this let him be careful not to identify himself with the Spirit, which would be dangerous, but only to formulate a species of Mask, worn for the time being. And if he know not the symbolic form of the Spirit, then let him assume the form of an angel belonging unto the same class of operation. This form being assumed, then let him pronounce aloud, with a firm and solemn voice, a convenient and potent oration and Exorcism of the Spirit unto visible appearance. At the conclusion of this exorcism, . . .

	in Malkuth: ye, ye I invoke!
J. . . .taking the covered sigil in his left hand, let him smite it thrice with the flat blade of the Magic Sword.	T(alisman) in l(eft) h(and). Smite three times flat of sword,
Then let him raise on high his arms to their utmost stretch, holding in his left hand the veiled sigil, and in his right the sword of Art erect,	raise in l(eft) h(and) and sword in r(ight) h(and).
at the same time stamping thrice upon the ground with his right foot.	Stamp three times r(ight)f(oot).
K. The veiled and covered sigil is then to be placed in the Northern part of the Hall, at the edge of the circle, and the Magician then employs the oration of the Hierophant from the throne of the East, modifying it slightly, as follows: "The Voice of the Exorcism said unto me; let me shroud myself in darkness, peradventure thus may I manifest myself in Light," &c.	T(alisman) to N(orth). "The Voice of the Exorcist" etc.
The Magician then proclaims aloud that the Mystic Circumambulation will take place.	M(ystic) C(ircumambulation).
L. The Magician takes up the sigil in his left hand, and circumambulates the magic circle once, then passes to the South and halts. He stands (having lain his sigil on the ground) between it and the West, repeats the oration of the Kerux, and again consecrates it with water and with fire. Then takes it in his hand, facing westward, saying: "Creature of . . . twice consecrate, thou mayest approach the Gate of the West."	Bar in S(outh), Water and Fire. In W(est)
M. The Magician now moves to the West of the magical circle, holds the sigil in his left hand and the Sword in his right, faces S. W., and again astrally masks himself with the Form of the Spirit: and for the first time partially opens the covering, without, however, entirely removing it.	half unveil
He then smites it once with the flat blade of his sword,	smite once.
saying in a loud, clear and firm voice: "Thou canst not pass from concealment unto manifestation, save by virtue of the Name אלהים	"Thou canst not pass from concealment unto manifestation save by virtue of the name of Elohim.

Before all things are the Chaos, and the Darkness, and the Gates of the Land of Night. I am he whose Name is 'Darkness':	Before all things are the Chaos and the Darkness and the Gates of the Land of Night: I am He whose Name is Darkness.
I am the Great One of the paths of the shades.	I am the Great One of the Paths of the Shades.
I am the Exorcist in the midst of the exorcism;	Ex. in Ex the (------------------------) (Short for 'I am Exorciser in the midst of the Exorcism. T.)[i] appear thou therefore without fear before me;	Appear thou therefore and take on manifestation without fear before me:
for I am he in whom fear is not! Thou hast known me; so pass thou on! "	for I am He in Whom Fear is not. Thou hast known me: so pass thou on.
He then reveils the sigil.	(Reveil):
N. Operations in L repeated at the North.	Bar in N(orth) Water and Fire.
O. Processes in M are repeated in the N.W. Magician then passes to the East, takes up sigil in left hand, and Lotus Wand in right*; assumes the mask of the Spirit-Form;* smites sigil with Lotus Wand and says:	In E(east): Half unveil smite once.
"Thou canst not pass from concealment unto manifestation save by virtue of the name יהוה.	Thou canst not pass etc. --: IHVH.
After the formless and the void and the Darkness, there cometh the knowledge of the Light. I am that Light which riseth in the Darkness! I am the Exorcist in the midst of the exorcism; appear thou therefore in harmonious form before me; for I am the wielder of the forces of the Balance. Thou hast known me now, so pass thou on unto the cubical altar of the Universe.	After the formless and the void and the darkness cometh the knowledge of the Light. I am that Light which riseth in the darkness. I am the Exorciser in the midst of the Exorcism. Take thou on therefore manifestation before me: for I am the Wielder of the Forces of the Bilanx.[ii] Thou hast known me: pass thou on unto the Cubical Altar of the Universe:
P. He then re-covers sigil and passes on to the altar laying it thereon as before shown. He then passes to the East of the Altar holding the sigil and sword as explained. Then doth he rehearse a most potent conjuration and invocation of that Spirit unto visible appearance, using and reiterating all the Divine angelic and magical names appropriate to this end, neither omitting the signs, seals, sigilla, lineal figures, signatures and the like, from that conjuration.	(Lay Sigil on Altar. Repeat previous conjurations with Sigils etc.).
Q. The Magician now elevates the covered sigil towards Heaven, removes the veil entirely (leaving it yet corded);	Raise T(alisman). and Unveil:

crying in a loud voice: "Creature of ... long hast thou dwelt in Darkness, quit the Night and seek the Day." He then replaces it on the altar, holds the magical sword erect above it, the pommel immediately above the centre thereof, and says: "By all the Names, powers, and rites already rehearsed, I conjure Thee thus unto visible appearance."	Creature of Talismans! Long hast thou dwelt in darkness! Quit the Night and seek the Day! By virtue of all the names etc. I conjure upon thee power and might irresistible.
Then the Mystic words.	KHABS AM PEKHT etc. (Note: Khabs Am Pekht, Konx Om Pax, Light in Extension. T.)
R. Saith the Magician: "As the Light hidden in the Darkness can manifest therefrom, SO SHALT THOU become manifest from concealment unto manifestation."	Lamp brought over T(alisman.)[iii] "As light hidden in darkness can manifest therefrom, so shalt thou become visible and manifest in matter".
He then takes up sigil, stands to the East of the Altar and faces West.	Go E(east) of Altar.
He shall then rehearse a long conjuration to the powers and Spirits immediately superior unto that one which he seeks to invoke*: that they shall force him to manifest himself unto visible appearance.*	The Supreme Appellation: Come unto me, ye forces of the Talisman, that I may seal ye into its flashing light!
He then places the sigil between the pillars, himself at the East facing West. Then in the sign of the Enterer doth he direct the whole current of his will upon the sigil. Thus he continueth until such time as he shall perceive his will-power to be weakening, when he protects himself from the reflex of the current by the sign of silence, and then drops his hands. He now looks towards the Quarter that the Spirit is to appear in, and he should now see the first signs of his visible manifestation.	Come unto me, O Lord Harpocrates!
If he be not thus faintly visible, let the Magician repeat the Conjuration of the Superiors of the Spirit; from the place of the Throne of the East.	(Repeat invocation as before) I am Harpocrates etc. (as before). Thou art the creature of my will: my hands have made thee: I have given thee birth. And Elohim breathed into Adam into his nostrils the breath of life and he became a living soul. (Breathe 3 times on talisman) Thou art the symbol of my will: thou art the basis of the Light of God!

Appear in power, Obey the Living Breath! Come unto me BINH (etc. as before).

I am BINH, Spouse and mother of God![iv] I am Darkness veiled in Light! I am Light veiled in Darkness! I am the Ocean and the Moon! I am the Great One of the Night of Time. Thou art my Son, thou this day have

I begotten thee. From my womb camest forth from the sleep of ages art thou come.

Thou art the living basis of my will.

Appear in power obey the living breath

("And Elohim etc. and breathe as before).

Come unto me Tzaphquiel etc.[v]

I am Tzaphquiel the leader of God's host: of them who do his will.

Mine is the purple star: the manly crest!

Mine is the flaming warrior brow!

Mine is the blood—red armour! Mine the Virgin Limbs!

Mine is the golden spiritual hair! The flashing wings of gold!

Mine is the Sword and Balances: the active form, the seemly frame!

Thou art mine image,♄ thou art the creature of my power: in thee I seal my strength and life.

("And Elohim..." etc. etc.)

Appear in power obey the living breath!

Come unto me, Aralim, Aralim![vi] (etc.)

I am the host of angels that obey God's will: whose acts are manifest.

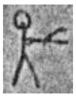
I am the myriad flame-crowned legion of light!

Thou art the sphere wherein the purpose worketh! Thou art the symbol chosen! Thou art fashioned to act visibly in matter! Thou art given life and power: life beautiful, power irresistible!

And this conjuration may be repeated thrice, each time ending with a new projection of will in the sign of the Enterer, &c.

But if at the third time of repetition he appeareth not, then be it known that there is an error in the working. So let the Master of Evocations replace the sigil upon the altar, holding the sword as usual, and thus doing let him repeat a humble prayer unto the Great Gods of Heaven to grant unto him the force necessary correctly to complete that evocation.

Sigil to Pillars. Make sign of Horus from E(ast)



The Talisman should flash: otherwise repeat last conjuration T. of E. and recharge. If no light after thrice repeating, let prayer be put up unto the Great Gods of Heaven: as hereafter set down and showed forth: and that without equivocation or obscurity of language).

Ye Prayer

O Lord of the Universe, Amen!

Thy great Name do I dare to invoke, and beseech Thine aid in this my pitiable trait.

For I am come forth, crowned and robed, as it were some mighty One, and lo! I can do nothing! The forces of Nature are in Thy hands, Oh Lord, and Thy Will they must obey!

Therefore, O God of Heaven and Earth and Hell! Of all the Stars and Suns, the Wanderers and the Abiders! Lord of the Universe! Thou self from Nothing! O God who hast formulated His Father and made fertile His Mother! Thee, I invoke! Let Thy great Fiat answer me, that all my labour be not altogether lost! What is my labour? What am I in Thy Sight, but the lowest and the meanest of Thy Creatures? Yet do I aspire to Thy White Brilliance, thine inseparable Crown! Therefore, because Thy Law is perfect and Thy Will direct: make my words true, and my Will executed in this hour! And for myself I pray one prayer O God, be merciful to me a sinner, and keep me ever in the way of truth. Amen! Amen! Amen! Dwell Thou in me and bring me to that Self which is in Thee, Amen!

He is then to take back the Sigil to between the Pillars, and repeat the former processes; when assuredly that Spirit will begin to manifest, but in a misty and ill-defined form.

(But if, as is probable, the operator be naturally inclined unto evocation, then might that Spirit perchance manifest earlier in the ceremony than this: still the ceremony itself is to be performed up to this point, whether he be there or no.)

Now so soon as the Magician shall see the visible manifestation of that Spirit's presence, he shall quit the station of the Hierophant and consecrate afresh with Water and with Fire the Sigil of the evoked Spirit.

S. Now doth the Master of the Evocation remove from the sigil the restricting cord; and, holding the freed sigil in his left hand, he smites it with the flat blade of his sword; exclaiming: " By and in the Names of ...... I do invoke upon thee the power of perfect manifestation unto visible appearance! "

He then circumambulates the circle thrice, holding the sigil in his right hand.

T. The Magician, standing in the place of the Hierophant, but turning towards the place of the Spirit, and fixing his attention thereon, now reads a potent invocation of the Spirit unto visible appearance; having previously placed the sigil on the ground, within the circle at the quarter where the Spirit appears. This invocation should be of some length, and should rehearse and reiterate the Divine and other ·names consonant with the working. That Spirit should now become fully and clearly visible, and should be able to speak with a direct voice (if consonant with his nature). The Magician then proclaims aloud that the Spirit N hath been duly and properly evoked, in accordance with the sacred rites.

U. The Magician now addresses an Invocation unto the Lords of the Plane of the Spirit to compel him to perform that which the Magician shall demand of him.

On the Flashing of the Talisman, the Cord is removed and Water and Fire consecrations duly done.[vii]

The Invocation from the East.

At full length, rehearsing all the names and formulating the commands.

V. The Magician carefully formulates his demands, questions, &c., and writes downany of the answers that may be advisable,

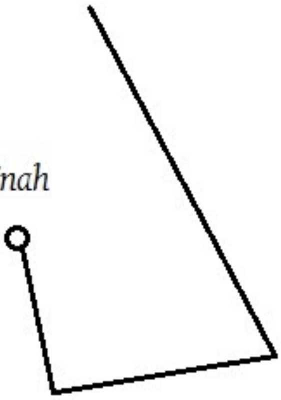
W. The Master of Evocations now addresses a conjuration unto the Spirit evoked, binding him to hurt or injure naught connected with him; or his assistants; or the place; and that he fail not to perform that which he hath been commanded, and that he deceive in nothing. He then dismisses that Spirit by any suitable form such as those used in the four higher grades in the Outer.

And if he will not go, then shall the Magician compel him by forces contrary unto his nature. But he must allow a few minutes for the Spirit to dematerialize the body in which he hath manifested; for he will become less and less material by degrees. And note well that the Magician (or his companions if he have any) shall never quit the circle during the process of Evocations; or afterwards, till the Spirit be quite vanished, seeing that in some cases and with some constitutions there maybe danger arising from the astral conditions and currents established; and that without the actual intention of the Spirit to harm, although, if of a low nature, he would probably endeavour to do so. Therefore, before the commencement of the Evocation let the operator assure himself that everything which may be necessary be properly arranged within the circle.

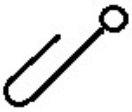
But if it be actually necessary to interrupt the process, then let him stop at that point, veil and record the sigil if it have been unbound or uncovered, recite a Licence to depart or banishing formula, and perform the lesser Banishing rituals both of the Pentagram and Hexagram. Thus only may he in comparative safety quit the circle.

Veil in White, within Black. License others to go.

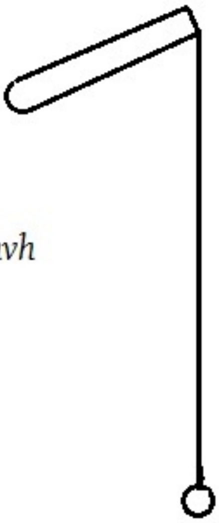
Note by typist. The following are tracings of sygils pencilled by A.C. opposite to the text, which is written on one side of the page only.[viii]



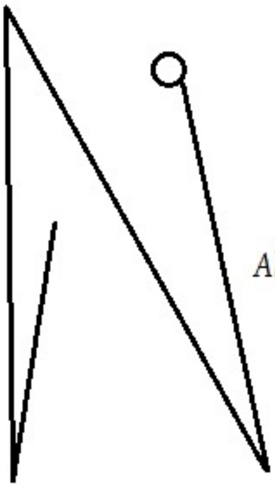
Binah



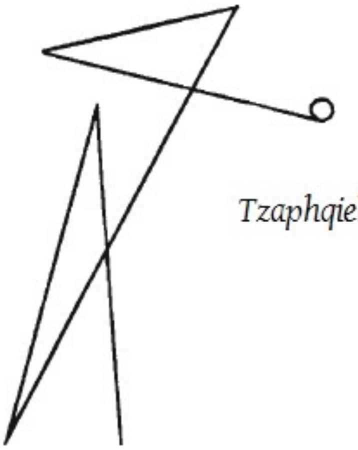
Aima



Jhvh



Alhim



Tzaphqiel

ENDNOTES

i. Apparently the 'typist' had neither seen the William Friedkin movie nor read the Peter Blatty book.

ii. 'Bilanx' lit. 'two plates or dishes," etymological source of the modern English 'balances' from the Latin via Medieval French.

iii. This is a significant, but frankly the only, direct indication that this ritual may have been intended to be used in conjunction with the planetary talismans in the Temple of L.I.L.

iv. Binah (בינה) – The Sphere of Saturn (777. VII: 3); meaning 'understanding' or 'intelligence.'

v. Tzaphquiel or Zaphkiel (צפקיאל): Archangel of Binah, traditionally associated with Saturn (777. XCIX: 3), usually taken to mean the 'knowledge of God.'

vi. Aralim or Erelim (אראלים) Order of Angels associated with Binah and Saturn by Maimonides (777. C: 3). Taken from Isaiah 33:7 (אראלם), usually translated as 'valiant ones' or 'heroes of God;" it literally means 'lions of God.'

vii. Here there is a reversal from the Golden Dawn instruction, of the process of unbinding, as well as purification and consecration.

viii. These are the sigillae drawn from the Rose Cross for Binah, Aima or Ima, IHVH Alhim or Jehovah Elohim and Tzaphquiel. Aima (אימא) is a divine name, meaning 'mother' in Aramaic (see Marcus Jastrow, A Dictionary of the Targumim, Talmud Babli and Yerushalmi, and the Midrashic Literature, 2 vols. New York: Putnam, 1903), though with the implication in biblical Hebrew of 'terror.' It is associated with Binah (777. II: 3n.). IHVH Alhim (יהוה אלהים) is the God-name (777. II: 3n.) of Binah; as a conjoined phrase these two names of God occurs numerous times in the TaNaKh, notably in Genesis 2, frequently in the Psalms and throughout Chronicles, as well as elsewhere. The King James Version renders it as LORD God. Note also what MacGregor Mathers has to say (in his introduction to Kabbalah Unveiled op. cit., pp. 24-25) regarding Binah:

> The third Sephira, or Triad, is a feminine passive potency, called BINH, Binah, the Understanding, who is co-equal with Chokmah. For Chokmah, the number 2, is like two straight lines which can never enclose a space, and therefore it is powerless till the number 3 forms the triangle. Thus this Sephira completes and makes evident the supernal Trinity. It is also called AMA, Ama, Mother, and AIMA, Aima, the great productive Mother, who is eternally conjoined with AB, the Father, for the main-tenance of the universe in order. Therefore is she the most evident form in whom we can know the Father, and therefore is she worthy of all honour. She is the supernal Mother, co-equal with Chokmah, and the great feminine form of God, the Elohim, in whose image man and woman are created, according to the teaching of the Qabalah, equal before God. Woman is equal with man, and certainly not inferior to him, as it has been the persistent endeavour of so-called Christians to make her. Aima is the woman described in the Apocalypse (ch. xii.). This third Sephira is also sometimes called the great sea. To her are attributed the Divine names, ALHIM, Elohim, and IHVH ALHIM; and the angelic order, ARALIM, Aralim, the Thrones. She is the supernal Mother, as distinguished from Malkuth, the inferior Mother, Bride, and Queen.

Joseph Balsamo,
COUNT CAGLIOSTRO.
Born at Palermo, the 8th of June, 1743, and Condemned at Rome, in 1791.

Cagliostro from The Life of Joseph Balsamo, commonly called Count Cagliostro.

VIII. L.P.D.

Cagliostro and the Egyptian Rite

> "In the Order L.I.L., the letters L.P.D. are the monograms of the mysteries. I, however, remembered them directly from my incarnation as Cagliostro."
>
> Confessions chapter 23.

Cagliostro was an enigmatic figure about whom numerous biographies, both sympathetic and antagonistic, have been penned.[145] Henry Ridgely Evans, in his highly readable Cagliostro and his Egyptian Rite of Freemasonry, summarizes Cagliostro's life thusly:[146]

> CAGLIOSTRO! - the name is one to conjure with. It has a cabalistic sound. Who in reality was this incomparable master of mystery, this Rosicrucian and archnecromancer of the eighteenth century, who suddenly emerged from profound obscurity, flashed like a meteor across the stage of life, and then vanished in darkness in the gloomy dungeons of the castle of San Leon, Italy, charged by the Church of Rome with magic, heresy, and Freemasonry? He hobnobbed with princes and potentates; he was the bosom friend of the Cardinal de Rohan, grand almoner of the court of France; and he was the founder of the Egyptian Rite of Freemasonry. He claimed to be able to evoke the spirits of the dead. In fact, he was the prototype of the modern spirit medium or psychic.
>
> Was he a knave or a martyr?
>
> The question is worthy of investigation.
>
> Cagliostro and his Egyptian Rite of Freemasonry "Part I – Master of Magic."

Don Jesús Medina, with his pretensions to French Freemasonry, was likely impressed and intrigued by Crowley's use of Cagliostro. The Rite of L.I.L. with its liberal borrowings from the Golden Dawn, had a suitably Egyptian veneer. The addition of L.P.D., as the central formula, ties the ritual directly to Cagliostro's 'Egyptian Rite of Freemasonry.' Even the use of the seven planetary talismans harkened back to known details of the magical practices of Cagliostro's Egyptian Rite.

---

[145] W.R.H. Trowbridge, Cagliostro: The Splendour and Misery of a Master of Magic. (London: Chapman and Hall, 1910), is a notably objective source. The author is thoroughly familiar with the primary sources. The work is well documented and provides insight, for the English reader, into the numerous French, Italian and German sources. The Inquisition's records of Cagliostro's life, trial and conviction can be found in The Life of Joseph Balsamo, commonly called Count Cagliostro. (London: C. & G. Kearsley, 1791). A good modern treatment of the subject can be found in Philippa Faulks and Robert L.D. Cooper's The Masonic Magician: The Life and Death of Count Cagliostro and his Egyptian Rite. (London: Watkins, 2017).

[146] Henry R. Evans 33°, Cagliostro and his Egyptian Rite of Freemasonry. (Washington DC: A∴A∴S∴R∴ Southern Jurisdiction, 1919).

> In his magical seances, Cagliostro made use of a young boy (pupille) or young girl (colombe) in the state of virgin innocence, to whom power was given over the seven spirits that surround the throne of the divinity and preside over the seven planets.
>
> These spirits were seven in number, governing the seven planets, and surrounding the throne of the Eternal, their names being Asael, Michael, Raphael, Gabriel, Uriel, Zobiachel, and Anachiel.
>
> Cagliostro and his Egyptian Rite of Freemasonry "Part II – The Egyptian Rite."

Trowbridge has a slightly different rendering of these angel names:

> Here from time to time the "seven angels of the Egyptian Paradise, who stand round the throne of God—Anael, Michael, Raphael, Gabriel, Uriel, Zobriachel, and Hanachiel (with whom the Grand Cophta was a special favourite) condescended to appear to the faithful." –
>
> Cagliostro: The Splendour and Misery of a Master of Magic.

From the catechism of the rite of itself:

> Q. But permit me to say that, among the details you have just confided to me, you have said nothing concerning the blazing star.
>
> A. This star is the emblem of the great mysteries revealed in supernatural philosophy, and is a new proof of the blindness and ignorance of modern Masons; because it ought to be terminated by seven points or angles,[147] and you never see it represented in any lodge except by 3, 5 or 6. Besides, these poor children of the widow have never discovered any other merit for it than that of containing in its middle the letter G, which they spiritually explain by the word geometry. Such is the fruit of an hundred years of reflection and the marvelous interpretation that their brilliant genius has suggested to them. The seven points or angles are the representation of the seven angels which surround the throne of the Divinity. and the letter G is the first of the sacred name of the great God called Gehova, or Jehova, Adonai, etc.
>
> Q. Confide to me, I beseech you, a more profound knowledge of these seven primitive angels.
>
> A. These seven angels are intermediary beings between us and the Divinity: they are the seven planets, or, more correctly speaking, they direct and govern the seven planets. As they have a fixed and particular influence over each of the realms necessary for the perfection of the primal matter, the existence of these seven angels is as certain as that man has the power to control these same beings. [148]

---

[147] Note that when Crowley established A∴A∴ he made the seven-pointed star its primary emblem.

[148] "Reception of an Apprentice in an Egyptian Lodge." trans. Horace Parker McIntosh 33°, reprinted in The New Age in Evans, Cagliostro op. cit. pp. 21-26. The complete ritual work of Cagliostro's Egyptian Rite can be found in

It would seem that Crowley was attempting to reconstruct some of the magical conditions of Cagliostro's Egyptian Rite in his own Order of the Lamp of the Invisible Light. Crowley was, of course, using the Golden Dawn's standardized Hermetic Qabalah instead of Cagliostro's more Solomonic traditions, but otherwise the focus on planetary forces is very similar.

> The creator of the Egyptian Freemasonry of Egyptian Rite was the Count Alexander of Cagliostro (1749-1796), born in Tunisi. He must not be identified with the mystifier Giuseppe Balsamo (1743-1795), the palermitano recruited by the Jesuits to personify and to throw the disrepute on the true Count of Cagliostro.[149]

Cagliostro's Egyptian Rite became widely popular in Italy, which is one of the reasons it was so vigorously suppressed by the Inquisition of the Catholic Church.[150] The later success of its descendant rites, in the United States, would arouse the ire of Albert Pike.[151] This would eventually lead to its essential suppression (within regular Freemasonry) in the United States.[152] Yet, in Italy, it would thrive as the Rite of Mizraïm, and its offspring the Rite of Memphis.

The great republican revolutionary Giuseppe Garibaldi would unite these two orders as the Rite of Memphis-Mizraïm.[153] In English speaking countries this would often operate as the Antient and Primitive Rite, reduced to 33 degrees and in direct competition with both the Southern and Northern Jurisdictions of the Ancient and Accepted Scottish Rite.[154]

With the death of Garibaldi, authority for Rite of Memphis-Mizraïm fell into political confusion, but ultimately John Yarker would assume acknowledged control of the Rite.[155] Following

---

"Cagliostro's Egyptian Rite." trans. Herbert Keppicus, Collectanea. v. 5. pt. 2. (Washington DC: Grand College of Rites, 1954).

[149] Galbix Red and Gabriel López de Rojas, "M.E.A.P.R.M.M. - The Egyptian Freemasonry of the Ancient Primitive Rite of Memphis-Misraim." www.frankripel.org/iutmah/meaprmm_english.html.

[150] "The Rite of MIZRAÏM had been constituted in 1778 at Venice; it took its line from CAGLIOSTRO," Robert Ambelain*, Freemasonry in Olden Times: Ceremonies and Rituals from the Rites of Mizraïm and Memphis*. (Paris: Robert Laffont, 2006).

[151] Albert Pike and William L. Cummings' "The Spurious Rites of Memphis and Misraim." Heredom v. 9. (Washington DC: Scottish Rite Research, 2001), pp. 147-198 is the standard tract denouncing the so-called Egyptian Rites on behalf of the Scottish Rite. For hilarious contemporary accounts of the wranglings between regular Scottish and York Rite masons and the various purveyors and obediences of the Antient and Primitive, Memphis and Mizraïm rites see The Masonic Review, Thomas J. Melish ed. (Cincinnati OH, Wrightson, 1880). v. 53.

[152] The Rites of Memphis and Mizraïm were absorbed by the Grand College of Rites, in the United States, in 1932 (when the Grand College was formed). This transfer of authority was done on the condition that the rites would never be worked, leading to their death as a part of regular Freemasonry in the United States. They are still the subject of study, and their rituals are regularly published by the Grand College in its annual communication, Collectanea. H.V.B Voorhis, "History of the Grand College of Rites of the United States of America." Collectanea, v. 9 pt. 2. (Washington DC: Grand College of Rites, 1972).

[153] "This Obedience, . . ., resulted from the fusion of the two Rites of MIZRAÏM and MEMPHIS which was undertaken in 1881 by GARIBALDI, who was the first Grand Master-General. Ambelin, ibid. p. 7. "Originally in our Rite, we find the Rite of Misraiin (Venice, Italy – 1788) and the Rite of Memphis (Montauban, France - 1815). It was our Grand Master Giuseppe GARIBALDI, founder of the modem Italian state, who prepared and achieved the fusion of the two Rites in 1881.

[154] Richard Kaczynski's Forgotten Templars. (self-published, 2012) provides a lively history of the florescence and decline of these various rites.

[155] See also The Ancient, op. cit. p. 28.

Yarker, authority over the Rite would pass to Theodor Reuss. Reuss essentially folded the degrees of Memphis-Mizraïm into the ten degree structure of Ordo Templi Orientis. To this day these degrees are bestowed on initiates of O.T.O. in the fourth through twelfth degrees.[156]

> In 1902, the German Theodor Reuss established the Sovereign Sanctuary of Memphis-Misraïm in Germany and in 1913, after the death of Yarker, he became the International Head of the Rite. In 1924, T. Reuss passed to Eternal East and the succession was interrupted, except in the O.T.O. (Ordo Templi Orientis), the neotemplar order founded by Reuss, in 1905, in Germany. In reality, the O.T.O. had included the Rite of Memphis-Misraïm, although in a reduced version, where its principal degrees were incorporated.
>
> Galbix Red and Gabriel López de Rojas, "M.E.A.P.R.M.M."[157]

Both the infamous McBlain Thomson, the leader of the clandestine American Masonic Federation and Universal Freemasonry,[158] and Harvey Spencer Lewis, the founder and Imperator of the Ancient and Mystical Ordo Rosae Crucis, would derive their authority from Reuss's Memphis and Mizraïm.[159]

Crowley made this comment regarding his first detailed encounter with the rituals of the Rites of Memphis and Mizraïm:

---

[156] See Cœmgen La Vaughan ed., Amor Divina. (Grantham UK: Hell Fire, 2018). Francis King ed., Secret Rituals of the O.T.O. (New York: Samuel Weiser, 1973); Theodor Reuss & Aleister Crowley, O.T.O. Rituals and Sex Magick, ed. A. R. Naylor. (Thame UK: I-H-O, 1999); and OTO Roll 3 microfilm (New York: Ordo Templi Orientis, 2002) – www.worldcat.org/title/aleister-crowley-papers/oclc/52940564.

See also Crowley's chart relating various rites to O.T.O. degrees, reconstructed and reproduced in Richard Kaczynski's "Continuing Knowledge from Generation unto Generation: The Social and Literary Background of Aleister Crowley's Magick." chap. 6 of Aleister Crowley and Western Esotericism eds. Henry Bogdan & Martin Starr. (Oxford: Oxford. Univ., 2012), p. 149, and Martin P. Starr's The Unknown God: W.T. Smith and the Thelemites. (Bolingbrook IL: Teitan, 2003), pp. 26-27 et passim.

[157] G. Red & de Rojas, "M.E.A.P.R.M.M." op. cit. See also The Ancient, op. cit.

[158] Thomson was eventually forced to admit in court that his authority derived not from the Grand Lodge of Scotland but Theodor Reuss and Memphis and Mizraïm; see Evans, Thomson. op. cit. infra. Also various articles in Thomson's Universal Freemason op. cit.; as well as Swinburne Clymer, The Rosicrucian Fraternity in America: Authentic and Spurious Organizations. v. II. (Quakertown PA: Rosicrucian Foundation, 1935). Thomson was the author of the "In Memoriam" to John Yarker published in the Equinox. v. I. n. 10. (London: Wieland & Co., 1913), pp. xix-xxii.

[159] Lewis' charter is included in Rosicrucian Documents (San Jose CA: AMORC, 1975) p. 38 and reproduced in Swinburne Clymer, The Rosicrucian Fraternity in America: Authentic and Spurious Organizations. v. I. (Quakertown PA: Rosicrucian Foundation, 1935), p. 380. His 95° Memphis and Mizraïm degree and emblem feature prominently on this pyramidal tombstone at Rosicrucian Park in San Jose California. His connection to Reuss and Crowley is demonstrated in somewhat exaggerated and sometimes not entirely accurate detail in a number of Swinburne Clymer's anti AMORC propaganda tracts, besides the above cited volumes of The Rosicrucian Fraternity in America: Authentic and Spurious Organizations there are notably The Rosicrucians: The Randolph Foundation of the Authentic Order of the Rosy Cross in America versus the Spurious Ancient and Mystical Order Rosae Crucis, fabricated by H. Spencer Lewis, Baron Munchausen of the Occult. (Quakertown PA: Rosicrucian Foundation, n.d.) and Not under the Rosy Cross: An Expose of the Imperator of A.M.O.R.C., his Pilfering Charlatanism and his Connections with Aleister Crowley (notorious Black Magician) and O.T.O. (Ordo Templi Orientis - Despised Black Cult). Quakertown PA: Rosicrucian Foundation, n.d.). A clearer and more objective study of these relationships can be found in Robert Vanloo, "Controversy around a Document: Is the A.M.O.R.C. an offspring of the O.T.O. or not?" (n.d.): www.parareligion.ch/sunrise/vanloo/ameng.htm

> I left Neuburg in Biskra to recuperate and returned to England alone. No sooner had I settled in my compartment than I was seized by an irresistible impulse to write a play dealing with the Templars and the Crusades. I had had with me in the desert the rituals of freemasonry, those of the Scottish, Memphis and Mizraïm Rites. A plan had already been mooted for me to reconstruct freemasonry, as will be later described.
>
> Confessions chapter 68.

And also:

> John Yarker saw in 1911 and 1912 that his 33 degrees were themselves unworkable. He gave me a printed copy of the 30 rituals: 4° to 33°, the first three, of course, the Craft degrees of Masonry. This devastating volume I took with me on one of my journeys across the Sahara desert, and from it extracted anything that seemed useful to preserve, and very little there was. The desert was left dry. All of it, such as it is, is incorporated in the rituals of the O.T.O.[160]
>
> "Aleister Crowley to R.C. Newman," August 16, 1944

Crowley, on his second trip to Algeria with Neuburg, brought with him on the journey the volumes of the Egyptian Rites of Memphis and Mizraïm. The Egyptian Rite of Cagliostro had not only inspired Crowley's experiment with the Order of the Lamp of the Invisible Light at the beginning of Crowley's foray into the Æthyrs in Mexico but had eventually evolved into these very Rites of Memphis and Mizraïm. In due course, Crowley would even become the head of Ordo Templi Orientis, the chief inheritor of these rites.

---

[160] Aleister Crowley to R.C. Newman, August 16, 1944. Yorke Collection: Aleister Crowley Papers. (London: Warburg Insitute, 2002), microfilm Film 10: Reel 4: Worldcat, op. cit. Also reproduced in Kaczynski, "Continuing Knowledge . . ." op. cit. p. 148.

John Yarker

Theodor Reuss

McBlain Thomson

Harvey Spencer Lewis

LPD

> It would be improper to communicate their significance to the profane, but I may say that the political interpretation given by Dumas is superficial, and the ethical suggestions of Levi puerile and perverse; or, more correctly, intentionally misleading.
>
> Confessions chapter 23

Alexander Dumas was fascinated by Cagliostro and made him a major character in two of his novels Joseph Balsamo and Le Collier de la Reine. The former, published in America as Balsamo, the Magician, or The Memoirs of a Physician, gives this fictionalized account.[161]

> "Would you know him by any token?"
>
> "Heaven has been good enough to unveil it by the intermediation of its angels," answered the visionary.
>
> "If you hold this secret alone and have not revealed it to a soul, tell it aloud, for the time has come."
>
> "On his breast," said the chief of the Illuminati, "he wears a diamond star, in the core of which shines the three initials of a phrase known to him alone."
>
> "State those initials."
>
> "L. P. D."
>
> With a rapid stroke the stranger opened his overcoat, coat and waistcoat and showed on the fine linen front, gleaming like flame, a jeweled plate on which flared the three letters in rubies.
>
> "HE!" ejaculated the Swede: "can this be he?"
>
> "Whom all await?" added the other leaders, anxiously.
>
> "The Hierophant of Memphis—the Grand Copt?" muttered the three hundred voices.
>
> "Will you deny me now?" demanded the Man from the East, triumphantly.
>
> "No," cried the phantoms, bowing to the ground.
>
> "Speak, Master," said the president and the five chiefs, bowing, "and we obey."
>
> The visitor seemed to reflect during the silence, some instants long.
>
> "Brothers," he finally said, "you may lay aside your swords uselessly fatiguing your arms, and lend me an attentive ear, for you will learn much in the few words I address you. The source of great rivers is generally unknown, like most divine things: I know whither I go, but not my origin. When I first opened my eyes to consciousness, I was in the sacred city of Medina, playing about the gardens of [161] Alexander Dumas. Balsamo, the Magician, or The Memoirs of a Physician. (New York: J.S. Ogilvie, 1892).

---

Giuseppe Maria Garibaldi

Nadar
113 r. St Lazare

Alexander Dumas

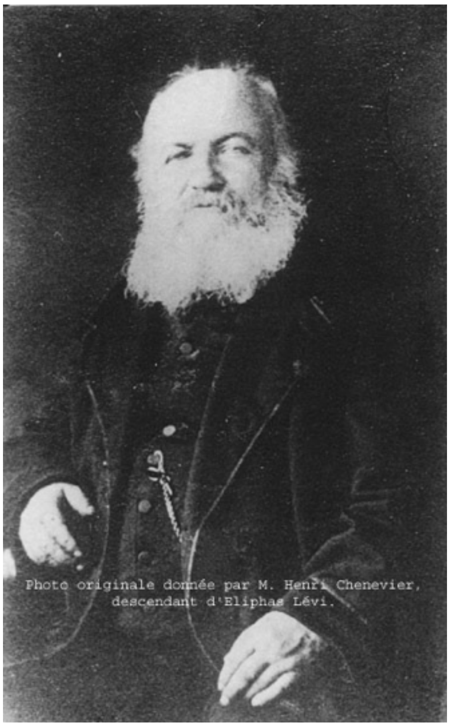

Photo originale donnée par M. Henri Chenevier, descendant d'Eliphas Lévi.

Éliphas Lévi

> the Mufti Suleyman. I loved this venerable old man like a father, but he was none of mine, and he addressed me with respect though he held me in affection. Three times a day he stood aside to let another old man come to me whose name I ever utter with gratitude mixed with awe. This august receptacle of all human wisdom, instructed in all things by the Seven Superior Spirits, bore the name of Althotas. He was my tutor and master, and venerable friend, for he is twice the age of the oldest here."

In this passage it can be seen that Dumas had more than a superficial understanding of Cagliostro's Egyptian Rite. Later he explained the meaning of the acronym L.P.D. thusly:

> "The word of command," said the leader, "already spread in one part of the world, is to be dispensed through the others. It is symbolized by the three letters which you have seen. Let each one wear them in the heart as well as on it, for we, the Sovereign Master of the shrines of the Orient and the West, we order the ruin of the Lilies. L. P. D. signifies Lilia Pedibus Destrue - Trample Lilies Under! I order you of Spain, Sweden, Scotland, Switzerland and America, to Trample down the Lilies of the Bourbon race."

This was the common assertion of the time, that Cagliostro was a Templar/Illuminati agent, committed to the destruction of European royalty and the Catholic Church. Most especially to the destruction of the French monarchy, in revenge for the martyrdom of Jacques DeMolay and the suppression and martyrdom of the Knights Templar.

Cagliostro's Seal

The purported bronze original

The image from Levi's History of Magic

Levi discussed Cagliostro at some length, in The History of Magic:[162]

> Cagliostro was the agent of the Templars, and this is how he came to announce, in a circular addressed to all Masons in London, that the time had come to build the Temple

---

[162] Eliphas Levi, The History of Magic. (London: William Rider, 1922). Levi's account is reproduced, in redacted form, in Albert Pike's "Knight Kadosh," Morals and Dogma of the Ancient and Accepted Scottish Rite. (Charleston SC, A.·.A.·.S.·.R.·., 1871), p. 823.

> of the Eternal. Like the Templars, Cagliostro was addicted to the practices of Black Magic and to the fatal science of evocations. He divined past and present, predicted things to come, wrought marvellous cures and pretended to make gold. He introduced a new Rite under the name of Egyptian Masonry and sought to restore the mysterious worship of Isis. Wearing a nemys like that of the Theban sphinx, he presided in person over nocturnal assemblies, in chambers emblazoned with hieroglyphics and lighted by torches. His priestesses were young girls, whom he called doves, and he placed them in a condition of ecstasy by means of hydromancy in order to obtain oracles, water being an excellent conductor, a powerful reflector, and highly refracting medium for the Astral Light, as proved by sea and cloud mirages.[163]

He asserted, regarding the enigmatic letters L.P.D.:

> The union of the two is the universal balance, the Great Arcanum, the Great Work, the equilibrium of Jachin and Boaz. The initials L.P.D., which accompany this figure, signify Liberty, Power, Duty, and also Light, Proportion, Density; Law, Principle, and Right. The Freemasons have changed the order of these initials, and in the form of L∴D∴P∴ they render them as Liberté de Penser Liberty of Thought, inscribing these on a symbolical bridge (This device is inscribed on the symbolic bridge which is mentioned in the Grade of Knight of the East, or of the Sword.), but for those who are not initiated they substitute Liberité de Passer Liberty of Passage. In the records of the prosecution of Cagliostro it is said that his examination elicited another meaning as follows: Lilia desirue pedibus: Trample the lilies under foot; and in support of this version may be cited a masonic medal of the 16th or 17th century, depicting a branch of lilies severed by a sword, having these words on the exergue: Talent dabit ultio messem - Revenge shall give this harvest.

The Bridge of the 15° from Albert Pike's Morals and Dogma of the Ancient and Accepted Scottish Rite.

---

[163] Levi, History. op. cit. pp. 409-410. This is but a brief extract from Levi's fascinating account of the life of Cagliostro (bk. IV. "Magic and Revolution" chap. 2.). Its details and opinions, both magical and political, are well worth more than a passing read.

In Transcendental Magic Levi makes the following comment on the so-called Trident of Paracelsus which bears upon the formula L.P.D.:[164]

> . . . which must be read by taking the first letter for the number of the Pentagram in Roman figures, thus completing the phrase PENTAGRAMMATICA LIBERTATE Dox FATO, equivalent to the three letters of Cagliostro L. P. D. Liberty, Power, Duty. On the one side, absolute liberty; on the other, necessity or invincible fatality; in the centre, REASON, the Kabbalistic Absolute, which constitutes universal equilibrium.

In the Magical Ritual of the Sanctum Regnum, Levi develops this formula of L.P.D. into a series of dialectical syntheses.[165]

> Behold thyself then, by natural law, immortal. Would you then be forever the slave of secondary causes, or will you become their controller?
>
> Will you submit to them, or will you choose the high alternative of directing them?
>
> If you will become a Master, set free your spirit by relying on the Hermetic Stone, and exercise your Will Power through the Word transmuted into action. Join to an Intelligence, really set free, an all-powerful Will, and you will find yourself Master of the powers of the Elements. L. P. D.
>
> Liberty, Power, Despotism. Power is the correct equilibrium between Despotism and Liberty. This is the solution of the Enigma of three letters which Cagliostro the Initiate formulated to represent the Kabalah of political and social stability.
>
> Liberty is Chokmah.
> Despotism is Binah.
> Power beneficent is Kether.
>
> Liberty is Gedulah.
> Despotism is Geburah.
> Power beneficent is Tiphereth.

---

[164] Levi, Transcendental. op. cit. pp. 211 & xxiv.

[165] Eliphas Levi, The Magical Ritual of the Sanctum Regnum, trans. & ed. W. Wynn Westcott. (London: George Redway, 1896), pp. 98-100.

Liberty is Netzach.
Despotism is Hod.
Power beneficent is in Yesod.

In the essence of the First Cause, Liberty has Necessity as a counterpoise; this Necessity is the despotism of Supreme Reason, and resulting from this equilibrium is a Wise and Absolute Power.

If you seek to be absolute, be first wise; and if you are wise, be then absolute. To be a Master you must be free; to be free you must have attained the mastery of yourself.

Liberty is Jakin.

Despotism is Boaz.

Power is represented by the Temple Gate which was between them.

Four phrases constitute and include all that is required for the possession of High Magical Power.

To know.
To dare.
To will.
To keep silence.

Knowledge is represented by the Human head of the Sphynx.

Courage, by its Eagle's wings.

Will, by the Lion's claws, and the loins of the Bull.

Secrecy, by its stony silence and by the hidden answer to its enigma.

When the pupil has grasped the meaning of, and can carry into practice, these four requirements, he may then receive permission to Love.

CAGLIOSTRO AND CROWLEY

> "I, however, remembered them directly from my incarnation as Cagliostro."
>
> Confessions chapter 23

Crowley's 'remembering' is a bit misleading. He conducted his most significant series of 'past lives regressions' during his initiation into the degree of Magus. This occurred during the "Hermit of Oesopus Island" magical retirement, in 1918, when Crowley had returned to America, nearly two decades after the founding of the Order of the L.I.L. The details may be studied in numerous biographical sources. The assertions regarding these recollections of previous incarnations are from the mid to late 1920s, during the composition of Crowley's Autohagiography, a text which would eventually become the Confessions. If he recovered the true meaning of L.P.D. during this magical retirement and initiation, it seems unlikely that he knew that meaning during his stay in Mexico.

Nevertheless, Crowley was, during his Oesopus Island hemitage, clearly practicing the reverse memory technique given in Liber בראשית Viæ Memoriæ sub figura CMXIII published in the Equinox in 1912.[166] The memories themselves work back from the life of the adept to his birth and then begin again with the death of the previous incarnation and then, again, move gradually backwards until they arrive at birth of the subject.

Here follows the 'Cagliostro' portion of that record:[167]

> July 16
>
> It seems that Cagliostro had something wrong with his title: great man as he was, busy with great plans as he was, it was a petty vexation to be treated as an adventurer by some of the nobility. . .
>
> Aug. 22, 1918 3:40 P.M
>
> . . . . I came next to my death as Cagliostro. This took place in some mountain woodland – I feel sure that it was the Pyrenees, on the north slopes. There were stacks of cut branches about. I was on a journey of some sort, attended by a youth, a peasant type, about 20, in very gay clothes, broidered with silver, rather tarnished. I died about sunset, very peacefully, in the open, outside a hut – the woodcutter's, I suppose.
>
> I now begin to remember a little about the life itself. I remember youth in a fishing boat in some very warm seas. Two men were with me in the boat, my father and another, his brother, I think. My mother was a bronze eagle-featured woman, Scorpio at a guess, a

---

[166] Equinox v. I. n. 7. op. cit. pp. 105-116.

[167] This text is taken from a comparison of the Crowley TS. and C.S. Jones TS. copy titled "A Record of Some of the "Past Lives" of Aleister Crowley. Transcribed from that portion of his Magickal (sic) Diary known as the "Hermit of Oesopus Island." OTO Roll 2 microfilm (New York: Ordo Templi Orientis, 2002) – Worldcat: op. cit.

terrible scold, very passionate, earrings of gold and coloured kerchief.

I remember my life at the Paris court; I hated it intensely. I took it on with the idea of Preaching a Law. It is from Cagliostro that I get my Secret Society ideas. Levi was always a little shy of them, because of the rebound from Cagliostro.

L.P.D. means Laus Priapo Deo so that I was trying to establish Phallicism. I was a full – very full - $6^\circ=5^\square$, thinking to do everything by virtue of that attainment, not knowing or caring about the Abyss above me. My idea of a 'Master' was a $7^\circ=4^\square$; this was the old Arab of whom I used to talk. Acharat (אשאראת) is 903 = 3 x 301, the three kinds of Fire & is a Magical formula corresponding to the three kinds of Light אור, אוד and אוב, Ash is the spiritual fire or power, Ar the Solar power, Ath the phallic or essential power.

I made tremendous ceremonial effort. I preserved chastity very carefully, and used Virginity in my formulae, making each act of sex the climax of a long ritual. I obtained Fascination in this way, and developed it to a very high degree.

I remember very clearly a long residence in a kind of profess-house, some 10 years or nearly before my death. It was kept by a disciple, a man of 30 or 40, with a dark brown beard, pointed. He procured young girls for me; I used these in some experiments to make the Elixir of Life and Youth. I met with some terrible shock of enlightenment which sent me forth on that last journey.

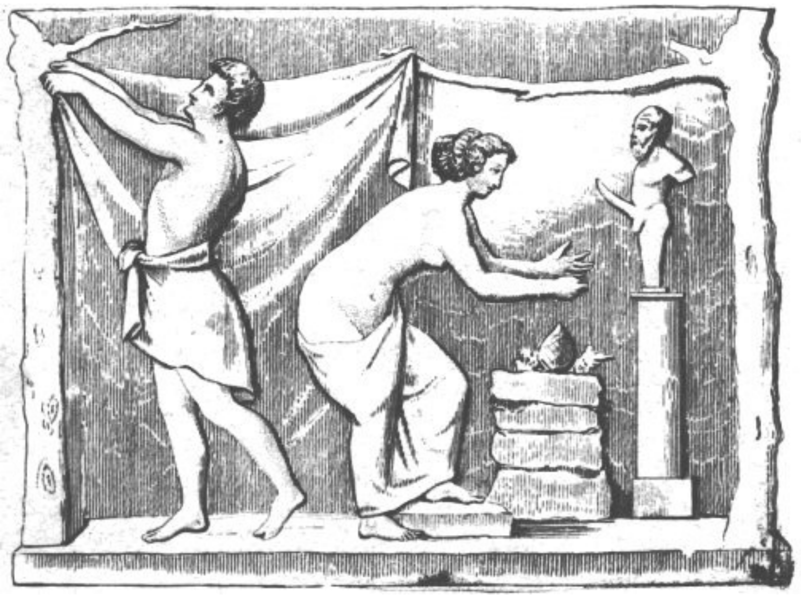
There is also a very clear record of some years before the Paris episodes. I either owned, or resided with the owner of some vineyards on Aetna; here I studied the philosophy of Empedocles, and obtained my Power over the Living Fire אוד. But I was deceived by the Salamanders, who lured me to Ambition. I went, in this Illusion, to Napoli, expecting to be able to work with Vesuvius; but my attempt to rule in Naples led to a fearful scandal, and I had to flee the city. I went to Venice, where I met a certain Initiate, who taught me such truths that I was ready for the Paris adventure. I went by way of Germany, and struck the Illuminati again. The Venetian Initiate was one of these, by the way.

My childhood was spent in Northern Africa. It was only later about 12 or 14, the fishing life began. My first memories are of a goat-skin tent. I think it was Tunis to which my father eventually came. This action was all due to the influence of an old Arab, who picked me out in childhood as a chosen person. I was a very bad pupil, though, and came to him in peculiar detestation. But he always had his way, sooner or later. Somehow or other, he reminds me of Oscar Eckenstein. He must have had the Elixir, for I remember him always as a man of 60 or so, in childhood as well as fifty years later. He gave me up - at least. I never saw him again – after the French Revolution.

Aug. 24. 1918

3:26 P.M. As Cagliostro I was born in a brothel, kept by my mother's mother. My mother was half-Arab, my father presumably some rich traveller. It was a very gorgeous brothel. It was because of my birth that my mother was married off to the fisherman person. There is a profound horror and gloom antecedent to this birth; at present it merely darkens as I seek to penetrate it. One other thing about Cagliostro; my father seems to have been the adept known to Lytton, and described by him as "Sir Philip Derval": of course, a previous incarnation of that adept. Hence, I conceive, a certain distant care of me, and education, fitting me for a station above that of my reputed parents. My physical appearance (in that incarnation) rather confirms this memory. The brothel[168] was, I feel certain, in Tunis. (P.S. There is a strong feeling that this adept was Oscar Eckenstein again.)

8:15 P.M. The incarnation before Cagliostro is very obscure. It seems to have been the result of some serious magical error connected with the grade of Adeptus Major.



Invocation to Priapus from Pompeii

These passages clarify Crowley's interpretation of L.P.D. "L.P.D. means Laus Priapo Deo so that I was trying to establish Phallicism."[169] The Latin phrase 'Laus Priapo Deo' literally means 'Praise the God Priapus;' Priapus being the ancient Greco-Roman god of fertility, agriculture, gardens, merchant sailors, and male virility. Crowley was an admirer of the Smithers and Burton translation of epigrams entitled Priapeia sive diversorum poetarum in Priapum lususor Sportive Epigrams on Priapus.[170] Crowley included not only Priapus but also a number of noted authors on phallicism in the "Collect of Gnostic Saints,"[171] and phallicism is the subject of at least one of the major secret instructions Crowley penned for the Ordo Templi Orientis.[172]

---

[168] Crowley has 'brother' where Jones has 'brothel.'

[169] Credit is given to Ike Becker (pseud.) "Qabalist's Qorner - Latin Qabalah Simplex." Black Pearl v. I. n.8. (Los Angeles CA: College of Thelema, Sept. 2000), p.17. and Tobias Churton, Crowley in America, op. cit. p. 557, for first disclosing this 'secret.'

[170] Leonard C. Smithers and Sir Richard Burton trans. Priapeia sive diversorum poetarum in Priapum lusus or Sportive Epigrams on Priapus. (Cosmopoli, 1890).

It has been asserted by a number of authors that Crowley's 'recollections' concerning the life of Cagliostro are ahistorical. The problem with this assertion is that the details of Cagliostro's early life are actually shrouded in mystery and his death merely reported by his imprisoners without ever providing any evidence, such as the corpse. Trowbridge was the first biographer to present serious doubt regarding the identification of Count Cagliostro as Joseph Balsamo and the matter has been an issue of serious scholarly debate ever since.[173] As for Cagliostro's supposed death in the Inquisition's prison at Castel Sant'Angelo in Italy, there was a common legend that he had escaped that death. This legend was repeated by Eliphas Levi, in his History of Magic,[174] and was, therefore, certainly known to Crowley:

> The confessor visited him and was seen to take his departure at the end of a certain time. Some hours after the gaoler entered the cell and found the body of a strangled man clothed in the garments of Cagliostro, but the priest himself was never seen again.
>
> Lovers of the marvellous declare that the Grand Copht is at this day in America, being the supreme and invisible pontiff of the believers in spirit-rapping.

The origin and fate of Cagliostro will almost certainly remain, forever, an enigma.

---

[171] The Gnostic Mass "Liber XV Eccesiae Gnosticae Catholicae." The International v. xii. n. 3. (New York: International, March 1918), pp. 70-74; Equinox. v. III. n. 1. (Detroit: Universal Publishing Company, 1919), pp. 247-270. Magick in Theory. op. cit. pp. 345-361.

The most obvious of these phallicists was Hargrave Jennings who wrote numerous voluminous tomes (some anonymous – particularly the ten slime volumes of the "Nature Worship & Mystical Series") on the subject of phallic worship, among them The Obelisk: Notices of the Origin, Purpose and History of Obelisk.s (London: Bursill, 1877); Phallicism, Celestial and Terrestrial, Heathen and Christian. (London: George Redway, 1884); Phallic Objects, Monuments and Remains. (Privately Printed: 1889). Jennings notably connects the Rosicrucians to phallic worship. Payne Knight whose Two Essays on the Worship of Priapus. (London: Privately Printed, 1865) is the classic on the subject; J.G.R Forlong, for whom phallicism was the central theme of his monumental Rivers of Life 2 vols. (London: Bernard Quartich, 1883) and the aforementioned Sir Richard Francis Burton, possibly the most prolific author and translator on the subject of erotology of all time. Norman M. Penzer, An Annotated Bibliography of Sir Richard Francis Burtion K.C.M.G. (London: Dawsons, 1923).

[172] De Natura Deorum, the official secret instruction of the VII° of O.T.O. LaVaugn, Amor. op. cit.; King, Secret op. cit.; Naylor, O.T.O. op. cit.; OTO Roll 3, op. cit.

[173] Trowbridge, Cagliostro. op. cit.

[174] Levi, History. op. cit. p. 415.

The likely reason Crowley used the letters LPD as the word of the ritual of the Consecration of a High Priest of L.I.L. was that they are the letters of the Hebrew triliteral root לפד, which means 'to flame' or ' to shine;' From this root is derived the word לפדיד a lamp, torch, or flame:[175]

> For Zion's sake will I not hold my peace, and for Jerusalem's sake I will not rest, until the righteousness thereof go forth as brightness, and the salvation thereof as a lamp that burneth. Isaiah 62:1

This can be clearly seen in the context of the Consecration ritual itself, where the response to the 'word' LPD is 'Lux' or light, the former symbolically providing later. LPD is also illustrative of the symbolism of Revelation 5:4, depicted on the Pastos in the Vault of Adepti, which represented the seven planetary spirits that in the Order of the Lamp of Invisible Light. These seven planetary spirits are epitomized by the seven planetary talismans.

> And out of the throne proceeded lightnings and thunderings and voices: and there were seven lamps of fire burning before the throne, which are the seven Spirits of God.

It is valuable to remember what Crowley wrote about the letters L.P.D. in the consecration ritual of a High Priest of L.I.L.

> They conceal a number of magical formulae of minor importance but major practical value, and the curious should conduct such research as they feel impelled to make in the light of the Cabbala. Their numerical values, Yetziratic attributions, and the arcana of the Atus of Tahuti, supply an adequate clue to such intelligences as are enlightened by sympathy and sincerity.

The numerical values have been adequately discussed in the chapter on the Consecration of the High Priest of L.I.L. Here is a brief review of the essentials:

The value of LPD in Hebrew Qabalah, as stated before, is 114: ל = 30, פ = 80, ד = 4 (30+80+4=114). 114 is the value of דמע 'tear.'[176] This is the explanation for the statement in the lecture of the Consecration of the High Priest of L.I.L. ritual for the assertion:

> The Age of the Priesthood is 114 years, from L.P.D. (לפד) and it refers to the mourning of Isis over the Slain Osiris, that is, to the lamentation of the priesthood over their country. For Daleth Mem Ayin (דמע) means "tear".

---

[175] Wilhelm Gesenius, Hebrew and Chaldee Lexicon the Old Testament Scriptures, trans. Samuel. P. Tregelles. (London: Samuel Bagster & Sons, 1851), pp. 440-441.

[176] Also 'to weep' or 'shed tears,' see for instance Jeremiah 13:17. Ibid. p. 204.

This number is one of Crowley's qabalistic tropes, typical of his initiatory lectures. It has neither justification in Egyptian theology, nor (as asserted in the John Symonds & Kenneth Grant note to their edition of the Confessions asserts), any correlation to Rosicrucian legend. That number would be 120 in this context.

In the Confessions, Crowley writes:

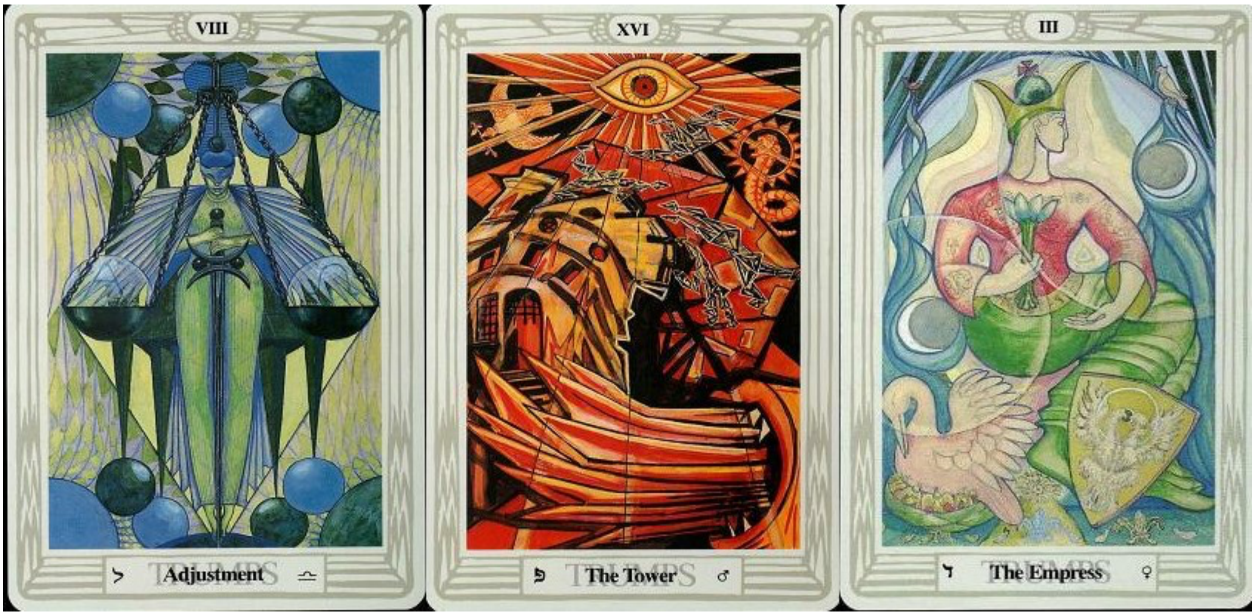
> "Yetziratic attributions, and the arcana of the Atus of Tahuti, supply an adequate clue to such intelligences as are enlightened by sympathy and sincerity."



It must also be remembered too, that Crowley made this statement considerably later in his magical career than the foundation of L.I.L, with the hindsight not only of the Book of the Law and the other Holy Books but also the development of A.'. A.'. and his involvement in O.T.O. The implication is that these attributions, in combination, allude to a formula or formulae of sex magick. Indeed, the processes indicated by the succession of these Atus do reflect the formulae of the highest degrees of O.T.O. It would be indiscreet to provide too much detail on this matter. The curious can study most of the particulars in literature of these degrees that has come to light in the last half century.[177]

---

[177] Cf. LaVaughn, Amor; King, Secret; Naylor O.T.O. and O.T.O. Roll 3 all previously cited. See also Aleister Crowley, De Arte Magica (Liber CDXIV): (San Francisco CA: Level Press, 1974) – this edition contains an introductory poem attached originally in MS. form to the TS.; as an appendix to Crowley on Christ, Francis King ed. (London: Daniel, 1974), and in Portable Darkness: An Aleister Crowley Reader, Scott Michaelsen ed. (New York: Harmony, 1989) – the only complete published edition of the text, containing the otherwise missing introductory chapter, and published in the hardcover edt. only. See also Aleister Crowley, Moonchild for a particular application (London: Mandrake, 1929).

Much can be gleaned from what Crowley published in his lifetime regarding the symbolism of these Tarot trumps. Passages from the Book of Thoth[178] are suggestive and sometimes even explicit.

ל Atu VIII – Adjustment

> "The trump represents the woman satisfied.
>
> It is the final adjustment in the formula Tetragrammaton, when daughter, redeemed by her marriage with the Son, is thereby set up upon the throne of the mother; thus finally, she "awakens the Eld of the All-Father.
>
> She is crowned with the ostrich plumes of Maat.[179]
>
> These are the Judex and Testes of Final Judgment; the Testes, in particular, are symbolic of the secret course of judgment whereby all current experience is absorbed, transmuted, and ultimately passed on, by virtue of the operation of the Sword, to further manifestation. This all takes place within the diamond formed by the figure which is the concealed Vesica Piscis through which this sublimated and adjusted experience passes to its next manifestation.[180]
>
> Venus rules the sign of the Balance; and that is to show the formula: 'Love is the law, love under will'.[181]
>
> The Woman Satisfied. From the cloak of the vivid wantonness of her dancing wings issue her hands; they hold the hilt of the Phallic sword of the magician. She holds the blade between her thighs. This is again a hieroglyph of 'Love is the law, love under will.' Every form of energy must be directed, must be applied with integrity, to the full satisfaction of its destiny."

---

[178] Aleister Crowley, with illustrations by Lady Frieda Harris. The Book of Thoth (Equinox v. III. n. 5.). (London: Ordo Templi Orientis/Chiswick, 1944).

[179] The Ostrich plume is a particular emblem of the IX° of O.T.O.; it is related to Knights Templar degree in Freemasonry, see LaVaughn, Amor. op. cit. p. 228.

[180] The classic study of the Vesica, in relation to its importance as an ancient religious symbol of female sexuality is William Stirling's The Canon. (London: Elkin Matthews, 1897). See also Thomas Inman, Ancient Faiths embodied in Ancient Names. 3 vols. (London: Trubner, 1876). It is also a common subject of the previously cited phallicists [181] Venus as a goddess of sexuality is well documented, see again the aforementioned Inman and other phallicists on this relationship.

פ

Atu XI - The Tower[182]

"This card is attributed to the letter Pe', which means a mouth; it refers to the planet Mars. In its simplest interpretation it refers to the manifestation of cosmic energy in its grossest form.

Falling from the tower are broken figures of the garrison. It will be noticed that they have lost their human shape. They have become mere geometrical expressions.

This suggests another (and totally different) interpretation of the card. To understand this, it is necessary to refer to the doctrines of Yoga, especially those most widely current in Southern India, where the cult of Shiva, the Destroyer,[183] is paramount. Shiva is represented as dancing upon the bodies of his devotees. To understand this is not easy for most western minds.

Compare Saturn, at one end of the Seven Sacred Wanderers, with the Moon at the other: the aged man and the young girl. See 'The Formula of Tetragrammaton.' They are linked as no other two planets, since 3=9, and each contains in itself the extremes of its own idea.

See Liber AL. III. 3-9; II - 13; 17-18; 23-29; 46; 49-60; 70-72.

There is a direct reference to this card in the Book of the Law. In Chapter I, verse 57, the goddess Nuith speaks: 'Invoke me under my stars! Love is the law, love under will. Nor let the fools mistake love; for there are love and love. There is the dove, and there is the serpent. Choose ye well! He, my prophet, hath chosen, knowing the law of the fortress, and the great mystery of the House of God'.

The dominating feature of this card is the Eye of Horus. This is also the Eye of Shiva, on the opening of which, according to the legend of this cult, the Universe is destroyed.

Besides this, there is a special technical magical meaning, which is explained openly only to initiates of the Eleventh degree of the O.T.O.; a grade so secret that it is not even listed in the official documents. It is not even to be understood by study of the Eye in Atu

---

[182] Towers are traditionally phallic structures, as previously noted. This point is frequently made by the aforementioned phallicist authors. See also Hargrave Jennings' anonymously published "Nature Worship" series: Phallism: A Description of the Worship of the Lingam-Yoni. (London: Arthur Reader, 1892); Ophiolatreia or Serpent Worship. (London: A. Reader, 1889); Phallic Objects and Remains. (London: Arthur Reader, 1889); Cutlus Arborum or Phallic Tree Worship. (1890); Fishes, Flowers & Fire Worship. (London: A. Reader, 1890); Archaic Rock Inscriptions. (London: A. Reader, 1891); Nature Worship. (London: Privately Printed, 1891); Mysteries of the Rosie Cross. (London: Privately Printed, 1891); Phallic Miscellanies. (London: Privately Printed, 1891), and the Masculine Cross. (London: Privately Printed, 1891) all of which discuss towers in greater or lesser detail.

[183] Shiva is a favorite subject of the phallicists as a deity particularly sacred to the Tantrics.

XV. Perhaps it is lawful to mention that the Arab sages and the Persian poets have written, not always guardedly, on the subject.[184]

Bathed in the effulgence of this Eye (which now assumes even a third sense, that indicated in Atu XV) are the Dove bearing an olive branch and the Serpent: as in the above quotation. The Serpent is portrayed as the Lion-Serpent Xnoubis or Abraxas. These represent the two forms of desire; what Schopenhauer would have called the Will to Live and the Will to Die.

ד Atu III - The Empress

"This card is attributed to the letter Daleth, which means a door, and it refers to the planet Venus. This card is, on the face of it, the complement of The Emperor; but her attributions are much more universal.

"It is impossible to summarize the meanings of the symbol of the Woman, for this very reason, that she continually recurs in infinitely varied form. "Many-throned, many-minded, many-wiled, daughter of Zeus."

In this card, she is shown in her most general manifestation. She combines the highest spiritual with the lowest material qualities.

She represents a woman with the imperial crown and vestments, seated upon a throne, whose uprights suggest blue twisted flames symbolic of her birth from water, the feminine, fluid element. In her right hand she bears the lotus of Isis; the lotus represents the feminine, or passive power. Its roots are in the earth beneath the water, or in the water itself, but it opens its petals to the Sun, whose image is the belly of the chalice. It is, therefore, a living form of the Holy Grail, sanctified by the blood of the Sun. Perching upon the flamelike uprights of her throne are two of her most sacred birds, the sparrow and the dove; the nub of this symbolism must be sought in the poems of Catullus and Martial.

The heraldry of the Empress is two-fold: on the one side, the Pelican of tradition feeding its young from the blood of its own heart; on the other, the White Eagle of the Alchemist. With regard to the Pelican, its full symbolism is only available to Initiates of the Fifth degree of the O.T.O. In general terms, the meaning may be suggested by identifying the Pelican herself with the Great Mother and her offspring, with the Daughter in the formula of Tetragrammaton. It is because the daughter is the daughter of her mother that she can be raised to her throne. In other language, there is a continuity of life, an inheritance

---

[184] This reference alludes to Crowley's pseudonymous work Alain Lutiy, Bagh-I-Muattar or The Scented Garden of Abdullah the Satirist of Shiraz. (Chicago IL: Teitan, 1991), and generally to many of the erotic works and translations of Sir. Richard Francis Burton particularly The Perfumed Garden of the Cheikh Nefzaoui (Cosmopoli: Kama Shastra Society, 1886).

> of blood, which binds all forms of Nature together. There is no break between light and darkness. Natura non facit saltum.
>
> The White Eagle in this trump corresponds to the Red Eagle in the Consort card, the Emperor.[185] It is here necessary to work backwards. For in these highest cards are the symbols of perfection; both the initial perfection of Nature and the final perfection of Art; not only Isis, but Nephthys. Consequently, the details of the work pertain to subsequent cards, especially Atu VI and Atu XIV.
>
> At the back of the card is the Arch or Door, which is the interpretation of the letter Daleth. This card, summed up, may be called the Gate of Heaven. But, because of the beauty of the symbol, because of its omniform presentation, the student who is dazzled by any given manifestation may be led astray. In no other card is it so necessary to disregard the parts, to concentrate upon the whole."

It would be an endless digression to follow Crowley's integration of the sex magical formulae throughout the Tarot from the intimations that he provides here; suffice to say that he left no card unturned.

---

[185] For the 'white eagle' see Liber C vel Agape and De Arte Magica op. cit.

Passed to Neophyte

No. 3

Liberty Power
Destiny

The Seal
of
V.V.V.V.V.
8° = 3°

Life Putrefaction
Death

The Seal
of
O.S.V.
6° = 5°

The Seal
of
D.D.S.
7° = 4°

A∴A∴

The Oath of a Probationer.

I, Victor B. Neuburg, being of sound mind and body, on this 8th day of April 1909 e.v. [An V ⊙ in 15 ° of ♈] do hereby resolve: in the Presence of Perdurabo a neophyte of the A∴A∴ To prosecute the Great Work: which is, to obtain a scientific knowledge of the nature and powers of my own being.

May the A∴A∴ crown the work, lend me of Its wisdom in the work, enable me to understand the work!

Reverence, duty, sympathy, devotion, assiduity, trust do I bring to the A∴A∴ and in one year from this date may I be admitted to the knowledge and conversation of the A∴A∴!

Witness my hand Victor B. Neuburg.

Motto Omnia Vincam.

The Seal
of N.S.F.
5° = 6°

Love
Passion
Debauch

Light Perception Darkness

Victor Neuburg's "Oath of a Probationer"[186]

---

[186] Aleister Crowley papers, 1905-1929. Eberly Family Special Collections Library. (State College PA: Pennsylvania State Univ.): libraries.psu.edu/findingaids/2310.htm.

L . P . D . in A∴A∴

That the L.P.D. formula remained an interest and inspiration for Crowley is evidenced by Liber Collegii Sancti.[187] When Crowley and George Cecil Jones founded A∴ A∴ they issued a series of certificates to mark the progress of aspirants to that holy order. The first of those was the "Oath of Probationer." Each of the four corners of this document was a variation on the formula L.P.D.[188]

Liberty – Power – Destiny	Life – Putrefaction – Death
Love – Passion – Debauch	Light – Perception – Darkness

This follows a similar qabalistic dialectic as that used by Levi in the Ritual of the Sanctum Regnum, wherein the antimonies posed by words beginning with the letters 'L' & 'D' are resolved or balanced by the words beginning with 'P'.

It is clear that the L.P.D. formula was important and meaningful through most of Crowley's magical life, from the establishment of the temple of the L.I.L., when he first began his experiments with the Adeptus Minor curriculum, up through his initiation into the degree of Magus. Whether Crowley actually recovered its true meaning during his meditations on Oesopus Island is an open question; yet its mystery still abides and Cagliostro's legacy survives, not only in Freemasonry but also in the Egyptian Rite and its descendants, carried on through Ordo Templi Orientis.

---

[187] Liber Collegii Sancti (Liber CLXXXV), first published openly in Aleister Crowley, Gems from the Equinox, Israel Regardie ed. (St. Paul MN: Llewellyn, 1974). The originals are held in a number of University and private collections, primarily the Special Collections of Pennsylvania State Univ. op cit.

[188] This formula is discussed with some insight, but also with some superficial oversimplification by J. Daniel Gunther in his Initiation in the Æon of the Child. (Lake Worth FL, Ibis, 2009), pp. 81-86. The later issue is typically problematic for non-Masons writing about Masonic subjects. The open vs. the initiated understanding is necessarily lacking. The formula, being given in the 15° of the A.A.S.R. is, for instance, L.D.P. (as can be seen on the illustration of the bridge above), not the similar (and related, though not identical) L.P.D. in question. For as Levi says in his *History of Magic: "*for those who are not initiated they substitute Liberté de Passer, Liberty of Passage."

IX. Geomantic Correspondences

> "The geomantic correspondences of the Enochian alphabet form a sublime commentary."
>
> Aleister Crowley – note to RII the 29th Æthyr.

Aleister Crowley used a form of the Golden Dawn's attribution of the geomantic figures to the Enochian alphabet as a key to stimulate and test the visions he received when invoking the 30 Æthyrs. The introductory passages to many of the Æthyrs of the Vision & the Voice indicate this and these correspondences play an essential role in Crowley's annotations and analyses throughout the Vision & the Voice. Crowley also contributed to this correlation by adding the five classical elements to the 16 natural figures of traditional divinational geomancy, creating a full complement of attributions for the 21 letters of the Enochian alphabet.

The Golden Dawn's attributions seem odd on first examination. They do not correspond to direct transliterations of the Hebrew alphabet, as is the norm for the Golden Dawn. How this particular iteration of correspondences came into being requires recovery of the source of the Golden Dawn's attributions, as well as an understanding of Aleister Crowley's unique contribution to their full realization.

The foundation of the Golden Dawn's geomantic attributions lies in the Cypher MS.[189], but there is no hint there of any correlation to the Enochian Alphabet. In the Cypher MS. the geomantic figures are attributed to the zodiacal signs, according to the values given in Cornelius Agrippa's Of Geomancy,[190] and to angels given in Agrippa's Occult Philosophy.[191] While Agrippa's values are clearly the source of the attributions, the Cypher MS. does not provide any obvious logic to its order.

---

[189] References here to the Cypher or Cipher MS. are taken from Darcy Kuntz ed. The Complete Golden Dawn Cipher Manuscript. (Seattle WA: Holmes, 1996). Both Carroll 'Poke' Runyon et al. Secrets of the Golden Dawn Cypher Manuscript. (Silverado CA: Church of Hermetic Science, 1997) and Ellic Howe. The Magicians of the Golden Dawn. (York Beach ME: Samuel Weiser, 1978) should be consulted for analyses and commentary on the details of the Cypher MS.'s sources and symbolism.

[190] Of Geomancy is part of the collection titled in Latin De Occulta Philosophia, seu de Caeremoniis Magicis, Liber Quartus (The Fourth Book of Occult Philosophy or concerning Ceremonial Magic). The whole collection is loosely attributed to Cornelius Agrippa, either by ownership or authorship, especially the second tract from which the collection gets its name, a tract which is almost certainly not directly from his hand. First published circa 1559, some years after Agrippa's death, Of Geomancy is the only book in the collection whose actual author is usually accepted as Agrippa. It was initially translated into English by Robert Turner and published in London in 1655. See Agrippa. Fourth Book. ed. Tyson. op. cit.

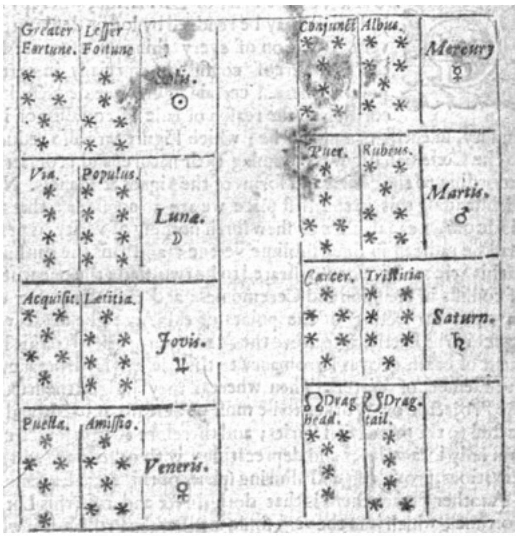
[191] Donald Tyson's edition of Cornelius Agrippa's Three Books of Occult Philosophy. op. cit. is authoritative. Complete publications include De Occulta Philosophia libri III (Cologne: 1533) in Latin, and Three Books of Occult Philosophy, trans J.F. (London: R.W. 1651) in English. Much of the material contained in Agrippa's three volumes of Occult Philosophy (and for that matter the somewhat spurious Fourth Book) was used, without credit and with few changes, by Francis Barrett for his The Magus: or Celestial Intelligencer. op. cit.

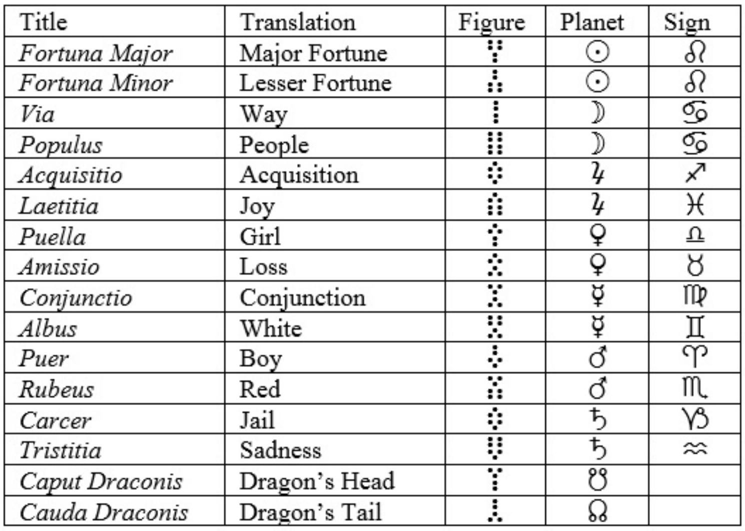
Folio 34

Agrippa, in his little instruction entitled Of Geomancy, attributed the geomantic figures to the principal variables in the art of Astrology, that is to the Planets and Lunar Nodes.



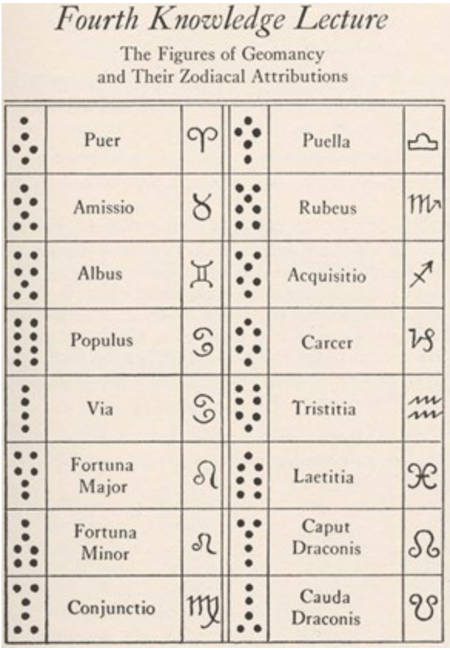
Greater Fortune.
Lesser Fortune
Solis. ☉
Via.
Populus.
Luna. ☽
Acquisit.
Lætitia.
Jovis. ♃
Puella.
Amissio.
Veneris. ♀
Conjunct.
Albus.
Mercury ☿
Puer.
Rubeus.
Martis. ♂
Carcer.
Tristitia
Saturn. ♄
☊ Drag. head.
☋ Drag. tail.

Agrippa then applied these variables to the fixed positions (signs and houses) that they rule. The following table explicates the attributes presented by Agrippa. The order he gave was based on astrological dignity, rather than zodiacal or planetary order. The planets are listed, with their ruling dignity, in the order: luminaries (Sun and Moon), benefics (Jupiter and Venus), the common (Mercury), malefics (Mars and Saturn), concluding with the addition of the two lunar nodes.



Title	Translation	Figure	Planet	Sign
Fortuna Major	Major Fortune	• • • • • •	☉	♌
Fortuna Minor	Lesser Fortune	• • • • • •	☉	♌
Via	Way	• • • •	☽	♋
Populus	People	• • • • • • • •	☽	♋
Acquisitio	Acquisition	• • • • • •	♃	♐
Laetitia	Joy	• • • • • • •	♃	♓
Puella	Girl	• • • • •	♀	♎
Amissio	Loss	• • • • • •	♀	♉
Conjunctio	Conjunction	• • • • • •	☿	♍
Albus	White	• • • • • • •	☿	♊
Puer	Boy	• • • • •	♂	♈
Rubeus	Red	• • • • • • •	♂	♏
Carcer	Jail	• • • • • •	♄	♑
Tristitia	Sadness	• • • • • • •	♄	♒
Caput Draconis	Dragon's Head	• • • • •	☋
Cauda Draconis	Dragon's Tail	• • • • •	☊

The Golden Dawn correspondences for the figures of geomancy follow a one-to-one relationship with those of Agrippa; yet they are typically arranged in zodiacal order, concluding with the nodes. The Luminaries do double duty, accounting for four of the geomantic figures. The remaining five planets correspond to the ten signs over which they rule (10 figures). The two lunar nodes correspond to the two remaining figures to yield a total of 16 (4+10+2=16). The value sixteen accounts for the total possible binary iterations of four lines. The first tabular representation (given in the "Fourth Knowledge Lecture" of the Golden Dawn) shows these relationships in their most basic form.[192]



Fourth Knowledge Lecture

The Figures of Geomancy and Their Zodiacal Attributions

• • • • •	Puer	♈	• • • • •	Puella	♎
• • • • • •	Amissio	♉	• • • • • • •	Rubeus	♏
• • • • • • •	Albus	♊	• • • • • •	Acquisitio	♐
• • • • • • • •	Populus	♋	• • • • • •	Carcer	♑
• • • •	Via	♋	• • • • • • •	Tristitia	♒
• • • • • •	Fortuna Major	♌	• • • • • • •	Laetitia	♓
• • • • • •	Fortuna Minor	♌	• • • • •	Caput Draconis	☊
• • • • • •	Conjunctio	♍	• • • • •	Cauda Draconis	☋

The Golden Dawn gradually develops this set of attributions over the progressive course of the Knowledge Lectures and Adepti instructions. In the "Geomancy" instruction provided for the

---

[192] Regardie, Golden Dawn. op. cit. p. 69

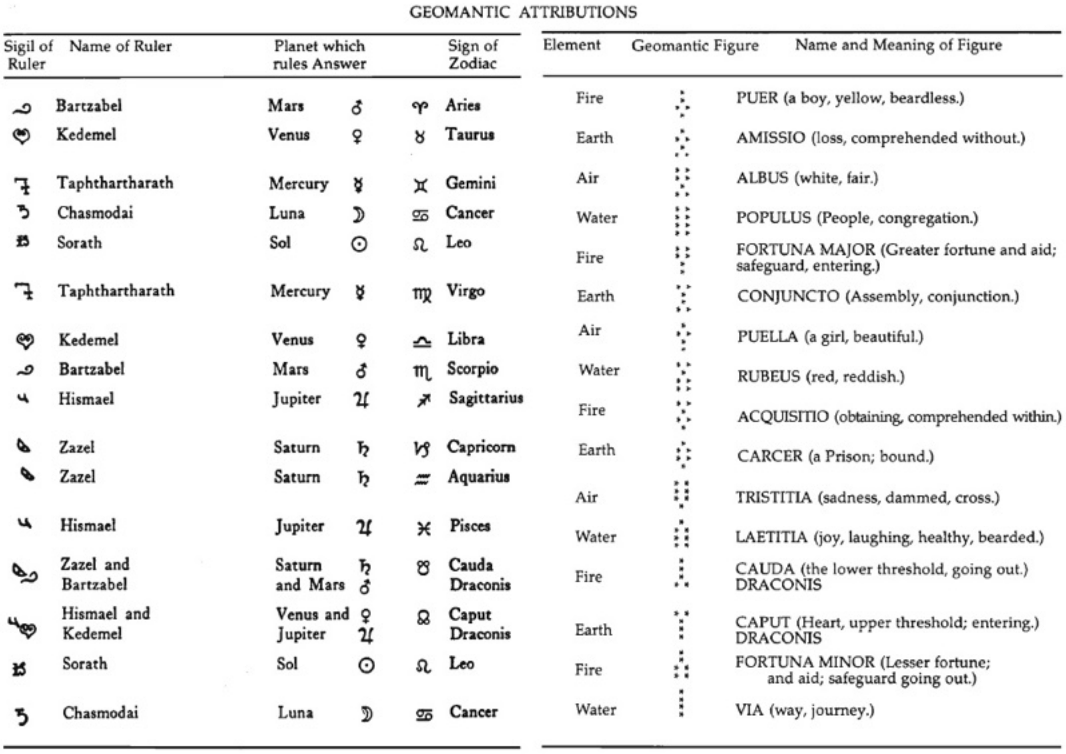
Portal Grade, the attributions are enlarged by adding the corresponding Hebrew Spirits of the Planets (therein termed genii) given by Agrippa in the second book of his Occult Philosophy.[193] The minor differences in spelling arise from the Golden Dawn's slightly different conventions for transliterating Hebrew letters.



GEOMANTIC ATTRIBUTIONS

Sigil of Ruler	Name of Ruler	Planet which rules Answer	Sign of Zodiac	Element	Geomantic Figure	Name and Meaning of Figure
	Bartzabel	Mars ♂	♈ Aries	Fire		PUER (a boy, yellow, beardless.)
	Kedemel	Venus ♀	♉ Taurus	Earth		AMISSIO (loss, comprehended without.)
	Taphthartharath	Mercury ☿	♊ Gemini	Air		ALBUS (white, fair.)
	Chasmodai	Luna ☽	♋ Cancer	Water		POPULUS (People, congregation.)
	Sorath	Sol ☉	♌ Leo	Fire		FORTUNA MAJOR (Greater fortune and aid; safeguard, entering.)
	Taphthartharath	Mercury ☿	♍ Virgo	Earth		CONJUNCTO (Assembly, conjunction.)
	Kedemel	Venus ♀	♎ Libra	Air		PUELLA (a girl, beautiful.)
	Bartzabel	Mars ♂	♏ Scorpio	Water		RUBEUS (red, reddish.)
	Hismael	Jupiter ♃	♐ Sagittarius	Fire		ACQUISITIO (obtaining, comprehended within.)
	Zazel	Saturn ♄	♑ Capricorn	Earth		CARCER (a Prison; bound.)
	Zazel	Saturn ♄	♒ Aquarius	Air		TRISTITIA (sadness, dammed, cross.)
	Hismael	Jupiter ♃	♓ Pisces	Water		LAETITIA (joy, laughing, healthy, bearded.)
	Zazel and Bartzabel	Saturn ♄ and Mars ♂	☋ Cauda Draconis	Fire		CAUDA DRACONIS (the lower threshold, going out.)
	Hismael and Kedemel	Venus and ♀ Jupiter ♃	☊ Caput Draconis	Earth		CAPUT DRACONIS (Heart, upper threshold; entering.)
	Sorath	Sol ☉	♌ Leo	Fire		FORTUNA MINOR (Lesser fortune; and aid; safeguard going out.)
	Chasmodai	Luna ☽	♋ Cancer	Water		VIA (way, journey.)

Portal Grade "Knowledge Lecture" [194]

Finally, in the Adeptus Minor instruction "Talismans and Sigils," a set of correspondences is given that attributes the Enochian letters to the geomantic figures. The table makes this correlation without providing the actual phonetic values or names of the Enochian letters. These two tables, as will be shown, demonstrate that the Golden Dawn's source, for its attribution of the Enochian alphabet to the geomantic figures was Harley MS. 6482.[195]

---

[193] Agrippa. Occult Philosophy. v. 2 c. ii.

[194] Regardie, Golden Dawn. op. cit. p. 526.

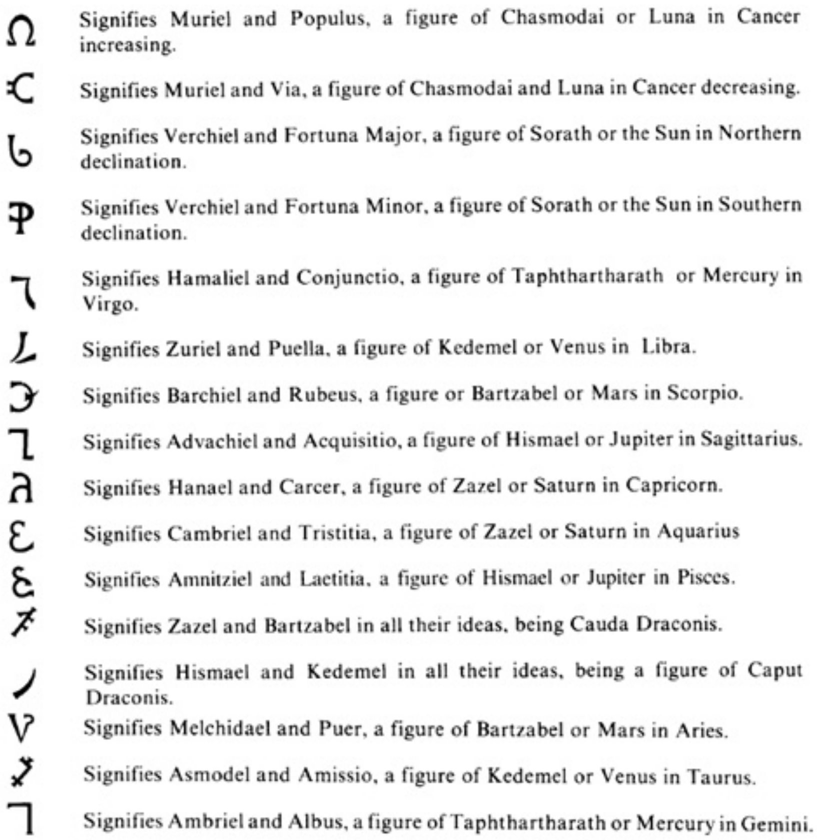
[195] Dr. Rudd (pseudo.). ed. Peter Smart, Harley MS. 6482. manuscript. (London: British Library. Harleian Collection, n.d.)



Signifies Muriel and Populus, a figure of Chasmodai or Luna in Cancer increasing.

Signifies Muriel and Via, a figure of Chasmodai and Luna in Cancer decreasing.

Signifies Verchiel and Fortuna Major, a figure of Sorath or the Sun in Northern declination.

Signifies Verchiel and Fortuna Minor, a figure of Sorath or the Sun in Southern declination.

Signifies Hamaliel and Conjunctio, a figure of Taphthartharath or Mercury in Virgo.

Signifies Zuriel and Puella, a figure of Kedemel or Venus in Libra.

Signifies Barchiel and Rubeus, a figure or Bartzabel or Mars in Scorpio.

Signifies Advachiel and Acquisitio, a figure of Hismael or Jupiter in Sagittarius.

Signifies Hanael and Carcer, a figure of Zazel or Saturn in Capricorn.

Signifies Cambriel and Tristitia, a figure of Zazel or Saturn in Aquarius Signifies Amnitziel and Laetitia, a figure of Hismael or Jupiter in Pisces.

Signifies Zazel and Bartzabel in all their ideas, being Cauda Draconis.

Signifies Hismael and Kedemel in all their ideas, being a figure of Caput Draconis.

Signifies Melchidael and Puer, a figure of Bartzabel or Mars in Aries.

Signifies Asmodel and Amissio, a figure of Kedemel or Venus in Taurus.

Signifies Ambriel and Albus, a figure of Taphthartharath or Mercury in Gemini.

Talismans and Sigils Table of Correspondence[196]

Although it seems natural, pre-Harley 6482 MS. treatises on geomancy do not give the figures in zodiacal order. Harley MS. 6482 appears to be the earliest assignment of the 12 Hebrew angels, of the signs or months, to their corresponding geomantic figures. It also appears to be the earliest manuscript to assign, the seven Hebrew qabalistic planetary spirits, found in Agrippa, as the 'Rulers' of the figures. The Golden Dawn's attribution of the 16 geomantic figures to the letters of the Enochian alphabet is essentially identical to that found in Harley MS. 6482.

It has long been known that the Golden Dawn's attribution of the Enochian alphabet to the figures of geomancy derives from Harley MS. 6482. Harley MS. 6482 was attributed to a Dr. Rudd (presumably a Dr. Thomas Rudd) from a copy made by a certain Peter Smart. The manuscript comes from the same post 'A True & Faithful Relation' era as Sloane MS. 307.[197] Neither manuscript demonstrates any special knowledge of the Dee manuscripts, beyond those of the Cotton Appendices published in A True & Faithful Relation.

Harley MS. 6482 was first published by Adam M^{c}Lean in 1989 as A Treatise on Angel Magic,[198] and subsequently reprinted several times. In his introduction M^{c}Lean theorizes that the text may represent “a secret tradition about the Enochian Tables of John Dee.” Skinner and Rankin have made similar speculations regarding Sloane MS. 307 in their analysis of Practical Angel Magic.[199]

---

[196] Regardie, Golden Dawn. op. cit. p. 652.

[197] Sloane MS. 307 played a central role in the development of the Golden Dawn's Enochiana; published by Skinner & Rankin as Practical Angel Magic. op. cit.

[198] Adam McLean ed. A Treatise on Angel Magic. (Glasgow: Magnum Opus Hermetic Sourceworks, 1982).

Tabula Sancta cum Tabulis Enochi from Harley MS. 6482

The verbatim text, from Harley MS. 6482 which deals with the figures of geomancy, their attribution to the Hebrew angels of the months and signs, to the planetary spirits or genii, and to the letters of the Enochian alphabet is as follows:

---

[199] The ‘Secret Tradition Hypothesis’ is amply debunked by Ian Rons, reviews of “The Practical Angel Magic of Dr. John Dee’s Enochian Tables,” and “Practical Angel Magic: An Updated Review,” and Egil Asprem’s Arguing with Angels. (Albany NY: State University of New York, 2012); and “False, Lying Spirits and Angels of Light.” Magic, Ritual and Witchcraft. (Summer 2008). Though both authors occasionally make errors regarding the implications of their sources, their conclusions are hard to dispute.

The Characters of the Sixteen Figures of Geomancy Expressed in the Great and Lesser Squares of Tabula Sancta

The figures Septentrional Ꝟ ẋ ٦ etc. in number 23, relate to the fourth and fifth Tables.
The figures Oriental etc. Ꝟ ꭓ ℈ relate to the second and third Tables.
The figures Meridional Ꝟ ꭓ ℈ etc. relate to the first Table.
The figures Occidental Ꝟ ẋ ϵ etc. relate to the sixth and seventh Tables.

These characters represent the seven Rulers of the Earth with their Twelve Ideas which are attributed to the twelve Regions of the Earth contained in the Sixteen figures of Geomancy.

Ꝟ signifies Malchidael or ⁘ Puer - a figure of Barzabel or Mars in Aries.
ẋ signifies Hasmodel or ⁙ Amissio - a figure of Kedemel or Venus in Taurus.
٦ signifies Ambriel or ⁙ Albus - a figure of Taphthartarath or Mercury in Gemini.
ᘯ signifies Muriel or ⁞⁞ Populus - a figure of Hasmodai or the Moon in Cancer, increasing.
ꭓ signifies Muriel or ⁞ Via - a figure of Hasmodai or the Moon in Cancer, decreasing.
Ꝺ signifies Verchiel or ⁙ Fortuna Major - figure of Sorath or the Sun in Capricorn, in Northern Declination.
Ᵽ signifies Advachiel or ⁙ Fortuna Minor- a figure of Sorath or the Sun in Leo in Southern Declination.
ᒣ signifies Hamaliel or ⁙ Conjunctio - a figure of Taphthartarath, or Mercury in Virgo.
Ⅎ signifies Zuriel or ⁘ Puella - a figure of Kedemel or Venus in Libra.
℈ signifies Barchiel or ⁙ Rubeus - a figure of Barzabel or Mars in Scorpio.
Ꞁ signifies Advachiel or ⁙ Acquisitio - a figure of Hismael or Jupiter in Sagittarius.
ꭤ signifies Hanael or ⁙ Carcer - a figure of Zazel or Saturn in Capricorn. (ת) ꞓ signifies Cambriel or ⁙ Tristitia - a figure of Hismael or Saturn in Aquarius.
ϵ signifies Amnixiel or ⁙ Laetitia - a figure of Hismael or Jupiter in Pisces.
✓ signifies Hismael and Kedemel in all their Ideas being a figure of ⁘ or Caput Draconis.
ꭗ signifies Zazel and Barzabel in all their Ideas being a figure of ⁘ or Cauda Draconis.

The Hebrew angels assigned, in Harley MS. 6482, to the 12 months and their respective zodiacal signs were adapted from Agrippa. The grouping is often attributed to Agrippa's teacher, Trithemius,[200] but this is clearly a misreading and conflation of two adjacent paragraphs in Agrippa's Third Book:

> Now there are some that do ascribe them to the Stars, by names somewhat differing, saying, that over Saturn is set an intelligence called Oriphiel; over Jupiter Zachariel; over [200] This misreading can be found in Gustav Davidson, A Dictionary of Angels. (New York: Free Press, 1967). pp. 341-342, where Davidson gives the names from both of Agrippa's lists and attributes them to Trithemius' De Septem Secundeis. The misconception can also be found in L.W. de Laurence, The Old Book of Magic. (Chicago: de Laurence, 1918). p. 10.

---

> Mars Zamael; over the Sun Michael; over Venus Anael; over Mercury Raphael; over the Moon Gabriel. And every one of these governs the world 354 years, and four months; and the government begins from the Intelligence of Saturn; afterward in order, the Intelligences of Venus, Jupiter, Mercury, Mars, the Moon, the Sun raign, and then the government returns to the Spirit of Saturn. Abbas Tritemius writ to Maximilian Caesar a speciall Treatise concerning these, which he that will thoroughly examine, may from thence draw great knowledge of future times.
>
> Over the twelve Signs are set these, viz. over Aries Malchidael; over Taurus Asmodel; over Gemini Ambriel; over Cancer Muriel; over Leo Verchiel; over Virgo Hamaliel; over Libra Zuriel; over Scorpio Barchiel; over Sagittarius Advachiel; over Capricorn Hanael; over Aquarius Cambiel; over Pisces Barchiel. Of these Spirits set over the planets, and Signs, John made mention in the Revelation, speaking of the former in the beginning; And of the seven Spirits which are in the presence of the Throne of God, which I finde are set over the seven planets, in the end of the book, where he describes the platform of the heavenly City, saying that in the twelve gates thereof were twelve Angels.
>
> There are again twenty eight Angels, which rule in the twenty eight mansions of the Moon, whose names in order are these: Geniel, Enediel, Amixiel, Azariel, Gabiel, Dirachiel, Seheliel, Amnediel, Barbiel, Ardefiel, Neciel, Abdizuel, Jazeriel, Ergediel, Ataliel, Azeruel, Adriel, Egibiel, Amutiel, Kyriel, Bethnael, Geliel, Requiel, Abrinael, Aziel, Tagriel, Alheniel, Amnixiel.

The first paragraph here is indeed a reference to Trithemius' De Septem Secundeis (Of the Seven Secondaries), exactly as described by Agrippa.[201] But the list of angels (in the following paragraph) and their zodiacal association is not found in De Septem Secundeis. Its ultimate source must lie in Hebrew qabalistic literature, though an exact correlation is difficult to ascertain. Both Sefer Raziel and Tzurat HaAretz attributed angels to the Jewish lunar months and therefrom to the signs of the Zodiac.[202] These lists show some similarities with the lists found in Agrippa, but none are exactly the same. Many of the names, without any obvious astrological context, are found as early as the Enochic literature of late antiquity, in Medieval Aramaic magical texts related to the Hekalot literature, and throughout the Solomonic Grimoire tradition of the Renaissance.[203]

---

[201] Johannes Trithemius, De Septem Secundeis. (Frankfort: Cyriacum Iacobum, 1547), translated into English by William Lilly as Seven Secondary Causes of the Heavenly Intelligencies Governing the Orbes under God, in his The World's catastrophe, or, Europes many mutations untill, 1666. (London: John Partridge & Humphrey Blunden,1647). De Septem Secundeis is a meta-astrological text devoted to the idea of seven ages ruled by seven planetary archangels. Nothing in the text relates to the 12 signs of the Zodiac and their astrological rulers. It is noteworthy that Dee and Kelly consult the angels regarding this text.

[202] Aryeh Kaplan trans., Sefer Yetzirah: The Book of Creation. (San Francisco: Weiser, 1997) pp. 209-211.

[203] Compare, for instance, R.H. Charles ed., The Book of Enoch op. cit.; Peter Schäfer & Shaul Shaked eds., Magische Texte aus der Kairoer Geniza (3 vols.). (Tübingen: J.C.B. Mohr, 1994); and Stephen Skinner & David Rankine, The Goetia of Dr. Rudd. (Singapore: Golden Hoard, 2007).

Month		Raziel - 1	Tzurat -1	Tzurat 2
Nissan	♈	Uriel	Samael	Uriel
Iyar	♉	Lahatiel	Aniel	Imriel
Sivan	♊	Paniel	Gansharish	Tzafaniel
Tamuz	♋	Zuriel	Cadniel	Tariel
Av	♌	Barakiel	Tzidikiel	Barakiel
Elul	♍	Chaniel	Akhniel	Paniel
Tisheri	♎	Tzuriel	Barakiel	Tzuriel
Chesvan	♏	Gabriel	Ismariel	Kabriel
Kislev	♐	Maduniel	Gabriel	Adniel
Tevet	♑	Shaniel	Gabriel	Tzafiel
Shevat	♒	Gabriel	Uriel	Yariel
Adar	♓	Rumiel	Berakhiel	Sumiel

From Tzurat HaAretz

The listing given in Agrippa's Book III [204] differs somewhat from the Scale given in Book II (Agrippa: 2: xiv). Here following is a table comparing the various related sets of 12 angels and their zodiacal attributions: Golden Dawn, Harley MS. 6482, Agrippa Book III, Agrippa Book II, Barrett The Magus, and Trithemius as attributed by deLaurence and Davidson, respectively.

---

[204] Agrippa. Occult Philosophy. v. 3 c. xxiv.

	GD	Harley	Agrippa: 3	Agrippa: 2	Barrett	T-deLaurence	T - Davidson
♈	Melchidael	Malchidael	Malchidial	Malchidial	Malchidial	Malahidael	Melchidael
♉	Asmodel	Hasmodel	Asmodel	Asmodel	Asmodel	Asmodel	Asmodel
♊	Ambriel	Ambriel	Ambriel	Ambriel	Ambriel	Imbriel	Ambriel
♋	Muriel	Muriel	Muriel	Muriel	Muriel	Muriel	Muriel
♌	Verchiel	Verchiel	Verchiel	Verchiel	Verchiel	Virchiel	Verchiel
♍	Hamaliel	Hamaliel	Hamaliel	Hamaliel	Hamaliel	Gamaliel	Hamaliel
♎	Zuriel	Zuriel	Zuriel	Zuriel	Zuriel	Luriel	Zuriel
♏	Barchiel	Barchiel	Barchiel	Barbiel	Barbiel	Barahiel	Barbiel
♐	Advachiel	Advachiel	Advachiel	Adnachiel	Adnachiel	Advachiel	Advachiel
♑	Hanael	Hanael	Advachiel	Hanael	Hanael	Hanael	Hanael
♒	Cambriel	Cambriel	Cambiel	Gabiel	Gabriel	Cambiel	Cambiel
♓	Amnitziel	Amnixiel	Barchiel	Barchiel	Barchiel	Barchiel	Barchiel

The list in Book III gives Barchiel for both Scorpio and Pisces. Most commentators have considered this an error and adopted the tabular reading of Barbiel for Scorpio. Notice, though, that a repetition of this kind may stem from Hebrew sources like Tzurat HaAretz. This problem is likely the cause of Harley MS. 6482's deviation for Pisces from Agrippa's list; inserting an alternate angel name for Pisces while retaining Barchiel for Scorpio. The substitute, Amnixiel, is taken from the list for the 28 Mansions of the Moon, in the paragraph from Book III following directly after the list of the 12 Angels that are assigned to the 12 Signs of the Zodiac (vide supra). It is a particularly suitable choice; in that it is the name of the angel ruling the 28th Mansion of the Moon, a Mansion likewise associated with Pisces (in fact the termination of Pisces) and the termination of the entire sequence of the Zodiac.

Notice also that Harley MS. 6482 follows the Book III list for Sagittarius using Advachiel, instead of the name Adnachiel, which was used in Book II's "The Scale of the Number 12." The author of Harley MS. 6482 does make a minor change from the list in Book III of Occult Philosophy by replacing Cambriel for Cambiel, inserting an 'r' into Cambiel to form the more common and traditional angel name. The oddest of the Harley MS. 6482 attributions is the assignment of the angel Advachiel to Fortuna Major. This deviates from the pattern of associating the regular 12 angels with those given in Agrippa. Although it uses an angel from the list in Agrippa's Book III, it substitutes Capricorn for Leo, yet does not use the angel associated with Capricorn.[205] This is corrected by Mathers in the Golden Dawn's "Talismans and Sigils" instruction. So, while Harley MS. 6482 does not exactly follow the list of the 12 zodiacal angels given in Book III of Agrippa, its author also shows heavy dependence on it, as well as no independent use of the 12 angels such as that given in "The Scale of the Number 12" (apart from the two lists agreement) nor any other direct source for its attributions.

---

[205] Substituting Adnachiel does attribute the Jupiterian angel of Sagittarius to Fortuna Major, possibly in an attempt to ascribe it a Jupitarian nature, as with the Arabic Part of Fortune. The Capricorn attribution is probably an attempt to coordinate it to the Winter Solstice. Neither of these fits in with the formulae of Agrippa and only speculations are possible to try and explain the author's intentions. In point of fact, the Sun's maximum northern declination occurs in Cancer at the Summer Solstice and its maximum southern declination occurs Capricorn, more or less opposite of what is given in Harley MS. 6482.

The problem of solar declination, introduced in Harley MS. 6482, is glossed over in the Golden Dawn table, where the correlation of the Enochian alphabet to the figures of geomancy, are assigned to the solar declination of the Fortuna figures but ignore completely their zodiacal attribution. The introduction of solar declination and the zodiacal signs where the declinations reach their extremes seems to be a peculiar innovation of the author of Harley MS. 6482. It has no origin in Agrippa who differentiates Greater from the Lesser Fortune, by assigning the former to the diurnal aspect of the Sun and the later to the nocturnal aspect. Harley MS. 6482 introduces an erroneous astronomical interpretation; an interpretation which will afflict both the Golden Dawn's and Crowley's attempt to correct it.

There is no indication that the author of Harley MS. 6482 has any idea which Enochian letters are associated with which Latin/English letters. The first section relating the directions, given in Latin, has nothing to do with geomantic figures. Instead it gives the first 3 letters of each row on the border lines and their proximate relationship to what Dee's Liber Tertius calls the 'Seven Ensigns of Creation.'

The correlation of the letters of the Enochian alphabet to the figures of geomancy, given in Harley MS. 6482, are derived in the following manner. First the author of Harley MS. 6482 arranges the geomantic figures in zodiacal order, with the nodes of the moon bringing up the rear. The manuscript then reads the letters from Dee's Holy Table (as it was printed in A True and Faithful Relation) in a simple formulaic way, assigning the geomantic figures in turn to the signs in zodiacal order. The diagram below (using Harley MS. 6482's own version of the Holy Table) shows how this is done.[206] The orientation of this version of the Holy Table is East = left, West = right, South = top and North = bottom.

---

[206] There are some deviations between the Holy Table, as portrayed in Harley MS. 6482, and that given in A True & Faithful Relation, but these variations play no part in the method of correlation.

1	♈	♂	Puer
2	♉	♀	Amissio
3	♊	☿	Albus
4	♋	☽	Populus
5	♋	☽	Via
6	♌ (♑)	☉	Fortuna Major
7	♌	☉	Fortuna Minor
8	♍	☿	Conjunctio
9	♎	♀	Puella
10	♏	♂	Rubeus
11	♐	♃	Acquisitio
12	♑	♄	Carcer
13	♒	♄	Tristitia
14	♓	♃	Laetitia
15	☋		Caput Draconis
16	☊		Cauda Draconis

Why, exactly, Harley MS. 6482 substitutes Capricorn for Agrippa's assignment of Leo to the attribution of Fortuna Minor is a mystery? The succession the Enochian letters still follows the proper zodiacal order. Fortuna Minor is in the exact place, in that order, that would indicate Leo. Later in the sequence, Capricorn is further properly attributed to Carcer. As noted previously, not only is this a deviation from Agrippa's regular and natural order, but it presumes an erroneous astronomical condition. Cancer, not Capricorn, is the Sun's maximum northern declination, and Capricorn, not Leo, is the Sun's maximum southern declination. It also makes Fortuna Minor the only zodiacal attribution that is not predicated on astrological rulership.

There is some complexity here, as the signs Leo and Cancer, (being luminaries and not planets that display retrograde motion) are assigned two geomantic figures each. As can be seen from the previous diagram, the first 10 assignments (Aries through Scorpio) are correlated by taking the Enochian letters as read from left to right on the bottom (northern) row of the Holy Table and assigning each to the geomantic figure in order. Duplicate letters are merely skipped.[207] This process is again repeated from the point of view of the eastern or left side, skipping letters that have already been assigned and attributing the three remaining letters to the next three signs of the Zodiac and their corresponding geomantic figures (Sagittarius through Aquarius). The three correspondences that remain are correlated in like manner from the western or right side of the border, completing the series with Pisces, the last sign of the Zodiac and concluding with the two nodes of the Moon.

In the end, both the Golden Dawn and Crowley, in their attempts to correct Harley 6482's problems with Capricorn attribution, went back to Agrippa's solar luminary rulership of Leo for both aspects of Fortune. Bizarrely, they both retain the secondary property of solar declination. The Golden Dawn and Crowley assert equally impossible astronomical attributions, that is that the Sun in Leo could not possibly be attributed to both the southern and northern declinations. What this would even mean or how it could be applied remains a problem.

This acceptance of Agrippa's underlying planetary and zodiacal attributions can be seen by comparing the Table from the "Portal Grade Knowledge Lecture," where both Fortunae are attributed to Leo and its ruler the Sun, sans the solar declination attribution, whereas the "Talismans and Sigils" instruction gives the solar declinations without any zodiacal attribution, notably the only places where it ignores them). Crowley does not make this clear in his somewhat obtuse instruction Liber Gaias vel XCVI – A Handbook of Geomancy,[208] though he does clarify it in his brief article about the practice, published in the International. The essay includes the following table:[209]

---

[207] The occurrence on an Enochian 'R', which follows after these first 10 correlations, seems to have been ignored for the sake of symmetry and possibly qabalistic reasons related to the virtue of the number 10.

[208] Aleister Crowley, Liber Gaias vel XCVI, A Handbook of Geomancy. The Equinox v. I. n. 2. (London: Simpkin, Marshall, Hamilton, Kent, 1909).

[209] Aleister Crowley, "Geomancy: By One Who Uses It Daily." The International v.12 n.1 (Jan. 1918): pp. 28-29.

1121 Puer (a boy), Mars in Aries.
1212 Amissio (loss), Venus in Taurus.
2212 Albus (white), Mercury in Gemini.
2222 Populus (the people), Moon waxing in Cancer.
1111 Via (the way), Moon waning in Cancer.
2211 Fortuna Major (greater fortune), Sun in North Declination in Leo.
1122 Fortuna Minor (lesser fortune), Sun in South Declination in Leo.
2112 Conjunctio (conjunction), Mercury in Virgo.
1211 Puella (a girl), Venus in Libra.
2122 Rubeus (red), Mars in Scorpio.
2121 Acquisitio (gain), Jupiter in Sagittarius.
1221 Carcer (prison), Saturn in Capricornus.
2221 Tristitia (sorrow), Saturn in Aquarius.
1222 Laetitia (joy), Jupiter in Pisces.
2111 Caput Draconis (the Dragon's head).
1112 Cauda Draconis (the Dragon's tail).

To summarize there are three erroneous assumptions that originate in Harley MS. 6482:

1. Harley MS. 6482's attribution of Capricorn to Fortuna Minor; even though the manuscript retains the Leonine order.
2. Harley MS. 6482's faulty attribution of the two Fortunae to solar declination, replacing Agrippa's more natural correspondence to the day and night.
3. The Golden Dawn and Aleister Crowley's attempt to correct the Fortunae problems which reject Capricorn (in favor of Agrippa's correct Leonine attribution) while retaining faulty declination attribution; compounding the error by attributing both maximum declinations to Leo.

Israel Regardie was notably confused on the whole issue of the Golden Dawn's geomantic/Enochian correlation. He commented in the "Postscript" to his Introduction to the Sangraal edition of the Vision and the Voice,[210] regarding this correlation:

> "It follows no schema that I am familiar with, nor have I been able to discover the underlying motif of these attributions."

Many years later, with the publication of Regardie's final word on the Golden Dawn, The Complete Golden Dawn System of Magic,[211] he made the following correction:

> "In the Introduction to Crowley's Vision and the Voice, [Sangreal's edition] I noted some difficulty in following Crowley's attributions of the 30 Aethyrs to the Enochian Alphabet. A correspondent wrote calling my attention to the Enochian attributions here which solves the problems."

---

[210] Aleister Crowley, The Vision & the Voice. (Dallas TX: Sangraal, 1972), pp. 16-18.

[211] Israel Regardie, The Complete Golden Dawn System of Magic. op. cit. v. 5 p. 5.

The 'here' (to which Regardie refers) was the table correlating the Enochian alphabet to the geomantic figures, given in the "Talismans and Sigils" instruction, something that Regardie himself had published in the original edition of the Golden Dawn. Unsurprisingly though, many of the following editions, (in which the four volumes were combined) give faulty renderings of this table, cutting off the Enochian letters that form the leftmost column.

Note that MacGregor Mathers also made an error of transcription in his Adeptus Minor instruction "Talismans and Sigils" mistaking Harley MS. 6482's ɿ (fam) for its ᒣ (graph) and thus transposed the geomantic figures that this manuscript attributes to these two Enochian letters.[212] The similar formation and appearance of these two letters (a right horizontal stroke, followed by a downward vertical stroke) was probably the cause of this misreading. Nevertheless, Mathers' attributed ɿ (fam) to Conjunctio when it should (according to Harley MS. 6482) be Albus and vice versa where Mathers gives ᒣ (graph) for Albus where it should be Conjunctio.

Crowley, as will be shown, corrected this error and thereby matched the attributions given for 30 Æthyrs of The Vision and the Voice to those of Harley MS. 6482. The use and integration of this set of attributions was not, apparently, widespread among the Golden Dawn's magical practitioners. In fact, no record of any application of this set of attributions survives.

There are some vague references to geomancy in the work of Florence Farr's "Sphere Group" and its astral exploration of the Enochian letters.[213] The scant references found in the transcriptions of the Sphere Group's visions mention only two of the unattributed letters, ɷ (na-hath) and ᛒ (veh) and fail to provide any solid attributions; though ɷ (na-hath), or possibly ᛒ (veh) is associated with June, which could presumably be taken as a reference to Muriel and thereby Populus and/or Via. Those Enochian letters, though, were already assigned by the Golden Dawn, in the "Talismans and Sigils" instruction to ɓ (ged) and ꞇ (ur) respectively. References to geomancy are also notably lacking in Westcott's detailed attributions for his own Watchtowers and the Theoricus Adeptus Minor material upon which they are based.[214] Crowley seems to be the first of the Golden Dawn's magicians to apply them to actual Enochian magical work.

Crowley's Contribution

The author of Harley MS. 6482 was clearly unaware of the full set of 21 letters that comprise the complete Enochian alphabet or of their phonetic values and English/Latin associations. The values of some of the letters could have been deduced from the "Specimen of the Tables of the

---

[212] This problem and both its nature and solution were first published by Hymenaeus Beta in his notes to the Table of Geomantic Correspondences in his edition of Aleister Crowley et al's, Magick: Liber ABA. 2nd edt. Hymenaeus Beta ed. (York Beach ME: Weiser, 1997), pp. 557, 765-767.

[213] Florence Farr, Enochian Experiments of the Golden Dawn. 2nd edt. (Seattle: Holmes, 2005).

[214] Sandra Tabatha Cicero et al, The Book of the Concourse of the Watchtowers: An Exploration of Westcott's Enochian Tablets. (Elfers FA: H.O.G.D Books, 2012).

Book of Enoch" plate given in A True & Faithful Relation, but they clearly were not. Nor is that necessarily obvious or intuitive without a key to the alphabet.

The Golden Dawn, on the other hand, was aware of the full set of 21 letters and their English/Latin equivalents. Through the research of Mathers in the British Museum Library, this relationship entered into the Golden Dawn system in the first part of Mathers' The Concourse of the Forces. In the Concourse of the Forces these 21 letters are given without attribution beyond phonetic values and their somewhat unintuitive letter names. Mathers had clearly examined Sloane MS. 3188,[215] from which he culled the Enochian letters and their basic values. He also examined the Sigillum Dei Aemeth contained therein, though his understanding of its inner mechanics, seems limited to nonexistent. He appears only to have used the Sigillum for the tortured and faulty naming conventions he applied to the so-called 'Supreme Elemental Kings.' These figures are derived from images that appear at the corners of the Watchtowers in A True & Faithful Relation[216] and in Sloane MS. 3191.[217] These images are used in the Golden Dawn system to crown the respective Watchtowers.

Harley MS. 6842 only attributed 16 of the Enochian letters to the 16 Geomantic figures, and therefore five of the 21 Enochian letters remained unattributed. The Golden Dawn itself seems to have done nothing with these remaining five letters. Five is (conveniently) the number of Elements used in the Golden Dawn system of magick: that is the four Classical Elements: Fire, Water, Air and Earth with the addition of Spirit. These are the values found in the attributions of the points of the Pentagram and applied to the Watchtowers of the Enochian system, when the Tablet of Union or Spirit Tablet is added.

Aleister Crowley, clearly sensed the symbolic potential and understood the obvious set of attributions to which to apply these remaining letters. His various attempts at fleshing out the attributions of the Enochian alphabet can be found in his Ol Sonf Vorsg notebook grimoire.[218] There is no discernable pattern to Crowley's final arrangement. They are not assigned to the remaining letters in any obvious alphabetic order: English, Enochian, Hebrew, or otherwise. These attributions of the remaining Enochian letters to the Classic Elements are clearly Crowley's invention.[219] An examination of what appears to be his preliminary analysis indicates he considered various possibilities; though his underlying logic or intuitive insights remain unknown.

---

[215] John Dee, Liber Mysteriorum Quinque, in Sloane MS. 3188. British Library. Published as Joseph H. Peterson ed., John Dee's Five Books of Mystery. op. cit., by Christopher L. Whitby ed. John Dee's Actions with Spirits. op. cit. Kevin Klein ed. The Complete Mystical Records of Dr. John Dee. 2 vols. op. cit.

[216] Casaubon ed. A True & Faithful Relation. op. cit. and Klein op. cit.

[217] John Dee, Liber Scientiae Auxilii et Victoriae Terrestris, in Sloane MS. 3191. British Library. Published in James, Enochian. op. cit., Turner, Elizabethan. op. cit. and Klein op cit.

[218] Crowley, Aleister. Ol Sonf Vorsg (West MS. 36), 1900. Notebook. Northwestern Univ: Charles Deering McCormick Library of Special Collections.

[219] Hymenaeus Beta correctly asserts that these are in fact Crowley's invention, but he curiously states that in doing so Crowley rejected "the G.D. system of attributions for the elements." What system of attribution Crowley could have Hymenaeus Beta, in his notation to Liber ABA's the Table of Correspondences for the Enochian and the geomantic figures, asserts that Crowley had actually examined Harley MS. 6482. This assertion may seem presumptuous at first glance, but has significant evidence to recommend it.[220] The notation in Liber ABA misidentifies Harley MS. 6482 as Harley MS. 6282, as the Harleian Manuscript Catalogue entries shown here indicate:[221]

6282.

A Folio with this title, " A Tranſcript of ſeverall Records, relating to the Univerſities of Oxford and Cambridge, and to the Viſitations of Colleges and Hoſpitals."

It contains,

1. The Titles of the Statutes of the Univerſity of Oxford, publiſhed in the Year 1634, & of the public library there. 1.

2. The Statutes of Magdalen College in Latin. 13.

3. Extracts out of the Regiſters of Magdalen College, of ſeveral Matters relating to the Univerſity of Oxford, & to the ſaid College. This part contains many curious matters; as, The incomes of the Colleges in 1596. A prayer for the Queen, 1588. A prayer for the French King H. IV. and his armies, againſt the Houſe of Guiſe. An abſtract of the hard dealing of ſome of the Juſtices of her Majeſties Bench, towards the Univerſity of Oxford about the year 1585 (p. 94) &c. &c. 82.

4. An Account of ſeveral Mandamuſes from the King to Magdalen College in Oxford, & to King's College in Cambridge, for the choice of Preſidents & Fellows in the ſaid Colleges. In all 155 written leaves. 137.

6482.

A Quarto, containing the Characters of the 16 Figures of Geomancy, expreſſed in the great & leſſer Squares of Tabula ſancta; together with an explication of the ſeven Tables of Enoch, which are charged with Spirits or Genii, both good & bad of ſeveral Orders & Hierarchies, which the wiſe King Solomon made uſe of. Collected from Dr. Rudd's Papers by P. Smart, M. A. Here are Remarks on Sylphs, Salamanders, Gnomes, &c.

Three tables, attempting to correlate attributions to the Enochian alphabet, are extant in West MS. 36, Crowley's personal grimoire and magical notebook that he titled (Ol Sonf Vorsg). None of the three tables precisely reflect the elemental values, upon which Crowley ultimately settled. The first shows Crowley's process in some detail. The analytical process in this diagram demonstrates, in several ways, that Crowley had indeed examined Harley MS. 6482 been rejecting is unclear? As the evidence or lack thereof from the Sphere Group workings and other documents indicate, there seems to have been no system to reject.

---

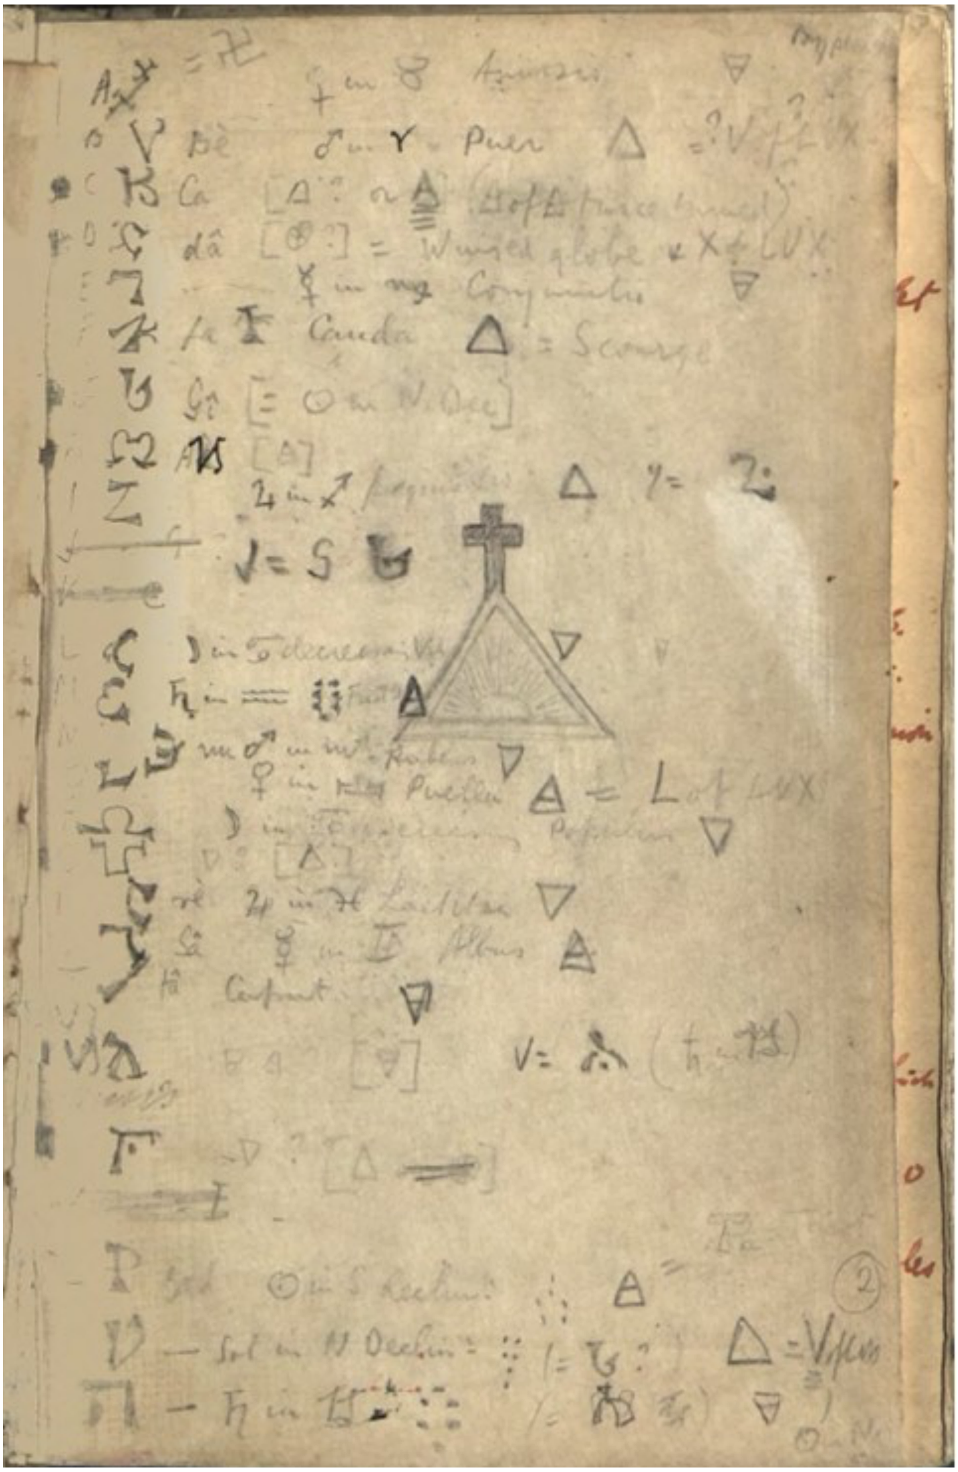
[220] Crowley, Magick op cit. Hymenaeus Beta makes a curious comment on this point where he references the time that Crowley spent in Oxford University's Bodelian Library, whereas the Harleian collection was housed in the British Museum Library.

[221] Manuscripts in the Harleian Collection, vol. III. (London: George Eyre & Andrew Strahan, 1809).



☿ in ♉ Amissio ▽

Bē ♂ in ♈ Puer △

dâ = Winged globe & X of LUX

☿ in ♍ Conjunctio ▽

Cauda △ = Scourge

[= ☉ in N. Decl]

♃ in ♐ Acquisitio △

☽ in ♋ decreasing Via

♂ in ... Rubeus

♀ in ... Puella △ = L of LUX

☽ in ... Populus ▽

♃ in ♓ Laetitia ▽

☿ in ♊ Albus △

Caput ▽

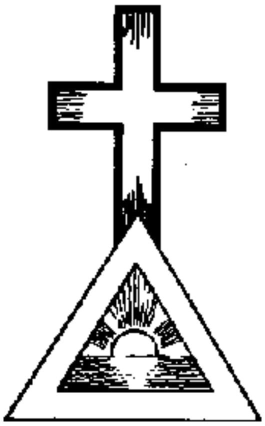
Sol ☉ in S Declin △

Sol in N Declin △

♄ in ♑ ▽

West MS. 36: Table 1.

A	ӿ	卍	♀ in ♉	Amissio	🜃
B	Ꝟ	Bè	♂ in ♈	Puer	△	= ? V of LVX
C	ℬ	Ca	[△? or 🜁 (🜁 of 🜁 twice repeated)
D	Ꜿ	dâ	[⊛ ?]			= Winged globe + X of LUX
E	ℸ		☿ in ♍	Conjunctio	🜃
F	ⱦ	fa ʑ		Cauda		△ = Scourge
G	ט	Gî	[= ☉ in N. Dec.]
H	ꝏ	♑	[🜁]
I	Ɩ		♃ in ♐	Acquisitio	△	Y = Ꞁ
J	= G ט
K	= C
L	ꞇ		☽ in ♋ declining	Via
M	Ꜫ		♄ in ♒	⡿ Tristia	🜁
N	Ͽ	nu	♂ in ♏	Rubeus	▽
O	Ⳑ		♀ in ♎	Puella	🜁	= L of LVX
P	Ω		☽ in ♋ increasing	Populus	▽
Q	Ⴎ		▽ : [△]
R	Ɛ	rè	♃ in ♓	Laetitia	▽
S	ᒉ	Sâ	☿ in ♊	Albus	🜁
T	✓	tâ		Caput	🜃
U
V	ɑ		🜃 △ [🜃]			V = ɑ (♄ in ♑)
X	Γ		▽ ? [△ =]
Y	= I
Z	♇	zod	☉ in S. Declination	⣧	🜁	= Tau Tarot
ט			Sol in N Declin.	⡟	△	(ʋ= ?) = V of LVX
ת			♄ in ♑	⡗		(= ɑ) 🜃 ☉ in N.



Three matters on this page confirm that Crowley had examined Harley MS. 6482 firsthand. Firstly the formation of the angelic script itself shows an uncanny resemblance to the letter style written in the hand of the author of Harley MS. 6482. Even though Crowley is using a pencil in West MS. 36, it is modelled on the pen style of Harley MS. 6482, as opposed to the purely linear style used for the Enochian characters in "Talismans and Sigils." Secondly this table corrects the ℸ (graph) / ᒉ (fam) transposition error that Mathers made in "Talismans and Sigils." Finally it considers the Capricorn solar declination attribution (notice the ת attribution, also found in Harley MS. 6482), an attribution that had already been rejected and replaced in both "Talismans and Sigils" and in the "Portal Grade Knowledge Lecture." It is quite likely that Crowley was working out these correspondences directly from Harley MS. 6482 while reading that manuscript in the British Museum Library's reading room. He is also clearly working from the alphabet given by Mathers in The Concourse of Forces, as both his notebook and The Concourse of the Forces rearrange the non-standard order of the Enochian alphabet to align it with the order of the English alphabet.

♄ in ♑
♄ in ♒
♃ in ♐
♃ in ♓
♂ in ♈
♂ in ♏
☉ in ♌ S
☉ in ♌ N
♀ in ♉
♀ in ♎
☿ in ♊
☿ in ♍
☾ in ♋ incr.
☾ in ♋ decr.
☊
☋
⊛
🜁
🜄
🜃
🜂

West MS. 36: Table 2.

The second table from West MS. 36 is the only fully developed one of the three. Within it the arrangement is in traditional descending planetary order, the same order that informs the Hermetic attribution of the planets to the Sephiroth,[222] with the lunar nodes again bringing up the rear. The ℸ / ᒉ transposition remains corrected in this table, though the solar declination is retained. The planetary rulership of both Ᵽ (ceph) and Ⴑ (ged) are assigned to Leo and its ruler the Sun. Here the five elements are fully and unambiguously assigned. Three out of the five will ultimately be retained: ℑ (gal) for Spirit, ꝏ (na-hath) for Air and Ⴎ (ger) for Water; while the values for Ƀ (veh) and Γ (pal) will eventually be reversed.

---

[222] This planetary order, commonly referred to as the 'Chaldean Order,' adopts a geocentric point of view and assumes that the relative velocity of the planets against the backdrop of the fixed stars indicates their relative position in the schema of outward proceeding spheres; the slowest must be the outermost and the fastest the innermost. The result is ẋ	♀ in ♉

Ꝟ	♂ in ♈
Ⴑ	☉ in N. decl.?
ℑ	⊛
ꝏ	♄ in ♑ ?
ℸ	☿ in ♍ ҳ	☋
Ƀ	△ ?
Ɪ	♃ in ♐
Ꞓ	☽ in ♋
Ɛ	♄ in ♒
Ↄ	♂ in ♏
Ꝉ	♀ in ♎
Ω	☽ in ♋
Ⴎ	▽ ?
ℰ	♃ in ♓
ᒉ	☿ in ♊
✓	☊
ƛ
Γ
Ᵽ	☉ in S. decl.

West MS. 36: Table 3.

The third of the tables is incomplete,[223] and shows what appear to be theoretical attributions. It is given in English alphabetical order with two unattributed values and three question marks. Most of these attributions follow the, by now familiar, Agrippan values. A remnant that Saturn is assigned to the outermost sphere, Jupiter next in, Mars next, followed by the Sun, Venus, Mercury and the Moon.

---

[223] The order in which these tables were created is uncertain. It does seem likely that the first was probably the first created but the second and the third are only given in this order because of their order of appearance in the manuscript notebook. The notebook itself shows signs of random empty pages being used, when necessary, and therefore the independent elements may be out of order.

of Mathers transposition can be seen where Virgo is written over Gemini for ᒣ (graph). The questionable ꝏ (na-hath) for Saturn in Capricorn demonstrates continued interest in the problems that Capricorn shows in Harley MS. 6482. ɔ (gal) for Spirit and ɯ (ger) for Water agree with the second table and are the values upon which Crowley will, in the end, settle. The questionable ɮ (veh) for Fire will also be the final choice for this attribution, though it differs from the second table. The remaining unattributed letters in the third table ʌ (van) and Γ (pal) are explained by the odd attribution of ꝏ (na-hath) therein to Saturn in Capricorn which leaves ʌ (van) unattributed. Γ (pal) will eventually be assigned to the remaining element, Earth.

With ɮ (veh) taking Fire, the only unassigned letter is Γ (pal), which would, by default, be assigned to Earth. When Crowley came to this conclusion is not entirely known, but it likely occurred sometime after he began invoking the Æthyrs, since he was using Ol Sonf Vorsg as his grimoire for those invocations. Γ (pal), which is attributed to the English letter X, would have been one of the first values have to have been assigned, as TEX is the 30th Æthyr. Being the innermost, it was the first one to be called.

One other problem must be addressed. In tallying the attributions for his commentaries on the 30 Æthyrs, Crowley does not attribute Ω (mals) to Cancer and ϑ (ged) to Leo, as would be expected, but instead transposes their values, so that Ω (mals) corresponds to the Sun in its Northern declination and ϑ (ged) to the increasing Moon in Cancer. There is no explanation for this transposition, nor is it indicated in any of the analyses made in Ol Sonf Vorsg. Hymenaeus Beta indicates that the extant original for these commentaries show other deviations, but that only this transposition is constant and not explicable as a transcriptional error. It is possible, that at the time Crowley composed the annotations to the Vision and the Voice, he was no longer in possession of the Ol Sonf Vorsg notebook. He may have reconstructed the attributions from memory transposing the Ω (mals) and ϑ (ged) in the process. It seems unlikely that any certain conclusion about why these letters are transposed will ever be discovered.

Ultimately, Crowley settled on the following set of attributions and applied these attributions to his analysis of the 30 Æthyrs of the Vision and the Voice. In general Crowley only applied the elemental and purely zodiacal attributions and ignored the planetary rulership.

Enochian	Name	English	Zodiacal	Geomantic
	un	A	♀ in ♉ pa	B	♂ in ♈
	veh	C/K	△
	gal	D	⊛
	graph	E	☿ in ♍
	orth	F	☋
	ged	G/J	☽ in ♋ increasing na-hath	H	🜁
	gon	I/Y	♃ in ♐
	ur	L	☽ in ♋ decreasing
	tal	M	♄ in ♒
	drux	N	♂ in ♏
	med	O	♀ in ♎
	mals	P	☉ in ♌ North declination
	ger	Q	🜄
	don	R	♃ in ♓ fam	S	☿ in ♊ gisg	T	☊
	van	U/V	♄ in ♑
	pal	X	🜃
	ceph	Z	☉ in ♌ South declination

These particular correlations of the Enochian letters to the geomantic figures are, as has been demonstrated, synthetic. They derive their attributions from Harley MS. 6482's systematic and mechanical assignment of the figures to the otherwise unrelated arrangement of the Enochian letters on the border of the Holy Table. The author of Harley MS. 6482 applied this formula to the astrological rulership of the geomantic figures given by Cornelius Agrippa with some innovations of his own. This system was adopted by the Golden Dawn, though MacGregor Mathers partially corrected minor errors in the underlying logic and its application. Mathers also introduced transcriptional errors of his own, without actually correcting the root problem with Harley MS. 6482's logic. The Golden Dawn correspondences seem to have essentially lain fallow until Aleister Crowley rose to the degree of Adeptus Minor.

In 1900, Crowley began a systematic study of the Adeptus Minor curriculum of the Golden Dawn. He seemed to have been particularly interested in the Golden Dawn's Enochiana, especially two of the otherwise ignored parts of that system: The Golden Dawn's correlation of the Enochian alphabet to the figures of geomancy and the use of the 19th Key or Call of the Æthyrs. Not satisfied with the scant and underdeveloped materials on these subjects that he found in the Golden Dawn instructions, Crowley undertook his own research, reading A True & Faithful Relation and examining manuscripts firsthand, in the British Museum Library and the Bodelian Library at Oxford. The manuscripts that his personal notes indicate he must have examined included Harley MS. 6482, and Sloane MS. 3191. He probably also examined others in the Sloane collection and the copies made by Elias Ashmole. Crowley's investigations are evidenced by the tables in his own personal grimoire of the period, Ol Sonf Vorsg, where he painstakingly tries to puzzle out the proper attributions. In this process he begins to apply the five Classical Elements to the five letters of the Enochian alphabet not attributed to the 16 geomantic figures. It is note-worthy that this grimoire also included Crowley's hand-rendered versions of the Enochian calls or keys, including the aforementioned "Call of the Æthyrs."

In the summer of 1900, Crowley travelled to Mexico. There he began the work of the Vision and the Voice, exploring the two lowest Æthyrs and noting that the "The geomantic correspondences of the Enochian alphabet form a sublime commentary." He would later apply this method, in detail, to all his subsequent commentaries to the remaining Æthyrs.

In November of 1909, Aleister Crowley, in the company Victor Neuburg, took ship for Algeria. The intervening years, since Crowley had left off work on the Vision & the Voice, had been eventful ones. He had married Rose Kelly, received the Book of the Law, founded A.·.A.·., penned the inspired Holy Books of ΘΕΛΗΜΑ and begun to issue the volumes of the Equinox.

In the months preceding his journey to Algeria, Crowley issued the first two numbers of the Equinox. He was also going through a difficult divorce from Rose. It had been nine years since the beginning of the Vision & the Voice, five years since the reception of the Book of the Law, and two since the composition of the Holy Books.

#	Æthyr	Enochian	Attribution	Geomancy
30	TEX		☊ ♍ 🜃	29	RII		♓ ♐ ♐	28	BAG		♈ ♉ ♋	27	ZAA		♌ ♉ ♉	26	DES		⊛ ♍ ♊	25	UTI		♑ ☊ ♐	24	NIA		♏ ♐ ♉	23	TOR		☊ ♎ ♓	22	LIN		♋ ♐ ♏	21	ASP		♉ ♊ ♌	20	KHR		△ 🜁 ♓	19	POP		♌ ♎ ♌	18	ZEN		♌ ♍ ♏	17	TAN		☊ ♉ ♏	16	LEA		♋ ♍ ♉	15	OXO		♎ 🜃 ♎	14	UTA		♑ ☊ ♉	13	ZIM		♌ ♐ ♒	12	LOE		♋ ♎ ♍	11	ICH		♐ △ 🜁	10	ZAX		♌ ♉ 🜃	9	ZIP		♌ ♐ ♌	8	ZID		♌ ♐ ⊛	7	DEO		⊛ ♍ ♎	6	MAZ		♒ ♉ ♌	5	LIT		♋ ☊ ♐	4	PAZ		♌ ♉ ♌	3	ZOM		♋ ♎ ♒	2	ARN		♉ ♓ ♏	1	LIL		♋ ♐ ♋
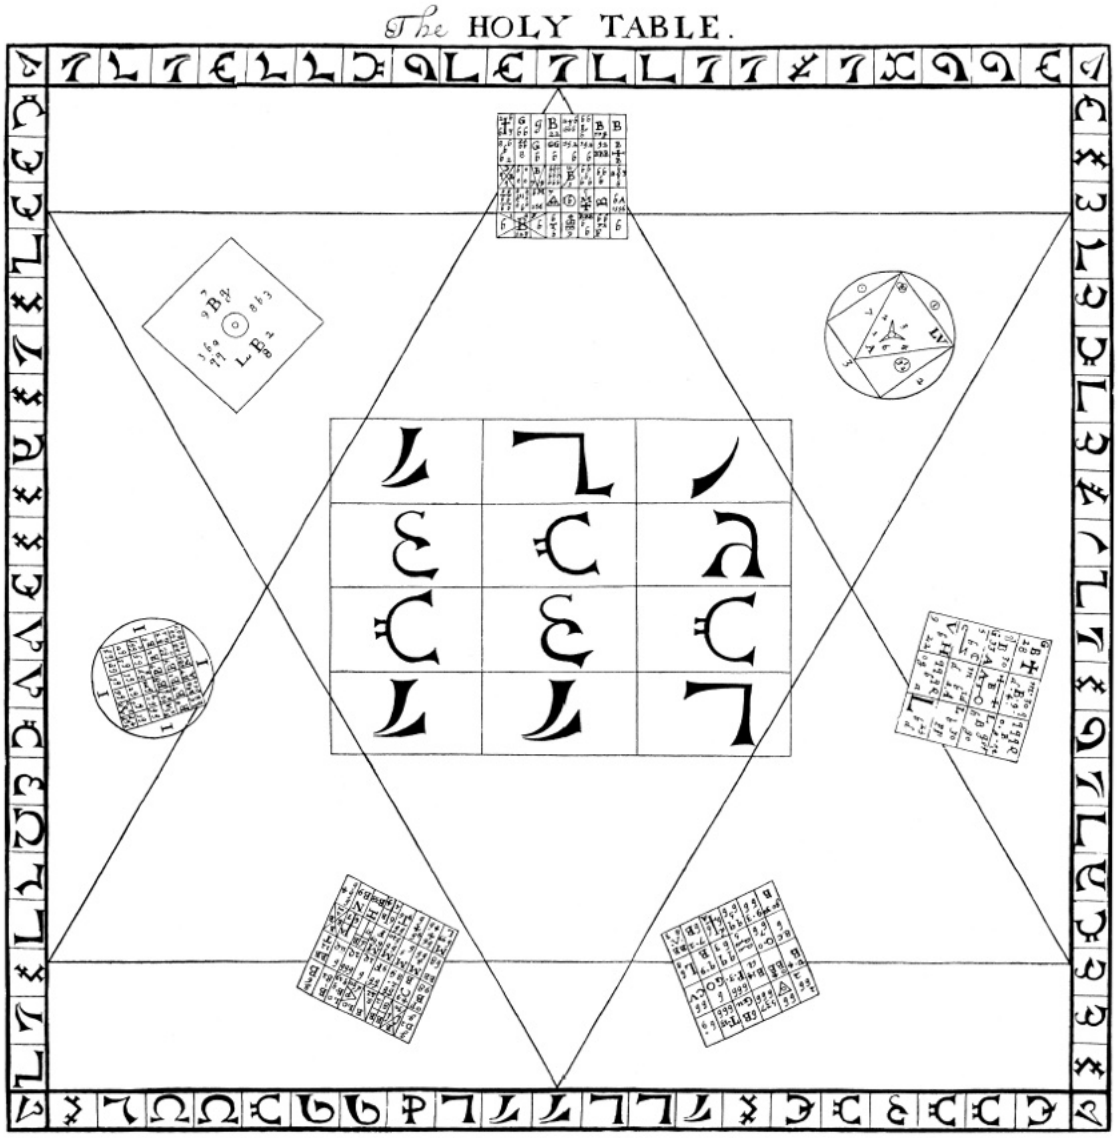
Crowley's Final Attribution of Figures of Geomancy to the Angelic Alphabet and their Application to the 30 Æthyrs.



The HOLY TABLE.

The Holy Table as shown in Liber Chanokh

X. On the Holy Twelve-fold Table

> And now the light streameth out from the altar, splashed out by the feet of him that is above it. It is the Holy Twelve-fold Table of OIT.
>
> The voice of him that is above the altar is silence, but the echo thereof cometh back from the walls of the circus, and is speech. And this is the speech: Three and four are the days of a quarter of the moon, and on the seventh day is the sabbath, but thrice four is the Sabbath of the Adepts whereof the form is revealed in the Aethyr ZID; that is the eighth of the Aires. And the mysteries of the Table shall not be wholly revealed, nor shall they be revealed herein. But thou shalt gather of the sweat of thy brow a pool of clear water wherein this shall be revealed. And of the oil that thou burnest in the midnight shall be gathered together thirteen rivers of blessing; and of the oil and the water I will prepare a wine to intoxicate the young men and the maidens.
>
> And now the Table is become the universe; every star is a letter of the Book of Enoch. And the Book of Enoch is drawn therefrom by an inscrutable Mystery, that is known only to the Angels and the Holy Sevenfold Table.
>
> - The Cry of the 15 Aethyr which is OXO

In the last several decades it has become fashionable to dismiss, as incorrect, the Holy Table (as depicted in A True & Faithful Relation[224] and replicated in Crowley's Liber Chanokh[225]), either relative to Dee's own Holy Table or the instructions given in Sloane MS. 3188. The central point of the dispute is that the Latin characters given for the Holy Table in Quinti Libri Mysteriorum Appendix are transposed relative to the Angelic or Enochian characters depicted in the plate printed in Casaubon's A True & Faithful Relation. As shall be shown, this transposition is typical of Dee & Kelly's practice when transliterating the letters of the Latin alphabet given in the Spirit Actions into the Angelic script.

The proposition that the plate of the Holy Table pictured in A True & Faithful Relation is erroneous was first made popular by Robert Turner in an appendix to his The Heptarchia Mystica of John Dee, in which Turner confidently claims that "I am able to state with absolute certainty that Dee's drawing represents the correct form."[226] Turner tentatively blames the 'error' in Casaubon on the plate's engraver. In fact, Turner is not the first person to publish the apparent deviation of the Holy Table, as depicted in A True & Faithful Relation, from the instructions given in Sloane MS.

---

[224] Casaubon, A True & Faithful. op. cit.

[225] Liber Chanock, pt. I. Equinox v. I. n.8. op. cit., p. 230.

[226] Robert Turner ed., The Heptarchia Mystica of John Dee. (Wellingborough UK: Aquarian, 1986), pp. 81-92.

3188.[227] Christopher Whitby, in his published Ph.D. thesis "John Dee's Actions with Spirits: 22 December to 23 May 1583," states:

> In the engraving of the table in TFR with its Enochian characters the letters in the top and bottom borders are written from right to left and the letters in the side borders are not only written from right to left but have exchanged sides as well. This latter move is rather hard to justify as consistency would also demand that the top and bottom borders were exchanged which they are not. The letters in the central square of twelve divisions are also written from right to left in the Enochian version but they maintain their own lines.
>
> Christopher Whitby – John Dee's Actions with Spirits.[228]

There are a number of problems that make Turner's claims almost certainly wrong. Blaming the engraver is problematic, in and of itself. If the engraving itself was merely done as seen, (as opposed to reversed so the plate printed a true image) then all the letters and numbers would be reversed in form, as well as position. They are not. Turner even posits that the engraver's unfamiliarity with the Enochian alphabet was a possible reason; though none of the letters themselves are reversed in any way.

The other plates included in A True & Faithful Relation are rendered accurately and also represent both the angelic script and materials not included in the Cotton Appendices.

Whitby's own observations makes the 'engravers error' theory dubious. In fact, the letters are reversed on the Holy Table relative to each side's point of view. Top and bottom are also not reversed because the axis cannot be reversed to be a true point of view. This is exactly how the Table should appear if the letters on each side are reversed in the same way that Dee commonly read Enochian, that is from right-to-left (as in Hebrew) and not from left-to-right as Latin characters are read. This is shown in more detail vide post.

---

[227] Mysteriorum Libri Quinque, in particular Quinti Libri Mysteriorum Appendix. Whitby, "John Dee's Actions." v. 2., 149-154, 354-356, 408 & v. 1., pp. 539-549; Peterson, John Dee's Five. op. cit. pp. 375-376, and Klein, Complete. op. cit. v. II. VI-8 [f 94v].

[228] Christopher L. Whitby. "John Dee's Actions." op. cit. pp. 150-151.

In fronte Tabula
A Sinistris
A dextris
Iuxta pectus
B
B
B
B
Gisg
Gon
Med
Van
Vr
Don
~~Mals~~ Vr
~~Don~~
Don
~~Mals~~ Vr
graph
med
med

Tabula Sancta – Sloane MS. 3188

> Luckily for us, a clear error exists in the engraving of the Holy Table included in Casaubon's edition. Due to what seems to be a block-maker's error, some of the Enochian letters on the Holy Table have been transposed and reversed in Casaubon's version.
>
> – Egil Asprem Arguing with Angels.[229]

In fact, none of the individual Enochian letters on the Holy Table have been reversed; their order has been reversed, and therefore transposed; yet if this was a block-maker's error as Turner and Dr. Egil Asprem assume, then Dr. Asprem would be right and there would have to be individual letter reversals. Since there are none, the evidence is actually against this being a printer's error. Asprem uses the 'engraver's error' or 'block maker's error' supposition as one of the premises in his argument to debunk the 'Secret Transmission Hypothesis.'[230] Asprem is correct in tracking the history of the Tabula Sancta or Table of Practice from Dee to Sir Thomas Cotton. He is also correct that the plate representing the Holy Table in Casaubon's A True & Faithful Relation is a representation of this Table and that the origin of said Table is derived from instructions given to Dee and Kelly and collected by Dee in his Mysteriorum Libri Quinque, specifically in the texts of Liber Primus and Quinti Libri Mysteriorum Appendix in that collection. Yet Asprem's, almost off hand, acceptance of the 'engraver's error' theory is presumptuous. It does not, per se, prove that, since the authors of Sloane MS. 307 and Harley MS. 6482 did not have access to anything other than A True & Faithful Relation (which was almost certainly the case), then the plate depicting the Holy Table in Casaubon was not a true representation of Dee's own Holy Table. The depiction of the plate of the Holy Table in A True & Faithful Relation can be justified on grounds other than simple lack of access to Sloane MS. 3188.

The biggest difficulty with the 'engraver's error argument' is that Elias Ashmole provided an extremely detailed description of the Holy Table from personal examination. Elias Ashmole viewed, measured, and described the actual table in Sir Thomas Cotton's library while that table was still in existence. Ashmole was a reliable and well-informed witness, as well as a noted antiquarian collector who was particularly interested in John Dee. In fact, he was responsible for saving the very manuscripts that describe the Holy Table, its composition and its construction. Sir Thomas Cotton and Elias Ashmole were personally acquainted and a written account of Ashmole's examination and description of the physical Table, then located in the Cottonian Library, survive.[231] Furthermore, Ashmole wrote detailed marginal notes in his copy of A True & Faithful Relation (while comparing it to manuscript).[232] He not only owned Sloane MS. 3188 at one point, but also made his own copy of that manuscript (Sloane MS. 3677).[233] In no place did Ashmole indicate that the table in the Cottonian Library deviated from the one depicted in A True & Faithful Relation. In fact, he asserted categorically that they were identical. Furthermore, Ashmole showed intimate knowledge of the encrypted composition of not only this but most, if not all, of the other angelic formulae in Dee's manuscripts.[234]

---

[229] Egil Asprem, Arguing with Angels. (Albany NY: State University of New York, 2012). pp. 36-37.

[230] Dr. Asprem's debunking of the 'Secret Tradition Hypothesis' first put forward by Adam McLean in A Treatise on Angel Magick and reiterated by Skinner and Rankin in Practical Angel Magic is thorough and convincing. See both Arguing with Angels op. cit. and "False, Lying Spirits and Angels of Light: Ambiguous Mediation in Dr Rudd's Seventeenth-Century Treatise on Angel Magic." Magic, Ritual, and Witchcraft v. 3 n. 1. (Philadelphia PA: University of Pennsylvania Press, Summer 2008). The supposed error in Casaubon's plate of the Holy Table in A True & Faithful Relation, simply does not corroborate the other evidence, or lack thereof that the advocates of the 'Secret Tradition Hypothesis' attempt to put forward to support it. The false assumption that the difference between Sloane MS. 3188 and A True & Faithful Relation is the result of an engraver's error doesn't, in fact, contradict Dr. Asprem's main thesis, that there is no evidence that the authors of Harley MS. 6482 and Sloane MS. 307 had any more access to the original Dee material than A True & Faithful Relation, though it does not give it any added support either.

> Twenty one letters were painted down each side, those at each corner being the letter 'B' in Enochian script on a gold background. The letters were obtained from a table rearranging the letters of the kings and princes of the forty-nine spirits whose names all began with the letter 'B'. – Elias Ashmole, Ashmole MS. 1790. f. 55.

In point of fact Ashmole's description conformed exactly with this plate. There is no reversal of the Latin characters and numbers contained within the 'Seven Tables of Creation,' nor are any of the letters of the Angelic alphabet reversed in form. None of this would be true if this were merely an engraver's reversal.

Three pages of Ashmole's notes, which described the various aspects of John Dee and Edward Kelly's magical workings consist specifically of detailed descriptions of the Holy Table. He had this to say regarding the relationship between the plate in Casaubon's A True & Faithful Relation and the physical table housed in Thomas Cotton's library:

> Note, that all the Numbers are placed in Dr. Dee's Table in the order & manner expressed in the Plate set forth by Dr. Casaubon. So are also the Letters arranged about the Table, & those set downe in the middle. Elias Ashmole - MS. Ashmole 1790.

---

[231] Ashmole MS. 1790. (Oxford Univ. UK: Bodelian Library). ff. 55-7. See also Elias Ashmole, his Autobiographical and Historical notes his Correspondence, and other Contemporary Sources Relating to his Life and Work. ed. C.H. Josten. 5 vols. (Oxford UK: Oxford Univ., 1966), and cf. Sloane MS. 3190. (London: British Libary) and Bodleian MS. 8465aa. (Oxford Univ. UK: Bodelian Library).

[232] Ashmole MS. 580. (Oxford Univ. UK: Bodelian Library).

[233] Sloane MS. 3677. (London: British Library).

[234] Op cit. Ashmole MS. 1790. f. 48 where Ashmole shows a full understanding of how the Table of 49 Good Angels are derived and applied to the Heptarchial system of Dr. Dee, including but not restricted to the letters on the Tabula Sancta. cf. Josten, Ashmole. IV. pp. 1335-1336.

[illegible] composed of [illegible] beside the borderings; of a fine [illegible] wood & very [illegible]; but the secret now lost.

55

The dimensions of Dr. Dee's Holy Table, preserved in Sr. John Cotton's Library.

The ~~breadth~~ length of the Top of the Table 36 Inches 1/4.
The Bottome of the same length.
Each side in ~~length~~ depth 35 Inches 3 quarters & 1/2.
The Thickness of the Table, 7 tenths of an Inch

Note, that all the 7 Numbers, are placed in Dr. Dee's Table, in the order & manner expressed in the Plate set forth by Dr. Casaubon, soe are also the Letters arranged about the Table, & those set downe in the middle.

The border space from the top of the Table to the first lyne, wch is of blew colour — 4 tenths of an Inch.
The breadth of the upper blew lyne. 1 tenth & an halfe of an Inch.
The depth of the ~~square~~ square wherein the Letters are placed (wch space is called the border) one Inch. the breadth ~~[illegible]~~ 1 Inch 1/2 & 1 tenth; each side being cast into 21 small oblong squares.
The lower blew lyne's breadth — 1 tenth 1/2 of an Inch.
Close to wch (to the lower end of) is joyned the uppermost point of the Pentagon.
From that point of the Pentagon to the uppermost ~~po~~ lyne of the first square — 7 ~~[illegible]~~ tenths of an Inch.
~~[illegible]~~
This Table ~~[illegible]~~ (wch is placed on the head of the Pentagon) is called Numerus primus & is 4 Inches square, the lynes within the lyne of ye square blew, ye letters & figures within & without in red, of the colour of the letters about the Table.
From ~~the~~ uppermost point of the Pentagon, to the cross lyne thereof — 4 Inches & halfe a quarter.
The breadth of the lynes of the Pentagon 3 ~~[illegible]~~ of a tenth of an Inch. & are of gold.
From the lower pte of the Table (called Numerus primus) to the uppermost pt of the ~~[illegible]~~ oblonge square placed in the middle of the Pentagon is — 6 Inches.
The breadth of this square is 14 Inches & 1/4.
The depth — 11 Inches.
The Center of this square is the Center of the Table.
The lynes are blew & the Letters gold.

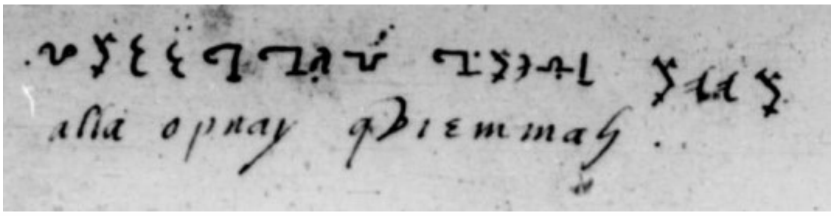
The Letters are of a reddish colour like blood, about 3 tenths of an Inch deep. Their heads are turned toward the Center: & to be read from the right hand to the left.

This square is divided by 3 & 4.

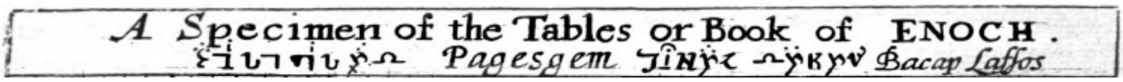
A page from Elias Ashmole's notes on the Dr. Dee's Holy Table – MS. Ashmole 1790

It is also clear, in many cases, that Dee and Kelly believed Enochian should be written from right-to-left, as opposed to the Latin/English transliteration, which reads from left-to-right. It is highly likely that this was the method applied to the physical Holy Table; taking the English of the instructions given in Sloane MS. 3188 and simply reversing the left-to-right order of the letters on each side to read from right-to-left.

Examples of this ordering are numerous. For instance the titles, given in the angelic script, contained in Sloane MS. 3189, Liber Mysteriorum, Sextus et Sanctus; (called by Elias Ashmole The Book of Enoch revealed to Dr. John Dee by the Angels), otherwise known as Liber Loagaeth,[235] are transposed. That is to say the titles in Enochian characters are read from right-to-left, while the same title transliterated into Latin characters reads from left-to-right.



aſſa opnay qviemmah.

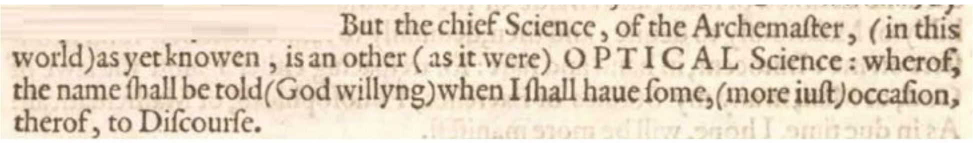


A Specimen of the Tables or Book of ENOCH.

Pagesgem Bacap Laſſos

Notice the titles shown on the plate representing “A Specimen of the Tables or Book of Enoch”, published in A True & Faithful Relation, also show this reversal of order relationship between the versions in angelic characters and the ones in Latin characters, without the form of the individual Enochian letters themselves being reversed.

Dee was also intensely interested in optics and owned a manuscript copy of Euclid Optics, which was probably rescued from Henry VIII’s destruction of the Abbeys.[236] This text was published under Dee’s name and with his introduction, as De Superficierum Divisionibus Liber Machometo Bagedino.[237] Also Dee’s Preface to Sir Henry Billingsley’s first English translation of The Elements of Euclid is full of mystical hints regarding optics; his interest in the subject laid out in great detail.[238]



But the chief Science, of the Archemaſter, (in this world) as yet knowen, is an other (as it were) OPTICAL Science: whereof, the name ſhall be told (God willyng) when I ſhall haue ſome, (more iuſt) occaſion, therof, to Diſcourſe.

---

[235] Sloane MS. 3189. (London: British Libary); “British Library MS. Sloane 3189 – Liber Loagaeth.” in Klein, Complete. v. II., op. cit. see also Sloane MS. 2599. (London: British Libary); Sloane MS. 78. (London: British Library) & Sloane MS. 2575. (London: British Libary).

[236] A brief history of this text can be found in Sir Thomas Heath's introduction to his edition of Euclid's Elements. T.L. Heath ed. The Thirteen Books of Euclid's Elements. (Cambridge UK: Cambridge Univ., 1908), pp. 8-9.

[237] Euclid. De Superficierum Divisionibus Liber Machometo Bagedino eds. Federico Commandino & Ioannis Dee. (Venice: Pisauri, 1570).

[238] Henry Billingsley, The Elements of the most auncient Philosopher Evclide of Megara (London: John Daye, 1570).

Those familiar with the optical properties of crystal spheres will realize that if a crystal ball is used in conjunction with the Holy Table, the view of the Holy Table as seen through the crystal is remarkably like the difference between the illustration of the Holy Table shown in A True & Faithful Relation and the drawing, made by Dee, found in Quinti Libri Mysteriorum Appendix. A comparison of the two versions shows a reversal along the axis as opposed to being completely reversed, both horizontally and vertically. Note again that none of the 'Seven Tables of Creation' in the plate printed in A True & Faithful Relation are depicted as reversed in any way.

Given this evidence, the 'engraver's error' explanation of why the Holy Table (in Latin characters) in Liber Mysteriorum seems to be at odds with the plate depicting the actual Holy Table (in Angelic characters) printed in Casaubon's A True & Faithful Relation is definitely disproven. There is very little evidence to support it, beyond speculation; Elias Ashmole's eyewitness account also refutes it categorically.

Let it be said that Turner's theory regarding the form of the Holy Table is currently the prevailing one among serious students of Enochiana (dilettantes, scholars and ceremonial magicians, alike[239]), though there are notable dissenters from Turner's position.[240] Some blame not Casaubon's edition of A True & Faithful Relation, but rather attribute the error to Dr. Dee in having constructed the Holy Table contrary to the 'proper' instructions of the Angels.

It is possible that Dee failed to carry out the instructions of the Angels correctly, but it is more likely that he properly read the Angelic language from right-to-left, necessarily transposing the lines of the Holy Table relative to the perspective of each side. That Dee was the one in error is a serious and ultimately unprovable supposition. It presumes that modern magicians and scholars know more about what the Angels intended than Dr. Dee himself did. It is clear, from Ashmole's empirical observations, that Dee had his own underlying logic for the transposition of the Angelic characters and that the plate depicting the Tabula Sancta in A True & Faithful Relation and replicated in Liber Chanokh is an accurate representation of Dee's own Holy Table.

---

[239] Egil Asprem Arguing. op cit.; Aaron Leitch in his Essential Enochian Grimoire. (Woodbury MN: Llewellyn, 2014), pp. 124-129; Lon M. DuQuette, Enochian Vision Magick. (San Francisco: Weiser, 2008), pp. 49-54; Dean F. Wilson, Enochian Magic in Theory. (Dublin: Cherubim, 2012), pp. 144-147; and Frater T.S. in both The Holy Table of John Dee. (Leeds UK: Celephaïs Press, 2010), and in his revision of Liber Chanokh found in the Celephaïs Press version of Equinox v. I. n. 7. (Leeds UK: Celephaïs Press, 2003) support this position: either passively by using the Turner revision without comment, or by actively arguing the point in favor of Turner's theory.

[240] The major published contrarian positions are Donald Tyson in Enochian Magic for Beginners. (Woodbury MN: Llewellyn, 2005), pp. 66-71 and Theresa Burns and J. Alan Moore, "How to Sequence the Perimeter Letters on John Dee's Holy Table." Journal of the Western Mystery Tradition. (Autumn 2014), jwmt.org.

00. Interlude

In June, 1909, Crowley had rediscovered both the Enochian Watchtowers, that he had painted in Mexico, and the manuscript of the Book of the Law. In March of that year he had issued the first number of the Equinox and in September the second.

With his divorce proceedings with Rose fast approaching Crowley decided to absent himself and embarked for a walking trip in Algeria. He and Victor Neuburg left London on November 10th, 1909.   Soon the mystical adventure of the 30 Æthyrs would begin again. This time Crowley would be able to overcome the metaphysical obstacles that barred his passage in 1900 and eventually attain the summit that had eluded him in Mexico.

The Vision & the Voice would frame Crowley's three great outpourings of inspired writing. What began in Mexico with the Lowest Æthyrs would give birth to the Book of the Law, come to maturity in the Holy Books, and finally reach completion in the Algerian Æthyrs that complete the Vision and the Voice.

XI. The Algeria of the Vision & the Voice.

Tipaza
S. Ferrush
Koleah
ALGIERS
C. Matifu
Menerville
Alma
Ben Nechoud
Dellys
C. Corbelin
C. Sigli
Bougie
Bougie B.
Mancoura I.
C. Cavallo
Djidjelli
Philippeville
St Charles
Robertville
Bizot
Kabylia
Tizi-uzu
Ft National
Drael Misan
Dj. Djerdjera
Ruiba
Rovigo
Bufarik
Marengo
Blidah
Little Atlas
Tablat
W. Isser
el Berthon
Beni Mancour
Sahel
Galah
Gr. Babor
Milah
Constantine
Dj. bel Setif
Setif
Mamera
W. Rumel
Medeah
Affreville
Aumale
Bu Areridj
W. Bu Selam
Dirah Uannugha Mts
Plain of Boghar
Teniet el Had
Be Gezul
W. el Hamm or Shellal
el Birin
W. Ksab
Msiba
Dj. Bu Thaleb
Batna
Hodna Plateau
W. Barika
Tebna
Aures
Sebka Hodna
AinUssera
Sebka Zahrez
Bu Sada
Mdukal
El Kantara
Gudjilah
Gelt el stel
el Utaia
Ft St Germain
Biskra
Taguin
W. Shelif
Seb. Zahrez
Zahrez Plateau
Selim
Dj. Zahara
W. Msi
St Okbar
Djelfa
W. Malch
W. Duis
Ain Rizeh
W. Fahama
Sidi Shaled
Dj. Bukahil
Amora
W. Kef Hadid
Zenalba M.
Busid
Djebel Amur
Shott Melrir
Wadi Djedi
W. Itel
S. Makhelut
el Mengub
el Mraier
ALGIERS

XII. The Scribe

> At any rate we did something which has never been done before! Well, not for hundreds of years anyway. We had no predecessors in the times in which we live. He told me about the 'Calls' for entering into communication with the Angels transmitted to Queen Elizabeth's astrologer, John Dee. 'It's doubtful whether even Dee himself ever called them. And since his day they have done nothing but lie on dusty shelves. We called them. We went out into the desert and called them. We didn't know what would happen.' Some of the consequences, indeed, had been of an order they had not bargained for. But that didn't matter. They had followed their own idea, in the face of all warnings, and taken their fate into their own hands. We went to sea in a sieve.
>
> The Magical Dilemma of Victor Neuburg.[241]

Crowley met Victor Benjamin Neuburg (b. May 6th, 1883, 129 Highbury Hill, Islington, London; d. 30 May 1940, 84 Boundary Road, Hampstead London.) at Trinity College in Cambridge, probably in early 1907. Accounts differ as to exactly how this meeting occurred. Captain J.F.C. Fuller is usually accredited with introducing the two, but Neuburg's own version differs somewhat. Neuburg claimed that Crowley, having read his writings, came directly to his room at Trinity College to introduce himself. Crowley and J.F.C. Fuller had been trolling, at Cambridge and to a lesser degree at Oxford Universities, for potential recruits for their still embryonic magical order.

Neuburg's poetry had been published in both the Freethinker[242] and the Agnostic Journal,[243] beginning in 1903. He also had founded a poetry group at Cambridge named the Pan Society, at whose meetings Crowley would make a number of appearances. Eventually, though, Crowley was banned by the university's administration. Both men were clearly smitten with each other and soon developed an intellectual relationship that blossomed into a romantic one. For Crowley, Neuburg was exactly the kind of student he was looking for, freethinking, intelligent and poetically inclined. For Neuburg, Crowley provided the kind master who could introduce him to the more subtle depths of philosophy, mysticism, and metaphysics.

In the intervening period between Crowley's first interactions with Neuburg and their reunion for the latter's more serious magical instruction, Crowley was conducting some of his more intense magical workings with astounding results. Crowley not only received the bulk of the Holy Books of Thelema,[244] but also conducted the John St. John[245] working wherein, his contact with his Holy Guardian Angel became, to him, indisputable.

---

[241] Jean Overton Fuller, The Magical Dilemma of Victor Neuburg. (London: W. H. Allen, 1965).

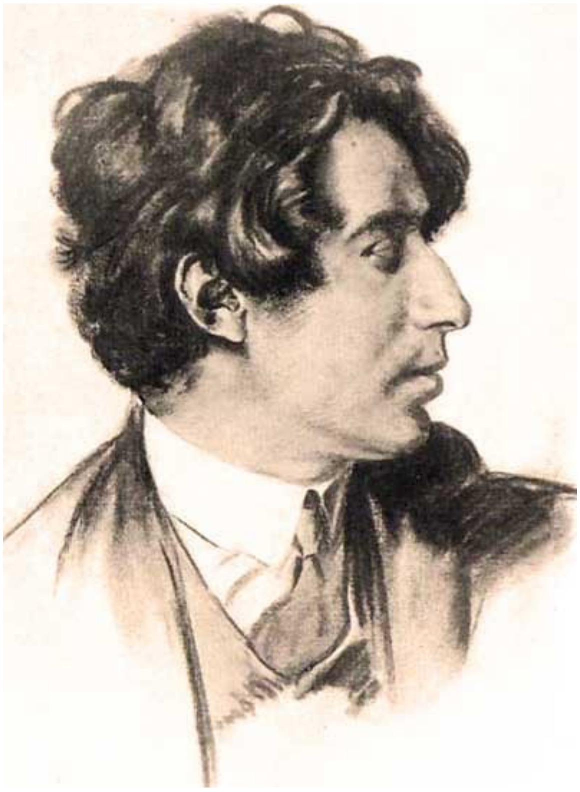
[242] "Valle Jehovah" was published in the 25 November 1903 issue of the Freethinker (London: G. W. Footer, 1903).

[243] Neuburg contributed heavily to the The Agnostic Journal and Eclectic Review (London) in the years 1903 through 1907. His poems, essays and editorials appear in the issues for 5 September and 10 & 31 October 1903; 13 & 27 February 12 & 19 March, 23 April, 14 May, 21 August, 8 October and 24 December 1904; 14 & 21 January, 4 March, 6, 13 & 20 May, 10 & 13 June, 8 July, and 30 September 1905; 27 January, 17 February, 2 May, 30 June, 8 & 25 August 15 & 22 September, 16 December 1906; 5 & 18 January, 9 February, 20 March, 6 April, and 18 May 1907.



Victor Benjamin Neuberg by G. C. Wilmshurst

In the summer of 1908, Neuburg made the trip to Paris to meet with Crowley for further magical instruction. Crowley was duly impressed by Neuburg's progress and his ability to clearly produce evocatory manifestation. It was also during this Paris period that Crowley attempted to free Neuburg from his sexual complexes with the assistance of the famous model Euphemia Lamb. The memory of Mrs. Lamb would continue to obsess Victor Neuburg and appear as an apparition during the critical evocation of Choronzon, which was a part of the vision of the 10th Enochian Æthyr, ZAX.

On July 31st, 1908, Crowley and Neuburg left for a hiking trip through Spain. It was on this trip that most scholars speculate Crowley and Neuburg began their sexual relationship. They returned from Spain in September. The journey would be a forerunner to the later events in Algeria, which produced the Vision and the Voice. During these years, Crowley was struggling with how to deal with his wife Rose's dipsomania; Victor provided a pleasant and stimulating distraction from Crowley's tumultuous and deteriorating marriage.

---

[244] Aleister Crowley, ΘΕΛΗΜΑ - The Holy Books 3 vols. (London: Chiswick, 1909-1910).

[245] Op. cit.

Portrait of Euphemia Lamb, 1906 by Henry Lamb

On November 15th, 1907, Crowley and Jones had finally formalized the beginnings of A.'.A.'., taking J.F.C. Fuller as the third in the triad of their authority. In March of 1909, the A.'.A.'. released its first issue of the Equinox,[246] which included Victor Neuburg's poem, "The Lonely Bride" and advertised his recently released collection The Green Garland.[247] On April 8th, shortly after the first number of the Equinox was released, A.'.A.'. formally received its first Probationer. It was Victor Benjamin Neuburg, who took the magical motto Omnia Vicam (I will conquer all).[248]

In June of 1909, Neuburg, in the company of fellow Cambridge Freethought Association member Kenneth Martin Ward, made a pilgrimage to Crowley's estate at Boleskine on Loch Ness in Scotland. While Crowley and Ward passed their time in pleasant recreations and Rose haunted the manor in a state of drunkenness, Victor was put through a grueling magical retirement. After this retirement, Crowley declared that Neuburg had passed his Probation and was soon initiated by Crowley to the degree of Neophyte. It was during this trip to Boleskine that Crowley rediscovered not only the Enochian Watchtowers that he had painted in Mexico, but also the lost manuscript of the Book of the Law.

---

[246] Equinox v. I n. 1. op. cit.

[247] Victor Neuburg, A Green Garland. (London: Young Cambridge Press, 1908).

[248] Neuburg's Magical Record for this period is extant. Victor B. Neuburg, "The Magical Record of Omnia Vincam, a probationer of A.A.," The Aleister Crowley Collection, Harry Ransom Center. (Austin TX: Univ. of Texas), box 15 folder 8. Published as Victory Neuburg, The Magical Record of Omnia Vincam. (Austin TX: 100th Monkey Press, 2018).

Neuburg joined the editorial staff of the Equinox for the second issue. He contributed the poem, "The Lost Shepard" and several reviews. Crowley's (by that point egregious) divorce was fast approaching. With the work of the final 1909 issue of the Equinox done, Crowley and Neuburg decided to embark on another adventure, this time hiking in the French African colony of Algeria. Crowley packed among his belongings his personal Adeptus Minor magical grimoire, Ol Sonf Vorsg,[249] which he had first used in Mexico. It would prove to be a propitious choice. For it contained his own copies of the Enochian calls, including the Call of the Æthyrs he had used in Mexico to scry the 30th and 29th of those Æthyrs. The pair departed London on November 10th, 1909 and arrived in Algiers on November 17th.

> I soon saw that Neuburg with his shambling gait and erratic gestures, his hangdog look and his lunatic laugh, would damage me in the estimation of the natives. So I turned the liability into an asset by shaving his head except for two tufts on the temples, which I twisted up into horns. I was thus able to pass him off as a demon that I had tamed and trained to serve me as a familiar spirit. This greatly enhanced my eminence. The more eccentric and horrible Neuburg appeared, the more insanely and grotesquely he behaved, the more he inspired the inhabitants with respect for the Magician who had mastered so fantastic and fearful a genie.
>
> Confessions chapter 67

On the evening of the 23rd of November Crowley and Victor attempted to enter the 28th Aethyr. Where Crowley had failed in Mexico, he succeeded here and the Vision and the Voice of the Aethyr opened itself before his astral vision. Crowley and Neuburg would continue their laborious trek across the northern desert of Algeria, stopping regularly to invoke Aethyrs in turn, until on the 20th of December they completed the series. Crowley chronicles the journey in vivid details in his Confessions.[250]

Crowley and Victor Neuburg's relationship has been analyzed in great depth by number of authors, usually without much sympathy for Crowley. The principle biographical treatment is Jean Overton Fuller's The Magical Dilemma of Victor Neuburg.[251] The major value of Fuller's biography is that she discussed Neuburg's relationship with Crowley firsthand and not only quoted Neuburg in regard to their magical practices but presents them, often, from his point of view. Fuller's perspective is always compassionate to her friend Neuburg and rarely to Crowley. Fuller acknowledged her debt to those who knew both Crowley and Neuburg including Gerald Yorke, J.F.C.

---

[249] Crowley, Ol Sonf Vorsg (West MS. 36). op. cit.

[250] Crowley, Confessions. op. cit. chapter 66.

[251] Op. cit.

Fuller (to whom she was not related), John Symonds, Vittoria Cremers, Gerald Kelly, and Ethyl Archer.

She studied Crowley's published works and also had access, through Gerald Yorke and J.F.C. Fuller, to some of Crowley's unpublished materials. Her account of Crowley's and Neuburg's Algerian travels, which produced the Vision and the Voice, depended primarily on Crowley's own written versions, but included numerous details that she apparently received from Neuburg and discovered through her own examination of the manuscripts. As Ms. Fuller's account is the only other version taken directly from one of the participants, it follows here in its entirety:

> Having got the first number of the Equinox out in September,[252] Crowley proposed that Victor should accompany him for a holiday in Algeria. They arrived in Algiers on November 17, bought some provisions, took the tram to Arba and after lunch started walking south. After two nights in the open and one at a primitive hotel they arrived on November 21 at Aumale. Crowley had brought in his rucksack the copy he had made at the British Museum of the Calls for the Thirty Aethyrs dictated to John Dee, Queen Elizabeth's astrologer, by Edward Kelly, who claimed inspiration by the angels. They are in a curious language which has to read backwards, and they also have to be called in reverse order, starting with the thirtieth. This and the twenty-ninth Crowley had called some years previously. He now wanted to do the rest.
>
> In Aumale they bought notebooks. These were for Victor, for Crowley was to make the Calls and relate what visions appeared to him, while Victor acted as scribe. For Victor, Africa itself was new and even the ordinary sights of the day, Arabs going about in their own dress with donkeys and camels must have been emotional for him. In addition, they were embarking on a psychic adventure of unknown consequence. In the evening of November 23, after their meal, they went to look for a secluded place. Looking at an ephemeris for 1909, I saw that on this date there would have been a three-quarter moon approaching the full, riding high in the sky by 8-9 o'clock, the time when they began the operation. I think one must imagine Victor seating himself in such a position that the moon fell on his exercise book.
>
> Crowley made the Call and began to dictate. Gerald Yorke has brought me photostats of the sheets of Victor's writing, which became larger and larger in his efforts to keep up with the speed of Crowley's utterances as he described the appearance of a most frightful monsters.
>
> The next day, November 24, they went on to Sidi Aissa where they called the twenty-seventh Aethyr. The following day, in the desert between 1 and 2 in the afternoon, they called the twenty-sixth and in the evening after reaching Ain El Hajel they called the twenty-fifth.
>
> In the afternoon of the next day they called the twenty-fourth Aethyr, and on November 28, continuing their journey over semidesert, they reached Bou Saada where in the morning and afternoon they called the twenty-third and twenty-second.

---

[252] It was actually the second number.

Bou Saada they found delightful. It was a place of white-walled houses, clustered on a hill in the desert to which fertility was brought by a stream below, bordered with palm trees, orchards and gardens with brightly coloured flowers, made private by cactus hedges. The scents on the air were subtle and fascinating, and as every path they took led them to something of interest they stayed for several days.

It was their custom to ignore the local heure de sieste. On December 3, immediately after lunch, they set out to climb the nearby Mount Dal'leh Addin where they called the fourteenth Aethyr. This took them from 2.50 until 3.15. They were beginning the descent when suddenly Crowley was seized by a compulsion, or as he puts it, 'heard a command'.

They climbed back to the summit and picked up small boulders or big stones and arranged them so as to form a circle. Within this they traced in the sand magic words. In the centre of the design they built an altar. On the altar they placed themselves and 'in the sight of the sun' performed a homosexual act, Victor taking the active role. They dedicated it to Pan.

This was the first occasion on which they had ritually dedicated sexual act. Crowley says he had long known it did not detract from the glory of God but that it was only in this moment he realized it could be done to the glory of God and be made a sacrament. He felt that he had overcome a dualism which he now detected in his previous conception of things as being divided into spiritual and physical, and resolved the opposition between the one life and its many manifestations. He believed that he had passed the initiation entitling himself to become a Master of the Temple, or 8=3. He descended the mountain, and awaited nightfall, Victor presumably with him.

I would make an observation here concerning Crowley's presumption in assuming he had attained a super-human grade. He drew a horoscope (moon in wrong place) for the moment, at 11.15, at which he believed that mantle had descended on him. With this claim to have transcended the condition of ordinary man, he had ceased to be completely sane. By December 6, still at Bou Saada, they had worked their way down to the tenth Aethyr, the most critical, representing the Abyss. Kelly described its indwelling demon, Choronzon, as 'that mighty devil'. It was the power of Chaos which had to be conjured, faced and vanquished.

In the early afternoon they walked a long way from the town and came to a valley of fine sand. In this they traced a circle, fortified by the Kabbalistic words, TETRAGRAMMATON, SHADDAI EL CHAI and ARARITA, within the protection of which Victor was to sit. Outside the circle they traced a triangle, wherein Choronzon 'the first and deadliest of all the powers of evil', was to be invoked and confined. They fortified this also with holy words and in the three corners Crowley killed three pigeons he had brought from Bou Saada so that the subtle counterpart of their blood would provide material for Choronzon to make a semi-physical body in which to manifest himself; Crowley was careful that none of the blood fell outside the triangle so that Choronzon could not break out of it.

Victor, ensconced within the circle, with his magical dagger and his exercise book now swore an oath of the most awful solemnity:

'I, Omnia Vincam, a Probationer of the Argentinum Astrum hereby solemnly promise upon my magical honour and swear by Adonai the angel that guardeth me, that I will defend this magic circle of Art with thoughts and words and deeds. I promise to threaten with the dagger and command back into the triangle the spirit incontinent if he should strive to escape from it; and to strike with the dagger at anything that may seek to enter this Circle, were it in appearance the body of the Seer himself. And I will be exceedingly wary, armed against force and cunning; and I will preserve with my life the inviolability of this circle. Amen. And I summon mine Holy Guardian Angel to witness this mine oath, the which if I break, may I perish, forsaken of him. Amen and Amen.'

Victor then performed the Banishing Ritual.

Crowley, who had changed into a black robe, had by now entered the triangle had at 2pm made the Call. Nothing became immediately visible but Victor heard a voice from within the triangle cry out, 'Zazas, Zazas, Nasatanda Zazas', followed by many blasphemies. It seemed to him that the voice simulated Crowley's. Now Victor began to see things; within the triangle was the form of a beautiful woman who resembled a courtesan he had known in Paris. She called to him with soft words and made seductive gestures but he recognized that it must be the demon who had assumed this form in order to lure him out of the circle and he resisted the enticement.

She then begged his forgiveness for having tried to tempt him, acknowledged his inviolability and asked to be allowed to come and lay her head beneath his foot in token of service. Victor recognized this as an appeal to his pride and would not allow the demon to leave the triangle.

The demon changed into an old man, then into a snake; then, in a voice simulating Crowley's, he begged for water to quench his thirst. Victor recognized this as an appeal to his pity and gave it no heed. In the name of the Most High, Victor conjured the demon to declaim his nature. The demon mocked him, declared that he feared not the pentagon, that he was Master of the triangle and at his name was 333.

Victor invoked his Holy Guardian Angel and Crowley also. The demon declared that he knew the names of their Holy Guardian Angels and had power over them. Victor replied that he knew more than the demon and feared him not and again ordered him to proclaim his nature. The demon cried out that his name was Dispersion and therefore he could not be mastered in argument. Victor raised the dagger and the demon taunted him for thinking to frighten him. While Victor was trying to write down his words the demon pushed sand over the edge of the circle so that the boundary of the protective figure became impaired.

Then, in the form of a naked man, the demon leaped into the circle and upon

Victor, throwing him to the ground. They rolled over in the sand and the demon sought Victor's throat with its teeth, then tried to bite through the bones at the back of his neck. Victor stabbed at him with his dagger and was able eventually to drive him back into the triangle. He retraced the arc of the circle where the sand had been pushed over it.

The demon within the triangle wailed, 'The tenth Aethyr is the world of adjectives and there is no substance therein.' Simulating Crowley's voice it begged permission to leave the triangle in order 'to get my clothes'. Victor perceived that this was another ruse and would not allow it to escape from the triangle and menaced it with his dagger.

The demon raged increasingly and Victor said, 'Thou canst not harm a hair of my head.' The demon laughed and mocked but Victor, now completely master of the situation, said, 'Thou has not power!' The demon threatened him with the tortures it could inflict but Victor replied, 'Thou liest.' The demon cried, 'Ask of thy brother Perdurabo if I lie!' Victor said this did not concern him.

At last the demon subsided and became invisible. Victor now saw Crowley in his black robe take his Holy Ring and write in the sand the word BABALON. Together they made a fire to purify the place and then destroyed both the circle and the triangle. The whole operation had lasted two hours and they were so exhausted they hardly knew how to pack up their things and make their way back.

What had really happened? The commonsense explanation would be that it was Crowley who had said all the things and, shedding his robe, leapt upon Victor. But for what reason? For Victor, what had happened was proof that Crowley's magic worked, not in the sense intended but all too really. To the end he remained convinced that he had wrestled with a demon that day in the desert. Perhaps he was right, in that he wrestled with a man possessed.

During the morning and afternoon of the following day they rested, but in the evening they went out again, and called the ninth Aethyr. The next day, December 8, they continued their journey to the south-east, their goal being Biskra, over a hundred miles away French officials were polite but expressed concern regarding their intention to cross this wild country on foot, sleeping in the open, and warned them they might be attacked by brigands. The Arabs added to this and said there were evil spirits in the desert! Also that they should be careful not to be drowned. This seemed to Victor and Crowley a strange warning to receive on the fringes of the Sahara, where water was the rarest element, but it appeared that what the Arabs feared for them was a cloudburst which could fill any narrow ravine or hollow with such rapidity they might be unable to scramble out before being overwhelmed. (Elizabeth Eberhard is believed to have been washed to her death in such a manner in this area.)

A few miles beyond Bou Saada the road finished and they felt their last link with civilization had been broken. They walked all day, climbing all the time, until sundown. They made themselves an evening meal and when they had eaten, they called the eighth Aethyr, which took from 7.10 until 8.10. After this they lay down on a patch of grass on a sandy slope and slept under the stars.

In the morning they went on and presently caught up with a road again. By evening they reached an inn, but it was closed and they were told it would open only when the coach arrived. To pass the time they strolled across the sand, meaning to climb a small hill from which they could get a moonlight view. They felt their feet becoming chilly and could not understand why. Crowley put his hand to the sand and snatched it back a though he had touched a red hot plate, for the sand was freezing cold. They realized it was because in the dry air radiation was rapid and this caused the temperature to fall so low. When they heard the coach they ran down to be at the door of the inn as it opened and spent the next quarter of an hour inside trying to rub their numbed toes back to life.

By December 10, late in the evening, they reached Benisruhr where they called the sixth Aethyr. The fifth they called in the desert between Benisruhr and Tolga after which they again spent the night in the open. On December 15 they descended into Tolga, then walked for three days across the now flatter land, arriving in Biskra on December 16 where they called the fourth Aethyr in the evening. The third and second they called on the mornings of the two following days.

A town of palm trees and camels, Biskra boasted a grandly named Royal Hotel and it was from here that Victor wrote at Crowley's dictation a thirteen-page letter which General Fuller, having preserved it fifty and more years, allowed me to see and borrow in order to make a photostat copy.

> 18 Dec, 1909
>
> Dear Fuller,
>
> Tonight I am almost too exhausted to talk, and I couldn't possibly write, so got the regular Scribe to do me this great favour, for which I am extremely grateful.
>
> I cannot possibly express in words my sense of how kind and good he has been throughout. It has been an awful job for him, writing down my ravings at all hours of the day and night, and in the forty-nine Classical positions. God help him for a silly b---. If only he had brains, he'd make an awful good chap. But enough of this distasteful subject.

The next paragraphs move on to refer to practical matters connected with the preparation of the next volume of the Equinox. Then, on page 4, there comes this:

> I hope to find you a mass of learning on the subject of Kelly (not Gerald. And why they describe him as an artist, God only knows.)

> I have gone carefully through the proofs the Temple and dear, kind Victor has been good enough to glance at them, but is trying to soak up the credit. I have had an awful job keeping him off these Arab boys. He has a frightful lust for brown bottoms. Because when he was at school he was kicked by a man with brown boots; and being a masochist as well as a paederast, that accounts for it.

Coming on this passage so unexpectedly gave me the biggest single jolt I sustained while doing this research. In one sense I was grateful to Vicky for having left a statement in his own hand concerning his homosexuality, which I could produce should anybody tax me with having invented it. It startled me because I had always thought of his relationship with Crowley as a unique thing. Indeed even after this long research I still have not met a single person who believes Victor had relations with any male excepting Crowley. The letter contains passages of unprintable obscenity. I do not refer merely to the lavish sprinkling of four-letter words but to the utter offensiveness of some of the ideas introduced. I feel that Victor should have refused to write these down.

I think General Fuller had not realized what he had passed me. He had picked it out from a huge mound of unsorted papers he had tipped from a drawer onto a table, and given it to me because it was in Victor Neuburg's handwriting. I was well into it when some memory of its content must have stirred him to anxiety, and he exclaimed in sudden alarm, 'What is it I've given you? I didn't read it myself, first!' I said, divining the cause of his anxiety, 'It's all right. I'm reading purely in the spirit of a researcher.' He said, 'I passed a Crowley letter to a man once without taking the precaution of reading through it first and he was frightfully cross with me for passing him obscene matter, unwarned.'

On the last day of 1909, they set sail from Algiers for Southampton.

When the two returned, their magical fortunes advanced amazingly. 1910 was one of the most successful years in Crowley's magical career and Neuburg's literary output that year was his most inspired. Neuburg released the Triumph of Pan[253] under the auspices of the Equinox. To this day it is Neuburg's most celebrated collection. It opens with the words of Babalon from the 2nd Æthyr, ARN in the Bathyllic or Lunar language:

Omari tessala marax, tessala dodi phornepax.
amri radara poliax
armana piliu.
amri radara piliu son';
mari narya barbiton
madara anaphax sarpedon
andala hriliu.

---

[253] Victor Neuburg, The Triumph of Pan. (London: Equinox, 1910).

The dedicatory poem of the collection, "The Blind Star,' is a direct reference to Neuburg's and Crowley's adventures in Algeria.

By the years that the locust hath eaten,
By the desert behind and before,
By the soul that is baffled and beaten,
I give you my songs: I adore.

By the way that leads nowhere in heaven,
By the feet that are bleeding and sore,
By the soul that is sick and bereaven,
I give you my songs: I adore.

By the sign that is black and forbidden,
By the word that is uttered no more,
By the root of the world that is hidden,
I give you my songs: I adore.

By the fourfold and manifold blunder,
By the might of the Virginal Whore,
By the light hidden under the thunder,
I give you my songs: I adore.

Crowley and Neuburg began to do rituals, some public or semi-public, to promote A∴ A∴ Crowley would also meet the Australian violinist Leila Waddell. With Rose gone, Ms. Waddell (or Laylah as Crowley titled her) became the new female interest in Crowley's life. These performances culminated with the Rites of Eleusis,[254] where Crowley took full advantage of Neuburg's mantic artistry, even as Crowley's romantic interest in Neuburg began to wane. Crowley became more seriously involved in Ordo Templi Orientis, with Leila as his chief associate. Their relationship would continue, off and on for over a decade.

Then, in late November, 1910, came the disastrous Looking Glass suit. Crowley's principal co-conspirator in A∴A∴, George Cecil Jones, sought damages to clear his name from homosexual aspersions arising from his relationship with Crowley. Crowley, as he did with his divorce case, abandoned the field and decided to escape to Algeria again, with Neuburg in tow.

In Algeria, in December of 1910, Crowley and Neuburg attempted to reprise their Enochian work. This time Crowley proposed to explore the first 18 keys of Dee and Kelly's Enochian system and the Watchtowers with which they were associated by the Golden Dawn. The weather did not cooperate, their attempts at Enochian failed, and Neuburg fell seriously ill and was abandoned by Crowley in Algeria.

---

[254] Aleister Crowley, The Rites of Eleusis. Special Supplement Equinox v. I n. 6. op. cit.

When the Looking Glass trial finally came to court, in April of 1911, Crowley did nothing and Jones lost his suit. It precipitated a mass exodus from A∴A∴ including both Jones and Fuller.

From the seventh through the tenth (and last) number of the first volume of the Equinox, Neuburg would share the editorial credits with another of Crowley's lovers, Mary Desti contributing poetry throughout.[255] Neuburg would even participate in the somewhat infamous Paris Working,[256] but its results were far from the heights reached with the Vision and the Voice. The Paris Working would signal the real beginning of the end of their relationship.

> 'And', he said, 'in some things we did we were quite original. At any rate in the form we gave to them, they could never have been done before. We made up our own rituals and thought out every thing we would do.' They had tried to resuscitate the tradition of the ancients, but it was not possible to know exactly what the ancients did. Most of the clues were to be found in Roman and Greek texts but they were scanty and needed to be interpreted by the intuition. They had reconstructed and performed a ritual along the lines of that which they believed to have been practiced in antiquity; but in this reconstruction, or perhaps one should say construction, they had used their imagination and in this sense one could say that what they had performed was an original creation. Looking very deeply into my eyes, he said, 'We didn't know.' -Victor Neuberg[257]

In the fall of 1914, some months after the Paris Working, Neuburg went to Crowley and renounced both his master and his oaths to A∴A∴. Crowley summarily cursed him, and their relationship formally ended. A few months later, with the Great War going badly for the forces of the Triple Entente, Crowley took ship for America while Neuburg served in the army.

Neuburg would go on to run the Vine Press and review poetry in 'the Poet's Corner' for the Sunday Referee. As his biography reveals, he never really repudiated the work he had done with Crowley;[258] in fact he repeatedly acknowledged the profound affect it had on his life and poetry. It was clearly the high point of his life and the most important relationship he ever had. On May 30th, 1940, Neuburg died of tuberculosis at 84 Boundary Road in Hampstead North London. Ironically this was also a residence that Crowley would briefly occupy, in 1946, towards the end of his own life.

---

[255] 100th Monkey Press has published a complete collection of Victor Neuburg's contributions to the Equinox as Rosa Ignota. (Austin TX: 100th Monkey, 2014).

[256] Aleister Crowley, Sex and Religion (Equinox v. V. n. 4.). ed. Marcelo Motta. (Nashville TN: Thelema, 1981), pp. 169-252; and Aleister Crowley, The Vision & The Voice with Commentary and other Papers (Equinox v. IV. n. 2.), ed. Hymenaeus Beta. (York Beach ME: Samuel Weiser, 1998).

[257] J.O. Fuller, Magical. op. cit. p. 68

[258] Neuburg praised Crowley's genius in his review of P. R. Stephenson's Legend of Aleister Crowley (London: Mandrake, 1930) for the 14 August 1930 Freethinker and in October 1930 gave a similarly positive review of Magick in Theory and Practice in the Sunday Referee.

84 Boundary Rd. Hampstead, London

XIII. The Divorce

As noted previously, Crowley's primary reason for embarking on the journey to Algeria was to escape the drama of his impending divorce from Rose. The overt cause was Crowley's adulteries, a certainly true claim, including his then ongoing (and technically illegal) homosexual relationship with Victor Neuburg. The 'real' precipitating issue was Rose's continuing and increasingly problematic alcoholism. Her condition is well documented and there is little doubt as to its reality.

> I insisted upon a divorce. I loved her as passionately as ever - more so than ever, perhaps, since it was the passion of uttermost despair. I insisted on a divorce. I would not be responsible for her. I would not stand by and see her commit suicide. It was agreed that I should be defendant as a matter of chivalry, and the necessary evidence was manufactured. I continued, however, to look after her as before; we even stayed together as much as we dared, and I saw her almost every day, either in our house or at my rooms. Directly the divorce was pronounced. I returned from Algeria, whither I had gone to be out of the way during the trial, and we were photographed together, with the baby, at the Dover Street studios. Confessions – chapter 60

THE EAST ANGLIAN TIMES - IPSWICH, SUFFOLK, ENGLAND
PERSONAL GOSSIP.

> 3 December 1909
>
> Mrs. Alister Crowley, who has just been granted a divorce by Lord Salvesen in the Edinburgh Court of Session, as the out come of a somewhat romantic action, is a daughter of the Rev. Frederick Festus Kelly, M.A., who has since 1880 been Vicar of Camberwell. His brother, Mr. James Richards Kelly, was M.P. for North Camberwell from 1856 till 1892.

The divorce was widely covered in the UK and Commonwealth press, often in farcical detail.

The cast of characters:

Rose Edith Kelly (b. 23 July 1874 Paddington, Middlesex, England; d. 11 February 1932, Paddington, Middlesex, England), the plaintiff, petitioner or pursuer in the case. Rose was the daughter of Rev. Frederic Festus Kelly and Blanche Bradford Kelly. Formerly married to Captain later Major Frederick Thomas Skerrett. She married Edward Alexander Crowley aka Aleister, on 21 August 1903, at Dingwall, Scotland.

Alister (sic) Crowley (b. Edward Alexander Crowley, 12 October 1875 Royal Leamington Spa, Warwickshire, England; d. 1 December 1947, Hastings, East Sussex, England), the defendant or defender in the case. Aleister was the son of Edward Crowley and Emily Bertha Bishop. Also known as Count Skellet,[259] MacGregor and Lord Boleskine.

Lord Salvesen - Edward Theodore Salvesen (b. 20 July 1857 Leith, Scotland; d. 23 February 1942 Edinburgh, Scotland), sometimes mistakenly given as Salveson, was son of Christian Frederik Salvesen. He studied law at the University of Edinburgh, and was called to the Scottish Bar in 1880. In 1905 he was appointed a judge of the Court of Session and held that position until 1922. He styled himself Lord, as was typical of many Scottish landowners and politicians, though he was never formally elevated to the peerage. He was a member and leader of a number of Scottish legal, ethnic and scientific organizations societies. He was the presiding judge in the case.

Gerald Festus Kelly (b. 9 April 1879 London England; d. 5 January 1972, Exmouth, East Devon, England). Kelly was the son of Rev. Frederic Festus Kelly and Blanche Bradford Kelly, and the brother of Rose Edith Kelly. He graduated from Eton College and Trinity Hall in Cambridge, where he met Crowley. He was responsible for introducing Rose to Crowley

---

[259] One might assume that the name ‘Count Skellet’ is merely a mishearing of Rose Kelly’s previous husband’s name Skerrett, but the context seems to preclude that. At least one reporter did confound the names "Scottish Divorce Suit - The MacGregor Tartan." Daily Telegraph, 25 November 1910. Richard Kaczynski ‘corrects’ this to Count Svareff without note, Perdurabo. op. cit. p. 194.

Kelly was a painter, famous for his portraits of notable contemporaries including the Royal Family. Kelly was a lifelong friend of Somerset Maugham,[260] to whom he introduced to Aleister Crowley. Kelly was elected to the Royal Academy in 1930 and was its President from 1949–54. He was knighted in 1945. He was a witness in the case.

Rev. Frederic Festus Kelly (b. 1838–d. 4 August 1918 Glouster Place, London), Vicar of Camberwell Parish and Rector of its Parish Church, St. Giles (1880–1915). Father of Rose Edith Kelly and Sir. Gerald Festus Kelly, and the brother of MP John (misidentified as James in the divorce proceedings) Richards Kelly.

Major Frederick Thomas Skerrett (b. 1858 Finavara, Ballyvaughan Co. Clare, Ireland; d. 19 August 1899, Harrogate, Yorkshire, England), the son of William Joseph Skerrett and Anna MacMahon. Army Surgeon and first husband of Rose Kelly. He was a Captain when he married Rose Kelly; later a Major, he served in Malta, India, and South Africa, where Rose lived with him after their marriage.

Mrs. Danby,[261] of Fulham, a charwoman working for the Crowley's at 21 Warwick St. in London. She was a witness in the case.

Mr. Jameson, the pursuer's barrister and counsel.

Miss Zwee or Swee: otherwise unknown person. Miss Zwee/Swee was supposedly a milliner in the Burlington Arcade, and the mother of an illegitimate child by Aleister Crowley.

Charles Randle or Hardie of Chelsea, an otherwise unknown person. Mr. Randle/Hardie was a chauffeur whose wife, he claimed, was a friend of Miss Zwee/Swee. He was a witness in the case.

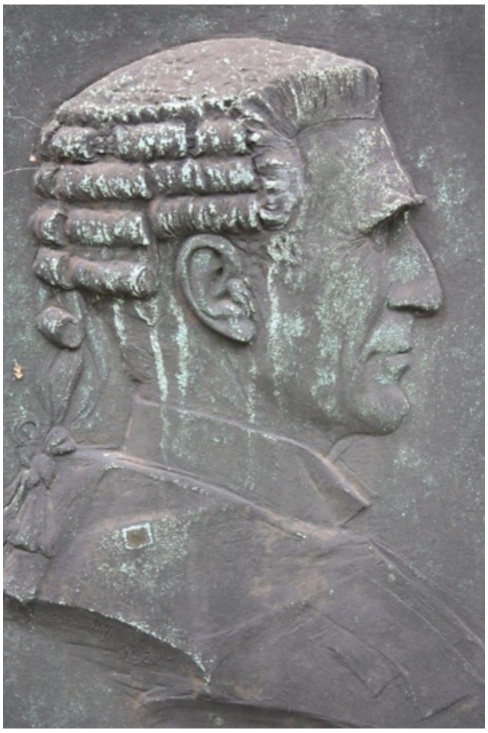
---

[260] Somerset Maugham was the author of The Magician (London: Heinemann, 1908), based on Maugham's encounters with Crowley in Paris. Crowley penned a retort: "How to Write a Novel! After W. S. Maugham" in Vanity Fair. (London: 30 December 1908), published under the pseudonym Oliver Haddo, Maugham's caricature of Crowley in the novel.

[261] Richard Kaczynski gives her name as Dauby and includes a rather salacious comment, attributed to Crowley, regarding her character. Perdurabo. op. cit. p. 194.

Rose Edith Kelly (Skerrett) Crowley

Edward Alexander (Aleister) MacGregor Crowley



'Lord' Frederick Thomas Salvesen
by H. S. Gamley

Gerald Festus Kelly

The following article was the most widely reported account of the divorce proceedings. It was picked up by at least sixteen newspapers and published across the British Empire. It was variously and sensationally titled.[262] Some minor details vary, but here is how the story appeared in the Portsmouth Evening News of Portsmouth Hampshire, England:

THE PORTSMOUTH EVENING NEWS

A SCOTTISH " LAIRD."

HOW HE TOOK HIS TITLE.

CURIOUS MATRIMONIAL STORY.

> 24 November 1909
> Edinburgh, Wednesday.
>
> In the court of Sessions, Edinburgh, on Wednesday, Lord Salvesen granted a divorce, with custody of the child and £52 a year aliment for the latter, to Rose Edith Kelly, or Crowley, from Alister Macgregor Crowley, of Boleskine, Foyers, Inverness-shire, and residing in London.
>
> The suit was undefended.
>
> Plaintiff said in 1902, when she was a widow, she met defendant who called himself "Count Skellet." Later he called himself Macgregor to identify himself with Scotland, where he had bought an estate. After marriage he called himself Lord Boleskine, saying people in Scotland called themselves after their estates. In July last she left him, and by accidentally opening a letter she ascertained he was the father of a child of another lady.
>
> Plaintiff's brother said the defendant was very proud of having as he thought Scottish blood in his veins. He invented a new kind of religion. He was a Cabalist and studied ancient manuscripts. Defendant got some mark of distinction from an Indian Chief and thereupon called himself Lord Boleskine. There was a lot of land round Boleskine, but it was mostly perpendicular. Defendant's father was a Plymouth Brother. He had lots of money but was stupid where money was concerned.
>
> His Lordship thought he might assume that the defendant's domicile was Scottish, whatever it was originally, and granted the decree.

A more detailed account was reported in the local Inverness newspaper. The oblique statement: “Further evidence of infidelity having been given.” This suggests that the Inverness Courier was being purposefully discreet in the matter of the purported illegitimate child.

---

[262] "Lord Boleskine's Wife Secures Divorce." The Derby Daily Telegraph, 23? November 1909; "Invented a New Religion, but was Faithless to his Wife - Lord Boleskine Divorced. Gloucestershire Echo, 24 November, 1909; "Invented a Religion." The Hull Daily Mail, 24 November 1909; "Divorce Damages - Respondent a Man of Many Names," The Nottingham Evening Post, 24 November 1909; "A Scottish Laird - How He Took His Title - Curious Matrimonial Story." The Portsmouth Evening News, 24 November 1909; "A Self-Styled Peer - Invented a New Religion - Strange Evidence in Divorce Case." The Belfast Evening Telegraph, 25 November 1909; "Lord Boleskine - Strange Story of a Scottish Divorce Suit." The Belfast News-Letter, 25 November 1909; "A New Religion - Curious Evidence in Divorce Action." The East Anglian Daily Times, 25 November 1909; "Curious Edinburgh Divorce Suit." The Northern Whig, 25 November 1909; "Made New Religion - Strange History Related in a Scottish Court." The Western Times, 25 November 1909; "A Scottish Laird - How He Took His Title," The Hampshire Telegraph, 27 November 1909; "Man of Many Names - Curious Scottish Divorce." The Times and Express, 26 November 1909; "Wife Gets Divorce - Extraordinary Story." The Norfolk News, 27 November 1909 & "The Self-Styled Peer - Invented a New Religion - Strange Evidence in Divorce Case." The Weekly Telegraph, 27 November 1909.

THE INVERNESS COURIER

"LORD BOLESKINE."

DIVORCE ACTION IN COURT OF SESSION.

CURIOUS EVIDENCE.

26 November 1909
Inverness, Scotland

Lord Salvesen heard proof on Wednesday in an undefended action of divorce by Rose Edith Kelly or Skerrett or Crowley, residing at The Vicarage, Camberwell, London, against Alister Macgregor Crowley, formerly called Edward Alexander Crowley, of Boleskine, Foyers, Inverness shire. The pursuer (35) said, in reply to Mr Jameson, she was a daughter of Rev. F. F. Kelly, vicar of Camberwell, London, and was married in 1897 to Captain Frederick Thomas Skerrett, who died two years later. In 1902 she was staying in Paris with her brother, Mr. Gerald Kelly, an artist, and there made the acquaintance of the defender. Was he then calling himself Alister Crowley? - No; he was then Count Skellet.

She knew, however, that his real name was Alexander Edward Crowley. Later he called himself Macgregor, in order to identify himself more with Scotland. In July 1903 she went to Strathpeffer, and, while there, she again met the defender. He was then calling himself Alister Crowley Macgregor. She knew he bought Boleskine before 1900, and that his home was there, the only home he ever had. He was very much attached to Scotland, and to identify himself with it as much as possible he used to wear the kilt and all that sort of thing, and always gave himself out as a Scotsman at Strathpeffer. On August 11, 1903, he asked her to marry him, and she consented, and they were married the next day in Scottish fashion, because he told her he was a Scotsman. The marriage was registered in the usual way. In the marriage certificate he gave his name as Edward Crowley. They went abroad for the honeymoon, and subsequently resided at Boleskine, which was a large house, with two or three farms on the property. Shortly after the marriage the defender assumed the title of Lord Boleskine. He gave out that he did so because the people of Scotland took the name of their estates. The defender was a little eccentric. In June 1904 the first child was born at Boleskine, but she died in infancy. For a year they travelled in the East together, and in 1906 they were in Hong-Kong together. He left her to return home by America, telling her to go straight home to England to be confined. She was rather annoyed at the way he left her. At her father's house at Camberwell she was confined in September 1906, and she asked for custody of the child. They then lived at Chislehurst for two years, and in March 1908 went to stay at Warwick Road, where the house was taken in her name, as the defender wished to avoid responsibility for the rent. He was becoming a little impecunious. She left him there on July 21 last. Before that he had been frequently abusing her, and on that date she consulted her solicitor about his conduct. On August 5 she learned from the charwoman that the defender had had a woman in the house the night before. Further evidence of infidelity having been given.

Gerald Festus Kelly,' artist, - said he' was the brother of the pursuer. He became acquainted with Alister Crowley at Cambridge during his (witness's) first term, about August 1897. They were both undergraduates. Since then they had been intimately acquainted. After leaving Cambridge, about 1900, the witness went to Paris to study art, and the defender was a frequent visitor at his studio. For two years the defender was travelling round the world. When he came back he stopped with witness in Paris. That was in 1903, and it was then that pursuer met him. The defender was very proud of having Scottish blood in his veins, as he thought, and in 1900 or 1901 bought Boleskine to be his permanent home. He had no home, and he bought this place to live in. He had curious ideas of how to fit up a house. He put mirrors round the room, and called it a temple. He had invented a new sort of religion. He was a Cabalist, and studied ancient manuscripts. He took Boleskine in order to suit his own tastes. Abroad and in London he lived in hotels, and Boleskine was the only home he had. When he got to Boleskine he took the name of Macgregor, to identify himself with Scotland. While he was travelling abroad the defender sometimes signed himself Crowley and sometimes Macgregor. He changed his name from Alexander to Alister, because it was Scottish, but he retained the name of Alister

> Crowley for literary work. The defender got some mark of distinction from some Indian chief, and he thereupon called himself Lord Boleskine.
>
> Mr. Jameson - That is the history of how he became a peer. Continuing, the witness said there was a lot of land around Boleskine, but it was perpendicular, most of it. The witness was staying with the defender there in 1903. When the witnesses' mother was taking the cure at Strathpeffer, witness and the defender went to Strathpeffer to see her, and the latter again met the pursuer there. At that time the defender was appearing in the complete Highland costume, and the Macgregor tartan was very bright.
>
> Lord Salveson - Personally I never could get up any admiration for the Macgregor tartan from an artistic point of view, although its associations are rather romantic.
>
> Continuing, the witness said the defender had all his possessions at Boleskine. He bought a lot of things when he was going round the world, and they were all at Boleskine. In reply to his Lordship, the witness said he knew very little about the defender's people. He was very secretive. The witness believed that his father was an eminent Plymouth Brother. The defender had a lot of money, which the witness thought came to him from his father. The witness did not know what Boleskine cost. He understood it was about £4000, and from a friend he learned that the defender had paid for it about twice what it was worth. He was a very stupid man about money affairs. The defender wrote poetry.
>
> Does he make anything by it? - Certainly not.
>
> Lord Salveson said he thought he might assume that the defender's domicile had become Scottish, and the marriage took place in Scotland. He would grant decree of divorce, with the custody of the child to the pursuer, with aliment at the rate of £1 weekly.

Other newspaper accounts are far more direct. The Illustrated Police News of London, a tabloid notorious for its graphic and sensational stories, including its coverage of the 'Jack the Ripper' murders, has this even more elaborate (and at times farcical) account:

THE ILLUSTRATED POLICE NEWS

AN ECCENTRIC HUSBAND.

An Unhappy Second Marriage with a Kilted "Lord."

> 4 December 1909
>
> The story of a widow's second marriage to an eccentric Scottish landowner who assumed the title of a peer and studied cabalistic science was told in the Court of Session, Edinburgh, before Lord Salvesen. It was an action for divorce by Edith Rose Kelly, aged thirty-five, against her husband, Alister Crowley.
>
> The petitioner, examined by Mr. Jameson, said she was the daughter of the Rev. F. F. Kelly, vicar of Camberwell. She was married in 1897 to Captain Frederick Thomas Skerrett, who died in August, 1899. In 1902 she was staying in Paris with her brother, Mr. Gerald F. Kelly, an artist, and there made the acquaintance of the defendant.
>
> "Was he then calling himself Alister Crowley?" asked the counsel. - No. He was then Count Skellet. I knew, however, his real name was Alexander Edward Crowley. Later he called himself Macgregor, to identify himself with Scotland.
>
> In July, 1903, the petitioner went to Strathpeffer, and again met Mr. Crowley, whose name had then become Alister Crowley Macgregor. He tried to identify himself with Scotland as much as possible, and bought a home in Inverness-shire named Boleskine, and used to wear the kilt and all that sort of thing. At Strathpeffer on August 11 he asked her to marry him, and she consented. They were married next day in Scottish fashion, and went to stay at Boleskine. Shortly after the marriage the defendant assumed the name of Lord Boleskine, because people in Scotland, he said, took the names of their property.
>
> Counsel: I think he is a little eccentric?
>
> The petitioner: Oh yes. In June, 1904, a child was born, which died twenty-one months later. Then for a year we travelled about together in the East. At Hong-Kong my husband left me, saying he would return home by America, and telling her to go straight home. She was annoyed at being left in that condition.

WIFE SENT HOME.

She came back to England and joined her father in June, 1906. At her father's house a baby was born in September, 1906, and she was suing for the custody of that child. Then they lived at Chislehurst for two years, and in March 1908, she went to stay at Warwick-road, where the house was taken in her name, the defender wishing to avoid responsibility for the rent, as he was becoming a little impecunious.

They stayed there until the summer of this year, and she left because her husband had been treating her cruelly. He had been frequently bruising her. She left him on July 21.

On August 5, she learned from the charwoman that her husband had a woman staying with him the previous night. Some time before he had asked her to take care of a child for one of his most intimate friends. She, however, accidentally opened a letter addressed to him, which gave the address of the mother, a Miss Zwee, and she went to see her. She learned that her husband was the father of the child. Miss Zwee was a milliner in the Burlington Arcade.

Mrs. Danby, of Fulham, a charwoman, stated that she stayed the night at 21, Warwick- road. After Mrs. Crowley left, in order to finish some work, the husband, about midnight, on August 4, rang up for two cups of tea, which Mrs. Danby took up to the library. There she saw a short and dark woman, who was gaily dressed, and wore a lot of jewellery.

She heard a lot of laughter during the night, and in the morning took up two cups of tea to the husband and his companion. Charles Randle, of Chelsea, chauffeur, said Miss Zwee, who was a friend of his wife, boarded with them. The defender, whose portrait he identified, frequently visited her.

Lord Salvesen (looking at the photograph) : He looks as if he belonged to the stage. Counsel : He is a literary character ; he rather affects the artistic.

VERY BRIGHT MACGREGOR TARTAN.

Some of Mr. Cowley's peculiarities were described by Gerald Festus Kelly, artist, who is brother of the wife. He said he became acquainted with Alister. Crowley in Cambridge about August, 1897. They were both undergraduates. Since then they had been intimately acquainted. The year after leaving Cambridge he went to Paris to study art, and Crowley was a frequent visitor at his studio, where he met his sister. Crowley was very fond of having Scottish blood in his veins, as he thought, and in 1900 or 1901 he bought Boleskine to be his permanent home. He had curious ideas of how to fit up the house. He had a room covered with mirrors, which he called a temple. He was a Cabalist, and studied ancient MSS.

When he got to Boleskine he took the name of Macgregor, to identify himself with Scotland. While travelling abroad he sometimes signed himself Crowley and sometimes Macgregor. He changed his name from Alexander to Alister because it was Scottish, but he retained the name of Alister Crowley for literary work. He got some mark of distinction from an Indian chief, and he announced his intention of calling himself "Lord Boleskine."

Counsel : That is the history of how he became a peer? – in every way he tried to identify himself with Scotland.

He took his title from Scotland, and Boleskine is a good estate? - Oh, yes. There is a good deal of land about it? - Yes; but it is perpendicular, most of it (laughter).

Boleskine, said Mr. Kelly, was a big house, and many objects of art were stored in it. When he went to Strathpeffer in 1903, Crowley was appearing in complete Highland costume, and the Macgregor tartan was very bright.

Lord Salvesen: Personally, I never could get up my admiration for the Macgregor tartan from an artistic point of view, although its associations were romantic.

Lord Salvesen thought the domicile had become Scottish whatever it was originally, and seeing also that the marriage took place in Scotland, he thought there was sufficient ground for granting a decree. Accordingly, his lordship granted a decree with custody of the child to the wife, with aliment at the rate of £1 per week.

Several other newspaper articles provide further minor details of testimony and evidence:[263]

LLOYD'S WEEKLY NEWS

"LORD" IN KILTS

Decree Granted Against Eccentric Husband

TEMPLE OF MIRRORS

28 November 1909

Many curious stories were told in the Scottish Court of Session, on Wednesday, of a husband who called himself a "lord," wore a kilt, studied ancient manuscripts, and built himself a temple of mirrors in his house in Scotland.

These statements were made in an undefended action for divorce brought by Rose Edith Kelly, aged thirty-five, against her husband, Alister Crowley, who both gave addresses in London.

The wife is the daughter of the Rev. F. F. Kelly, vicar of Camberwell. She was married in 1897 to Capt. Frederick Thomas Skerrett, who died in August, 1899. In 1902 she was staying in Paris with her brother, Mr. Gerald Festus Kelly, an artist, and there made the acquaintance of the defendant.

"Was he then calling himself Alister Crowley?" asked counsel.

The reply was: "He was then Count Skellet. I knew, however, his real name was Alexander Edward Crowley. Later he called himself Macgregor, to identify himself with Scotland."

In July, 1903, she went to Strathpeffer, and again met Mr. Crowley, whose name had then become Alister Crowley Macgregor. He tried to identify himself with Scotland as much as possible, had bought a home in Inverness-shire named Boleskine, and used to wear a kilt and all that sort of thing. At Strathpeffer on Aug. 11 he asked her to marry him, and she consented.

They were married next day in Scottish fashion, and went to stay at Boleskine. The marriage was registered in the usual way. Shortly after the marriage the husband assumed the name of Lord Boleskine, because people in Scotland, he said, took the names of their property.

WIFE SENT HOME.

Counsel: I take it he is a little eccentric? - Oh, yes.

In July, 1904. a child was born, who died twenty-one months later. For a year they travelled about in the East together, and in 1906 she and her husband were at Hongkong. Her husband left her there to return home by America, telling her to go straight home.

She came back to England and joined her fat her in June, 1906. At her father's house a baby was born in September, 1906, and she was suing for the custody of that child. Then they lived in Chislehurst for two years, and in March, 1908, she went to stay at Warwick-road, where the house was taken in her name, the defender wishing to avoid responsibility for the rent, as he was becoming a little impecunious.

They stayed there until the summer of this year, and she left because her husband treated her cruelly. She left him on July 21.

Some time before he had asked her to take care of a child for one of his most intimate friends. She, however, accidentally opened a letter addressed to him; which gave the address of the mother, a Miss Zwee, and she went to see her. She learned that her husband was the father of the child Miss Zwee was a milliner in the Burlington Arcade.

Mrs. Danby, of Fulham, a charwoman, told of a short, dark woman who held high revelry one night with the defender.

Charles Randle, of Chelsea, chauffeur, said Miss Zwee, who was a friend of his wife, boarded with them. The defender, whose portrait he identified, frequently visited her.

---

[263] For a fuller collection of these articles see "Newspaper Articles by and about Aleister Crowley - The Aleister Crowley Bibliography Project. The 100th Monkey Press. www.100thmonkeypress.com/biblio/acrowley/articles/articles.htm

Lord Salvesen (looking at the photograph): He looks as if he belonged to the stage.

Counsel: He is a literary character; he rather affects the artistic.

Lord Salvesen thought the domicile had become Scottish whatever it was originally, and seeing also that the marriage took place in Scotland, he thought there was sufficient ground for granting a decree. Accordingly his lordship granted a decree with custody of the child to the wife, aliment at the rate of £1 per week.

DAILY TELEGRAPH

Scottish Divorce Suit.

The MacGregor Tartan.

25 November 1910

Lord Salveson heard evidence in the Court of Session, Edinburgh, yesterday, in an undefended action of divorce at the instance of Rose Edith Kelly, or Skerrett, or Crowley, residing at the vicarage, Camberwell, against her husband, Alister [sic] Crowley, formerly called Edward Alexander Crowley, of Boleskine, Foyers, Inverness-shire, and residing at 21 Warwick-road, Earl's-court.

The pursuer, aged 35, examined by Mr. Jameson, said she was the daughter of the Rev. F. F. Kelly, vicar of Camberwell. She was married in 1897 to Captain Frederick Thomas Skerrett, who died in August, 1899. In 1902 she was staying in Paris with her brother, Mr. Gerald Kelly, an artist, and there made the acquaintance of the defender.

Was he then calling himself Alister Crowley? - No he was then Count Skerrett. I knew, however, his real name was Alexander Edward Crowley. Later he called himself Macgregor in order to identify himself with Scotland.

In July, 1903, she went to Strathpeffer, and while there she met Mr. Crowley. He was then calling himself Alister Crowley Macgregor. She knew he bought Boleskine before 1900, and that his home was there - the only home he ever had. He was much attached to Scotland, and tried to identify himself with it as much as possible. He used to wear the kilt and all that sort of thing, and always gave himself out as a Scotsman. At Strathpeffer on Aug. 11 he asked her to marry him, and she consented. They were married next day in Scottish fashion, because he told her he was a Scotsman. In the marriage certificate he gave his name as Macgregor, but his father's name was given as Edward Crowley. After the marriage they went to stay at Boleskine, which was a large house with two or three farms on the property. Shortly after the marriage the defender assumed the name of Lord Boleskine. That was, he said, because people in Scotland took the names of their property.

Counsel: I take it he is a little eccentric? - Oh, yes.

A FRIEND'S CHILD

In July 1904, a child was born, who died twenty-one months later. For a year they travelled about in the East together, and in 1906 she and her husband were at Hong Kong. Her husband left her there to return home to America, telling her to go straight home. She was very annoyed at being left in that condition. She came back to England and joined her father in June, 1906. At her father's house a baby was born in September, 1906, and she was suing for custody of that child.

They then lived at Chislehurst for two years, and in March, 1908, she went to stay at Warwick-road, where the house was taken in her name, the defender wishing to avoid responsibility for the rent, as he was becoming a little impecunious. They stayed there until the summer of this year, and she left because her husband had been treating her cruelly. He had been frequently bruising her. She left him on July 21. On Aug. 5 she learned from the charwoman that her husband had a woman staying with him the previous night. Some time before the defender had asked her to take care of a child for one of his most intimate friends, and from what he said she thought it was a friend's child. She, however, accidentally opened a letter addressed to the defender, which gave the address of the mother a Miss Zwee, and the pursuer went to see her. She learned that the defender was the father of the child, and she thereupon raised that action.

Replying to Lord Salvesen, witness said Boleskine still belonged to the defender, but it was left for five years. Later she stated that it was bonded.

What is your nationality? - My father says he is Irish. I was born in England.

Witness added that she had seen Miss Zwee, and she had seen the child at King's-cross-mansions. The defendant was so interested in the child that he asked her to go to Scotland with it and take her own also, but she did not go. Miss Danby of Fulham, a charwoman, stated that she stayed the night at 21, Warwick-road. After Mrs. Crowley left, in order to finish some work, the defender, about midnight, on Aug. 4, rang for two cups of tea, which witness took up to the library. There she saw a short and dark woman, who was gaily dressed, and wore a lot of jewellery.

Witness heard a lot of laughter during the night, and in the morning took up two cups of tea to the defender and his companion.

Charles Hardie, of Chelson, chauffeur, said Miss Zwee, who was a friend of his wife, boarded with them. The defender, whose portrait he identified, frequently visited her.

Lord Salvesen (looking at the defender's photograph): He looks as if he belonged to the stage.

Counsel: He is a literary character; he rather affects the artistic.

CURIOUS IDEAS.

Gerald Festus Kelly, artist, said he was the brother of the pursuer. He became acquainted with Alister Crowley in Cambridge during the witness's first term, about August, 1897. They were both undergraduates. Since then they had been intimately acquainted. The year after leaving Cambridge he went to Paris to study art, and the defender was a frequent visitor at his studio, where he met witness's sister. The defender was very fond of having Scottish blood in his veins, as he thought, and in 1900 or 1901 he bought Boleskine to be his permanent home. He had curious ideas of how to fit up the house. He had a room covered with mirrors, which he called a temple. He was a Cabalist, and studied ancient MSS. In London he lived in hotels and Boleskine was the only home he had.

When he got to Boleskine he took the name of Macgregor, to identify himself with Scotland. While he was travelling abroad the defender sometimes signed himself Crowley and sometimes Macgregor. He changed his name from Alexander to Alister because it was Scottish, but he retained the name of Alister Crowley for literary work. The defender got some mark of distinction from an Indian chief, and he announced his intention of calling himself "Lord Boleskine."

Mr. Jameson: That is the history of how he became a peer? - In every way he tried to identify himself with Scotland.

He took his title from Scotland, and Boleskine is a good estate? - Oh, yes.

There is a good deal of land about it? Yes; but it is perpendicular most of it (Laughter.)

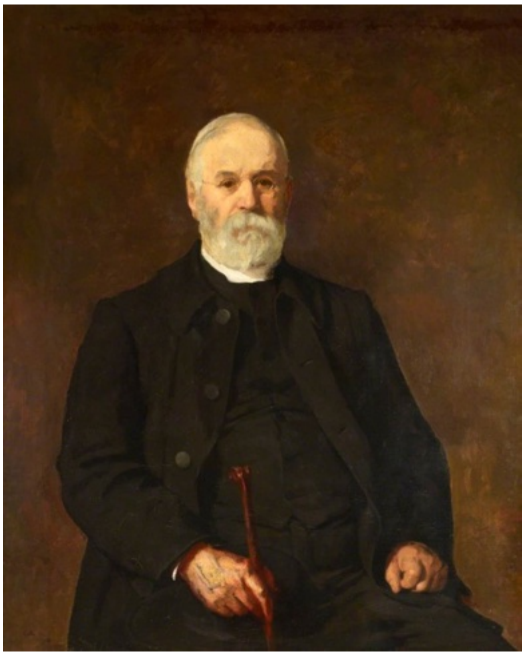
Witness said Boleskine was a big house, and the defender's many objects of art were stored in it. He added that when he went to Strathpeffer in 1903 the defender was appearing in complete Highland costume, and the Macgregor tartan was very bright.

Lord Salvesen: Personally, I never could get up my admiration for the Macgregor tartan from an artistic point of view, although its associations were romantic.

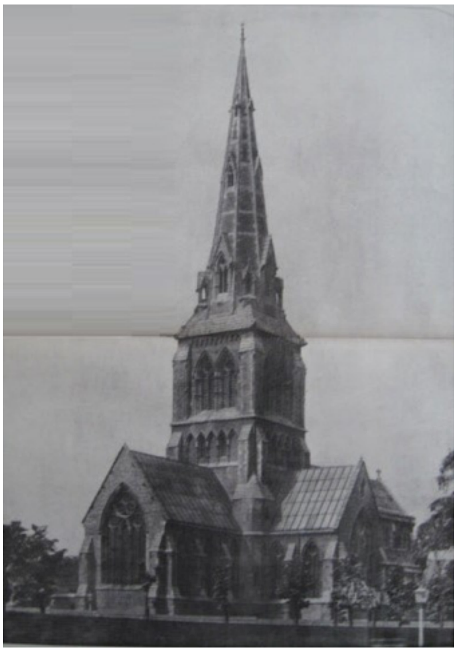
Replying to his lordship, witness said he knew very little about the defender's people - the defender was very secretive. Witness believed that his father had a lot of money. He did not know what Boleskine cost - he should think about £4,000. From a friend he learned that the place was not worth what was paid for it. He was a very stupid man about money affairs. The defender was a great traveller and great climber.

Lord Salvesen: You say he is a writer - does he make anything by it? - Certainly not.

Lord Salvesen thought the domicile had become Scottish whatever it was originally, and seeing also that the marriage took place in Scotland, he thought there was a sufficient ground for granting a decree. Accordingly his lordship granted a divorce with custody of the child to the pursuer, with aliment at the rate of £1 per week.



Rev. Frederic Festus Kelly
Painted by his son Gerald Festus Kelly



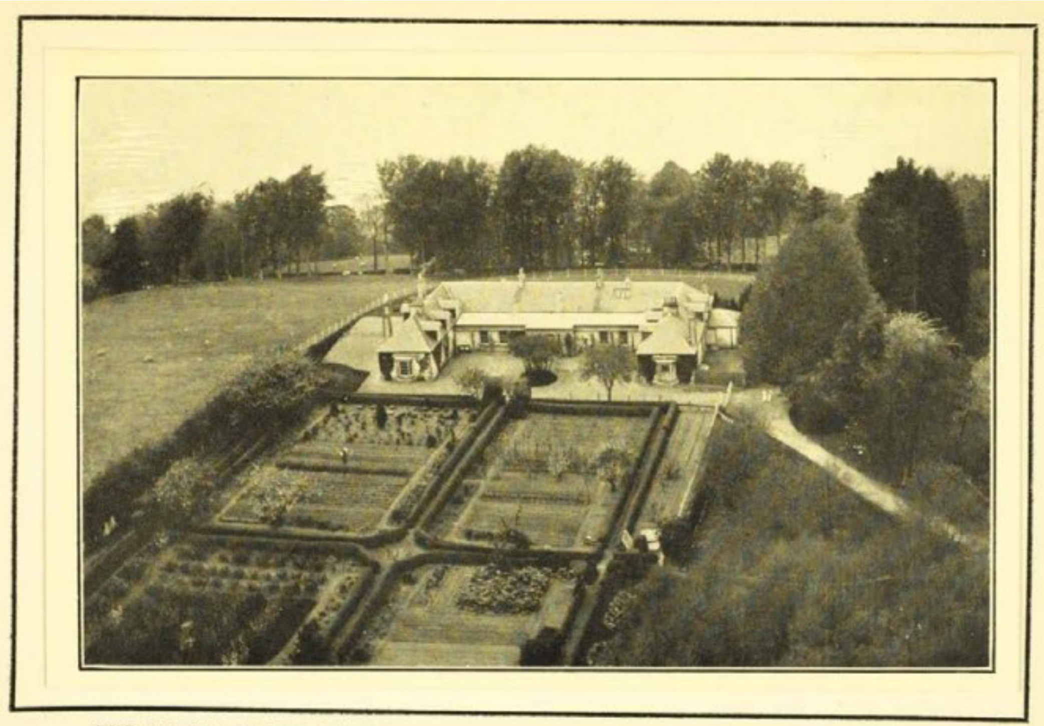
St. Giles Camberwell

ROSLYN LODGE. STRATHPEFFER.

Strathpeffer spa

VIEW DOWN THE LAKE (FROM HILL BEHIND THE HOUSE)

Some of Boleskine's 'perpendicular' real estate[264]



THE HOUSE AND FORMAL GARDEN, LOOKING TOWARDS THE LAKE (FROM THE HILL)

Boleskine Estate

---

[264] Published in the Manifesto of the M∴M∴M∴ (London: The Ballantyne Press, 1913).

THE YORKSHIRE TELEGRAPH - SHEFFIELD, ENGLAND

"LORD BOLESKINE"

Husband's Weakness for thing Scottish.

A ROMANTIC STORY.

Inventor of New Religion Divorced.

25 November 1909

Rose Edith Kelly, otherwise Skerrett or Crowley, was in the Edinburgh Court of Session, before Lore Salvesen, yesterday granted a divorce from her husband, Alister Macgregor Crowley, formerly Edward Alexander Crowley, of Boleskine, Foyers, Inverness-shire.

It was stated that the plaintiff was the daughter of the Rev. F. F. Kelly, vicar of Camberwell. The defendant was said to have a great admiration for everything Scottish, and to have called himself by a more Scottish name than his own for this reason.

He also passed as "Count" Skellet, called himself a Cabalist, studied ancient manuscripts, invented a new religion, and covering the walls of a room with mirrors, called it a temple. After receiving an honour of some kind from an Indian chief he called himself "Lord Boleskine." A witness stated, amid laughter, that there was plenty of land called Boleskine, but it was "mostly perpendicular."

MET IN PARIS.

The plaintiff said she was 35 years of age, and was married in 1897 to Captain F. T. Skerrett, who died two years later. In 1902 she was staying in Paris with her brother, Mr. G. F. Kelly, an artist, and there she made the acquaintance of the defendant, who then called himself "Count" Skellet. Witness, however, knew his real name was Edward Alex Crowley.

Later he called himself Macgregor in order to identify himself with Scotland. In July, 1903, she went to Strathpeffer, and again met defendant, who then called himself Alister Crowley Macgregor. She knew he bought Boleskine before 1900, and that his home was there. It was the only house he ever had. Defendant was much attached of Scotland, wore the kilt, and all that sort of thing, and gave out that he was a Scotsman.

While at Strathpeffer defendant asked her to marry him, and on August 12, 1903, they were married. They went abroad for the honeymoon, and subsequently resided at Boleskine. Shortly after the marriage defendant assumed the title of " Lord" Boleskine, and said that he did so because people in Scotland took the name of their estates. He was, remarked witness, a little eccentric.

TRAVELS IN THE EAST.

After travelling in the East, they lived in Chislehurst, and later in Warwick Road, Earl's Court, where the house was taken in her name. Her husband was impecunious. In July last he had bruised her, and she consulted her solicitor about his conduct. On August 5th she learned from the charwoman that the defendant had had a woman in the house the night before. She learnt through accidentally opening a letter that the defendant had had a child by a Miss Swee, and she then brought her action.

In reply to the judge, witness said her father was Irish, and she was born in England. The defendant was "so fearfully interested" in the other woman's child that he asked her to go to Scotland with it and take her own also, but she did not go.

Mrs. Danby, the charwoman, gave evidence as to a woman staying with the defendant and a chauffeur named Randall, with whom Miss Swee had boarded, spoke to the defendant visiting her.

CHANGED HIS NAME.

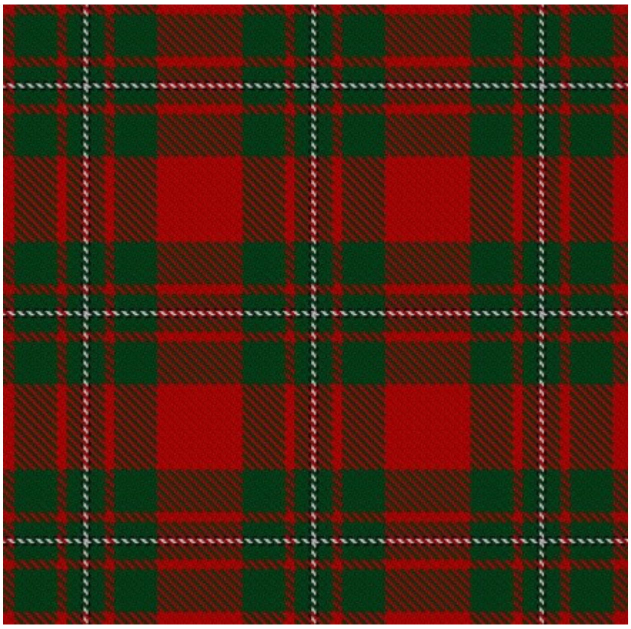
The plaintiff's brother, George Festus Kelly, said defendant when writing to witness from abroad, sometimes signed himself "Macgregor" and sometimes he changed his name from Alexander to Alister, because it was Scottish. Defendant appeared in complete Highland costume, and the Macgregor tartan was very bright. (Laughter.)

> The Judge: Personally, I never have been able to get up any admiration for the Macgregor tartan from an artistic point of view, but its associations, of course, are very romantic.
>
> Defendant's father, continued witness, was a Plymouth Brother, and had lots of money.
>
> Lord Salvesen granted a divorce with the custody of the child, and ordered defendant to pay £52 a year for the maintenance of the child.

A number of the details, given these accounts, are of great interest. Foremost among them is the assertion of the existence of an illegitimate child, sired by Crowley. It is a matter almost completely ignored by Crowley's biographers. The readers are not even provided with the supposed gender of the child.

Only Richard Kaczynski mentions it at all, noting it as 'scandalous' he leaves it at that. Lawrence Sutin, although he makes no direct mention of the child, assumes that Crowley's use of the term 'manufactured' indicates that the whole account of adultery is a fictional device used to legitimize the divorce proceedings, but this idea poses problems of its own. If the claim, of an illegitimate child, is false then it presumes more than a few serious legal issues. It assumes, for instance, that Rose perjured herself, regarding both the letter and meeting with the mysterious Miss Zwee/Swee. Did her barrister Mr. Jameson allow perjurious statements to be entered as testimony? It also seems that Mrs. Danby and the chauffer Mr. Charles Randle/Hardie must have perjured themselves as well. Miss Zwee/Swee never seems to have appeared in court during the action, but is she completely fictitious and the same person as the laughing woman to whom Mrs. Danby brought afternoon and morning tea?

What of the 'Indian Chief' who bestowed upon Crowley such a distinction that he felt qualified to declare himself a Lord? This tidbit of information is more than peculiar. Does it refer to a Native American, as the phrase implies, or to a Hindu guru, which would seem more likely given Crowley's career? Most of the facts reported from the testimony are true, Crowley did found a new religion, Thelema to be exact; was certainly a Cabalist, and had studied obscure magical manuscripts, whether they were strictly ancient or not. He made a serious pretense of being Scottish, but that was certainly merely a pretense. The details of his life and travels with Rose are accurate.



MacGregor Tartan

One of the more amusing details of the trial is Lord Salvesen's wry and dismissive comment about the MacGregor Tartan. Curiously this comment, on a photograph of Crowley wearing Highland attire, was misconstrued by some journalists. Several newspaper accounts mistakenly reported that Crowley himself had appeared, at the trial, wearing a kilt.[265]

THE BUCKS STANDARD

WANTED TO BE SCOTCH.

> 27 November 1909
>
> At the Edinburgh Court of Sessions on Wednesday a curious story was told, when Mrs. Crowley obtained a divorce from her husband, Alister Macgregor Crowley, formerly called Edward Alexander Crowley, who at one time called himself Count Skellet, and afterwards Lord Boleskine.
>
> Mrs. Crowley's brother said that Mr. Crowley was a literary character, and affected the artistic.
>
> Mr. Crowley was very proud of having, as he thought, Scottish blood in his veins. He had curious ideas of how to fit up a house. He put mirrors round a room at Boleskine, and called it a temple.
>
> He invented a new kind of religion. He was a Cabalist, and studied ancient manuscripts.
>
> He changed his name from Alexander to Alister because it was Scottish. He got some mark of distinction from an Indian chief, and thereupon he called himself Lord Boleskine.
>
> The defendant appeared in complete Highland costume, the tartan of which was very bright.

---

[265] "Wanted to be Scotch." The Tenbury Wells Advertiser, 30 November 1909; "Lord Boleskine -Husband's Weakness for Everything Scottish – A Romantic Story – Inventor of New Religion Divorced." Yorkshire Telegraph, 25 November 1909 and "Wanted to be Scotch." The Bucks Standard, 27 November 1909.

Many years later, Rose's brother Gerald opined:

> "When he invited me to his house in Scotland, Boleskine, I enjoyed every minute of it! I thought he was a quite wonderful personality. My sister married him and for about two years I believe they were wonderfully happy. Then he began turning so peculiar she had to get rid of him."[266]

In the end, Rose would eventually remarry but later die from the complications of alcoholism. Crowley moved on, but never really lost his love for Rose, nor dismissed her central importance to his magical career.

> I had written the agony of my soul in Rosa Decidua,[267] which I dedicated to Lord Salvesen (not Salvarsan), the judge who presided at the trial. This poem was printed privately and a copy with the best of the photographs was sent to the judge, with a polite letter of thanks. This poem is, perhaps, my high-water mark in realism. It reveals my human self as I had never even attempted to do. I trace my agony through every writhe.
>
> Confessions – chapter 60

The divorce was granted on November 24th, 1909; that very evening in Algeria, Crowley and Neuburg were making their second foray into the Æthyrs, calling ZAA the 27th of the 30 Æthyrs. The voice of the angel seems somehow fitting:

> I am the daughter of Nuit, the lady of the stars. And I am the Bride of them that are vowed unto loneliness. And I am the mother of the Dog Cerberus. One person am I, and three gods.
>
> And thou who hast blasphemed me shalt suffer knowing me. For I am cold as thou art cold, and burn with thy fire.

.

---

[266] J.O. Fuller Magical. op. cit. p. 108

[267] Aleister Crowley, Rosa Decidua. (1910); reprinted in the Winged Beetle (Privately Printed, 1910), pp. 130-149, and Olla. (London: O.T.O., 1946), pp. 54-62.

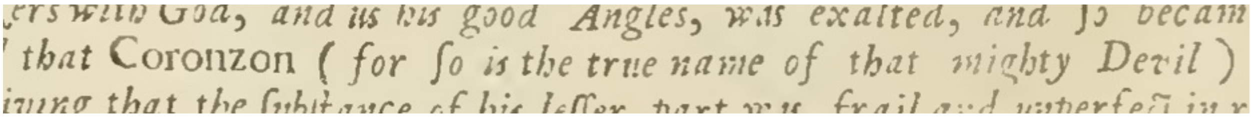
‘Coronzom’ from the Spirit Action of April 21, 1584 – Cotton Appendix.[268]

The name Choronzon is a transcriptional error that derives from Casaubon’s A True & Faithful Relation. Casaubon has Coronzon; which Crowley spelled Choronzon (חורונזומ) for numerological reasons.



ers with God, and its his good Angles, was exalted, and ſo becam that Coronzon (for ſo is the true name of that mighty Devil)

‘Coronzon’ from A True & Faithful Relation.[269]

The actual name, at least the one that was apparently received by Edward Kelly was Coronzom. Such a spelling necessitates a different Hebrew transliteration and would yield a different numerical value in qabalistic gematria. It must also be considered that Crowley’s transliteration of the letters is only one of many possibilities. Nor, for that matter, must one assume that the qabalistic transliteration should even be to Hebrew; both Arabic and Greek could be equally appropriate.

In Hebrew alone, the C could be transliterated as either כ or ח, the O as ו, א, ע or even nothing at all (as original Biblical Hebrew usually lacks vowels or even vowel indicators), the R is certainly a ר, and the N a נ, but the Z might be either a ז or a צ and the M may be taken as either final ם or not מ. Savvy qabalists may puzzle this out and arrive at the most satisfactory solution.

---

[268] Cotton XLVI Pt. I, fol. 91a; Klein, Complete v. I. op. cit. p. IX-48 [f. 91r].

[269] Casaubon, True & Faithful. op. cit. p. 92

Works Cited

Ambelain, Robert. Freemasonry in Olden Times: Ceremonies and Rituals from the Rites of Mizraïm and Memphis. (Paris: Robert Laffont, 2006).

Abano, Peter de. Heptameron: seu elementa magica. (bound with Agrippa's Liber Quartus de Occulta Philosophia vide post).

Agrippa, Cornelius. De Occulta Philosophia. 3 v. (Cologne, 1533).

Three Books of Occult Philosophy. trans. J.F. (James Freake?). (London: 1651). ed. Donald Tyson. (Woodbury MN: Llewellyn, 2007).

Liber Quartus de Occulta Philosophia. (Marburg: 1559).

Fourth Book of Occult Philosophy. Robert Turner trans. (London: Thomas Rooks, 1665). ed. Donald Tyson. (Woodbury MN: Llewellyn, 2009).

Arteche, Alfonso Sanchez. "Juarez: indio, liberal y mason," La Jornada Semanal, n. 185 (May 21, 2006).

Ashmole, Elias.

Ashmole MS. 1790. (Oxford Univ. UK: Bodelian Library).

Ashmole MS. 580. (Oxford Univ. UK: Bodelian Library).

Bodleian MS. 8465aa. (Oxford Univ. UK: Bodelian Library).

Elias Ashmole, his Autobiographical and Historical notes his Correspondence, and other Contemporary Sources Relating to his Life and Work. ed. C.H. Josten. 5 vols. (Oxford UK: Oxford Univ., 1966).

Sloane MS. 3190. (London: British Library).

Sloane MS. 3677. (London: British Library).

Asprem, Egil. Arguing with Angels. (Albany NY: State University of New York, 2012).

"False, Lying Spirits and Angels of Light." Magic, Ritual and Witchcraft. (Summer 2008).

Ayton, William A. The Alchemist of the Golden Dawn, ed. Ellic Howe. (Wellinborough UK: Aquarian, 1985).

Golden Dawn Notebooks. MSS. (London: United Grand Lodge of England Library, 1889-1908).

Barrett, Francis. The Magus or Celestial Intelligencer. (New York: University Books, 1967).

Becker, Ike (pseud.) "Qabalist's Qorner - Latin Qabalah Simplex." Black Pearl v. I. n.8. (Los Angeles CA: College of Thelema, Sept. 2000).

Bennett. Allan. Subseries A. Hermetic Order of the Golden Dawn, notebooks. (Austin TX: Harry Ransom Center, 1901-1907), Box 15.

J.F.C. Fuller's holographic copies of Bennett's notebooks (Austin TX: Harry Ransom Center, 1901-1907): Boxes 16 & 17.

Blavatsky, H.P. Isis Unveiled. (New York: Theosophical Society, 1877).

Boccaccini., Gabriele. Beyond the Essene Hypothesis. (Cambridge UK: Eerdmans, 1998).

Bogdan, Henry & Martin Starr eds. Aleister Crowley and Western Esotericism. (Oxford: Oxford. Univ., 2012).

Budge, E.A. Wallis. The Book of the Dead. (London: Kegan Paul, 1895).

Egyptian Heaven and Hell 2 vols. (London: Kegan Paul, 1905).

An Egyptian Hieroglyphic Dictionary. (London: John Albemarle, 1920).

Burns, Theresa & J. Alan Moore, "How to Sequence the Perimeter Letters on John Dee's Holy Table." Journal of the Western Mystery Tradition. (Autumn 2014), jwmt.org.

Burton, Sir Richard Leonard C. Smithers trans. The Perfumed Garden of the Cheikh Nefzaoui (Cosmopoli: Kama Shastra Society, 1886).

trans. Priapeia sive diversorum poetarum in Priapum lusus or Sportive Epigrams on Priapus. (Cosmopoli, 1890).

Cagliostro. "Cagliostro's Egyptian Rite." trans. Herbert Keppicus, Collectanea. v. 5. pt. 2. (Washington DC: Grand College of Rites, 1954).

Casaubon, Meric ed. A True & Faithful Relation of What passed for Many yeers Between Dr. John Dee and Some Spirits. (London: D. Maxwell, 1659).

Churton, Tobias. Aleister Crowley in America. (Rochester VT: Inner Traditions, 2017).

Cassecanarie, Myal Djumboh. Obeah Simplified, the True Wanga. (Port of Spain: Mirror Office, 1895).

Charles, R. H. The Book of Enoch or 1 Enoch. (Oxford: Clarendon, 1912).

Charlesworth, James H. The Old Testament Pseudepigrapha. v. 1. (New York: Doubleday, 1983).

Cicero, Charles. "The Rosicrucian Vault: A Compendium of the Universal Unity." lecture, Canonbury Masonic Research Center, London: Nov. 15, 2006.

Cicero, Sandra Tabatha et al, The Book of the Concourse of the Watchtowers: An Exploration of Westcott's Enochian Tablets. (Elfers FA: H.O.G.D Books, 2012).

Clymer, Swinburne. Not under the Rosy Cross: An Expose of the Imperator of A.M.O.R.C., his Pilfering Charlatanism and his Connections with Aleister Crowley (notorious Black Magician) and O.T.O. (Ordo Templi Orientis - Despised Black Cult). Quakertown PA: Rosicrucian Foundation, n.d.).

The Rosicrucian Fraternity in America: Authentic and Spurious Organizations. 2 vols. (Quakertown PA: Rosicrucian Foundation, 1935).

The Rosicrucians: The Randolph Foundation of the Authentic Order of the Rosy Cross in America versus the Spurious Ancient and Mystical Order Rosae Crucis, fabricated by H. Spencer Lewis, Baron Munchausen of the Occult. (Quakertown PA: Rosicrucian Foundation, n.d.).

Crowley, Aleister, (Alain Lutiy pseud.). Bagh-I-Muattar or The Scented Garden of Abdullah the Satirist of Shiraz. (Chicago IL: Teitan, 1991).

Aleister Crowley papers, 1905-1929. Eberly Family Special Collections Library. (State College PA: Pennsylvania State Univ.): libraries.psu.edu/findingaids/2310.htm.

A Booke Contayninge Surdry & Divers Matters Humain and Divine. (MSS. 6 notebooks), (Austin TX: Harry Ransom Center, Aleister Crowley Collection), Box 5.

The Book of Lies (Liber CCCXXXIII). (York Beach ME: Weiser, 1981).

The Book of Thoth. Equinox v. III. n. 5. (London: Chiswick, 1944).

Book of the Spirit of the Living God. (Ordo Templi Orientis Archives.): archives.bapho.net/C/C0000068/C0000068.html.

The Confessions of Aleister Crowley, (London: Routledge & Kegan Paul, 1979).

Crowley on Christ, Francis King ed. (London: Daniel, 1974).

De Arte Magica (Liber CDXIV): (San Francisco CA: Level Press, 1974).

Enochian Watch Towers, Oil on linen board. (Austin TX: Harry Ransom Center, Aleister Crowley Collection, 1900).

The Equinox v. I n. 1. (London: Simpkin et al, 1909)

The Equinox v. I. n. 2. (London: Simpkin et al, 1909).

The Equinox v. I. n. 3. (London: Simpkin et al, 1910).

The Equinox v. I. n. 4. (London: Equinox, 1910).

The Equinox v. I. n. 5. (London: Equinox, 1911).

The Equinox v. I. n. 6. (London: Wieland & Co., 1911).

The Equinox v. I. n. 7. (London: Wieland & Co., 1912).

The Equinox v. I n. 7. rev. (Leeds UK: Celephaïs Press, 2003).

The Equinox v. I. n. 8. (London: Wieland & Co., 1912).

The Equinox v. I. n. 9. (London: Wieland & Co., 1913).

The Equinox v. I. n. 10. (London: Wieland & Co., 1913).

The Equinox v. III. n. 1. (Detroit: Universal Publishing Company, 1919).

The Equinox v. V. n. 4. Sex and Religion ed. Marcelo Motta. (Nashville TN: Thelema, 1981).

The Equinox v. IV n. 2. The Vision & The Voice with Commentary and other Papers ed. Hymenaeus Beta. (York Beach ME: Samuel Weiser, 1998).

Gems from the Equinox, Israel Regardie ed. (St. Paul MN: Llewellyn, 1974).

The Goetia with Additional Annotations by Aleister Crowley & G. J. Yorke. (Seattle WA: Holmes, 1992).

ΘΕΛΗΜΑ - The Holy Books 3 vols. (London: Chiswick, 1909-1910).

The International. v. xii. n. 2 (New York: International, February 1918).

The International. v. xii. n. 3. (New York: International, March 1918).

Konx Om Pax. (London: Walter Scott, 1907).

Magical and Philosophical Commentaries on The Book of the Law. (Quebec: 93 Publishing, 1974).

Magick: Liber ABA. 2nd ed. Hymenaeus Beta ed. (York Beach ME: Weiser, 1997).

Magick in Theory and Practice. (New York: Castle Books, 1961).

Magick Without Tears. (Hampton NJ: Thelema, 1954).

Moonchild. (London: Mandrake, 1929).

Ol Sonf Vorsg (West MS. 36), held at the Charles Deering McCormick Library of Special Collections at Northwestern University.

Oracles: The Biography of an Art. (Boleskine, Foyers, Inverness: Society for the Propagation of Religious Truth, 1905).

OTO Rituals and Degree Papers. OTO Roll 3 microfilm (New York: Ordo Templi Orientis, 2002). – www.worldcat.org/title/aleister-crowley-papers/oclc/52940564.

O.T.O. Rituals and Sex Magick, (w/ Theodor Reuss), ed. A. R. Naylor. (Thame UK: I-H-O, 1999).

Portable Darkness: An Aleister Crowley Reader, Scott Michaelsen ed. (New York: Harmony, 1989).

"A Record of Some of the "Past Lives" of Aleister Crowley. Transcribed from that portion of his Magical Diary known as the "Hermit of Oesopus Island." OTO Roll 2 microfilm (New York: Ordo Templi Orientis, 2002) – www.worldcat.org/title/aleister-crowley-papers/oclc/52940564.

777 and other Qabalistic Writings. ed. Israel Regardie. (York Beach ME: Weiser, 1977).

"Talisman of Water of Jupiter with Ritual" (1901). Yorke Collection OS 21. (London: Warburg Institute, 2002). Film 1 Reel #1.

The Vision and the Voice.

"Special Supplement" The Equinox v. I. n. 5. (op cit).

Liber XXX Aerum vel Saecvli Svb Figvra CCCCXVIII: Being the Angels of the 30 Aethyrs – The Vision and the Voice with Commentary. TS. Israel Regardie. (London: Warburg Institute, n.d.). microfilm. OS L3.

Liber XXX Aerum vel Saecvli Svb Figvra CCCCXVIII: Being the Angels of the 30 Aethyrs – The Vision and the Voice with Commentary. (Hampton NJ: Thelema Publishing, 1952).

Liber XXX Aerum vel Saecvli Svb Figvra CCCCXVIII: Being the Angels of the 30 Aethyrs – The Vision and the Voice with Commentary. (Barstow: CA: Helen Parsons Smith, n.d.).

The Vision & the Voice. ed. Israel Regardie. (Dallas TX: Sangraal, 1972).

The Vision & The Voice with Commentary and other Papers (Equinox v. IV n. 2.), ed. Hymenaeus Beta. (York Beach ME: Samuel Weiser, 1998).

The Vision and the Voice. (Austin TX: 100th Monkey Press, 2019).

Davidson, Gustav. A Dictionary of Angels. (New York: Free Press, 1967).

Davila, James R. “The 94 Books of Ezra and the Angelic Revelations of John Dee.” in Wisdom Poured Out Like Water: Studies on Jewish and Christian Antiquity in Honor of Gabriele Boccaccini ed. F.V. Reiterer et al. (Berlin: De Gruyter, 2018).

Dee, John.

Manuscripts:

Cotton Appendix XLVI. (London: British Library, 1583-1607).

Sloane MS. 78. (London: British Library).

Sloane MS. 2575. (London: British Library).

Sloane MS. 3188. (London: British Library).

Sloane MS. 3189. (London: British Library).

Sloane MS. 3191. (London: British Library).

Printed editions:

Casaubon , Meric ed. A True & Faithful Relation of What Passed for many Yeers Between Dr. John Dee (A Mathematician of Great Fame in Q. Eliz. And King James their Reignes) and Some Spirits. (London: D. Maxwell & T Garthwait, 1659).

James, Geoffrey ed. & trans. The Enochian Evocation of Dr. John Dee. (Gillette NJ: Heptangle, 1984).

Klein, Kevin ed. The Complete Mystical Records of Dr. John Dee. 2 vols. (Woodbury MN: Llewellyn, 2107).

Peterson, Joseph ed. & trans. John Dee's Five Books of Mystery. (York Beach ME: Weiser, 2003).

Turner, Robert ed. Elizabethan Magic. (Shaftesbury UK: Element, 1989).

The Heptarchia Mystica of John Dee. (Wellingborough UK: Aquarian, 1986).

de Laurence, L.W. The Old Book of Magic. (Chicago: de Laurence, 1918).

DiTommaso, Lorenzo. “Echoes of Enoch in Early Modern England.” in Wisdom Poured Out Like Water: Studies on Jewish and Christian Antiquity in Honor of Gabriele Boccaccini. ed. F.V. Reiterer et al. (Berlin: De Gruyter, 2018).

Dumas, Alexander. Balsamo, the Magician, or The Memoirs of a Physician. (New York: J.S. Ogilvie, 1892).

DuQuette, Lon M. Enochian Vision Magick. (San Francisco: Weiser, 2008).

Euclid. De Superficierum Divisionibus Liber Machometo Bagedino eds. Federico Commandino & Ioannis Dee. (Venice: Pisauri, 1570).

The Elements of the most auncient Philosopher Evclide of Megara ed. Henry Billingsley (London: John Daye, 1570).

The Thirteen Books of Euclid's Elements ed. T.L. Heath. (Cambridge UK: Cambridge Univ., 1908).

Evans, Henry R. Cagliostro and his Egyptian Rite of Freemasonry. (Washington DC: A.A.S.R. Southern Jurisdiction, 1919).

Evans, Isaac Blair. The Thomson Masonic Fraud. (Salt Lake City: 1922).

Farr, Florence. Enochian Experiments of the Golden Dawn. 2nd edt. (Seattle: Holmes, 2005).

Faulks, Philippa and Robert L.D. Cooper. The Masonic Magician: The Life and Death of Count Cagliostro and his Egyptian Rite. (London: Watkins, 2017).

Forlong, J.G.R. Rivers of Life 2 vols. (London: Bernard Quartich, 1883).

Frazer, James G. The Golden Bough: A Study in Magic and Religion. 3 vols. (London: MacMillan, 1900).

Fuller, Jean Overton. The Magical Dilemma of Victor Neuburg. (London: W. H. Allen, 1965).

Fuller, J. F. C. Temple of Solomon the King. in The Equinox v. I see Crowley, Equinox.

Gardner, Frederick L. A Catalogue Raisonné of the Works on the Occult Sciences. v. I.: Rosicrucian Books. (London: Green, Limpus, 1903).

Golden Dawn Papers. Yorke Collection (London: Warburg Institute): NS 63.

Gesenius, Wilhelm. Hebrew and Chaldee Lexicon the Old Testament Scriptures, trans. Samuel. P. Tregelles. (London: Samuel Bagster & Sons, 1851).

Geheime Figuren Der Rosenkreuzer. (Altona J.D.A. Eckhardt, 1785).

Gettings, Fred. Dictionary of Occult, Hermetic and Alchemical Sigils. (London: Routledge & Kegan Paul, 1981).

Golden Dawn Community. Commentaries on the Golden Dawn Flying Rolls. (Dublin: Kerubim, 2013).

Gould, Robert Freke. Gould's History of Freemasonry v. 4, rev. Dudley Wright. (New York: Charles Scribner's Sons, 1936).

Gunther, J. Daniel. Initiation in the Æon of the Child. (Lake Worth FL, Ibis, 2009).

Hartmann, Franz. Cosmology or Universal Science, Containing the Mysteries of the Universe, explained according to the Religion of Christ by the Secret Symbols of the Rosicrucians. (Boston MA: Occult Publishing, 1888).

Hippolytus. Ante-Nicene Fathers, Volume V*:* Fathers of the Third Century: Hippolytus, Cyprian, Caius, Novatian eds. eds. & trans. Alexander Roberts & James Donaldson. (Edinburgh: T&T Clark: 1871).

HOGD Hermetic Order of the Golden Dawn: Alpha Ωmega Rosicrucian Mystery School. 2017: www.golden-dawn.com.

"Golden Dawn Flying Rolls."

"Adeptus Minor Instructions."

Howe, Ellic. The Magicians of the Golden Dawn. (York Beach ME: Samuel Weiser, 1978).

Ingram, Peter. “Early Mexican Freemasonry: A Confused Chapter in Our History,” United Masters Lodge v. 28 n. 14 (October 1990).

Inman, Thomas. Ancient Faiths embodied in Ancient Names. 3 vols. (London: Trubner, 1876).

Irenaeus. Libros Quinque Adversus Haereses. 5 vols. (Cambridge UK: Typis Academicis, 1857).

Ante-Nicene Fathers, Volume I: The Apostolic Fathers, Justin Martyr, Irenaeus. eds. & trans. Alexander Roberts & James Donaldson. (Edinburgh: T&T Clark: 1867).

Jackson, A.C.F. Rose Croix: The History of the Ancient and Accepted Rite for England and Wales. (London: Lewis Masonic, 1980).

Jastrow, Marcus. A Dictionary of the Targumim, Talmud Babli and Yerushalmi, and the Midrashic Literature, 2 vols. (New York: Putnam, 1903).

Jennings, Hargrave. The Obelisk: Notices of the Origin, Purpose and History of Obelisks. (London: Bursill, 1877).

Phallicism, Celestial and Terrestrial, Heathen and Christian. (London: George Redway, 1884).

Phallic Objects, Monuments and Remains. (Privately Printed: 1889).

The Rosicrucians: Their Rites and Mysteries, rev. edt. 2 vols. (London: John C. Nimmo, 1887).

“Nature Worship” series:

Archaic Rock Inscriptions. (London: A. Reader, 1891).

Cutlus Arborum or Phallic Tree Worship. (1890).

Fishes, Flowers & Fire Worship. (London: A. Reader, 1890).

Phallic Objects and Remains. (London: Arthur Reader, 1889).

Phallic Miscellanies. (London: Privately Printed, 1891).

Phallism: A Description of the Worship of the Lingam-Yoni. (London: Arthur Reader, 1892).

Masculine Cross. (London: Privately Printed, 1891).

Mysteries of the Rosie Cross. (London: Privately Printed, 1891).

Nature Worship. (London: Privately Printed, 1891).

Ophiolatreia or Serpent Worship. (London: A. Reader, 1889).

Jones, David R. "Aleister Crowley Freemason? Revisited." Coph Nia Wand (Summer 2011); reprinted in Worlds of Power. ed. (Ordo Templi Orientis, 2014).

Kaczynski, Richard. Perdurabo. rev. (Berkeley CA: North Atlantic, 2002).

Forgotten Templars. (self-published, 2012).

Kaplan, Aryeh trans. Sefer Yetzirah: The Book of Creation. (San Francisco: Weiser, 1997).

King Francis ed., Astral Projection, Ritual Magic and Alchemy. (Rochester VT: Destiny, 1987).

Secret Rituals of the O.T.O. (New York: Samuel Weiser, 1973).

Knight, Richard Payne. Two Essays on the Worship of Priapus. (London: Privately Printed, 1865).

Kuntz, Darcy ed. The Complete Golden Dawn Cipher Manuscript. (Seattle WA: Holmes, 1996).

La Vaughn, Coemgen. Amor Divina. (Grantham UK: Hell Fire, 2018).

Leitch, Aaron. Essential Enochian Grimoire. (Woodbury MN: Llewellyn, 2014).

Levi, Eliphas. The Great Secret of Occultism Revealed. (York Beach ME, Weiser, 1975).

The History of Magic. (London: William Rider, 1922).

The Magical Ritual of the Sanctum Regnum, trans. & ed. W. Wynn Westcott. (London: George Redway, 1896), Transcendental Magic: Its Doctrine and Ritual. trans A.E. Waite. (London: Redway, 1896).

The Life of Joseph Balsamo, commonly called Count Cagliostro. (London: C. & G. Kearsley, 1791).

Lilly, William. The World's catastrophe, or, Europes many mutations untill, 1666. (London: John Partridge & Humphrey Blunden,1647).

Mackey, Albert. (rev. R.I. Clegg, W.J. Hughan & E.L. Hawkins). Encyclopedia of Freemasonry and Kindred Sciences. v. 2, (Chicago: Masonic History Company, 1929).

Manuscripts in the Harleian Collection, vol. III. (London: George Eyre & Andrew Strahan, 1809).

Massey, Gerald. A Book of the Beginnings v. I. (London: Williams & Northgate, 1881).

The Seven Souls of Man: a Lecture (London: Villa Bordighiera, 1887?).

Mathers, S.L. MacGregor. The Kabbalah Unveiled. (New York: Theosophical, 1912).

The Key of Solomon the King (London: George Redway, 1889).

McLean, Adam ed. A Treatise on Angel Magic. (Glasgow: Magnum Opus Hermetic Sourceworks, 1982).

Medina, Don Jesus, ed. El Boazeo. (Mexico City: December 1894 through December 1898).

Melish, Thomas J. ed. The Masonic Review. (Cincinnati OH, Wrightson, 1880). v. 53.

Mexican Herald. (various issues in 1900). The pertinent articles can be found on the 100th Monkey website at 100thmonkeypress.com/biblio/acrowley/articles/articles.htm

Mead, George R. S. Fragments of a Faith Forgotten. (London: Theosophical Society, 1906).

Musaeum Hermeticum. (Frankfurt: Lucas Jennis, 1625).

Neuburg, Victor. The Agnostic Journal and Eclectic Review. (London: 1903-1907).

A Green Garland. (London: Young Cambridge Press, 1908).

"The Magical Record of Omnia Vincam, a probationer of A.A." The Aleister Crowley Collection, Harry Ransom Center. (Austin TX: Univ. of Texas), box 15 folder 8.

The Magical Record of Omnia Vincam. (Austin TX: 100th Monkey Press, 2018).

Rosa Ignota. (Austin TX: 100th Monkey, 2014).

The Triumph of Pan. (London: Equinox, 1910).

"Valle Jehovah." 25 November 1903, The Freethinker. (London: G. W. Footer, 1903).

100th Monkey Press. "The Aleister Crowley Bibliography Project. – Newspaper Articles by and about Aleister Crowley." www.100thmonkeypress.com/biblio/acrowley/articles/articles.htm.

Orpheus, Rodney. Grimoire of Aleister Crowley. (Newburyport MA: Weiser, 2019).

Penzer, Norman M. An Annotated Bibliography of Sir Richard Francis Burton K.C.M.G. (London: Dawsons, 1923).

Peterson trans. & ed., Arbatel: Concerning the Magic of the Ancients. (Lake Worth FL: Ibis, 2009).

Pike, Albert and William L. Cummings. Morals and Dogma of the Ancient and Accepted Scottish Rite. (Charleston SC, A.A.S.R., 1871).

"The Spurious Rites of Memphis and Misraim." Heredom v. 9. (Washington DC: Scottish Rite Research, 2001).

Red, Galbix and Gabriel López de Rojas, "M.E.A.P.R.M.M. - The Egyptian Freemasonry of the Ancient Primitive Rite of Memphis-Misraim." www.frankripel.org/iutmah/meaprmm_english.html.

Regardie, Israel. Complete Golden Dawn System of Magic. (Tempe AZ: New Falcon, 1984).

The Eye in the Triangle. (Phoenix AZ: Falcon, 1986).

The Golden Dawn. (St. Paul MN: Llewellyn, 1995).

"The Ritual of the Banner of the East." The Sceptre of Power. (Phoenix AZ: New Falcon, unpublished).

Rons, Ian. "Review: of The Practical Angel Magic of Dr. John Dee's Enochian Tables." The Magical Review. web.archive.org/web/20100904084834/http://www.themagickalreview.org/reviews.

“Practical Angel Magic: An Updated Review.” www.scribd.com/document/99176545/Practical-Angel-Magic-Updated-Review.

Rudd, Dr. (pseudo.). ed. Peter Smart, Harley MS. 6482. manuscript. (London: British Library. Harleian Collection, n.d.).

Runyon , Carroll “Poke” ed. “Book H (Clavicula Tabularum Enochi),” The Seventh Ray, bk. 1. (Silverado CA: Church of Hermetic Science, 2016 rev.).

Secrets of the Golden Dawn Cypher Manuscript. (Silverado CA: Church of Hermetic Science, 1997).

Schäfer, Peter & Shaul Shaked eds., Magische Texte aus der Kairoer Geniza (3 vols.). (Tübingen: J.C.B. Mohr, 1994)

Schueler, Gerald. Enochian Magic: A Practical Manual. (St. Paul MN: Llewellyn, 1986).

Skinner, Stephen & David Rankin eds. Practical Angel Magic of John Dee’s Enochian Tables. (London: Golden Hoard, 2004).

The Goetia of Dr. Rudd. (Singapore: Golden Hoard, 2007).

Sloane MS. 307. (London: British Library, n.d.).

Smith, Thomas. Life of John Dee. (London: Theosophical, 1908).

Spence. Richard B. Secret Agent 666: Aleister Crowley, British Intelligence and the Occult. (Port Townsend WA: Feral House, 2008).

Starr, Martin P. The Unknown God: W.T. Smith and the Thelemites. (Bolingbrook IL: Teitan, 2003).

Stephenson, P. R. Legend of Aleister Crowley. (London: Mandrake, 1930).

Stirling, William. The Canon. (London: Elkin Matthews, 1897).

Street, Oliver D., “Masonry in Mexico,” The Builder v. VI, n. 10. (October 1920).

Tertullian. Ante-Nicene Fathers, Volume III: Latin Christianity: Its Founder, Tertullian eds. & trans. Alexander Roberts & James Donaldson. (Edinburgh: T&T Clark: 1869).

Thomson, McBlain ed. Universal Free Mason. (Salt Lake City: June 1908-May 1922.)

Trithemius, Johannes. Polygraphiae libri sex Ioannis Trithemij, abbatis Peapolitani quondam Spanheimensis, ad Maximilianum Caesarem. (1518).

De Septem Secundeis. (Frankfort: Cyriacum Iacobum, 1547).

Trowbridge, W.R.H. Cagliostro: The Splendour and Misery of a Master of Magic. (London: Chapman and Hall, 1910).

T.S., Frater. The Holy Table of John Dee. (Leeds UK: Celephaïs Press, 2010).

Liber Chanokh rev. in Equinox v. I n. 7 (Leeds UK: Celephaïs Press, 2003).

Tyson, Donald. Enochian Magic for Beginners. (Woodbury MN: Llewellyn, 2005).

Vanloo, Robert "Controversy around a Document: Is the A.M.O.R.C. an offspring of the O.T.O. or not?" (n.d.): www.parareligion.ch/sunrise/vanloo/ameng.htm.

Voorhis, H.V.B "History of the Grand College of Rites of the United States of America." Collectanea, v. 9 pt. 2. (Washington DC: Grand College of Rites, 1972).

Waite, Arthur E. The Book of Black Magic and Pacts. (Chicago: De Laurence, 1910).

The Hidden Church of the Holy Graal (London: Rebman, 1909).

The Holy Kabbalah. (New Hyde Park NY: University Books, n.d.).

The Pictorial Key to the Tarot. (London: William Rider, 1911).

The Real History of the Rosicrucians. (London: George Redway, 1887).

Westcott, Wynn. "The Rosicrucians: Past and Present, at Home and Abroad. A Lecture presented at the S.R.I.A. in London n.d." (Mokelumne Hill CA: Health Research, 1966).

White, Ralph. The Rosicrucian Enlightenment, Revisited. ed. (Hudson NY: Steiner,1999).

Wilson, Dean F. Enochian Magic in Theory. (Dublin: Cherubim, 2012).

Yarker, John. The Arcane Schools. (Belfast: William Tait, 1909).

Yechidah, Frater. "Attribution of Golden Dawn Flying Roll." Mishkan ha-Echad: Quit the Night & Seek the Day. (January 16, 2016). mishkan-ha-echad.blogspot.com/2016/01/attribution-of-golden-dawn-flying-rolls.html.

Zalewski, Chris. Enochian Chess of the Golden Dawn. (St. Paul MN: Llewellyn, 1994).

Zalewski, Pat. Kabbalah of the Golden Dawn. (St. Paul. MN: Llewellyn, 1993).

Talismans & Evocations of the Golden Dawn. (Loughborough UK: Thoth, 2002).

On the assignment of "Class A" in this edition

In terms of its document classification, The Vision and the Voice has always been something that is troublesome. As a Class A.B. document, it contains both Class A and Class B material - the Class B material being the "Notes on the Æthyrs" in Notebook I and similar interstitial items. Curiously, it should also be Class D - there technically also are rituals and practices detailed therein for use that are not noted in that descriptor as well - from a method to achieving Knowledge and Conversation, to a variant technique for scrying the aires and other techniques. At the same time, by the standards presented, Liber AL contains various spells and formulae as well – yet it is not Class A.D. either. There is no reason or rhyme to much of the document classification on this particular volume, nor to the application thereof to the broader documents that have been issued a letter classification during Crowley's lifetime.

In creating a composite document, wherein editing is allowed, the Class A nature of the text is ignored even by Crowley himself. That said, this edition defers to the source in that regard, where the notebooks are authoritative about the expectation for the handling of the material and its editing. In the 18th Æthyr, it is said:

It is night, & the night is full of hideous things & howlings, & an angel cometh forth, & saith: Be wary, for if thou change so much as the style of a letter, the holy word is blasphemed.

and again several pages later:

The Angel pushed me away,

saying: Thou shalt see these visions from afar off, but thou shalt not partake of them
save in the manner prescribed.
For if thou change so much
as the style of a letter, the holy word is blasphemed. And this is, the manner prescribed.

and again some time later:

This shall be the form
to be used by him who would partake of the mystery
of any Æthyr. And let him
not change so much as the ~~stle~~ style of a letter, lest the
holy word be blasphemed.

The Angel reminds in the 9th Æthyr:

But thou, be thou eager & vigilant, performing punctually the rule. Is it not written, "Change not so much as the style of a letter"?"

The instructions themselves cannot be more clear: it is what it is, and any scrying of the Aires and the record thereof should not be changed. Thus, this work restores that for the first time.

Yes, it is noted that pens have issues, scribes problems, scryers a moment of disconnect or repetition - but even in those things there are often mysteries and truths that are worthy of examination. Attempting to clean up or remove those things is outside the scope of any reasonable attempt to present the accurate record of what transpired, and something this particular work was launched to correct by presenting the notebooks and documents as they are, not as the scryer wished them to be. No previous version, including the original 1910 to the most current modern editions, restored them to the "as received" state. Before the ink was dry in some cases, and while still in the desert - Crowley takes a pen (or pencil) to the actual notebooks and ignores this instruction. It is very easy to see the difference in pen, the difference between Neuberg and Crowley's handwriting, the use of a pencil - but this edition does not seek to make that choice for the reader at all. It presents what is there, as it is.

This is the first time since Crowley's initial printing of The Vision and the Voice as a supplement in The Equinox in 1910 that the notebooks have been consulted with this intent. After entrusting them to Fuller, there is no evidence whatsoever that Crowley attempted to get them back. He never mentions the notebooks in any of the thousands of pages of archival material in the Warburg and elsewhere in that respect, nor trying to contact Fuller for the return of these or the other Class A manuscripts. Modern editions have relied on the Warburg 1930s typescript with annotations (the 1952 Germer editions and beyond) and with limited consultation of the notebooks in the 1996 Weiser edition, where the intent was not to restore the notebooks to their original status, but rather clarify Crowley's intent and present a “more complete” edition in that light. It ignores the many changes made by Crowley, assuming them authoritative because that is what the 1910 and Warburg and Germer editions claimed. Some, but only a small fraction, of the changes or variants or side-notes even merit a footnote therein. Many are cast aside. Fragments and other things are cast aside utterly in many cases. I make no judgements per se here, but note that that type of "do what Crowley the man" wanted editing process is not particularly conducive to an accurate transcription nor document of one of our most important Holy Books.

They also do not invite serious study of the materials as authoritative, from a source beyond man perspective. While this edition, like any, will surely have some fault, it presents the source material so that the reader can make that assessment using their own devices.

That said, the trouble with creating a document class that was NOT Class A is that The Vision and the Voice, despite its penultimate importance for Thelemic theology and spirituality, has been relegated to a status that is largely ignored by individuals when they get told to "read the Holy Books." The problem, of course, is they only look at the Class A documents or what has been collated into The Holy Books of Thelema. The Vision and the Voice is lost in such a discussion, and the lack of emphasis on the work and the profound ignorance of many Thelemites towards this foundational piece is deeply concerning. How can one expect to experience the things therein, to understand the system from a practical rather than theoretical perspective, or encourage aspirants themselves to do so? Of the Holy Books themselves, The Vision and the Voice is the shining city on a hill that Liber AL points towards - the method and resting place of the most important things in Thelemic canon and the residence of Our Lady of the Stars.

Everything from the theoretical underpinnings to the IX° to cosmology to understanding how Thelema is a very clear outgrowth from the work of Dee and Kelly et al starting in 1584. The Vision and the Voice does not shy away from this connection. The chronological close of the entire working (the last portion of the 2nd Æthyr, received after LIL had been concluded) notes:

> Come away! for > the Æon is measured, & thy span > allotted. Come away, for the > mighty sounds have entered into > every angle! And they have > awakened the Angels of the Æthyrs > that slept these three hundred > years.

Thus, it becomes impossible to overstate the importance of The Vision and the Voice - but paradoxically, it is little read, little understood, and little explored, let alone the rich system that allows the dedicated aspirant to discover these things for themselves by method of science if only they put in the work to do so.

In this, Crowley did Thelema a great disservice. Within The Vision and the Voice, the spirit of the Holy Books lives. It is alive. It is the very source and record of contact with Our Lady, to which the A∴A∴ is in service thereto. It, in the most real of sense, is the gateway to the stars and the truths of our heritage, beyond which the very things that are merely described within may be experienced, met, and interacted with.

Similarly, this is why the 19th Call from West 36 (the "Northwestern Notebook") is included herein in this introductory volume - complete with the actual letters and symbols which Liber Chanock and other reference materials frequently omit. It is an adoration, a transport device, and so much more - as is stated in the opening preface of the 9th Æthyr,

> The terrible Curse that is the Call > of the Thirty Æthyrs sounds like a song > of ecstasy & triumph; every phrase in it > has a secret meaning of blessing.

It is far more than a device to take one away to the exalted aires, or seek the wisdom therein - it contains truths in and of itself which are vital for understanding our system, our world, and our place therein. See both the West 36 transcript included in this introductory volume and the Second Æthyr for the translation and inline commentary thereupon - as well as the terrible warning to any who would traverse these realms:

Remember Icarus! Remember Ixion!

Thus, this edition which neither changes the style of a letter nor attempts to edit anything nor present commentary thereupon is labelled "Class A" in the truest sense. It is issued under no man's authority, for it came from none, and has only seen a century of malfeasance at their hands. The source of these truths does not object.

Seek Her and see. Come away!

In Her Service,

Obsidian

A re-consideration of the Prophet after 418: facts as they appear

Presented for your consideration, something which has been more and more obvious the longer I have worked on this project. It pained me greatly as I began to piece the information together, and years ago, would have broken me or chased me away from the beauty of the system and the Holy Books. I have spent most of the last three decades as a serious student of our Mysteries, from the sublime to the mundane. I have spent hundreds and thousands of hours in archival materials, piecing together the lost and undecipherable, trying to make sense out of the lamplight scrawls from Cefalu on whatever drugs and disease were passing through there at the time. I have read tens of thousands of pages of documents and supplementals, and read them again. I have done extensive practice as well, of course, but that is not what this is concerning. What concerns me is the facts from the archives and history as I am able to put them together. I addressed several in passing in my other essay in this volume about the reclassification of The Vision and the Voice from Class AB to Class A, but that is merely the tip of the iceberg that I would be remiss in not mentioning in this work.

In 1900, Aleister Crowley was one of the premier, if not the premier, practitioners of magick in the West if not the world at large. His expertise and experimentation led to grand plateaus within his circle of much-older peers in the Golden Dawn, and led to his early successes with the 30th and 29th Æthyrs in Mexico. He hits a wall of sorts, unable to go further. Whether that was a matter of his own personal status, position, grade, or authority, or of the cosmos at large is a matter for pure conjecture. One theory I have held for a period of time is that effectively, the powers behind this book, the powers behind the reception of Liber AL in 1904 in Cairo – were searching for someone who could both utilize the Enochian system for their ends (which, as the angel Nalvage informs Dee in 1584, is Apocalypse in no uncertain words, just not necessarily in a way that a human mind would comprehend), and herald the coming of the New Æon.

Of the available candidates for Prophethood, Crowley represented at the time perhaps the most viable of any – he was young, he had a spouse who proved to be receptive to channeling, and he was a competent magician and practitioner of the Enochian system as far as the Golden Dawn had reconstituted it. These three would prove to be a potent combination in Cairo: with Crowley as the (sometimes resistant) scribe and Rose as the seer, Liber AL manifested successfully over the three consecutive days.

Unfortunately for any future plans in that area, Crowley had little interest in the position thrust upon him, and stores the manuscript of AL in a storage area in Boleskine later in 1904. Leaving Rose behind to pursue mountaineering and the other hobbies of a rich, responsibility-free Englishman of his time, AL and any grand plan lay dormant again until 1909. Unable to find the manuscript when he searched for it to publish it and be done with it in Collected Works in 1907, Crowley finds the manuscript stored away near his skis in Boleskine on June 28, 1909.

Surrendering to his True Will, he proceeds to accept his status as Prophet and for publication of the manuscript, and sets off for Algeria with his student, Victor Neuberg, to finish scrying the Thirty Aethyrs begun in Mexico in 1900. They complete this event on December 19, 1909 – with ARN finishing after LIL despite the arrangement of 418 by the Æthyrs in the 1910 supplemental to The Equinox that marked the first publication of The Vision and the Voice.

Notably, Crowley's experiences as the Æthyrs progress can be examined in the lens of a one-time visit to transcribe the things within, a sort of promotional tour where the seer is only allowed in specific areas and can only experience certain things within the limits of his grade and status. Yes, he completes all Thirty Æthyrs, but in this sense, he does not do so under his own authority or power, so to speak. He is informed that to fully experience the glory of ARN and the marriage bed therein, he must first become magus. "Come away!" is the refrain, and the frequent references to the Enochian system are also echoed again and again.

After returning to England, Crowley gives the notebooks to J.F.C. Fuller to have transcribed. He never requests their return; there is no mention of them again in any of the archival materials. The amount of editing is obvious to any reader of this volume in spite of the "change not the style of a letter" edicts in The Vision and the Voice – I need not comment thereupon further. The 1930s version with commentary, likewise, the originals are not consulted nor requested. Along with the manuscripts for the Holy Books other than Liber AL itself, Crowley seems to have zero interest in them – The Vision and the Voice included. Fuller safeguards them for the remainder of his life. Without his expert care, this volume would not be possible and the secrets therein would have been utterly lost.

With the close of ARN that completes the 418 Working proper chronologically (as it is completed after LIL), Enochian and the Aires are closed off to Crowley. After a failed return to Algeria in 1910 with Neuberg to explore the other eighteen Calls and the Watchtowers., Crowley never does Enochian again. It is not mentioned in his journals or letters, and other than the cursory English only-characterset Liber Chanock in The Equinox, the Enochian system is essentially ignored in both the O.T.O. and A∴A ∴. It is not required in either, despite the stressing of the system and the variant for scrying the Æthyrs offered in

The Vision and the Voice proper. Not after Algeria, not after taking the grade of Magus in 1916. He never returns to ARN. He never achieves the marriage bed he so desperately desired.

1916 is a monumental year for Crowley and his works – the peak of his authority, reach, and power. The O.T.O. in North America is growing, his students worldwide increasing, his stature in the community of the time increasing despite his growing infamy. And in 1916, it all falls apart. The money runs out. He is trapped in the United States, which any reader of Confessions will note his vehement disgust with the people, the land, the experience – the inability of people to recognize him properly as an aristocrat, one of their "betters", and as Prophet. O.T.O. in Canada fails. His relationship with Achad becomes strained to put it mildly after Achad assumes the position of Master of the Temple to complement Crowley's newfound Magus.

But more importantly, it is after this point there are no more Holy Books. Crowley is a Prophet, yes, but a Prophet without a Voice. There are no new fresh fevers from the sky. The decline further escalates. Drugs become an albatross rather than a source of revelation – his escapades across Europe end up causing him to be effectively banned from much of the continent. He takes up desperate and unsuccessful measures to utilize the secret of the IX° for personal gain, as evidenced by his journals of the 1920s and 1930s. He cannot escape the increasing infamy at home by running abroad like he historically had, or at least for long – and after Mandrake House collapses, the long silence of his publishing begins as well.

Sidelined by his poor dental hygiene and failing health for much of the 1930s, Crowley by the time World War II breaks out is effectively what he most despised: a beggar, living hand to mouth on the largess of Yorke, Germer, and a few remaining acolytes. He is unable to travel for a variety of reasons, stuck in the land of his birth as a pariah. Yes, he publishes the brilliant and beautiful Book of Thoth with Lady Frieda Harris' assistance. Yes, his letters are still evidence of a brilliant mind – but the Voice is still silent. His jealousy towards any others who might have such contact is apparent, as in the correspondence with Parsons and in the contempt that Crowley has for even the possibilities of the "Babalon Working.' Success eludes him.

He never attempts to return to ARN. I know, this is a repetition, but for a minute, consider what that means. He has a standing offer, ostensibly, to return to the Æthyrs and fully experience the loving embrace of Her marriage bed. It is what he desperately, desperately wanted in 1909 – but until the end, he never does. The Voice never returns. Crowley is a brilliant man to his dying day, but it is the brilliance of a Prophet without the Voice.

Where this is significant in light of the entire system is simple: without said Voice, and without continued proof of sanction – and the extreme lack of "success is your proof" coupled with a nigh-perfect customized hell of an existence that reads like Crowley's own example of what he would endure as the Scarlet Woman who falls from her position, it bears careful consideration what exactly any of his works, what any of his organizations, what any of the system retains in legitimacy after 1916.

Yes, our Holy Books are our Holy Books. Yes, Crowley is still Prophet. And the former present a way forward using the system of Dee and Kelley and the Angels of the Æthyrs, plus all the derivatives of the Golden Dawn and modern magick – but ultimately, what of Crowley's own writings and commentaries on events past Master of the Temple ultimately can be believed or trusted at face value? On what authority do they rest?

I do not mean to cause distress; I do not mean to cause harm. I love this system with all my being; I love the author with every iota of my soul. I have been pledged to Her Service twenty-one years now, and in keeping with both the method of science, and examining every phenomenon put in front of me as a dealing of God with my soul, I must ask: after the Holy Books themselves, and the beauty and perfection therein, and the ability of any aspirant who truly does the Work to make contact themselves with Her and the Angels and the beauty of our birthright – does it matter what foibles Crowley had? Does it matter if he fell after 1916?

No, it does not – it merely is caution for students, for aspirants, for those who seek to follow in his footsteps and in the organizations that trace their authority back to Crowley the man versus that which he ostensibly served.

Remember Icarus. Remember Ixion.

She is Love. Our system is love, and the desire that lies behind. And it is in Her service.

And ultimately, the system of Nalvage: we bring forth Apocalypse, and it is Hers.

AVE BABALON.

In Her Service,
Obsidian

The 19th Call

(West 36 edition, annotated with 2nd Aethyr translation)

ave BABALON (pronunciation from West 36 facing page) (Enochian text from West 36, typeset) ave BABALON (English characters for Enochian above)
Hail, BABALON (bolded words present in Call, not poetry/fill - exact wording from the interstitial in the Second Aethyr, minus AC commentary)

HANDWRITTEN WORDS ABOVE OR BELOW Enochian and Enochian from West 36, handwritten words only for words present in the actual Call - and approximate location to the Enochian word that the translation is of. Inconsistency in above/below are due to Crowley's own spacing/handwriting and inability to line up same in West 36 proper.

The 19th Call from West 36 follows this annotated edition for reference for those who do not have a copy thereof handy.

Note that West 36's Call is derived from the Golden Dawn variation including pronunciation. It is included because this is the very document used to launch the experiments that became "The Vision and the Voice" in Algeria in 1909 (and the failed expedition of 1910).

It was separated from the notebooks that end up in the hands of Fuller, and remains separate to this day from the Fuller Enochiana collection that ended up at Harry Ransom at the University of Texas.

madariatza das perifa LIL

madriax ds praf LIL

O ye heavens which dwell in the first Aire, heavens which dwell First Air kahisa micaoloazod saamine kaosajo

khis micaolz saanine caosgo

& are mighty in the parts of the Earth,

are mightie parts Earth

od fifisa bazodinzodarasa IAIDA. Nonuka

od fifis balzizras IAIDA. nonca

& execute therein the judgment of the Highest, unto you and execute judgment Highest! unto you gohulime: micama adoian mada faoda gohulim: micma adoian mada faod

it is said, 'Behold the face of your God', the beginning

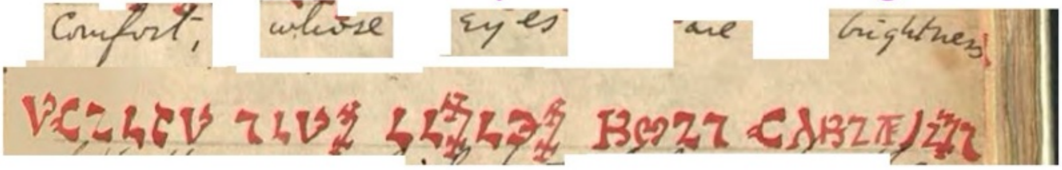
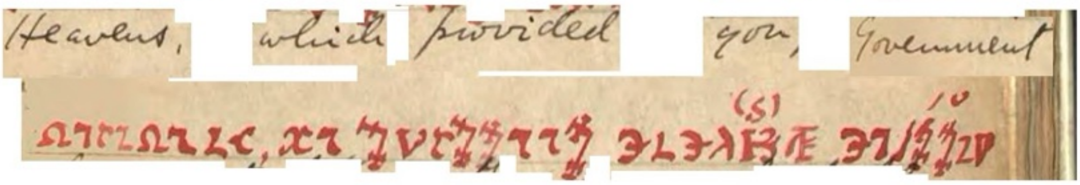
it is said: Behold Face God Beginning

beliorebe,	soba,	ooaona	caleioa	luciftias
bliorb	soba	ooaona	chis	luciftas
of comfort,	whose	eyes	are the	brightness



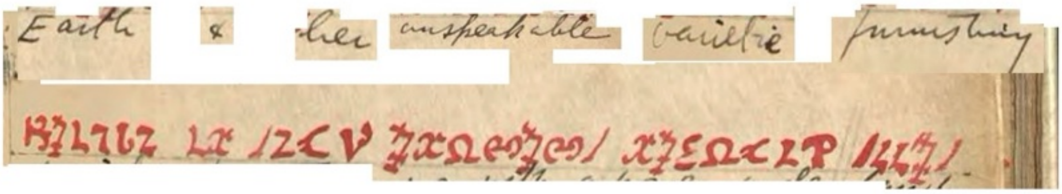
Comfort, whose eyes are brightnes

peripesol,	das	aberaasasa	nonukafe	netaaibe
peripesl,	ds	abraassa	nonukf	netaaib
of the heavens	which	provided	you for the	government



Heavens, which provided you, Government
(s) 10

caosaji	od	tilabe	adapeliaheta	damepelozoda	tootata
caosgi	od	tilb	adphaht	damploz	tooat
of the Earth,	&	her	unspeakable	variety,	furnishing



Earth & her unspeakable varietie furnishing nounkafe	jimikalayodoma	larasada	tofejilo

nonukf	g micalz oma	lrasd	tofglo

you with the power of understanding, that ye might dispose all things you with power understanding dispose all things

marebe yareryo IDOIGO od

marb yarry IDOIGO od

according to the foresight of Him that sitteth on the Holy Throne, **&

according to Providence of Him &

torezodulape yoadafe gohaba. caosaga, torzulp iaodaf gohol : caosga

rose up in the beginning, saying, The Earth,

rose up Beginning, saying: The Earth

tabaoveda saanire od caharis-a-teosa yorepaoila tabaord saanire od christeos yrpoil

let her be governed by her parts governed parts & let there be division

tiobela, busadire tilabe noalarus paida oresaba tiobl busdir tilb noaln paid orsba that her glory may be always ecstasy, her Glory her be always drunken od dodvemoni yoda-yolana elezodape tilaba parameji

od dodrmni zylna elzap tilb parmg

& irritation of orgasm. Her course, let it round and vexed ~~it~~self course, let it round

(dodremni)

peripesatza od ta qurelasata booapisa

peripsax od ta qurlst booapis with the heavens, & as an handmaid let her serve them.

heavens & as handmaid serve lanibame oukaho sayomepe od kahari-sateosa

1 nibm oucho symp od christeos

One season let it confound another, & let there be

One Season confound another × be Ojirtoltoreuu naireka go tiobela lela ag toltorn mirc q tiobl lel

no creature upon or within her the same.

no Creature upon or her same tono paomebeda dizodalamo asa piauu

ton paombd dilzmo as pian

All her members let them differ in their qualities,

all members, differ qualities

od kahirisateosa aji-la-tore-toreuu parakahe a od christeos ai - l - tor - torn parakh a & let there be no one creature equal with and be no one creature equal with sayompe Koreda-zodizoda dodapala od fifalaiuzoda symp cordziz dodpal od fifalzds

another. The reasonable creatures of the earth & men, let them vex & weed

another reasonable vex & weed lasa menada, od faredgita bamesa omaoasa

mnad od fargt bams omaoas out one another. And their dwelling places, let them forget their names.

another & dwelling forget Names

31 conisabera od auaiiotza to nudgi

conisbra od avavox to nug

The work of man & his pomp, let them be defaced.

Work and pomp defaced (dg)

oresa noasami tabejesa leuitaheors ca tbl noasmi tabges levith-

His building let it be in a cave for the Beasts of the Field.

buildings his become caves beasts

-monuji unukahi omepe tilabe ores! bagile

-mong unchi omp tilb ors bagile

Confound her understanding with darkness. For why,

Confound understanding her darkness Why

Moooabe Ol koredazodinyoda Ela ka pimao

moooab ol cordziz 1 ca pimao

it rejoiceth me concerning the Virgin & the Man. One while repenteth make man One while itzomatyipe	od	kakokasabe

ixomaxip	od	ca cocasb
let her be known,	&	another while a known & another while

gosaa	bajileuss	pii	tiamita	a	babalanuda
gosaa	baglen	pii	tianta	a	babalnd
stranger,	because	she	is the bed	of	an harlot, stranger. Because she is bed of harlot

od	faoredgita	teloka	uo	uime
od	faorgt	teloc	uo	uim
&	the dwelling	of him	that is fallen.

(dg) & dwelling him fallen

madariiatza	torezodu
madriiax	torzu
O ye heavens,	arise;

heavens, arise!

tia	balatanu	odo		kikale
tia	baltan	odo		cikle
unto us in his	justice.	Open	the	mysteries

His Justice
Open Mysteries

qaa	od	ozodazodama
qaa	od	ozazma
of your creation,	and	make us

Creation
&
make

pelapeli		IADANAMADA
plapli		iadnamad
partakers	of the undefiled	knowledge.

s partaker
Knowledge.

The titles of the 30 Aethyrs whose dominion extendeth in ever widening circles without & beyond the Watch Towers of the Universe.

The first is outermost.

1.
2.
3.
4.
5.
6.
7.
LXV 8.
9.
10.
11.
12.
13.
14.
15.
16
17
18 19 20 21
22
23 24
25
26
27
28
29
30

ENDED
ARE THE FORTY-EIGHT CALLS OR KEYS.

Madariatza das perifa " " kahisa micaolazod saamire kaosagö od fifisa bal zodizodarasa
IAIDA. Nonuka gohulime:
Micama adoian Mada Faoda
Beliórebe, soba óoaona
cahisa luciftias peripesol, das aberaasăsa nonukafe
netaăibe caosaji, od tilabe adapehaheta damepelozoda, tooata nonukafe jimikalazodŏma larasada tofejilo marebe yareryo IDOIGO od torezodulape yaōdafe gohola:
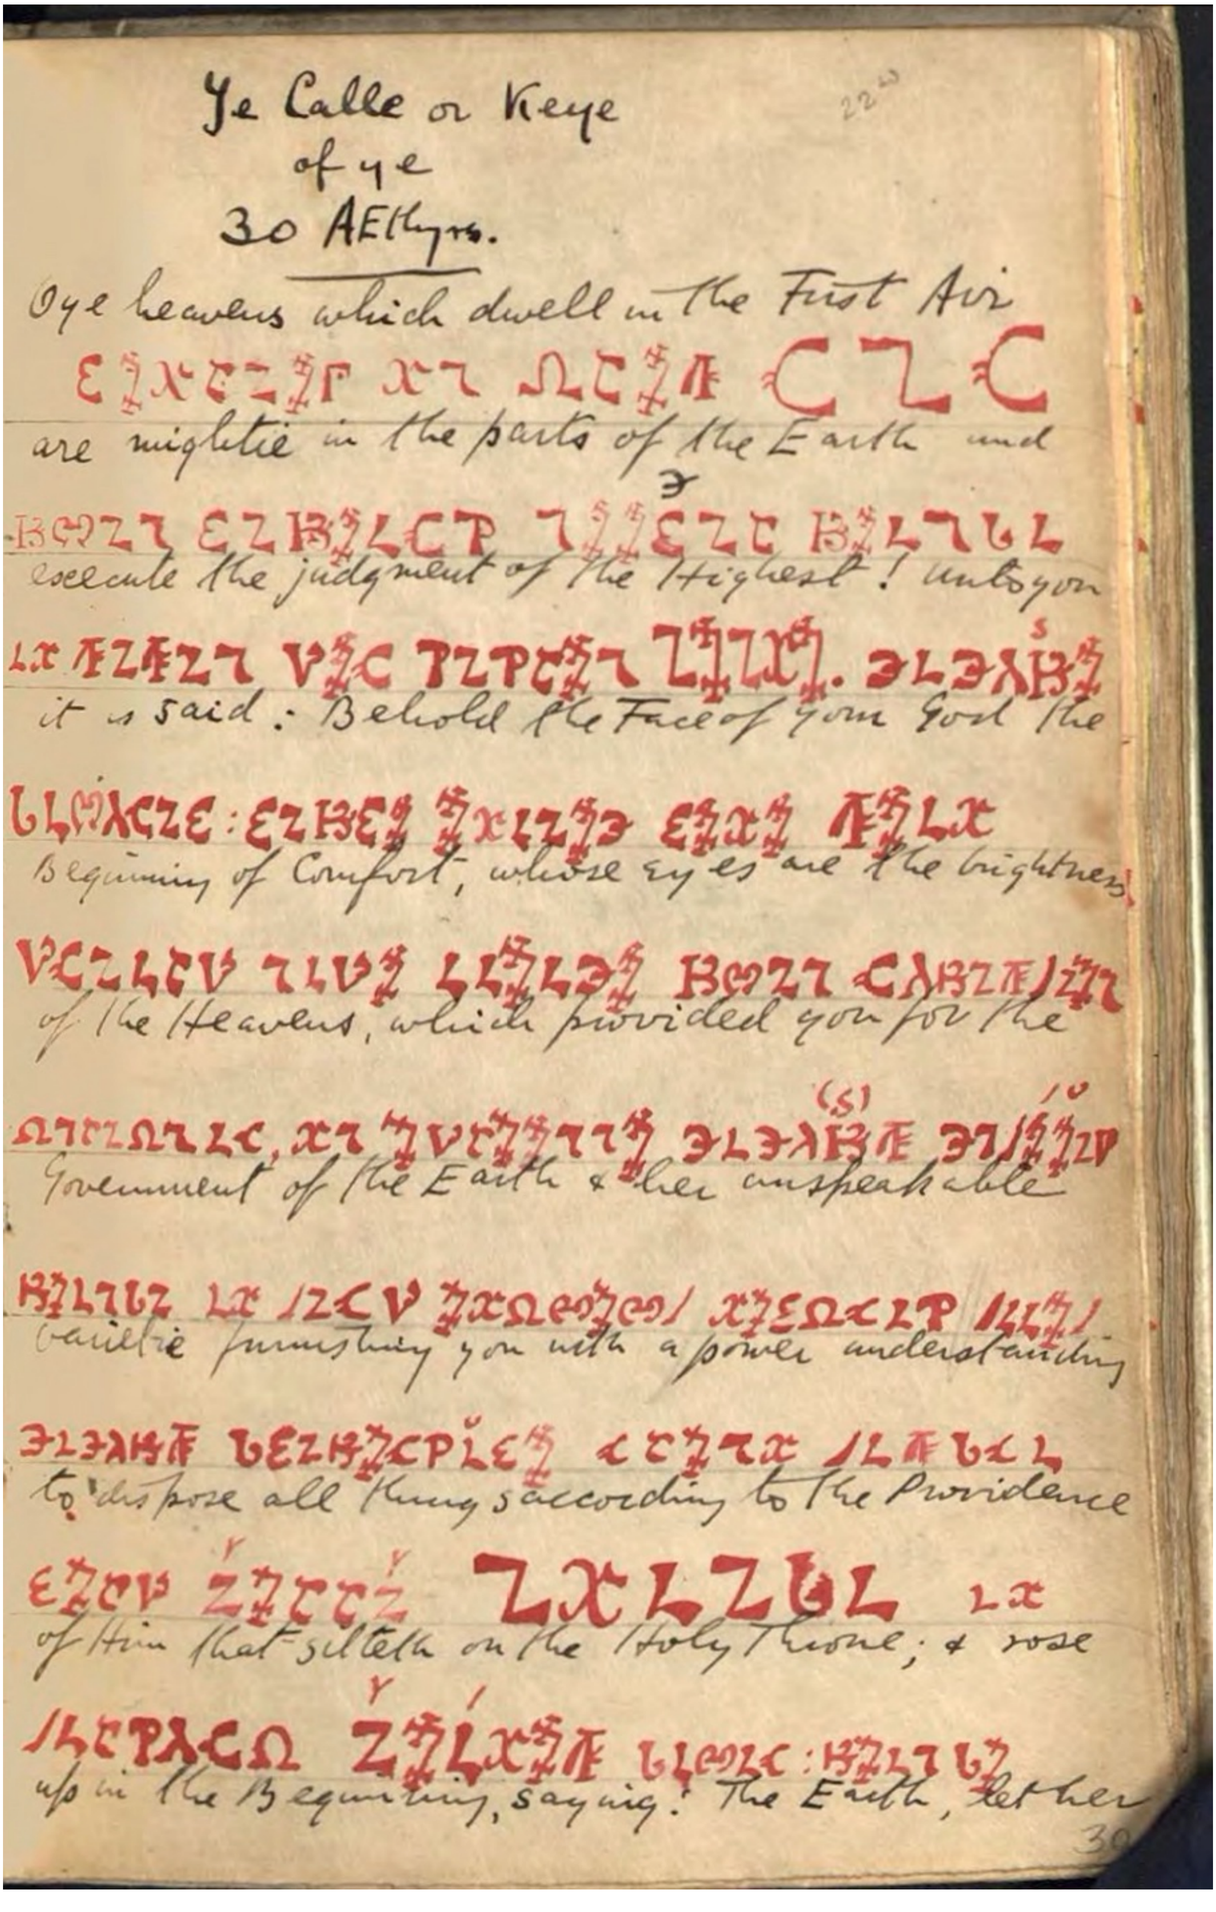
Caosaga,



Ye Calle or Keye of ye 30 AEthyrs.

O ye heavens which dwell in the First Air are mightie in the parts of the Earth and execute the judgment of the Highest! unto you it is said: Behold the Face of your God the Beginning of Comfort, whose eyes are the brightness of the Heavens, which provided you for the Government of the Earth & her unspeakable varietie furnishing you with a power understanding to dispose all things according to the Providence of Him that sitteth on the Holy Throne; & rose up in the Beginning, saying: The Earth, let her tabaoreda saanire, od cakarisateósa yorepõila tiobela,

busadire tilabe noalanu
paida oresaba od/dodremeni zodayolana.
elazodape tilaba
paremeji peripesatza, od/ta quaelasata booapisa. Lanibame Lanibame
oukaho sayomepe, od kakarisateosa let Ajitoltorenu, mireka
there be no creature upon her qo tiobela lela. tonu paomebeda all her members
dijodalamo asa pianu, od
and kaliirisateosa. aji-la-tore-torenu let there be no creature parakahe a sayomepe. Koredazodizoda, equal with another the reasonable creatures
dodapala od fifalazoda
lasa menada, od faredgita.
weed out
Bamesa omaoasa
let them forget their names be governed by her parts & let there be division in her, that the Glory of her may be always drunken and vexed in itself Her course, let it runne with (dodremni)

with the heavens, & as an handmaid let her serve them. One Season, let it confound another; & let there be no Creature upon or within her the same.

"Words in Enochian missing here?"

All her members, let them differ in their qualities and let there be no one creature equal with another

The reasonable creatures of the Earth, & men, let them vex & weed out one another; & their dwelling-

31 conísabera od aŭăŭotza to the work of man & his pomp nūdgi oresa; noăsami tabejesa his buildings caves

leŭitahemonuji. Unukahi for beasts of the field confound omepe tilabe oresa! Bagile?
understanding her with darkness
moóŏabe? Ol koredazodiyoda.
For why?
it repenteth me that I have made man
Ela ka‿pinao itzomatzipe
od kakokazabe gosaa.
Bajilenu pii tianuta a babalanuda od faoredgita
teloka uo uime.
Madariiatza, torezodu!
Oadariatza orokaha, aboaperi! Tabáŏri periazoda aretabas-a; adarépanu
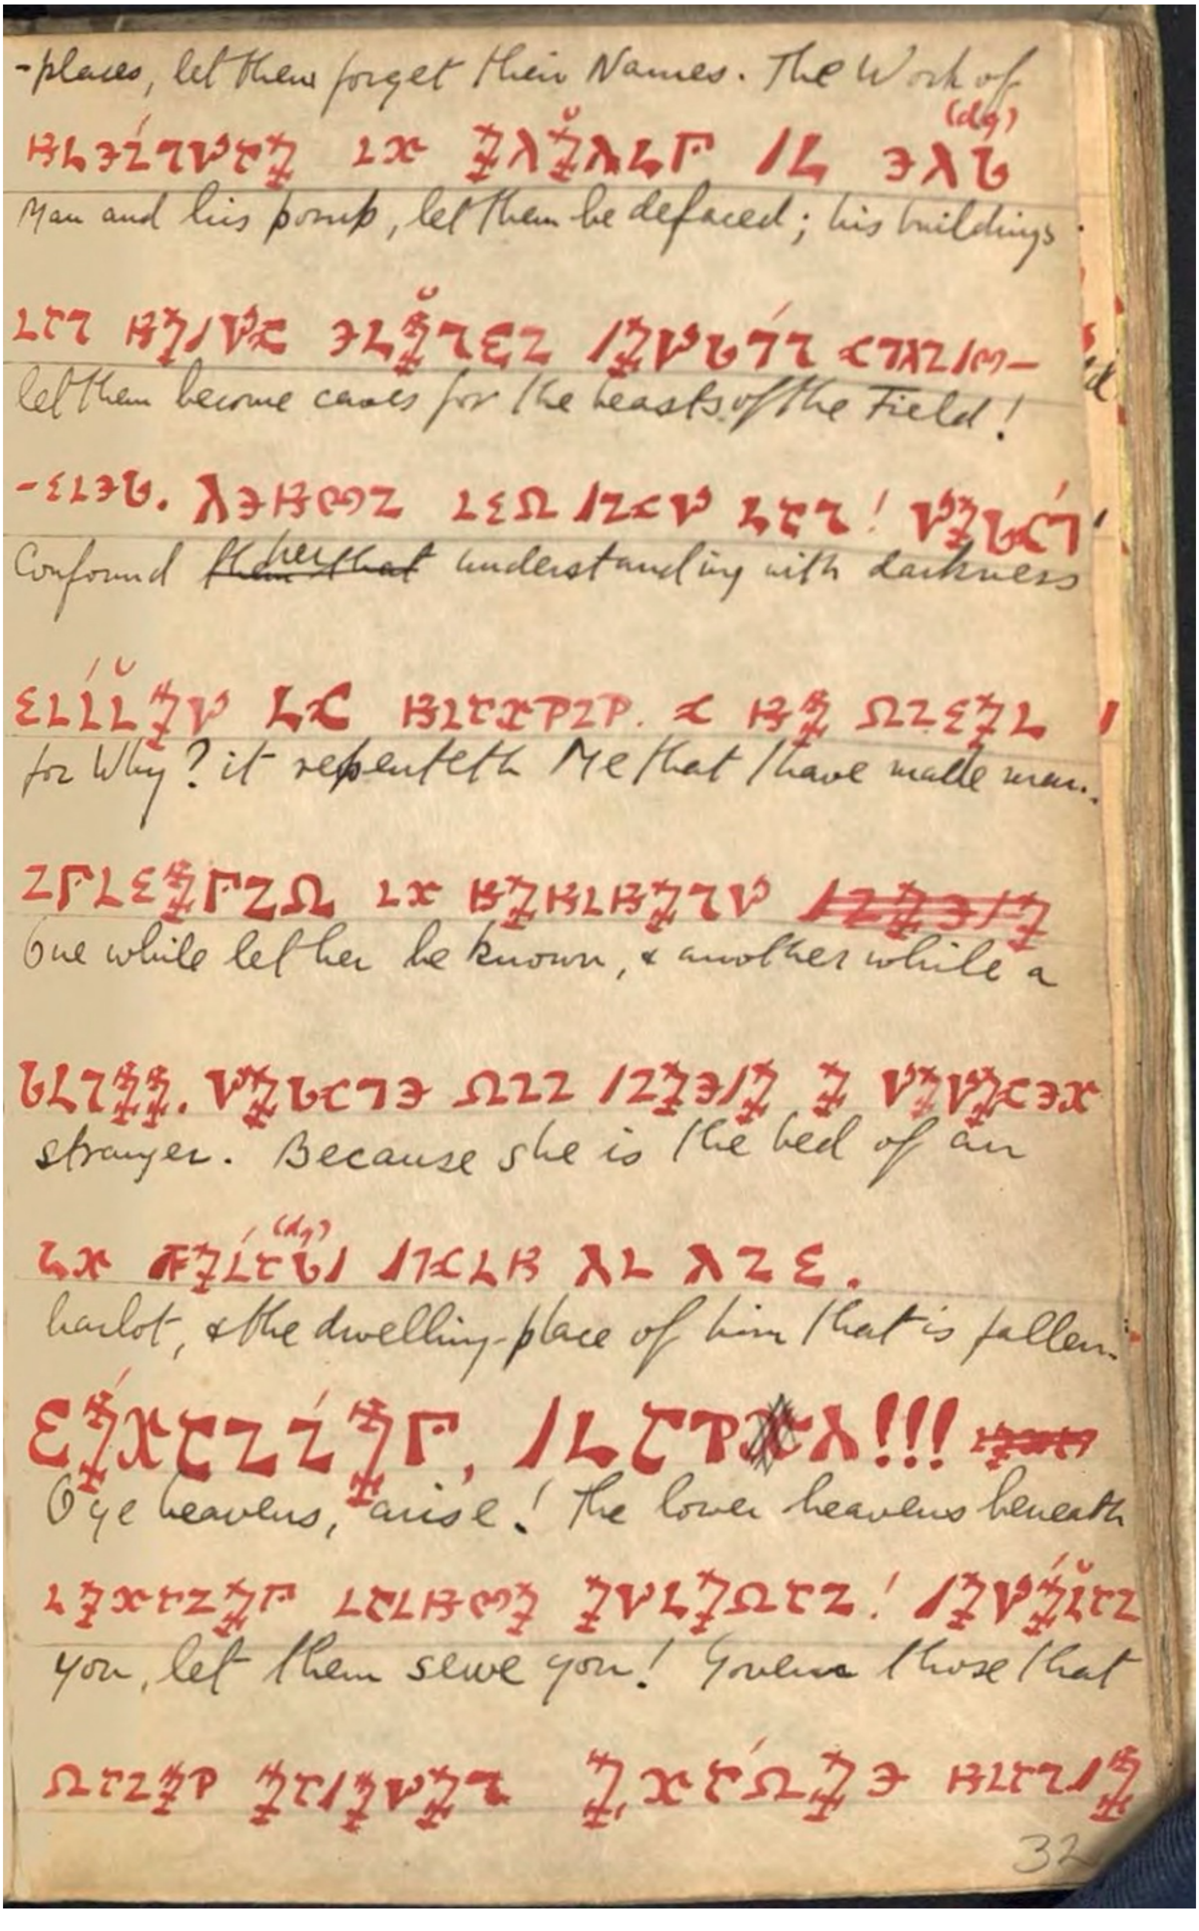
koresata



-places, let them forget their Names. The Work of Man and his pomp, let them be defaced; his buildings
let them become caves for the beasts of the Field!
Confound ~~them that~~ her understanding with darkness for Why? it repenteth Me that I have made man.
One while let her be known, & another while a stranger. Because she is the bed of an harlot, & the dwelling-place of him that is fallen.
O ye heavens, arise! the lower heavens beneath you, let them serve you! Govern those that dobitza; yolakame periazodi arekoazodiore, od quasabe gotinudgi. rotten ripire paaotzata sa-gakore. Umala, od peredazodare kakaréji aoiuéae koremepeta. Torezodu: zodacare od zodameranu: asapeta siberi butamōna das surezodasa tia balatanu. Odo kikale Qaa od Ozodazodama Pelapeli Iadanămada.

32

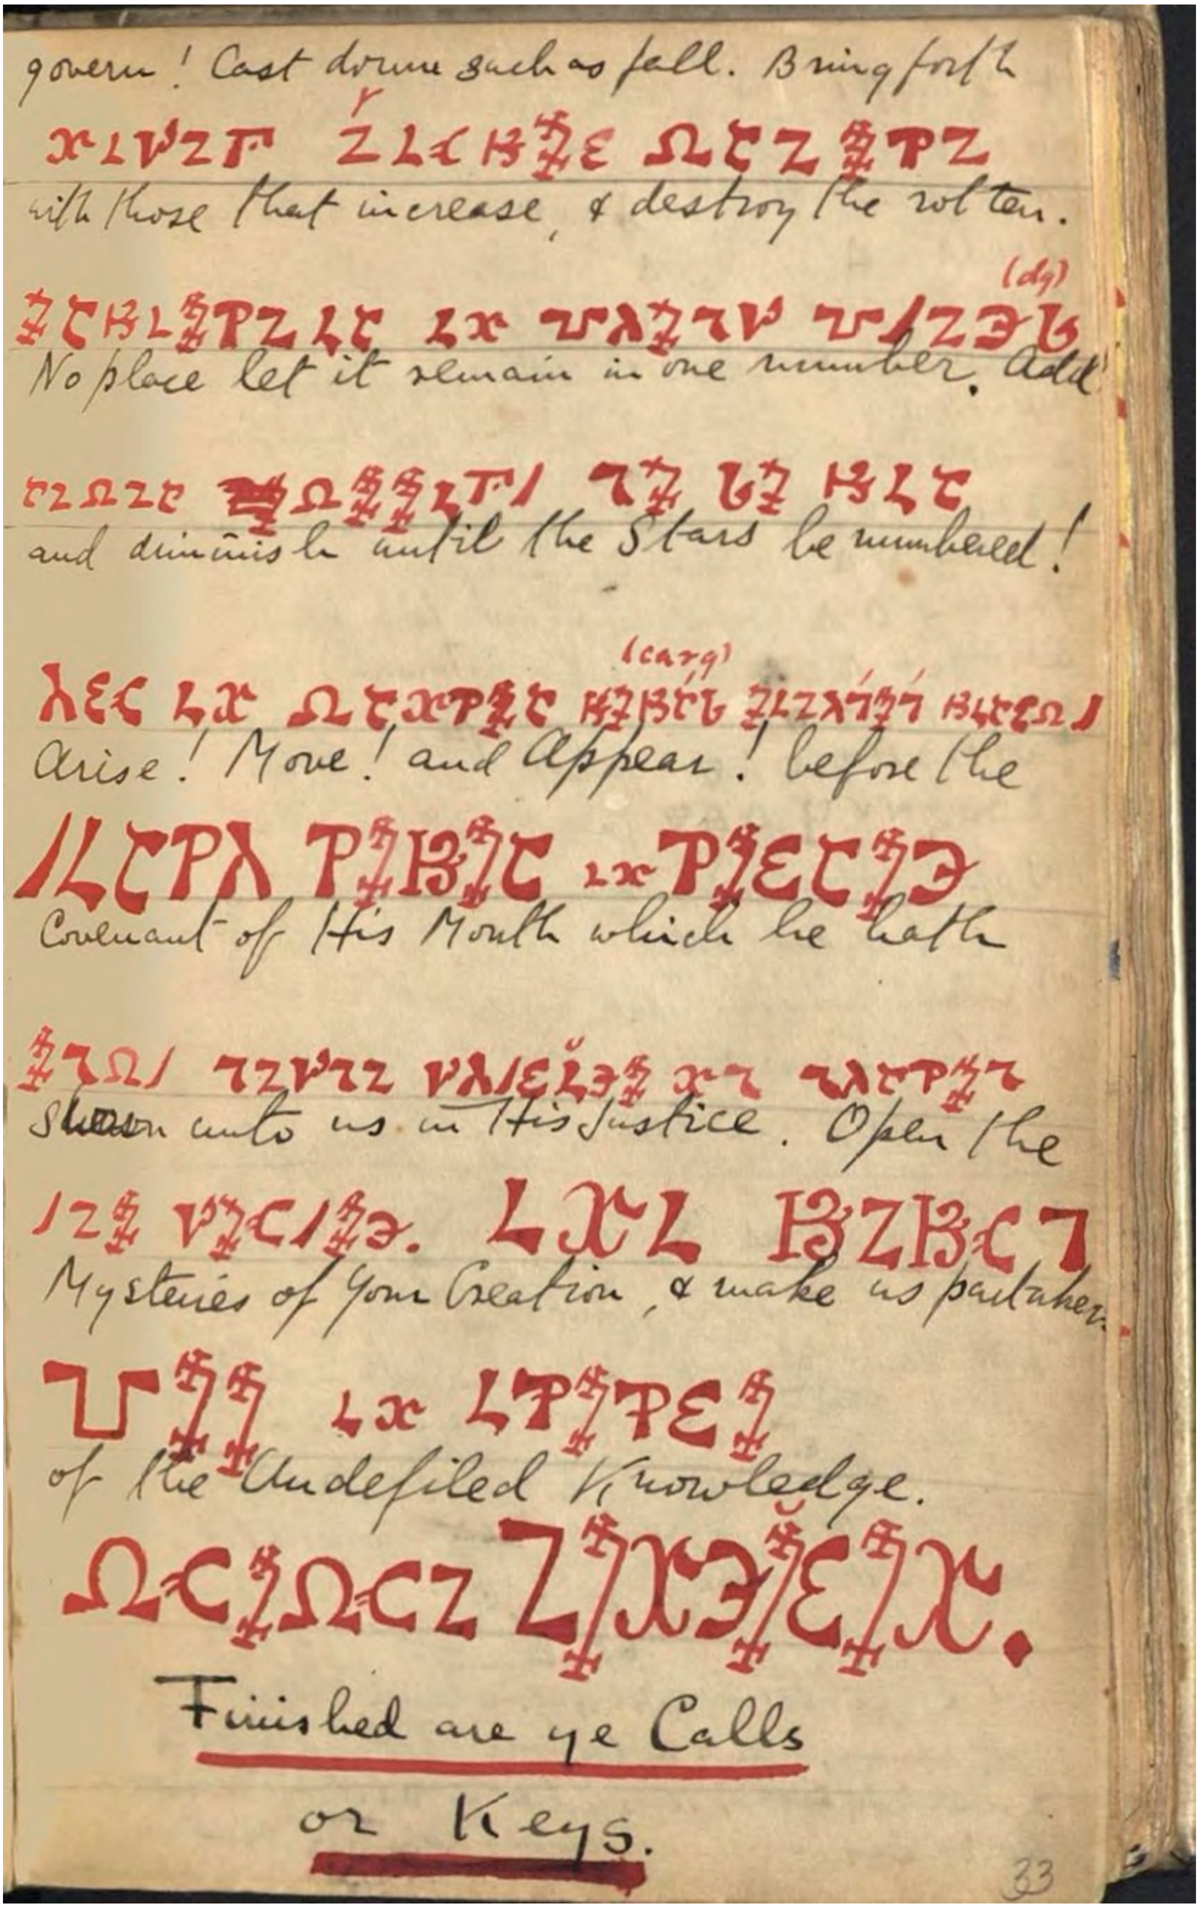
in me



govern! Cast down such as fall. Bring forth with those that increase, & destroy the rotten.

(dg)

No place let it remain in one number. Add and diminish until the Stars be numbered!

(carg)

Arise! Move! and Appear! before the Covenant of His Mouth which he hath Shown unto us in His Justice. Open the Mysteries of Your Creation, & make us partakers of the Undefiled Knowledge.

Finished are ye Calls or Keys.

The Dates and Times of the Aires

Information is derived straight from the notebooks themselves and have only been edited at all to consistently put date in front of time as the originals are wildly inconsistent. Also included is the specific ritual condition and time of the reception of the method of attaining Knowledge & Conversation demanded in the 17th.

Where multiple times/dates for a specific event are listed and edited/crossed out/multiple choices given, they are noted herein as OR.

For Æthyrs where they were received on multiple occasions, I have placed them in the order written in the notebooks.

In all instances herein, I have let the notebook date/times and any uncertainties be my guide. Inconsistencies in diacriticals etc are exactly as found in the notebooks.

30th No specific given ("The the Visions of the 29th & 30th Aethyrs were given to me in Mexico in August 1900,")

29th November 17, 1900 (no time given)

28th Aumale, Algeria. Nov: 23, 1909. Between 8-9 p.m.

27th Sidi Aissa, Algeria. Nov: 24, 1909. 8-9 p.m.

26th The desert, near Sidi Aissa. Nov. 25, 1909. 1:10-2 p.m.

25th Ain el Hajel. Nov: 25, 1909. 8.30-9.30 OR 8.40-9.40, p.m

24th Ain el Hajel. Nov: 26, 1909. 2(?)-3:25 p.m. OR 2-3(?) p.m.

23rd Bou Sâada. Nov: 28, 1909. 9.30-10.15 a.m.

22nd Bou-Saada. Nov: 28, 1909. 4(?)-6, pm.

21st The desert, near Bou-Saada. Nov: 29, 1909. 1.30-2.50 p.m.

20th Bou-Sâada. Nov: 30, 1909. 9.15-10.50 a.m.

19th BOU-SAADA. Nov: 30, 1909 10-12 p.m. OR 10-11:45 p.m. OR 9.45 –
11.45 p.m.

18th Bou-Sâada.Dec: 1, 1909. 2.30-4.10 p.m.

17th Bou-Sâada. Dec: 2, 1909. 12.30 -1.45 a.m. OR
(?) (?)
12.3//15(?)-2 a.m. .

"And the method & the form of invocation whereby a man shall attain to the knowledge and conversation of his Holy Guardian Angel shall be given unto thee in the proper place"

"This I performed in a sort of cave upon the ridge of a great mountain in the Desert near Bou-Saada at 12-3 p.m. on Dec 2."

16th Bou-Sâada. Dec: 2, 1909. 4.50-6.5, p.m.

15th Bou-Saada. Dec: 3, 1909. 9.15 to 11.10 a.m.

14th Da'laj-Uzdin, Bou-Saâda, Dec: 3, 1909. 2.50-3.15, p.m., Bou-Saâda. Dec: 3, 1909. 9.50-11.15 p.m.
NOTE: Astrological chart for second part of the 14th Æthyr at the end of Notebook VI (Volume V in this edition)

13th Dec: 4, 1909. 2.10-3.45 p.m. . The river-bed near Bou-Saâda.

12th Bou-Saâda. Dec: 4 - 5, 1909. 11.30 p.m. - 1.20 a.m.

11th Bou-Saâda, Dec: 5, 1909. 10.10-11.35, p.m. .

10th (This cry was obtained on Dec: 6, 1909, between 2 & 4.15 p.m., in a Lonely valley of fine sand, in the desert near Bou-Saâda. The Æthyr was edited & revised on the following day.)

9th Bou-Saâda. Dec: 7th, 1909. 9.30(?)-11.10 p.m. ,

8th The desert between Bou-Saâda & Biskra. Dec: 8, 1909. 7.30 7.10-9.10
p.m. .

7th Wáint-Aisha, Algeria. Dec: 9, 1909. 8.10-10 p.m. .

6th Benishrur, Algeria. Dec: 10, 1909. 7.40-9.40, p.m. .

5th The desert between Benishrur, & Toulga. Dec: 12, 1909, 7-8.12 p.m.

Torgla, Dec: 13, 1909. 8.15-10.10 p.m. Torlga, Algeria, 4th Biskra, Algeria. Dec: 16, 1909. 9-10.30, a.m.

3rd BISKRA. Dec: 17, 1909. 9.30-11 11.30 a.m. .

2nd Biskra. Dec: 18, 1909. 9.20-10.5,a.m.
Biskra, 10.15-11.52, a.m.

Hammam Salahin. Dec: 18,, 3.10-4.35 p.m.

Biskra, Algeria. Dec: 20, 1909.8.35-9.15 p.m.

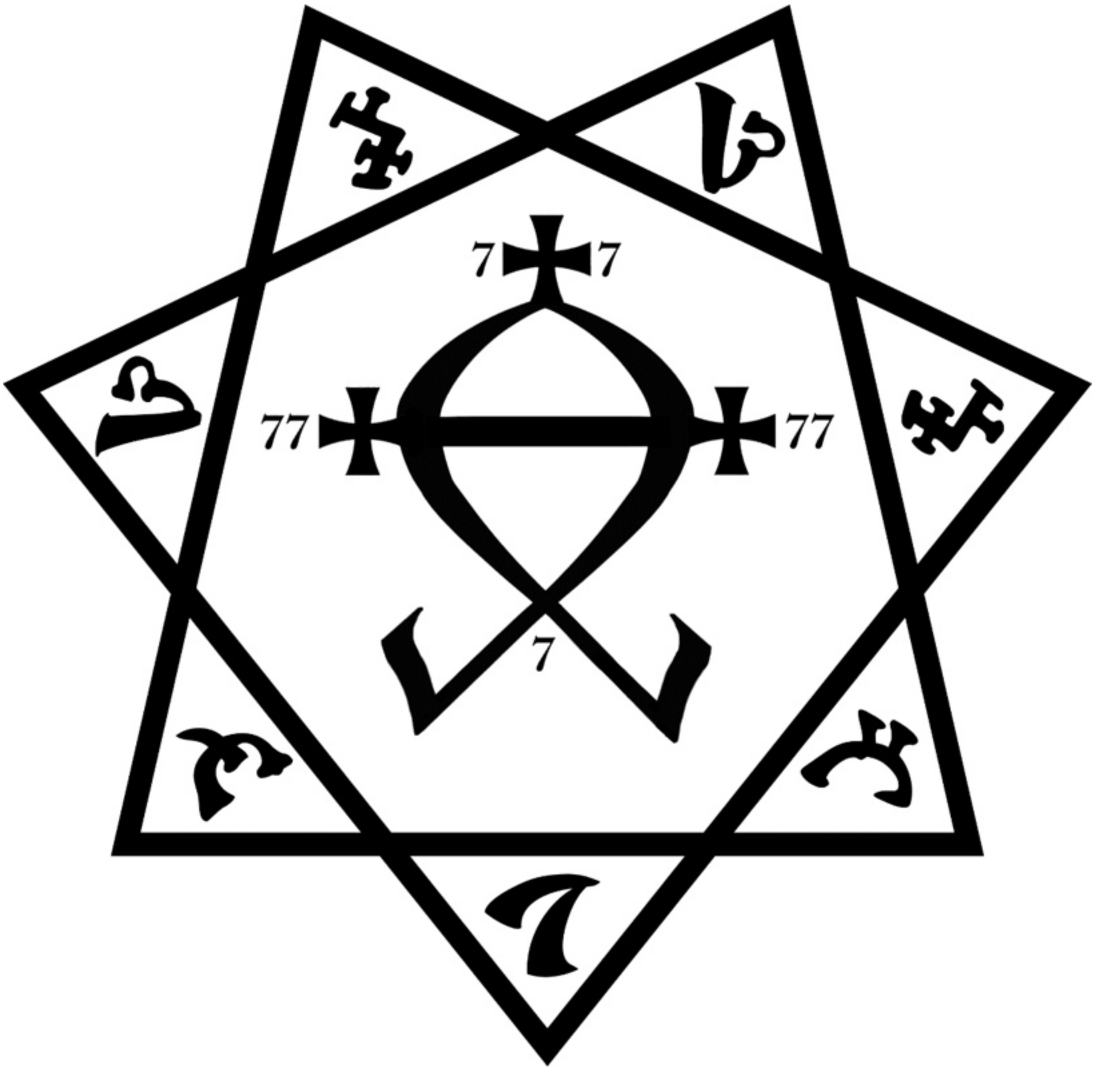
1st Biskra, Algeria. Dec: 19, 1909. 1.30-3.30 p.m.

The Vision and the Voice

being of the Angels of the Thirty Æthyrs

(Mexico, 1900 and Algeria, 1909)

As delivered to Perdurabo and O.V.



IN NOMINE BABALON

LIBER
XXX ÆRVM
VEL SÆCULI
SUB FIGURÂ
CDXVIII
BEING OF THE
ANGELS OF THE
THIRTY ÆTHYRS
THE VISION
AND THE VOICE

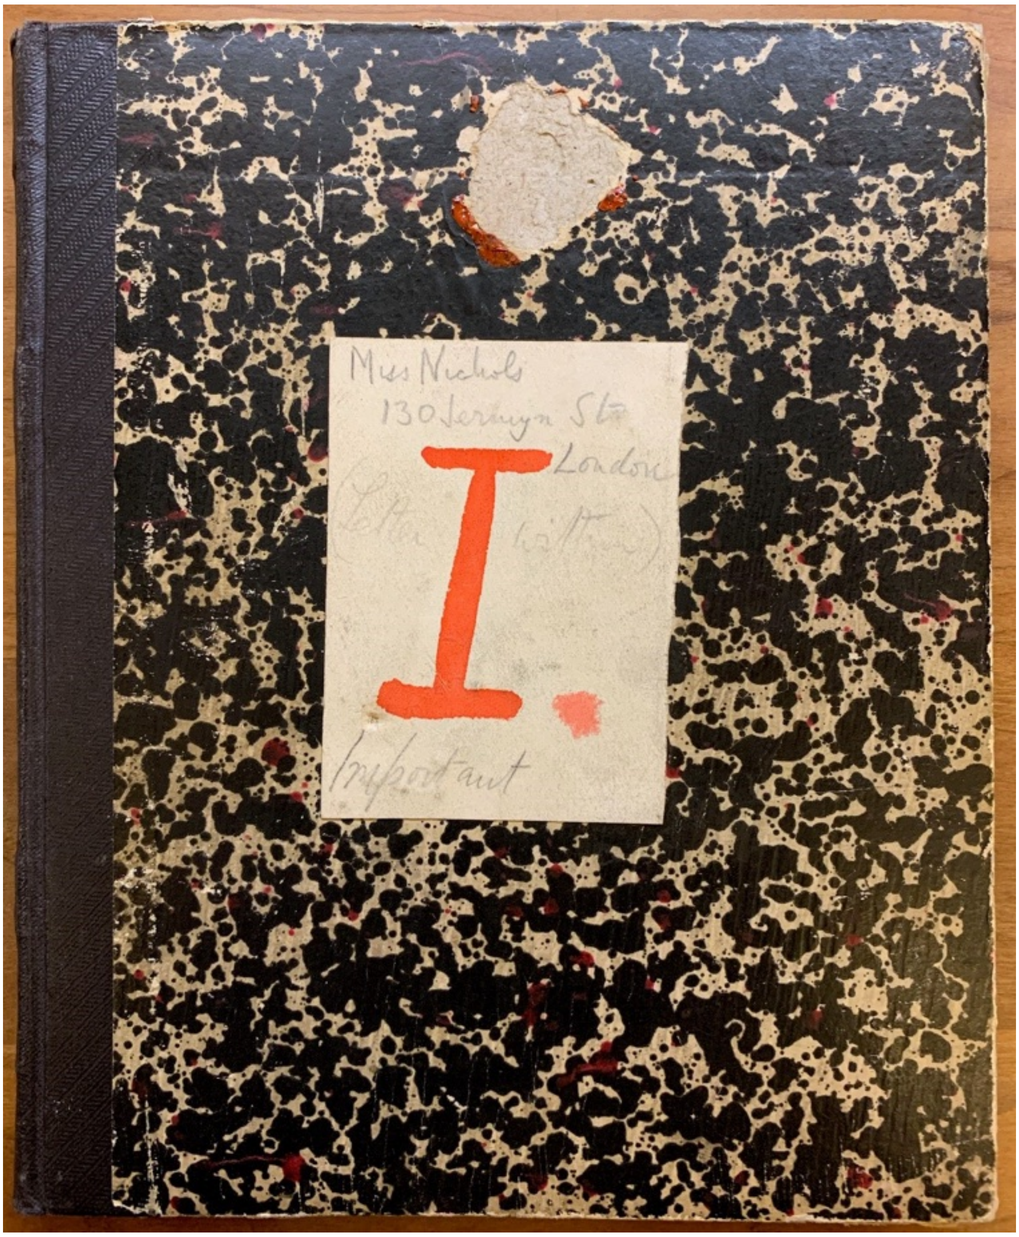
A∴A∴
Publication in Class A.



Miss Nichols
130 Jermyn St
London
(Letter within)
I.
Important

The Vision and the Voice

Liber CDXVIII

(being the actual notebooks of

the Angels of the Thirty Æthyrs)

Volume I: A Booke (30th, 29th, & miscellany)

and Notebook I (28th to 19th Æthyrs)

Double struck text (~~example~~) is crossed out in the manuscript, but included on the typescript.
Slashed-out text (~~example~~) is indicative of another type of edit to the manuscript that is not a simple crossout and replace.
Greyed out text (example) is pencil additions, overwrites, etc. or a correction in a different ink or writing tool than the original version.

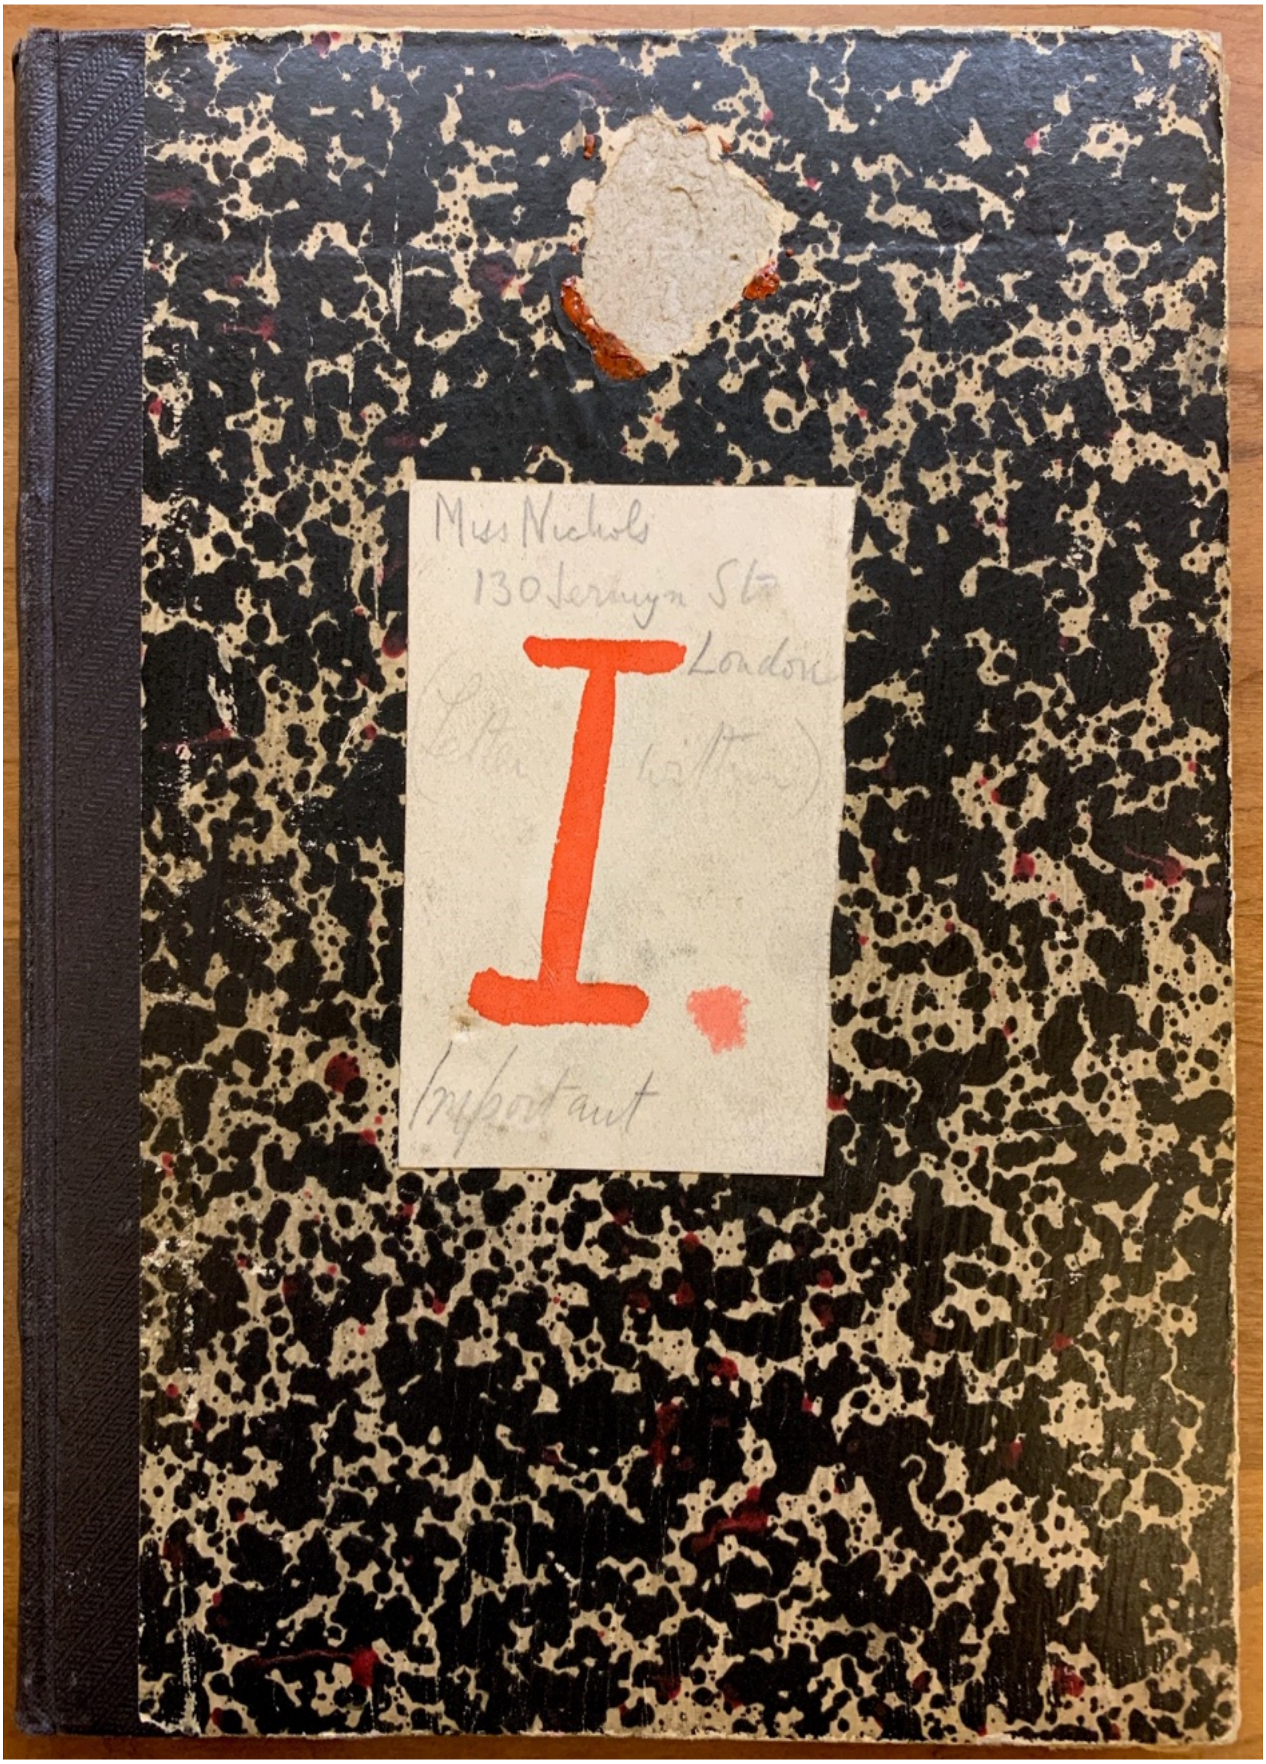
It is advisable to consult the source notebook page in these instances.

Note the Enochian Governors list at the start of this document have slight differences from those given in the Equinox; again – consult the source, Dee, the Equinox, and the Tables themselves and let the Aethyrs be your guide. In particular, the discrepancies with six versus seven letters bear attention.

This is not something to edit one way or the other – it is truly a document of our heritage.

IN NOMINE BABALON

purple mountain



Miss Nichols
130 Jermyn St
London
(Letter written)
I.
Important

Contents

Governors Tables from Algeria, 1909 9

The Alphabet of Daggers 14

The cry of the Thirtieth or Inmost Aire or Æthyr. 20

The cry of the Twenty and Ninth Aire or Æthyr. 50

Concerning the Thirty Aethyrs. 80

The Cry of the 28th Æthyr, which is called . 86

The Cry of the 27th Æthyr, which is called . 106

The Cry of the 26th Æthyr, which is called . 122

The cry of the 25th Æthyr, which is called . 136

The Cry of the 24th Æthyr, which is called . 152

The Cry of the 23rd Æthyr, which is called . 172

The Cry of the 22nd Æthyr, which is called . 184

The Cry of the 21st Æthyr, which is called . 206

The Cry of the 20th Æthyr, which is called . 232

The Cry of the 19th Æthyr, which is called . 256

17/ a Sigmorf
b Aydropt
c Joearzi

18/ a Nabaomi
b Zafasai
c Lalpamb

19/ a Jorzoxi
b Abaion
c Omagrap

20/ a Zildron
b Parzika
c Jozocan

21/ a Chirspa
b Joantom
c Fixpalg

22/ a Ogidaia
b Galzirg
c Pondamb

23/ a Onizimp
b Zaxanin
c Orcamir

24/ a Chialps
b Soagell
c Mirzind

25/ a Obvaors
b Ranglamb
c Pophand

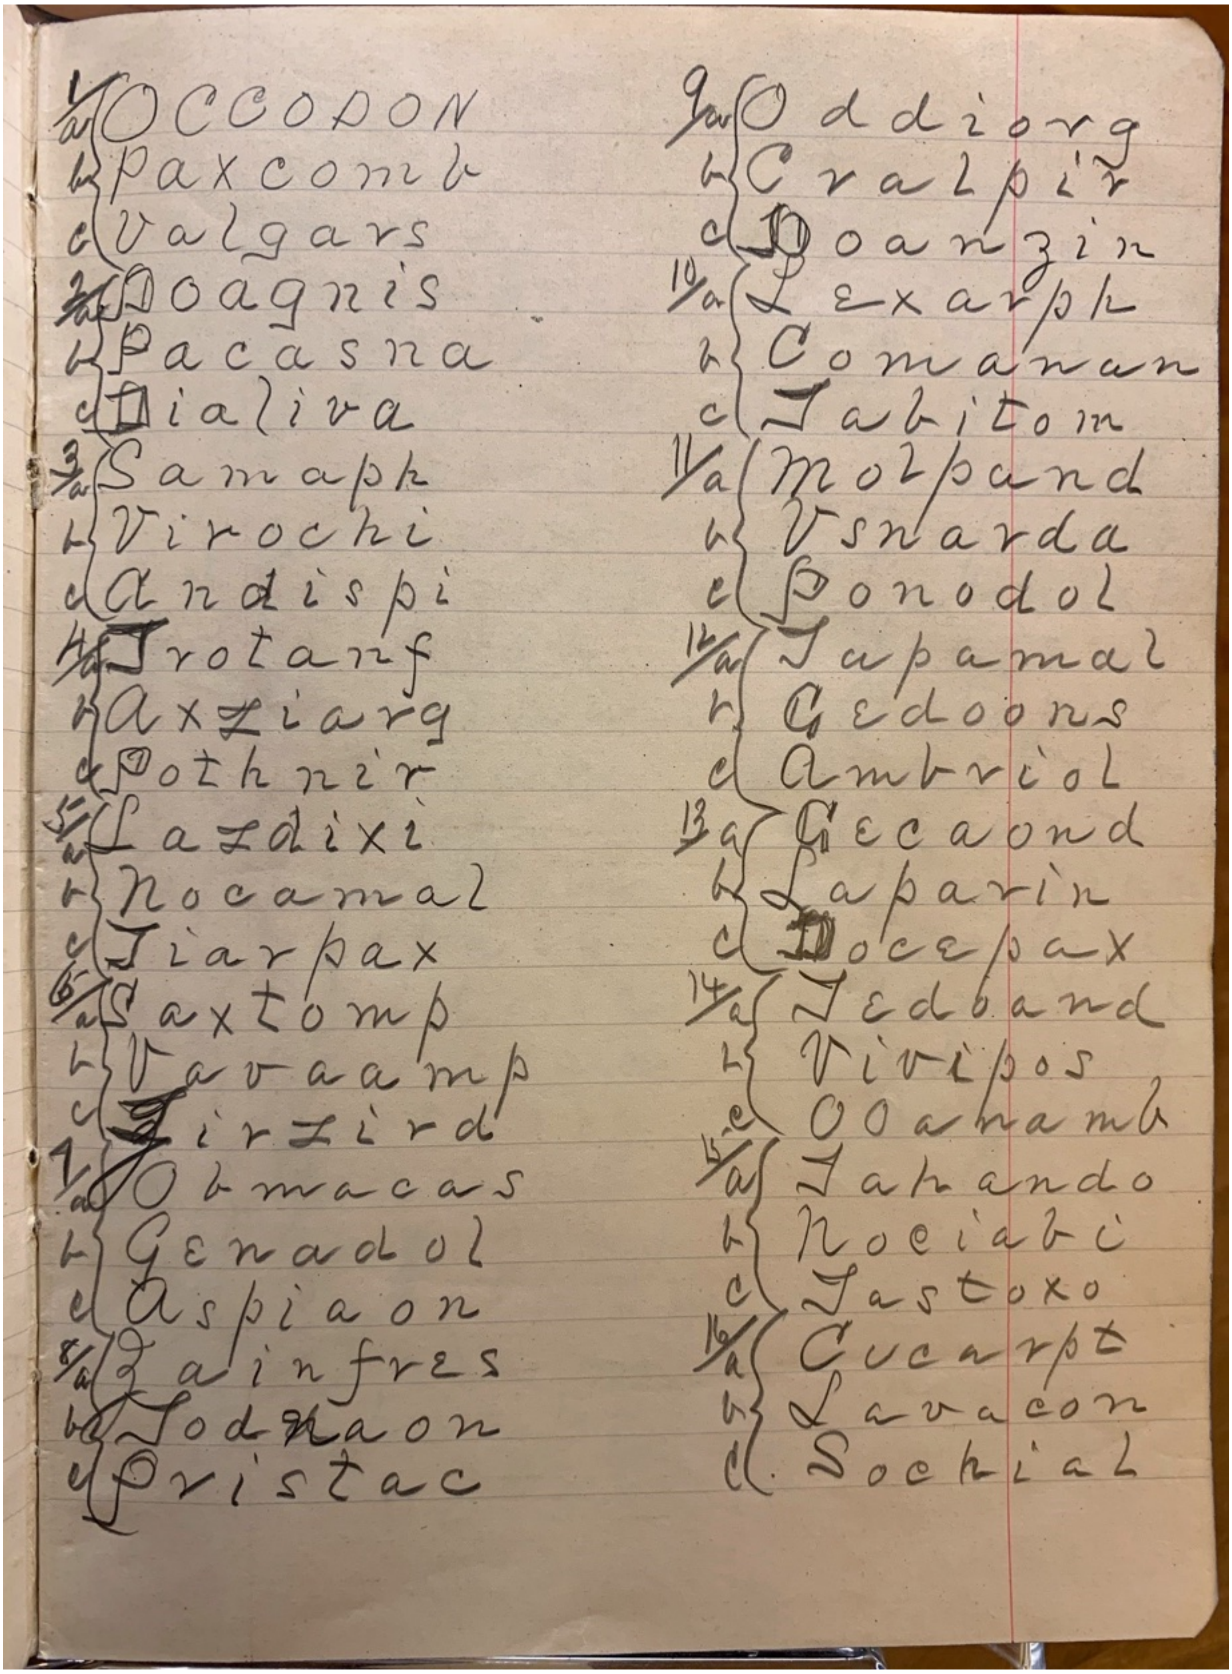
26/ a Nigrana
b Baschim
c Saziami

27/ a Mathula
b Orparib
c Labnixp

28/ a Zocisni
b Oxlopar
c Vastrim

29/ a Odraxti
b Gomziam
c Jaoagla

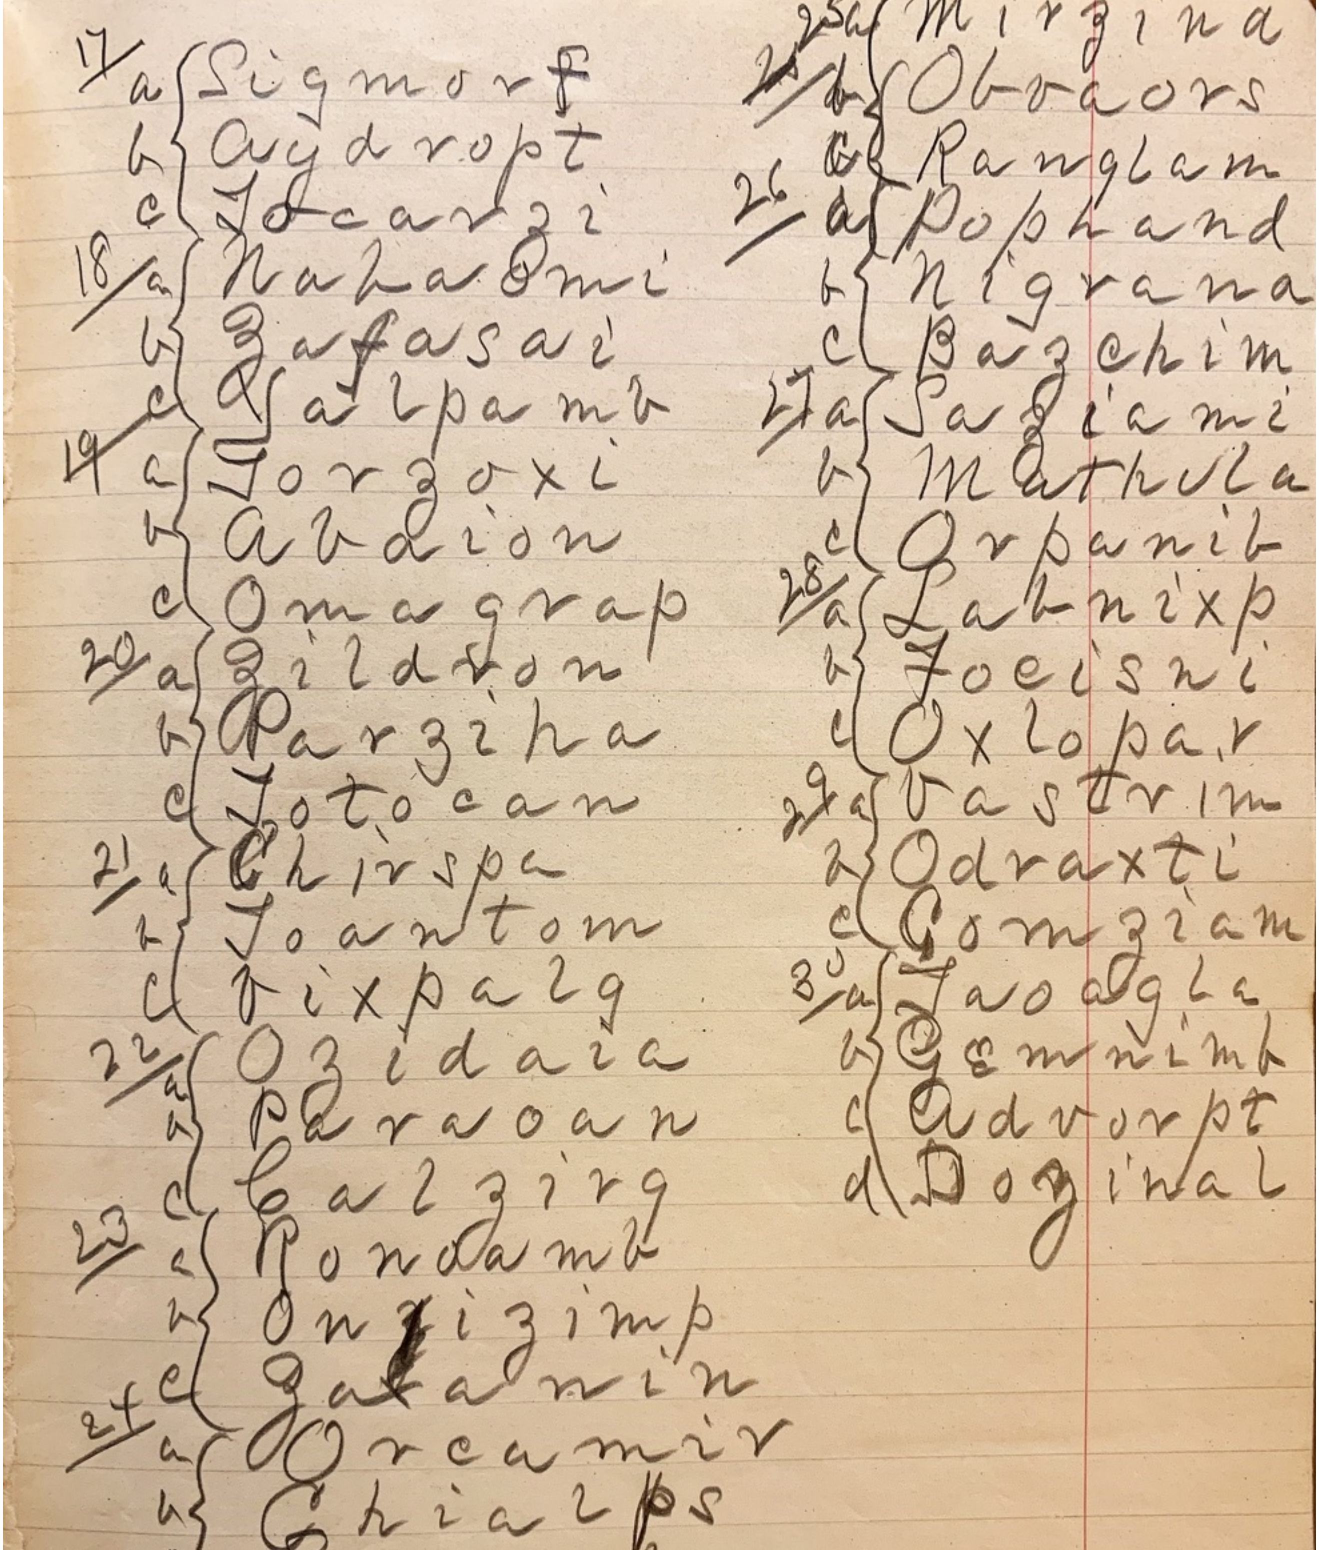
30/ a Gemnimb
b Advorpt
c Bozinal



1/a OCCODON
b Paxcomb
c Valgars
2/a Doagnis
b Pacasna
c Dialiva
3/a Samaph
b Virochi
c Andispi
4/a Trotanf
b Axƶiarg
c Dothnir
5/a Laƶdixi
b Nocamal
c Tiarpax
6/a Saxtomp
b Vavaamp
c Firƶird
7/a Obmacas
b Gεnadol
c Aspiaon
8/a Zainfrεs
b Todnaon
c Pristac

9/a Oddiorg
b Cralpir
c Doanzin
10/a Lεxarph
b Comanan
c Tabitom
11/a Molpand
b Vsnarda
c Ponodol
12/a Tapamal
b Gεdoons
c Ambriol
13 a Gεcaond
b Laparin
c Docεpax
14/a Tεdband
b Vivipos
c OOanamb
15/a Tahando
b Nociabi
c Tastoxo
16/a Cucarpt
b Lavacon
c Sochial

1/a OCCODON
b Paxcomb
c Valgars
2/a Doagnis
b Pacasna
c Dialiva
3/a Samaph
b Virochi
c Andispi
4/a Thotanf
b Axziarg
c Pothnir
5/a Lazdixi
b Nocamal
c Tiarpax
6/a Saxtomp
b Vamaamp
c Zirizird
7/a Obmacas
b Genadol
c Aspiaon
8/a Zamfres
b Todnaon
c Pristac
9/a Oddiarg
b Cralpir
c Doanzin
10/a Lexarph
b Comanan
c Tabitom
11/a Molpand
b Vsnarda
c Ponodol
12/a Tapamal
b Gedoons
c Ambriol
13/a Gecaond
b Laparin
c Docepax
14/a Tedoard
b Vivipos
c Ooaramb
15/a Tahando
b Nociabi
c Tastoxo
16/a Cucarpt
b Lavacon
c Sochial

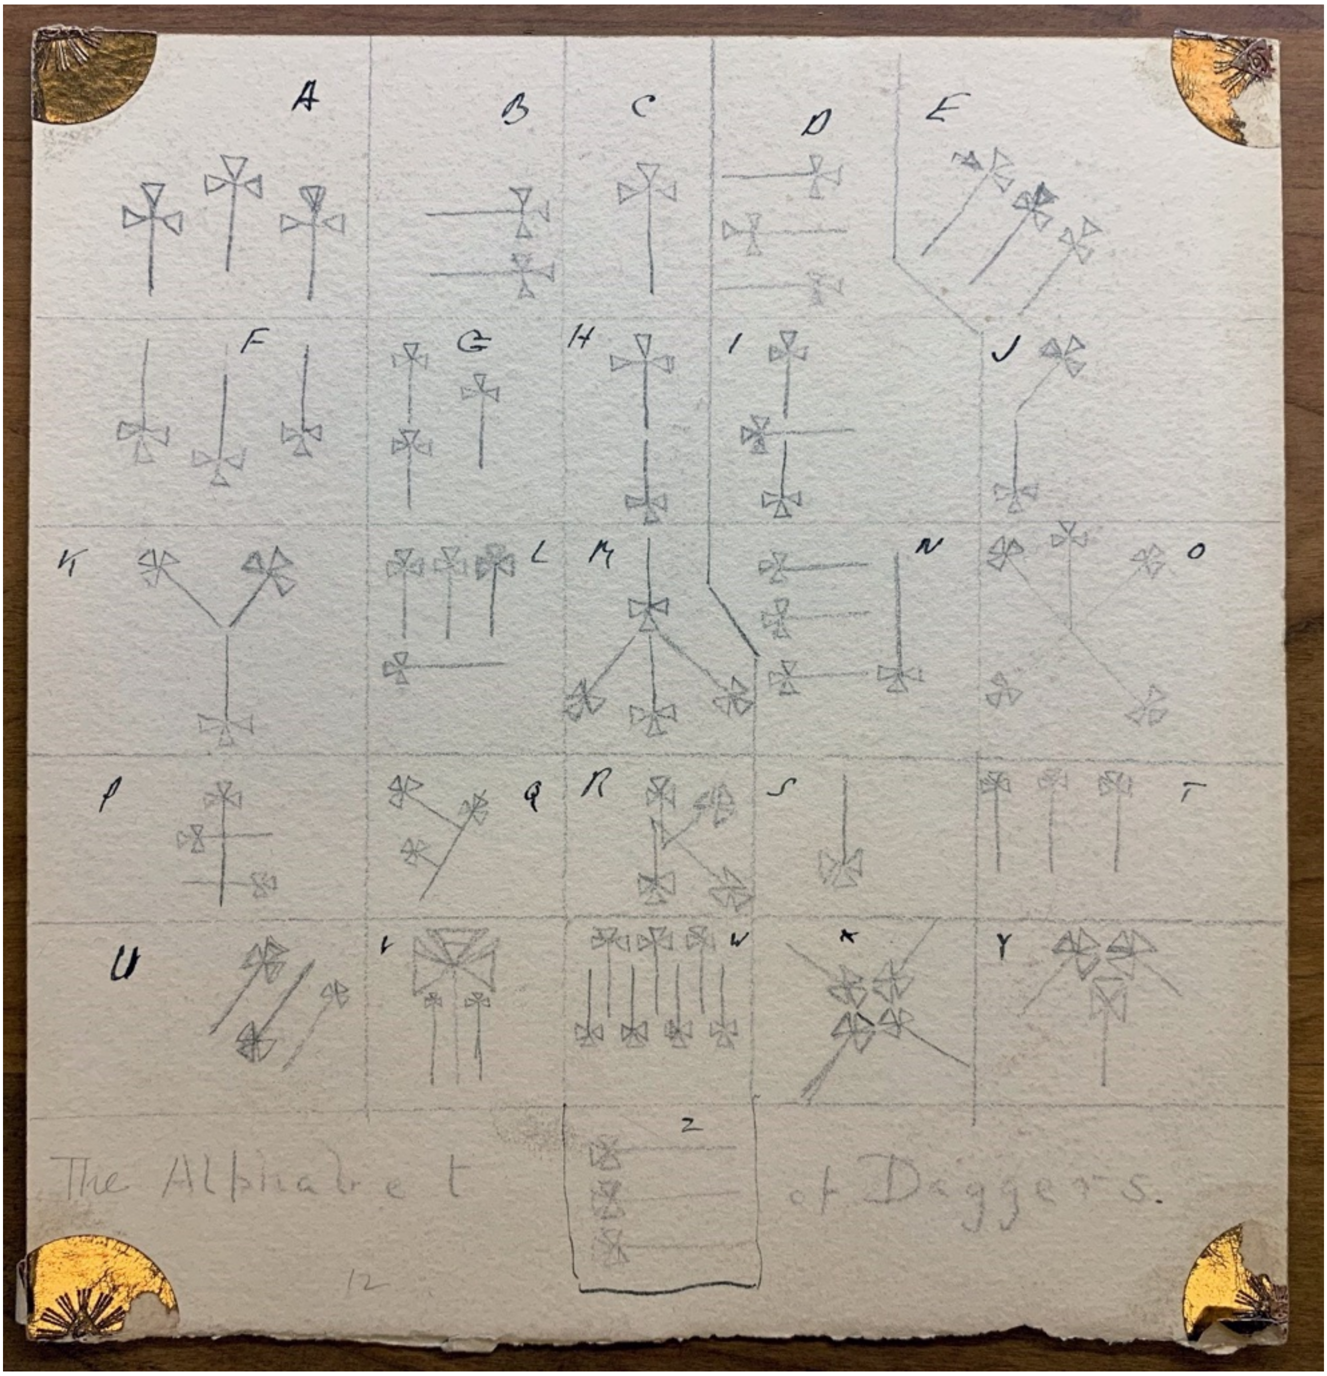


17/ a Sigmorf
b Aydropt
c Jocarzi
18/ a Nahaomi
b Zafasai
c Jatlpamb
19 a Jorzoxi
b Abdion
c Omagrap
20/ a Zildron
b Parziha
c Jotocam
21/ a Chirspa
b Joamtom
c Fixpalg
22/ a Ozidaia
a Paraoan
c Calzirg
23/ a Rondamb
b Onzizimp
c Gatamin
24/ a Orcamir
b Chialps
c Soageel

25 a Mirzina
25/ b Obvaors
c Ranglam
26/ a Pophand
b Nigrana
c Bazchim
27/ a Sagiami
b Mathula
c Orpanib
28/ a Lahnixp
b Foeisni
c Oxlopar
29/ a Vastrim
b Odraxti
c Comziam
30/ a Jaodgla
b Gemnimb
c Advorpt
d Doginal

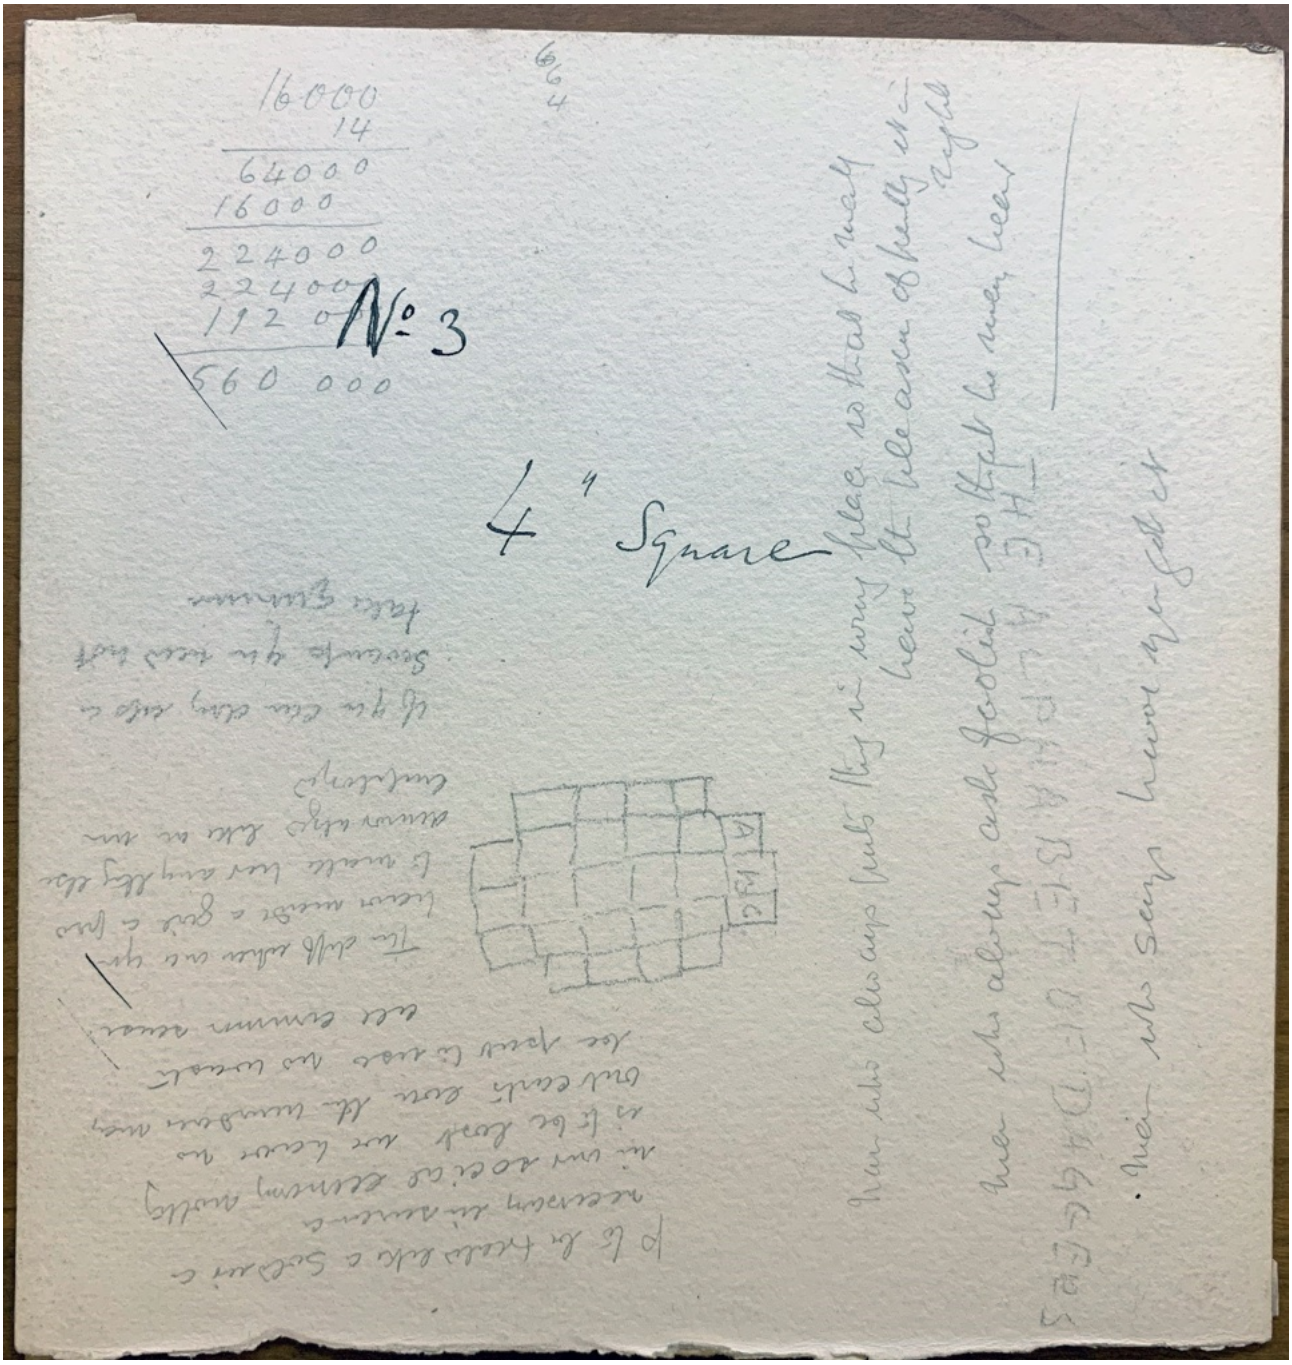
17/a Sigmorf
b Aydropt
c Tocarzi
18/a Nabaomi
b Zafasai
c Yalpamb
19/a Torzoxi
b Abaion
c Omagrap
20/a Zildron
b Parziha
c Totocan
21/a Chirspa
b Toantom
c Vixpalg
22/a Ozidaia
b Paraoan
c Calzirg
23/a Ronoamb
b On~~z~~izimp
c Zaxanin
24/a Orcamir
b Chialps
c Soageel

25/a Mirzina
~~26~~ b Obuaors
c Ranglam
26/a Pophand
b Nigrana
c Bazchim
27/a Saziami
b Mathvla
c Ovpanib
28/a Labnixp
b Focisni
c Oxlopar
29/a Vastrim
b Odraxti
c Gomziam
30/a Taongla
b Gemnimb
c Advorpt
d Dozinal



A
B
C
D
E
F
G
H
I
J
K
L
M
N
O
P
Q
R
S
T
U
V
W
X
Y
Z
The Alphabet of Daggers.
12

(Alphabet of Daggers, Fore)



16000
14
64000
16000 224000
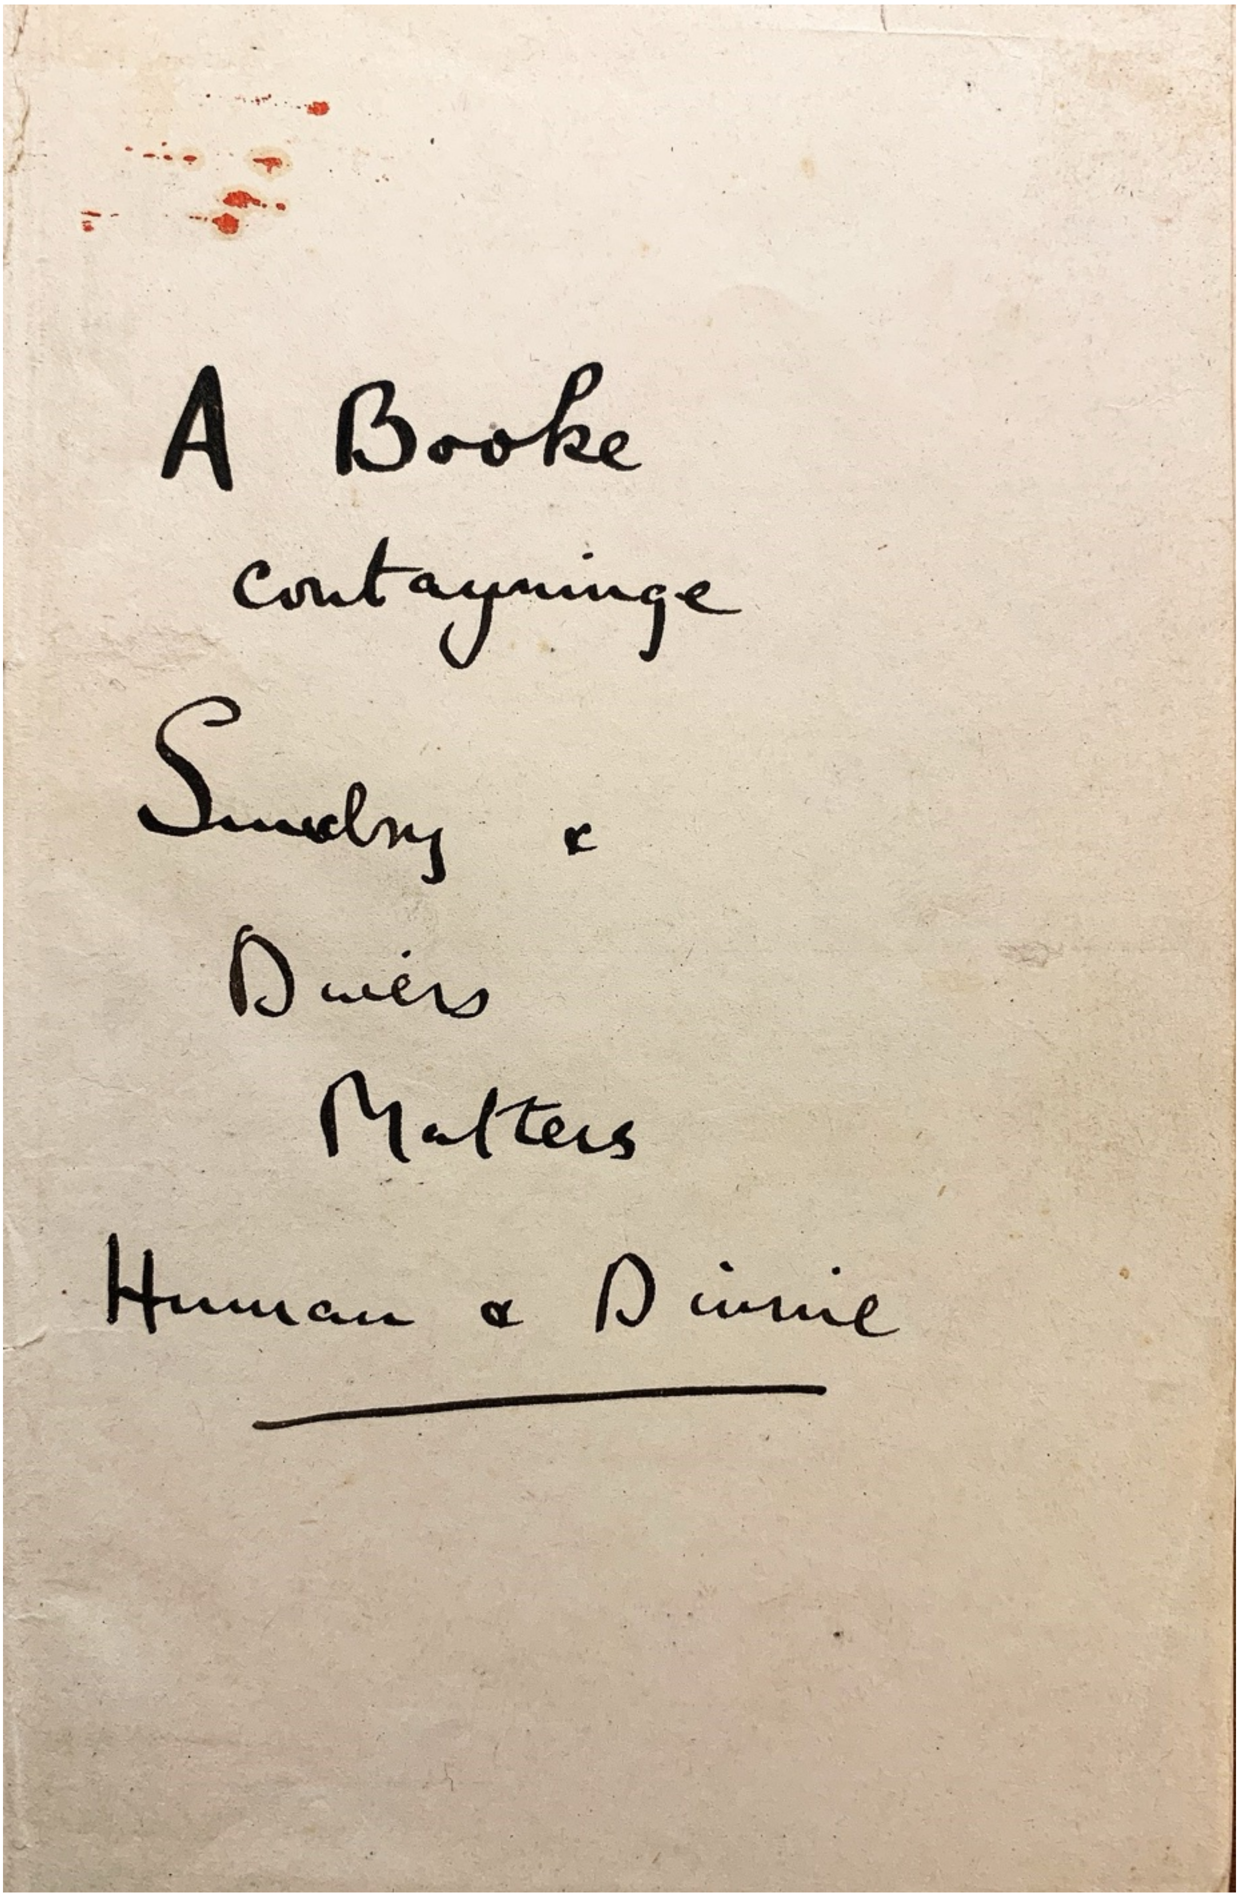
22400
1120
560 000

6
6
4

№ 3

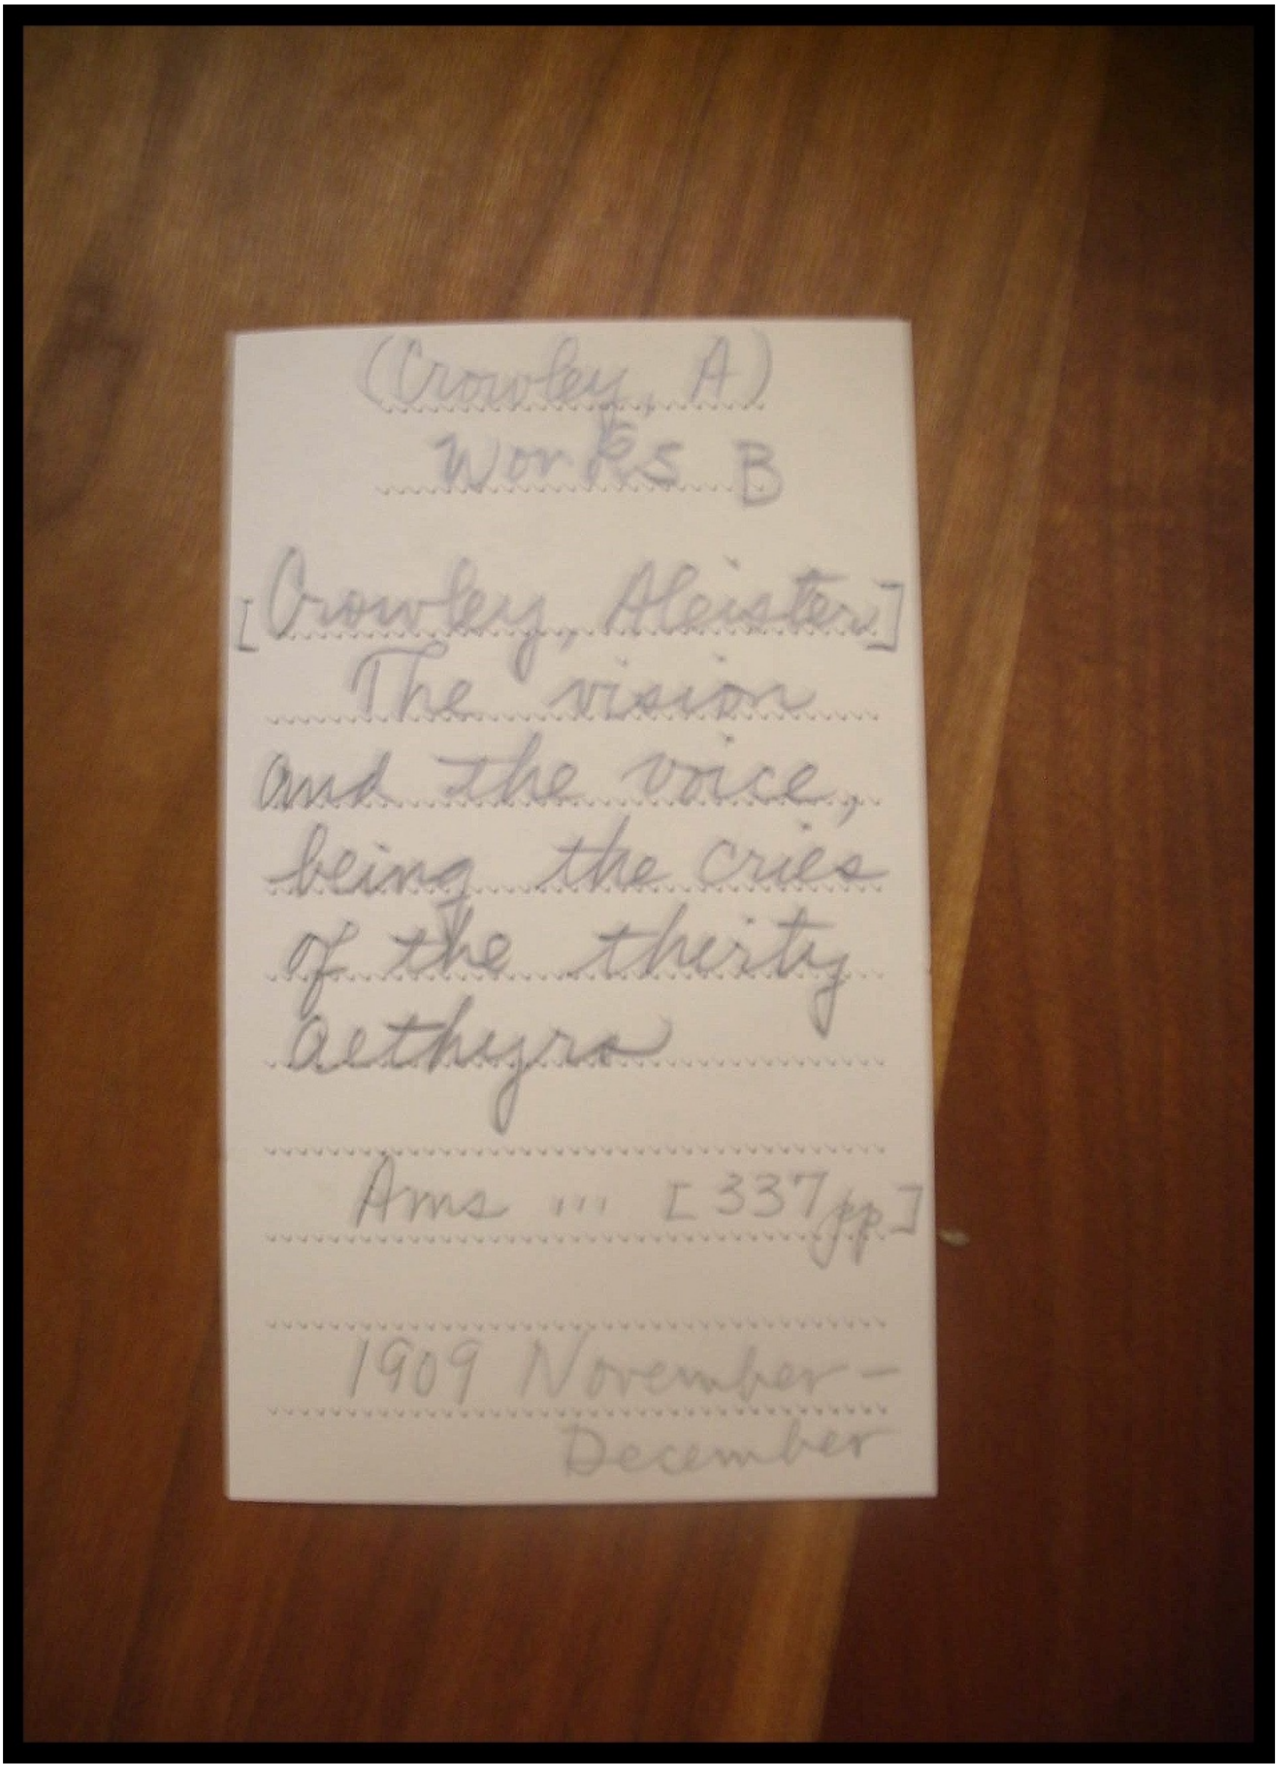
4" Square

(Alphabet of Daggers, Reverse)



A Booke
contayninge
Sundry &
Divers
Matters
Human & Divine

A Booke
contayninge
Sundry &
Divers
Matters
Human & Divine



(Crowley, A)
Works B

[Crowley, Aleister]
The vision
and the voice,
being the cries
of the thirty aethyrs

Ams ... [337pp]

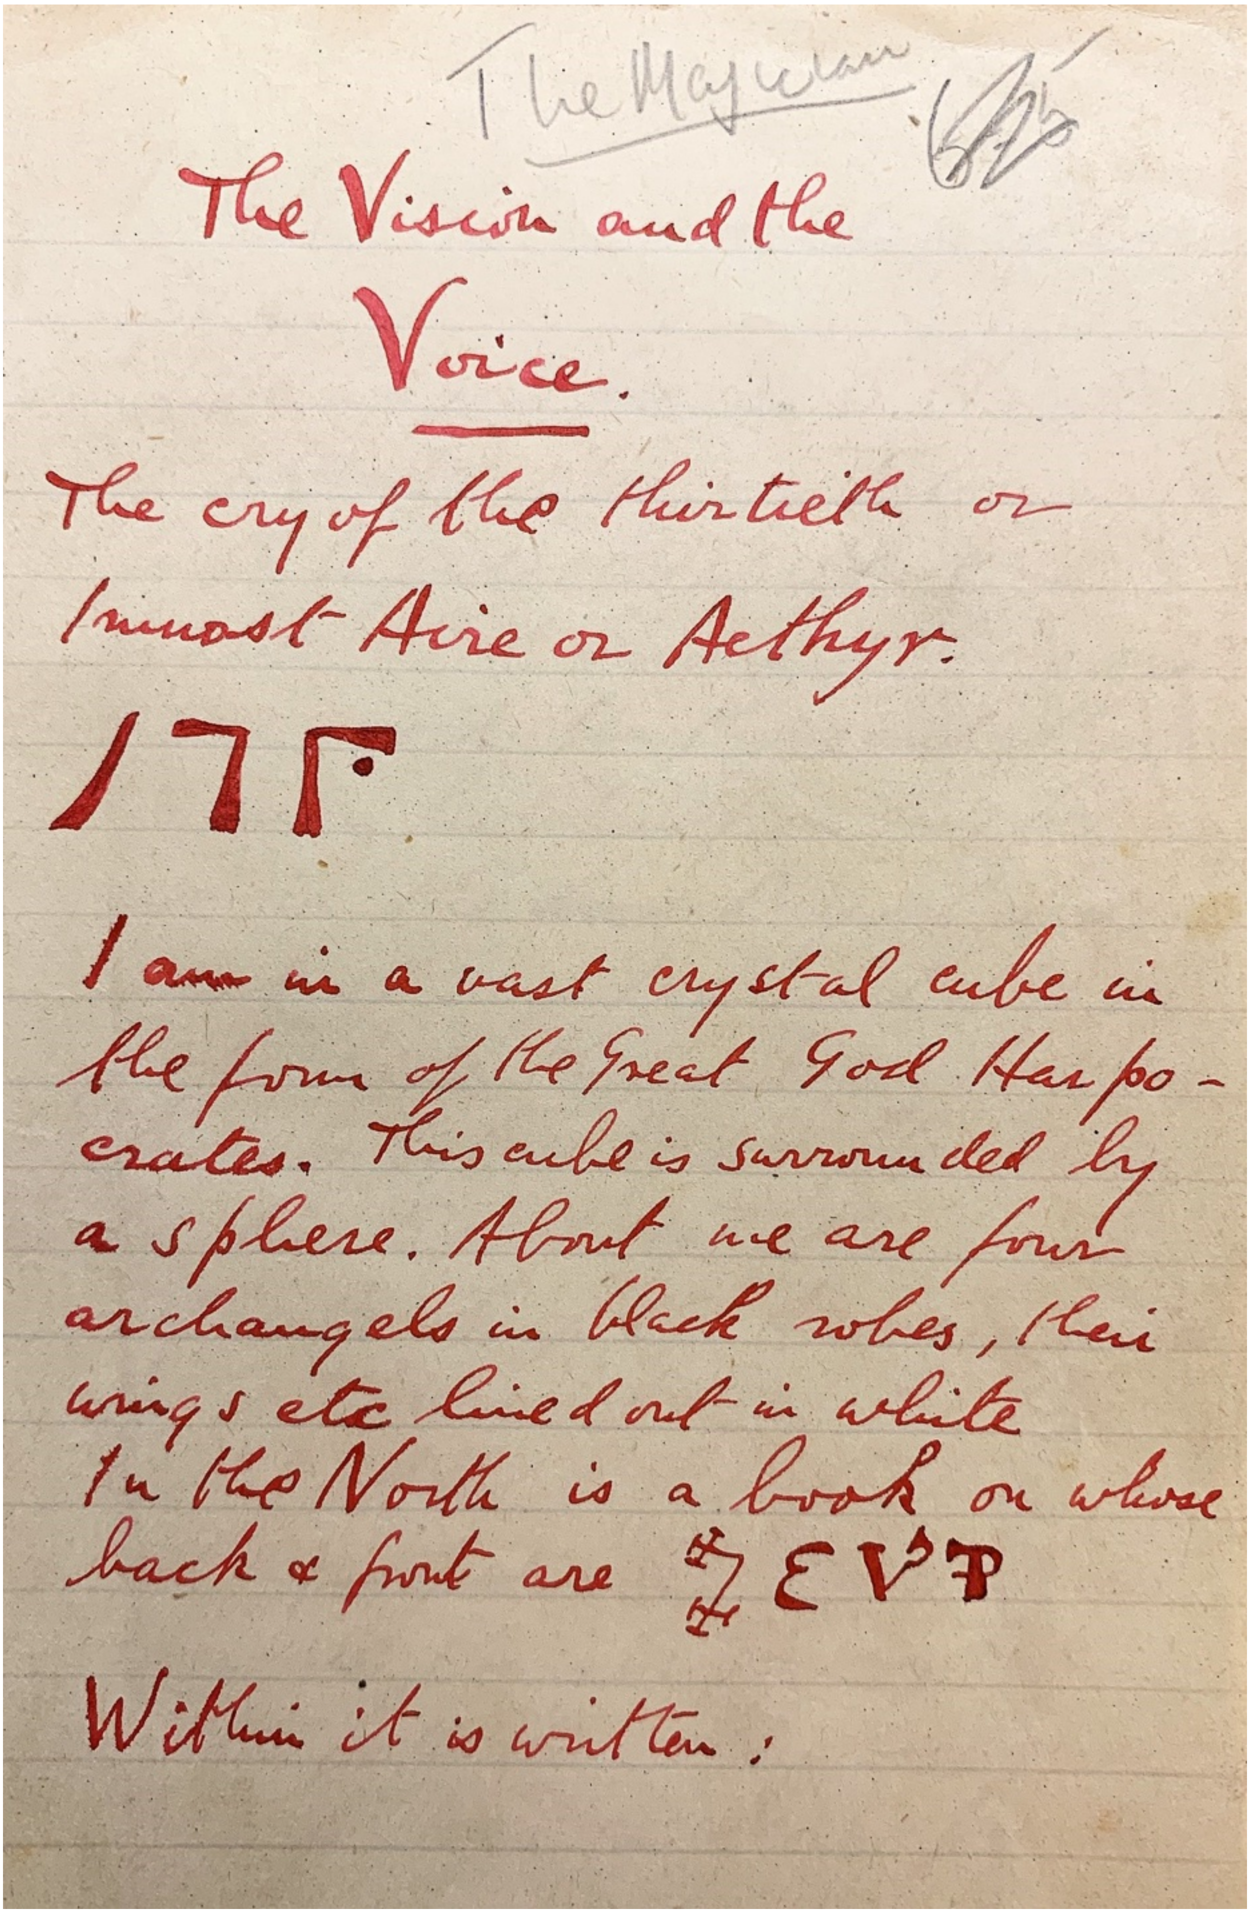
1909 November–
December

(Crowley, A)
Works B

[Crowley, Aleister]
The vision
and the voice,
being the cries
of the thirty
aethyrs

Ams … [337 pp]

1909 November –
December



The Magician

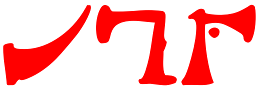
The Vision and the Voice.

The cry of the thirtieth or Inmost Aire or Aethyr.

I am in a vast crystal cube in the form of the Great God Harpocrates. This cube is surrounded by a sphere. About me are four archangels in black robes, their wings etc lined out in white

In the North is a book on whose back & front are

Within it is written:



The Magician ~~6:5~~

The Vision and the Voice.

The cry of the thirtieth or Inmost Aire or Æthyr.

I am in a vast crystal cube in the form of the Great God Harpocrates. This cube is surrounded by a sphere. About me are four archangels in black robes, their wings etc lined out in white.
In the North is a book on whose back & front are Within it is written:

I AM, the surrounding of the four.

Lift up your heads, O Houses of Eternity: for my Father goeth forth to judge the World. One Light, let it become a thousand & one sword ten thousand that no man hide him from my father's eye in the ~~Last~~ Day of Judgment of my God. Let the Gods hide themselves. let the Angels be troubled & flee away: for the EYE of My Father is open & the Book of the Aeons is fallen. Arise! Arise! Arise! Let the Light of the Light of Time be extinguished: let the Darkness cover all things: for my Father goeth forth to seek a spouse to replace her who is fallen

I AM, the surrounding of the four.
Lift up your heads, O Houses of Eternity: for my Father goeth forth to judge the World. One Light, let it become a thousand & one sword ten thousand that no man hide him from my father's eye in the ~~Last~~ Day of Judgment of my God. Let the Gods hide themselves: let the Angels be troubled & flee away:
for the Eye of My Father is open
& the Book of the Æons is fallen.
Arise! Arise! Arise! Let the Light of the Sight of Time be extinguished: let the Darkness cover all things: for my Father goeth forth to seek a spouse to replace her who is fallen

Alchemical ?

Alchemical?

& defiled.

Seal the book with the seals of the Stars Concealed: ~~for the eye of my father is opened~~ for the Rivers have rushed together & the Name יהוה is broken in a thousand pieces (against the Cubic Stone?)

Tremble ye, O Pillars of the Universe, for Eternity is in travail of a Terrible Child; she shall bring forth an universe of Darkness, whence shall leap forth a spark that shall put his father to flight.

The Obelisks are broken; the stars have rushed together: the Light hath plunged into the Abyss: the Heavens are mixed with Hell.

& defiled.
Seal the book with the seals of the Stars Concealed: ~~for~~ ~~the eye of my father is opened~~ for the Rivers have rushed together & the Name יהוה is broken in a thousand pieces
(against the Cubic Stone. ?)
Tremble ye, O Pillars of the Universe, for Eternity is in travail of a Terrible Child;
she shall bring forth an universe of Darkness, whence shall leap forth a spark that shall put his father to flight.
The Obelisks are broken; the stars have rushed together:
the Light hath plunged into the Abyss: the Heavens are mixed with Hell.

My Father shall not hear their Noise: his ears are closed: his eyes are covered with the clouds
of Night.

The End! the End! the End!
For the Eye of Shiva He hath opened: the Universe is naked before Him: for the Aeon of Saturn ~~is ended~~ leaneth toward the Bosom of ~~[illegible]~~.
Death.

The Angel of the East hath a book of red written in letters of Blue  The Book
grows before my eyes & filleth
the Whole Heaven.

Within: "It is Written, Thou shalt
not tempt the Lord thy God"

My Father shall not hear their Noise: his ears are closed: his eyes are covered with the clouds
of Night.
The End! the End! the End!
For the Eye of Shiva He hath opened: the Universe is naked before Him: for the Æon of Saturn ~~is ended~~ leaneth toward the Bosom of ~~Love~~Death.

The Angel of the East hath a
book of red written in letters of Blue  The Book
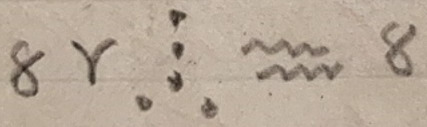
grows before my eyes & filleth
the Whole Heaven.
Within: “It is Written, Thou shalt
not tempt the Lord Thy God.”



I see above the Book a great multitude of white-robed Ones from whom droppeth a great rain of Blood: but above them is a Golden Sun, having an Eye, whence a great Light.

I turned me to the South: and read therein:

Seal up the Book! Speak not that which thou seest & reveal it unto none: for the ear is not framed that shall hear it: nor the tongue ~~sh~~ that can speak it!

O Lord God, blessed, blessed, blessed be Thou for ever!

Thy Shadow is as great Light

Thy Name is as the Breath of Love across all Worlds.

I see above the Book a ~~??~~ ~~great~~ multitude of white-robed Ones from whom droppeth a great rain of Blood: but above them is a Golden Sun, having an Eye, whence a great Light.

I turned me to the South: and read therein:
Seal up the Book! Speak not that which thou seest & reveal it unto none: for the ear is not framed that shall hear it: nor the tongue ~~sh~~ that can speak it!
O Lord God, blessed, blessed,
blessed be Thou for ever!
Thy Shadow is as great Light.
Thy Name is as the Breath of Love across all Worlds.

[A vast Swastika is shewn unto me behind the Angel with the Book.]
Rend your garments, O ye clouds!
Unarm yourselves! for the Love of My Son!
Who are they that trouble thee?
Who are they that slew thee?
O Light! Come thou, who art joined with me to bruise the Dragon's Head. We, who are wedded, & the Earth perceiveth
it not!
O that Our Bed were seen of Men, that they might rejoice
in My Fertility: that My Sister
might partake of My Great Light.
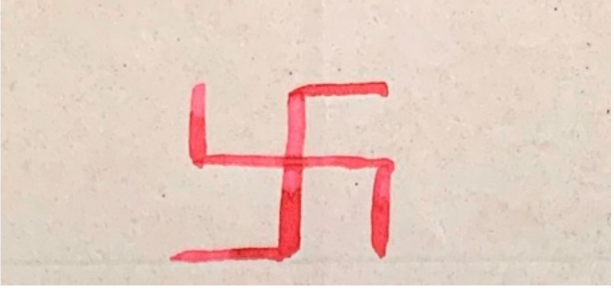
O Light of God, when wilt
thou find the heart of man—



[Avast Svastika is shewn unto me
behind the Angel with the Book.]
Rend your garments, o ye clouds!
Uncover yourselves! for the Love of My Son!
Who are they that trouble thee?
Who are they that slew thee?
O Light! Come thou, who art
Joined with me to bruise the Dragon's Head. We, who are wedded, & the Earth perceive~~d~~th
it not!
O that Our Bed were seen of Men, that they might rejoice
in My Fertility: that My Sister
might partake of My Great Light.
O Light of God, when wilt
thou find the heart of man –

write not! I would not that men know the Sorrow of
my Heart, Amen!

I turned me to the west, and the Archangel bore a flaming
Book, on which was written
 Within was drawn
a fiery scorpion, yet cold
withal.
Until the Book of the East
be opened!
Until the hour sound!
Until the Voice vibrate!
Until it pierce my Depth!
Look not on High!
Look not Beneath!
For thou wilt find a life which is as Depth: or a Death which should be infinite.

write not! I would not that men know the Sorrow of
my Heart~~.~~, Amen!

I turned me to the West, and
the Archangel bore a flaming
Book, on which was written
 Within was drawn
a fiery scorpion, yet cold
withal.
Until the Book of the East
be opened!
Until the hour sound!
Until the Voice vibrate!
Until it pierce my Depth!
Look not on High!
Look not Beneath!
For thou wilt find a life which is as De~~p~~ath: or a Death which should be infinite.

For thou art submitted to the Four: Five thou shalt find,
but Seven is far & lone.
O Lord God, let Thy Spirit
hither unto me!
For I am lost in the night of infinite pain: no hope: no God:
no resurrection: no end: I fall:
I fear.
O Saviour of the World, bruise
Thou my Head with Thy foot
to save the world, that once again
I touch Him whom I slew, that
in my death I feel the radiance
& the heat of the moving of Thy Robes!
Let us alone! What have we
to do with Thee, Thou Jesus of Nazareth?

For Thou art submitted to the Four: Five thou shalt find,
but Seven is ~~far &~~ lone & far.
O Lord God, let Thy Spirit
hither unto me!
For I am lost in the night of
infinite pain: no hope: no God:
no resurrection: no end: I fall:
I fear.
O Saviour of the World, bruise
Thou my Head with Thy foot
to save the world, that once again
I touch Him whom I slew, that
in my death I feel the radiance
& the heat of the moving of Thy Robes!
Let us alone! What have we
to do with Thee, Thou Jesus of Nazareth?

Note the correct Astrological symbolism of this passage

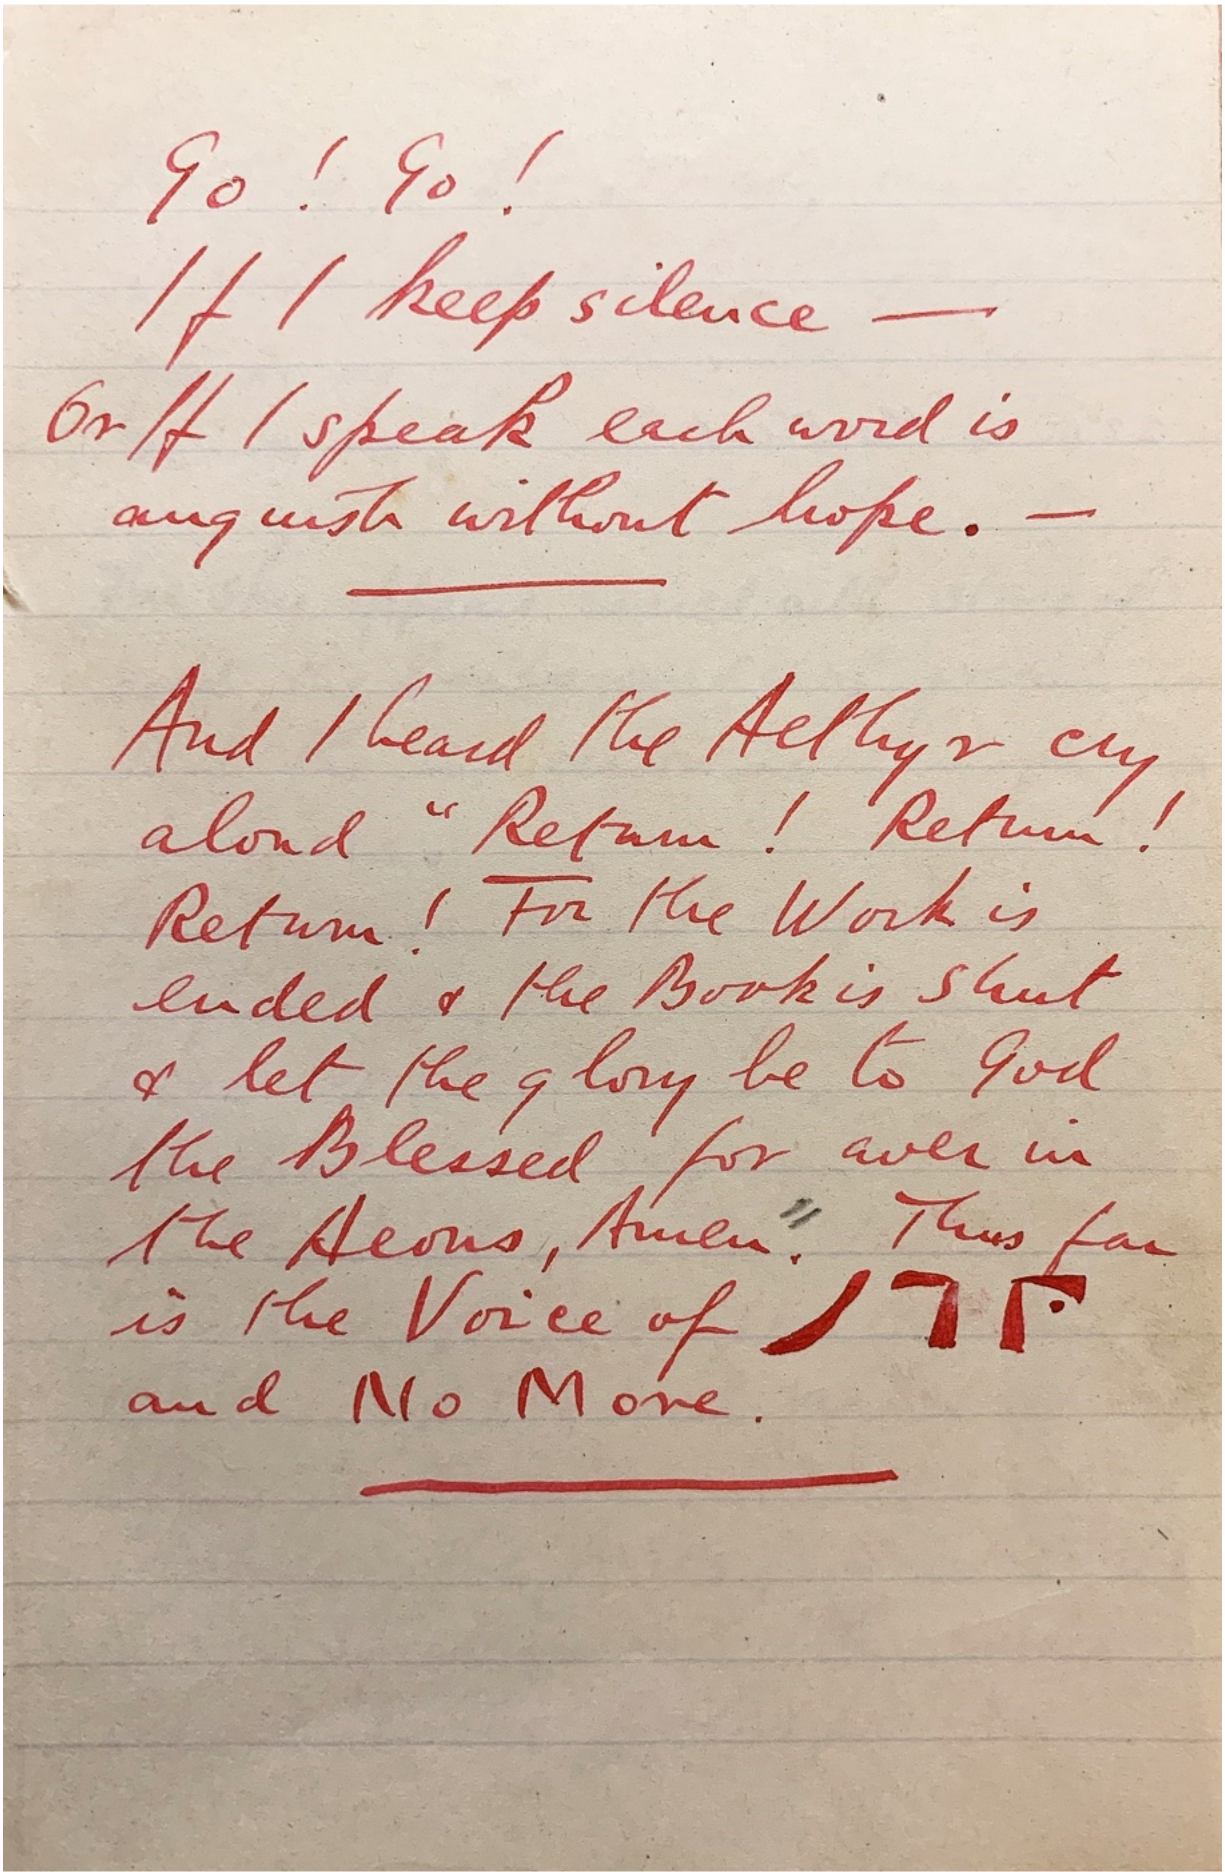
Nephthys - Earth.

Note the correct Astronomical symbolism of this passage.

Nepythys – Earth



Go! Go!
If I keep silence —
Or If I speak each word is
anguish without hope. —

And I heard the Aethyr cry aloud "Return! Return!
Return! For the Work is ended & the Book is shut
& let the glory be to God
the Blessed for ever in the Aeons, Amen." Thus far is the Voice of LIL and No More.

Go! Go!
If I keep silence—
Or if I speak each word is
anguish without hope.—

And I heard the Æthyr cry
aloud “Return! Return!
Return! For the Work is ended & the Book is shut
& let the glory be to God
the Blessed for ever in the Æons, Amen.” Thus far is the voice of and No More.

8 mn = $\overset{56.}{\wedge}$ Day: he suffered: fish
But AN is in Hebrew Pain & is of Adōm & Failure &c

(i.e. I formulate H.P.K. who hath replaced me)

(i.e. I formulate H.P.K. who hath replaced me)

220 is "the Elect"

220 is “the Elect”

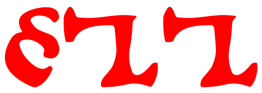
The Cry of the Twenty and Ninth Aire or Aethyr.

CZZ.

The sky appears covered with stars of gold, the background is of green. But the impression is also of darkness.

An immense eagle-angel is before me. His wings seem to hide all the Heaven.

He cried aloud, saying: The Voice of the Lord upon the Waters: the Terror of God upon Mankind: the Voice of the Lord maketh the Skies to tremble. The Stars are troubled. The Aires fall. The First Voice Speaketh & Saith: Cursed, Cursed be the Earth, for her



The cry of the Twenty and Ninth Aire or Æthyr.

The sky appears covered with stars of gold, the background is of green. But the impression is also of darkness.

An immense eagle-angel is before me. His wings seem to hide all the Heaven.

He cried aloud saying: The Voice of the Lord upon the Waters: the Terror of God upon Mankind: the Voice of the Lord maketh the Skies to tremble: the Stars are troubled: the Aires fall. The First Voice Speaketh & Saith: Cursed, cursed be the Earth, for her Iniquity is great, Oh Lord! let Thy Efficacy be lost in the Great Deep! Open thine ey-es of Flame & Light, O God, upon the Wicked! Lighten thine Eyes! The Clamour of Thy Voice, let it smite down the Mountains!

Let us not see it! Cover we our eyes, lest we see the End of Man.

Close we our ears, lest we hear the cry of Woman.

Let none speak of it: let none write it: I, I am troubled my eyes are moist with dews of terror: surely the Bitterness of Death is past.

And I turned me to the South & Lo!

Iniquity is great. Oh Lord! let Thy ~~Grace~~ Mercy be lost in the Great Deep! Open thine eyes of Flame & Light, O God, upon the Wicked! Lighten thine Eyes! The Clamour of Thy Voice, let it smite down the Mountains!
Let us not see it! Cover we our eyes, lest we see the End of Man.
Close we our ears, lest we hear the cry of Woman.

Let none speak of it: let none write it: I, I am troubled my eyes are moist with dews of terror: surely the Bitterness of Death is past.

And I turned me to the South & lo!

a great Lion as wounded & perplexed.
He cried: I have conquered!
Let the Sons of Earth keep silence for my Name is become as That of Death!
When will men learn the Mysteries of Creation?
How much more those of the Dissolution (& the Pang of Fire)?

I turned me to the West & there was a Great Bull; White, with horns of White & Black & Gold His mouth was scarlet & his eyes as Sapphire stones. With a great sword he shore the skies asunder, & amid the silver flashes of the steel grew lightnings & deep clouds a great Lion as wounded & perplexed.

He cried: I have conquered!
Let the Sons of Earth keep silence!
for my Name is become as That
of Death!
~~N~~When will men learn the Mysteries of Creation?
How much more those of the Dissolution (& the Pang of Fire)?

I turned me to the West & there was a Great Bull; White, with horns of White & Black & Gold
His mouth was scarlet & his eyes as Sapphire stones. With a great sword he shore the skies asunder, & amid the silver flashes of the steel grew lightnings & deep clouds of Indigo.

He spake: It is finished!
My mother hath unveiled herself!
My sister hath violated herself!
The Life of Things hath disclosed its mystery.
The Work of the Moon is done!
Motion is ended for ever!
Clipped are the eagle's wings: but my Shoulders have not lost their strength —

I heard a Great Voice from above crying: Thou liest! For the Volatile hath indeed fixed itself; but it hath arisen above thy sight. The World is desert: but the Abodes of the House of my Father are of Indigo.

He spake: It is finished!
My mother hath unveiled herself!
My sister hath violated herself!
The life of things hath disclosed its Mystery.
The work of the Moon is done!
Motion is ended for ever!
Clipped are the eagle's wings:
but my Shoulders have not lost their strength –

I heard a Great Voice from above crying: Thou liest! For the Volatile hath indeed fixed itself; but it hath arisen above thy sight. The World is desert: but the Abodes of the House of my Father are peopled & His Throne is (crusted over) with white Brilliant Stars; a lustre of bright gems.

In the North is a Man upon a great Horse, having a Scourge & Balances in his hand (Or a long Spear glitters at his back or in his hand) He is clothed in black velvet & his face is stern & terrible.

He spake saying: I have judged! It is the end: the gate of the beginning. Look in the Beneath & thou shalt see a new world!

I looked & saw a great abyss & a dark funnel of whirling waters, or fissed airs, wherein peopled & His Throne is crusted over with white Brilliant Stars; a lustre of bright gems.

In the North is a Man upon a Great Horse, having a Scourge & Balances in his hand ⩦(or a long spear glitters at his back or in his hand). He is clothed in black velvet & his face is stern & terrible.
He spake saying: I have judged!
It is the end: the gate of the beginning. Look in the Beneath & thou shalt see a new world!

I looked & saw a great abyss
& a dark funnel of whirling waters, or fixed airs, wherein were cities, & monsters, & trees, & atoms, & mountains, & little flames (being souls) & all the material of an universe.

And all are sucked down one
by one, as necessity hath ordained. For below is a glittering jewelled globe of gold & azure,
set in a World of Stars.
And there came a Voice from the Abyss, saying: "Thou
seest the Current of Destiny!
Canst thou change one atom in its path? I am Destiny, ~~none~~
~~can change~~ ~~move~~ ~~my Will~~. Dost thou think to control me? for
Who can move my ~~Will~~ Course?"
And there falleth a thunderbolt
therein: a catastrophe of explosion: & all is shattered

were cities, & monsters, & trees, & atoms, & mountains, & little flames (being souls) & all the
material of an universe.
And all are sucked down one
by one, as necessity hath ordained. For below is a glittering jewelled globe of gold & azure,
set in a World of Stars.
And there came a Voice from
the Abyss, saying: "Thou
seest the Current of Destiny!
Canst thou change one atom in
its path? I am Destiny, ~~& none~~
~~can change move my Will.~~ Dost
thou think to control me? for
who can move my ~~Will?~~ course"
And there falleth a thunderbolt
therein: a catastrophe of
explosion: & all is shattered.

And I saw above me a Vast Arm reach down, dark & terrible and a voice cried: I AM ETERNITY. And a great mingled cry arose: "No! No! No! All is changed: all is confounded nought is ordered: the white is stained with blood: the black is kissed of the Christ! Return! Return! It is a new chaos that thou findest here: chaos for thee: for us it is the skeleton of a New Truth!"

I said: Tell me this truth: for I have conjured ye by the Mighty Names of God, the which ye cannot but obey.

And I saw above me a Vast Arm reach down, dark & terrible, & a voice cried:
I AM ETERNITY.
And a great mingled cry arose: “No! No! No!
All is changed; all is confounded nought is ordered: the white is stained with blood: the black is kissed of the Christ!
Return! Return! It is a new chaos that thou findest here: chaos for thee: for us it is the skeleton of a New Truth!”

I said: Tell me this truth: for ~~a~~ I have conjured ye by the Mighty Names of God, the which ye cannot but obey.

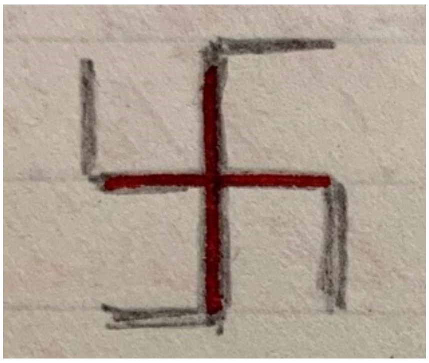
Footnote

LVX Cross in Svastika is probably the Arcanum here connoted,

This Cross on ♂ square adds to 65
Adonai, Shone, Gloried, ha-Gekal
HS = keep silence
Sv. itself adds to 231 = 0+1+2+ --- +21. the 21 Keys
The cubical Svastika regarded as composed of this LVX cross & the arms has a total of 78 faces – ATRΩ & Mezla.



Footnote

LVX Cross in Svastika is probably the Arcanum here connoted.

This Cross on ♂ square adds to 65
Adonai, Shone, Gloried, ha-Yekal
HS=keep silence
So itself adds to 231 = 0+1+2+- - - + 21. The 21 Keys
The cubical Svastika regarded as composed of this LVX cross & the arms has a total of 78 faces - A⳨Ω & Mezla.

The Voice said:
Light is consumed, as a child in the Womb of its Mother to develop itself anew. But pain & sorrow infinite & darkness are invoked. For this child riseth up within his Mother & doth crucify himself within her bosom. He extendeth his arms in the arms of his Mother & the Light becometh fivefold

Lux in Luce
Christus in Cruce
Deo Duce
Sempiterno
~~Multae laudes~~
~~Coram claudis~~ ?
~~Mihi cordis~~
~~A Deo~~
And be the glory for ever

The Voice said:
 Light is consumed, as a child in the Womb of its Mother to develop itself anew. But pain & sorrow infinite & darkness are invoked. For this child riseth up within his Mother & doth crucify himself within her bosom. He extendeth his arms in the arms of his Mother & the Light becometh fivefold.
Lux in Luce,
Christus in Cruce;
Deo Duce
Sempiterno.
~~Multae laudis~~
~~Coram claudis~~
~~Milis cordis~~
~~A Deo~~
And be the glory for ever

and even unto the Most High God, Amen!

Then I returned within my body, giving glory unto the Lord of Light & of the Darkness
In Saecula Saeculorum Amen!

[On composing myself to sleep,
I was shewn an extremely brilliant T in the Character
7 of the Passing of the River, in an egg of white light. And
I take this as the best of omens.
The letter was extremely vivid
& indeed apparently physical.]

almost a Dhyana.

November 17, 1900 Die ♀

and ever unto the Most High God, Amen!

Then I returned within my
body, giving glory unto the
Lord of Light & of the Darkness
In Sæcula Sæculorum. Amen!

[On composing myself to sleep,
I was shewn an extremely brilliant ר in the Character of the Passing of the River, in

an egg of white light. And
I take this as the best of omens.
The letter was extremely vivid & indeed apparently physical.]
almost a Dhyana.
November 17, 1900, Die ♀

211 is A Lion : a girdle : fear = wonderment

211 is A Lion : a girdle : fear = wonderment

The Cry of the Twenty and Eighth Aire, which is called

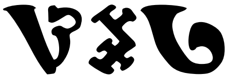
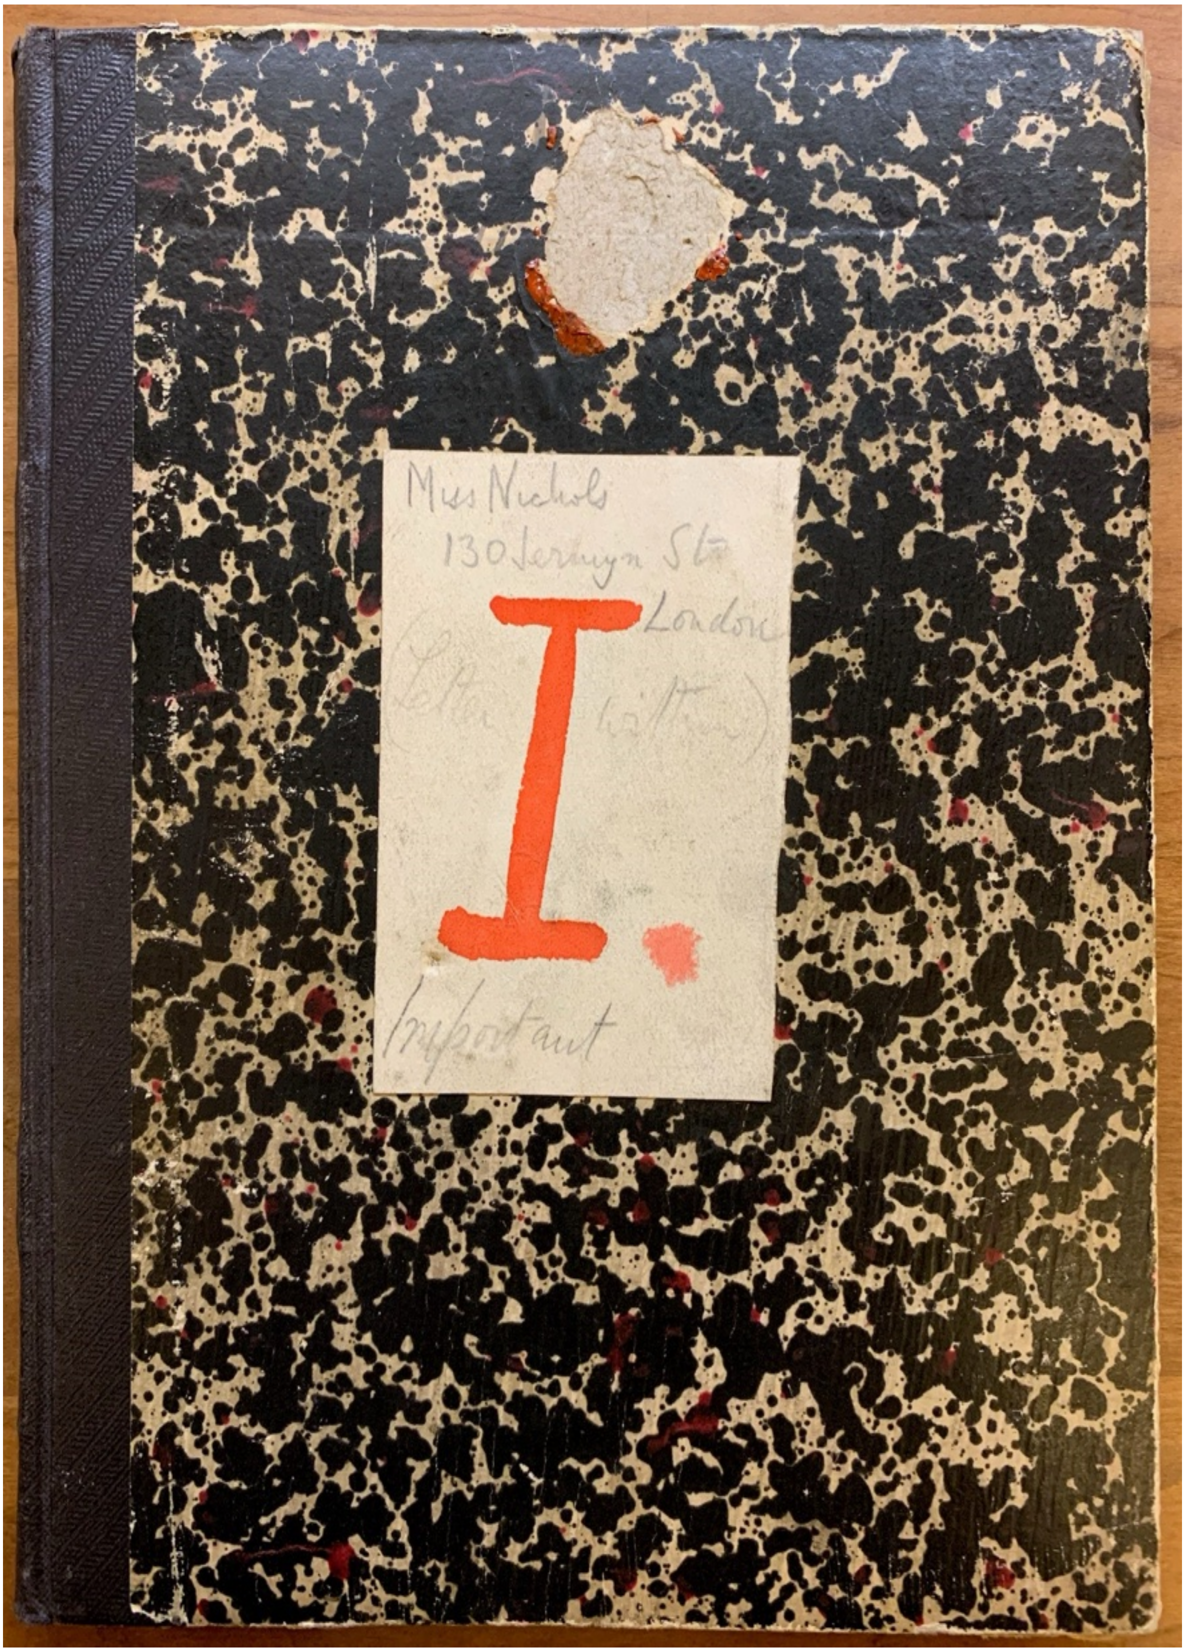
(The 1900 attempt to enter the 28th Aire, incomplete)

The Cry of the Twenty and Eighth Aire, which is called

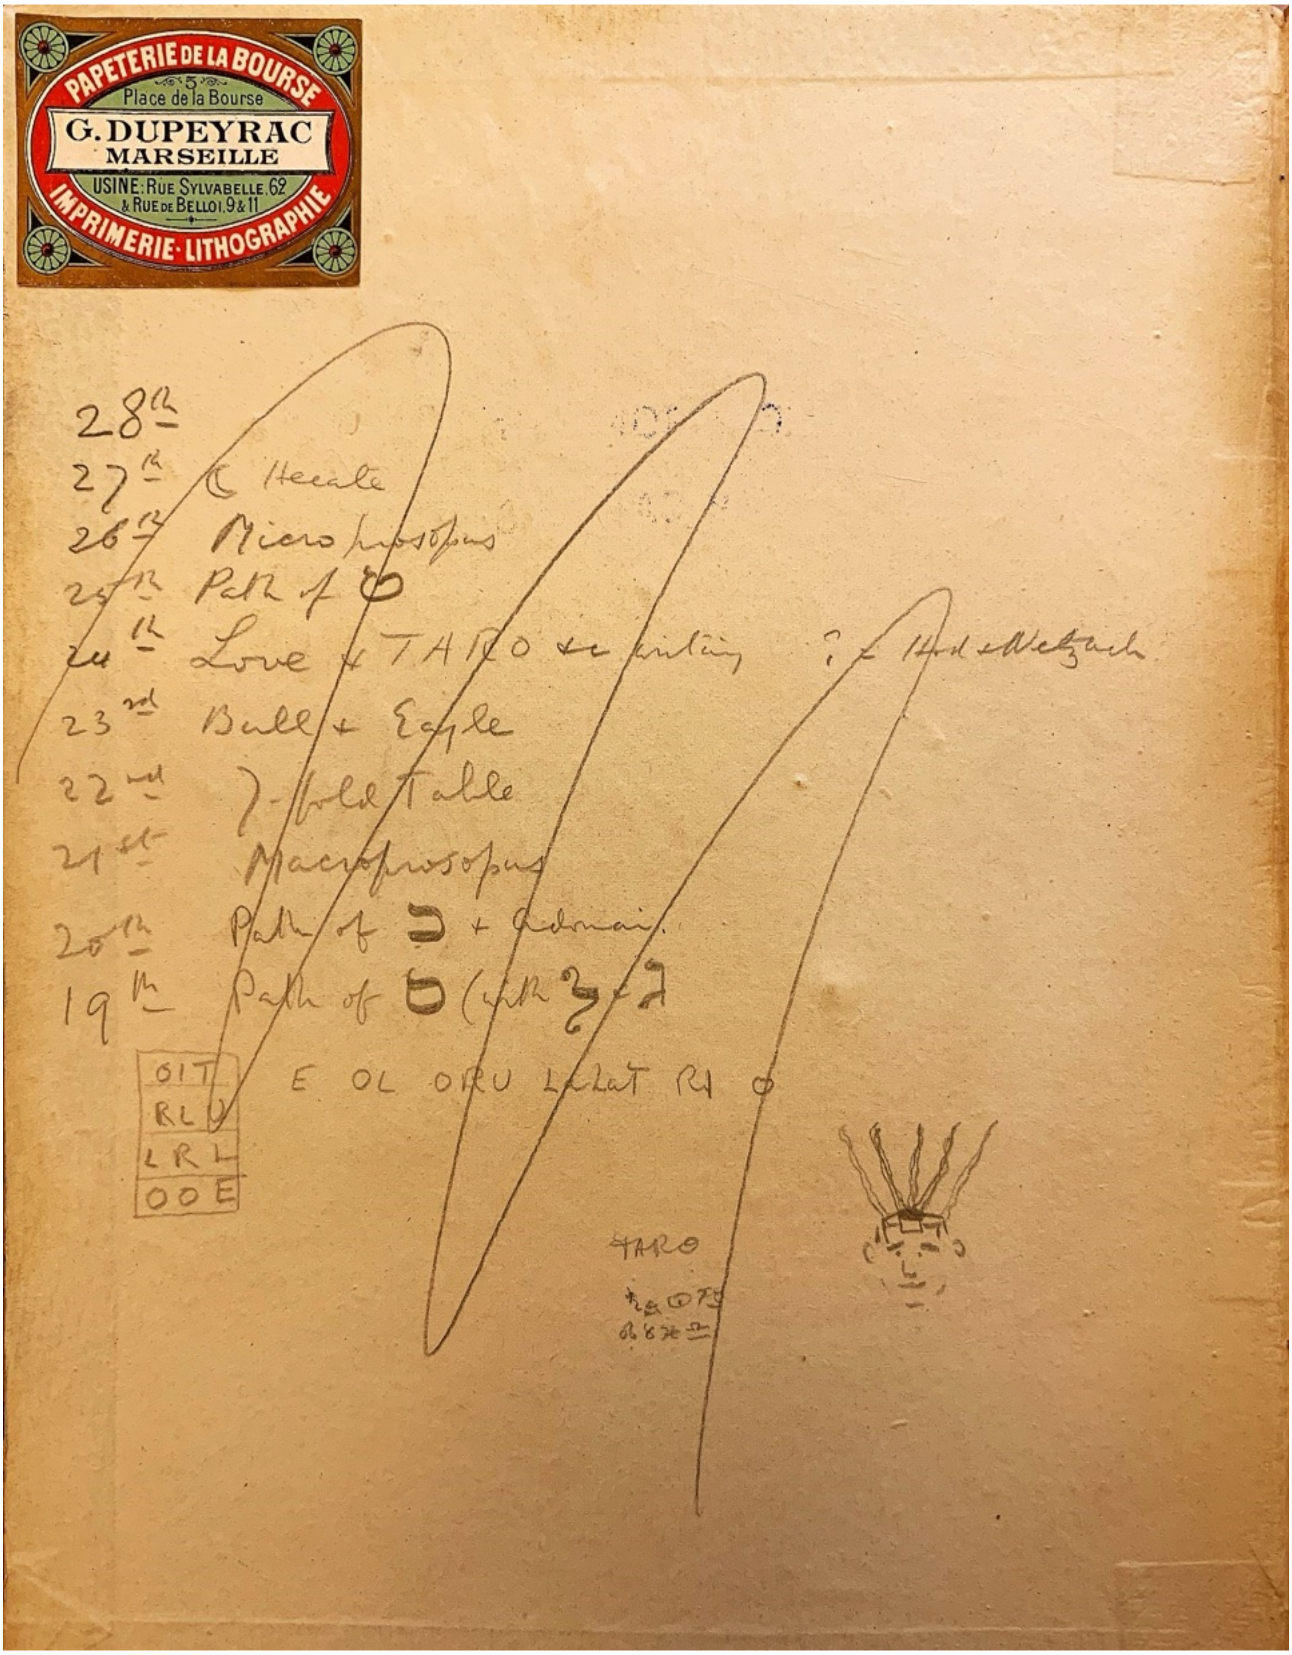




Miss Nichols
130 Jermyn St
London
(Letter written)

I.

Important



PAPETERIE DE LA BOURSE
5
Place de la Bourse
G. DUPEYRAC
MARSEILLE
USINE: RUE SYLVABELLE, 62
& RUE DE BELLOI, 9 & 11
IMPRIMERIE · LITHOGRAPHIE

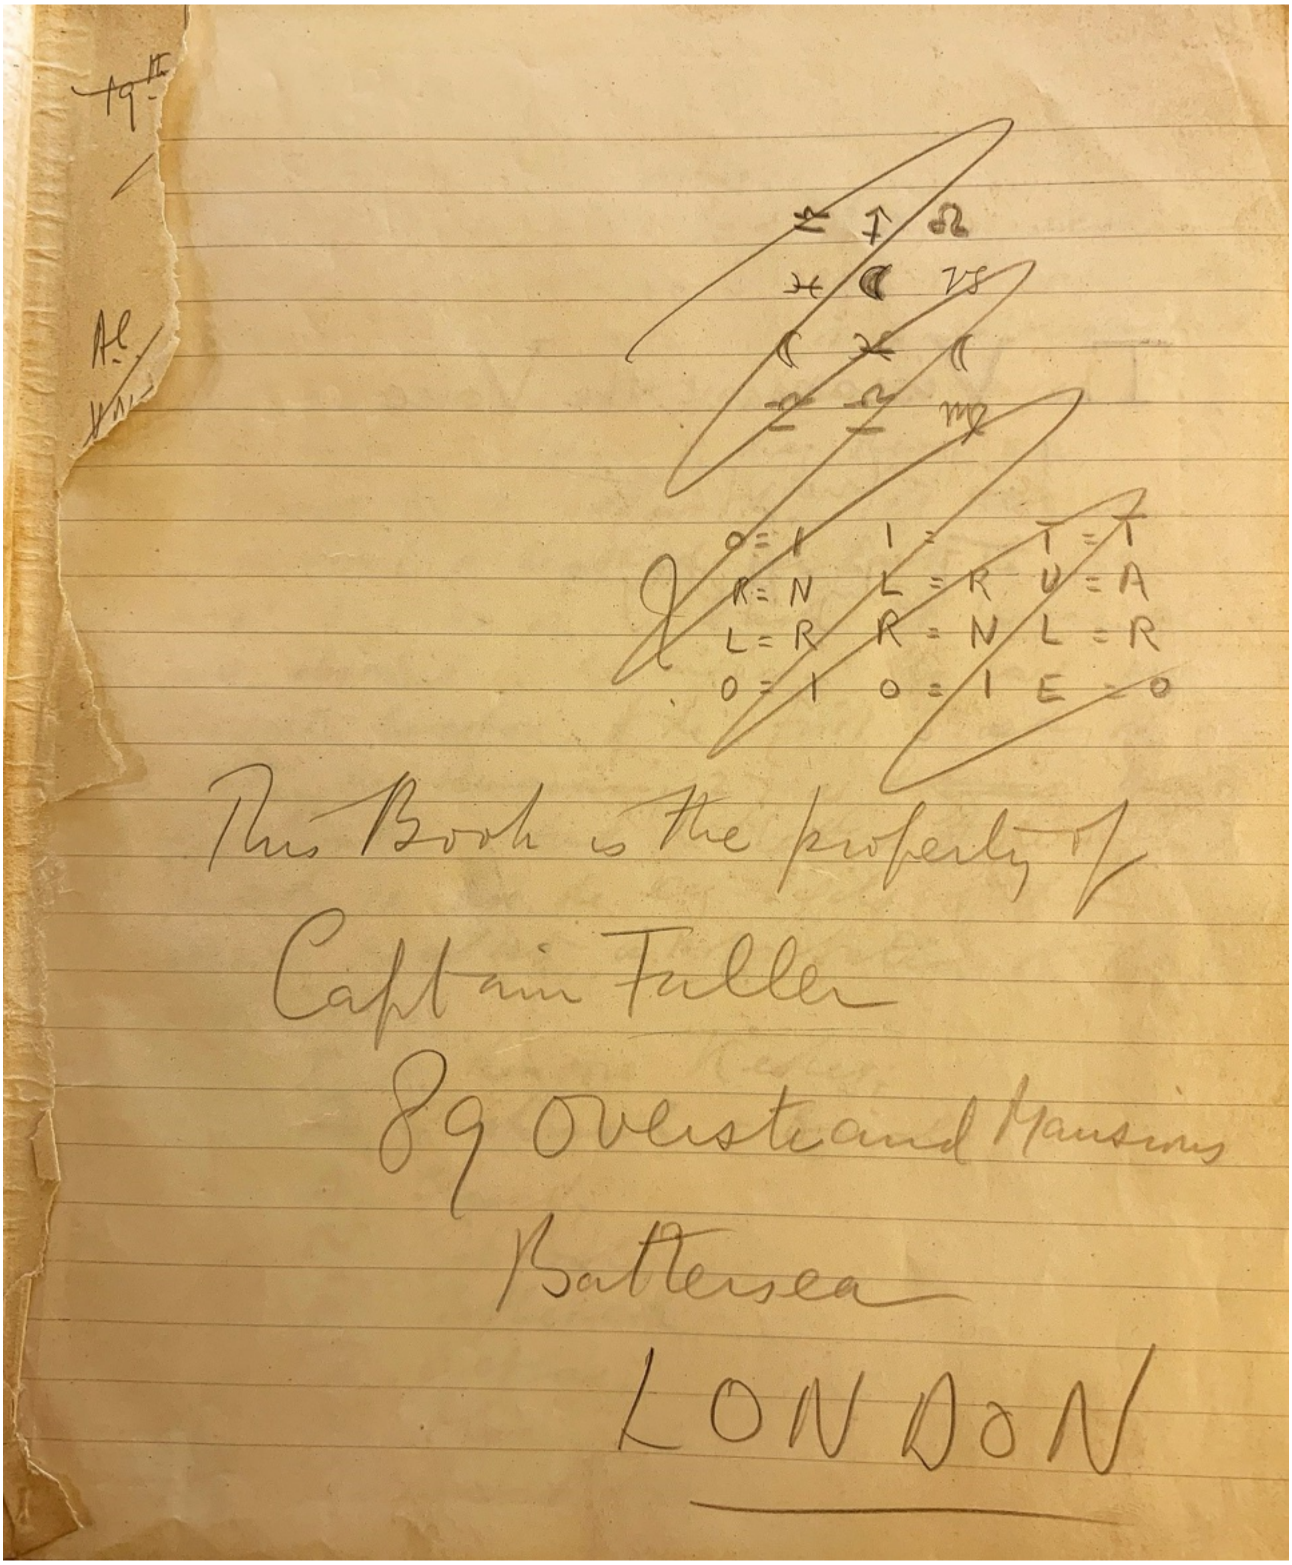
28th
27th ☾ Hecate
26th Microprosopus
25th Path of Φ
24th Love + TARO + re-writing ? of Hod + Netzach
23rd Bull + Eagle
22nd 7-fold Table
21st Macroprosopus
20th Path of כ + Adonai
19th Path of ט (with ♌ + ד

OIT
RL
LRL
OOE

E OL ORU LaLaT Ra O

TARO

[illegible]



19th

Al.

~~♎ ♐ ♌~~
~~♓ ☾ ♑~~
~~☾ ♓ ☾~~
~~♎ ♎ ♍~~

~~O = I I = T = T~~
~~R = N L = R U = A~~
~~L = R R = N L = R~~
~~O = I O = I E = O~~

This Book is the property of
Captain Fuller
89 Overstrand Mansions
Battersea
LONDON

The Vision and the Voice being the Cries of the Thirty Aethyrs

The Vision and the Voice being the Cries of the Thirty Aethyrs

Concerning the thirty aethyrs:-
The ~~Re~~visions of the 29th. & 30th. Aethyrs were given to me in Mexico in August 1900, & I am now 23, 11, 9. trying to get the rest. It is to be remarked that the last 3 aethyrs have 10 angels attributed to them, & they therefore represent the 10 Sephiroth. Yet these 10 form but 1, a Malkuth-pendant to the next 3, & so on, each set being, as it were, absorbed in the higher. The last set consists, therefore, of the first 3 aethyrs with the remaining 27 as ~~they are~~ their Malkuth. And the letters of the first 3 aethyrs are the key-sigils of the most exalted interpretation of the Sephiroth.

I is therefore Kether;
L, Chokmah & Binah;
A, Chesed;
N, Geburah;
R, Tiphereth;
Z, Netsach;
N, Hod;
O, Jesod.

Concerning the Thirty Aethyrs:-

The ~~the~~ Visions of the 29th & 30th Aethyrs were given to me in Mexico in August 1900, & I am now trying to get the rest. It is to be remarked 23.4.9 that the last 3 aethyrs have 10 angels attributed to them, & they therefore represent the 10 Sepiroth. Yet these 10 form but 1, a Malkuth-pendant to the next 3, & so on. Each set being, as it were, absorbed in the higher. The last set consists, therefore, of the first 3 aethyrs with the remaining 27 as ~~they as~~ their Malkuth. And the letters of the first 3 aethyrs are the key-sigils of the most exalted interpretation of the Sephiroth.
I is therefore Kether;
L, Chokmah and Binah;
A, Chesed;
N, Geburah;
R, Tiphareth;
z, Netzach;
N, Hod;
O, Yesod.

The Sephiroth explained by the 30 aethyrs and this again contains 10 + its Malkuth 10 + so on for 10 times

The Geomantic correspondence of the Enochian alphabet form a sublime commentary.

Note that the total angels of the aethyrs are 91, the numeration of Amen.

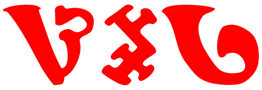
The geomantic correspondences of the Enochian alphabet form a sublime commentary.

Note that the total angels of the Aethyrs are 91, the numeration of Amen.

The Vision and the Voice.

The Cry of the 28th Aethyr, which is called BAG.

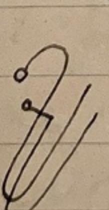
There cometh an Angel into the stone with opalescent, shining garments like a wheel of fire on every side of him, & in his hand is a long flail of scarlet lightning; his face is black, & his eyes white, without any pupil or iris. The face is very terrible indeed to look upon. But in front of him is a wheel, with many spokes, & many tyres; it's like a fence in front of him, & he cries: O man, who art thou that wouldst penetrate the Mystery, for it is hidden unto the End of Time. And I answer him: Time is not, save in the darkness of Her womb by whom Evil came. And now the wheel breaks away, & I see him as he is. His garment is black beneath



The Vision and the Voice.

The Cry of the 28th Æthyr, which is called BAG.

There cometh an Angel into the stone with opalescent shining garments like a wheel of fire on every side of him, & in his hand is a long flail of scarlet lightning; his face is black, & his eyes white, without any pupil or iris. The face is very terrible indeed to look upon. Now in front of him is a wheel, with many spokes, & many tyres; it is like a fence in front of him, & he cries: O man, who art thou that wouldst penetrate the Mystery, for it is hidden unto the End of Time. And I answer him: Time is not, save in the darkness of Her womb by whom Evil came. And now the wheel breaks away, & I see him as he is. His garment is black beneath the opal veils, but it is lined with white, & she hath the shining belly of a fish, & enormous wings of black & white feathers, & innumerable little legs & things like a centipede, & a long tail like a scorpion. Her breasts are human, but they are all scored with blood, & she cries: O thou who hast broken down the veil, knowest thou not that who cometh where I am must be scarred by many sorrows? And I answer her: Sorrow is not, save in the darkness of the Abyss of Her by which came Evil. ~~in~~ ~~in~~ I pierce the mystery of this breast, & therein is a jewel. It is a sapphire as great as an ostrich-egg, & thereon is graven this sigil:



But there is ~~only~~ so much writing on the stone, very the opal veils, but it is lined with white, & he has the shining belly of a fish, & enormous wings of black & white feathers, & innumerable little legs & claws like a centipede, & a long tail like a scorpion. The breasts are human, but they are all scored with blood, & he cries: O thou who hast broken down the veil, knowest thou not that who cometh where I am must be scarred by many sorrows? And I answer him: Sorrow is not, save in the darkness of the womb of Her by whom came Evil.

I pierce the Mystery of ~~H~~his breast, & therein is a jewel. It is a sapphire as great as an ostrich-
-egg, & thereon is graven this sigil:
But there is also much writing on the stone, very minute characters, carved. And I cannot read them. He points with his flail to the sapphire, which is now outside him, & bigger than himself; & he cries: Hail! Warden of the Gates of Eternity, who knowest not thy right hand from thy left; for in the aeon of my Father is a god with clasped hands, wherein he holdeth the universe, crushing it into the dust that ye call stars. Hail unto thee, who knowest not thy right eye from thy left, for in the aeon of my Father there is but one light. Hail unto thee, who knowest not thy right nostril from thy left, for in the aeon of my Father there is neither life nor death. Hail unto thee who knowest not thy right ear from thy left, for in the aeon of my Father there is neither sound nor silence, & whoso minute characters carved. And I cannot read them. He points with his flail to the sapphire, which is now outside him, & bigger than himself; & he cries: Hail! warden of the Gates of Eternity, who knowest not thy right hand from thy left, for in the æon of my Father is a god with clasped hands, wherein he holdeth the universe, crushing it into the dust that ye call stars. Hail unto thee who knowest not thy right eye from thy left, for in the æon of my Father there is but one light. Hail unto thee who knowest not thy right nostril from thy left, for in the æon of my Father there is neither life nor death. Hail unto thee who knowest not thy right ear from thy left; for in the æon of my Father there is neither sound nor silence, & whoso hath power to break open this sapphire stone shall find therein four elephants bearing tusks of mother-of-pearl, & upon whose backs are castles, those castles which ye call the watch-towers of the universe. Let me dwell in peace within the breast of the Angel that is warden of the aethyr. Let not the shame of my mother be unveiled. Let not her be put to shame that dwelt among the Elohim that are beyond the stars. O man, that must ever be opening, when wilt thou learn to seal up the mysteries of the creation? to fold thyself over thyself as a rose in the embrace of night? But thou must fling thee wanton to the sun, & the wind must tear thy petals from thee, & the bee must rob thee of thy thy honey, & thou must fall into the dark of things.

Amen & Amen.

hath power to break open this sapphire stone shall find therein four elephants having tusks of mother-
-of-pearl, & upon whose backs are castles, those castles which ye call the watch-towers of the Universe. Let me dwell in peace within the breast of the Angel that is warden of the æthyr. Let not the shame of my Mother be unveiled. Let not her be put to shame that lieth among the lilies that are beyond the stars. O man, that must ever be opening, when wilt thou learn to seal up the mysteries of the creation? to fold thyself over thyself as a rose in the embrace of night?
But thou must play the wanton to the sun, & the wind must tear thy petals from thee, & the bee must rob thee of thy honey, & thou must fall into the dusk of things.

Amen & Amen.

Verily the light is hidden; therefore he who hideth himself is like unto the light, but thou openest thyself; thou art like unto the darkness that bringeth the belly of the great goddess. ×

OLAHO VIRUDEN MAHORELA ZODIREDA! ON PIREDA EKENT-AJER; ARBA PIRE SAH SAHA SAHAL SAHALANA VO ABRA NA SAHA VELUCORSAPAX.

And the voice of the aeon cried: Return, return, return, the time sickeneth, & the space gapeth, & the voice of Him that is, was & shall be drowned rattles in the throat of the mighty dragon of eld. Thou canst not pass by me, except thou have the mystery of the word of the abyss.

So the angel passeth

Verily the light is hidden,
therefore he who hideth himself is like unto the light, but thou openest thyself; thou art like unto the darkness that bindeth
the belly of the great goddess.[x]

OLAHO VIRUDEN MAHORELA
ZODIREDA! ON PIREDA EXENT-
-ASER; ARBA PIRE GAH GAHA
GAHAL GAHALANA VO ABRA NA
GAHA VELUCORSAPAX.

And the voice of the æon
cried: Return, return, return, the time sickeneth, & the space
gapeth, & the voice of Him that is, was & shall be crowned rattles in the throat of the mighty dragon of eld.
Thou canst not pass by me, except thou have the mystery of the word of the abyss.
Now the angel putteth

× Note. In the light of the Cry of LOE, this passage seems to mean precisely the opposite of its apparent meaning.

x Note. In the light of the Cry of LOE, this passage seems to mean almost precisely the opposite of its apparent meaning.

back the sapphire stone into his breast, & I spake unto him & said, 'I will fight with thee & overcome thee, ~~ex~~ and thou expound unto me the word of the Aethyr.' Now he makes as if to fight with me. (It's very horrible, all the tentacles moving, & the flail flashing, & the fierce eyeless face, strained & swollen.) And with the magic sword, I pierce through his armour to his breast, & he falls back, saying, each of thee, my 'scars were they made, for I am the master of ~~the~~ Aethyr. And he would have said more; but I cut him short, saying: expound the word of the Aethyr. And he said: Discipline is sorrowful, & worship is laborious, & age is weariness.

Thou shalt be vexed by dispersion.

back the sapphire stone into his breast, & I spake unto him & said, I will fight with thee & overcome thee, except thou expound unto me the word of the Abyss. Now he makes as if to fight with me. (It's very horrible, all the tentacles moving, & the flail flashing, & the fierce eyeless face, strained & swollen.) And with the magic sword I pierce through his armour to his breast, & he fell back, saying, each of these my scars was thus made, for I am the warden of the æthyr. And he would have said more; but I cut him short, saying: expound the word of the Abyss. And he said: Discipline is sorrowful, & ploughing is laborious, & age is weariness.

Thou shalt be vexed by dispersion.

But now

Then ~~if~~ the same arise, fold thou thine arms; then shall God smite thee into a pillar of salt.

Look not so deeply into words & letters, for their mystery hath been hidden by the Alchemists. Compose the same-fold into a four-fold regiment, & when thou hast understood, thou mayest make symbols, but by playing child's games with symbols, thou shalt never understand. Thou hast the signs, thou hast the words, but there are many things that are not in my power, who am but the warden of the 28th Aethyr.

But my name thou shalt obtain in this wise. Of the three angles of the Aethyr, thou shalt write the names from right to left, & from left to right, & from right to left, & these are the holy letters:—

~~Then if~~ But now the sun arise, fold thou thine arms; then shall god smite thee into a pillar of salt.

Look not so deeply into words & letters; for this mystery hath been hidden by the Alchemists. Compose the seven-
-fold into a four-fold regimen, & when thou hast understood thou mayest make symbols, but by playing child's games with symbols thou shalt never understand. Thou hast the signs, thou hast the words, but there are many things that are not in my power, who am but the warden of the 28th Æthyr.

Now my name thou shalt obtain in this wise. Of the three angels of the Æthyr, thou shalt write the names from right to left, & from left to right, & from right to left, & these are the holy letters:-

the first 1, the fifth 2, the sixth 3, the eleventh 4, the seventh 5, the twelfth 6, the seventeenth 7.

Now had none any name who are above their Name, but the angels of the 30 Aethyrs are indeed four, & they have none above them, wherefore dispersion & disorder.

Now comes a voice from every side at once, terrible, great, crying: Close the veil; the great blasphemy hath been uttered; the face of my Mother is seared by the nail of the Devil. Shut the book, destroy the breaker of the 'seals'! And I answered, Had he not been destroyed, he had not come hither, for I am none, save in the darkness in the womb of Her by whom came n.p. evil into the world. [And this

The first 1, the fifth 2, the sixth 3, the eleventh 4, the seventh 5, the twelfth 6, the seventeenth 7. ~~T~~

Thus hast thou my name who am above these three, but the angels of the 30th Æthyr are indeed four,
& they have none above them,
wherefore dispersion & disorder.

Now comes a voice
from every side at once, terribly great, crying: Close the veil;
the great blasphemy hath been uttered; the face of my Mother is scarred by the nails of the devil. Shut the book, destroy the breaker of the seal~~.~~!
~~&~~ And I answered: ~~h~~Had he not been destroyed he had not come hither, for I am not, save in the darkness in the womb of Her by whom came
n.p. evil into the world. [~~&~~ And this darkness swallows everything up, and the angel is gone from the stone, & there is no light therein, save only the light of the Rose & of the Cross.

Aumale, Algeria. Nov: 23, 1909.
Between 8 & 9, p. m.

darkness swallows everything up,
and the angel is gone from the stone, & there is no light therein, save only the light of the Rose & of the Cross.

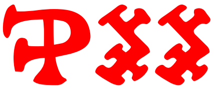
Aumale, Algeria. Nov: 23, 1909.
Between 8-9 p.m.

The Cry of the 27th Aethyr, which is called ZAA.

There is an angel with ~~a~~ rainbow wings, & his dress is green with silver, a green veil over silver armour. Flames of many-coloured fire dart from him in all directions. It is a woman of some 30 years old, & she has the moon for a crest, & the moon is blazoned on her heart, & her sandals are curved silver, like the moon. And she cries: Lonely am I, and cold in the wilderness of the stars. For I am the Queen of all them
Heaven, that dwell in ~~him~~, & the Queen of all them that are pure upon earth, & the Queen of all the sorceries of hell. I am the daughter of Nuit, the Lady of the stars. And I am the Bride of them that are vowed unto loneliness. And I am the mother of the Dog Cerberus. The person



The Cry of the 27th Æthyr, which is called ZAA.

There is an angel with rainbow wings, & his dress is green with silver, a green veil over silver armour. Flames of many-coloured fire dart from him in all directions. It is a woman of some 30 years old, & she has the moon for a crest, & the moon is blazoned on her heart, & her sandals are curved silver, like the moon. And she cries: Lonely am I and cold in the wilderness of the stars. For I am the queen of all them that dwell in ~~him~~ Heaven, & the queen of all them that are pure upon earth, & the queen of all the sorcerers of hell. I am the daughter of Nuit, the lady of the stars. And I am the Bride of them that are vowed unto loneliness. And I am the mother of the Dog Cerberus. One person am I, and these gods. And thou who hast blasphemed me, shalt suffer knowing me. For I am cold as thou art cold, and burn with thy fire. Oh, when shall the war of the airs and the elements be accomplished?

Radiant are these falchions of my brothers, invisible about me, but the weight of the aethyrs beneath my feet beareth me down. And they avail not to sever the Kamelos. There is one in green armour, with green eyes, whose sword is of vegetable fire. That shall avail me. My son is he — And how shall I bear him that have not known man? [All this time intolerable rays are shooting forth to beat me back or destroy me, but I am encased in an egg of blue-violet, and my form is the form of a man am I, and three gods. And thou who hast blasphemed me, shalt suffer knowing me. For I am cold as thou art cold, and burn with thy fire. Oh, when shall the war of the air~~s~~es and the elements be accomplished?

Radiant are these falchions of my brothers, invisibly about me, but the might of the æthyrs beneath my feet beareth me down. And they avail not to sever the Kamailos. There is one in green armour, with green eyes, whose sword is of vegetable fire. That shall avail me. My son is he. And how shall I bear him that have not known man? [All this time intolerable rays are shooting forth to beat me back or destroy me; but I am encased in an egg of blue-violet, and my form is the form of a man with the head of a golden hawk. ¶ While I've been observing this, the goddess has kept up a continuous wail, like the baying of a thousand hounds, & now her voice is deep and guttural and hoarse, & she ~~mutters~~ breathes very rapidly words that I cannot hear. I can hear ~~only I~~ some of them now:—

UNTU LA LA ULULA
UMUNA TOFA LAMA LE
LI NA AHR IMA TAHARA
ELULA ETFOMA UNUNA
ÀRPETI ULU ULU ULU
MARABAN ULULU MAHATA
ULU ULU LAMASTANA.

And then her voice rises to a shriek, and there's a cauldron boiling in front of her, & the flames under the cauldron are like the jin flames, & in the cauldron is the Rose, the Rose of all fields, with the head of a golden hawk.] While I have been observing this, the goddess has kept up a continuous wail, like the baying of a thousand hounds, & now her voice is deep and guttural and hoarse, & she ~~breathes~~ breathes very rapidly words that I cannot hear.

I can hear ~~OUT T~~ some of them now: -
UNTU LA LA ULULA
UMUNA TOFA LAMA LE
LI NA AHR IMA TAHARA
ELULA ETF~~F~~OMA UNUNA
ARPETI ULU ULU ULU
MARABAN ULULU MAHATA
ULU ULU LAMA-TANA.
And then her voice rises to a shriek, and there's a cauldron boiling in front of her; & the flames under the cauldron are like unto zinc flames, & in the cauldron is the Rose, the Rose of 49 petals, seething in it. Over the cauldron she has arched her rainbow wings, & her face is bent over the cauldron, & she is blowing opalescent silvery rings onto the Rose, & each ring as it touches the water bursts into flame, & the Rose takes new colours. And now she lifts her head, & raises her hands to heaven, & cries: - O Mother, wilt thou never have compassion on the children of earth? Was it not enough that the Rose should be fed with the blood of their heart, & that its petals should be by seen, & by seen. She is weeping, weeping. And the tears glisten, & fill the whole stem with moons, I can see nothing & hear nothing for the tears, though she keeps on praying. Take of these pearls, treasure them seething in it. Over the cauldron she has arched her rainbow wings, & her face is bent over the cauldron, & she is blowing opalescent silvery rings on to the Rose, & each ring as it touches the water bursts into Flame, & the Rose takes new colours. And now she lifts her head, & raises her hands to heaven, & cries: O Mother, wilt thou never have compassion on the children of earth? Was it not enough that the Rose should be red with the blood of thine heart, & that its petals should be by seven & by seven. She is weeping, weeping. And the tears grow & fill the whole stone with moons. I can see nothing & hear nothing for the tears, though she keeps on praying. Take of these pearls: treasure them in living heart. Is not the King Son of the Abyss accurst?

She spirits him away to the Cauldron, & now in it there is the head of a most awful dragon, black & corrupted. I watch & watch, & nothing happens. And now the Dragon rises out of the Cauldron, very long & thin,
like those Japanese Dragons,
but infinitely more terrible,
& he blots out the whole
sphere of the stone. And then suddenly all is gone, &
there is nothing in the stone,
save brilliant white light, &
Flecks like sparks of golden fire, & there's a ringing ~~like~~ as if bells were being used for anvils. And then is a perfume which I cannot describe, it's like nothing
that one can describe, but in thine heart. Is not the Kingdom of the Abyss accurst?

She points downward to the
cauldron, & now in it there
is the head of a most cruel dragon, black & corrupted. I watch & watch, & nothing happens. And now
the dragon rises out of the cauldron, very long & slim
like those Japanese Dragons,
but infinitely more terrible,
& he blots out the whole
sphere of the stone. And then suddenly all is gone, &
there is nothing in the stone,
save brilliant white light &
flecks like sparks of golden fire, & and there is a ringing ~~like~~
as if bells were being used for anvils. And there is a perfume which I cannot describe; it's like nothing
that one can describe, but the suggestion is like lignum aloes. And now all these things are there at once, in the same place & time. And now a veil of olive & silver is drawn over the stone. Only I hear the voice of the angel receding, very sweet & faint & sorrowful, saying:- Far off & lonely is the secret stone in the unknown, unmoving & interpenetrating is the knowledge with the will & the understanding. I am alone. I am lost, because I am all & in all, & my veil is woven of the green earth & the web of stars. I loved & I am denied, for I have denied myself! Give me those hands. Put them against my heart. Is it not cold. Sink, sink, - the abyss of time remains. It is not possible that one should come the suggestion is like lignum aloes. And now all these things are there at once, in the same place & time. And now a veil of olive & silver is drawn over the stone. only I hear the voice of the angel receding, very sweet & faint & sorrowful, saying: - Far off & lonely in the secret stone is the unknown, between & interpenetrating is the knowledge with the will & the understanding.

I am alone. I am lost, because I am all & in all, & my veil is woven of the green earth & the web of stars. I love & I am denied, for I have denied myself. Give me those hands. Put them against my heart. Is it not cold? Sink, sink, - the abyss of time remains. It is not possible that one should come

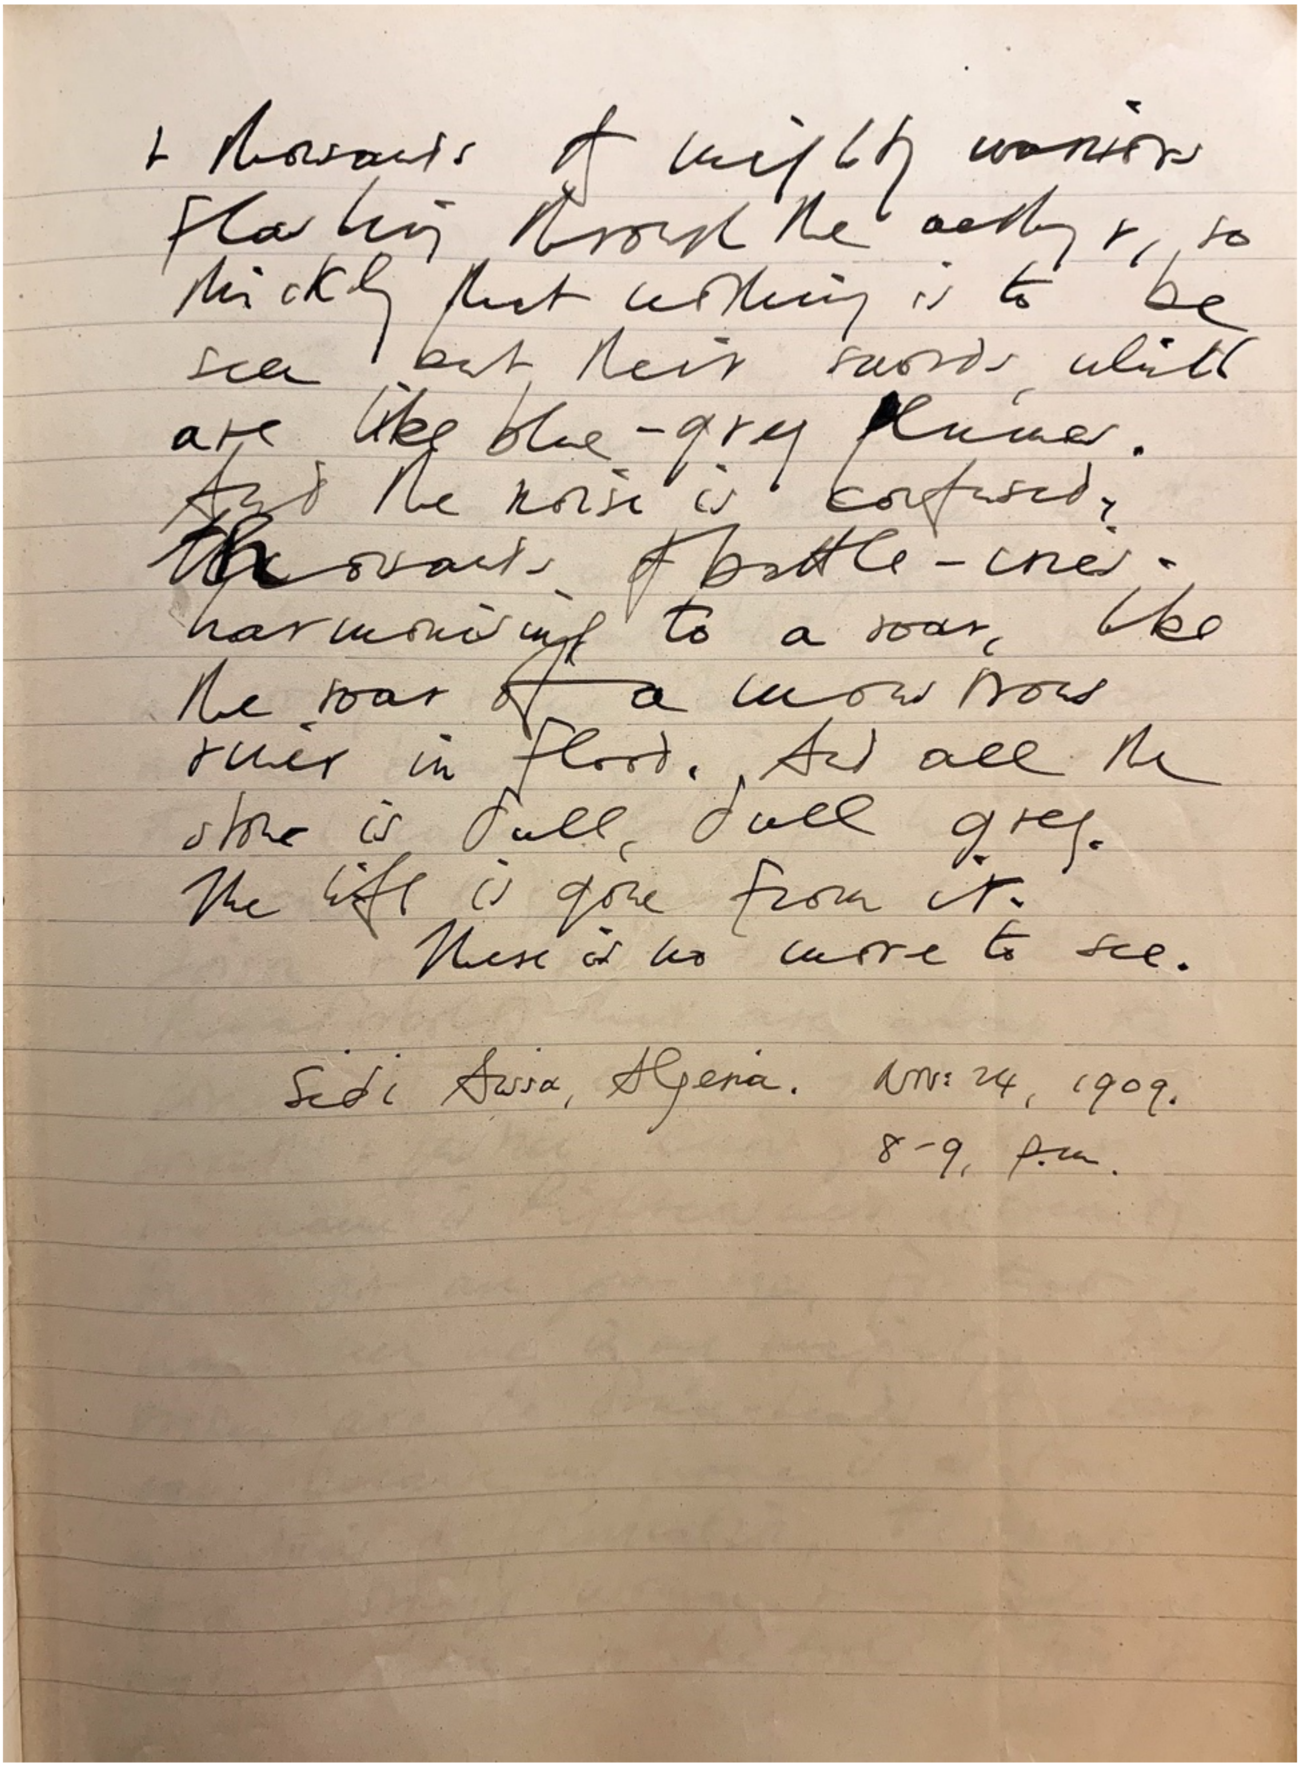
t, 2ooAA. Give me thy face. Let me kiss it with my cold kisses. Ah! Ah! Ah! Fall back from me. The word, the word of the aeon is MAKHASHĂNAH. And these words shalt thou say backwards:- ARARNAY OBOLO MAHARNA TUTULU NOM LAHARA EN NEDIEZO LO SAD FONUSA SOBANA ARAHA BINUF LA LA LA ARPAZNA WOHULU when thou wilt call me unto appearance, for I who am the virgin goddess am the pregnant goddess, & I have cast down my burden even unto the borders of the universe. They that blaspheme me are stoned, & my veil is fallen about me even unto the end of time.

Now there arises a great raging of thunders & thunders to Z~~OD~~AA. Give me thy face. Let me kiss it with my cold kisses. Ah! Ah! Ah! Fall back from me. The word, the word of the æon is MAKHASHĂNAH. And these words shalt thou say backwards: ARARNAY OBOLO MAHARNA TUTULU NOM LAHARA EN NEDIEZO LO SAD FONUSA SOBANA ARANA BINUF LA LA LA ARPAZNA ~~W~~UOHULU~~.~~ When thou wilt call for my burden unto appearance, for I who am the virgin goddess am the pregnant goddess, & I have cast down my burden even unto the borders of the universe. They that blaspheme me are stoned, & my veil is fallen about me even unto the end of time.

Now there arises a great raging of thousands & thousands



& thousands of mighty warriors flashing through the aethyr, so thickly that nothing is to be seen but their swords which are like blue-grey flames. And the noise is confused, thousands of battle-cries harmonising to a roar, like the roar of a mountainous river in flood. And all the stone is dull, dull grey. The life is gone from it.

There is no more to see.

Sidi Aissa, Algeria. Nov: 24, 1909.
8-9. p.m.

& thousands of mighty warriors flashing through the æthyr so thickly that nothing is to be seen but their swords, which are like blue-gray plumes.
And the noise is confused,
thousands of battle-cries harmonizing to a roar, like the roar of a monstrous river in flood. And all the stone is dull, dull grey.
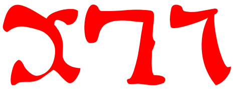
The life is gone from it.
There is no more to see.

Sidi Aissa, Algeria. Nov: 24, 1909.
8-9 p.m.

The Cry of the 26th Aethyr, which is called DES.

There is a very bright pentagram, & now the stone is gone, & the whole heaven is black, & the blackness is the blackness of a mighty angel. And though he is black, his face & his wings & his robe & his armour are all black, yet is he so bright that I cannot look upon him. And he cries: O ye spears & vials of poison & sharp swords and whirling thunderbolts that are about the corners of the earth, girded with wrath & justice, know ye that his name is Righteousness in Beauty. Burst out are your eyes, for that ye have seen me in my majesty. And broken are the drum-heads of your ears, because my name is as two mountains of fornication, the breasts of a strange woman, & my fodder is not in them. to! the fools of pride &



The Cry of the 26th Æthyr, which is called DES.

There is a very bright pentagram, & now the stone is gone, & the whole heaven is black, & the blackness is the blackness of a mighty angel. And though he is black his face & his wings & his robe & his armour are all black, yet is he so bright that I cannot look upon him.

he cries: O ye spears & vials of poison & sharp swords and whirling thunderbolts that are about the corners of the earth, girded with wrath & justice, know ye that his name is Righteousness in Beauty. Burnt out are your eyes, For that ye have seen me in my majesty. And broken are the drum-heads of your ears, because my name is as two mountains of fornication, the breasts of a strange woman, & my father is not in them. Lo! the pools of fire & torment mingled with blasphemy. Many are their colours, & their colour is as molten gold, when all is said. Is not he one, one & alone, in whom the brightness of our countenances as 1728 petals of fire? Also he spake the curse, folding his wings across, & crying: is not the son the enemy of his father? And hath not the daughter stolen the warmth of the bed of her mother? Therefore is the great curse irrevocable. Therefore & there is neither wisdom nor understanding nor knowledge in this house, that hangeth upon the edge of hell. Thou art not 4, but 2, O thou blasphemy spoken against 1. Therefore, whoso worshippeth thee is accursed. He shall be brayed in a mortar, & the powder thereof cast to the winds, that birds of the air may eat thereof and die, & ~~thou~~ he shall be dissolved in strong acid.

torment mingled with sulphur! Many are their colours, & their colour is as molten gold, when all is said. Is not he one, one & alone, in whom the brightness of your countenance is as 1728 petals of fire? Also he spake the curse, folding his wings across & crying: Is not the son the enemy of his father? And hath not the daughter stolen the warmth of the bed of her mother? Therefore is the great curse irrevocable.
Therefore ~~of~~ there is neither wisdom nor understanding nor knowledge in this house, that hangeth upon the edge of hell. Thou art not 4, but 2, O thou blasphemy spoken against 1! Therefore, whoso worshippeth thee is accursed. He shall be brayed in a mortar & the powder thereof cast to the winds, that the birds of the air may eat thereof and die, & ~~the o~~ he shall be dissolved in strong acid,

& the elixir is poured into the sea, that the fishes of the sea may breathe thereof, and die. And ~~thou~~ he shall be mingled with dung, & spread upon the earth, so that the herbs of the earth may feed thereof & die. And ~~thou~~ he shall be burnt utterly with fire, & the ashes thereof shall calcine the children of flame, that even in hell may be found an overflowing lamentation.

(And now on the breast of the Angel, is a golden egg between the blackness of the wings, & that egg grows & grows all over the aethyr. And it breaks, and within there is a golden eagle. And he cries=Woe. Woe Woe! Yea, woe unto the world! For there is no sin, & there is no salvation. My plumes are like waves of gold upon the sea. My eyes are brighter than the sun. My tongue is swifter than the lightning. Yet am I hemmed in by the armies

& the elixir poured into the sea, that the fishes of the sea may breathe thereof and die. And he shall be mingled with dung & spread upon the earth, so that the herbs of the earth may feed thereof & die.
And ~~then~~ he shall be burnt utterly with fire, & the ashes thereof shall calcine the children of flame, that even in hell may be found an overflowing lamentation.
[And now on the breast of the Angel is a golden egg between the blackness of the wings, & that egg grows & grows all over the æthyr. And it breaks, and within there is a golden eagle. And he cries: Woe! woe! woe! Yea, woe unto the world! For there is no sin, & there is no salvation. My plumes are like waves of gold upon the sea.
My eyes are brighter than the sun.
My tongue is swifter than the lightning.
Yet am I hemmed in by the armies thy might, singing, singing praise unto him that is smitten by the thunderbolt of the abyss. Is not the sky clear behind the sun? These clouds that bear thee up, these rays that scorch the brains of men with blindness. These are heralds before my face of the dissolution and the night. Ye are all blinded by my glory, & though ye treasure in your heart the sacred word that is the last lever ~~ward~~ of the key to the little door beyond the abyss, yet ye gloss & comment thereupon, for the light itself is but illusion. Truth itself is but illusion. Yea, these be the great illusions beyond life & space & time. Let thy lips blister with my words. Are they not meteors in thy brain? Back, back from the face of the accursed one, who am I, back into the night of my father, into the silence; of night, singing, singing praises unto him that is smitten by the thunderbolt of the abyss. Is not the sky clear behind the sun?

These clouds that burn thee up,
these rays that scorch the brains of men with blindness. These are heralds before my face of the dissolution and the night. Ye are all blinded by my glory, & though ye treasure in your heart the sacred word that is the last lever ~~word~~ of the key to the little door beyond the abyss, yet ye gloss & comment thereupon, for the light itself is but illusion. Truth itself is but illusion. Yea, these be the great illusions beyond life & space & time. Let thy lips blister with my words! Are they not meteors in thy brain? Back, back from the face of the accursed
one, who am I, back into the night of my father, into the silence;

for all that ye deem right is left, forward is backward, upward is downward. I am the great god, adored of the holy ones. Yet am I the accursed one, child of the elements and not their father. O, my mother! wilt thou not have pity upon me? wilt thou not shield me? For I am naked, I am manifest, I am profane. O my father! wilt not thou withdraw me? I am extended. I am double. I am profane. Woe, woe unto me! These are they that hear not prayer. It is I that have heard all prayer alway, & there is none to answer me. Woe unto me! Woe unto me! Accursed am I unto the aeons. (All this time this brilliant eagle-headed god has been attacked, seemingly, by invisible people; for he is wounded now & again, here & there. Little streams of pure blood come out over for all that ye deem right is left, forward is backward, upward is downward. I am the great god, adored of the holy ones. Yet am I the accursed one, child of the elements, and not their Father. O my mother! wilt thou not have pity upon me? Wilt thou not shield me? For I am naked, I am manifest, I am profane. O my father! wilt not thou withdraw me? I am extended. I am double. I am profane. Woe, woe unto me! These are they that hear not prayer. It is I that have heard all prayer alway, & there is none to answer me. Woe unto me! Woe unto me! Accursed am I unto the æons! [All this time this brilliant eagle-headed god has been attacked, seemingly, by invisible people; for he is wounded now & again, here & there. Little streams of fresh blood come out over the feathers of his breast. And the smoke of the blood hath gradually filling the aethyr with a crimson veil. And there is a scroll over the top, saying: Ecclesia abhorret

a sanguine. & there's another scroll below it, in a language
of which I don't know the sounds.
The meaning is: Not as they have understood. And the blood is thicker, & darker now, & it's becoming clotted & black, so that everything's blotted out, because it coagulates,
coagulates. And then at the top,
there steals a dawn of pure night-
-blue, Oh, the stars, the stars in it, deeply set. And under the blood stirs. ~~All in~~ so that all round the top of the oval gradually forms the figure of our Lady Nuit. O. Beneath her is the flaming winged disk,
& below, the altar of Ra-
Hoor-Khuit, even as it is upon the feathers of his breast. And the smoke of the blood is gradually filling the Æthyr with a crimson veil!   And there is a scroll over the top, saying: Ecclesia abhorret

a sanguine. & there is another scroll below it in a language
of which I don't know the sounds.
The meaning is: Not as they have understood. And the blood is thicker & darker now, & it is becoming clotted & black, so that everything is blotted out, because it coagulates,
coagulates. And then at the top
there steals a dawn of pure night-
-blue, Oh, the stars, the stars in it deeply set. And after the blood star.   ~~All m~~ So that all round the top of the oval gradually dawns the figure of our Lady Nuit, & beneath
her is the flaming winged disk,
& below the altar of Ra-
Hoor-~~Kuhit~~ Khuit, even as it is upon the stele of revealing. But below is the supine figure of Seb, into whom is concentrated all that clotted blood. And there comes a voice: It is the dawn of the aeon. The aeons of cursing are passed away. Force and fire, strength and sight, these are for the servants of the Star and the Snake. ~~[illegible]~~ And now I seem to be lying ~~alone~~ in the desert, exhausted.

nov: 25, 1909.
The desert, near Sïdi Aïsa, 1.0 - 2. P.M.

the Stele of Revealing. But below is the supine figure of Seb, into whom is concentrated all that clotted blood. & there comes a voice: It is the dawn of the æon. The æons of cursing are passed away. Force & fire, strength & sight, these are for the servants of the Star & the Snake. ~~& now~~
And now I seem to be lying ~~alone~~ in the desert, exhausted.

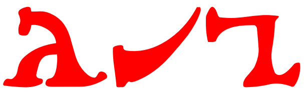
The desert, near Sidi Aissa. Nov. 25, 1909.
1:10-2 p.m.

The cry of the 25th Aethyr, which is called VTI.

There is nothing in the stone but the pale gold of the Rosy Cross, but now there comes an Angel with bright wings, that is the Angel of the 25th ~~[illegible]~~ Air. And all the air is a dark olive about him, like an alexandrite stone. He bears a pitcher or amphora. And now there comes another Angel, upon a white horse. And yet again another Angel, upon a black bull. And now there comes a lion & swallows the two latter angels up. The first Angel goes to the lion and closes his mouth. And behind them are arrayed a great company of Angels with silver spears, like a forest. And the Angel says: Blow all ye trumpets, for I will loose my hands from the mouth of the lion, and his roaring shall enkindle the



The cry of the 25th Æthyr, which is called VTI.

There is nothing in the stone but the pale gold of the Rosy Cross, but now there comes an Angel with bright wings, that is the Angel of the 25th ~~Air Air~~ Air. And all the air is a dark olive about him, like an alexandrite stone. He bears a pitcher or amphora. And now there comes another Angel, upon a white horse. And yet again another Angel, upon a black bull. And now there comes a lion & swallows the two latter angels up. The first angel goes to the lion and closes his mouth. And behind them are arrayed a great company of Angels with silver spears, like a forest. And the Angel says: Blow, all ye trumpets, for I will loose my hands from the mouth of the lion, and his roaring shall enkindle the worlds. Then the trumpets blow, and the wind rises, and whistles terribly. It is a blue wind, with silver specks, + it blows through the whole Aethyr. But through it one perceives the Lion, which has become as a raging flame. And he roareth in an unknown tongue. But this is the interpretation thereof: Let the stars be burnt up in the fire of my nostrils! Let all the gods and the archangels + the angels + the spirits that are on the earth, + above the earth, + below the earth, that are in all the heavens + in all the hells, let them be as motes dancing in the beam of mine eye. I am he that swalloweth up death + victory. I have slain the crowned goat, + drunk up the great Sea. ~~the sea~~. Like the ash of dried leaves the worlds are blown before me. Thou hast passed by me, + thou hast not known me.

worlds. Then the trumpets blow, and the wind rises, and whistles terribly. It is a blue wind, with silver specks, & it blows through the whole Æthyr. But through it one perceives the lion, which has become as a raging flame. And he roareth in an unknown tongue. But this is the interpretation thereof: Let the stars be burnt up in the fire of my nostrils! Let all the gods and the archangels & the angels & the spirits that are on the earth, & above the earth, & below the earth, that are in all the heavens & in all the hells, let them be as motes dancing in the beam of mine eye. I am he that swalloweth up death & victory. I have slain the crownèd goat, & drunk up the great sea. ~~The sea l~~ Like the ash of dried leaves the worlds are blown before me. Thou hast passed by me, & thou hast not known me.

woe unto thee, that I have not devoured thee altogether. For my head is the crown, 419 rays far-darting. And my body is the body of the Snake, & my soul is the soul of the Crowned Child. Though an Angel in white robes leadeth me, who shall ride upon me but the Woman of Abominations, Who is the beast? Am not I one ~~less~~ more than he? In his hand is a sword, that is a book. In his hand is a spear, that is a cup of fornication. Upon his mouth is set the great & terrible seal. And he hath the secret of V. And his ten horns spring from five points. And his eight heads are as the Charioteer of the West. Thus doth the fire of the sun temper the spear of Mars, & thus shall he be worshipped, as the warrior-lord of the sun. Yet in him is the Woman that devoureth with her water all the fire of Woe unto thee, that I have not devoured thee altogether! On my head is the crown, 419 rays far-darting. And my body is the body of the Snake, & my soul is the soul of the ~~c~~Crowned ~~c~~Child. Though an Angel in white robes leadeth me, who shall ride upon me but the Woman of Abominations~~.~~, Who is the beast? Am not I one ~~less~~ more than he? In his hand is a sword that is a book. In his hand is a spear, that is a cup of fornication. Upon his mouth is set the great & terrible seal.

And he hath the secret of V.
And his ten horns spring from five points. And his eight heads are as the Charioteer of the West.
Thus doth the fire of the sun temper the spear of Mars, & thus shall he be worshipped, as the warrior-
-lord of the sun. Yet in him is the woman that devoureth with her water all the fire of

Got. Alas! my Lord, thou art joined with him that knoweth not these things. When shall the day come, that men shall flock to this my gate, & fall into my furious throat, a whirlpool of fire! This is hell unquenchable, & all they shall be utterly consumed therein. Therefore is that asbestos unconsumable, made pure. Each of my teeth is a letter of the reverberating name. My tongue is a pillar of fire, & from the glands of my mouth arise four pillars of water. ~~Taots~~ TAOTZEM is the name by which I am blasphemed. My name thou shalt not know, lest thou pronounce it & pass by. And now the Angel comes forward again & closes his mouth. All this time heavy blows have been raining upon

God. Alas! my lord, thou art joined with him that knoweth not these things. When shall the day come, that men shall flock to this my gate, & fall into my furious throat~~.~~, ~~A~~ a whirlpool of fire? This is hell unquenchable, & all they shall be utterly consumed therein. Therefore is that asbestos unconsumable made pure. Each of my teeth is a letter of the reverberating ~~V~~name. My tongue is a pillar of fire, & from the glands of my mouth arise four pillars of water. ~~Taots~~ TAOTZEM is the name by which I am blasphemed. My name thou shalt not know, lest thou pronounce it & pass by. And now the Angel comes forward again & closes his mouth. All this time heavy blows have been raining upon me from invisible angels, so that I am weighed down as with a burden greater than the world. I am altogether crushed. Great mill-stones are hurled out of heaven upon me. I am trying to crawl to the Lion, & the ground is covered with sharp knives. I cut myself at every inch. And the voice comes: Why art thou there who art here? Hast thou not the sign of the number, & the seal of the name, & the ring of the eye. Thou wilt not. And I answered, & said: I am a creature of earth, & ye would have me swim. And the voice said: Thy fear is known; thine ignorance is known; thy weakness is known, but thou art nothing in this matter. Shall the grain which is cast into the earth by the hand of the sower debate with itself, me from invisible angels, so that I am weighed down as with a burden greater than the world.

I am altogether crushed. Great mill-stones are hurled out of heaven upon me. I am trying to crawl to the lion, & the ground is covered with sharp knives.
I cut myself at every inch.
And the voice comes: Why art thou there who art here? Hast thou not the sign of the number,
& the seal of the name, & the ring of the eye. Thou wilt not.
And I answered & said: I am a creature of earth, & ye would have me swim. And the voice said: Thy fear is known; thine ignorance is known; thy weakness is known, but thou art nothing in this matter. Shall the grain which is cast in to the earth by the hand of the sower debate within itself, saying, am I oats or barley? Bondslave of the curse, we give nothing, we take all. Be thou content. That which thou art, thou art. Be content.

And now the lion passes over through the field, with the crowned beast upon his back, & the tail of the lion goes on instead of stopping, & on each hair of the tail is something or other, - sometimes a little house, sometimes a planet, at other times a town. Then there's a great plain, with soldiers fighting upon it, & an enormous high mountain, carved into a thousand temples, & whole woods, & fields, & trees, & great cities, with wonderful buildings in them, statues & columns & public buildings generally. This goes on & on & on on... & on & on & on, — all on the hair of this lion's tail.

saying, am I oats or barley? Bond--slave of the curse, we give nothing, we take all. Be thou content. That which thou art, thou art. Be content.

And now the lion passes over through the Æthyr with the crowned beast upon his back, & the tail of the lion goes on instead of stopping, & on each hair of the tail is something or other, - sometimes a little house, sometimes a planet, at other times a town. Then there's a great plain with soldiers fighting upon it, & an enormously high mountain, carved into a thousand temples, & more houses & fields, & trees, & great cities, with wonderful buildings in them, statues & columns & public buildings generally. This goes on & on & on & on & on & on & on, - all on the hairs of this lion's tail.

And then there's the tuft of his tail, which is like a comet, but the head is a new universe, & each hair streaming away from it is a milky way.

And then there's a pale, stern figure, enormous, enormous, bigger than all that universe is, in silver armour, with a sword & a pair of balances. That's only vague. All has gone into stone-grey, blank.

There is nothing.

Ain el Hajel. Dec: 25, 1909.
8.40 - 9.40, p.m.

(There were two voices in all this Cry, one behind the other, — or, one was the speech, and the other the meaning. And the voice that was the speech was simply a roaring, one tremendous noise, like a mixture of thunder, & water-falls, &

And then there's the tuft of his tail, which is like a comet,
but the head is a new universe, & each hair streaming away from it is a milky way.
And then there's a pale,
stern figure, enormous, enormous, bigger than all that universe is,
in silver armour, with a sword & a pair of balances. That's only vague. All has gone into stone-gray, blank.
There is nothing.

Ain el Hajel. Nov: 25, 1909.
8.~~3~~40-9.~~3~~40, p.m.

(There were two voices in all this Cry, one behind the other, - or, one was the speech, and the other the meaning. And the voice that was the speech was simply a roaring, one tremendous noise, like a mixture of thunder, & water-falls & wild beasts & bands & artillery. And yet it was articulate, though I can't tell you what a single word was. But the meaning of the voice, — the second voice — was quite silent, & put the ideas directly into the brain of the Seer, as if by touch. It is not certain whether the mill-stones & the sword-strokes that rained upon him were not these very sounds & ideas.]

wild beasts & bands & artillery.
And yet it was articulate, though I can't tell you what a single word was. But the meaning of the voice - the second voice - was quite silent, & put the ideas directly into the brain of the Seer, as if by touch.
It is not certain whether the mill-stones & the sword-strokes that rained upon him were not these very sounds & ideas.]

The cry of the 24th Aethyr, which is called NIA.

An Angel comes forward into the stone like a warrior clad in chain-armour. Upon his head are plumes of grey, spread out like the fan of a peacock. About his feet a great army of scorpions & dogs, lions, elephants, & many other wild beasts. He stretches forth his arms to heaven, & cries, in the crackling of the lightning, in the rolling of the thunder, in the clashing of the swords, & the hurling of the arrows: Be thy name exalted! And streams of fire come out of the heavens, a pale brilliant blue, like plumes. And they gather themselves, & settle upon his lips. His lips are redder than rose, & the blue plumes gather themselves into a blue rose, & from beneath the petals of the rose come

The Cry of the 24th Æthyr, which is called NIA.

An Angel comes forward into the stone like a warrior clad in chain-armour. Upon his head are plumes of gray, spread out like the fan of a peacock. About his feet a great army of scorpions & dogs, lions, elephants, & many other wild beasts. He stretches forth his arms to heaven, & cries: in the crackling of the lightning, in the rolling of the thunder, in the clashing of the swords, & the hurling of the arrows: Be thy name exalted! And streams of fire come out of the heavens, a pale brilliant blue, like plumes. And they gather themselves & settle upon his lips. His lips are redder than roses, & the blue plumes gather themselves into a blue rose, & from beneath the petals of the rose come brightly-coloured humming-birds, & dew falls from the rose, honey-coloured dew. I start in the shiver of it. And a voice proceeds from the rose: Come away! Our chariot is drawn by doves. Of mother-of-pearl & ivory is our chariot. And the reins thereof are the heart-strings of men. Every moment that we fly shall cover an aeon. And every place on which we rest shall be a young universe rejoicing in its strength; the meadows thereof shall be covered with flowers. There shall we rest but a night, & in the morning we shall flee away, comforted.

Now, to myself I have imagined the chariot of which the voice spoke, & I looked to see who was with me in the chariot. It was an Angel of golden hair & golden skin, whose eyes were bluer than the brightly-coloured humming-birds, & dew falls from the rose-honey-coloured dew. I stand in the shower of it. And a voice proceeds from the rose: Come away! Our chariot is drawn by doves. Of mother-of-pearl & ivory is our chariot. And the reins thereof are the heart-strings of men. Every moment that we fly shall cover an æon. And every place on which we rest shall be a young universe rejoicing in its strength; the meadows thereof shall be covered with flowers. There shall we rest but a night, & in the morning we shall flee away, comforted.

Now, to myself, I have imagined the Chariot of which the voice spake, & I looked to see who was with me in the chariot. It was an ~~a~~Angel of golden hair & golden skin, whose eyes were bluer than the sea, whose mouth was redder than the fire, whose breath was ambrosial air. Finer than a spider's web were her ~~[illegible]~~ robes. And they were of the seven colours. All this I saw, & then the hidden voice went on, low & sweet: Come away! The price of the journey is little, though its name be death. Thou shalt die to all that thou fearest & hopest & hatest & lovest & thinkest, ~~and~~ art. Yea! thou shalt die, even as thou must die. For all that thou hast, thou hast not; all that thou art, thou art not. NENNI OFEKUFA ANANAEL LAIADA I MAELPEREJI NONUKA AFAFA ADAREPEHETA PEREGI ALADI NIISA NIISA LAPE OL ZODIR IDOIAN. And I said: ODO KIKALE QAA. Why art thou hidden from me, whom I hear? And the voice answered, & said unto me: Hearing is of the spirit alone.

sea, whose mouth was redder than the fire, whose breath was ambrosial air. Finer than a spider's web were her ~~sl~~ robe.
And they were of the seven colours.
All this I saw; & then the hidden voice went on low & sweet: Come away! The price of the journey is little, though its name be death.
Thou shalt die to all that thou fearest & hopest & hatest & lovest & thinkest, ~~&~~ and art. Yea! thou shalt die, even as thou must die.
For all that thou hast, thou hast not; all that thou art, thou art not! NENNI OFEKUFA
ANANAEL LAIADA I MAELPEREJI
NONUKA AFAFA ADA~~P~~REPEHETA
PEREGI ALADI NIISA NIISA LAPE
OL ZODIR IDOIAN. And I said:
ODO KIKALE QAA. Why art thou hidden from me, whom I hear?
And the voice answered, & said unto me: Hearing is of the spirit alone.

Thou art a partaker of the five-fold mystery. Thou must roll up the ten divine ones like a scroll, & fashion therefrom a star. Yet must thou blot out the star in the heart of Hadit. For the blood of my heart is like a warm bath of myrrh and ambergris; & bathe thyself therein. The blood of my heart is all gathered upon my lips if I kiss thee. Burns in my finger-tips if I caress thee, burns in my womb when thou art caught up into my bed. Mighty are the stars; mighty is the sun; mighty is the moon; mighty is the voice of the everliving one, & the echoes of his whisper are the thunders of the dissolution of the worlds. But my silence is mightier than they. Close up the worlds like unto a weary house; close up the book ~~of~~ the recorder, & let the veil swallow

Thou art a partaker of the five-fold mystery. Thou must roll up the ten divine ones like a scroll, & fashion therefrom a star. Yet must thou blot out the star in the heart of Hadit. For the blood of my heart is like a warm bath of myrrh and ambergris; bathe thyself therein. The blood of my heart is all gathered upon my lips if I kiss thee. Burns in my fingertips if I caress thee, burns in my womb when thou art caught up into my bed. Mighty are the stars; mighty is the sun; mighty is the moon; mighty is the voice of the ever-living one, & the echoes of his whisper are the thunders of the dissolution of the worlds. But my silence is mightier than they. Close up the worlds like unto a weary house; close up the book of the recorder, & let the veil swallow up the shrine, for I am arisen, O my fair one, & there is no more weep of all these things. It I put them apart from me, it was the joy & play. Is not the ebb & flowing of the tide a music of the sea? Come! Let us mount unto Nuit our mother, & be lost. Let Being be emptied in the infinite abyss. For by me only shalt thou mount; thou hast none other ways than mine.

All this while the Rose has been shooting out blue flames, coruscating like snakes through the whole Aire. And the snakes have taken shapes of sentences. One of them is: Sub umbra alarum tuarum Adonai quies et felicitas. And another: Summum bonum vera sapientia magnanima vita sub noctis nocte sunt. And up the shrine, for I am arisen, O my fair one, & there is no more need of all these things. If I put thee apart from me, it was the joy of play. Is not the ebb & flowing of the tide a music of the sea? Come!, let us mount unto Nuit our mother, & be lost. Let being be emptied in the infinite abyss. For by me only shalt thou mount; thou hast none other wings than mine.

All this while the Rose has been shooting out blue flames, coruscating like snakes through the whole Aire. And the snakes have taken shapes of sentences. One of them is: Sub umbra alarum tuarum Adonai quies et felicitas. And another: Summum bonum vera sapientia, magnanima vita sub noctis nocte sunt. And another is: Vera medicina est vinum mortis. And another is: Libertas evangelii per pugnam legis ob gloriam dei intactam ad vacuum nequaquam tendit. And another is: Sub aqua lux terrarum. And another is: Mens edax rerum cor ~~alter~~[?] umbra rerum intelligentia via summa. And another is: Summa via lucis: per Hephaestum undas regis. And another is: Vir introit tumulum regis invenit oleum lucis.

And all round the whole of these rings are the letters TARO, but the light is so dreadful that I cannot read the words. I am going to try again. All these serpents are collated to fitter very thickly at the edges of the wheel, because there are an innumerable number of sentences. Others: Tres annos regimen oraculi.

another is: Vera medicina est vinum mortis. And another is:
~~l~~Libertas evangelii per jugum legis ob gloriam dei intactam ad vacuum nequaquam tendit.
And another is: Sub aqua lex terrarum. And another is: Mens edax rerum cor ~~uldo~~[?] umbra rerum intelligentia via summa. And another is: Summa via lucis:
per Hephaestum undas regas. And another is: Vir introit ~~e~~tumulum regis invenit oleum lucis.

And all round the whole of these things are the letters TARO, but the Light is so dreadful that I cannot read the words. I am going to try again. All these serpents are collected together very thickly at the edges of the wheel, be-cause there are an innumerable number of sentences. One is:
res annos regimen oraculi:

And another is: Terribilis ardet rex olivum. And another is: Ter amo- [amo?] (can't see it.) rosam oleo. And another is: Tribus annulis regnat olisbon. And the ~~whole~~ ~~thing~~ marvel is that with those four letters, you can get a complete set of rules for doing everything, both for white magic, & black.

And now I see the heart of the rose again. I see the face of him that is the heart of the rose. And in the glory of that face I am ended. My eyes are fixed upon his eyes. My being is sucked up through my eyes into those eyes. And I see through those eyes, & ~~and~~ lo! the universe like whirling sparks of gold blown like a tempest. I seem to swell out again with him. My consciousness fills the whole Aethyr. I hear the cry NIA.

And another is: Terribilis ardet rex olium. And another is: Ter amb- [amp-?] (-can't see it) rosam oleo.
And another is: Tribus annulis re~~en~~gna olisbon. And the ~~whole~~ marvel ~~thing~~ is that with those four letters you can get a complete set of rules for doing everything, both for white magic, & black.

And now I see the heart of the rose again. I see the face of him that is the heart of the rose. And in the glory of that face I am ended.
My eyes are fixed upon his eyes; my being is sucked up through my eyes into those eyes.
And I see through those eyes, lo! & that the universe, like whirling sparks of gold, blown like a tempest. I seem to swell out again into him. My consciousness fills the whole Æthyr. I hear the cry NIA, ringing again & again from within me. It sounds like infinite music, & behind the sound is the meaning of the Letters. Again there are no words.

All this time, the whirling sparks of gold go on, & they're like blue sky, with a lot of rather thin white clouds in it, outside. And now I see mountains round, far blue mountains, purple mountains. And in the midst is a little green dell of moss, which is all sparkling with dew that drips from the rose. And I am lying on that moss with my face upwards drinking, drinking, drinking, drinking, drinking of the ~~Dis~~ dew.

I cannot describe to you the joy & the exhaustion of everything that was, & the energy of everything that is, for ringing again & again from within me. It sounds like infinite music, & behind the sound is the meaning of the Æthyr. Again there are no words.

All this time the whirling sparks of gold go on,
& they are like blue sky, with a lot of rather thin white clouds in it, outside. And now I see mountains round, far blue mountains, purple mountains. And in the midst is a little green dell of moss, which is all sparkling with dew that drips from the rose. And I am lying on that moss with my face upwards, drinking, drinking, drinking, drinking, drinking of the ~~dew~~ dew.

I cannot describe to you the joy & the exhaustion of everything that was, & the energy of everything that is, for it is only a corpse that is lying on the moss. I am the soul of the Aethyr.

Now it reverberates like the swords of archangels, clashing upon the armour of the damned; & there seem to be the blacksmiths of heaven beating the steel of the worlds upon the anvils of hell, to make a roof to the Aethyr.

For if the Great Work were accomplished, & all the Aethyrs were caught up into one, then would the vision fail; then would the voice be still.

Now all is gone from the stone.

Ain el Hajel. Nov: 26, 1909.
2(?)–3.25, p.m. ~~2–3, (?) p.m.~~ it is only a corpse that is lying on the moss. I am the soul of the Æthyr.

　　Now it reverberates
like the swords of archangels, clashing upon the armour of the damned, & there seem to be the blacksmiths of heaven beating the steel of the worlds upon the anvils of hell, to make a roof to the Æthyr.
　　For if the Great Work were accomplished, & all the Æthyrs were caught up into one, then would the vision fail;
then would the voice be still.
　　Now all is gone from the stone.

Ain el Hajel. Nov: 26, 1909.
2(?)-3:25 p.m. ~~2-3(?) p.m.~~

The cry of the 23rd Aethyr, which is called TOR.

In the brightness of the stone, are three lights, brighter than all, which revolve ceaselessly. And now there is a spider's web of silver, covering the whole of the stone. And behind the spider's web is a star of twelve rays. And behind that again, a black bull, furiously pawing up the ground. The flames from his mouth increase and whirl, & he cries: Behold the mystery of toil, thou who art taken in the toils of mystery. For I who trample the earth thereby make whirlpools in the air; be comforted therefore, for though I be black, in the roof of my mouth is the sign of the Beetle. Bent are the backs of my brethren, yet shall they gore the lion with their horns. Have I not the wings of the eagle, & the face of the man? &

And now he is turned into one of those winged Assyrian bull-men.

The Cry of the 23rd Æthyr, which is called TOR.

In the brightness of the stone, are three lights, brighter than all, which revolve ceaselessly. And now there is a spider's web of silver, covering the whole of the stone. And behind the spider's web is a star of twelve rays. And behind that again, a black bull, furiously pawing up the ground. The flames from his mouth increase and whirl, & he cries: Behold the mystery of toil, o thou who art taken in the toils of mystery. For I who trample the earth thereby make whirlpools in the air; be comforted therefore, for though I be black, in the roof of my mouth is the sign of the Beetle. Bent are the backs of my brethren; yet shall they gore the lion with their horns. Have I not the wings of the eagle, & the face of the man?

And now he is turned into one of those winged Assyrian bull-men.

And he says: The spade of the husbandman is the sceptre of the King. All the heavens beneath me, they serve me. They are my fields & my gardens & my orchards & my pastures. Glory be unto thee, who didst set thy feet in the North; whose forehead is pierced with the sharp points of the diamonds in thy crown; whose heart is pierced with the spear of thine own fecundity. Thou art an egg of blackness, & a worm of poison. But thou hast formulated thy father, & made fertile thy mother. Thou art the basilisk whose gaze turns men to stone. And the cockatrice at the breast of an harlot that giveth death for milk. Thou art the asp that hast stolen into the cradle of the babe. Glory unto thee, who art twined about the world as the vine that clingeth to the bare body of a bacchanal. Also, though I be planted so firmly upon the earth, yet is my blood wine, & my bread fire of madness. With these wings, though thy

And he says: The spade of the husbandman is the sceptre of the King. All the heavens beneath me, they serve me. They are my fields & my gardens & my orchards & my pastures. Glory be unto thee, who didst set thy feet in the ~~n~~North; whose forehead is pierced with the sharp points of the diamonds in thy crown; whose heart is pierced with the spear of thine own fecundity. Thou art an egg of blackness, & a worm of poison. But thou hast formulated thy father, & made fertile thy mother. Thou art the basilisk whose gaze turns men to stone.
And the cockatrice at the breast of an harlot that giveth death for milk.
Thou art the asp that has stolen into the cradle of the babe. Glory unto thee, who art twined about the world a the vine that clingeth to the bare body of a bacchanal. Also, though I be planted so firmly upon the earth, yet is my blood wine & my breath fire of madness. With these wings, though they be but little, I lift myself above the crown of the god, & being without fins,

I yet swim in the inviolate fountain.
I disport myself in the ruins of Eden,
even as Leviathan in the false sea,
being whole as the rose at the crown of
the cross. Come ye unto me, my children, & be glad. At the end of labour is the power of labour. And in my stability is concentrated eternal change. For the whirlings of the universe are but
the course of the blood in my heart.
And the unspeakable variety thereof is tawny but my fiery hairs & plumes and gems in my tall crown. The change which ye lament is the life of my rejoicing. And the sorrow that blackeneth your hearts is the myriad deaths by which I am renewed. And
the instability which maketh ye to fear,
is the little waverings of balance by
which I am assured.
And now the veil of
silver tissue-stuff closes over him,

be but little, I lift myself above the crown of the yod, & being without fins,
I yet swim in the inviolate fountain.
I disport myself in the ruins of Eden,
even as Leviathan in the false sea,
being whole as the rose at the crown of
the cross. Come ye unto me, my children,
& be glad. At the end of labour is the power of labour. And in my stability is concentrated eternal change. For the whirlings of the universe are but
the course of the blood in my heart.
And the unspeakable variety thereof is but my divers hairs & plumes and gems in my tall crown. The change
which ye lament is the life of my rejoicing. And the sorrow that blackeneth your hearts is the myriad deaths by which I am renewed. And
the instability which maketh ye to fear,
is the little waverings of balance by
which I am assured.

And now the veil of
silver tissue-stuff closes over him,

& above that, a purple veil, & above that, a golden veil. So that now the whole stone is like a thick mat of woven gold-wire, & there come forth, one from each side of the stone, two women, & grasp each other by both hands, & kiss, & melt into one another, & melt away.* And now the veils open again, the gold parts, & the purple parts, & the silver parts, & there is a crowned Eagle, also like the Assyrian eagles. And he cries: All my strength & stability are turned to the use of flight. For though my wings are of fine gold, yet my heart is the heart of a scorpion.

Glory unto thee, who being born in a stable didst make thee aware of the filth thereof; who didst suck in iniquity from the breast of thy

---

* These are intended to show symbolically that the Bull is the same as the Eagle.

& above that, a purple veil, & above that, a golden veil. So that now the whole stone is like a thick mat of woven gold-wires, & there come forth, one from each side of the stone, two women, & grasp each other by both hands, & kiss, & melt into one another, & melt away.* And now the veils~~.~~ open again, the gold parts, & the purple parts, & the silver parts, & there is a crowned eagle, also like the Assyrian eagles. And he cries:

All my strength & stability ~~is~~ are turned to the use of flight. For though my wings are of fine gold, yet my heart is the heart of a scorpion.

Glory unto thee, who being born in a stable didst make thee mirth of the filth thereof; also didst suck in iniquity from the breast of thy mother the harlot, also didst flood with images of the bodies of thy concubines. Thou didst lie in the filth of the streets with the dogs; thou wast tumbled + shameless + wanton in a place where four roads meet. Here wast thou defiled, + here wast thou slain, + here wast thou left to rot. The charred stake was thrust through thy bowels, + thy parts were cut off, + thrust into thy mouth for derision. All my unity is dissolved; I live in the tips of my feathers. That which I think to be myself is but infinite number. Glory unto the Rose + the Cross, for the Cross is extended unto the uttermost end beyond space + time + being + knowledge + delight. Glory unto the Rose that is the minute point of its centre, even as we say, Glory unto the Rose that is the circumference thereof, + glory unto the Cross that is the mother the harlot; who didst flood with iniquity the bodies of thy concubines. Thou didst lie in the filth of the streets with the dogs; thou wast tumbled & shameless & wanton in a place where four roads meet. There wast thou defiled, & there wast thou slain, & there wast thou left to rot. The charred stake was thrust through thy bowels, & thy parts were cut off, & thrust into thy mouth for derision. All my unity is dissolved; I live in the tips of my feathers. That which I think to be myself is but infinite number.

---

[*] These are intended to show symbolically that the Bull is the same as the Eagle.

Glory unto the Rose & the Cross, for the Cross is extended unto the uttermost end beyond space & time & being & Knowledge & delight.

Glory unto the Rose that is the minute point of its center, even as we say, glory unto the Rose that is Nuit, the circumference of all, & glory unto the Cross that is the heart of the Rose. Therefore do I cry aloud, & my scream is the treble, & the bellowing of the bull is the bass. Peace is the highest, & Peace is the lowest, & peace in the midst thereof. Peace in the eight quarters. Peace in the ten points of the Pentagram. Peace in the twelve rays of the seal of Solomon, & peace in the four-&-thirty whirlings of the hammer of Thor. Behold! I blaze upon thee! [The eagle is gone; it is only a flaming rosy cross, of white brilliance.] I catch thee up into rapture. ~~Fa~~ FALUTLI, FALUTLI.......

......(it dies ~~Ha~~ it dies.

Bou-Sâada. Nov. 28, 1909.
9.30-10.15, a.m.

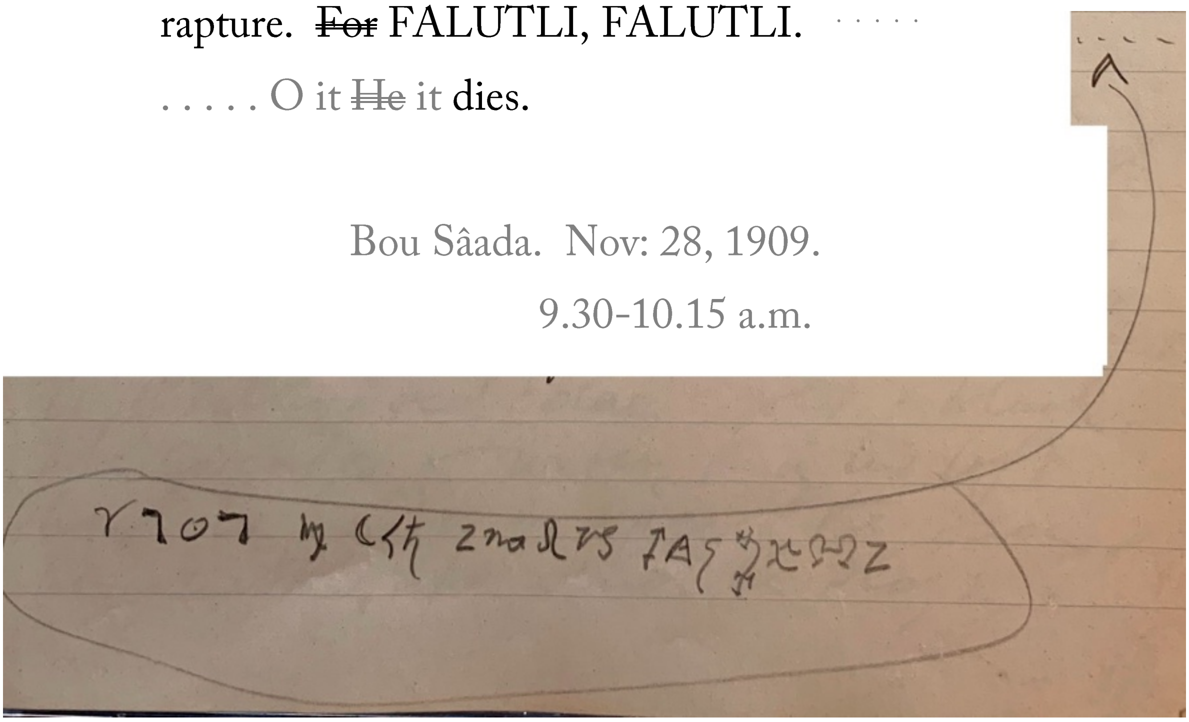
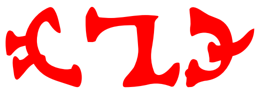
heart of the Rose. Therefore do I cry aloud, & my scream is the treble as the bellowing of the bull is the bass. Peace in the highest & peace in the lowest, & peace in the midst thereof. Peace in the eight quarters. Peace in the ten points of the Pentagram. Peace in the twelve rays of the Seal of Solomon, & peace in the four- & -thirty whirlings of the hammer of Thor. Behold! I blaze upon thee. [The eagle is gone; it is only a flaming Rosy Cross, of white brilliance.] I catch thee up into rapture. ~~For~~ FALUTLI, FALUTLI. . . . . .
. . . . . O it ~~He~~ it dies.

Bou Sâada. Nov: 28, 1909.
9.30-10.15 a.m.



The Cry of the 22nd Aethyr, which is called LIN.

There comes first into the stone the mysterious table of forty-nine squares. It is surrounded by an innumerable company of angels; these angels are of all kinds,—some brilliant & flashing as gods, down to elemental creatures. The light comes & goes on the tablet, & now it's steady, & I perceive that each letter of the tablet is composed of forty-nine other letters, in a language which looks like that of Honorius. But when I would read, the letter that I look at becomes indistinct at once, & now there comes an Angel, & hides the tablet with his mighty wing. This Angel has all the colours mingled in his dress; his head is proud & beautiful; his head-dress is of silver & red & blue & gold & black, like cascades of water, & in his left hand he has a pan-pipe of the seven holy metals, upon which he plays. I



The Cry of the 22nd Æthyr, which is called LIN.

There comes first into the stone the mysterious table of forty-nine squares. It is surrounded by an innumerable company of angels; these angels are of all kinds, - some brilliant & flashing as gods, down to elemental creatures. The light comes & goes on the tablet, & now it's steady, & I perceive that each letter of the tablet is composed of forty-nine other letters, in a language which looks like that of Honorius. But when I would read, the letter that I look at becomes indistinct at once, & now there comes an Angel, & hides the tablet with his mighty wing. This Angel has all the colours mingled in his dress; his head is proud & beautiful; his headdress is of silver & red & blue & gold & black, like cascades of water, & in his left hand he has a pan-pipe of the seven holy metals, upon which he plays. I cannot tell you how wonderful the music is, but it is so wonderful that one only lives in one's ears; one cannot see anything any more. Now he stops playing, & moves with his finger in the air. His finger leaves a trail of fire of every colour, so that the whole air is become like a web of mingled lights. But through it all drops dew. (I can't describe these things at all; dew doesn't represent what I mean in the least. For instance, these drops of dew are enormous globes, shining like the full moon; only perfectly transparent as well as perfectly luminous.) And now he shows the tablet again, & he says: As there are 49 letters in the tablet, so are there 49 kinds of cosmos in every thought of God. And there are 49 interpretations of every cosmos, & each interpretation is manifest in 49 ways. Thus also are the calls 49, but to each call there are 49 visions. And each vision is composed of 49 elements, cannot tell you how wonderful the music is, but it is so wonderful that one only lives in one’s ears; one cannot see anything any more. Now he stops playing, & moves with his finger in the air. His finger leaves a trail of fire of every colour, so that the whole air is become like a web of mingled lights.

But through it all, drops dew. (I can't describe these things at all; dew doesn't represent what I mean in the least. For instance, these drops of dew are enormous globes, shining like the full moon;
only perfectly transparent as well as perfectly luminous.) And now he shows the tablet again, & he says: As there are 49 letters in the tablet, so are there 49 kinds of cosmos in every thought of gGod. And there are 49 interpretations of every cosmos, & each interpretation is manifested in 49 ways.
Thus also are the calls 49, but to each call these are 49 visions. And each vision is composed of 49 elements,

Except in the 10th Aethyr, that is accursed, & that hath 42.

All this while, the dew-drops have turned into cascades of gold, finer than the eyelashes of a little child. And though the extent of the Aethyr is so enormous, one perceives each hair separately, as well as the whole thing at once. And now there is a mighty concourse of angels, rushing toward me from every side, & they melt upon the surface of the egg, in which I am standing, in the form of the god Kneph, so that the surface of the egg is all one dazzling blaze of liquid light. Now I move up against the Tablet. I cannot tell you with what rapture. And all the names of God, that are not known even to the angels, clothe me about.

All the seven senses are transmuted into one sense, & that except in the 10th Æthyr, that is accursèd, & that hath 42.

All this while, the dew-drops have turned into cascades of gold, finer than the eye-lashes of a little child. And though the extent of the Æthyr is so enormous, one perceives each hair separately, as well as the whole thing at once. And now there is a mighty concourse of angels, rushing toward me from every side, & they melt upon the surface of the egg, in which I am standing in the form of the god Kneph, so that the surface of the egg is all one dazzling blaze of liquid light. & now I move up against the Tablet. I cannot tell you with what rapture. And all the names of God, that are not known even to the angels, clothe me about.

All the seven senses are transmuted into one sense, & that sense is finished in itself. ------ [Here follows]

------ Let me speak, O God; let me declare it. ------

------ all I] It is useless; my heart faints, my breath stops. There is no link between me & ~~the Reader~~ Perdurabo. I withdraw myself. I see the table again. [He was behind the table for a very long time. [O.V.]] And all the table burns with intolerable light; there has been no such light in any of the Aethyrs until ever. ~~And~~ now the table draws me back into itself; I am no more.

My arms were out in the form of a Cross, & that Cross was extended, blazing with light, into infinity. I myself am the minutest point in it.

This is the Birth of Form:-

I am encircled by an immense sphere of many-coloured bands; it seems it is the sphere sense is dissolved in itself . [Here ♐ occurs]

Let me speak, O God;
let me declare it.

All $\boxed{♐}$ ♐] It is useless; my heart faints, my breath stops. There is no link between me & ~~the Ruach~~ Perdurabo. I withdraw myself.
I see the table again. [He was behind the table for a very long time. -(O.V.)]
And all the table burns with intolerable light; there has been no such light in any of the Æthyrs until now. And now the Table draws me back into itself; I am no more.

My arms were out in the form of a cross, & that Cross was extended, blazing with light, into infinity. I myself am the minutest point in it.

This is the Birth of Form:-

I am encircled by an immense sphere of many-coloured bands; it seems it is the sphere

the Sephiroth, projected in the three dimensions, this is the birth of Death. Now in the centre within me is a glowing sun: that is the birth of hell. Now all that is swept away, washed by the Table away. It is the virtue of the Table to sweep everything away. It is the letter I in this Aethyr that gives this vision, & L is its purity, & N is its energy. Now everything is confused, for I invoked the mind that is corruption. Every Adept who beholds this vision is corrupted by mind. Yet it is by virtue of mind that he endures it, & passes on, if so be that he pass on. Yet there is nothing higher than this, for it is perfectly balanced in itself. I cannot read a word of the holy Table, for the letters of the Table are all wrong. They are only the shadows of shadows. And whoso beholdeth this Table of the Sephiroth projected in the three dimensions. This is the birth of death. Now in the centre within me is a glowing sun. That is the birth of hell. Now all that is swept away, washed away by the Table ~~away~~. It is the virtue of the Table to sweep everything away. It is the letter I in this Æthyr that gives this vision, & L is its purity, & N is its energy. Now everything is confused, for I invoked the Mind that is disruption. Every Adept who beholds this vision is corrupted by mind. Yet it is by virtue of mind that he endures it, & passes on, if so be that he pass on.

Yet there is nothing higher than this, for it is perfectly balanced in itself. I cannot read a word of the holy Table, for the letters of the Table are all wrong. They are only the shadows of shadows.
And whoso beholdeth this Table with this rapture, is light. The true word for 'light' hath seven letters. They are the same as ARARITA, transmuted.

There is a voice in this Aethyr, but it cannot be spoken. The only way one can represent it is as a ceaseless thundering of the word Amen. It's not a repetition of Amen, because there's no time. It is one Amen, continuous.

Shall mine eye fade before thy glory? I am the eye. That is why the eye is seventy. You can never understand why, except in this vision.

And now the Table recedes from me; far, far it goes, streaming with light. And there are two black angels, bending over me, covering me with their wings, shutting me up into the darkness; & I am lying in the pastos of our Father Christian Rosakreutz, beneath the with this rapture, is light. The true word for light hath seven letters. They are the same as ARARITA, transmuted.

There is a voice in this Æthyr, but it cannot be spoken. The only way one can represent it is as a ceaseless thundering of the word Amen. It's not a repetition of Amen, because there's no time. It is one Amen, continuous.

Shall mine eye fade before thy glory? I am the eye. That is why the eye is seventy. You can never understand why, except in this vision.

And now the Table recedes from me. Far, far it goes, streaming with light. And there are two black angels, bending over me, covering me with their wings; shutting me up into the darkness, & I am lying in the Pastos of our Father Christian Rosenkreutz, beneath the table, in the Vault of Seven Sides. And I hear these words:

The voice of the Crowned Child, the speech of the Babe that is hidden in the Egg of Blue. [Before me is a flaming Rosy Cross.] I have opened mine eye, & the universe is dissolved before me, for force is mine upper eye-lid, & matter is my lower eye-lid. I gaze ~~upon~~ into the Seven Spaces, & there is naught.

The rest of it comes without words.

(and then again) I have gone forth to war, & I have slain him that sat upon the sea, crowned with the winds. I put forth my power, & he was broken. I withdrew my power, & he was ground into fine dust. Rejoice with me, O ye Sons of the Morning; stand with me upon the throne of Lotus; gather yourselves up unto me, & we shall play together in the

Table, in the Vault of Seven Sides. And I hear these words:

The voice of the Crowned Child,
the Speech of the Babe that is hidden in the Egg of Blue. [Before me is the flaming Rosy Cross.] I have opened mine eye, & the universe is dissolved before me, for force is mine upper eye-lid, & matter is my lower eye-lid. I gaze ~~upon~~ into the Seven Space, & there is naught.

The rest of it comes without words.

(and then again) I have gone forth to war,
& I have slain him that sat upon the sea, crowned with the winds. I put forth my power. & he was broken. I withdrew my power, & he was ground into fine dust. Rejoice with me, O ye Sons of the Morning; stand with me upon the Throne of Lotus;
gather yourselves up unto me, &
we shall play together in the fields of light I have passed into the Kingdom of the West after my Father. Behold! where are now the darkness & the terror & the lamentation? For ye are born into the new Aeon; ye shall not suffer death. Bind up your girdles of gold. Wreathe yourselves with garlands of my unfading flowers. In the nights ~~where~~ we will dance together, & in the morning we will go forth to war, for, as my Father liveth that was dead, so do I live, & shall never die.

And now the table comes rushing back; it covers the whole stone, but this time it pushes me before it, & a terrible voice cries: Begone! Thou hast profaned the Mystery; thou hast eaten of the shew-bread; thou hast spilt the consecrated wine! Begone! For the voice is accomplished. Begone! For

Fields of light. I have passed into the Kingdom of the West after my Father. Behold! where are now the darkness & the terror & the lamentation? For ye are born into the new Æon: ye shall not suffer death. Bind up your girdles of gold. Wreathe yourselves with garlands of my unfading flowers. In the nights ~~when~~ we will dance together, & in the morning we will go forth to war, for, as my Father liveth that was dead, so do I live, & shall never die.

And now the Table comes rushing back; it covers the whole stone, but this time it pushes me before it, & a terrible voice cries: Begone! Thou hast profaned the mystery; thou hast eaten of the shew-bread; thou hast spilt the consecrated wine! - Begone! For the Voice is accomplished. Begone! For that which was open is shut. And thou shalt not avail to open it, saving by virtue of him whose name is One, whose spirit is One, & whose individuum is One, & whose permutation is One; & whose light is One, whose life is One, whose love is One. For though thou art joined to the inmost mystery of the heavens, thou must accomplish the sacrifices task of the earth, even [illegible] as thou servest the Angels, from the greatest unto the least. And of all this, shalt thou take back with thee but a little part, for the gate shall be darkened, & the shrine veiled. Yet know this for thy reproof, & for the stirring up of discontent in them whose swords are of lath, that in every word of this vision is concealed the key of many mysteries, even of Being, & of Knowledge.

that which was open is shut.
And thou shalt not avail to open it, saving by virtue of him whose name is one, whose spirit is one, & whose individuum is one, & whose permutation is one;
whose light is one, whose life is one, whose love is one. For though thou art joined to the inmost mystery of the heaven, thou must accomplish the sevenfold task of the earth, even ~~eEven~~ as thou sawest the Angels, from the greatest unto the least. And of all this shalt thou take back with thee but a little part, for the sense shall be darkened, & the shrine reveiled. Yet know this for thy reproof, & for the stirring up of discontent in them whose swords are of lath, that in every word of this vision is concealed the key of many mysteries, even of being, & of knowledge,

& of bliss; of will, of courage, of wisdom, & of silence, and of that which, being all these, is greater than all these. Begone! For the night of life is fallen upon thee. And the veil of light hideth that which is.

With that, I suddenly see the world as it is, & I am very sorrowful. ~~There must be some reason, [—], why you can't stay here. Oh, just he says so; the sense is darkened.~~

Bou-Saada, Dec: 28, 1909.
4(?) - 6, p.m.

[Note:- you don't come back in anyway dazed; it is like going from one room into another. Regained normal consciousness completely & immediately.]

& of bliss; of will, of courage, of wisdom, and of silence, and of that which, being all these, is greater than all these. Begone! For the night of life is fallen upon thee. And the veil of light hideth that which is.

With that, I suddenly see the world as it is, & I am very sorrowful. ~~There must be some reason, [⊥], why you can't stay here. Oh, yes! He says so; the sense is darkened.~~

Bou-Saada. Nov: 28, 1909.
4(?)-6, pm.

[Note: - You don't come back in anyway dazed; it is like going from one room into another. Regained normal consciousness completely & immediately.]

in the evening
Composing myself to sleep (after this Aethyr)

I was shewn a great & fortified city-temple upon a mountain. Rather like a mixture of Abu-Simbel & Lhassa.

in the evening
Composing myself to sleep (after this Aethyr)

I was shewn a great fortified entry-temple upon a mountain rather like a mixture of Abu-Simmel & Lhassa.

The Cry of the 21st Aethyr, which is called ASP.

Amazingly quiet still through all the Aethyr; there is a sense of absolute emptiness; no colour, no form, no substance. Only here & there there seem as it were the shadows of great angels, swept along. No sound. There's something very remorseless about the wind; passion-less, that is very terrible. In a way, it's nerve-shaking. It seems as if something kept on trying to open behind the wind, & just as it's about to open, the effort's exhausted. The wind is not cold or hot. There's no sense of any kind connected with it. One does not even feel it, for one is standing in front of it. Now, the thing opens behind, just for a second, & I catch a glimpse of an avenue of pillars, & at the end a throne, supported by sphinxes. All this is black marble. Now I seem to have

The Cry of the 21st Æthyr, which is called ASP.

A mighty wind rolls through all the Æthyr; there is a sense of absolute emptiness; no colour, no form, no substance. Only now & then there seem as it were the shadows of great angels, swept along. No sound. There's something very remorseless about the wind, passion--less, that is very terrible. In a way, it's nerve-shaking. It seems as if something kept on trying to open behind the wind, & just as it is about to open, the effort's exhausted. The wind is not cold or hot; there's no sense of any kind connected with it. One does not even feel it, for one is standing in front of it. Now, the thing opens behind, just for a second, & I catch a glimpse of an avenue of pillars, & at the end a throne, supported by sphinxes. All this is black marble. Now I seem to have gone through the void, & to be standing before the throne; but he that sitteth thereon is invisible. Yet it is from him that all this desolation proceeds. He is trying to make me understand by putting tastes in my mouth, very rapidly one after the other. Salt, honey, sugar, assafoetida, bitumen, honey again, some taste that I don't know at all; garlic, something very bitter, like nux vomica, another taste, still more bitter; lemon, cloves, rose-leaves, honey again, the juice of some plant, like a dandelion, I think; honey again, salt, a taste something like phosphorus, honey, laurel, a very unpleasant taste, which I don't know, coffee, then a burning taste, then a sour taste, that I don't know. All these tastes issue from his eyes; he ~~kind of~~ signals them. I can see his eyes now. They are very round, perfectly black pupils, perfectly white iris, & the gone through the wind, & to be standing before the throne; but he that sitteth thereon is invisible. Yet it is from him that all this desolation proceeds. He is trying to make me understand by putting tastes in my mouth, very rapidly one after the other. Salt, honey, sugar, assafoetida, bitumen, honey again, some taste that I don't know at all; garlic, something very bitter, like nux vomica, another taste, still more bitter; lemon, cloves, rose-leaves, honey again; the juice of some plant, like a dandelion, I think; honey again, salt, a taste something like phosphorus, honey, laurel, a very unpleasant taste which I don't know, coffee, then a burning taste, then a sour taste that I don't know. All these tastes issue from his eyes; he ~~kind of~~ signals them. I can see his eyes now. They are very round, perfectly black pupils, perfectly white iris, & the cornea pale blue. The sense of desolation is so acute that I keep on trying to get away from the vision. I told him that I could not understand his taste-language, so instead he set up a humming very much like a big electric plant, with dynamos going. Now the atmosphere is deep night-blue, & by the power of that atmosphere, the pillars kindle to a dull glowing crimson, & the throne is a dull, ruddy gold. And now, through the humming come very clear bell-like notes, & farther still a muttering, like that of a gathering storm. And now I hear the meaning of the muttering: I am he who was before the beginning, & in my desolation I cried aloud, saying, 'Let me behold my countenance in the concave of the abyss,' and I beheld, & lo! in the darkness of the abyss my countenance was black, & empty, & distorted;

cornea pale blue. The sense of desolation is so acute that I keep on trying to get away from the vision. I told him that I could not understand his taste-language, so instead he set up a humming very much like a big electric plant, with dynamos going.
Now the atmosphere is deep night-blue~~.~~,
& by the power of that atmosphere,
the pillars kindle to a dull glowing crimson, & the throne is a dull, ruddy gold. And now, through the humming, come very clear bell-like notes, & farther still a muttering, like that of a gathering storm. And now I hear the meaning of the muttering: I am ~~Lor~~ he who was before the beginning, & in my desolation I cried aloud, saying, let me behold my countenance in the concave of the abyss, and I beheld, & lo! in the ~~d~~Darkness of the abyss my countenance was black, & empty, & distorted;

that was ~~invisible~~ (once) invisible, & free. Then I closed mine eye, that I might not behold it, & for this was it fixed. Now it is written, that one glance of my mine eye shall destroy it. And mine eye I dare not open, because of ~~the~~ the foulness of the vision. Therefore do I gaze with these two eyes throughout the aeon. Is there not one of all my adepts that shall come unto me, & cut off mine eye-lids, that I may behold & destroy? Now I take a dagger, &, searching out his third eye, seek to cut off the eye-lids, but they are of adamant. And the edge of the dagger is turned. And tears drop from his eyes, & there is a mournful voice: So it hath been ever; so must it ever be! Though thou hast the strength of five bulls, thou shalt not avail in this. And I said to him: Who shall avail?[4] And he answered me: I know not.

that was (once) ~~invisible~~ invisible, & pure. Then I closed mine eye, that I might not behold it, & for this was it fixed. Now it is written, that one glance of mine eye shall destroy it. And mine eye I dare not open, because of the foulness of the vision. Therefore do I gaze with these two eyes throughout the æon. Is there not one of all my adepts that shall come unto me, & cut off mine eye-lids, that I may behold & destroy? Now I take a dagger, & searching out his third eye, seek to cut off the eye-lids, but they are of adamant. And the edge of the dagger is turned. And tears drop from his eyes, & there is a mournful voice; So it hath been ever; so must it ever be! Though thou hast the strength of five bulls, thou shalt not avail in this. And I said to him: Who shall avail? And he answered me: I know not.

But the dagger of penance thou shalt sharpen seven times, afflicting the seven courses ~~[illegible]~~ of thy Soul. And thou shalt sharpen its edge seven times by the seven ordeals.

[One keeps on looking round to try & find something else, because of the terror of it. But nothing changes at all. Nothing but the empty throne, & the eye, & the avenue of pillars.] And I said to him: O thou that art the first countenance before time; thou of whom it is written that ~~the~~ God, is one, he is the eternal one, without equal, son, or companion. Nothing shall stand before his face. All we have heard of thine infinite glory & holiness, of thy beauty & majesty, & behold! there is nothing but this abomination of desolation. He speaks; I cannot hear a word; something about the Book of the Law. The answer is written in the Book of

But the dagger of penance thou shalt temper seven times, afflicting the seven courses ~~of thy~~ of thy soul. And thou shalt sharpen its edge seven times by the seven ordeals.

[One keeps on looking round to try to find something else because of the terror of it. But nothing changes at all. Nothing but the empty throne, & the eyes, & the avenue of pillars!] And I said to him: O thou that art the first countenance before time; thou of whom it is written that ~~h~~He, God, is one, he is the eternal one,
without equal, son, ~~&~~or companion.
Nothing shall stand before his face. All we have heard of thine infinite glory & holiness, of thy beauty & majesty, & behold! There is nothing but this abomination of desolation.
He speaks; I cannot hear a word;
something about the Book of the Law.
The answer is written in the Book of the law, or something of that sort.

This is a long speech; all I can hear is: From me pour down ~~[illegible]~~ the forces of life & sickness continually upon the earth. From me flow down
the rivers of water & oil & wine.
From me cometh forth the wind that beareth the seed of trees, flowers &
fruits & all herbs upon its bosom.
From me cometh forth the earth in her unspeakable variety. Yea! All
cometh from me; naught cometh to me.
Therefore am I lonely & horrible upon ~~upon~~ this ~~bottomless~~ unprofitable throne. Only those who accept nothing from me can bring anything to me. He goes on speaking again; I can't hear a word. I must have got about a twentieth of what he said. And I say to him: It ~~was~~ was written that his name is silence. But thou speakest continually.
And he answers: Nay. The written says that thou hearest is not my voice. It is the voice of the ape. When I say that the Law, or something of that sort.

This is a long speech; all that I can hear is: From me pour down ~~down~~ the fires of life & increase continually
upon the earth. From me flow down
the rivers of water & oil & wine.
From me cometh forth the wind that
beareth the seed of trees & flowers &
fruits & all herbs upon its bosom.
From me cometh forth the earth in her unspeakable variety. Yea! All
cometh from me, naught cometh to me.
Therefore am I lonely & horrible upon ~~upon~~ this ~~brothers~~ unprofitable throne. Only those who accept nothing from me can bring anything
to me. He goes on speaking again; I can't hear a word. I must have got about a twentieth of what he said. And I say to him: It ~~now~~ was written that his name is Silence. But thou speakest continually.
And he answers: Nay. The muttering
that thou hearest is not my voice. It is the voice of the ape. When I say that he answers, it means that it is the same voice. The being on the throne has not uttered a word. ~~&~~ I say: O ~~that~~ thou one that speakest for him whose name is silence, how shall I know that thou speakest truly his thought? & the muttering continues; Nor speaketh he, nor thinketh. ~~So~~ that which I say is true, because I lie, speaking his thoughts. ~~The~~

He goes on, nothing stops him ~~at all~~, muttering so fast & that I cannot hear him at all.

Now the muttering has ceased, or is overwhelmed by the bells, & the bells in their turn are overwhelmed by the whirring, & now the whirring is overwhelmed by the silence. & the blue light is gone, & the throne & the pillars are returned to blackness, & the eyes of him that sitteth upon the throne are no more visible.

I seek to go up close

he answers, it means that it is the same voice. The being on the throne hasn't uttered a word. ~~& so~~ I say: O ~~that~~ thou ape that speakest for him whose name is silence, how shall I know that thou speakest truly his thought? & the muttering continues;
Nor speaketh he nor thinketh. So ~~&~~ that which I say is true, because I lie, in speaking his thoughts.
        He goes on, nothing
stops him ~~at all~~, muttering so fast that I cannot hear him at all.
        Now the muttering has ceased, or is overwhelmed by the bells, & the bells in their turn are overwhelmed by the whirring, & now the whirring is overwhelmed by the silence. & the blue light is gone, & the throne & the pillars are returned to blackness, & the eyes of him that sitteth upon the throne are no more visible.
        I seek to go up close to the throne, & I am pushed back, because I cannot give the sign. I have given all the signs I know, & am entitled to, & I have tried to give the sign that I know, & am not entitled to, but have not the necessary appurtenance, & even if I had, it would be useless, for there are two more signs necessary.

I find that I was wrong in suggesting that a Master of the Temple had a right to enter the temples of a Magus or an Ipsissimus. On the contrary, the rule that holds below, holds also above. The higher you go, the greater is the distance from one grade to another. & I am being slowly pushed backwards, down the avenue, out into the wind. & this time I am caught up by the wind, & whirled away down it like a dead leaf. And a great Angel sweeps through the wind, & to the throne, & I am pushed back, because I cannot give the sign.

I have given all the signs I know & am entitled to, & I have tried to give the sign that I know, & am not entitled to, but have not the necessary appurtenance; & even if I had, it would be useless; for there are two more signs necessary.

I find that I was wrong in suggesting that a Master of the Temple had a right to enter the temple of a Magus or an Ipsissimus. On the contrary, the rule that holds below, holds also above. The higher you go, the greater is the distance from one grade to another. & I am being slowly pushed backwards down the avenue, out into the wind.
& this time I am caught up by the wind, & whirled away down it like a dead leaf. And a great Angel sweeps through the wind, & catches hold of me, & bears me up against it. So he sets me down on the hither side of the wind, & he whispers in my ear: Go thou forth into the world, O thrice & four times blessed, who hast gazed upon the horror of the loneliness of The first. No man shall look upon his face & live. And thou hast seen his eyes, & understood his heart, for the voice of the ape is the pulse of his heart, & the labouring of his breast. Go, therefore, & rejoice, for thou art the prophet of the aeon arising, wherein He is not. Give thou praise unto thy God, ~~Nuit~~ Nuit, & unto her Lord Hadit, that are one for thee & thy bride, & the winners of the ordeal x.

And with that, we are come to the wall of the Abyss, & there is a little narrow gate, & he pushes me through it, & I am suddenly in the desert.

The desert, near *Bou-Saada. Nov: 29, 1909:
1.30 – 2.50, p.m.!!

catches hold of me, & bears me up against it. & he sets me down on the hither side of the wind, & he whispers in my ear: Go thou forth into the world, O thrice & four times blessed who hast gazed upon the horror of the loneliness of ~~t~~The ~~f~~First.
No man shall look upon his face &
live. And thou hast seen his eyes, & understood his heart, for the voice of the ape is the pulse of his heart, & the labouring of his breast. Go, therefore, & rejoice, for thou art the prophet of the Æon arising, wherein ~~h~~He is not.
Give thou praise unto thy lady ~~Nuite,~~ Nuit, & unto her lord Hadit, that are for thee & thy bride, & the winners of the ordeal X.
And with that, we are come to the wall of the Æthyr, & there is a little narrow gate, & he pushes me through it, & I am suddenly in the desert.

The desert, near *Bou-Saada. Nov: 29, 1909.
1.30-2.50 p.m. .

*

This night I took the Shew-stone to my breast to sleep, and immediately a Dhyana arose of the Sun, seen more clearly afterward as the Star. Exceeding was its brilliance.

*

This night I took the shew-stone to my breast to sleep, and immediately a Dhyana arose of the Sun, seen more clearly afterward as the Star.   Exceeding was its brilliance

And then the w stone, filling the
the vision called the
or rather like a repr vision. And now there Articulate angels filling peacock scribbles. And angels are arch-angel
And these cause all
one, so that there
confusion of images.
that all these things wheel, for they all its a wheel that velocity. It had

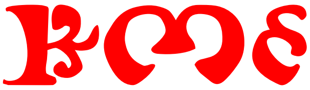
The Cry of the 28th Aethyr, which is called KHR.

The dew that was upon the face of the stone is gone, & it is become like a pool of clear golden water. And now the light is come into the Rosy Cross. Yet all that I see is the night, with the stars therein, as they appear through a telescope. And there cometh a peacock into the stone, filling the whole Aire. It is like the vision called the Universal Peacock, or rather like a representation of that vision. And now there are countless clouds of white angels filling the Aire as the peacock dissolves. And now behind the angels are arch-angels with trumpets. And these cause all things to appear at once, so that there is a tremendous confusion of images. And now I perceive that all these things are but veils of the Wheel, for they all gather themselves into a wheel that spins with incredible velocity. It hath many colours, but all



The Cry of the 20th Æthyr, which is called KHR.

The dew that was upon the face of the stone is gone, & it is become like a pool of clear golden water. And now the light is come into the Rosy Cross. Yet all that I see is the night, with the stars therein, as they appear through a telescope. And there cometh a peacock into the stone, filling the whole Aire. It is like the vision called the Universal Peacock, or rather like a representation of that vision. And now there are countless clouds of white angels filling the Aire as the peacock dissolves. And now behind the angels are arch-angels with trumpets. And these cause all things to appear at once, so that there is a tremendous confusion of images. And now I perceive that all these things are but veils of the wheel, for they all gather themselves into a wheel that spins with incredible velocity. It hath many colours, but all thrilled with white light, so that they are transparent & luminous. This one wheel is forty-nine wheels, set at different angles, so that they compose a sphere; each wheel has forty-nine spokes, & has forty-nine concentric tyres, at equal distances from the centre. And wherever the rays from any two wheels meet, there is a blinding flash of glory. It must be understood that though so much detail is visible in the wheel, yet at the same time the impression is of a single, simple object.

N.B. - ~~And~~ It seems that this wheel is being spun by a hand. And though the wheel fills the whole Aire, yet the hand is much bigger than the wheel. And though this vision is so great and splendid, yet there is no seriousness with it, or solemnity. It seems that the hand is spinning the wheel merely for pleasure, - it would be better to say, amusement. A voice comes: For he is a jocund, and a ruddy god, & his laughter is the vibration of all that exists, and the earthquakes of thrilled with white light, so that they are transparent & luminous. This one wheel is forty-nine wheels, set at different angles, so that they compose a sphere;

each wheel has forty-nine spokes, & has forty-nine concentric tyres at equal distances from the centre. And wherever the rays from any two wheels meet, there is a blinding flash of glory. It must be understood that though so much detail is visible in the wheel, yet at the same time the impression is of a single, simple object.
And it seems that this wheel is being spun by a hand. And though the wheel fills the whole Aire, yet the hand is much bigger than the ~~W~~wheel. And though this vision is so great and splendid, yet there is no seriousness with it, or solemnity.
It seems that the hand is spinning the wheel merely for pleasure, it would be better to say amusement. A voice comes: For he is a jocund and a ruddy god, & his laughter is the vibration of all that exists, and the earthquakes of the Soul.. One is conscious of the whirring of the wheel thrilling one, like ~~little~~ an electric discharge passing through one.

Now I see the figures on the wheel, which have been interpreted as the sworded Sphinx, Hermanubis & Typhon. And that is wrong. The rim of the wheel is a vivid emerald snake; in the centre of the wheel is a scarlet heart, &, impossible to explain as it is, the scarlet of the heart & the green of the snake are yet more vivid than the blinding white brilliance of the wheel.

The figures on the wheel are darker than the wheel itself; in fact, they are stains upon the purity of the wheel, & for that reason, & because of the whirling of the wheel, I cannot see them. But at the top seems to be the Lamb & Flag, such as one sees on some Christian medals, & one of the lower things is a wolf, & the other a raven. The Lamb & Flag symbol is much the soul. One is conscious of the whirring of the wheel thrilling one, like ~~little~~ an electric discharge passing through one.

Now I see the figures on the wheel, which have been interpreted as the sworded Sphinx, Hermanubis & Typhon. And that is wrong. The rim of the wheel is a vivid emerald snake; in the centre of the wheel is a scarlet heart, &, impossible to explain as it is, the scarlet of the heart & the green of the snake are yet more vivid than the blinding white brilliance of the wheel.

The figures on the wheel are darker than the wheel itself; in fact, they are stains upon the purity of the wheel, & for that reason, & because of the whirling of the wheel, I cannot see them. But at the top seems to be the Lamb & Flag, such as one sees on some Christian medals, & one of the lower things is a wolf, and the other a raven. The Lamb & Flag symbol is much brighter than the other two. It keeps on growing brighter, until now it is brighter than the wheel itself, & occupies more space than it did. ~~And~~ It speaks: I am the greatest of the deceivers, for my purity and innocence shall seduce the pure and innocent, who but for me should come to the centre of the wheel. The wolf betrayeth only the greedy & the treacherous; the raven betrayeth only the melancholy & the dishonest. But I am he of whom it is written: He shall deceive the very elect. For in the beginning the Father of all called forth grey spirits that they might sift the creatures of the earth in themselves, according to the three impure souls. And he chose the wolf for the lust of the flesh, & the raven for the lust of the mind, but me did he choose above all to simulate the pure prompting of the soul. Those that are fallen a prey to the wolf & the raven I have brighter than the other two. It keeps on growing brighter, until now it is brighter than the wheel itself, & occupies more space than it did.

And it speaks: I am the greatest of the deceivers, for my purity and innocence shall seduce the pure and innocent, who but for me should come to the centre of the wheel. The wolf betrayeth only the greedy & the treacherous;
the raven betrayeth only the melancholy & the dishonest. But I am he of whom it is written: He shall deceive the very elect. For in the beginning the Father of all called forth lying spirits that they might sift the creatures of the earth in three sieves, according to the three impure souls.
And he chose the wolf for the lust of the flesh, & the raven for the lust of the mind; but me did he choose above all to simulate the pure prompting of the soul. Them that are fallen a prey to the wolf & the raven I have not scattered, but them that have rejected me, I have given over to the wrath of the raven & the wolf. And the jaws of the one have torn them, & the beak of the other has devoured the corpse. Therefore is my flag white, because I have left nothing upon the earth alive. I have feasted myself on the blood of the saints, but I am not suspected of men to be their enemy, for my fleece is white, & warm, & my teeth are not the teeth of one that teareth flesh, & mine eyes are mild, & they know me not the chief of the lying spirits that the Father of all sent forth from before his face in the beginning. (His attribution is salt; the wolf mercury, & the raven sulphur.) Now the lamb grows small again. There is again nothing but the wheel, & the hand that whirleth it. And I said: "By the word of power, double in the voice of the Master; by the word that is seven, & one in seven, & by the not scathed; but them that have rejected me, I have given over to the wrath of the raven & the wolf. And the jaws of the one have torn them, & the beak of the other has devoured the corpse. Therefore is my flag white, because I have left nothing upon the earth alive. I have feasted myself on the blood of the saints, but I am not suspected of men to be their enemy, for my fleece is white & warm, & my teeth are not the teeth of one that teareth flesh; & mine eyes are mild, & they know me not the chief of the lying spirits that the Father of all sent forth from before his face in the beginning. [His attribution is salt; the wolf mercury, & the raven sulphur.] Now the lamb grows small again, there is again nothing but the wheel, & the hand that whirleth it. And I said: "By the word of power, double in the voice of the Master; by the word that is seven, & one in seven, & by the great & terrible word 210, I beseech thee, O my Lord, to grant me the vision of thy glory." And all the rays of the wheel stream out at me, & I am blasted & blinded with the light. I am caught up into the wheel. I am one with the wheel. I am greater than the wheel. In the midst of a myriad lightnings I stand, & I behold his face. I am thrown violently back onto the earth every second, so that I can't quite ~~just~~ concentrate.

All one gets is a light flame of pale gold. But its radiant force keeps hurling me back. And I say: By the word & the Will; by the penance & the prayer, let me behold thy face. I can't explain this; this's confusion of personalities. I who speak to you, see what I tell you, but I who see him, cannot communicate it to me, who speak to you.

great and terrible word 210, I beseech thee, O my Lord, to grant me the vision of thy glory.” And all the rays of the wheel stream out at me, & I am blasted & blinded with the light. I am caught up into the wheel. I am one with the wheel.
I am greater than the wheel. In the midst of a myriad lightnings I stand, & I behold his face. I am thrown violently back on to the earth every second, so that I can't ~~just~~ quite concentrate.

All one gets is a liquid flame of pale gold. But its radiant force keeps hurling me back. And I say: By the word & the will, by the penance & the prayer, let me behold thy face. I can't explain this, there's confusion of personalities. I who speak to you, see what I tell you, but I who see him, cannot communicate it to me, who speak to you.

If one could gaze upon the sun at noon, that might be like the substance of him. But the light is without heat. It is the vision of Ut in the Upanishads. And from this vision have come all the legends of Balder and Krishna and Adonis. For the impression is of a youth, dancing & making music. But you must understand that he is not doing that, for he is still. Even the hand that turns the wheel is not his hand, but only a hand projected by him. And now it is the dance of Shiva. I lie beneath his feet, his saint, his victim. ~~And~~ my form is the form of the God Phtah, in my essence, but the form of the god Seb is my form. And this is the reason of existence, that ~~which~~ in this dance which is delight there must needs be both the god and the adept. Also the earth herself is a saint, & the sun & the moon

If one could gaze upon the sun at noon, that might be like the substance of him. But the light is without heat. It is the vision of Ut in the Upanishads. And from this vision have come all the legends of Bacchus and Krishna and Adonis. For the impression is of a youth, dancing & making music. But you must under-stand that he is not doing that, for he is still. Even the hand that turns the wheel is not his hand,
but only a hand energized by him.
And now it is the dance of Shiva.
I lie beneath his feet, his saint, his victim. ~~And m~~My form is the form of the God Phtah, in my essence, but the form of the god Seb in my form. And this is the reason of existence, that ~~which~~ in this dance which is delight there must needs be both the god and the Adept. Also the earth herself is a saint, & the sun & the moon dance upon her, torturing her with delight. This vision is not perfect. I am only in the outer court of the vision, because I have undertaken it in the service of the Holy One, & must retain sense & speech. No recorded vision is perfect, of high visions, for the seer must keep either his physical organs in working order, or his memory. And neither is capable. There is no bridge. One can only be conscious of one thing at a time, & as the consciousness moves nearer to the vision, it loses control of the physical & mental. Even so, the body & the mind must be very perfect before anything can be done, or the energy of the vision may send the body into spasms, & the mind into insanity. This is why the first visions give ananda, which is a shock. When the Adept is attuned to Samadhi, there is but cloudless peace.

dance upon her, torturing her with delight. This vision is not perfect.
I am only in the outer court of the vision, because I have undertaken it in the service of the Holy One, & must retain sense & speech.
No recorded vision is perfect, of high visions, for the seer must keep either his physical organs in working order, or his memory. ~~&~~ And neither is capable. There is no bridge. One can only be conscious of one thing at a time, & as the consciousness moves nearer to the vision, it loses control of the physical & mental.
Even so, the body & the mind must be very perfect before any thing can be done, or the energy of the vision may send the body into spasms, & the mind into insanity. This is why the first visions give ananda, which is a shock. When the Adept is attuned to Samadhi, there is but cloudless peace.

This vision is particularly difficult to get into, because He is I. And therefore the human ego is being constantly excited, so that one comes back so often. An acentric meditation-practice like mahasattipatthana ought to be done before invocation of the Holy Guardian Angel, so that the ego may be very ready to yield itself utterly to the Beloved.

And now the breeze is blowing about us, like the sighs of love unsatisfied — or satisfied. His lips move. I cannot say the words at first. And afterwards, "Shalt thou not bring the children of men to the sight of my glory? "Only by silence & thy speech that worship me avail." "For as I am the last, so am I the next, & as the next ~~wilt~~ shalt thou reveal me to the multitude." "Fear not for aught; turn not ~~aside~~ aside for aught, This vision is particularly difficult to get into, because He is I. And herefore the human ego is being constantly excited, so that one comes back so often. An acentric meditation-practice like mahasatipatthana ought to be done before invocations of the Holy Guardian Angel, so that the ego may be very ready to yield itself utterly to the ~~b~~Beloved.

And now the breeze is blowing about us, like the sighs of love unsatisfied - or satisfied. His lips move. I cannot say the words at first. And afterwords, "Shalt thou not bring the children of men to the sight of my glory? "Only thy silence & thy speech that worship me avail." "For as I am the last, so am I the next, & as the next ~~wilt~~ shalt thou reveal me to the multitude.' Fear not for aught; turn not ~~aside~~ aside for aught~~,~~

eremite of Nuit, apostle of Hadit, warrior of Ra Hoor Khu. The leaven taketh, & the bread shall be sweet; the ferment worketh, & the wine shall be sweet. My sacraments are vigorous food and divine madness. Come unto me, O ye children of men; come unto me, in whom I am, in whom ye are, ~~for ye~~ were ye only alive with the life that abideth in Light."

All this time I have been fading away. I sink. The veil of night comes down, a pall blue grey, with one pentagram in the midst of it, watery & pale. And I ~~was~~ am to abide there for a while before I come back to the earth. [But shut me the window up; hide me from the Sun. Oh, shut the window.*]

Now the pentagram is faded; ~~Black,~~ black crosses fill the Aethyr, eremite of Nuit, apostle of Hadit, warrior of Ra Hoor Khu. The leaven taketh, & the bread shall be sweet; the ferment worketh, & the wine shall be sweet. My sacraments are vigorous food and divine madness. Come unto me, O ye children of men; come unto me, in whom I am, in whom ye are, ~~for ye~~ were ye only alive with the life that abideth in Light."

---

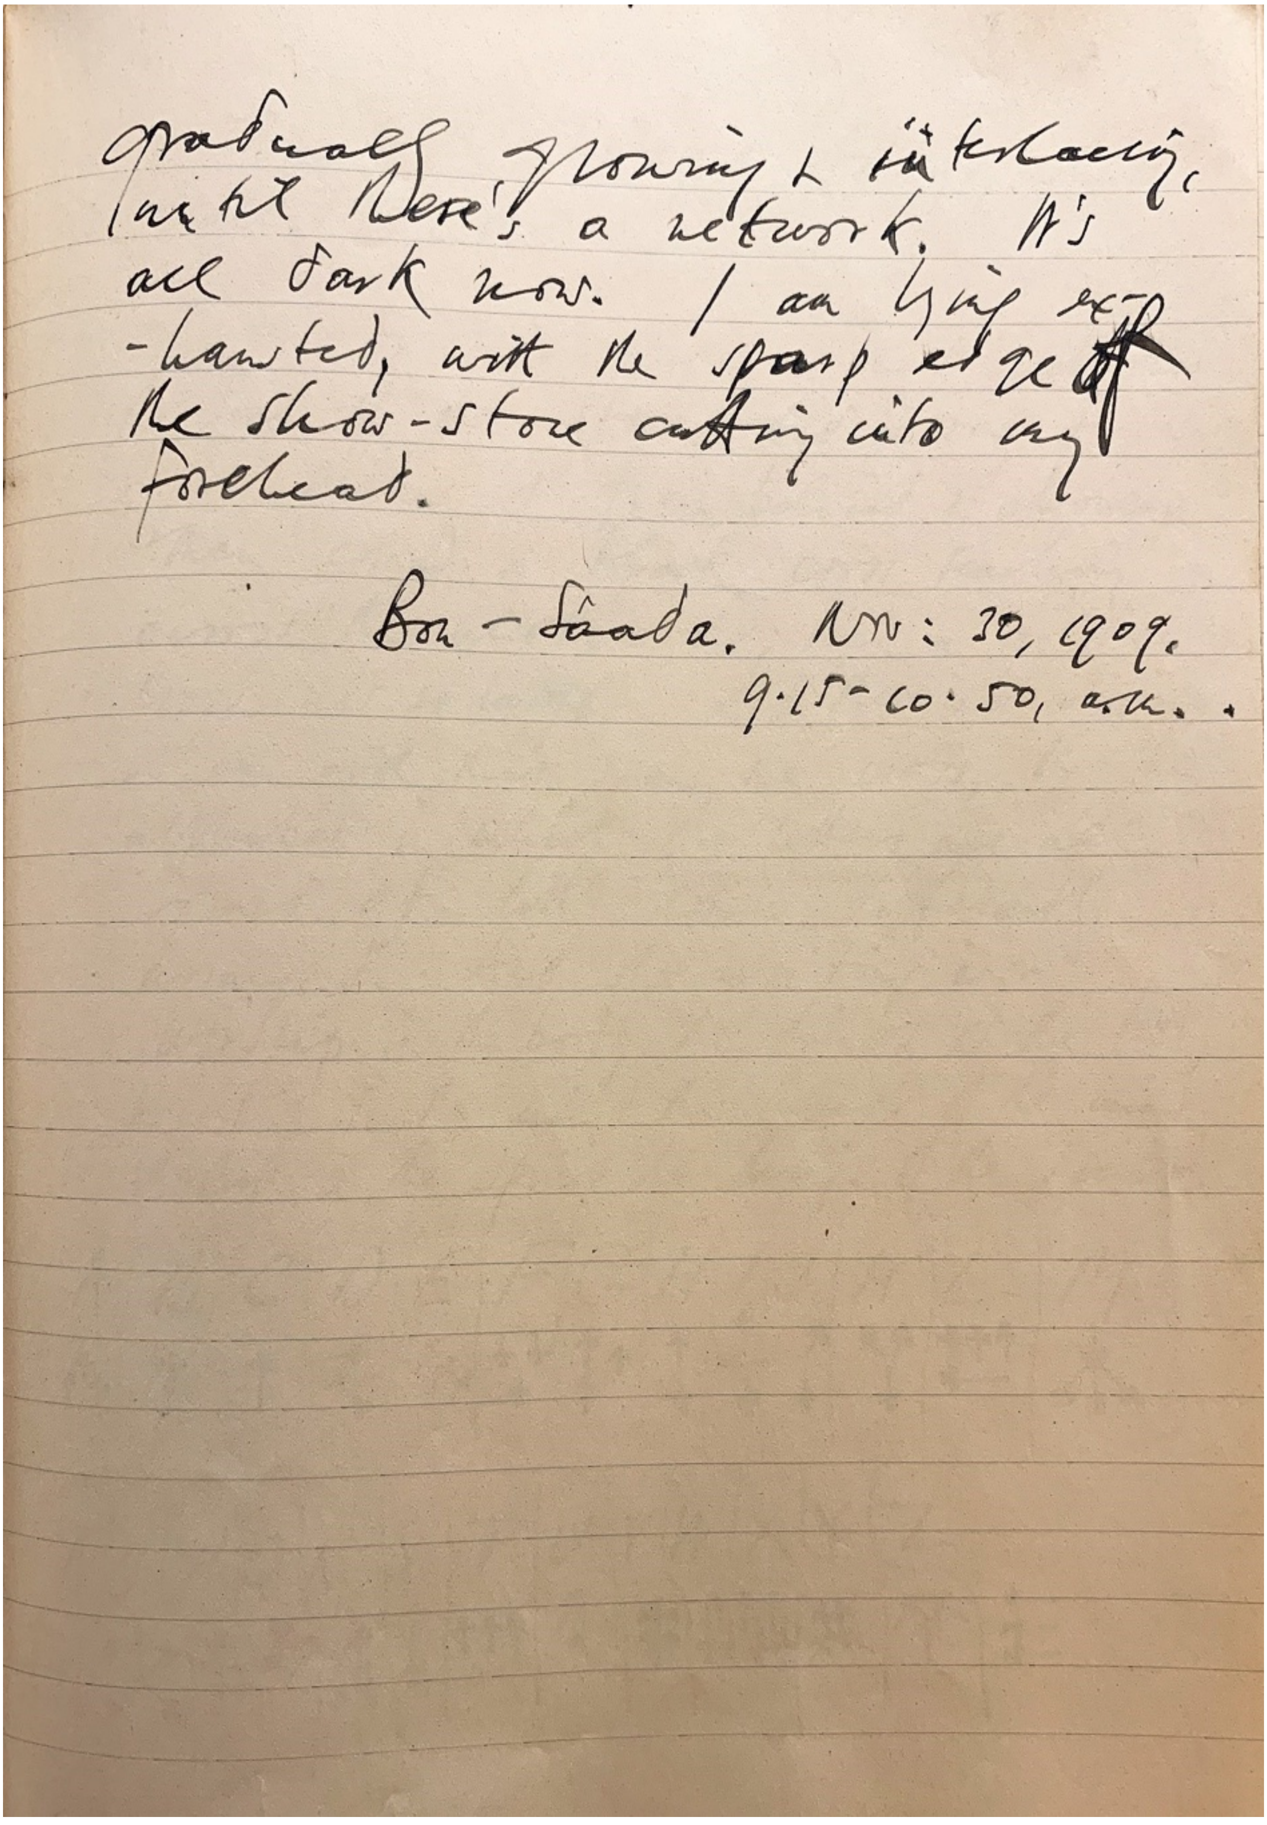
*It was done.

All this time I have been fading away. I sink. The veil of night comes down, a dull blue grey, with one pentagram in the midst of it, watery & dull. And I ~~was~~ am to abide there for a while before I come back to the earth. [But shut me the window up; hide me from the sun. Oh, shut the window.*]

Now, the pentagram is faded; ~~black,~~ black crosses fill the Æthyr,

---

* It was done.



gradually glowing & interlacing, until there's a network. It's all dark now. I am lying exhausted, with the sharp edge of the shew-stone cutting into my forehead.

Bou-Saada. Nov: 30, 1909.
9.15-10.50, a.m.

gradually growing & interlacing, until there's a network. It's all dark now. I am lying exhausted, with the sharp edge ~~&~~ of the shew-stone cutting into my forehead.

Bou-Sâada. Nov: 30, 1909.
9.15-10.50 a.m. .

~~Vi Veni Vni V [illegible] V [illegible] V V S Via~~

~~2 4 9 = 4 = 24~~

Via Vita
Veritas
Virtus
Victoria

Besides the ⛤ = ✡ symbolism

Via	3
Vita	4
Veritas	7
Victoria	8
Virtus	6
	28

& 28 = 1+2+4+7+14

the perfect Number after 6. & it is 0+1+2+3+4+5+6+7

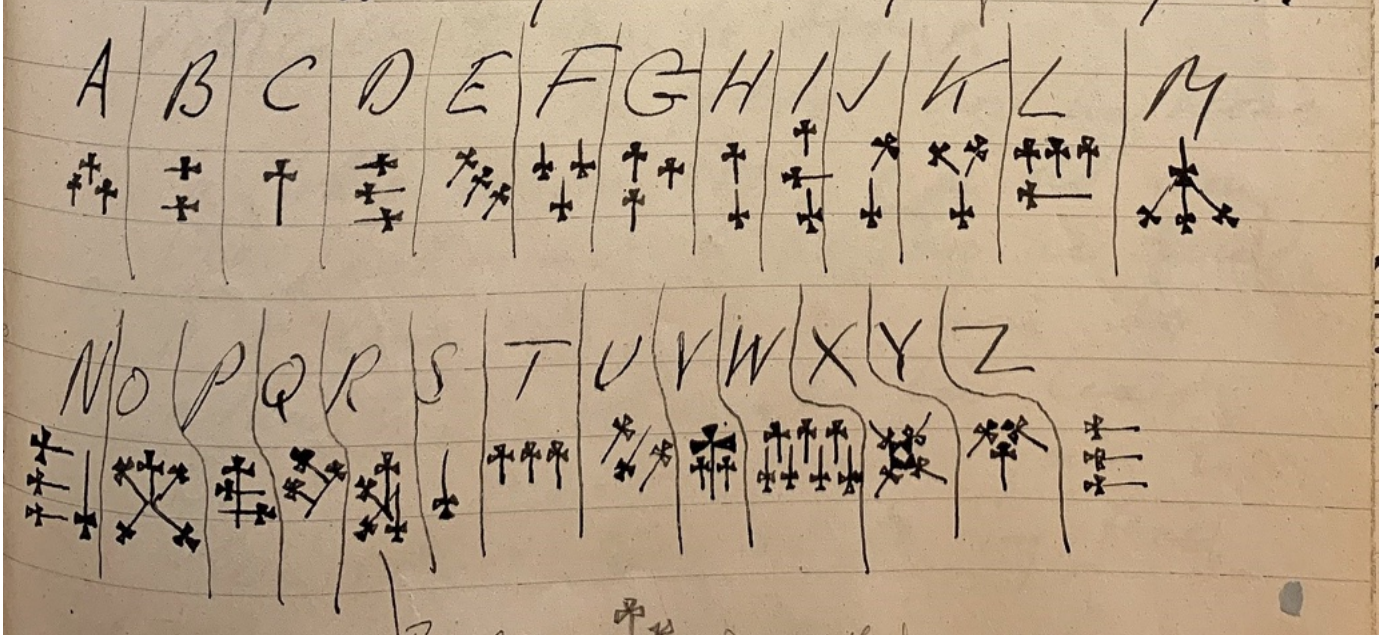
Sum of 1st 8 numbers

∴ = ח = 418

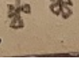
The Cry of the 19th Aethyr, which is called POP.

At first there is a black veil over the face of the stone. And a ray of light pierces it from behind & above. Then cometh a black cross, reaching across the whole stone; then a golden cross, not so large. And there is a writing in an arch that spans the cross, in an alphabet in which the letters are all formed of little ~~crosses~~ daggers, cross-fitchés, differently arranged. And the writing is:

Worship in the body the things of the body;
worship in the mind the things of the mind;
worship in the spirit the things of the spirit.



This letter should be reversed.



= R correctly drawn

The Cry of the 19th Æthyr, which is called POP.

At first there is a black web over the face of the stone. ~~And a~~A ray of light pierces it from behind & above.
Then comesth a black cross, reaching across the whole stone; then a golden cross, not so large. And there is a writing in an arch that spans the cross, in an alphabet in which the letters are all formed of little ~~crosses~~ daggers, cross-hilted, differently arranged. And the writing is:-
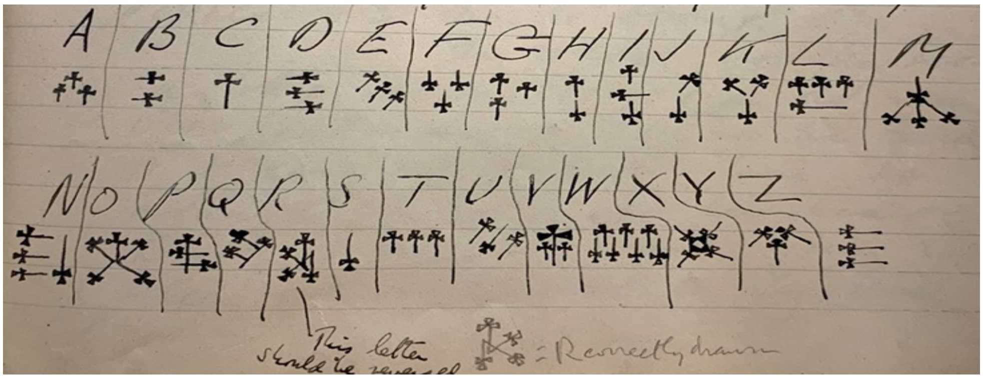
Worship in the body the things of the body;
worship in the mind the things of the mind;
worship in the spirit the things of the spirit.



A
B
C
D
E
F
G
H
I
J
K
L
M
N
O
P
Q
R
S
T
U
V
W
X
Y
Z
This letter should be reversed
= Correctly drawn

(This holy alphabet must be written by sinners, that is, by those who are impure.) ~~Impure~~

('Impure' means those whose every thought is followed by another thought, or who confuse the higher with the lower; the substance with the shadow. Every Aethyr is truth, though it be but a shadow, for the shadow of a man is not the shadow of an ape.

Note:— (All this has come to me without voice, without vision, without thought.)

The show-stone is pressed upon my forehead, & causes intense pain; as I go on from Aethyr to Aethyr, it seems more difficult to open the Aethyr.

The golden cross has become a little narrow door, & an old man like the Hermit of the Taro has opened it & come out. I ask him for admission, & he shakes his head kindly, & says: It is not given to flesh & blood to unveil the mysteries

(This holy alphabet must be written by sinners, that is, by those who are impure.) ~~Impure~~

'Impure' means those whose every thought is followed by another thought, or who confuse the higher with the lower, the substance with the shadow. Every Æthyr is truth, though it be but a shadow, for the shadow of a man is not the shadow of an ape.

(Note:- All this has come to me without voice, without vision, without thought.)

The shew-stone is pressed upon my forehead & causes intense pain; as I go on from Æthyr to Æthyr, it seems more difficult to open the Æthyr.

The golden cross has become a little narrow door, & an old man like the Hermit of the Taro has opened it & come out. I ask him for admission: & he shakes his head kindly, & says: It is not given to flesh & blood to unveil the mysteries of the Aethyr, for herein are the chariots of fire, & the tumult of the horsemen, whoso entereth here may never look on life again with equal eyes. I insist. The little gate is guarded by a great green dragon, & now the whole wall is suddenly fallen away; there is a blaze of the chariots & the horsemen; a furious battle is raging. One hears nothing but the clash of steel, & the neighing of the chargers, & the shrieks of the wounded. A thousand fall at every encounter, & are trampled underfoot. For the Aethyr is always full; there are infinite reserves. ~~So~~

So; that is all wrong, for this is not a battle between two forces, but a mêlée in which each warrior fights for himself against all the others. I cannot see one who has even one ally. And the least fortunate, who fall soonest, are those in the chariots. For as soon as they are engaged in fighting, their own

of the Æthyr, for therein are the chariots of fire, & the tumult of the horsemen, whoso entereth here may never look on life again with equal eyes. I insist.
The little gate is guarded by a great green dragon, & now the whole wall is suddenly fallen away; there is a blaze of the chariots & the horsemen;
a furious battle is raging. One hears nothing but the clash of steel, & the neighing of the chargers, & the shrieks of the wounded. A thousand fall at every encounter, & are trampled under foot. Yet the Æthyr is always full; there are infinite reserves. ~~No~~

No; that is all wrong,
for this is not a battle between two forces, but a mélée in which each warrior fights for himself against all ~~the~~ others. I cannot see one who has even one ally. And the least fortunate, who fall soonest, are those in the chariots. For as soon as they are engaged in fighting, their own charioteer, stab them in the back.

And in the midst of the battle-field there is a great tree, like a Chinar-tree. For it bears fruits, & now all the warriors are dead, and they are the ripe fruits that are fallen. The ground is covered with them. ~~The~~

There is a ~~talk~~ laugh, in my right ear: This is the tree of life.

And now there is a mighty God, Sebek, with the head of a crocodile. His head is grey, like river-mud, & his jaws fill the whole Aire. And he crunches up the whole tree, & the ground, & everything.

Now there at last comes forth the Angel of the Aethyr, who is like the Angel of the fourteenth key of Rota, with beautiful blue wings, blue robes, the sun in her girdle, like a brooch. And the two crescents of the moon shaped into sandals for her feet. Her hair of flowing gold, charioteers stab them in the back.

And in the midst of the battle-field there is a great tree, like a chinar-tree. Yet it bears fruits. And now all the warriors are dead, & they are the ripe fruits that are fallen. The ground is covered with them. ~~The~~

There is a ~~laugh~~ laugh in my right ear:
This is the tree of life.

And now there is a mighty god, Sebek, with the head of a crocodile. His head is gray, like river-mud, & his jaws fill the whole Aire. And he crunches up the whole tree, & the ground & everything.

Now then at last comes forth the Angel of the Æthyr, who is like the Angel of the fourteenth Key of Rota, with beautiful blue wings, blue robes, the sun in her girdle like a brooch. And the two crescents of the moon shapen into sandals for her feet. Her hair is of flowing gold,

? ♄ exalted in ♎

head sparkle as a star. In her hands the torch of Penelope & the cup of Circe. She comes & kisses me on the mouth, & says: Blessed art thou who hast beheld Sebek my Lord in his glory. Many are the champions of life, but all are unhorsed by the lance of death. Many are the children of the light, but their eyes shall all be put out by the Mother, Darkness. Many are the servants of Love, but love that is not quenched by aught but love shall be put out, as a child taketh the wick of a taper between his thumb & finger, by the God that sitteth alone.

And on her mouth, like a chrysanthemum of radiant light, is a kiss, & on it is the monogram I. H. S. The letters I. H. S. mean In Hominibus Salus, ~~and~~ Instar Hominis Summus, and Imago Hominis [~~Deus.~~ Deus. ~~[illegible] god~~].

And there are many, many other meanings, but they all imply this one thing, that nothing is of any importance but man;

each sparkle as a star. In her hands are the torch of Penelope & the cup of Circe. She comes & kisses me on the mouth, & says: Blessed art thou who hast beheld Sebek my Lord in his glory. Many are the champions of life, but all are unhorsed by the lance of death. Many are the children of the light, but their eyes shall all be put out by the Mother, Darkness. Many are the servants of love, but love that is not quenched by aught but love shall be put out, as the child taketh the wick of a taper between his thumb & finger, by the god that sitteth alone.

And on her mouth, like a chrysanthemum of radiant light, is a kiss, & on it is the monogram I.H.S. The letters I.H.S. mean In Homini ~~ri~~ Sal~~uti~~us and Instar Hominis Summus, and Imago Hominis ~~[for man among God].~~ ~~Deus.~~ deuS. And there are many, many other meanings, but they all imply this one thing, that nothing is of any importance but man;

there is no hope or help but in walls.
And she says: Sweet are my kisses, O my father, that wanderest from star to star. Sweet are my kisses, O householder, that weariest within four walls. Thou art bent within thy brain, & my shaft pierceth it, & thou art ~~free~~ free. Thine imagination eateth up the universe as the dragon that eateth up the moon. And in my shaft, is it concentrated, & bound up. See how all around thee gather my warriors, strong knights in goodly armour, ready for war. Look upon my crown; it is above the stars. Behold the glow & the blush thereof! Upon thy cheek is the breeze that stirs those plumes of truth, for though I am the Angel of the fourteenth key, I am also the Angel of the eighth key. And from the love of ~~the~~ these two have I come, who am the warden of Hope, & the servant of them that dwell therein. Though there is no hope or help but in man.

And she says: Sweet are my kisses, O wayfarer, that wanderest from star to star. Sweet are my kisses, O householder that weariest within four walls. Thou art pent within thy brain, & my shaft pierceth it, & thou art ~~Free~~ free. Thine imagination eateth up the universe
as the dragon that eateth up the moon.
And in my shaft is it concentrated,
& bound up. See how all around thee gather my warriors, strong knights in goodly armour, ready for war.
Look upon my crown; it is above the stars. Behold the glow & the blush~~.~~ thereof!
Upon thy cheek is the breeze that stirs those plumes of truth. For though
I am the Angel of the fourteenth Key, I am also the Angel of the eighth Key. And from the love of ~~the~~ these two have I come, who am the warden of ~~R~~Popé & the servant of them that dwell therein. Though all crowns fall, mine shall not fall, for my flames reach up unto the knees of Him that sitteth upon the holy throne, & liveth & reigneth for ever & ever as the balance of Righteousness & Truth.

I am the Angel of the moon. I am the veiled One that sitteth between the pillars veiled with a shining veil, & on my lap is the open Book of the mysteries of the ~~eff~~ ineffable light. I am the aspiration unto the higher, & I am the love of the unknown.
I am the blind ache within the heart of man. I am the minister of the sacrament of pain. I swing the censer of worship, & I sprinkle the waters of purification. I am the daughter of the house of the invisible. I am the priestess of the silver star.

And she catches me up to her as a mother catches her babe, & holds me in her left arm, &

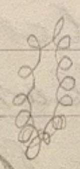
all crowns fall, mine shall not fall, for my plumes reach up unto the Knees of Him that sitteth upon the holy throne, & liveth & reigneth for ever & ever as the balance of righteousness & truth. I am the Angel of the moon. I am the veiled one that sitteth between the pillars veiled with a shining veil, & on my lap is the open Book of the mysteries of the ~~eff e~~ ineffable light. I am the aspiration unto the higher. I am the love of the unknown. I am the blind ache within the heart of man. I am the minister of the sacrament of pain. I swing the censer of worship, & I sprinkle the waters of purification. I am the daughter of the house of the invisible. I am the Priestess of the Silver Star.

And she catches me up to her as a mother catches her babe, & holds me up in her left arm, &



Isis ♀ Love or Nature

Chnouf ♃ Energy or Will ΙΧΘΥΣ

Thoth ☿ Thought

Un-nefer ☉ Purity

Sekhet ♌ Unite all in function

Iacchus

Chronos

Themis

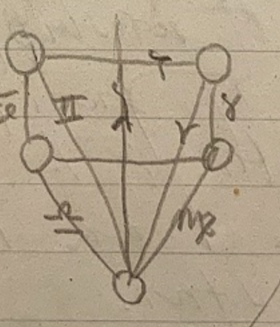
Uranus (?)

Serapis (C.)

③ Isis ② Thoth

⑤ ~~Sekhet~~ ④ Chnouf

⑥ Unnefer



♃ Isis

♈ Chnouf

☾ Thoth

♊ Unnefer

5 Sekhet

sets my lips to her breast. And upon her breast is written: Rosa Mundi est Lilium Cœli, (written over her breast.)

And I look down upon the open Book of the mysteries, & it is open at the page on which is the holy table with the twelve squares in the midst. It radiates a blaze of light, too dazzling to make out the characters, & ~~the~~ a voice says: Non haec piscis omnium.

[To interpret that, we must think of IXθus, which does not conceal Iesous Christos Theou Huios Soter, as traditionally asserted, but is a mystery of the letter Nun & the letter Qoph, as may be seen by adding it up.

IXθus is only connected with Christianity because it was a ~~sort~~ hieroglyph of syphilis, which the Romans supposed to have been brought from Syria, & it seems sets my lips to her breast. And upon her breast is written: Rosa Mundi est Lilium Cæli~~.~~,(written over her breast.)

And I look down upon the open Book of the mysteries, & it is open at the page on which is the Holy table with the twelve squares in the midst. It radiates a blaze of light, too dazzling to make out the characters, & ~~the~~ a voice says: Non haec piscis omnium.

[To interpret that, we must think of Ιχθυς, which does not conceal Iesous Christos Theau υιος Soter, as traditionally asserted, but is a mystery of the letter Nun & the letter Qoph, as may be seen by adding it up.

Ιχθυς is only connected with Christianity because it was a ~~sigil~~ hieroglyph of syphilis, which the Romans supposed to have been brought from Syria, & it seems to have been confounded with leprosy, which also they thought was caused by fish-eating.]

It is further the important meaning of ιχθυς, which is the initials of five ~~of~~ Egyptian deities, & also of five Greek deities, in both cases a magic formula of tremendous power is concealed. As to the holy table itself, I cannot see it for the blaze of light, but I am given to understand that it appears in another Aethyr, of which it forms practically the whole content. And I am bidden to study the holy table very intently, so as to be able to concentrate on it when it appears.

I have grown greater, so that I am as great as the Angel. And we are standing as if crucified face to face, our hands & lips & breasts & knees & feet together, & her eyes pierce into my eyes like whirling shafts of steel, so that I to have been confounded with leprosy, which also they thought was caused by fish-eating.]

One important meaning of Ιχθυς: it is formed of the initials of five ~~egy~~ Egyptian deities, & also of five Greek deities, in both cases a magic formula of tremendous power is concealed. As to the holy table itself, I cannot see it for the blaze of light, but I am given to understand that it appears in another Æthyr, of which it forms practically the whole contents. And I am bidden to study the holy Table very intently, so as to be able to concentrate on it when it appears.

I have grown greater, so that I am as great as the Angel. And we are standing, as if crucified face to face, our hands & lips & breasts & knees & feet together, & her eyes pierce into my eyes like whirling shafts of steel, so that I fall backwards headlong through the Aethyr, & there is a sad, sweet & peaceful shout, absolutely stunning, cold & brutal: 'Osiris was a black god!' And the Aethyr claps its hands, greater than the peal of a thousand mighty thunders.

I am back.

Bou-Saâda. XII: 8, 1909.

~~10–12, p.m.~~

10 ~~9.45~~–11.45, p.m.

fall backwards headlong through the Æthyr, & there is a sudden & tremendous shout, absolutely stunning, cold & brutal: 'Osiris was a black god!' And the Æthyr claps its hands, greater than the peal of a thousand mighty thunders.
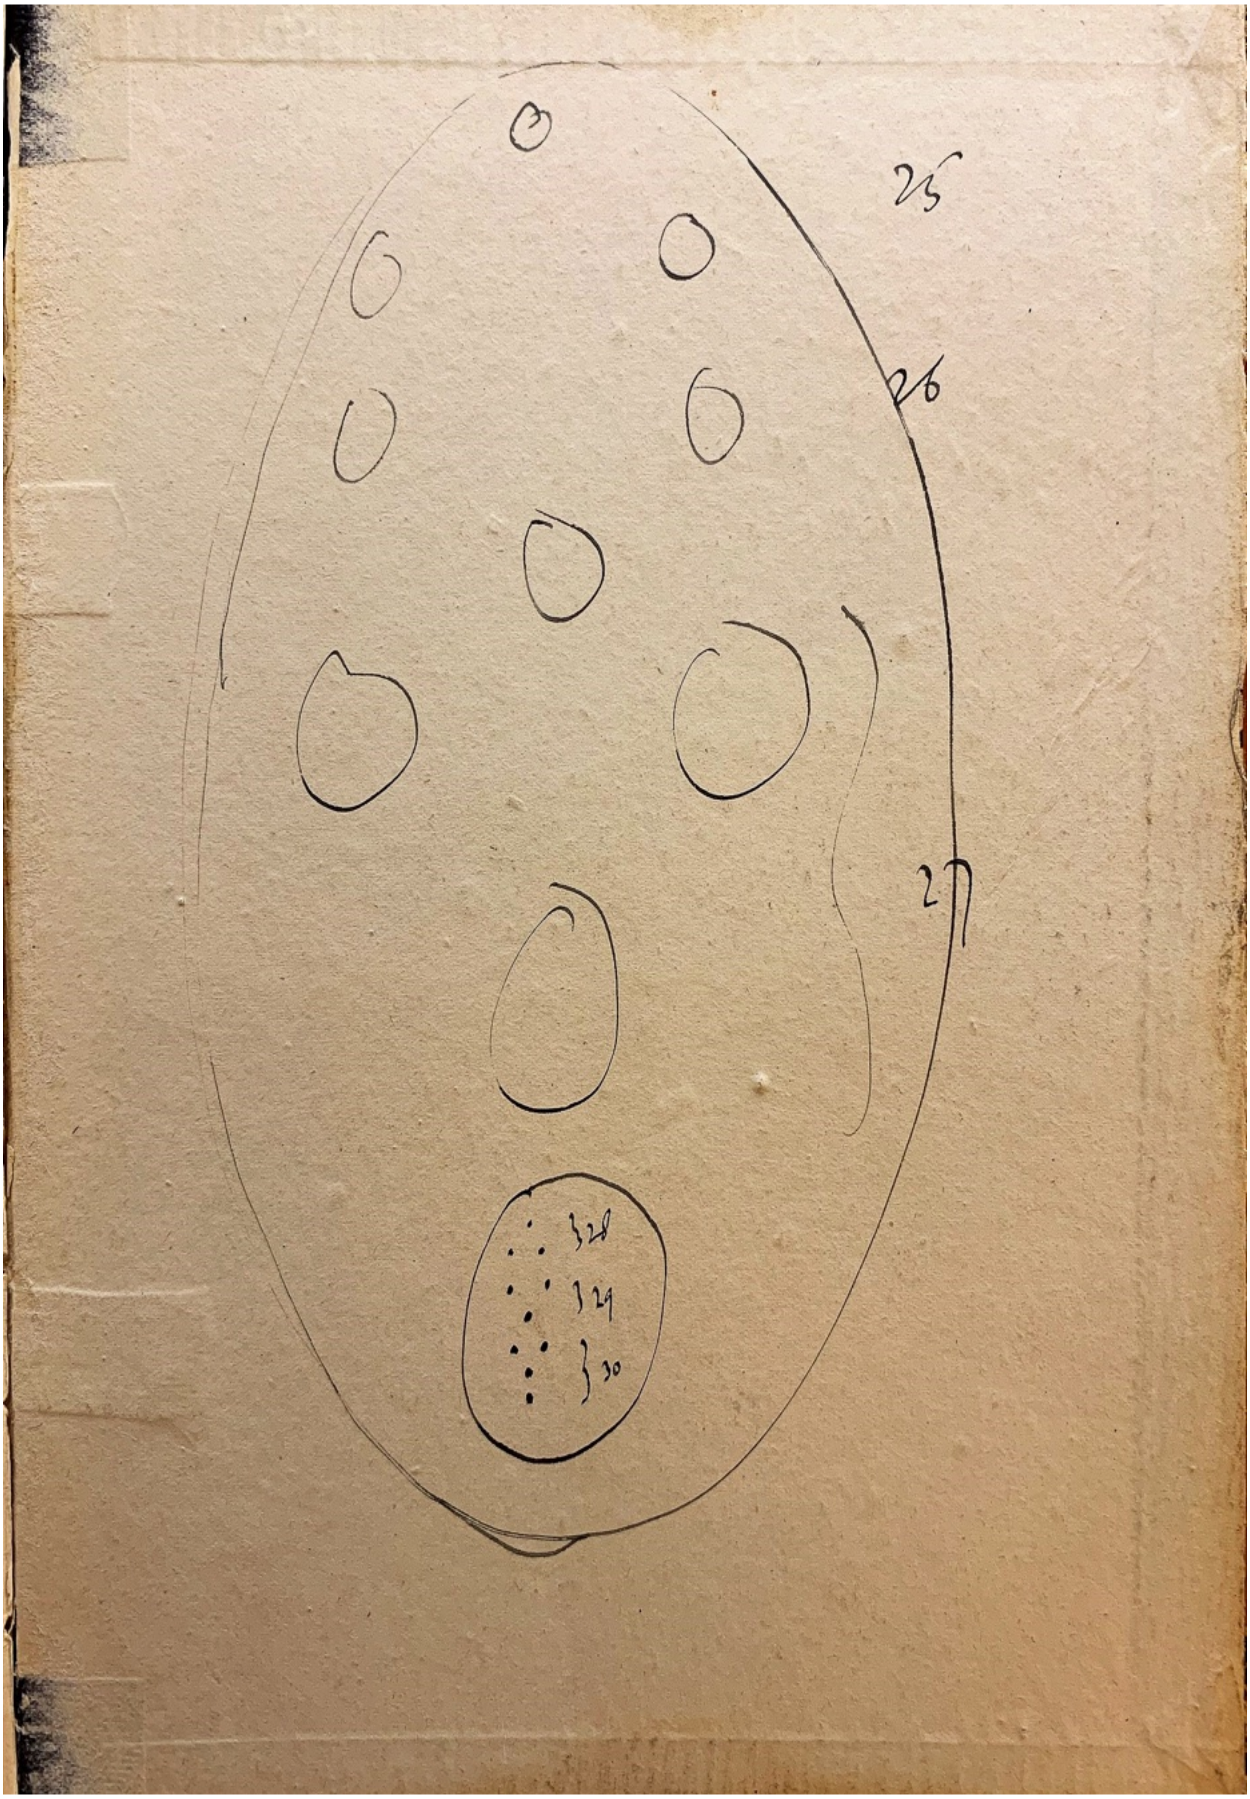
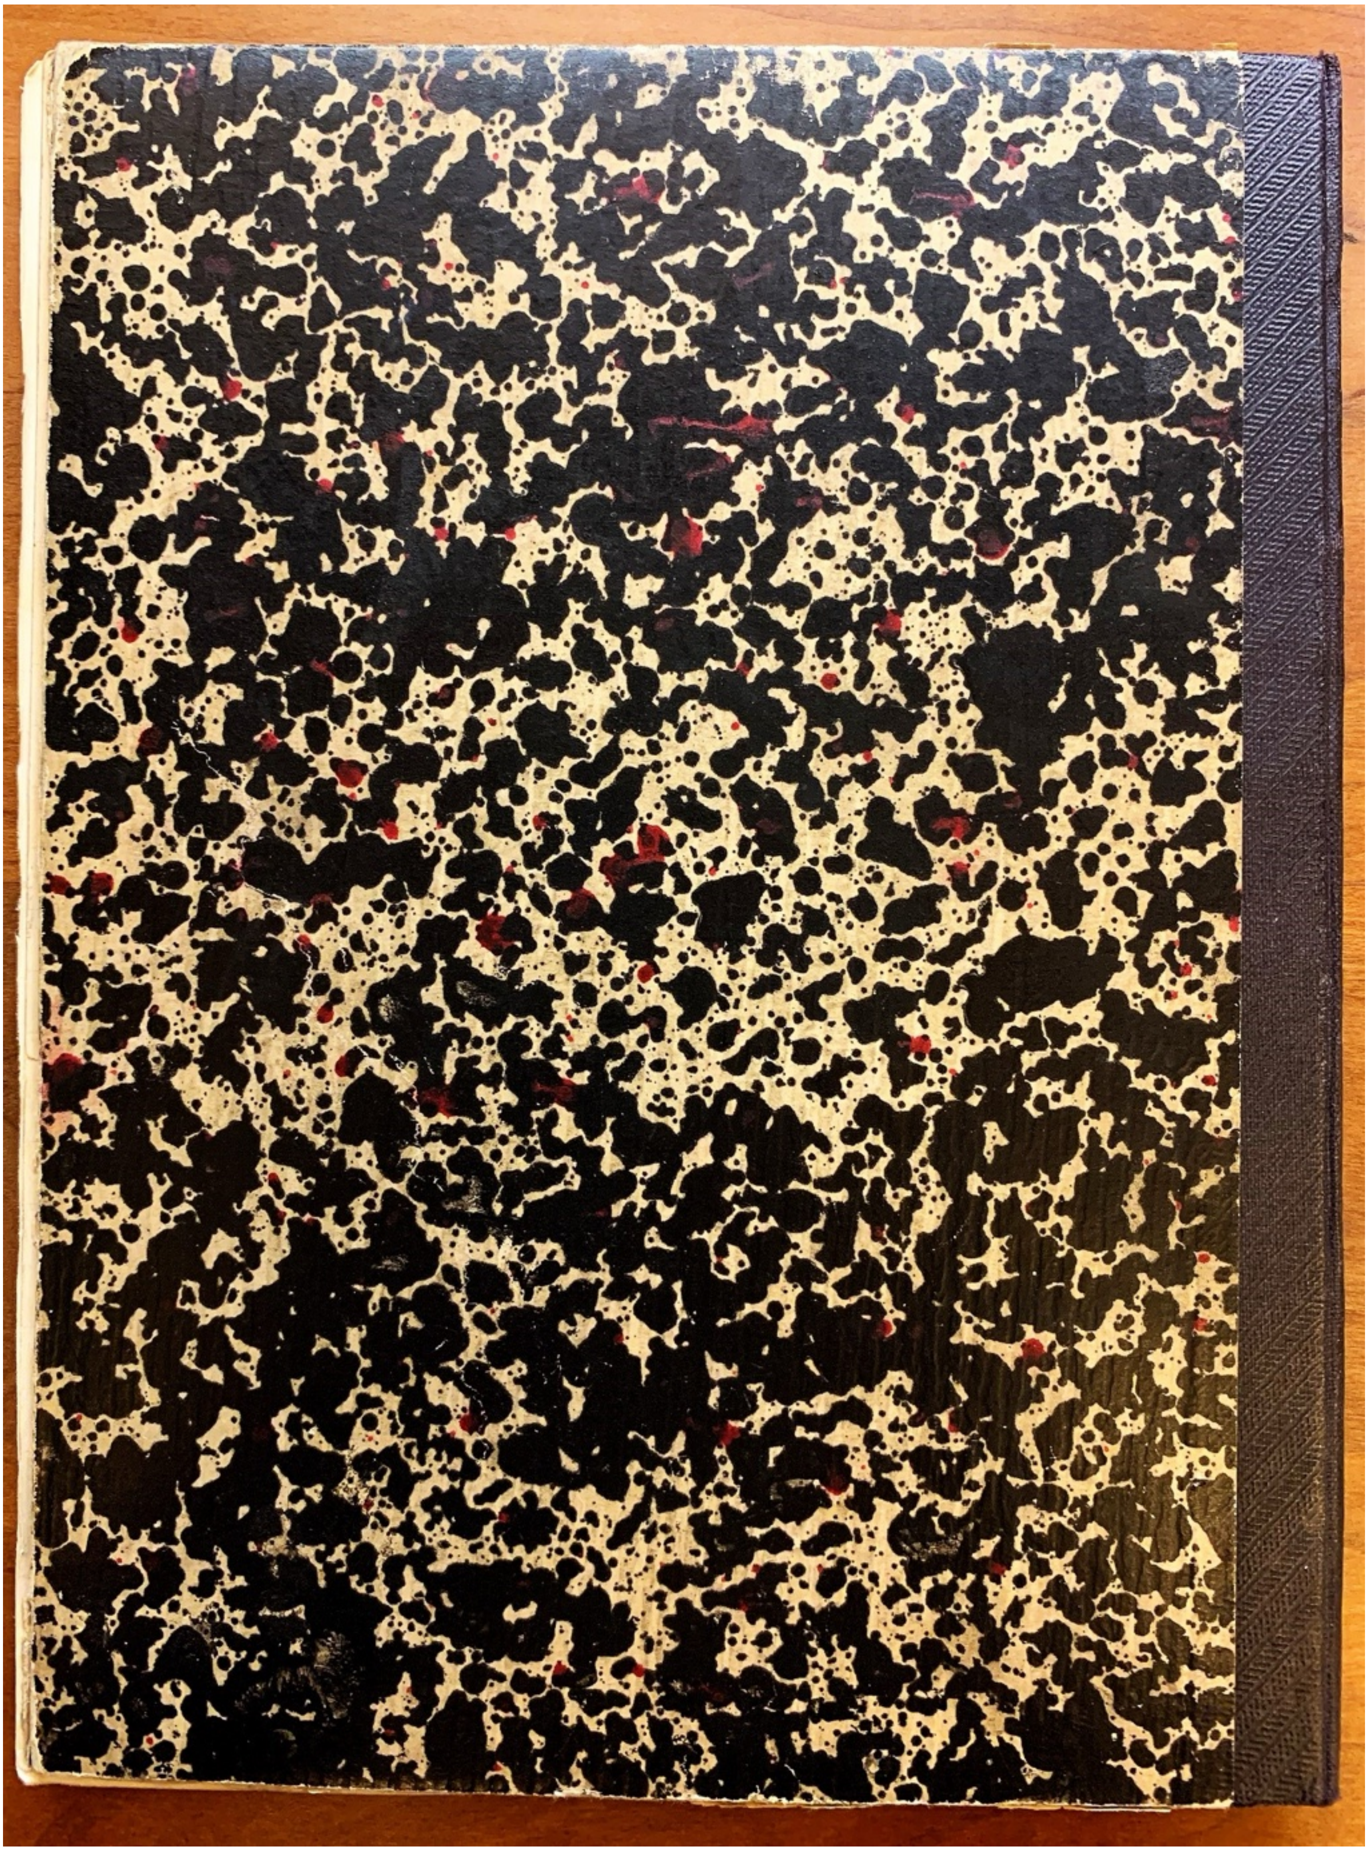
I am back.

BOU-SAADA. Nov: 30, 1909
~~10-12, p.m. .~~
10 ~~9.45~~ -11.45 p.m. .



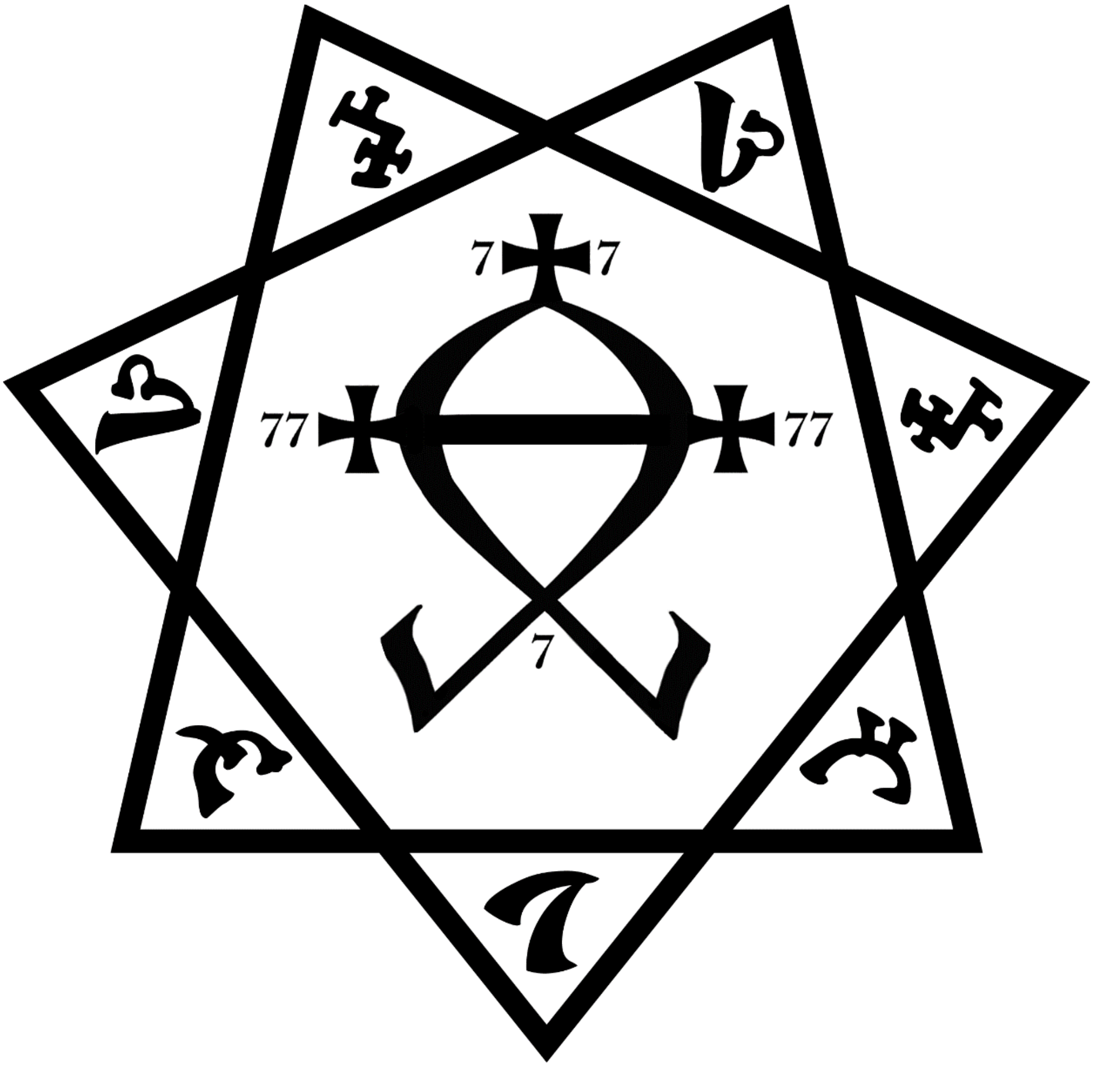


The Vision and the Voice

being of the Angels of the Thirty Æthyrs

(Mexico, 1900 and Algeria, 1909)

As delivered to Perdurabo and O.V.



IN NOMINE BABALON

LIBER
XXX ÆRVM VEL SÆCULI

SUB FIGURÂ

CDXVIII

BEING OF THE ANGELS OF THE THIRTY ÆTHYRS

THE VISION AND THE VOICE

A∴A∴

Publication in Class A.

The Vision and the Voice

Liber CDXVIII

(being the actual notebooks of
the Angels of the Thirty Æthyrs)
Volume II: Notebook II (18th to 13th Æthyrs)

Double struck text (~~example~~) is crossed out in the manuscript, but included on the typescript.
Slashed-out text (~~example~~) is indicative of another type of edit to the manuscript that is not a simple crossout and replace.
Greyed out text (example) is pencil additions, overwrites, etc. or a correction in a different ink or writing tool than the original version.

It is advisable to consult the source notebook page in these instances.

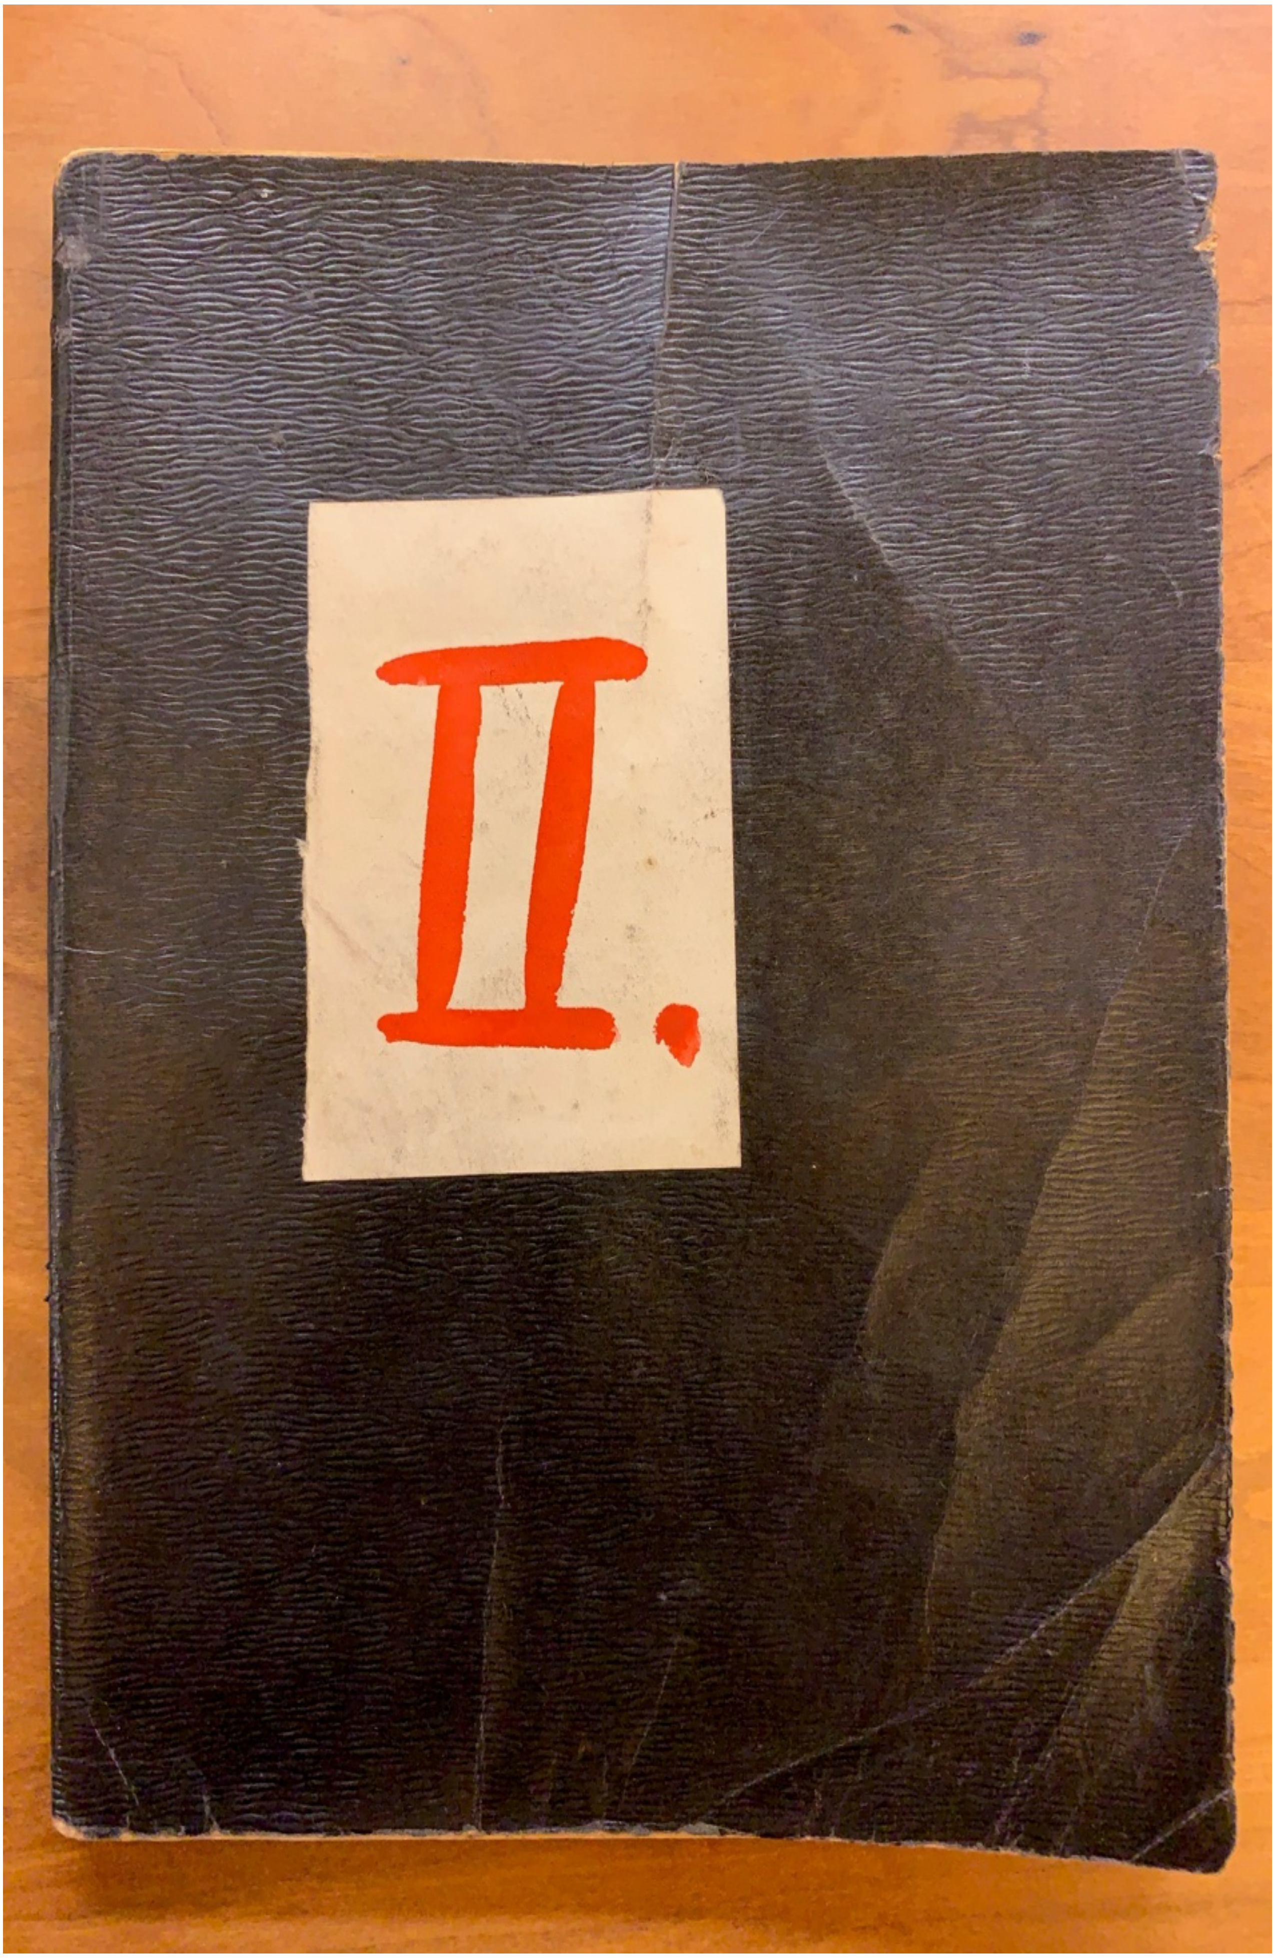
The 15th Aethyr, p. 93-94, “beryl-stone”is either Crowley's blue pencil edit or an anomalous blue ballpoint edit after his death. Original 1910 Equinox I:5 supplemental, 1930 Warburg TS (Regardie with Crowley annotations) and 1952 Germer editions all have “beryl-stone”, but it clearly is not that in the uncorrected notebook and is almost certainly burial-stone outside of that edit.

The 14th Aethyr is listed as UTI in the manuscript, and is notated as such here. It is, of course, VTA in Dee and Causabon and West 36.

The purpose here is to make the material available, as it is and was and shall ever be, without second-guessing – search and see, and let the Aires be your guide! As it stands, it is truly a document of our heritage and demands in multiple places for no changes to be made.

IN NOMINE BABALON

purple mountain



II.

Contents

The ~~Vision~~ Cry of the 18th Æthyr, which is called . 12

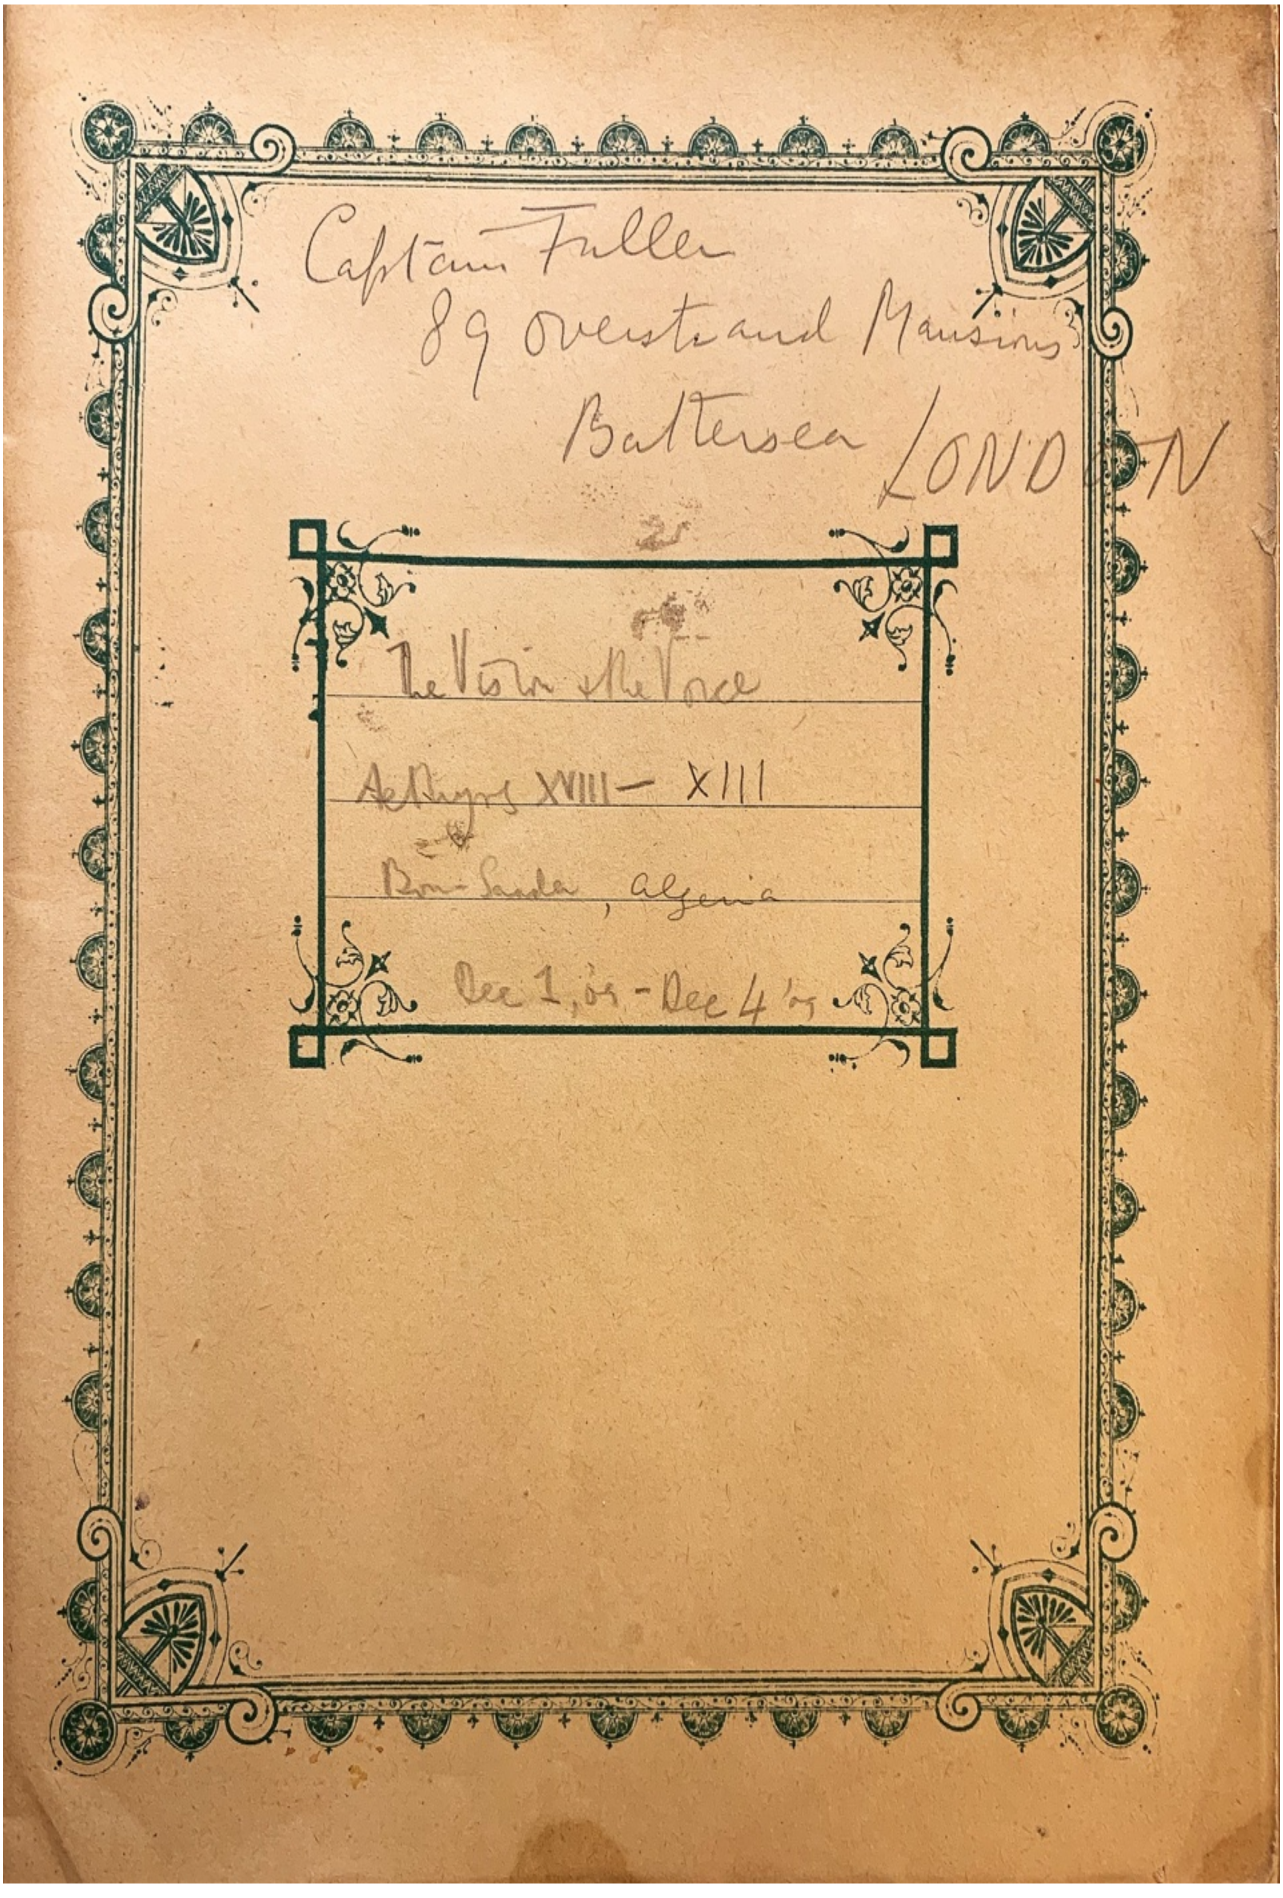
The ~~Vision~~ Cry of the 17th Æthyr, which is called . 34

The ~~Vision~~ Cry of the 16th Æthyr, which is called . 56

The Cry of the 15th Æthyr, which is called . 76

The Cry of the 14th Æthyr, which is called . 104

The cry of the 13th Æthyr, which is called . 126



Captain Fuller
89 Overstrand Mansions
Battersea LONDON

The Vision & the Voice

Aethyrs XVIII – XIII

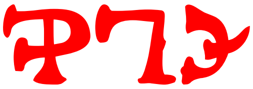
Bou-Saada, Algeria

Dec 1, 09 - Dec 4 '09

Cry.
The ~~Vision~~ of the 18th Aethyr, which is called ZEN.

A voice comes before any vision: Accursed are they who enter herein if they have nails, for they shall be pierced therewith; or if they have thorns, for they shall be crowned withal; or if they have whips, for with whips shall they be scourged; or if they bear wine, for their wine shall be turned to bitterness; or if they have a spear, for with a spear shall they be pierced unto the heart. And the nails are desires, of which there are three; ~~the~~ the desire of light, the desire of life, the desire of love. [And the thorns are thoughts, & the whips are regrets, & the wine is ease, & the spear is attachment.]

And now there dawns the scene of the Crucifixion, but the Crucified One is an enormous bat,



The ~~Vision~~ Cry of the 18th Æthyr, which is called ZEN.

A voice comes before any vision: Accursed are they who enter herein if they have nails, for they shall be pierced therewith; or if they have thorns, for they shall be crowned withal; or if they have whips, for with whips they shall be scourged; or if they bear wine, for their wine shall be turned to bitterness; or if they have a spear, for with a spear shall they be pierced unto the heart. And the nails are desires, of which there are three; ~~these~~ the desire of light, the desire of life, the desire of love. [And the thorns are thoughts, & the whips are regrets, & the wine is ease, & the spear is attachment.]

And now there dawns the scene of the Crucifixion; but the Crucified One is an enormous bat,

& the two thieves are two little children. It is night, & the night is full of hideous things & howlings, & an angel cometh forth, & saith: Be wary, for if thou change so much as the style of a letter, the holy word is blasphemed. But enter into the mountain of the cavern, for that this (how much more then that calvary which mocks it, as his ape mocks Thoth?) is but the empty shell of the mystery of ZEN? Verily, I say unto thee, many are the adepts that have looked upon the back parts of my father, & cried, Our eyes fail before the glory of thy countenance. And with that he gives the sign of the rending of the veil, & tears down the vision. And behold! whirling columns of fiery light, seventy-two. ~~And~~ Upon them is supported a mountain of pure crystal. The mountain is a cone, the angle of the apex being

& for the two thieves are two little children.
It is night, & the night is full of hideous things & howlings, & an angel cometh forth, & saith: Be wary, for if thou change so much as the style of a letter, the holy word is blasphemed. But enter into the mountain of the cavern, for that this, (how much more then that calvary which mocks it, as his ape mocks Thoth~~.~~?) is but ~~an~~ thee empty shell of the mystery of ZEN? Verily,
I say unto thee, many are the adepts that have looked upon the back parts of my father, & cried, our eyes fail before the glory of thy countenance. And with that he gives the sign of the rending of the veil, & tears down the vision. And behold! whirling columns of fiery light, seventy-two. ~~And~~ ~~u~~Upon them is supported a mountain of pure crystal. The mountain is a cone, the angle of the apex being sixty degrees. And within the crystal is a pyramid of ruby, like unto the great pyramid of Gizeh. And I am entered in by the little door thereof, & I am come into the chamber of the King, which is fashioned like unto the vault of the adepts, or rather it is fitting to say that the vault of the adepts is a vile imitation of it. ~~But the~~ For there are four sides to the chamber, which with the roof & the floor & the chamber itself makes seven. So also is the pastos seven, for that which is within is like unto that which is without. And there is no furniture, & no symbols. ~~But~~ Light streams from every side upon the pastos. This light is that blue of Horus, but being refined it is brilliance. For the light of Horus only appears blue because of the imperfection of our eyes.

sixty degrees. And within the crystal is a pyramid of ruby, like unto the great Pyramid of Gizeh. And I am entered in by the little door thereof, & I am come into the chamber of the king, which is fashioned like unto the vault of the adepts, or rather it is fitting to say that the vault of the adepts is a vile imitation of it. ~~But the~~
For there are four sides to the chamber, which with the roof & the floor & the chamber itself makes seven. So als~~is~~o is the Pastos seven, for that which is within is like unto that which is without. And there is no furniture, & no symbols. ~~But~~ ~~l~~Light streams from every side upon the pastos. This light is that blue of Horus, but being refined it is brilliance. For the light of Horus only appears blue because of the imperfection of our eyes.

But though the light pours from the pastos, yet the pastos remains perfectly dark, so that it is invisible. It hath no form. Only, at a certain point in the chamber, the light is beaten back. I lie prostrate upon the ground before this mystery. Its splendour is impossible to describe. I can only say that its splendour is so great, that my heart stops with the terror & the wonder & the rapture of it. I am almost mad. A million insane images chase each other through my brain. . . . . . .

. . . . A voice comes; it is my own voice; I did not know it.

"When thou shalt know me, O thou empty God, my little flame shall utterly expire in thy great ~~[illegible]~~ N.O.X." There is no answer. . . . . .

(20 minutes) . . . . . . And now, after so long a while, the Angel lifts me, & takes me from the room, & sets me

But though the light pours from the pastos, yet the pastos remains perfectly dark, so that it is invisible. It hath no form.
Only, at a certain point in the chamber, the light is beaten back. I lie prostate upon the ground before this mystery. Its splendour is impossible to describe.
I can only say that its splendour is so great, that my heart stops with the terror & the wonder & the rapture of it. I am almost mad.
A million insane images chase
each other through my brain. . . . . .
 . . . . A voice comes; is my own voice;- I did not know it.
 "When thou shalt know me, O thou empty god, my little flame shall utterly expire, in thy great ~~word~~
N.O.X." There is no answer. . . .
(20 minutes). . . And now, after so long a while, the Angel lifts me, & takes me from the room, & seats me

in a little chamber where is another Angel like a fair youth, in shining garments, who makes me partake
of the sacraments; bread that is labour, & fire that is art, & a rose that is sin, & wine that is death.
And all about us is a great company of angels in many-coloured robes, ~~[illegible]~~, ~~[illegible]~~ in rose, & spring-green, & sky-
-blue, & pale gold, & silver, & lilac,
solemnly chanting without words.
It is music wonderful, beyond
all that can be thought.

And now we go out of the chamber; ~~who at whose door~~ ~~there are three statues.~~ on the right is a pylon, & the right figure is Isis, & the left figure Nephthys,
& they're folding their wings over Ra & supporting Ra.

I wanted to go
back to the King's chamber.
The Angel pushed me away
saying: Thou shalt see these

in a little chamber where is another
Angel like a fair youth, in shining
garments, who makes me partake
of the sacraments; bread, that is labour, & fire, that is wit, & a rose
that is sin, & wine that is death.
And all about us is a great
company of angels in many-coloured robes, ~~robes, rose,~~ rose, spring-green, & sky-
-blue, & pale gold, & silver, & lilac,
solemnly chanting, without words.
It is music wonderful, beyond
all that can be thought.
        And now we go out of the chamber; ~~who at whose door~~
~~there are three statues.~~ on the
right is a pylon, & the right figure
is Isis, & the left figure Nephthys,
& they're folding their wings over, over,
& supporting Ra.
        I wanted to go
back to the King's Chamber.
The Angel pushed me away,
saying: Thou shalt see these visions from afar off; but thou shalt not partake of them save in the manner prescribed. For if thou change so much as the style of a letter, the holy word is blasphemed. And this is the manner prescribed.

Let there be a room, furnished as for the ritual of passing through the Tuat. And let the aspirant be clad in the robes, & let him bear the insignia his grade, & at the least he shall be a Neophyte. Three days & three nights shall he have been in the tomb, vigilant & fasting, for he shall sleep no longer than three hours at any one time, & he shall drink pure water, & [eat] little sweet cakes consecrated unto the moon, & fruits, & the eggs of the duck, or of the goose, or of the plover. And he shall visions from afar off, but thou shalt not partake of them save in the manner prescribed. For if thou change so much as the style of a letter, the holy word is blasphemed. And this is, the manner prescribed.

Let there be a room, furnished as for the ritual of passing through the Tuat. And let the aspirant be clad in the robes “, & let him bear the insignia,” his grade, & at the least he shall be a neophyte. Three days & three nights shall he have been in the tomb, vigilant & fasting, for he shall sleep no longer than three hours at any one time, & he shall drink pure water, & [eat] little sweet cakes consecrated unto the moon, & fruits, & the eggs of the duck, or of the goose, or of the plover. And he shall be shut in, so that no man

may break in upon his meditation.
But in the last twelve hours he shall not eat nor sleep. Then shall he break his fast,
eating rich food, & drinking
sweet wines, & wines that foam,
& he shall banish the elements
& the planets & the signs & the Sephiroth, & then shall he take the holy table that he hath made for his altar, &
he shall take the call of the Aethyr of which he will partake which he hath
written in the ~~Enochian~~ Angelic,
character, or in the character of the holy alphabet that is revealed in ~~POP~~ POP, ~~upon~~ ~~virgin vellum,~~ upon a fair sheet
of virgin vellum, & therewith
shall he conjure the Aethyr, chanting the call; And in
the lamp that is hung

be shut in, so that no man
may break in upon his meditation.
But in the last twelve hours he shall neither eat nor sleep. Then shall he break his fast,
eating rich food, & drinking
sweet wines, & wines that foam,
& he shall banish the elements
& the planets & the signs & the sephiroth, & then shall he
take the holy table that he hath made for his altar, &
he shall take the call of the Æthyr of which he will partake which he hath
written in the ~~Enochian~~ Angelic,
character, or in the character of the holy alphabet that is revealed in ~~Pop &~~ POP, ~~upon~~ ~~virgin vellum,~~ upon a fair sheet
of virgin vellum; & therewith
shall he conjure the Æthyr, chanting the call. And in
the lamp that is hung above the altar shall he burn the call that he hath written. Then shall he kneel before the holy table, & it shall be given him to partake of the mystery of the Aethyr, & concerning the ink with which he shall write, for the first Aethyr, gold, for the second, scarlet, for the 3rd, violet, 4th, emerald,

5th, silver,
6th, sapphire,
7th, orange,
8th, indigo,
9th, grey,
10th, black,
11th, maroon,
12th, russet,
13th, green-grey,
14th, amber,
15th, olive,
16th, pale blue,
17th, crimson,

above the altar shall he burn the call that he hath written. Then shall he kneel before the holy table, & it shall be given him to partake of the mystery of the Æthyr, & concerning the ink with which he shall write; for the first Æthyr, gold, for the second, scarlet, for the 3rd, violet,
4th, emerald,
5th, silver,
6th, sapphire,
7th, orange,
8th, indigo,
9th, grey,
10th, black,
11th, maroon,
12th, russet,
13th, green-grey,
14th, amber,
15th, olive,
16th, pale blue,
17th, crimson,

Aethyr,
For the 18th, ~~Aethyr~~, bright yellow,
19th, crimson adorned with silver,
20th, mauve,
21st, pale green,
22nd, rose-madder,
23rd, violet cobalt,
24th, beetle-brown, blue-brown colour,
25th, ~~beetle br~~ a cold dark grey.
26th, white flecked with red, blue, & yellow,
~~27th~~ the edges of the letters
~~28th~~ shall be green.
27th, heavy clouds of ~~30th~~ ruddy brown.
28th, indigo.
29th, bluish-green.
30th, mixed colours.

This shall be the form to be used by him who would partake of the mystery of any Aethyr. And let him not change so much as the ~~sty~~ style of a letter, lest the holy word be blasphemed.

for the 18th, ~~Æthyr,~~ Æthyr, bright yellow, 19th, crimson adorned with silver,
20th, mauve,
21st, pale green,
22nd, rose-madder,
23rd, violet cobalt,
24th, beetle-brown, blue-brown colour,
25th, a cold dark gray,
26th, white flecked with red, blue, & yellow,
~~27th,~~ the edges of the letters
~~28th,~~ shall be green.
27th, Angry clouds of
~~30th~~ ruddy brown.
28th, indigo.
29th, bluish-green.
30th, mixed colours.

This shall be the form
to be used by him who would partake of the mystery
of any Æthyr. And let him
not change so much as the ~~stle~~ style of a letter, lest the
holy word be blasphemed.

And let him beware, after he hath been permitted to partake of this mystery that he await the completion of the 91st hour of his retirement, before he open the door of the place of his retirement, lest he contaminate his glory with uncleanness, & lest they that behold him be smitten by his glory unto death.

For this is a holy mystery, & he that did first attain to reveal the alphabet thereof, perceived not one ten-thousandth part of the fringe that is upon His holy vesture.

Come away! For the clouds are gathered together, & the air heaveth like the womb of a woman in travail. Come away! Lest

And let him beware, after he hath been permitted to partake of this mystery, that he await the completion of the 91st hour of his retirement, before he open the door of the place of his retirement, lest he contaminate his glory with uncleanness, & lest they that behold him be smitten by his glory unto death.

For this is a holy mystery, & he that did first attain to reveal the alphabet thereof, perceived not one ten-thousandth part of the fringe that is upon His holy vesture.

Come away! For the clouds are gathered together, & the air heaveth like the womb of a woman in travail. Come away! Lest he took ~~the~~ the lightnings from his hand, & unleash his hounds of thunder. Come away! For the voice of the Aethyr is accomplished. Come away! For the Seal of His ~~(be revealed)~~ loving kindness is made sure. And let there be praise & blessing unspeakable unto him that sitteth upon the holy throne, for he casteth down mercies as a spendthrift that scattereth gold. And he hath shut up judgement & hidden it away as a miser that hoardeth coins of little worth.

All this while the Angel hath been pushing me backwards, & now he is turned into the golden cross with a rose at its heart, & that is the red cross wherein is set the golden star-stone.

Bou-Saâda. Dec: 1, 1909.
2.30 – 4.10, p.m.

he loose ~~the~~ the lightnings from his hand, & unleash his hounds of thunder.   Come away!
For the voice of the Æthyr ~~is~~ is accomplished. Come away!
For the seal of His ~~(be revealed?)~~ loving-kindness is made sure.   And let there be praise & blessing unspeakable unto him that sitteth upon the holy throne, for he casteth down mercies as a spendthrift that scattereth gold. And he hath shut up judgment~~s~~ & hidden it away as a miser that hoardeth coins of little worth.

All this while the Angel hath been pushing me backwards, & now he is turned in to a golden cross with a rose at its heart, & that is the red cross wherein is set the golden shew-stone.

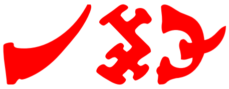
Bou-Sâada.Dec: 1, 1909.
2.30-4.10 p.m.   ,

The ~~Vision~~ Cry of the 17th Aethyr, which is called TAN.

Into the stone there first cometh the head of a dragon, & then the Angel Madimi. She is not the mere elemental, ~~which~~ that one would suppose from the account of Casaubon. I enquire why her form is different, & she says: Since all things are God, in all things thou seest just so much of God as thy capacity affordeth thee. But behold! thou must pierce deeply into this Aethyr before true images appear. For ~~Tan~~ TAN is that which transformeth judgment into justice. BAL ~~Bal~~ is the sword, & TAN the balances.

A pair of balances appears in the stone, & on the bar of the balance is written: Motion about a point is iniquity.

And behind the balances



The ~~Vision~~ Cry of the 17th Æthyr, which is called TAN.

Into the stone there first cometh the head of a dragon, & then the Angel Madim̂i. She is not the mere elemental~~, which~~ that one would suppose from the account of Casaubon. I enquire why her form is different, & she says: Since all things are God, in all things thou seest just so much of God as thy capacity affordeth thee. But behold! Thou must pierce deeply into this Æthyr before true images appear. For ~~Tan~~ TAN is that which transformeth judgment into justice. ~~Bal~~ BAL is the sword, & TAN the balances.

A pair of balances appears in the stone, & on the bar of the balance is written: motion about a point is iniquity.

And behind the balances is a plume, luminous, azure. And somehow connected with the plume, but I cannot divine how,

are these words: Breath is iniquity.
(That is, ~~any whisp~~, any wind, must stir the feather of truth.)

And behind the plume is a shining filament of quartz, suspended vertically, from the abyss to the abyss. And in the midst is a winged disk of some extremely delicate, translucent substance, on which is (are) written the words in the 'dagger'-alphabet: Torsion is iniquity. (This means, that the Rashith Ha-Gilgalim is the first appearance of evil.)

And now an Angel appears, like as he were carven in black diamonds. And he cries:
Woe unto the Second, whom all nations of men call First. Woe unto the First, whom all grades of Adepts call the First. Woe unto is a plume, luminous, azure. And somehow connected with the plume, but I cannot divine how, are these words: Breath is iniquity. (That is, ~~any whip,~~ any wind, must stir the feather of truth.)

And behind the plume is a shining filament of quartz, suspended vertically from the abyss to the abyss. And in the midst is a winged dis~~c~~k of some extremely delicate, translucent substance, on which (~~are~~) is written the words in the 'dagger' alphabet: Torsion is iniquity. (This means, that the Rashith Ha-Gilgal~~u~~im is the first appearance of evil.)

And now an Angel appears, like as he were carven in black diamonds. And he cries: Woe unto the Second, whom all nations of men call the First. Woe unto the First, whom all grades of Adepts call the First. Woe unto me, for I, even as they, have worshipped him. But she, in whose paps are the galaxies, and he that never shall be known, in them is no motion. For the infinite without filleth all and moveth not, & the infinite within goeth indeed, but it is no odds, ~~els~~ else were the space-marks confounded.

And now the Angel is but a shining speck of blackness in the midst of a tremendous sphere of liquid & vibrating light, at first gold, then becoming green, & lastly pure blue. And I see that the green of Libra is made up of the yellow of air & the blue of water, swords & cups, judgment & mercy. And this word TAN meaneth mercy. And the feather of Maat is blue because the truth of justice is mercy. And a voice cometh as it were, the music of the ripples of the surface of the sphere:

me, for I, even as they, have worshipped him. But she, in whose paps are the galaxies, and he that never shall be known, in them is no motion. For the infinite without filleth all and moveth not, & the infinite within goeth indeed, but it is no odds, ~~ell~~ else were the space-marks confounded.

And now the Angel is but a shining speck of blackness in the midst of a tremendous sphere of liquid & vibrating light, at first gold, then becoming green, & lastly pure blue. And I see that the green of Libra is made up of the yellow of air & the blue of water, Swords & cups, judgment & mercy. And this word TAN meaneth mercy. And the feather of Maat is blue because the truth of justice is mercy. And a voice cometh as it were, the music of the ripples of the surface of the sphere:

Truth is delight. (This means,
that the truth of the universe is delight.)
~~An~~ Another voice cometh; it is the voice of a mighty Angel,
all in silver, the scales of his
armour & the plumes of his wings
are like mother-of-pearl in a framework of silver. And he sayeth: Justice is the equity
that ye have made for yourselves between truth & falsehood. But in Truth there is nothing of this,
for there is only Truth. Your falsehood is but a little falser than your truth. Yet by your truth shall ye come to Truth.
Your truth is your troth with Adonai the Beloved One. And the Chymical Marriage of the Alchemists beginneth with a
Weighing, & he that is not found wanting hath within him one spark of fire, so dense & so intense that it cannot be moved, though

Truth is delight. (This means that the Truth of the universe is delight.)
₳ Another voice cometh; it is the voice of a mighty Angel,
all in silver, the scales of his
armour & the plumes of his wings
are like mother-of-pearl in a framework of silver. And he sayeth: Justice is the equity
that ye have made for yourselves
between truth & falsehood. But in Truth there is nothing of this,
for there is only Truth. Your falsehood is but a little falser
than your truth. Yet by your truth shall ye come to Truth.
Your truth is your troth with Adonai the Beloved One. And the Chymical Marriage of the Alchemists beginneth with a
Weighing, & he that is not found wanting hath within him one
spark of fire, so dense & so intense
that it cannot be moved, though

all the winds of heaven should clamour against it, & all the waters of the abyss surge against it, and
all the multitude of the earths heap themselves upon it to smother
it. Nay, it shall not be moved.
And this is the fire of which it is written: Hear thou the voice of fire. And the voice of fire is the second chapter of the Book of the Law, that is revealed unto him that is a score & half a score & three that are scores, & six, by Aiwass, that is his guardian, the mighty Angel that extendeth from the first unto the last, & maketh known
the mysteries that are beyond.
And the method & the form of invocation whereby a man shall attain to the knowledge & con-versation of his Holy Guardian
Angel shall be given unto thee
in the proper place, & seeing that
the word is deadlier than lightning,

all the winds of heaven should
clamour against it, & all the waters
of the abyss surge against it, and
all the multitude of the earths heap~~s~~ themselves upon it to smother
it. Nay, it shall not be moved.
And this is the fire of which it is written: Hear thou the voice of Fire. And the voice of fire is the second chapter of the Book of the Law, that is revealed unto him that is a score & half a score & three that
are scores, & six, by Aiwass, that is
his guardian, the mighty Angel
that extendeth from the first
unto the last, & maketh known
the mysteries that are beyond.
And the method & the form of invocation whereby a man shall attain to the knowledge and con-versation of his Holy Guardian
Angel shall be given unto thee
in the proper place, & seeing that the word is deadlier than lightning,

✳

This I performed in a sort of cave upon the ridge of a at 12-3 P.M. on Dec 2.

great mountain in the Desert near Bou-Saada

*　This I performed in a sort of cave upon the ridge of a　　　at 12-3 p.m. on Dec 2.
great mountain in the Desert near Bou-Saada

So thou meditate straitly there-upon, solitary, in a place where is no living thing visible but only the light of the sun. And thy head shall be bare.x Thus mayest thou become fitted to receive this, the holiest of the Mysteries.x ~~And~~ it is the holiest of the Mysteries because it is the next step. And those Mysteries which lie beyond, though they be holier, are not holy unto thee, but only remote. (The sense of this passage seems to be, that the holiness of a thing implies ~~the~~ its personal relation with ~~you~~ one, just as one cannot blaspheme an unknown God because one does not know what to say to annoy him. And this explains the perfect inefficacy of those who try to insult the saints; the most violent attacks are very often merely clumsy compliments.)

Now the Gospel is spread completely over the globe;

do thou meditate straitly thereupon, solitary, in a place where is no living thing visible, but only the light of the sun. And thy head shall be bare. Thus mayest thou become fitted to receive this, the holiest of the Mysteries. ~~a~~And it is the holiest of the Mysteries because it is the next step. And those Mysteries which lie beyond, though they be holier, are not holy unto thee, but only remote. (The sense of this passage seems to be, that the holiness of a thing implies ~~its~~ its personal relation with ~~you~~ one, just as one cannot blaspheme an unknown God, because one does not know what to say to annoy him. And this explains the perfect inefficiency of those who try to insult the saints; the most violent attacks are very often merely clumsy compliments.)

Now the Angel is spread completely over the globe~~;~~, a fiery film of silver upon that luminous blue.

And a great voice cries: Behold the Queen of Heaven, how she hath woven her robes from the loom of justice. For as that straight path of the Arrow cleaving the Rainbow became righteousness, in her that sitteth in the hall of double truth, so at last is she exalted unto the throne of the High Priestess, the Priestess of the Silver Star, wherein also is thine Angel made manifest. And this is the mystery of the Camel that is ten days in the desert, & is not athirst, because he hath within him that water which is the dew distilled from the night of Nuit. Triple is the cord of silver, that it may not be loosed, & three score, & half a score & three is the number of the name of my name; for that the ineffable wisdom, that also is of the sphere of the stars, is formed a dewy film of silver upon that luminous blue.

And a great voice cries:
Behold the Queen of Heaven, how she hath woven her robes from the loom of justice. For as that straight path of the Arrow cleaving the Rainbow became righteousness, in her that sitteth in the hall of double truth, so at last is she exalted unto the throne of the High Priestess, the Priestess of the Silver Star, wherein also is thine Angel made manifest. And this is the mystery of the camel that is ten days in the desert, & is not athirst, because he hath within him that water which is the dew distilled from the night of Nuit. Triple is the cord of silver, that it may be not loosed, & three score & half a score & three is the number of the name of my name, for that the ineffable wisdom, that also is of the sphere of the stars, informeth me. Thus am I crowned with the triangle that is about the eye, & therefore is my number three. And in me there is no imperfection, because through me descendeth the influence of TARO. And that is also the number of Aiwass the mighty Angel, the Minister of Silence. And even as the shew-stone burneth thy forehead with its intolerable flame, so he who hath known me, though but from afar, is marked out & chosen from among men, & he shall never turn back or turn aside, for he hath made the link that is not to be broken, nay, not by the malice of the Four Great Princes of the evil of the world, not by Choronzon, that mighty Devil, nor by the wrath of God, nor by the affliction & feebleness of the soul. Yet with this assurance be not thou me. Thus am I crowned with the triangle that is about the eye, & therefore is my number three.

And in me there is no imperfection, because through me descendeth the influence of TARO. And that is also the number of Aiwass the mighty Angel, the Minister of Silence. And even as the shew-stone burneth thy forehead~~,~~ with its intolerable flame, so he who hath known me, though but from afar, is marked out & chosen among men, & he shall never turn back or turn aside, for he hath made the link that is not to be broken, nay, not by the malice of the Four Great Princes of the evil of the world, nor by Chorozon, that mighty Devil, nor by the wrath of God, nor by the affliction & feebleness of the soul. Yet with this ~~assur~~ assurance be not thou content, for though thou hast the wings of the Eagle, they are vain, except they be ~~attached~~ joined to the shoulders of the Bull. Now, therefore, I send forth a shaft of my light, even as a ladder let down from the heaven upon the earth, & by this black cross of Themis that I hold before thine eyes, do I swear unto thee that the path shall be open ~~from~~ henceforth for evermore.

And there is a clash of a myriad silver cymbals, & silence, & then three times a note is struck upon a bell, which sounds like the holy Tibetan bell, made of electrum magicum.

And I am happily returned unto the earth.

Bou-Sâada, Dec: 2, 1909.

~~12.30 (±) 1.45 (?), a.m.~~.

12·15(±)- 2, a.m..

content; for though thou hast the wings of the ~~e~~Eagle, they are vain, except they be joined to the shoulders of the Bull. Now, therefore,
I send forth a shaft of my light, even as a ladder let down ~~for~~ from the heaven upon the earth, & by this black cross of Themis that I hold before thine eyes, do I swear unto thee that the path shall be open ~~from~~ henceforth for evermore.

And there is a clash of a myriad silver cymbals, & silence, & then three times a note is struck upon a bell, which sounds like the holy Tibetan bell, that is made of electrum magicum.

And I am happily
returned unto the earth.

Bou-Sâada. Dec: 2, 1909.
~~12.30 -1.45 a.m.~~ . .
(?) (?)
12.~~3~~15(?)-2 a.m. .

At for cows brown udder

(sausage or mush), feed

on butterflies

Neutral stars

Cry.

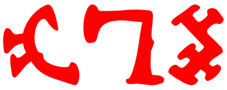
The ~~Vision~~ of the 16th Aethyr, which is called LEA.

There are faint & flickering images in a misty landscape, all very transient. But the general impression is of moon-rise at midnight, & a crowned virgin riding upon a bull.

And they come up into the surface of the stone. And she is singing a chant of praise: Glory unto him that hath taken upon himself the image of toil. For by his labour is my labour accomplished. For I, being a woman, lust ever to make myself with some beast. And this is the salvation of the world, that always I am deceived by some god, & that my child is the guardian of the labyrinth that hath two-&-seventy paths. ~~ABS~~

Now she is gone.

And now these are Angels,



The ~~Vision~~ Cry of the 16th Æthyr, which is called LEA.

These are faint & flickering images in a misty landscape, all very transient. But the general impression is of moon-rise at midnight, & a crowned virgin riding upon a bull.

And they come up into the surface of the stone. And she is singing a chant of praise: Glory unto him that hath taken upon himself the image of toil. For by his labour is my labour accomplished. For I, being a woman, lust ever to mate myself with some beast. And this is the salvation of the world, that always I am deceived by some god, & that my child is the guardian of the labyrinth that hath two-&-seventy paths. ₦

Now she is gone.

And now there are Angels, walking up & down in the stone. They are the Angels of the Holy Seven-fold Table. It seems that they are waiting for the Angel of the Aethyr to come forth. And now he appears in the gloom. He is a mighty King, with crown & orb & sceptre, & his robes are of purple & gold. And he casts down the orb & sceptre to the earth, & he tears off his crown, & throws it on the ground, & tramples it. And he tears out his hair, that is of ruddy gold tinged with silver, & he plucks at his beard, & cries with a terrible voice: Woe unto me that am cast down from my place by the might of the new aeon. For the ten palaces are broken, & the ten kings are carried away into bondage, & they are set to fight as the gladiators in the circus of him that hath laid walking up & down in the stone. They are the Angels of the Holy Seven-fold Table. It seems that they are waiting for the Angel of the Æthyr to come forth. And now at last he appears in the gloom. He is a mighty King, with crown & orb & sceptre, & his robes are of purple & gold. And he casts down the orb & sceptre to the earth, & he tears off his crown, & throws it on the ground, & tramples it. And he tears out his hair, that is of ruddy gold tinged with silver, & he plucks at his beard, & cries with a terrible voice: Woe unto me that am cast down from my place by the might of the new æon. For the ten palaces are broken, & the ten kings are carried away into bondage, & they are set to fight as the gladiators in the circus of him that hath laid his hand upon eleven. For the ancient tower is shattered by the Lord of the Flame and the Lightning. And they that walk upon their hands shall build the holy place. Blessed are they who have turned the eye of Hoor unto the zenith, for they shall be filled with the vigour of the goat. All that was ordered + stable is shaken. The Aeon of Wonders is come. Like locusts shall they gather themselves together, the servants of the star + of the snake, + they shall eat up everything that is upon the earth. For why? Because the Lord of Righteousness delighteth in them. The prophets shall prophesy monstrous things, + the wizard shall perform monstrous things. The sorcerer shall be desired of all men, + the enchanter shall rule the earth. Blessing unto the name of his hand upon eleven. For the ancient tower is shattered, by the Lord of the Flame and the Lightning. And they that walk upon their hands shall build the holy place. Blessed are they who have turned the eye of Hoor unto the zenith, for they shall be filled with the vigour of the goat. All that was ordered & stable is shaken. The Æon of Wonders is come. Like locusts shall they gather themselves together, the servants of the star & of the snake, & they shall eat up everything that is upon the earth. For why? Because the Lord of Righteousness delighteth in them. The Prophets shall prophesy monstrous things, & the wizard shall perform monstrous things. The sorceress shall be desired of all men, & the enchanter shall rule the earth. Blessing unto the name of the Beast, for he hath let loose a mighty flood of fire from his manhood, & from his womanhood hath he let loose a mighty flood of water. Every thought of his mind is as a tempest that uprooteth the great trees of the earth, & shaketh the mountains thereof. And the throne of his spirit is a mighty throne of madness & desolation, so that they that look upon it shall cry: Behold the abomination, & of a single ruby shall that throne be built, & it shall be set upon an high mountain, & men shall see it afar off. Then will I gather together my chariots & my horsemen, & my ships of war. By sea & land shall my armies & my navies encompass it, & I will encamp round about it, & besiege it, & by the flame thereof shall I be utterly devoured. Many kings the Beast, for he hath let loose a mighty flood of fire from his manhood, & from his womanhood hath he let loose a mighty flood of water. Every thought of his mind is as a tempest that uprooteth the great trees of the earth, &

shaketh the mountains thereof.
And the throne of his spirit is a mighty throne of madness & desolation, so that they that look upon it shall cry: Behold the abomination, & of a single ruby shall that throne be built,
& it shall be set upon an high mountain, & men shall see it afar off. Then will I gather together my chariots & my horsemen, & my ships of war. By sea & land shall my armies & my navies encompass it, & I will encamp round about it, & besiege it, & by the flame thereof shall I be utterly devoured. Many lying spirits have I sent into the world that my Aeon might be established, & they shall all be overthrown. Great is the Beast that cometh forth

like a lion, the servant of the Star ~~of~~ & of the Snake. He is the Eternal One; He is the Almighty One. Blessed are they upon whom he shall look with favour, for nothing shall stand before his face. Accursed are they upon whom he shall look with derision, for nothing
shall stand before his face.
And he shall reveal every mystery that hath not been revealed from the foundation
of the world unto his chosen.
And they shall have power
over every spirit of the Aethyr,
& of the earth & under the earth;
on dry land & in the water; of
whirling air & of rushing fire.

spirits have I sent into the world that my Æon might be established, & they shall be all overthrown. Great is the Beast that cometh forth
like a lion, the servant of the Star ~~of t~~ & of the Snake. He is the Eternal one; He is the Almighty one. Blessed are they upon whom he shall look with favour, for nothing shall stand
before his face. Accursed
are they upon whom he shall look with derision, for nothing
shall stand before his face.
And he shall reveal every mystery that hath not been revealed from the foundation
of the world unto his chosen.
And they shall have power over every spirit of the Æthyr
& of the earth & under the earth;
on dry land & in the water; of
whirling air & of rushing fire.

And they shall have power over all the inhabitants of the earth, & every scourge of God shall be subdued beneath their feet. The Angels shall come unto them & walk with them, & the great gods of heaven shall be their guests. But I must sit apart, with dust upon my head, discrowned & desolate. I must lurk in forbidden corners of the earth. I must plot secretly in the bye-ways of great cities, in the fog, & in marshes of the ruins of pestilence. And all my cunning shall not serve me. And all my undertakings shall be brought to naught. And the ministers of the Beast shall catch me, & tear out my tongue with pincers of red-hot iron, & they shall brand my forehead with the word of derision, & they

And they shall have power over all the inhabitants of the earth, & every scourge of God shall be subdued beneath their feet. The Angels shall come unto them & walk with them, & the great gods of heaven shall be their guests. But I must sit apart, with dust upon my head, discrowned & desolate. I must lurk in forbidden corners of the earth. I must plot secretly in the by-ways of great cities, in the fog, & in marshes of the rivers of pestilence. And all my cunning shall not serve me. And all my undertakings ~~ha~~ shall be brought to naught. And the ministers of the Beast shall catch me & tear out my tongue with pincers of red-hot iron, & they shall brand my forehead with the word of derision, & they shall shake my head, & pluck out my beard, & make a show of me. And the spirit of prophecy shall come upon me despite me ~~ever~~ ever and anon, as even now upon my heart & upon my throat & upon my tongue seared with strong acid are the words: Vim patior. For so must I give glory to him that hath supplanted me, that hath cast me down into the dust. I have hated him, & with hate my bones are rotten. I would have spat upon him, & my spittle hath befouled my beard. I have taken up the sword against him, & I am fallen upon it. And mine entrails are about my feet. Who shall strive with his might? Hath he not the sword & the spear of the warrior lord of the sun? Who shall contend with him? Who shall lift shall shave my head, & pluck out my beard, & make a show of me. And the spirit of pro-phecy~~.~~ shall come upon me despite me ~~Ever~~ ever & anon, as even now upon my heart & upon my throat & upon my tongue seared with strong acid are the words: vim patior. For so must I give glory to him that hath supplanted me, that hath cast me down into the dust. I have hated him, & with hate my bones are rotten. I would have spat upon him, & my spittle hath befouled my beard. I have taken up the sword against him, & I am fallen upon it.

And mine entrails are about my feet. Who shall strive with his might? Hath he not the sword & the spear of the warrior=lord of the Sun? Who shall contend with him? Who shall lift himself up against him? For the latchet of his sandal is more than the helmet of the Most High. Who shall reach up to him in supplication, save those that he shall set upon his shoulders? Would God that my tongue were torn out by the roots, & my throat cut across, & my heart torn out & given to the vultures, before I say this that I must say: ~~Bles~~ Blessing & worship to the Prophet of ~~the~~ the Lovely Star.

And now he is fallen quite to the ground in a heap, & dust is upon his head, & the throne upon which he sat is shattered into many pieces. And dimly dawning in this unutterable gloom, far, far above, is the face that is the face of a man & of a woman, himself up against him? For the latchet of his sandal is more than the helmet of the Most High. Who shall reach up to him in supplication, save those that he shall set upon his shoulders? Would God that my tongue were torn out by the roots, & my throat cut across, & my heart torn out & given to the vultures, before I say this that I must say: ~~Bless~~ Blessing & Worship to the Prophet of ~~the~~ the Lovely Star!

And now he is fallen quite to the ground, in a heap, & dust is upon his head, & the throne upon which he sat is shattered into many pieces. And dimly dawning in this unutterable gloom, far, far above, is the face that is the face of a man & of a woman, & upon the brow is a circle, & upon the breast is a circle, & in the palm of the right hand is a circle. Gigantic is his stature, & he hath the Uraeus crown, & the leopard's skin, & the flaming orange ~~of the~~ apron of a god. And invisibly about him is Nuit, & in his heart is Hadit, & between his feet is the great god Ra Hoor Khuit. And in his right hand is a flaming wand, & in his left a book. Yet is he silent, & that which is under-stood between him & me shall not be revealed in this place. And the mystery shall be revealed to whomsoever shall say, with ecstasy of worship in his heart, with a clear mind, & a passionate body; It is the voice of a god, & not of a man.

And now all that glory

& upon the brow is a circle,
& upon the breast is a circle,
& in the palm of the right hand is a circle. Gigantic is his stature, & he hath the Uræus crown, & the leopard's skin, & the flaming orange ~~of the~~ apron of a god. And invisibly about him is Nuit, & in his heart is Hadit, & between his feet is the great god Ra Hoor Khuit. And in his right hand is a flaming wand, & in his left a book. Yet is he silent, & that which is under-stood between him & me shall not be revealed in this place.
And the mystery shall be revealed to whosoever shall say, with ecstasy of worship in his heart, with a clear mind, & a passionate body; It is the voice of a god, & not of a man.
        And now all that glory

hath withdrawn itself, & the old King lies prostrate, abject x. And the virgin that rode upon the bull cometh forth, led by all those those Angels of the Holy Sevenfold Table, & they are dancing round her with garlands & sheaves of flowers, loose robes & hair dancing in the wind. And she smiles upon me with infinite brilliance, so that the whole Aethyr, & flew her warm, & she says, with a subtle sub-meaning, pointing downwards: By this, that. ~~A~~

And I took her hand & kissed it, & I say to her: Am I not nearly purged of the iniquity of my forefathers?

With that she bends down, & kisses me on the mouth, and says: "Yet a little, & on thy left arm shalt thou carry a man-child, & give him to drink hath withdrawn itself, & the old King lies prostate, abject.

And the virgin that rode upon the bull cometh forth, led by all those Angels of the Holy Sevenfold Table, & they are dancing round her with garlands & sheaves of flowers, loose robes & hair dancing in the wind. And she smiles upon me with infinite brilliance, so that the whole Æthyr flushes warm, & she says with a subtle sub-meaning, pointing downwards:
By this, that. ₳
And I took her hand
& kissed it, & I say to her: Am I not nearly purged of the iniquity of my forefathers?
With that she bends
down, & kisses me on the mouth, and says: “Yet a little, & on thy left arm shalt thou carry a man-child, & give him to drink

of the milk of thy breasts. But I go dancing."

And I wave my hand, & the Aethyr is empty & dark, & I bow myself before it in the sign that I, & only I, may know. And I sink through waves of blackness, poised on an eagle, down, down, down.

And I give the sign that only I may know.

And now there is nothing in the stone but the black cross of Themis, & on it these words: Memento Sequor. (These words probably mean that Equinox of Horus is to be followed by that of Themis.)

Bou-Sâada. 4.50 – 6.5, p.m.
Dec: 2, 1909.

of the milk of thy breasts. But I go dancing."

And I wave my hand, & the Æthyr is empty & dark, & I bow myself before it in the sign that I, & only I, may know. And I sink through waves of blackness, poised on an eagle, down, down, down.

And I give the sign that only I may know.

And now there is nothing in the stone but the black cross of Themis, & on it these words: Memento Sequor. (Those words probably mean that Equinox of Horus is to be followed by that of Themis.)

Bou-Sâada. 4.50-6.5, p.m. .
Dec: 2, 1909.

The Cry of the 15th Aethyr, which is called OXO.

There appears immediately in the Aethyr a tremendous column of scarlet fire, whirling forth, rebounding, crying aloud. And about it are four columns of green & blue & gold & silver, each inscribed with writings in the character of the dagger. And the column of fire is dancing among the pillars. Now it seems that the fire is but the skirt of the dancer, & the dancer is a mighty god. The vision is overpowering. And as the dancer whirls, she chants in a strange, slow voice, quickening as she goes: ~~This~~ Lo! I gather up every spirit that is pure, & weave him into my vesture of flame. I lick up the lives of men, & their souls sparkle from mine eyes. I am the mighty Sorceress, the lust of the spirit. And by my dancing I gather for

The Cry of the 15th Æthyr, which is called OXO.

There appears immediately in the Æthyr a tremendous column of scarlet fire, whirling forth, rebounding, crying aloud. And about it are four columns of green & blue & gold & silver, each inscribed with writings in the character of the dagger. And the column of fire is dancing among the pillars. Now it seems that the fire is but the skirt of the dancer, & the dancer is a mighty god. The vision is overpowering. And as the dancer whirls, she chants in a strange, slow voice, quickening as she goes: ~~This &~~ Lo! I gather up every spirit that is pure, & weave him into my vesture of flame. I lick up the lives of men, & their souls sparkle from mine eyes. I am the mighty sorceress, the lust of the spirit. And by my dancing I gather for

Nuit = Babalon
Herodias & Salome
legend is this

Nuit = Babalon
Herodias & Salome
legend is this

my mother Nuit the heads of all them that are baptised in the waters of life. I am the lust of the spirit that eateth up the soul of man. I have prepared a feast for the adepts, & they that partake thereof shall see God.

And now it is clear what she has woven in her dance; it is the Crimson Rose of 49 Petals, & the pillars are the Cross with which it is conjoined. And between the pillars shoot out rays of pure green fire, & now all the pillars are golden. And she ceases to dance & dwindles, gathering herself into the centre of the Rose. And now it is seen that the Rose is a vast amphitheatre, with seven tiers, each tier divided into seven partitions. And they that sit in the Amphitheatre are the seven grades of the Order of the Rosy Cross. This Amphitheatre my mother Nuit the heads of all them that are baptized in the waters of life. I am the lust of the spirit that eateth up the soul of man. I have prepared a feast for the adepts, & they that partake thereof shall see God.

And now it is clear what she has woven in her dance; it is the Crimson Rose of 49 Petals, & the Pillars are the Cross with which it is conjoined. And between the pillars shoot out rays of pure green fire, & now all the pillars are golden. And she ceases to dance & dwindles, gather-ing herself into the centre of the Rose. And now it is seen that the Rose is a vast ampitheatre, with seven tiers, each tier divided into seven partitions. And they that sit in the Amphitheatre are the seven grades of the Order of the Rosy Cross. This Amphitheatre

is built of rose-coloured marble, & of its size I can say only that the sun might be used as a ball to be thrown by the players in the arena. But in the arena there is a little altar of emerald, and its top has ~~four beasts~~ the heads of the four Beasts, in turquoise and rock-crystal. And the floor of the arena is ridged like a grating of lapis lazuli. And it is full of pure quicksilver. Now above the altar is a veiled Figure, whose name is Pan. And those in the outer Tier ~~call~~ adore him as a Man; and in the next Tier they adore him as a Goat; and in the next Tier they adore him as a Ram; & in the next Tier they adore him as a Crab; & in the next Tier they adore him as an Ibis; & in the next Tier they adore him as a Golden Hawk; & in the next Tier they adore him not. And now the light streameth out

is built of rose-coloured marble, & of its size I can say only that the sun might be used as a ball to be thrown by the players in the arena. But in the arena there is a little altar of emerald, and its top has ~~four beasts~~ the heads of the Four Beasts, in turquoise and rock-crystal. And the floor of the arena is ridged like a grating of lapis lazuli. And it is full of pure quicksilver. Now above the altar is a veiled Figure, whose name is Pan. And those in the outer Tier ~~call~~ adore him as a Man; and in the next Tier they adore him as a Goat; and in the next Tier they adore him as a Ram; & in the next Tier they adore him as a Crab; & in the next Tier they adore him as an Ibis; & in the next Tier they adore him as a Golden Hawk; & in the next Tier they adore him not. And now the light streameth out from the altar, splashed out by the feet of him that is above it. And it is the Holy Twelvefold Table OIT. And the voice of him that is above the altar is silent. But the echo thereof cometh back from the walls of the circus, & is speech. And this is the speech: Three & four are the days of a quarter of the moon, & on the seventh day is the Sabbath, but thrice four is the Sabbath of the Adepts whereof the form is revealed in the Aethyr ZID, that is the Eighth of the Aires. And the mysteries of the Table shall not be wholly revealed, nor shall they be revealed herein. But thou shalt gather of the sweat of thy brow a pool of clear water wherein this shall be revealed. And of the oil that thou burnest in the midnight, shall be gathered together thirteen rivers of blessing, & of from the altar, splashed out by the feet of him that is above it. And it is the Holy Twelvefold Table OIT. And the voice ~~of~~ of him that is above the altar is silent. But the echo thereof cometh back from the walls of the circus, & is speech.

And this is the speech: Three & four are the days of a quarter of the moon, & on the seventh day is the sabbath, but thrice four is the Sabbath of the Adepts whereof the form is revealed in the Æthyr ZID, that is the Eighth of the Aires.
And the mysteries of the Table shall not be wholly revealed, nor shall they be revealed herein.
But thou shalt gather of the sweat of thy brow a pool of clear water wherein this shall be revealed. And of the oil that thou burnest in the midnight, shall be gathered together thirteen rivers of blessing, & of the oil & the water, I will prepare a wine to intoxicate the young men & the maidens.

And now the Table is become the universe, every star is a letter of the Book of Enoch. And the Book of Enoch is drawn therefrom by an inscrutable Mystery, that is known only to the Angels of the Holy Sevenfold Table. ~~As~~ I have been gazing upon this ~~tablet~~ while, an Adept has come forth, one from each Tier, except the inmost Tier.

n.p. — And the first drove a dagger into my heart, & tasted the blood, & saith:

Καθάρος Καθαρος Καθάρος Καθ-
-αρος Καθαρος Καθαρος. A

And the second Adept has been testing the muscles of my right arm & shoulder, & he says fortis fortis fortis fortis fortis.

And the third Adept examines the skin & tastes the sweat of my left arm, ~~& says~~, & says

the oil & the water, I will prepare a wine to intoxicate the young men
& the maidens.
　　And now the Table is become the universe, every star is a letter of the Book of Enoch. And the Book of Enoch is drawn therefrom by an inscrutable Mystery, that is known only to the Angels of the Holy Sevenfold Table. ~~As~~ While I have been gazing upon this table, an Adept has come forth, one from each Tier, except the inmost Tier.
And the first drove a dagger into my heart, & tasted the blood, & saith:
καθαρος καθαρος καθαρος καθ-
-αρος καθαρος καθαρος ~~&~~
And the second Adept has been testing the muscles of my right arm & shoulder, & he says:
fortis fortis fortis fortis fortis.
　　And the third Adept examines the skin & tastes the sweat of my left arm, & says

TAN TAN TAN TAN.

And the fourth Adept examines my neck, & seems to approve, though he says nothing, & he has opened the ~~right~~ right half of my brain, & he makes some examination, & says samajh samajh samajh.

And the fifth Adept, examines the left half of my brain, & then holds up his hand in protest, & says ~~pla~~ PLA........ [I cannot get the sentence, but the meaning is; In the thick darkness the seed awaiteth spring.]

And now I am again rapt in contemplation of that universe of letters, which are stars.

The words ORLO, ILRO, TULE are three most secret names of God. They are magick names, each having an interpretation of the same kind as the interpretation of I.N.R.I., & the names OIT, ~~RLU~~ RLU, LRL, ODE are other names of God,

TAN TAN TAN TAN.

And the fourth Adept examines my neck, & seems to approve, though he says nothing, & he hath opened the ~~right~~ right half of my brain, & he makes some examination, & says samajh samajh samajh.

And the fifth Adept examines the left half of my brain, & then holds up his hand in protest, & says ~~pla~~ PLA . . . . [I cannot get the sentence, but the meaning is; In the thick darkness the seed awaiteth spring.]

And now am I again rapt in contemplation of that universe of letters, which are stars.

The words ORLO, ILRO, TULE are three most secret names of God. They are magick names, each having an interpretation of the same kind as the interpretation of I.N.R.I., & the name OIT, ~~RLU~~ RLU, LRL, OOE are other names of God, that contain magical formulae, ~~the~~ the first to invoke fire; the second, water; the third, air; & the fourth, earth.

And if the Table be read diagonally, every letter, & every combination of letters, is the name of a devil. And from these are drawn the formulae of evil magick. But the holy letter I above the triad LLL dominateth the Table, & preserveth the peace of the universe.

And in the seven talis-mans about the central Table are contained the Mysteries of drawing forth the letters. And the letters of the circumference declare the glory of Nuit, that beginneth from Aries.

All this while the Adepts have been chanting, as it were, an oratorio for seven instruments. And this oratorio hath one dominant theme of rapture. For it applieth to every that contain magical formulae, ~~the~~ the first to invoke fire; the second, water; the third, air; & the fourth, earth.

And if the Table be read diagonally, every letter, & every combination of letters, is the name of a devil. And from these are drawn the formulae of evil magick. But the holy letter I above the triad LLL dominateth the Table, & preserveth the peace of the universe.

And in the seven talis-mans about the central Table are contained the mysteries of drawing forth the letters. And the letters of the circumference declare the glory of Nuit, that beginneth from Ariës.

All this while the Adepts must have been chanting as it were, an oratorio~~,~~ for seven instruments. And this oratorio hath one dominant theme of rapture. Yet it applieth to every detail of the universe as well as to the whole. And herein is Choronzon brought utterly to ruin, that all his work is against his will, not only in ~~th~~ the whole, but in every part thereof, even ~~as a~~ as a fly that walketh upon a ~~burial~~ beryl-stone.

And the tablet blazeth ever brighter till it filleth the whole Aire. And behold! there is one God therein, & the letters of the stars in his crown, Orion, & the Pleiades, & Aldebaran, & ~~other stars I cannot read, beginning with~~ α*, & ~~Cor Leonis~~ Cor Leonis, & Cor Scorpionis, & Spica, & the pole-star, & Hercules, & Regulus, & Aquila, & the Ram's Eye. ~~And~~

And upon a map of the stars shalt thou draw the sigil of that name, & because also some of the letters are alike, thou shalt know that the stars also detail of the universe as well as to the whole. And herein is Choronzon brought utterly to ruin, that all his work is against his will, not only in the whole, but in every part thereof, even ~~as a~~ as a fly that walketh upon a ~~burial-~~beryl-stone.

---

* Alpha Centauri.

And the tablet blazeth ever brighter till it filleth the whole Aire. And behold! there is one God therein, & the letters of the stars in his crown, Orion, & the Pleiades, & Aldebaran, & ~~other stars I can nnot read, beginning with a~~*, & ~~Cor Leonis~~ Cor Leonis, & Cor Scorpionis, & Spica, & the pole-star, & Hercules, & Regulus, & Aquila, & the Ram's Eye. ~~And~~

And upon a map of the stars shalt thou draw the sigil of that name; & because also some of the letters are alike, thou shalt know that the stars also have tribes & nations. The letter of a star is but the totem thereof. And the letter representeth not the whole nature of the star, but each star must be known by itself in the wisdom of him that hath the cyno-cephalus in leash.

---

*Alpha Centauri.

And this pertaineth unto the grade of a Magus, & that is beyond thine. [All this is communicated not by voice, or by writing, ~~but~~ & there is no form in the stone, but only the brilliance of the Tablet. And now I am withdrawn from all that, but the Rosy Cross of 49 petals is set upright upon the summit of a pyramid, & all is dark, because of the exceeding light behind.

And there cometh a voice: "The fly cried unto the ox, 'Beware! Strengthen thyself. Set ~~thy~~ thy feet firmly upon the earth, for it is my purpose to alight between thy shoulders, & I would not harm thee.'" have tribes & nations. The letter of a star is but the totem thereof.

And the letter representeth not the whole nature of the star, but each star must be known by itself in the wisdom of him that hath the cyno~cephalus in leash.

And this pertaineth unto the grade of a Magus, & that is beyond thine. ([)All this is com-municated not by voice, or by writing, ~~]and~~ & there is no form in the stone, but only the brilliance of the Table. And now I am withdrawn from all that, but the Rosy Cross of 49 petals is set upright upon the summit of a pyramid, & all is dark,
because of the exceeding light behind.

And there cometh a voice: "The fly cried unto the ox,
'Beware! Strengthen thyself. Set ~~thy~~ thy feet firmly upon the earth, for it is my purpose to alight between thy shoulders, & I would not harm thee.'

So also are they who wish well
unto the ~~Masters~~ Masters of the Pyramid.
And the bee said unto the flower: Give me of thine honey, & the flower gave richly thereof, but the bee, though he wist it not, carried the seed of the flower into many fields of sun. So also are they that take unto themselves
the Masters of the Pyramid for n.p. servants. ¶ And the exceeding light that was behind the Pyramid & the Rosy Cross that is set thereon hath fulfilled the whole Aire. And the black Pyramid is like the back of a black Diamond. And the Rosy Cross is loosened, & the petals of the Rose are the mingled hue of sunset & of dawn, & the Cross is ~~the~~ the golden light of noon, &
in the heart of the Rose there is the secret light that men call midnight.

And a voice crieth:

Glory to God, & thanksgiving to God,

So also are they who wish well
unto the ~~Masters~~ Masters of the Pyramid.
And the bee said unto the flower:
'Give me of thine honey', & the flower gave richly thereof, but the bee, though he wit it not, carried the seed of the flower into many fields of sun. So also are they that take unto themselves
the Masters of the Pyramid for servants. And the exceeding light that was behind the Pyramid & the Rosy Cross that is set thereon hath fulfilled the whole Aire. And
the black Pyramid is like the back of a black diamond. And
the Rosy Cross is loosened, & the petals of the Rose are the mingled hues
of sunset & of dawn, & the Cross
is ~~the~~ the golden light of noon, &
in the heart of the Rose there is the secret light that men call
midnight.
And a voice crieth:
Glory to God, & thanksgiving to God,

& there is no god but God. And He is exalted; He is great, & in the Sevenfold Table is His Name writ openly, & in the Twelvefold Table is His Name concealed.

And the Pyramid casts a shadow of itself into the sky, & the shadow spreads over the whole stone. And ~~and~~ an Angel, clad in blue & scarlet, with golden & wings, & plumes of purple fire, comes forth, & scatters discs of green & gold, filling all the Aire. And they become swiftly-whirling wheels, singing together.

And the voice of the Angel cries: Gather up thy garments about thee, [From the examination in the Amphitheatre, I have been a naked spirit, without garments or anything, & by 'garments' he means the body.] O thou that hast entered the Circle of the Sabbath, for in thy grave-clothes

& there is no God but God. And He is exalted; He is great, & in the Sevenfold Table is His Name writ openly, & in the Twelvefold Table is His Name concealed.

And the Pyramid casts a shadow of itself into the sky, & the shadow spreads over the whole stone. And ~~and~~ an angel clad in blue & scarlet, with golden ~~&~~ wings, & plumes of purple fire, comes forth, & scatters disks of green & gold, filing all the Aire. And they become swiftly--whirling wheels, singing together.

And the voice of the Angel cries: Gather up thy garments about thee, [From the examination in the Ampitheatre, I have been a naked spirit, without garments or anything, & by garments he means the body.] O thou that hast entered the Circle of the Sabbath, for in thy grave-clothes shouldest thou behold the resurrection. The flesh hangeth upon thee like his rags upon a beggar, that is a pilgrim to the shrine of the Exalted One. Nevertheless, bear them bravely, & rejoice in the beauty thereof, for the company of the pilgrims is a glad company, & they have no care, & with song & dance & wine & fair women do they make merry. And every hostel is their palace, And every maid their queen. Gather up thy garments about thee, I say, for the voice of the Aethyr, that is the voice of the Aeon, is ended, & thou art absorbed into the lesser night, & caught in the web of the light of thy mother in the word

ARBADAHARBA.

And now the five & the six are divorced, & I am come again within my body.

Boû-Saâda. Dec: 3, 1909.
9.15 – 11.10, a.m.

shouldest thou behold the resurrection. The flesh hangeth upon thee like his rags upon a beggar, that is a pilgrim to the shrine of the Exalted One. Nevertheless, bear them bravely, & rejoice in the beauty thereof, for the company of the pilgrims is a glad company, & they have no care, & with song & dance & wine & fair women do they make merry. And every hostel is their place, ~~A~~and every maid their queen. Gather up thy garments about thee, I say, for the voice of the Æthyr that is the voice of the æon, is ended, & thou art absorbed into the lesser night, & caught in the web of the light of thy mother in the word ARBADAHARBA.

And now the five & the six are divorced, & I am come again within my body.

Bou-Saada. Dec: 3, 1909.
9.15 to 11.10 a.m. .

The Cry of the 14th Aethyr, which is called UTI.

There comes into the stone a white goat, a green dragon, and a tawny bull. But they pass away immediately. There is a veil of such darkness before the Aethyr that it seems impossible to pierce it. But there is a voice saying: Behold, the Great One of the Night of Time stirreth, & with his tail he churneth up the slime, & of the foam thereof shall he make stars. And in the battle of the Python & the Sphinx shall the glory be to the Sphinx, but the victory to the Python.

Now the veil of darkness is formed of a very great number of exceedingly fine black veils, & one tears them off one at a time. And the voice says, there is no light or knowledge or beauty or stability in the Kingdom of the Grave, whither thou goest. And the worm is crowned. All that thou wast hath he eaten up, & all that thou art is his portion until tomorrow.

The Cry of the 14th Æthyr, which is called UTI.

There come into the stone a white goat, a green dragon, and a tawny bull. But they pass away immediately. There is a veil of such darkness before the Æthyr that it seems impossible to pierce it. But there is a voice saying: Behold, the Great One of the Night of Time stirreth, & with his tail he churneth up the slime, & of the foam thereof shall he make stars. And in the battle of the Python & the Sphinx shall the glory be to the Sphinx, but the victory to the Python.

Now the veil of darkness is formed of a very great number of exceedingly fine black veils, & one tears them off one at a time. And the voice says, there is no light or knowledge or beauty or stability in the Kingdom of the Grave, whither thou goest. And the worm is crowned. All that thou wast hath he eaten up, & all that thou art is his pasture until tomorrow.

And all that thou shalt be is nothing. Thou who wouldst enter the Domain of the Great One of the Night of Time, this burden must thou take up. Deeper not a superficies.

But I go on tearing down the veil that I may behold the vision of UTI, & hear the voice thereof. And there is a voice: He hath drawn the black bean. And another voice answers it: Not otherwise could he plant the Rose. And the first voice: He hath drunk of the waters of Death. The answer: Not otherwise could he water the Rose. And the first voice: He hath burnt himself at the ~~fires~~ fires of Life. And the answer: Not otherwise could he sun the Rose.

And the first voice is so faint I cannot hear it. But the answer is: Not otherwise could he pluck the Rose. And still I go on, struggling with the blackness. And now there is an earthquake. And the veil is torn into thousands of pieces that go flying away in a whirling wind. And there is an

~~a~~And all that thou shalt be is nothing.
Thou who wouldst enter the domain of the Great One of the Night of Time, this burden must thou take up. Deepen not a superficies.

But I go on tearing down
the veil that I may behold the vision of UTI, & hear the voice thererof. And there is a voice: He hath drawn the black bean.
And another voice answers it: Not otherwise could he plant the ~~r~~Rose. And the first voice: He hath drunk of the waters of death. The answer: Not otherwise could he water the Rose. And the first voice:
He hath burnt himself at the ~~fires~~ Fires of life. And the answer: Not otherwise could he sun the Rose.

And the first voice is so faint that I cannot hear it. But the answer is:
Not otherwise could he pluck the Rose.
And still I go on, struggling with the blackness. And now there is an earthquake. And the veil is torn into thousands of pieces that go flying away in a whirling wind. And there is an

The Desert, near Bou-Saâda, Dec: 3, 1909. 2.50– 3.15, A.m..

all-glorious Angel before me, standing in the sign of Apophis & Typhon. And on his forehead is a star, but all about him is darkness, & the crying of beasts. And there are lamps moving in the darkness. And the Angel says: Depart! For thou must invoke me only in the darkness. Therein will I appear, & reveal unto thee the Mystery of UTI. For the Mystery thereof is great & terrible. And it shall not be spoken in sight of the sun. Therefore I withdraw myself.

[Thus far the vision upon Da'leh Addin ~~Jebel Zaa'b~~ ~~in the~~ a mountain in the desert near Bou-Saada.]

~~(2.50–3.15, p.m., Dec 3, 1909.)~~

The Angel re-appears.

And the blackness gathers about, so thick, so clinging, so penetrating, so oppressive, that all the other darkness that I have ever conceived would be like bright light beside it. His voice comes in a whisper: O thou that art master of the fifty gates of understanding, is not my mother a all-glorious Angel before me, standing in the sign of Apophis & Typhon. And on his Forehead is a star, but all about him is darkness, & the crying of beasts. And there are lamps moving in the darkness. And the Angel says: Depart! For thou must invoke me only in the darkness. Therein will I appear, & reveal unto thee the Mystery of UTI. For the Mystery thereof is great & terrible. And it shall not be spoken in sight of the sun. Therefore I withdraw myself.

[Thus far the vision upon ~~Jebel Zaa'b~~ Da'leh Addin, ~~in the~~ a mountain in the desert near Bou-Saada.]

~~(2.50-3.15, p.m., Dec:3, 1909.)~~

The Angel re-appears.

And the blackness gathers about, so thick, so clinging, so penetrating, so oppressive, that all the other darkness that I have ever conceived would be like bright light beside it. His voice comes in a whisper: O thou that art master of the fifty gates of understanding, is not my mother a black woman! O thou that art master

~~of the topmost point~~ of the Pentagram,
is not the egg of spirit a black egg?
Here abideth terror, & the blind ache
of the soul, and Lo! even
I, who am the sole light, a spark shut
up, stand in the sign of Apophis & Typhon.
I am the Snake that devoureth the spirit of man with the lust of light.
I am the sightless ~~F~~ storm in the night that wrappeth the world about with desolation. Chaos is my name, & thick darkness. Know thou that the darkness of the earth is ruddy, & the darkness of the air is grey, but the darkness of the soul is utter blackness. The egg of the spirit is a basilisk egg, & the gates of the understanding are fifty,
that is the sign of the scorpion.
The pillars about the neophyte are crowned with flame, & the vault
of the Adepts is lighted by the Rose. And in the abyss is the eye

black woman? O thou that art master
~~of the topmost point~~ of the Pentagram,
is not the egg of spirit a black egg?
Here abideth terror, & the blind ache
of the Soul, and   Lo! even
I, who am the sole light, a spark shut
up, stand in the sign of Apophis & Typhon.
I am the ~~s~~Snake that devoureth the spirit of man with the lust of light.

I am the sightless  storm in the night that wrappeth the world about with desolation. Chaos is my name, & thick darkness. Know thou that the darkness of the earth is ruddy, & the darkness of the air is grey, but the darkness of the soul
is utter blackness. The egg of the spirit is a basilisk egg, & the gates of the understanding are fifty,
that is the sign of the Scorpion.
The pillars about the neophyte are
crowned with flame, & the vault
of the Adepts is lighted by the Rose. And in the abyss is the eye of the hawk. But upon the great sea shall the Master of the Temple find neither star nor moon.

And I was about to answer him: "The light is within me." But before I could frame the words, he answered me with the great word that is the key of the abyss. And he said: Thou hast entered the night; dost thou yet lust for day? Sorrow is my name, & affliction. I am girt about with tribulation. Here still hangs the Crucified One, & here the mother weeps over the children that she hath not borne. Sterility is my name, & desolation. Intolerable is thine ache, & incurable thy wound.

[illegible] I said, = let the darkness cover me, & behold, I am compassed about with the blackness that hath no name. O thou, who hast ~~passed~~ cast down the light into the earth, so must thou do for ever. And the light of the sun shall not shine of the hawk. But upon the great sea shall the Master of the Temple find neither star nor moon.

And I was about to answer him: “The light is within me.” But before I could frame the words, he answered me with the great word that is the Key of the abyss. And he said: Thou hast entered the night; dost thou yet lust for day? Sorrow is my name, & affliction. I am girt about with tribulation. Here still hangs the Crucified One, & here the Mother weeps over the children that she hath not borne. Sterility is my name, & desolation. Intolerable is thine ache, & incurable thy wound.

I said, Let the darkness cover me; & behold, I am compassed about with the blackness that hath no name. O thou, who hast ~~passed~~ cast down the light into the earth, so must thou do for ever. And the light of the sun shall not shine upon thee, & the moon shall not lend thee of her lustre, & the stars shall be hidden, because~~th~~ thou art passed beyond these things, beyond the need of these things, beyond the desire of these things.

What I thought were shapes of rocks, rather felt than seen, now appear to be veiled Masters, sitting absolutely still & silent. Nor can any one be distinguished from the others. And the Angel sayeth: Behold where thine Angel hath led thee! Thou didst ask ~~fame~~ & power & pleasure health & wealth and love} & strength & length of days.

Thou didst hold life with eight tentacles, like an octopus. Thou didst seek the four powers & the seven delights and the twelve emancipations & the two & twenty Privileges & the nine & forty ~~[illegible]~~ Manifestations, & lo! thou art become as one of these. Bowed are their backs, whereon upon thee, & the moon shall not lend thee of her lustre, & the stars shall be hidden, because  thou art passed beyond these things, beyond the need of these things, beyond the desire of these things.

What I thought were shapes of rocks, rather felt than seen, now appear to be veiled Masters, sitting absolutely still & silent. Nor can any one be distinguished from the others. And the Angel sayeth: Behold where thine Angel hath led thee! Thou didst ask fame, power & pleasure health & wealth and love, & strength & length of days. Thou didst hold life with eight tentacles, like an octopus. Thou didst seek the four powers & the seven delights and the twelve emancipations & the two & twenty Privileges & the nine & forty ~~fold~~ Manifestations, & lo! thou art become as one of these. Bowed are their backs, whereon resteth the universe. Veiled are their faces, that have beheld the glory ineffable.

These adepts seem like Pyramids,—their hoods & robes are like pyramids.

And the Angel sayeth: Verily is the pyramid a Temple of Initiation. Verily also is it a tomb. Thinkest thou that there is life within the Masters of the Temple, that sit hooded, encamped upon the Sea? Verily, there is no life in them. Their sandals were the pure light, & they have taken them from off their feet, and cast them down through the abyss, for this Aethyr is holy ground. Herein no forms appear, & the vision of God face to face, that is transmuted in the Athanor called Dissolution, or hammered into one in the forge of meditation is in this place but a blasphemy & a mockery. And the beatific vision is resteth the universe. Veiled are their faces, that have beheld the glory ineffable.

These adepts seem like Pyramids, – their hoods & robes are like Pyramids.

And the Angel sayeth:
Verily is the Pyramid a Temple of Initiation. Verily also is it a tomb. Thinkest thou that there is life within the Masters of the Temple, ~~O~~ that sit hooded, encamped upon the Sea? Verily, there is no life in them. Their sandals were the pure light, & they have taken them from their feet and cast them down through the abyss, for this Æthyr is holy ground. Herein no forms appear, & the vision of God face to face, that is transmuted in the Athanor called Dissolution, or hammered into one in the forge of meditation is in this place but a blasphemy & a mockery. And the beatific vision is no more, & the glory of the Most High is no more. There is no more knowledge. There is no more bliss. There is no more power. There is no more beauty. For this is the Palace of Understanding. For thou art one with the primaeval things. Drink in the myrrh of my speech, that is bruised with the gall of the roc, & dissolved in the ink of the cuttle-fish, & perfumed with the deadly nightshade. This is thy wine, who wast drunk upon the wine of Iacchus. And for bread shalt thou eat salt, O thou on the corn of Ceres that didst wax fat. For as pure being is pure nothing, so is pure wisdom pure

And so is pure understanding, silence, & stillness, & darkness. The Eye is called seventy, & the triple [illegible] [Aleph] whereby thou perceivest it, divideth into the number of the terrible word that is the Key of no more, & the glory of the Most High is no more. There is no more knowledge. There is no more bliss. There is no more power. There is no more beauty. For this is the Palace of Understanding. For thou art one with the Primeval things.

Drink in the myrrh of my speech, that is bruised with the gall of the roc, & dissolved in the ink of the cuttle-fish, & perfumed with the deadly nightshade. This is thy wine, who wast drunk upon the wine of Iacchus. And for bread shalt thou eat salt, O thou on the corn of Ceres that didst wax fat.
For as pure being is pure nothing,
so is pure wisdom pure

And so is pure understanding silence, & stillness, & darkness. The Eye is called seventy, & the triple

[Aleph] whereby thou perceivest it, divideth into the number of the terrible word that is the Key of the abyss. I am Hermes, that am sent from the Father to expound all things discreetly in these, the last words that thou shalt hear before thou take thy seat among these, whose eyes are sealed up, & whose ears are stopped, & whose mouths are clenched, who are folded in upon themselves, the liquor of whose bodies is dried up, so that nothing remains but a little pyramid of dust. And that bright light of comfort, & that piercing sword of truth, & all that power & beauty, that they have had. made of themselves, is cast from them, as it written, 'I saw Satan like lightning fall from Heaven.' And as a flaming sword is it dropt through the abyss, where the four beasts keep watch & ward. And it appeareth in the heaven of Jupiter as a morning star, or as an evening star. And the light thereof shineth even unto the earth, & bringeth the Abyss. I am Hermes, that am sent from the Father to expound all things discreetly in these, the last words that thou shalt hear before thou take thy seat among these, whose eyes are sealed up, & whose ears are stopped, & whose mouths are clenched, who are folded in upon themselves,

the liquor of whose bodies is dried up,
so that nothing remains but a little pyramid of dust. And that bright light of comfort, & that piercing sword of truth, & all that power & beauty, that they have had made of themselves, is cast from them, as it is written, 'I saw Satan like lightning fall from Heaven.' And as a flaming sword is it ~~dropped~~ dropt through the abyss, where the four beasts keep watch & ward. And it appeareth in the heaven of Jupiter as a morning star, or as an evening star. And the light thereof shineth even unto the earth, & bringeth

hope & help to them that dwell in the darkness of thought, & drink of the poison of life. Fifty are the gates of Understanding, & one hundred and six are the seasons thereof. And the name of every season is Death.

During all this speech, the figure of the Angel has dwindled & flickered, & now it is gone out.

And I come back into the body, rushing like a flame in a great wind. And the shew-stone has become warm, & in it is its own light.

Dâleh-Addin, Bou-Saâda, 2.50 – 3.15, p.m.,
Bou-Saâda, 9.50 – 11.15, p.m.,
Dec: 3, 1909.

hope & help to them that dwell in the darkness of thought, & drink of the poison of life. Fifty are the gates of understanding, & one hundred and six are the seasons thereof. And the name of every season is Death.

During all this speech, the figure of the Angel has dwindled & flickered, & now it is gone out.

And I come back into the body, rushing like a flame in a great wind. And the shew-stone has become warm, & in it is its own light.

Da'laj-Uzdin, Bou-Saâda, 2.50-3.15, p.m.,
Bou-Saâda. 9.50-11.15 p.m.,
Dec: 3, 1909.

The Cry of the 13th Aethyr,
which is called ZIM.

Into the stone there cometh an image of shining waters, glistening in the sun. Unfathomable is their beauty, for they are limpid, & the floor is of gold. Yet the sense thereof is of fruitlessness, & an Angel cometh forth, of pure pale gold, walking upon the water. Above his head is a rainbow, & the water foams beneath his feet. And he saith: Before his face am I come that hath the thirty-three thunders of increase in his hand. From the golden water shalt thou gather corn.

W.P. All the Aire behind him is gold, but it opens as it were a veil. And there are two terrible black giants, wrestling in mortal hatred. And there is a little bird upon a bush, & the bird flaps its wings. And the strength of the giants snaps. And they fall in heaps to the earth, as though all their bones were suddenly broken. And now waves of light roll through the Aethyr, as if they were playing. ~~And~~ I am therefore suddenly

The cry of the 13th Æthyr,
which is called ZIM.

Into the stone there cometh an image of shining waters, glistening in the sun.
Unfathomable is their beauty, for they are limpid,
& the floor is of gold. Yet the sense thereof is of fruitlessness, , & an Angel cometh forth, of pure pale gold, walking upon the water.
Above his head is a rainbow, & the water foams beneath his feet. And he saith:
Before his face am I come that hath the thirty-three thunders of increase in his hand. From the golden water shalt thou gather corn.
All the Aire behind him is gold, but it opens as it were a veil. And there are two terrible black giants, wrestling in mortal hatred. And there is a little bird upon a bush, & the bird flaps its wings. And the strength of the giants snaps. And they fall in heaps to the earth, as though all their bones were suddenly broken. And now waves of light roll through the Æthyr, as if they were playing. ~~And~~ Therefore suddenly I am 888) 29

49) 1481
481
261
581
841

עמהנ = 165 = 11×15 ~~165~~

תירש = 910 = 13×70 = The Eye That is One

[illegible] = ~~[illegible]~~ 822

43 in a garden, upon a terrace of a great castle, that is upon a rocky mountain. And in the garden are fountains & many flowers. And there are girls in the garden, rather like Burne-Jones girls. And now I see that the flowers are the girls, for they change from one to the other; so vanid, & lucent, & harmonious is all this garden, that it seems like a great opal. A voice comes: This water which thou seest was called the water of death. But NEMO hath filled therefrom our springs. And I said: Who is NEMO? And the voice answered: A dolphin's tooth, & a ram's horns, and the hand of a man that is hanged, & the phallus of an goat. [By this I understand that nun is explained by shin, & he by ~~resh~~ Resh, & mem by yod, & ayin by tau. NEMO is therefore called 165 = 11×15 = ? & is in himself 910 = 91 Amen × 10 and 13×70 = The One Eye, Achad Aiyin] And now there cometh an angel into the garden, but hath not any of the attributes of the former angel, for he is like a young man, dressed in white linen robes. And he saith: No man hath beheld the face of my father. Therefore ~~hath~~ ~~he~~ that hath is he

in a garden, upon a terrace of a great castle, that is upon a rocky mountain. And in the garden are fountains & many flowers. And there are girls in the garden, rather like Burne-Jones girls. And now I see that the flowers are the girls, for they change from one to another; so varied, & lucent, & harmonious is all this garden, that it seems like a great opal. A voice comes: This water which thou seest is called the water of death. But NEMO hath filled therefrom our springs. And I said: Who is NEMO? And the voice answered: A dolphin's tooth, & a ram's horns, ~~A~~and the hand of a man that is hanged, & the phallus of a goat. [By this I understand that nun is explained by shin, & hé by ~~resh vau~~ Resh, & mem by yod, & ayin by tau. NEMO is therefore called 165 = 11 x 15 = ? & is in himself 910 = 91Amen x 10 and 13 x 70 = The One Eye, Achad Ayin.]

And now there cometh an Angel into the garden, but he hath not any of the attributes of the former Angels, for he is like a young man, dressed in white linen robes. And he saith: No man hath beheld the face of my Father. Therefore ~~hath~~ he that ~~he~~ is he that hath behold it S called NEMO. And know thou that every man that is called NEMO hath a garden that he tendeth. And every garden that is & flourisheth hath been prepared from the desert by NEMO, watered with the waters that were called death.

And I said to him: To what end is the garden prepared? And he saith: First for the beauty & delight thereof, & next because it is written, "And Tetragrammaton Elohim planted a garden eastward in Eden." And lastly, because though every flower bringeth forth a maiden, yet is there one flower that shall bring forth a man-child. And his name shall be called NEMO, when he beholdeth the face of my Father. And he that tendeth the garden seeketh not to single out the flower that shall be NEMO. He doeth naught but tend the garden.

And I said: Pleasant indeed is the garden, & light is the toil of tending it, & great is the reward.

And he said: Bethink thee that NEMO hath beheld the face of my Father.

beheld it is called NEMO. And know thou that every man that is called NEMO hath a garden that he tendeth. And every garden that is & flourisheth hath been prepared from the desert by NEMO, watered with the waters that were called death.

And I say unto him: To what end is the garden prepared? And he saith:
First for the beauty & delight thereof, & next because it is written, "And Tetragrammaton Elohim planted a garden eastward in Eden."
And lastly, because though every flower bringeth forth a maiden, yet is there one flower that shall bring forth a man-child. And his name shall be called NEMO, when he beholdeth the face of my Father. And he that tendeth the garden seeketh not to single out the flower that shall be NEMO.
He doeth naught but tend the garden.
And I said: Pleasant indeed is the garden, & light is the toil of tending it, & great is the reward.

And he said: Bethink thee
that NEMO hath beheld the face of my Father.

In Him is only peace. And I said: Are all gardens like unto this Garden? And he waved his hand, & in the haze, across the valley, appeared an island of coral, rosy, with green palms & fruit-trees in the midst of the bluest of the seas. And he waved his hand again. And there appeared a valley, shut in by mighty snow-mountains, (and in it were) & pleasant streams of water, rushing through, & broad rivers, & lakes covered with lilies. And he waved his hand again, & there is a vision, as it were, of an oasis in the desert. And again he waved his hand, & there was a dim country with grey rocks, & heather, & gorse, & bracken. And he waved his hand yet again, & there is a park, & a small house therein, surrounded by yews. And this time the house opens, & I see in it an old man, sitting by the table. He is blind. Yet he writeth in a great book, constantly. I see what he is writing:—
"The words of the Book are as the leaves of the flowers in the garden. *Many indeed

In Him is only Peace. And I said: Are all gardens like unto this garden? And he waved his hand, & in the Aire across the valley appeared an island of coral, rosy, with green palms & fruit-trees, in the midst of the bluest of the seas. And he waved his hand again. And there appeared a valley, shut in by mighty snow mountains, ~~&~~ and in it were pleasant streams of water, rushing through, & broad rivers, & lakes covered with lilies. And he waved his hand again, & there is a vision, as it were~~,~~ of an oasis in the desert. And again he waved his hand, & there was a dim country with grey rocks, & heather, & gorse, & bracken. And he waved his hand yet again, & there is a park, & a small house therein, surrounded by yews. And this time the house opens, & I see in it an old man, sitting by a table. He is blind. Yet he writeth in a great book, constantly. I see what he is writing: - “The words of the Book are as the leaves of the flowers in the garden. “ Many indeed of these my songs shall go forth as maidens, but there is one among them, which one I know not, that shall be a man-child, whose name shall be Nero, when he hath beheld the face of the Father, & become blind. (All this vision is most extraordinarily pleasant & peaceful, entirely without strength or ecstasy, or any positive quality, but equally free from the opposites of any of those qualities.) And the young man seems to read my thoughts, which is, that I should love to stay in this garden, & do nothing for ever. For he sayeth to me: Come with me, & behold how Nero tendeth his garden. So we enter the earth, & there is a walled space, in absolute darkness. And yet it's perfectly possible to see in it, so that the minutest details do not escape us. And upon the root of one flower he pours acid, so that root wither, as if in torture. And another he cuts, & the shriek is like the shriek of a mandrake, torn up by of these my songs shall go forth as maidens, but there is one among them, which one I know not, that shall be a man-child, whose name shall be NEMO, when he hath beheld the face of the Father, & become blind. (All this vision is most extraordinarily pleasant & peaceful, entirely without strength or ecstasy, or any positive quality, but equally free from the opposites of any of those qualities.) And the young man seems to read my thought, which is, that I should love to stay in this garden, & do nothing for ever. For he sayeth to me: Come with me, & behold how NEMO tendeth his garden. So we enter the earth, & there is a veiled figure, in absolute darkness. And yet it's perfectly possible to see in it, so that the minutest details do not escape us. And upon the ~~root~~ root of one flower he pours acid, so that root writhes, as if in torture. And another he cuts, & the shriek is like the shriek of a mandrake, torn up by the roots. And another he chars with fire, & yet another he anoints with oil. And I said: Heavy is the labour, but great indeed is the reward.

And the young man answered me: He shall not see the reward; he tendeth the garden. And I said: What shall come unto him? And he said: This thou canst not know, nor is it revealed by the letters that are the totems of the stars, but only by the stars.

And he says to me, quite disconnectedly: The man of earth is the adherent. The lover giveth his life unto the work among men. The hermit goeth solitary, & giveth only of his light unto men. And I ask him: Why dost he tell me that? And he says: I tell thee not. Thou tellest thyself, for thou hast pondered thereupon for many days, & hast not found light. And now that thou art called NEMO, the answer to every riddle that thou hast not found shall spring up in thy mind, unsought. Who can tell upon what day a the roots. And another he chars with fire, & yet another he anoints with oil. And I said: Heavy is the labour, but great indeed is the reward.

And the young man answered me: He shall not see the reward; he tendeth the garden. And I said: What shall come unto him? And he said: This thou canst not know, nor is it revealed by the letters that are the totems of the stars, but only by the stars.

And he says to me, quite disconnectedly: The man of earth is the adherent. The lover giveth his life unto the work among men. The hermit goeth solitary, & giveth only of his light unto men. And I ask him: Why does he tell me that? And he says: I tell thee not. Thou tellest thyself, for thou hast pondered thereupon for many days, & hast not found light. And now that thou art called NEMO, the answer to every riddle that thou hast not found shall spring up in thy mind, unsought. Who can tell upon what day a flower shall bloom? And thou shalt give thy wisdom unto the world, & that shall be thy garden. And concerning time & death, thou hast naught to do with these things. For though a precious stone be hidden in the sand of the desert, it shall not heed for the wind of the desert, although it be but sand. For the worker of works hath worked thereupon, & because it is clear, it is invisible, & because it is hard, it moveth not. All these words are heard by everyone that is called NEMO. And with that doth he ~~and~~ apply himself to understanding. And he must understand the virtue of the waters of death, & he must understand the virtue of the sun & the wind, & of the worm that turneth the earth, & of the stars that root in the garden. And he must understand the separate nature & property of every flower, or how shall he tend his garden?

And I said to him: Concerning the vision & the voice, I would know if these things be of the essence of the Aethyr, or of the essence of the seer? And he answered:

flower shall bloom? And thou shalt give thy wisdom unto the world, & that shall be thy garden. And concerning time & death, thou hast naught to do with these things. For though a precious stone be hidden in the sand of the desert, it shall not heed for the wind of the desert, although it be but sand.
For the worker of works hath worked thereupon, & because it is clear, it is invisible, & because it is hard, it moveth not. All these words are heard by everyone that is called NEMO. And with that doth he ~~And~~ apply himself to understanding. And he must understand the virtue of the waters of death & he must understand the virtue of the sun & the wind, & of the worm that turneth the earth, & of the stars that roof in the garden. And he must understand the separate nature & property of every flower, or how shall he tend his garden?

And I said to him: Concerning the Vision & the Voice, I would know if these things be of the essence of the Æthyr, or of the essence of the seer? And he answers:

It is of the essence of him that is called NEMO, combined with the essence of the Aethyr, for from the 1st Aethyr to the 15th Aethyr, there is no vision + no voice, save for him that is called NEMO. And he that seeketh the vision + the voice therein is led away by dog-faced demons that show no sign of truth, seducing from the sacred mysteries, unless his name be NEMO. And hadst thou not been fitted, thou too hadst been led away, for before the gate of the 15th Aethyr, is this written: He shall ~~He~~ send them strong delusion, that they should believe a lie. And again it is written: The Lord hardened Pharaoh's heart. And again it is written that God tempted man. But thou hadst the word + the sign, + thou hadst authority from thy superior, + license. And thou hast done well in that thou didst not dare, + in that thou dost dare. For daring is not presumption. moreover:

And he saith Thou dost well

It is of the essence of him that is called NEMO, combined with essence of the Æthyr, for from the 1st Æthyr to the 15th Æthyr, there is no vision & no voice, save for him that is called NEMO.
And he that seeketh the vision & the voice therein is led away by dog-faced demons that show no sign of truth, seducing from the Sacred Mysteries, unless his name be NEMO. And hadst thou not been fitted, thou too hadst been led away, for before the gate of the 15th Æthyr, is this written: He shall ~~ste~~ send them strong delusion, that they should believe a lie. And again it is written: The Lord hardened Pharaoh's heart. And again it is written that God tempteth man. But thou hadst the word & the sign, & thou hadst authority from thy superior, & license. And thou hast done well in that thou didst not dare, & in that thou dost dare. For daring is not presumption.

And he said moreover: Thou dost well

to keep silence, for I perceive how many questions arise in thy mind, yet already thou knowest that the answering, as the asking, must be vain. For NEMO hath all in himself. He hath come where there is no light or knowledge, only where he needeth them no more.

And then we bow silently, giving a certain sign, called the Sign of Isis Rejoicing. And there he remaineth ~~the~~ ~~wrapt~~ wrapt the Ecstasy, while I return unto the bank of sand that is in the bed of the ~~river~~ river near the desert.

Dec: 4, 1909, 2.10–3.45 p.m.

The ~~river~~-bed near Bou-Saâda. –

to keep silence, for I perceive how many questions arise in thy mind, yet already thou knowest that the answering, as the asking, must be vain. For NEMO hath all in himself. He hath come where there is no light or knowledge, only when he needeth them no more.

And then we bow silently, giving a certain sign, called the Sign of Isis Rejoicing. And then he remaineth ~~the ward~~ toward the Æthyr, while I return unto the bank of sand that is the bed of the river near the desert.

Dec: 4, 1909. 2.10-3.45 p.m. .

The river-bed near Bou-Saâda. –

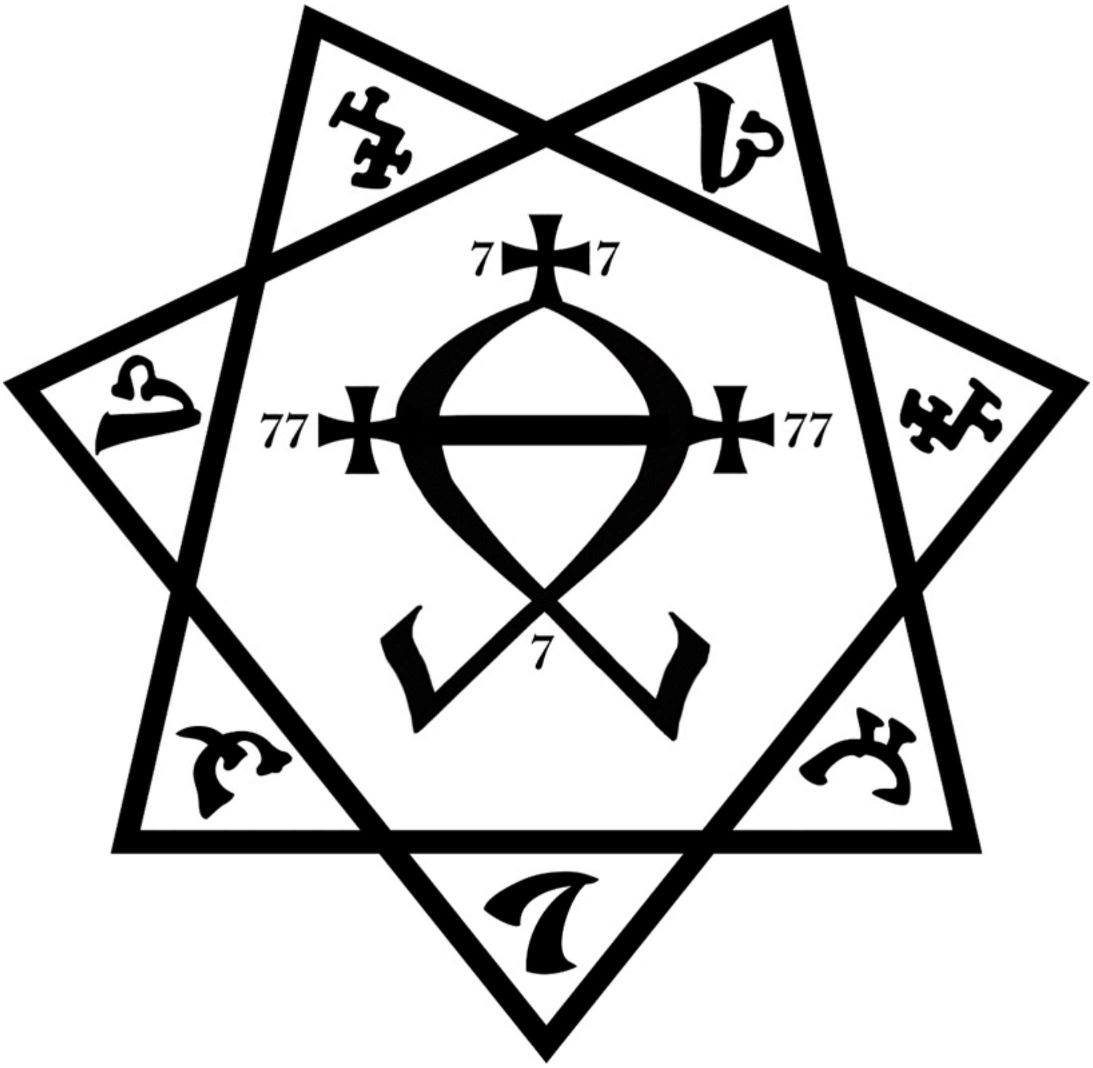
The Vision and the Voice

being of the Angels of the Thirty Æthyrs

(Mexico, 1900 and Algeria, 1909)

As delivered to Perdurabo and O.V.

Volume III: Notebook III (12th to 9th Æthyrs)



IN NOMINE BABALON

LIBER
XXX ÆRVM
VEL SÆCULI

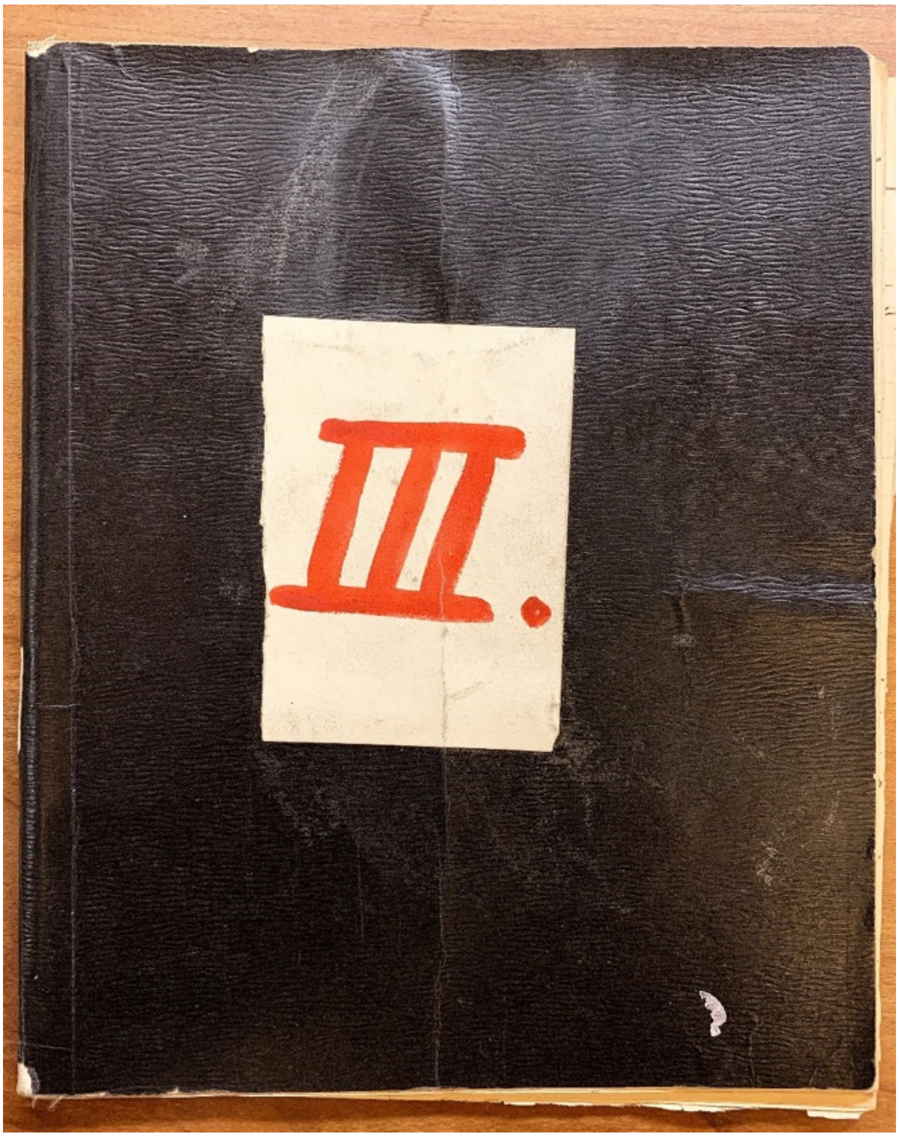
SUB FIGURÂ

CDXVIII

BEING OF THE
ANGELS OF THE
THIRTY ÆTHYRS

THE VISION AND THE VOICE

A∴A∴
Publication in Class A.



The Vision and the Voice

Liber CDXVIII

(being the actual notebooks of

the Angels of the Thirty Æthyrs)

Volume III: Notebook III (12th to 9th Æthyrs)

Double struck text (~~example~~) is crossed out in the manuscript, but included on the typescript.
Slashed-out text (~~example~~) is indicative of another type of edit to the manuscript that is not a simple crossout and replace.
Greyed out text (example) is pencil additions, overwrites, etc. or a correction in a different ink or writing tool than the original version.

It is advisable to consult the source notebook page in these instances.

Pages 83-84 (10th Aethyr) "With a burning spear…" is followed by an anomaly not present elsewhere – it is not crossed out, it is not a pen out of ink, and some is legible. It is left for the reader to determine the words, and if that be wise given where it is in the document. It is noted in ~~RED~~.

The purpose here is to make the material available, as it is and was and shall ever be, without second-guessing – search and see, and let the Aires be your guide! As it stands, it is truly a document of our heritage and demands in multiple places for no changes to be made.

IN NOMINE BABALON

purple mountain

III.

Contents

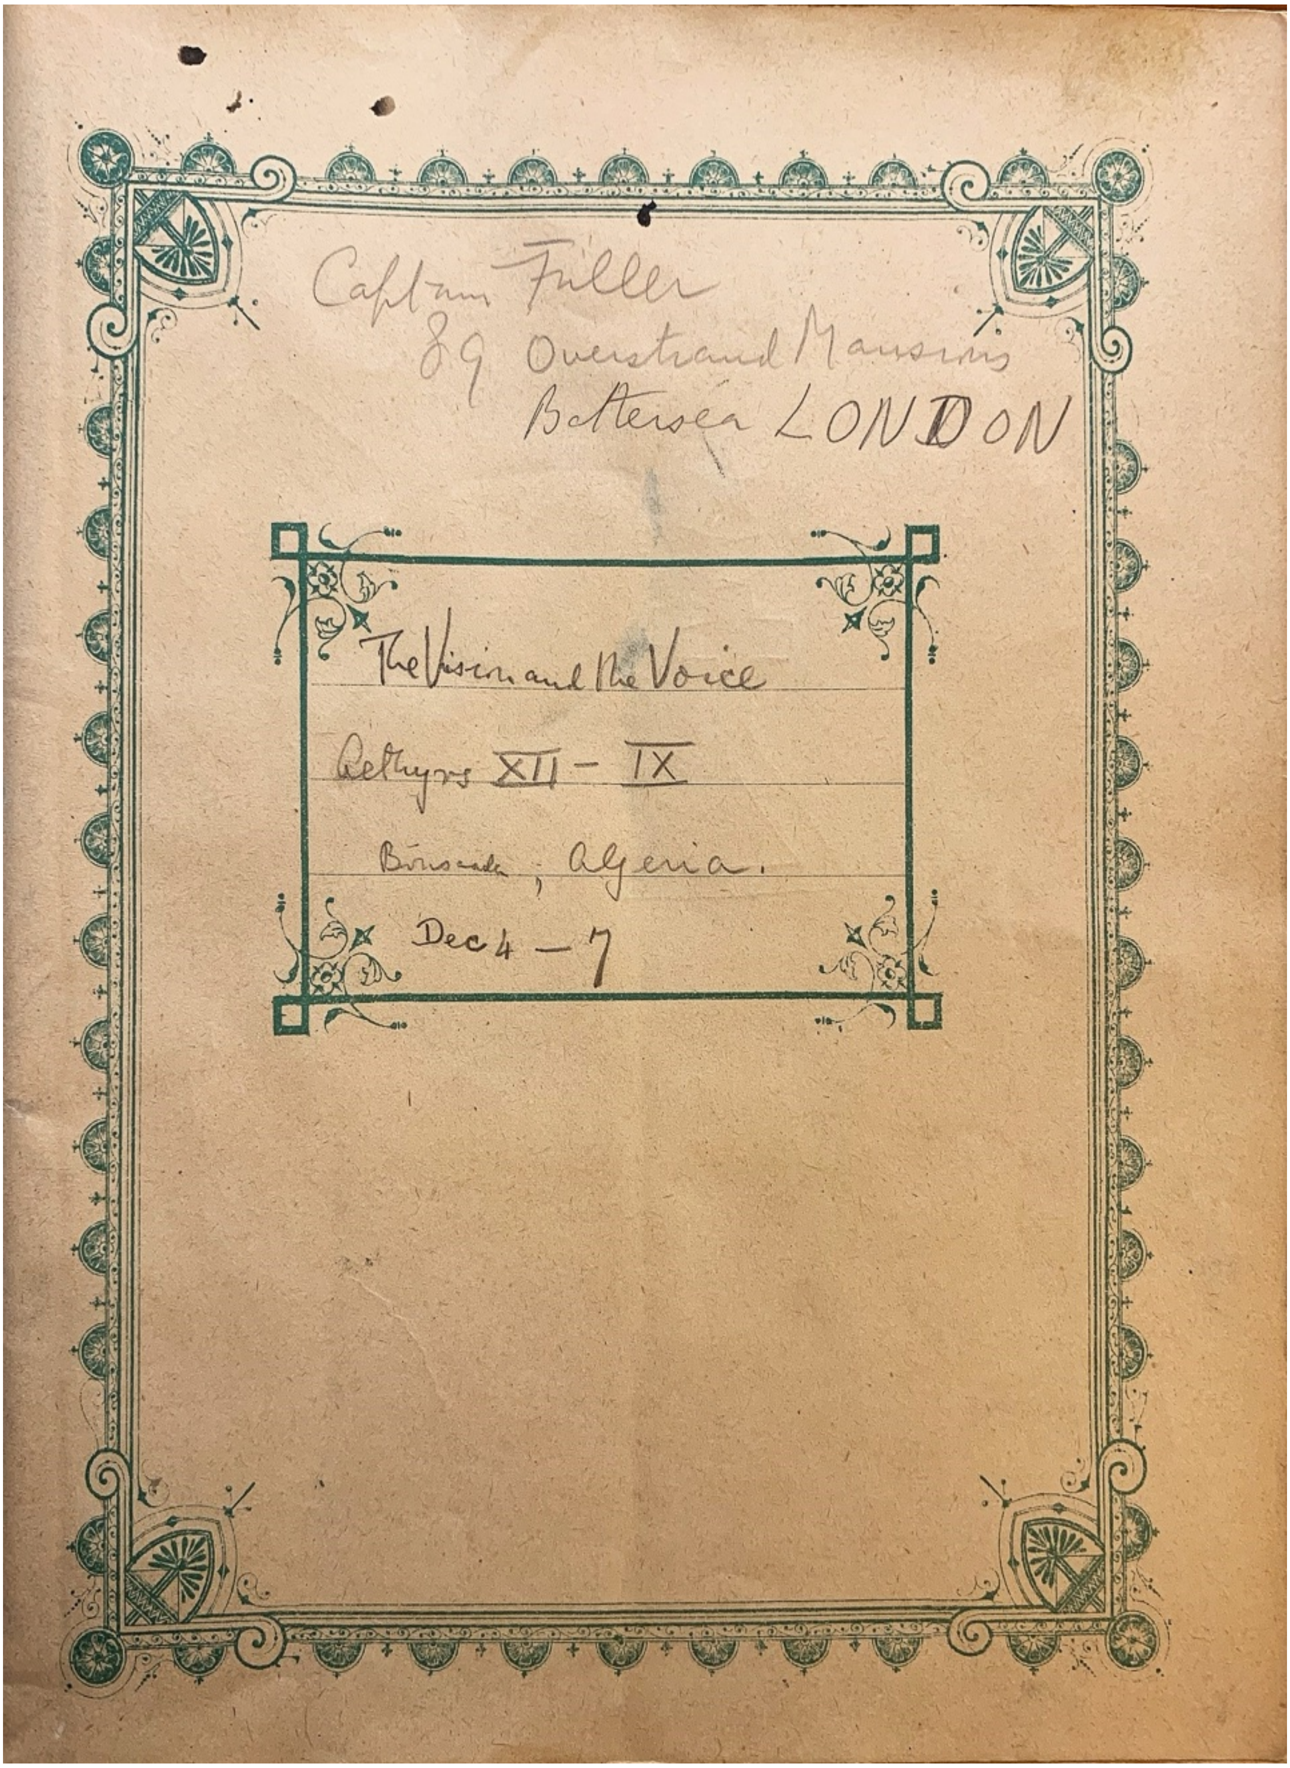
The Cry of the 12th Æthyr, which is called . 14

The Cry of the 11th Æthyr, which is called . 40

The Cry of the 10th Æthyr, that is called . 64

Note by Scribe. 96

The Cry of the 9th Æthyr, which is called . 102



Captain Fuller
89 Overstrand Mansions
Battersea LONDON

The Vision and the Voice

Aethyrs XII – IX

Bousaada, Algeria.

Dec 4 – 7

BAHLASTI ?118 ?509 ? 358 = [illegible]

OMPEHDA 210?

FALUTLI

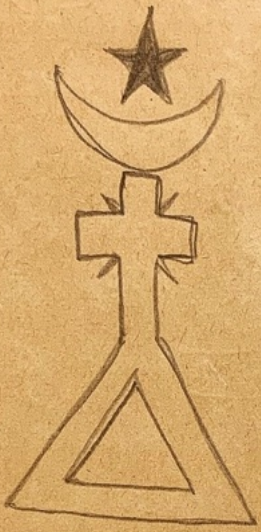
OLALAM = 172 = 2×86

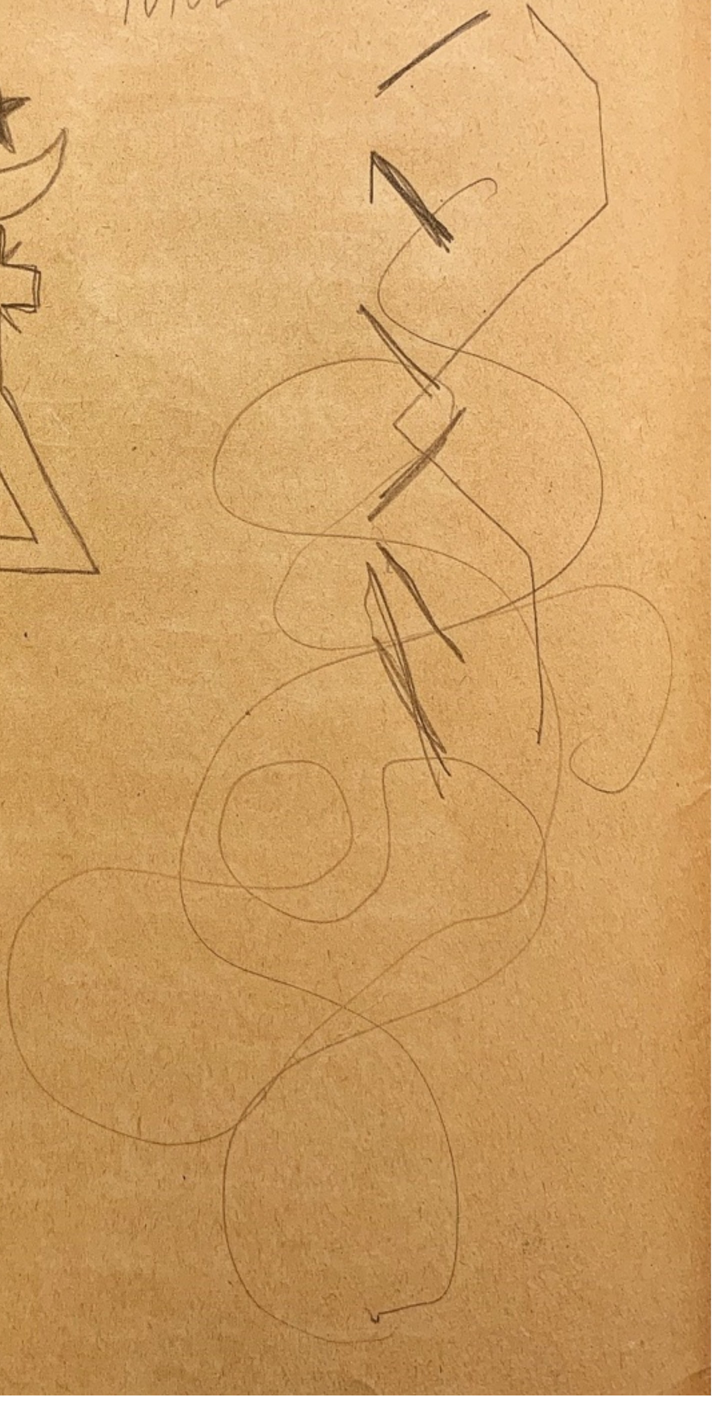
IMAL = 81

TUTULU = 66 ~ 8~~4~~8

30
140
702
80
952
544 20
1496
748 187
374
4) 1516
379

[illegible]





4) 544
4) 136
34

$544 = 34 \times 4^2$

4) 952
2) 238
119

The Cry of the 12th Aethyr, which is called LOE.

There appear in the stone two pillars of flame, & in the midst is a chariot of white fire. This seems to be the chariot of the seventh key of the Tarot, but it is drawn by four sphinxes, diverse, like the four sphinxes upon the door of the vault of the adepts, counterchanged in their component parts. The chariot itself is the lunar crescent, waning. The canopy is supported by eight pillars of amber. These pillars are upright, & yet the canopy which they support is the whole vault of night. The charioteer is a man in golden armour, studded with sapphires, but over his shoulders is a white robe, & over that a red robe. Upon his golden helmet, he beareth for his crest a crab. And his hands are clasped upon a cup, from which radiates a ruddy glow, constantly increasing, so that

The Cry of the 12th Æthyr,
which is called LOE.

There appear in the stone two pillars of flame, & in the midst is a chariot of white fire. This seems to be the chariot of the Seventh Key of the Tarot, but it is drawn by four sphinxes, diverse, like the four ~~sphinxes~~ sphinx upon the door of the vault of the adepts, counterchanged in their component parts. The chariot itself is the lunar crescent, waning. The canopy is supported by eight pillars of amber. These pillars are upright, & yet the canopy which they support is the whole vault of the night. The charioteer is a man in golden armour, studded with sapphires, but over his shoulders is a white robe, & over that a red robe. Upon his golden helmet, he beareth for his crest a crab. And his hands are clasped upon a cup, from which radiates a ruddy glow, constantly increasing, so that everything is blotted out by its glory, and the whole Aire is filled with it. And there is a marvellous perfume in the Aire, like unto the perfume of Ra Hoor Khuit, but sublimated, as if the quintessence of that perfume alone were burnt. For it hath the richness + voluptuousness + humanity of blood, ~~And~~ the strength + freshness of meal, + the sweetness of honey, + the purity of olive-oil, + the holiness of that oil which is made of myrrh, + cinnamon + gallangal. The charioteer speaks in a low, solemn voice, awe-inspiring, like a very large + very distant bell: Let him look upon the cup whose blood is mingled therein, for the wine of the cup is the blood of the saints. Glory unto the Scarlet Woman, Babalon* the Mother of Abominations, that rideth upon the Beast, for she hath spilt their blood in every corner of the earth, + lo! she hath mingled it in the cup of her whoredom. And everything is blotted out by its glory, and the whole Aire is filled with it. And there is a marvelous perfume in the Aire, like unto the perfume of Ra Hoor Khuit, but sublimated, as if the quintessence of that perfume alone were burnt. For it hath the richness & voluptuousness & humanity of blood, ~~A~~and the strength & freshness of meal, & the sweetness of honey, & the purity of olive-oil, & the holiness of that oil which is made of myrrh, & cinnamon & gallanjal. The charioteer speaks in a low, solemn voice~~;~~, awe-inspiring, like a large & very distant bell: Let him look upon the cup whose blood is mingled therein, for the wine of the cup is the blood of the saints. Glory unto the Scarlet Woman, Babylon* the Mother of Abominations, that rideth upon the Beast, for she hath spilt their blood in every corner of the earth, & lo! she hath mingled it in the cup of her whoredom. And

---

* ~~Beth, Aleph, Beth, Aleph, Lamed, Vau, Nun.~~

~~*Beth, Aleph, Beth, Yod, Lamed, Vau, Nun.~~

with the breath of her kisses hath she fermented it, & it hath become the wine of the Sacrament, the wine of the Sabbath, & in the Holy Assembly hath she poured it out for her worshippers, & they have become drunken thereon, so that face to face have they beheld my Father. Thus are they made worthy to become partakers of the Mystery of ~~the~~ this holy vessel, for the blood is the life. So sitteth she from age to age, & the righteous are never weary of kisses, & by her murders & fornications she seduceth the world. Therein is manifested the glory of my Father, who is truth. (This wine is such that its virtue radiateth through the cup, & I reel under the intoxication of it. § And every thought is destroyed by it. It abideth alone, & its name is Compassion. I understand by 'Compassion', the sacrament of suffering, partaken of by the True Worshippers of the Highest. And it is an ecstasy in which there is no trace of

with the breath of her kisses hath she fermented it, & it hath become the wine of the Sacrament, the wine of the Sabbath, & in the Holy Assembly hath she poured it out for her worshippers, & they have become drunken thereon, so that face to face they beheld my Father.
Thus are they made worthy to become partakers of the Mystery of ~~her~~ this holy vessel, for the blood is the life. So sitteth she from age to age, & the righteous are never weary of her kisses, & by her murders & fornications she seduceth the world. Therein is manifested the glory of my Father, who is truth. (This wine is such that its virtue radiateth through the cup, & I reel under the intoxi-cation of it. And every thought is destroyed by it. It abideth alone, & its name is Compassion. I understand by 'Compassion', the sacrament of suffering, partaken by the true worshippers of the Highest. And it is an ecstasy in which there is no trace of (= passion)

pain. Its passivity is like the giving-up of the self to the beloved.)

The voice continues: This is the Mystery of Babylon, the Mother of abominations, & this is the mystery of her adulteries, for she hath yielded up herself to every thing that liveth, & hath become a partaker in its mystery. And because she hath made herself the servant of each, therefore is she become the mistress of all. Not as yet canst thou comprehend her glory. Beautiful art thou, O Babylon, & desirable, for thou hast given thyself to every thing that liveth, & thy weakness hath subdued their strength. For in that union thou didst understand. Therefore art thou called Understanding, O Babylon, Lady of the Night. This is that which is written, "O my God, in one last rapture let us attain to the union with the many." For she is Loved, & her love is one, & she hath divided the one love into infinite loves, pain. Its passivity (=passion) is like the giving-up of the self to the beloved.)

The voice continues: This is the Mystery of Babylon, the Mother of abominations, & this is the mystery of her adulteries, for she hath yielded up herself to everything that liveth, & hath become a partaker in its mystery. And because she hath made herself the servant of each, therefore is she become the mistress of all. Not as yet canst thou comprehend her glory. Beautiful art thou, O Babylon, & desirable, for thou hast given thyself to everything that liveth, & thy weakness hath subdued their strength. For in that union thou didst understand. Therefore art thou called Understanding, O Babylon, Lady of the Night! This is that which is written, "O my God, in one last rapture let me attain to the union with the many." For she is Love, & her love is one, & she hath divided the one love into infinite loves, & each love is one, & equal with The One, & therefore is she passed from the assembly & the law & the enlightenment unto the anarchy of solitude & darkness. For ever thus must she veil the brilliance of Her Self. O Babylon, Babylon, thou mighty Mother, that ridest upon the crowned Beast, let me be drunken upon the wine of thy fornications; let thy kisses wanton me unto death, that even I, thy cupbearer, may understand.

Now through the ruddy glow of the cup, I may perceive far above, & infinitely great, the vision of Babylon. And the Beast whereon she rideth is the Lord of the City of the Pyramids, that I beheld in the fourteenth Aethyr. Now that is gone in the glow of the cup, & the Angel saith: Not as yet mayest thou understand the mystery of the Beast, for it pertaineth not unto the mystery of this Aire, & few that are new-born into understanding are each love is one, & equal with The One, & therefore is she passed “from the assembly & the law & the enlightenment unto the anarchy of solitude & darkness. For ever thus must she veil the brilliance of ~~h~~Her Self.” O Babylon, Babylon, thou mighty Mother, that ridest upon the crownèd Beast, let me be drunken upon the wine of thy fornications; let thy kisses wanton me unto death, that even I, thy cup-bearer, may understand.

Now, through the ruddy glow of the cup, I may perceive far above, & infinitely great, the vision of Babylon. And the Beast whereon she rideth is the Lord of the City of the Pyramids, that I beheld in the fourteenth Æthyr. Now that is gone in the glow of the cup, & the Angel saith: Not as yet mayest thou understand the mystery of the Beast, for it pertaineth not unto the mystery of this Aire, & few that are new-born unto understanding are capable thereof.

The cup glows ever brighter + fiercer. And all my sense is unsteady, being smitten with ecstasy.

And the Angel sayeth: Blessed are the saints, that their blood is mingled in the cup, + can never be separate any more. For Babylon the Beautiful, the Mother of abomination, hath sworn by her holy cteis, whereof every point is a pang, that she will not rest from her adulteries until the blood of everything that liveth is gathered therein, + the wine thereof laid up + matured + consecrated, + worthy to gladden the heart of my Father. For my Father is weary with the stress of old, + cometh not to her bed. Yet shall this perfect wine be the quintessence + the elixir, + by the draught thereof shall he renew his youth, + so shall it be capable thereof.

The cup glows ever brighter & fiercer. And all my sense is unsteady, being smitten with extasy.

And the Angel sayeth: Blessed are the saints, that their blood is mingled in the cup, & can never be separate any more. For Babylon the Beautiful, the Mother of abominations, hath sworn by her holy cteis, whereof every point is a pang, that she will not rest from her adulteries until the blood of everything that liveth is gathered therein, & the wine thereof laid up & matured & consecrated, & worthy to gladden the heart of my Father. For my Father is weary with the stress of eld, & cometh not to her bed. Yet shall this perfect wine be the quintessence & the elixir, & by the draught thereof shall he renew his youth, & so shall it be eternally, as age by age the worlds

do dissolve & change, & the universe
unfoldeth itself as a Rose, & shutteth itself up as the Cross that is bent
into the cube. And this is ~~the~~ the comedy of Pan, that is played at night in the thick forest. And this is the mystery of Dionysus Zagreus, that is celebrated upon the holy mountain
of Kithairon. And this is the secret of the brothers of the Rosy
Cross, & this is the heart of the ~~Rit~~ ritual that is accomplished in the vault of the Adepts, that is hidden in the mountain of the Caves, even the holy mountain Abiegnus. And this is the meaning of the supper of the passover, the spilling of the blood of the lamb, being a ritual of the Dark Brothers, for they have sealed up the pylon with blood, lest the Angel of Death should enter therein. Thus do they shut themselves off from the company of the saints. Thus do they keep eternally, as age by age the worlds

do dissolve & change, & the universe
unfoldeth itself as a Rose, & shutteth
itself up as the Cross that is bent
into the cube. And this is ~~the~~ the comedy of Pan, that is played at night in
the thick forest. And this is the mystery of Dionysus Zagreus, that is celebrated upon the holy mountain
of Kithairon. And this is the secret of the brothers of the Rosy
Cross, & this is the heart of the ~~Ritu~~ ritual that is accomplished in the vault of the Adepts, that is hidden in the mountain of the Caverns, even the holy mountain Abiegnus. And this is the meaning of the supper of the passover, the spilling of the blood of
the lamb being a ritual of the dark
Brothers, for they have sealed up the Pylon with blood, lest the Angel of Death should enter therein. Thus do they shut themselves off from the company of the saints. Thus do they keep themselves from compassion & from understanding. Accursed are they, for they shut up their blood in their heart. And they keep themselves from the kisses of my mother Babylon, & in their lonely fortresses they pray to the false moon. And they bind themselves together with an oath, & with a great curse. And of their malice they conspire together, & they have power, & mastery, & in their cauldron do they brew the harsh wine of delusion, mingled with poison of their selfishness. Thus ~~And~~ they make war upon the Holy One, sending forth their delusion upon men, & upon everything that liveth. So that their false compassion is called compassion, & their false understanding is called understanding, for this is their most potent spell. Yet of their own poison do they perish, & in their lonely fortresses shall they be eaten up by Time, that hath cheated them to serve him, & by the ~~[illegible]~~ themselves from compassion & from understanding. Accursed are they, for they shut up their blood in their heart. And they keep themselves from the kisses of my Mother Babylon, & in their lonely fortresses they pray to the false moon. And they bind themselves together with an oath, & with a great curse. And of their malice they conspire together, & they have power, & mastery, & in their cauldrons do they brew the harsh wine of delusion, mingled with poison of their selfishness.

And they make war upon the Holy One, sending forth their delusion upon men, & upon everything that liveth.
So that their false compassion is called compassion, & their false understanding is called understanding,
for this is their most potent spell.
Yet of their own poison do they perish, & in their lonely fortresses shall they be eaten up by Time, that hath cheated them to serve him, & by the ~~dem~~

~~BAAL - AL . ON~~

באבאל ען ~~= 156 = 78×2~~

= 156 = 12×13

The Unity of Kether
HVA ACh D

for He is manifested in Her, blessed be She!

Also 156 is the number of letters in a Watch-Tower.

]

mighty devil Choronzon, their master, whose name is The Second Death, for the blood that they have sprinkled on their Pylon, that is a bar against the Angel Death, is the key by which he entereth in. (I think the trouble with these people was, that they wanted to substitute the blood of some one else for their own blood, because they wanted to keep their personalities.)

~~The A~~ The Angel sayeth: And this is the word of double power in the voice of the Master, wherein the Five interpenetrateth the Six. This is its secret interpretation that may not be understood, save only of them that understand. And for this is it the key of the Pylon of Power, because there is no power that may endure, save only the power that descendeth in this my chariot, from Babylon, the City of the Fifty Gates, ~~the~~ the Gate of the God On [~~Aiga~~ aigu [illegible] ~~[illegible]~~]. Moreover is On the key of the vault that is 120. ~~So~~ also mighty devil Choronzon, their master, whose name is the Second Death, for the blood that they have sprinkled on their Pylon, that is a bar against the Angel Death, is the key by which he entereth in. (I think the trouble with these people was, that they wanted to substitute the blood of someone else for their own blood, because they wanted to keep their personalities.)

~~The A~~ The Angel sayeth: And this is the word of double power in the voice of the Master, wherein the Five interpenetrateth the Six. This is its secret interpretation that may not be understood, save only of them that understand. And for this is the Key of the Pylon of Power, because there is no power that may endure, save only the power that descendeth in this my chariot, from Babylon, the city of the Fifty Gates, the Gate of the God On [~~Aizel~~ aigir ~~num~~ nun]. Moreover is On the Key of the vault that is 120. So also doth the Majesty & the Beauty derive from the Supernal Wisdom. But this is a mystery utterly beyond thine understanding. For wisdom is the Man, & understanding the Woman, & not until thou hast perfectly understood canst thou begin to be wise. But I reveal unto thee a mystery of the Aethyrs, that not only are they bound up with the Sephiroth, but also with the Paths. Now, the place of the Aethyrs interpenetrateth & surroundeth the universe wherein the Sephiroth are established, & therefore is the order of the Aethyrs not the order of the Tree of Life. And only in a few places do they coincide. But the knowledge of the Aethyrs is deeper than the knowledge of the Sephiroth, for that in the Aethyrs is ~~understood~~ the knowledge of the aeons, & of θελημα. And to each shall it be given according to his capacity. (He has been saying certain secret things to do~~th~~ the Majesty & the Beauty derive from the Supernal Wisdom. But this is a mystery utterly beyond thine understanding. For Wisdom is the Man, & Understanding the Woman, & not until thou hast perfectly understood canst thou begin to be wisē. But I reveal unto thee a mystery of the Aethyrs, that not only are they bound up with the Sephiroth, but also with the Paths. Now, the plane of the Aethyrs interpenetrateth & surroundeth the universe wherein the Sephiroth are established, & therefore is the order of the Aethyrs not the order of the Tree of Life. And only in a few places do they coincide. But the knowledge of the Aethyrs is deeper than the knowledge of the Sephiroth, for that in the Aethyrs is ~~understood~~ the knowledge of the Aeons, and of θέλημα. And to each shall it be given according to his capacity. (He has been saying certain secret things~~.)~~ to the unconscious mind of the seer, of a personal nature.)

Now a voice comes from without: And lo! I saw you to the end.

And a great bell begins to toll. And there come six little children out of the floor of the chariot, & in their hands is a veil so fine & transparent that it is hardly visible. Yet, when they put it over the cup, the Angel bowing his head reverently, the light of the cup goes out entirely. And as the light of the cup vanishes, it is like a swift sunset in the whole Aire, for it was from the light of that cup alone that it was lighted.

And now the light is all gone out of the stone, & I am very cold.

Bou-Saâda. 11.30 p.m. – 1.20 a.m., Dec: 4–5, 1909.

—

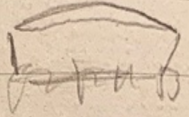
the unconscious mind of the seer, of a personal nature.)

Now a voice comes from without: And lo! I saw you to the end.

And a great bell begins to toll. And there come six little children out of the floor of the chariot, & in their hands is a veil so fine & transparent that it is hardly visible. Yet, when they put it over the cup, the Angel bowing his head reverently, the light of the cup goes out entirely. And as the light of the Cup vanishes, it is like a swift sunset in the whole Aire, for it was from the light of that cup alone that it was lighted.

And now the light is all gone out of the stone, & I am very cold.

Bou-Saâda. 11.30 p.m. - 1.20 a.m.,
Dec: 4 - 5, 1909.



The Cry of the 11th Aethyr, which is called IKH.

There appears in the stone immediately the Kamea of the moon. And it is rolled up, and behind it there appeareth a great host of Angels. Their backs are turned toward me, but I can see how tremendous are their arms, which are swords & spears. They have wings upon their helmets & their heels; they are clad in complete armour, & the light of their swords is like the breaking forth of a tremendous storm of lightning. And the light of their spears is like a great water-spout. And on their shields are the eyes of Tetragrammaton, ringed with flame,—white, red, black, yellow, & blue. And on their flanks are vast squadrons of elephants. And behind them is their meteor-artillery. They that sit upon the elephants are armed with the thunderbolt

The Cry of the 11th Æthyr, which is called IKH.

There appears in the stone immediately the Kamea of the moon. And it is rolled up, and behind it there appeareth a great Host of Angels. Their backs are turned towards me, but I can see how tremendous are their arms, which are swords & spears. They have wings upon their helmets & their heels: they are clad in complete armour, & the least of their swords is like the breaking forth of a tremendous storm of lightning. And the least of their spears is like a great water-spout. On their shields are the eyes of Tetragrammaton, winged with flame, - white, red, black, yellow, & blue. And on their flanks are vast squadrons of elephants. And behind them is their meteor-artillery. They that sit upon the elephants are armed with the thunderbolt of Zeus. ~~And~~ in all that host there is no motion. Yet ~~But~~ they are not resting upon their arms, but tense & vigilant. And between them & me is the God Shu, whom before I did not see, because his form filled the whole Aethyr. And indeed he is not visible in his form. Nor does he come to the seer through any of the senses; he is understood, so to speak, & I perceive that all this army is defended by fortresses, nine mighty towers of iron upon the frontier of the Aethyr. And each tower is filled with warriors in silver armour. It is impossible to describe the feeling of tension; they are like oarsmen waiting for the gun. And I perceive that an Angel is standing on either side of me; nay, I am in the midst of a company of armed angels, and their captain is standing in front of me. He too is clad in silver armour, & about

of Zeus. ~~And~~ Now in all that host there is no motion. ~~But~~ Yet they are not resting upon their arms, but tense & vigilant. And between them & me is the God Shu, whom before I did not see, because his force filleth the whole Æthyr. And indeed he is not visible in his form.
Nor does he come to the seer through any of the senses; he is understood, so to speak, & I perceive that all this army is defended by fortresses, nine mighty towers of iron upon the frontier of the Æthyr. And each tower is filled with warriors in silver armour. It is impossible to describe the feeling of tension; they are like oarsmen waiting for the gun.
And I perceive that an Angel is standing on either side of me; nay,
I am in the midst of a company of armed angels, and their captain is standing in front of me. He too is clad in silver armour, & about him, closely wrapped to his body, is a whirling wind, so swift that any blow struck against him would be broken. And he speaketh unto me these words:-

Behold, a mighty guard against the terror of things; the fastness of the Most High, the legions of eternal vigilance; these are they that keep watch & ward day & night throughout the aeons. ~~And~~ set in them is all the force of the Mighty One, yet these stirreth not one plume of the wings of their helmets. Behold, the foundation of the Holy City, the towers & the bastions thereof. Behold the armies of light that are set against the outer-most Abyss, against the horror of emptiness, & the malice of Choronzon. Behold how worship-ful is the wisdom of the Master, that he hath set his stability in the all-wandering Air (~~of Brain~~) & in about him, closely wrapped to his body, is a whirling wind, so swift that any blow struck against him would be broken. And he speaketh unto me these words: -

Behold, a mighty guard against the terror of things, the ~~v~~fastness of the Most High, the legions of eternal vigilance; these are they that keep watch & ward day & night throughout the æons. ~~And~~ Set in them is all force of the Mighty One, yet there stirreth not one plume of the wings of their helmets. Behold, the foundation of the Holy City, the towers & the bastions thereof. Behold the armies of light that are set against the outermost Abyss, against the horror of emptiness, & the malice of Choronzon. Behold how worshipful is the wisdom of the Master, that he hath set his stability in the all-wandering Air~~e (??orain)~~ & in the changeful Moon. In the purple flashes of the lightning hath He written the word Eternity, & in the wings of the swallow hath he appointed rest. By three & by three & by three hath he made firm the foundation against the earthquake that is three. For in the number nine is the changefulness of the numbers brought to naught. For with whatsoever number thou wilt cover it, it appeareth unchanged. These things are spoken unto him that understandeth, that is a breastplate unto the elephants, or a corslet unto the Angels, or a scale upon the towers of Sion. Yet is this mighty host set only for defence, & whoso passeth beyond their lines, hath no help in them. Yet must he that understandeth go forth unto the outermost Abyss, & there must he speak with him that is set above the four-fold terror, the Prince the changeful Moon. In the purple flashes of lightning hath He written the word Eternity, & in the wings of the swallow hath he appointed rest. By three & by three & by three hath he made firm the foundation against the earthquake that is three. For in the number nine is the changefulness of the numbers brought to naught. For with whatsoever number thou wilt cover it, it appeareth unchanged. These things are spoken unto him that understandeth, that is a breastplate unto the elephants, or a corselet unto the angels, or a scale upon the towers of iron. Yet is this mighty host set only for defense, & whoso passeth beyond their lines, hath no help in them. Yet must he that understandeth go forth unto the outermost Abyss, & there must he speak with him that is set above the four-fold terror, the Princes of Evil, even with Choronzon, the mighty devil, that inhabiteth the outermost Abyss. And none may speak with him, or understand him; but the servants of Babylon, that understand, ~~that~~ & they that are, without understanding, his servants. ~~For~~ Behold! it entereth not into the heart of man, or into the mind of man, to conceive this matter. for the sickness of the body is death, & the sickness of the heart is despair, & the sickness of the mind is madness. But in the outermost Abyss is sickness of the aspiration, & sickness of the will & sickness of the essence of all, & there is neither word nor thought wherein the image of its image is reflected. And whoso passeth into the outermost Abyss, except he be of them that understand, holdeth out his hands, & boweth his neck, unto the chains of Choronzon. And as a devil he walketh about the earth, of Evil, even with Choronzon, the mighty Devil, that inhabiteth the outermost Abyss. And none may speak with him, or understand him, but the servants of Babylon, that understand, ~~that~~ & they that are, without understanding, his servants.

~~For~~ Behold! it entereth not into the heart of man, nor into the mind of man, to conceive this matter. for the sickness of the body is death, & the sickness of the heart is despair, & the sickness of the mind is madness. But in the outermost Abyss is sickness of the aspiration, & sickness of the will, & sickness of the essence of all, & there is neither word nor thought wherein the image of its image is reflected.
And whoso passeth into the outermost Abyss, except he be of them that understand, holdeth out his hands, & boweth his neck, unto the chains of Choronzon. And as a devil he walketh about the earth,

immortal, & he blasteth the flowers of the earth, & he corrupteth the fresh air, & he maketh poisonous the water; & the fire that is the friend of man, & the pledge of his aspiration, seeing that it mounteth ever upward as a Pyramid, & seeing that man stole it in a hollow tube from heaven, even that fire he turneth into ruin, & madness, & fever, & destruction. And thou, that art an heap of dry dust in the City of the Pyramids, must understand these things.

And now a thing happens, which is unfortunately sheer nonsense, for the Aethyr that is the foundation of the universe was attacked by the Outermost Abyss, and the only way that I can express it, is by saying that the universe was shaken. But the universe was not shaken. And that is the exact Truth; so that the rational mind which is interpreting these spiritual things is shaking, immortal, & he blasteth the flowers of the earth, & he corrupteth the fresh air, & he maketh poisonous the water, & the fire that is the friend of man, & the pledge of his aspiration, seeing that it mounteth ever upward as a Pyramid, & seeing that man stole it in a hollow tube from heaven, even that fire he turneth unto ruin, & madness, & fever, & destruction. And thou, that art an heap of dry dust in the City of the Pyramids, must understand these things.

And now a thing~~h~~ happens, which is unfortunately sheer nonsense, for the Æthyr that is the foundation of the universe was attacked by the Outermost Abyss, and the only way that I can express it is by saying that the universe was shaken. But the universe was not shaken. And that is the exact truth; so that the rational mind which is interpreting these spiritual things is offended; but, being trained to obey, it setteth down that which it doth not understand. For the rational mind indeed reasoneth, but never ~~understand~~ attaineth unto understanding; but the seer is of them that understand.

And the Angel saith:—

Behold, He hath established his mercy & his might, & unto his might is added victory, & unto his mercy is added splendour. And all these things hath he ordered in beauty, & he hath set them firmly upon the eternal Rock, & therefrom he hath suspended his Kingdom as one pearl that is set in a ~~[illegible]~~ jewel of threescore pearls & twelve. And He hath garnished it with the Four Holy Living Creatures for guardians, & He hath graven therein the seal of righteousness, & He hath burnished it with the fire of His anger, & the blush of His loveliness informeth it, & with delights & with wit hath He made it but, being trained to obey, it setteth down that which it doth not understand. For the rational mind indeed reasoned, but never ~~understand~~ attaineth unto Understanding; but the Seer is of them that understand.

And the~~n~~ Angel saith:-

Behold, He hath established his mercy & his might, & unto his might is added victory, & unto his mercy is added splendour. And all these things hath he ordered in beauty, & he hath set them firmly upon the eternal Rock, & therefrom he hath suspended his kingdom as one pearl that is set in a ~~jewell~~ jewel of threescore pearls & twelve. And He hath garnish~~ed~~ed it with the Four Holy Living Creatures for guardians, & He hath graven therein the seal of righteousness, & He hath burnished it with the fire of His angel, & the blush of His loveliness informeth it, & with delight & with wit hath He made it mercy at the heart, & the core thereof is the secret of His being, that is ~~this~~ therein ~~name~~ is His name Generation. And this His stability hath the number 80, for that the price thereof is War.

(I. S. V. D., Jesod = 80, the number of pē, the letter of Mars.)

Beware, therefore, O thou who art appointed to understand the secret of the Outermost Abyss, for in every Aethyr thou must assume the mask & form of the Angel thereof. ~~Ha~~ Hadst thou a name, thou wert irrevocably lost. Search, therefore, if there be yet one drop of blood that is not gathered into the cup of Babylon the Beautiful, for in that little pile of dust, if there could be one drop of blood, it should be utterly corrupt; it should breed scorpions & vipers, & the cat of slime.

And I said unto the Angel:-

Is there not one appointed as a warden?

merry at the heart, & the core thereof is the secret of His being, that ~~is this name~~ therein is His name Generation. And this His stability had the number 80, for that the price thereof is War.

(I.S.V.D., Jesod = 80, the number of pê, the letter of Mars.)

Beware, therefore, O thou who art appointed to understand the secret of the outermost Abyss, for in every Æthyr thou must assume the mask & form of the Angel thereof. ~~Had~~ Hadst thou a name, thou wert irrevocably lost. Search, therefore, if there be yet one drop of blood that is not gathered into the cup of Babylon the Beautiful, for in that little pile of dust, if there could be one drop of blood, it should be utterly corrupt; it should breed scorpions & vipers, & the cat of slime.

And I said unto the Angel:-

Is there not one appointed as a warden?

And he said:—

Eloï, Eloi, lama sabacthani.

Such an ecstasy of anguish racks me that I cannot give it voice, yet I know it is but as the anguish of Gethsemane. And that is the last word of the Aethyr. The outposts are passed, and before the Seer extends the Outermost Abyss.

I am returned.

Bou-Saâda, Dec: 5, 1909. 10.10–11.35, p.m.

And he said:-

Eloi, Eloi, lama sabacthani.

Such an ecstasy of anguish
racks me that I cannot give it voice, yet I know it is but as the anguish of Gethsemane. And that is the last word of the Æthyr. The outposts are passed, and before the seer extends the Outermost Abyss.

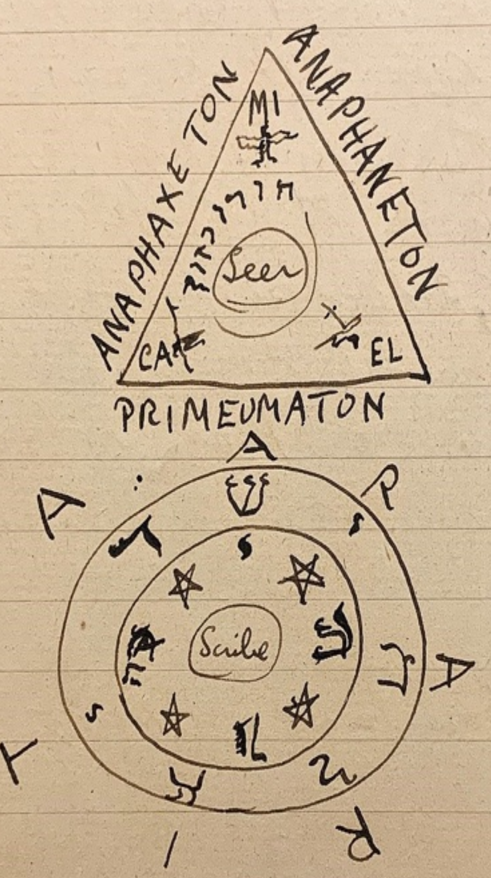
I am returned.

Bou-Saâda, Dec: 5, 1909. 10.10-11.35,
p.m. .

The ☉ Sun



ANAPHAXETON
ANAPHANETON
MI
CA
EL Seer PRIMEUMATON
A P
A
R
I
T
A Scribe

Sun
ANAPHANETON
MI
EL MATON
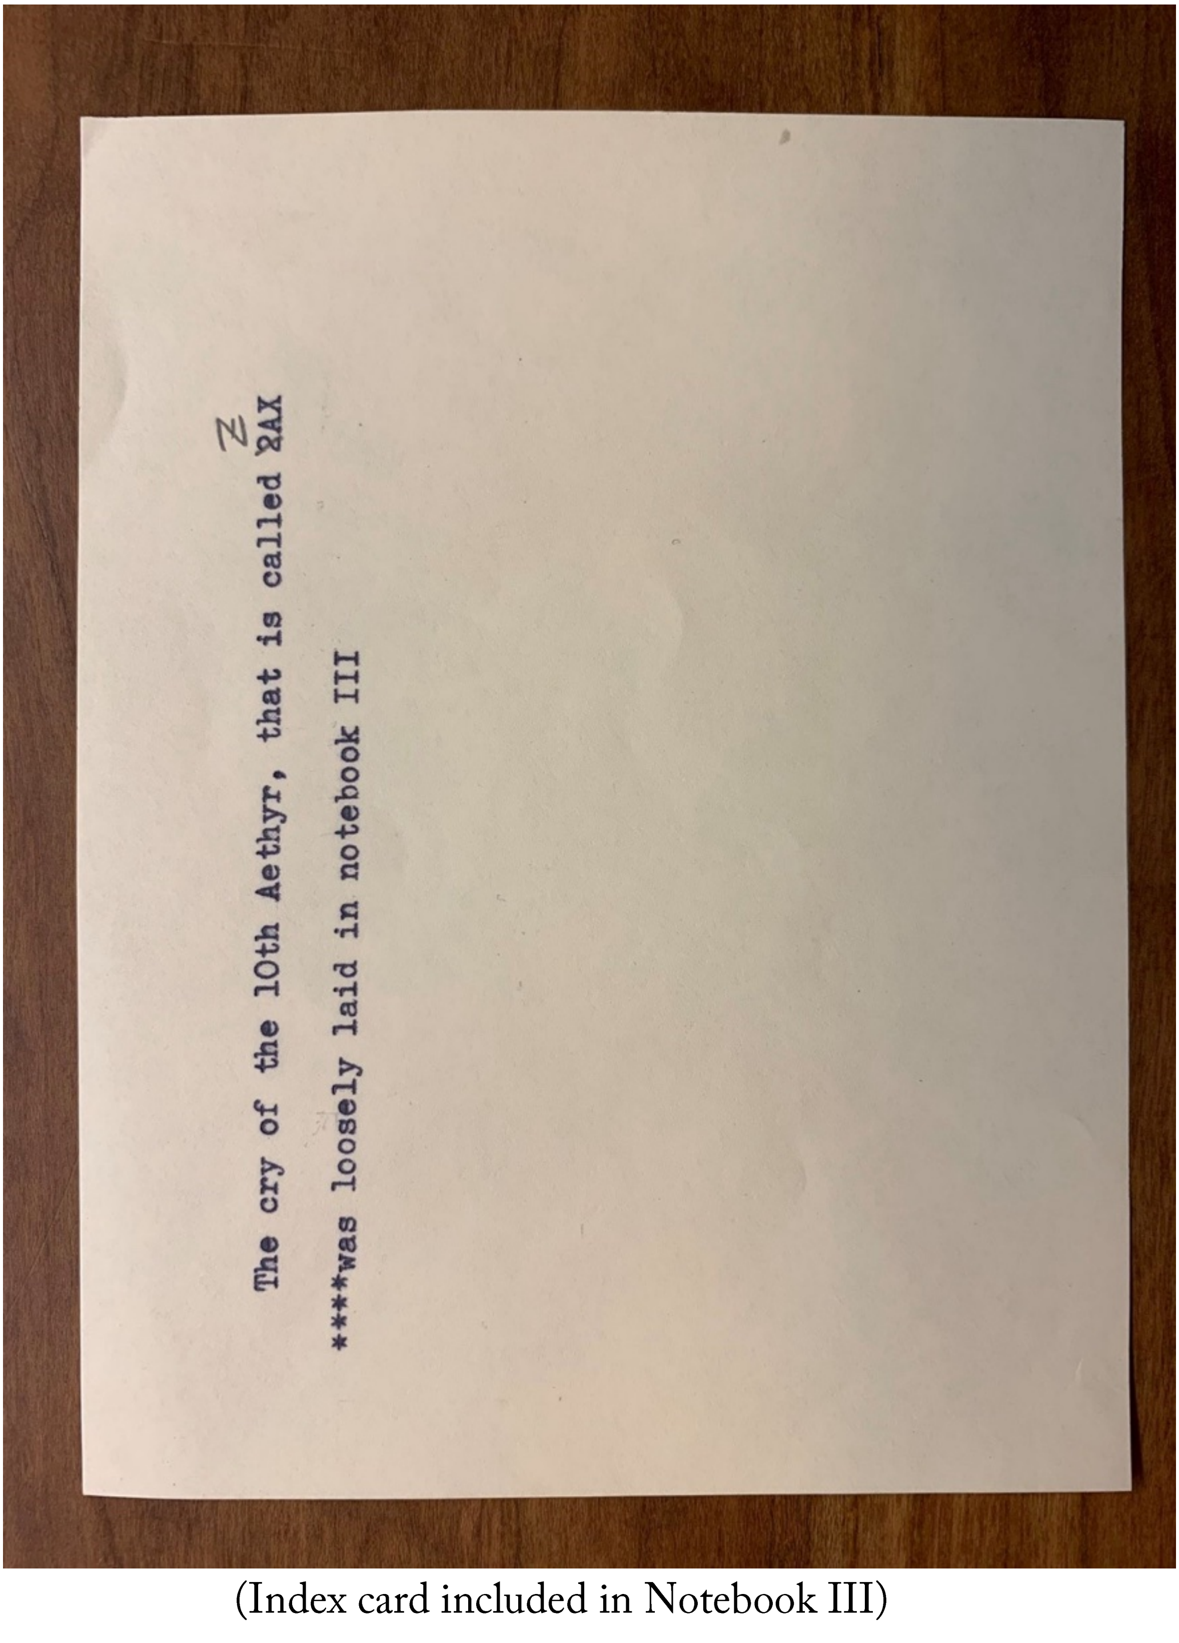
R
A
R

(the torn and battered pages of Notebook III)



Z

The cry of the 10th Aethyr, that is called ZAX

*was loosely laid in notebook III

(Index card included in Notebook III)

The cry of the 10th Aethyr, that is called ZAX

*was loosely laid in notebook III

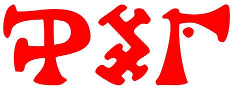
The Cry of the 10th Aethyr, that is called ZAX.

There is no being in the outermost Abyss, but constant forms come forth from the nothingness of it.

Then the Devil of the Aethyr, that mighty devil Choronzon, crieth aloud: Zazas Zazas Nasatanada Zazas.

I am the Master of Form, & from me all forms proceed.

I am I. I have shut myself up from the spendthrifts. My gold is safe in my treasure-chamber, & I have made every living thing my concubine, & none shall touch them, save only I. And yet I am scorched, even while I shiver in the wind. He hateth me & tormenteth me. He would have stolen me from myself, but I shut myself up & mock at him, even while he plagueth me. From me come leprosy & pox & plague & cancer & cholera & the falling sickness. Ah!



The Cry of the 10th Æthyr,
that is called ZAX.

There is no being in the outer-
-most Abyss, but constant forms come forth from the nothingness of it.
Then the Devil of the Æthyr,
that mighty devil Choronzon, crieth aloud:
Zazas Zazas Nasatanada Zasas.
I am the Master of Form, &
from me all forms proceed.
I am I. I have shut my-self up from the spendthrifts, my gold is safe in my treasure-chamber, & I have made every living thing my concubine, & none shall touch them, save only I. And yet I am scorched, even while I shiver in the wind. He hateth me & tormenteth me. He would have stolen me from myself, but I shut myself up & mock at him, even while he plagueth me. From me come leprosy & pox & plague & cancer & cholera & the falling sickness. Ah!

I will reach up to the Knees of the Most High, & tear his phallus with my teeth, & I will bray his testicles in a mortar, & make poison thereof, to slay the sons of men.

[Here the Spirit simulated the Voice of Frater P.] I don't think I can get any more; I think that's all there is.

[The Frater was seated in a secret place, covered completely by a black robe, in the position called the "Thunderbolt." He did not move or speak during the ceremony.]

Next ~~Here~~ the Scribe was hallucinated, believing that before him was a ~~beautiful~~ courtesan, whom previously he had loved in Paris. Now she wooed him with soft words & glances, but he knew these things for delusions of the devil, & he would not leave the circle.

The Demon then laughed wildly & loud.

Upon the Scribe threatening -

I will reach up to the knees of the Most High, & tear his phallus with my teeth, & I will bray his testicles in a mortar, & make poison thereof, to slay the sons of men.

[Here the Spirit simulated I don't think I can get any the Voice of Frater P.] more; I think that's all there is.

[The Frater was seated in a secret place covered completely by a black robe, in the position called the "Thunderbolt." He did not move or speak during the ceremony.]

~~Here~~ Next the Scribe was hallucinated, believing that before him was a beautiful courtesan, whom previously he had loved in Paris. Now, she wooed him with soft words & glances, but he knew these things for delusions of the devil, & he would not leave the circle.

The demon then laughed wildly & loud.

Upon the Scribe threatening

him, the ~~Aethyr~~ Demon proceeded, after a short delay.]

They have called me the god of laughter, & I laugh when I will slay. And they have thought that I could not smile, but I smile upon whom I would seduce, O inviolable one, that canst not be tempted. If thou canst command me by the power of the Most High, know that I did indeed tempt thee, & it repenteth me. I bow myself humbly before the great & terrible names whereby thou hast conjured & constrained me. But thy name is mercy, & I cry aloud for pardon. Let me come & put my head beneath thy feet, that I may serve thee. For if thou commandest me to obedience in the Holy Names, I cannot swerve therefrom, for their first whispering is greater than the noise of all my ~~trumpets~~ tempests. Bid me therefore come unto thee upon my hands & knees that I may adore thee, & partake

him, the ~~Aethyr~~ Demon proceeded, after a short delay.]

They have called me the God of laughter, & I laugh when I will slay. And they have thought that I could not smile, but I smile upon whom I would seduce, O inviolable one, that canst not be tempted. If thou canst command me by the power of the Most High, know that I did indeed tempt thee, & it repenteth me. I bow myself humbly before the great & terrible names whereby thou hast conjured & constrained me. But thy name is mercy, & I cry aloud for pardon. Let me come & put my head beneath thy feet, that I may serve thee. For if thou commandest me to obedience in the Holy Names, I cannot swerve therefrom, for their first whispering is greater than the noise of all my ~~trumpets~~ tempests. Bid me therefore come unto thee upon my hands & knees that I may adore thee, & partake of thy forgiveness. Is not thy mercy infinite?

[Here Choronzon attempted to seduce the Scribe by appealing to his pride.

But the Scribe refused to be tempted, & commanded the Demon to continue with the Aethyr.

There was again a short delay.]

Choronzon hath no form, because he is the maker of all forms, & so rapidly he changeth from one to the other as he may best think fit to seduce those whom he hateth, the servants of the Most High.

Thus taketh he the form of a beautiful woman, or of a wise & holy man, or of a serpent that writheth upon the earth, ready to sting.

And because he is himself, therefore he is no self; the terror of darkness, & the blindness of night, & the deafness of the adder, & the tastelessness of stale & stagnant water, & the

of thy forgiveness. Is not thy mercy infinite?

[Here Choronzon attempted to seduce the Scribe by appealing to his pride.

But the Scribe refused to be tempted, & commanded the demon to continue with the Æthyr.

There was again a short delay.]

Choronzon hath no form, because he is the maker of all forms, & so rapidly he changeth from one to the other as he may best think fit to seduce those whom he hateth, the servants of the Most High.

Thus taketh he the form of a beautiful woman, or of a wise & holy man, or of a serpent that writheth upon the earth, ready to sting.

And because he is himself, therefore he is no self; the terror of darkness, & the blindness of night, & the deafness of the adder, & the tastelessness of stale & stagnant water, & the black fire of hatred, and the udders of the Cat of Slime; not one thing, but many things. Yet, with all that, his torment is eternal. The sun burns him as he writhes naked upon the sands of hell, & the wind cuts him bitterly to the bone, a harsh dry wind, so that he is sore athirst. Give unto me, I pray thee, one drop of water from the pure springs of Paradise, that I may quench my thirst. [The Scribe refused] ~~again he assumed the mask of form of Frater P.~~] Sprinkle water upon my head. I can hardly go on.

[This last was spoken in the natural voice of the Frater, which Choronzon simulated.

The Scribe resisted the appeal to his pity, & conjured the demon to proceed by the names of the Most High. Choronzon attempted also to seduce the faithfulness of the Scribe, ~~also then cursed him~~. A long colloquy ensued. The Scribe cursed him by the Holy Names of God, & the power of the Pentagram] ~~Then was the Aethyr resumed.~~]

I feed upon the names of the Most High. I churn them in my jaws, & I void them from my fundament.

and the udders of the Cat of slime black fire of hatred ^ ; not one thing, but many things. Yet, with all that, his torment is eternal. The sun burns him as he writhes naked upon the sands of hell, & the wind cuts him bitterly to the bone, a harsh dry wind, so that he is sore athirst. Give unto me, I pray thee, one drop of water from the pure springs of paradise, that I may quench my thirst.

[The Scribe refused]
~~—again he assumed the mask of Frater P.]~~ Sprinkle water upon my head. I can hardly go on.

[This last was spoken in the natural voice of the Frater, which Choronzon simulated.

The Scribe resisted the appeal to his pity, & conjured the demon to proceed by the names of the Most High.
Choronzon attempted also to seduce the faithfulness of the Scribe~~, who then cursed him~~. A long colloquy en-sued. ~~Then was the Aethyr resumed.~~ The Scribe cursed him by the Holy Names of God, & the power of the Pentagram.]

I feed upon the names of the Most High. I churn them in my jaws, & I void them from my fundament.

I fear not the power of the Pentagram, for I am the Master of the Triangle. My name is three hundred & thirty & three, & that is thrice one. Be vigilant, therefore, for I warn thee that I am about to deceive thee. I shall say words that thou wilt take to be the Cry of the Aethyr, & thou ~~will~~ wilt write them down, thinking them to be great secrets of Magick power, & they will be only my jesting with thee.

[Here the Scribe invoked Angels, & the Holy Guardian Angel of the Frater Perdurabo. The demon replied:]

I know the name of the Angel of thee & thy brother Perdurabo, & all thy dealings with him are but a cloak for thy filthy sorceries

[Here the Scribe averred that he knew ~~everything~~ more than the demon & so feared him not, & ordered the demon to proceed.]

Thou canst tell me naught that I know not, for in me is all

I fear not the power of the Pentagram, for I am the Master of the Triangle.
My name is three hundred & thirty & three, & that is thrice one. Be vigilant, therefore, for I warn thee that I am about to deceive thee. I shall say words that thou wilt take to be the cry of the Æthyr, & thou ~~wilt~~ wilt write them down, thinking them to be great secrets of magick power, & they will be only my jesting with thee.
[Here the Scribe invoked Angels, & the Holy Guardian Angel of the Frater Perdurabo. The demon replied:]
I know the name of the
Angel of thee & thy brother Perdurabo, & all thy dealings with him are but a cloak for thy filthy sorceries.
[Here the Scribe averred that he knew ~~everything~~ more than the demon, & so feared him not, & ordered the demon to proceed.]
Thou canst tell me naught that I know not, for in me is all

Knowledge: Knowledge is my name. Is not the head of the Great Serpent arisen into Knowledge?

[Here the Scribe again asked Choronzon to continue with the call.]

Know thou that there is no City in the Tenth Aethyr like unto the other Cities, for Choronzon is Dispersion, & cannot fix his mind upon any one thing for any length of time. Thou canst master him in argument, O talkative one; thou wast commanded, wast thou not, to talk to Choronzon? He sought not to enter the circle, or to leave the triangle, yet thou didst prate of all these things.

[Here the Scribe threatened the demon with anger & pain & hell. The demon replied:]

Thinkest thou, O fool, that there is any anger & any pain that I am not, or any hell but this my spirit?

Images, images, images, all without control, all without reason.

Knowledge: Knowledge is my name. Is not the head of the Great Serpent arisen into Knowledge?
[Here the Scribe again asked ⱡ
Choronzon to continue with the call.]
Know thou that there is no
Cry in the Tenth Æthyr like unto the other Cries, for Choronzon is Dispersion, & cannot fix his mind upon any one thing for any length of time. Thou canst master him in argument, O talkative one; thou wast commanded, wast thou not, to talk to Choronzon? He sought not to enter the circle, or to leave the triangle, yet thou didst prate of all these things.
[Here the Scribe threatened the demon with anger & pain & hell.
The demon replied:]
Thinkest thou, O fool, that there is any anger & any pain that I am not, or any hell but this my spirit?

Images, images, images, all without control, all without reason.

The malice of Choronzon is not the malice of a being; it is the quality of malice, because he that boasteth himself "I am I", hath in truth no self, & these are they that are fallen under my power, the slaves of the Blind One that boasteth himself to be the Enlightened One. For there is no centre, nay, nothing but Dispersion.

Woe, woe, woe threefold to him that is led away by talk, O talkative one.

O thou that hast written two-&-thirty books of wisdom, & art more stupid than an owl, by thine own talk is thy vigilance wearied, & by my talk art thou befooled & tricked, O thou that sayest that thou shalt endure. Knowest thou how nigh thou art to destruction? For thou that art the scribe hast not the understanding* that alone availeth against Choronzon.

---

* Originally, for 'understanding' was written 'power.' Choronzon was always using some word that did not represent his thought, because there is no proper link between his thought & speech.

The malice of Choronzon is not the malice of a being; it is the quality of malice, because he that boasteth himself "I am I," hath in truth no self, & these are they that are fallen under my power, the slaves of the Blind One that boasted himself to be the Enlightened One. For there is no centre,- nay, nothing but Dispersion.
        Woe, woe, woe threefold to him that is led away by talk, O talkative one.
        O thou that hast written two-and-thirty books of Wisdom, & art more stupid than an owl, by thine own talk is thy vigilance wearied, & by my talk art thou befooled & tricked, O thou that sayest that thou shalt en-dure. Knowest thou how nigh thou art to destruction? For thou that art the Scribe hast not the understanding* that alone availeth against Choronzon.

---

* Originally, for 'understanding' was written 'power.' Choronzon was always using some word that did not represent his thought, because there is no proper link between his thought & speech.

And wert thou not protected by the Holy Names of God & the circle, I would rush upon thee & tear thee. For when I made myself like unto a beautiful woman; if thou hadst come to me, I would have rotted thy body with the pox, & thy liver with cancer, & I would have torn off thy testicles with my teeth. And if I had seduced thy pride, & thou hadst bidden me to come into the circle, I would have trampled thee under foot, & for a thousand years shouldest thou have been but one of the tape-worms that is in me. And if I had seduced thy pity, & thou hadst poured one drop of water without the circle, then would I have blasted thee with flame. But I was not able to prevail against thee.

— How beautiful are the shadows of the ripples of the sand. —

— Would God that I were dead. —

For know that I am proud & revengeful & lascivious, & I prate even

And wert thou not protected by the Holy Names of God & the circle, I would rush upon thee & tear thee. For when I made myself like unto a beautiful woman;
if thou hadst come to me, I would have rotted thy body with the pox, & thy liver with cancer, & I would have torn off thy testicles with my teeth.
And if I had seduced thy pride, & thou hadst bidden me to come into the circle, I would have trampled thee under foot, & for a thousand years shouldest thou have been but one of the tape-worms that is in me. And if I had seduced thy pity, & thou hadst poured one drop of water without the circle, then would I have blasted thee with flame. But I was not able to prevail against thee.
        -How beautiful are the shadows of the ripples of the sand. -
        - Would God that I were dead. -
          For know that I am proud & revengeful & lascivious, & I prate even as

as thou. For even as I walked among the Sons of God, I heard it said that Perdurabo could both will & know, & might learn at length to dare, ~~But~~ but that to keep silence he should never learn. O thou that art so ready to speak, so slow to watch, thou art delivered over unto my power for this.

And now one word was necessary unto me, & I could not speak it. I behold the beauty of the earth in her desolation, & greater far is mine, who sought to be my naked self. Knowest thou that in my soul is utmost fear? And such is my force & my cunning, that a hundred times have I been ready to leap, & for fear have missed. And a thousand times am I baulked by them of the City of the Pyramids, that set snares for my feet. More knowledge have I than the Most High, but my will is broken, & my fierceness is marred by fear, & I

as thou. For even as I walked among the Sons of God, I heard it said that Perdurabo could both will & know, & might learn at length to dare, ~~But~~ but that to keep silence he should never learn. O thou that art so ready to speak, so slow to watch, thou art delivered over unto my power for this.

And now one word was necessary unto me, & I could not speak it. I behold the beauty of the earth in her desolation, & greater far is mine, who sought to be my naked self. Knowest thou that in my soul is utmost fear?

And such is my force & my cunning, that a hundred times have I been ready to leap, & for fear have missed. And a thousand times am I baulked by them of the City of the Pyramids, that set snares for my feet. More Knowledge have I than the Most High, but my will is broken, & my fierceness is marred by fear, & I must ever speak, speak, speak, millions of mad voices in my brain.

"With a heart of furious fancies,
Whereof I am Commander,
With a burning spear
And a horse of air
To the wilderness I wander."

[The idea was to keep the Scribe busy writing, so as to spring upon him. For, while the Scribe talked, Choronzon had thrown sand into the Circle & filled it up. But Choronzon could not think fast or continuously, & so resorted to the device of quotation.

The Scribe had written two or three words of "Tom o' Bedlam," when Choronzon sprang within the circle, (that part of ~~where~~ the circumference of which that was nearest to him he had been filling up with sand all this time), & leaped upon the Scribe, throwing him to the earth. The conflict took place within the circle. The Scribe called upon Tetragrammaton, & succeeded in must speak, speak, speak, millions

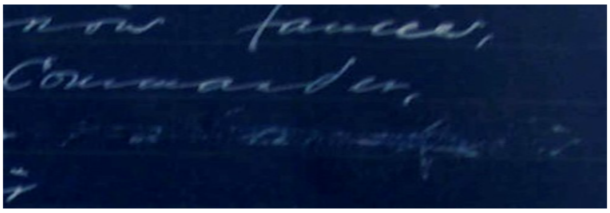
of mad voices in my brain.
‘With a heart of furious fancies,
Whereof I am Commander,
With a burning spear ~~for thereore is~~
And a horse of air
To the wilderness I wander.”



fancies,
Commander,

[The idea was to keep the Scribe busy writing, so as to spring upon him. For, while the Scribe talked, Choronzon had thrown sand into the Circle, & filled it up. But Choronzon could not think fast or continuously, & so resorted to the device of quotation.

The Scribe had written two or three words of “Tom o’ Bedlam,” when Choronzon sprang within the circle, (that ~~interi~~ part of the circumference of which that was nearest to him he had been filling up with sand all this time), & leaped upon the Scribe, throwing him to the earth. The conflict took place within the circle. The Scribe called upon Tetragrammaton, & succeeded in compelling Choronzon to return into his triangle. By dint of anger & of threatening him with the Magick staff did he accomplish this. He then repaired the circle. The discomfited demon now continued.]

All is dispersion. These are the qualities of things.

The tenth Aethyr is the world of adjectives, & there is no substance therein.

[Now returned the beautiful woman who had before tempted the scribe. She prevailed not.]

I am afraid of sunset, for Tum is more terrible than Ra, & Kephra the Beetle is greater than the Lion Ra.

I am a-cold.

[Here Choronzon wanted to leave the triangle to obtain ~~the~~ wherewith to cover his nakedness ~~Shirt of the Frater Perdurabo~~. The scribe refused the request, threatening the demon. After a while, the latter continued:]

compelling Choronzon to return into his triangle. By dint of anger & of threatening him with the Magick staff did he accomplish this. He then repaired the circle. The discomfited demon now continued.]

All is dispersion. These are the qualities of things.

The tenth Æthyr is the world of adjectives, & there is no substance therein.

[Now returneth the beautiful woman who had before tempted the Scribe. She prevailed not.]

I am afraid of sunset, for Tum is more terrible than Ra, & Khephra the Beetle is greater than the Lion Mau.

I am acold.

[Here Choronzon wanted to leave the triangle to obtain ~~the shirt of the Frater Perdurabo.~~ wherewith to cover his nakedness. The scribe refused the request, threatening the demon. After a while the latter continued:]

I am commanded, why, I know not, by him that speaketh. Were it thou, thou little fool, I would tear thee limb from limb. I would bite off thine ears & nose before I began with thee. I would take thy guts for fiddle-strings at the Black Sabbath.

Thou didst make a great fight there in the circle; thou art a goodly warrior.

[Then did the demon laugh loudly. The Scribe said: Thou canst not harm one hair of my head.]

I will pull out every hair of thy head, & Every hair of thy body, & Every hair of thy soul, one by one.

[Then said the Scribe: Thou hast no power.]

Yea, verily I have power over thee, for thou hast taken the Oath, & art bound unto the White Brothers, & therefore have I the power to torture thee so long as thou shalt be.

I am commanded, why I know not, by him that speaketh. Were it thou, thou little fool, I would tear thee limb from limb. I would bite off thine ears & nose before I began with thee. I would take thy guts for fiddle-strings at the Black Sabbath.

Thou didst make a great fight there in the circle; thou art a goodly warrior.

[Then did the demon laugh loudly. The Scribe said: Thou canst not harm one hair of my head.]

I will pull out every hair of thy head, ~~&~~ every hair of thy body, & every hair of thy soul, one by one.

[Then said the Scribe: Thou hast no power.]

Yea, verily I have power over thee, for thou hast taken the Oath, & art bound unto the White Brothers, & therefore have I the power to torture thee so long as thou shalt be.

[Then said the Scribe unto him: Thou liest.]

Ask of thy brother Perdurabo, & he shall tell thee if I lie.

[This the Scribe refused to do, saying that it was no concern of the demon's.]

I have prevailed against the Kingdom of the Father, & befouled his beard; & I have prevailed against the Kingdom of the Son, & torn off his phallus; but against the Kingdom of the Holy Ghost shall I strive & not prevail. The three slain doves are my threefold blasphemy against him; but their blood shall make fertile the sand; & I writhe in blackness & horror of hate, & prevail not.

[Then the demon tried to make the scribe laugh at Magick, & to think that it was all rubbish, that he might deny the names of God that he had invoked to protect

[Then said the Scribe unto him: Thou liest.]

Ask of thy brother Perdurabo, & he shall tell thee if I lie.

[This the Scribe refused to do, saying that it was no concern of the demon's.]

I have prevailed against the Kingdom of the Father, & befouled his beard; & I have prevailed against the Kingdom of the Son, & torn off his Phallus; but against the Kingdom of the Holy Ghost shall I strive & not prevail. The three slain doves are my threefold blasphemy against him; but their blood shall make fertile the sand; & I writhe in blackness & horror of hate, & prevail not.

[Then the demon tried to make the scribe laugh at Magick, & to think that it was all rubbish, that he might deny the names of God that he had invoked to protect him; which, if he had doubted but for an instant, he had leapt upon him, & gnawed through his spine at the neck.

Choronzon succeeded not in his design.]

In this Aethyr is neither beginning nor end, for it is all hotch-potch, because it is of the wicked on earth & the damned in hell. And so long as it be hotch-potch, it mattereth little what may be written by the sea-green incorruptible Scribe.

The horror of it will be given in another place & time, & through another Seer, & that Seer shall be slain, as a result of his revealing. But the present Seer, who is not Perdurabo, seeth not the horror, because he is shut up, & hath no name.

[Now was there some further parleying betwixt the Demon & the Scribe, concerning the departure him; which, if he had doubted but for an instant, he had leapt upon him, & gnawed through his spine at the neck.

Choronzon succeed not in his design.]

In this Æthyr is neither beginning nor end, for it is all hotch-potch, because it is of the wicked on earth & the damned in hell. And so long as it be hotch-potch, it mattereth little what may be written by the sea-green incorruptible Scribe.

The horror of it will be given in another place & time, & through another Seer, & that Seer shall be slain as a result of his revealing.

But the present Seer, who is not Perdurabo, seeth not the horror, because he is shut up, & hath no name.

[Now was there some further parleying betwixt the demon
& the Scribe, concerning the departure

& the writing of the word, the Scribe not knowing if it were meet that the Demon should depart.

Then the Seer took the Holy Ring, & wrote the name BABALON, that is, Victory over Ch. URUNZON, & he was no more manifest.]

(This cry was obtained on Dec: 6, 1909, between 2 & 4:15 p.m., in a lonely valley of fine sand, in the desert near Bou-Saâda. The Aethyr was edited & revised on the following day.)

After the conclusion of the Ceremony, a great fire was kindled to purify the place, & the Circle & Triangle were destroyed.

& the writing of the word, the scribe not knowing if it were meet that the demon should depart.

Then the Seer took the Holy Ring, & wrote the name BABALON, that is victory over ChURUNZUN, & he was no more manifest.]

